10. Irmantasah silika madhyamasah, thin-ended (thin-pointed) and plump-waisted; an allusion to a troop or head of horses (Sayana); this may refer to the horses of the suns' car. Yaska identifies the horses with the Adityas, Nir. IV. 13. With well-formed haunches, symmetrical flanks, together the spirited, divine coursers make efforts like swans in rows, when they, the steeds, have reached the celestial path (the text). On this, the Nirukta comments thus: With well-formed haunches, with protruding or broad haunches, with symmetrical flanks, i.e. whose flanks are compact, or whose head is in the middle (सिलिक मध्यमास:). Or else, siras refers to the sun, i.e. it follows all created things to rest and stands in their midst. This other meaning of siras (i.e. the human head) is derived from the same root also; the senses depend on it. Together, the spirited (divine coursers).

Sarah (spirited) is derived from √शृ, to go. Divine, born in heaven. Coursers, racers. They make efforts like swans in rows.

Hansah, (swans) is derived from √हन्, to smite; they tread the way in lines.

Srenih, (row) is derived from √श्रि, to combine, they are combind.

When the steeds have reached, i.e. arrived at, the celestial path, track, course. The panegyric of the sun is—the panegyric of the horse, for the horse was fashioned from the sun. O Vasus, ye fashioned forth the horse from the sun. (I. 163. 2)—Nirukta IV. 13.

11. The horse is identified with Agni, whose flames consume the forest.

12. Ajah purah niyate nabhirasyanu pascat kavayo yanti rebhah, goat bound to him etc. Dayananda translates ajah, as not born, causal in form; arva, horse or horse-like. The goat that is fastened to horse's head is led first; next, the goat fastened to his waist or the navel (nabhirasyanu) afterwards (pascat) got to the priests, kavayah, men of wisdom and the singers, rebhah, or praisers, (Wilson). This hymn indicates the identity of the horse with the Sun.

13. Adya (अद्या)=adya (अद्य), today (Panini, VI. 3.135) for a (अ) becoming a (आ).

Hymn-164

A hymn of 52 verses of which 23 have been refered to in the Nirukta as follows.

Verse	Nir.	Verse	Nir.	Verse	Nir.
1	IV.26	27	XI.45	42	XI.41
2	IV.27	28	XI.42	44	XII.27
11	IV.27	29	II.9	46	VII.18
12	IV.27	32	II.8	47	VII.24
13	IV.27	33	IV.21	48	IV.27
16	V.1	37	VII.3	50	XII.41
21	III.12	40	XI.44	51	VII.23
26	XI.43	41	XI.40

This hymn is commonly known as the asya vamasya, or even asya vamiya sukta, since its first two words of the first verse are asya vamasya. The hymns 140-164 (25 in all) are associated in history with the name of ṛsi Dirghatama Aucatthya who interpreted the revealed hymns (140-164) to us. His son Kaksivan Dairghtamasa has also been the interpreter of certain hymns of the First Mandala (116-125); and also of the first five verses of hymn 126. There are certain stories about the ṛsi Dirghatamas himself (narrated by Atmananda at the end of his comment). There were two brothers, both of them men of great wisdom, named Ucathya and Bṛhaspati. Ucathya had a wife Mamata and she was pregnant. At that time the younger brother, Bṛhaspati desired to have illicit union with his elder brother's wife. The son in the womb objected to this new admixture of the seed of another child with himself who had been already there; and further, she was like a mother to him. When this objection was raised, Bṛhaspati cursed him that he would be born blind, and would remain blind throughout his life. The son born became Dirghatamas. He was very much afflicted by his blindness and he prayed to the various gods like Agni, and subsequently, he was relieved of his defect. This legend was concocted by someone to explain or interpret his name dirghatamas; to me it appears, he was not born blind. He is one of our foremost astronomers, and he continuously gazed at the motion of stars and planets unaided by anything like telescope, and hence after long long years, he became old, weak and with eyesight almost lost. It is also so said that his wife's servants tried to kill him by throwing him into fire or into the floods of a river, but was providentially saved by someone. His son Kaksivan was also a reputed scholar, and we have a few legends about the name of this scholar too. There are several verses of this hymn 164, which have become proverbial in connection with some of the highest thoughts of human possession. Such as "ekam sad vipra bahudha vadanti" (42), there is one Supreme Personality but known by various names.

The great hymn starts with a mystic verse, and a mention of "a beloved invoker grown grey, with his two brothers, who is the Lord and father of seven children". There is a beloved invoker and there is a beloved bird and finally, an invocation to the bird (verses 1, 7, 52).

1. Dayananda refers to the three fires, electricity (mid-space), fire of wood (terrestrial), and the fire of the sun (celestial).

Saptaputram, born of seven elements (Daya.); seven solar rays, or it refers to the seventh son, Aditya being the seventh son of Aditi.

Tṛtiyo bhrata, third brother; or the third like the brother. The three brothers are Vayu, Agni and Aditya. This refers to the consciousness of a type of identity or similarity of the individual with the Supreme Spirit.

2. Ratham eka cakram, one wheeled chariot or car; the orb of the sun, or time or a year.

Sapta yunjante, ekah asvah, saptanama—Seven horses yoked are seven solar rays (with seven ranges of visible spectrum), or the six seasons with their aggregation and year, or the six double months and one intercalary month. The wheels of the car are, as typical of time, the past, present and future, should be three but all of them are essentially identical, and are said to be but one.

Eko asvah, one horse, saptanama, with seven names. This refers to the Sun, who is essentially one, but known under different names Surya, Savitṛ, Mitra, Visnu, Pusan, Vivasvat, and Aditya. The sun is also regarded as the absorber of seven rasas or flavours and hence the saptanama. To these seven, we my also add Bhaga and Tvastṛ. The word sapta may have a pun also; the word means horse and seven both.

Trinabhih, three navels; may be three holes of the wheels; or the day and its three sandhyas; or the year with three seasons, summer, rains and winter; or three parts of time, past, present and future.

3. Sapta cakram, seven wheeled.

Sapta vahanti asvah, drawn by seven horses.

Sapta Svasarah, seven sistets (Six double and one intercalary month).

Gavam nihita, of the cows concealed (voice, notes or utterances).

Sapta nama, seven names.

Sapta-tasthuh, seven portions, year (varsa), solstice (ayana), season (ṛtu), month (masa), fortnight (ardha-masa) day (dina, ahar), night (ratri).

Seven musical notes are the seven utterances. If gavam is used in the sense of waters, then seven rivers.

4. Who has been seeing the first-born possessing bones, which what has no bones been bearing? Where then is the life, the blood, the self of the earth? Who went near the wise to ask this?.

Asthanvantam, having bones, corporeal (अस्थियुक्तं देहम्—Daya.). The boneless is Prakṛti of the Samkhya, sustaining the bony structures.

Bhumi, implies sthula sarira, gross body; asuh, breath; or the pranamaya body; the suksma sarira, or subtile body; asṛk, blood, the circulatory system; atman, the cetana, or thinking principle (the mental or manomaya sheath).

5. Pakah, matured; but here in the sense of 'what is to be matured, i.e. immature). (तपसा परिपचनीय—Daya.).

Sapta tantu, seven threads; seven forms of some sacrifice, or seven metres of the Veda.

Vatse; baskaye; adhi, on the child; young; on or upon. Dayananda translates baskaye as "worth being seen"; the word occurs nowhere else in the Ṛgveda.

6. Kim api svid ekam—What is that one alone? This 'one', according to Sayana, is the orb of the ungenerated sun, on which the six seasons depend.

Rajamsi, regions; ajasya, of the unborn. This is in continuation of the question in verse 5, in the form of the unborn, someone has made the six regions firm. According to Dayananda, rajamsi are the gross elements, like earth etc.

7. Let him declare here who surely knows this—the concealed position of the lovable bird. From his head the cows draw milk; they have been drinking water with their foot, wearing the vesture (vavrim, from √वृ, to cover).

Vamasya, lovable; the extensive world (Daya.). Veh (वे), of the bird. Anga, O dear.

The trees drink water from their foot (the roots); several allegories are combind in this verse. Just as birds fly in the air, similarly, all the stars and other heavenly bodies are moving in space: cows sustain their calves with milk, similarly, the universe is being sustained by the Creator.

The verses 4-7 are to be read as constituting one unit. After describing the chariot and the wheel and the things concealed in the chariot (verses 2 and 3), the apt questions put are : who has seen this mystery of the first formation of the universe? Who can go and ask about this? And where is the location of that mystery? (Verse 4). The question is repeated in the verse 5, of course, now using the first person. He asks about the concealed position of the gods. The poets have woven some mystery (Verse 5). The poets know who gave form to the universe, the milk drawn from the head, and drinking water from the foot are puzzles (Verse 7); here is mentioned the concealed position of this lovable bird. There is evidently some relation between vamasya bhrata (brother of the lovable) and vamasya of the lovable bird whose position is concealed. (Verse 7).

8. Ṛte, in the eternal law.

Babhaje, to apportion; to give the share.

Bibhatsuh, timid, the terror giving (Daya.).

Garbharasa, having the juice within (garbhe).

Upavakam, to address nearby (उपगता वाक् यस्मिंस्तम्—Daya.); iyuh, went.

The mother has been giving the father the share in the ṛta; indeed she has been coming together with thought and with mind, in the beginning. She is timid, having the juice within, being hit into. There they came bearing adorations to address nearby. (Here we have a metaphorical description of the agency of the sun in sending rain upon the earth, and its consequent fertility—(Wilson).

9. Visvarupyam gam, the omniform cow. Amimat vatsah, the calf bellowed. Mata, mother, the earth (Daya.).

Dhuri, yoke; daksinayah, on (of) the right side.

Vṛjanisu, in the water-clouds; in the prohibited orbs (Daya.).

Trisu yojanesu, in the three bindings (Daya.); in the three expanses of the space.

10. Tisrah matṛh, (मातृः), the three mothers (best, medium and worst positions of the earth—Daya.); earth, sky and heaven (Sayana).

Trin pitṛn, (पितृन्), three fathers, three forms of Agni, the fire in the sun, fire in the lightning and the terrestrial fire (Daya.); the three deities, Agni, Vayu and Aditya (Sayana).

Glapayanti, make fatigued.

Mantrayanta, utter in a low or silent voice (गुप्तं भाषयन्ते—Daya.).

Behind of that heaven, they utter in a low voice, the word that comprehends all (visvavidam vacam), that does not move all (avisvaminvam).

The three veress (8-10) form another group of this hymn. This refers to the father and the mother and the womb and the calf. Some of the ideas are continued in the subsequent verses too.

11. Dvadasaram, twelve spokes; the year with twelve months (Daya.); jaraya, for decay; varvarti, to go round (भृशं वर्तते, exists all round, Daya.).

Mithunasah, pairs; putrah, sons.

Sapta-satani vimsatih, seven hundred and twenty (360 days and 360 nights together make 720 in a year). Day and night form a pair. The wheel of Law, with twelve spokes goes round and round the heaven; it is not indeed to be decayed. Here stand, O Agni, the seven hundred and twenty sons in pairs.

12. Panca padam, having five feet (ksana, muhurtta, prahara, divasa and paksa—Daya.).

Dvadasakṛtim, having twelve forms, i.e. having twelve months.

Purisinam, having purisa; a synonym of water (Nigh. I. 12). Purisin may be the name of the sun, as the source of rain. The first five feet are the five seasons (spring, summer, rains, autumn, and winter), hamant+sisira form one winter season. Purisa may mean first cause also. It in Nighantu I. 12. is a synonym of water.

Sapta cakre, having seven wheels, i.e. seven rays.

Sad-are, having six spokes; the six seasons.

Atheme anya upare, then these others in the high, i.e. then, these others say (of him) as the clear-seeing, placed in the high chariot with seven wheels and six spokes.

13. Panca-are,, having five spokes; cakre, in the wheel, parivartta-mana, rolling, or which rolls; tasmin-a-tasthuh, that stand out.

Aksah, axle; sanat, from the beginning.

Sanabhih, having navel.
In that wheel, having five spokes, which rolls on, all the beings stand out. Its axle, bearing immense load, does not break, from the beginning itself.
The beautiful poetic fancy of a chariot not breaking down even with immense load and not decaying in course of time, is worth taking notice.
14. The wheels with the felly (sanemi) roll on without decaying (ajaram). The ten, yoked (dasayuktah) draw it on the upward (region). Like the sun's eye (suryasya caksuh), it goes along, shrouded with its space. In it are all beings placed.

Dasa, ten, sense organs (or five lokapalas, and five classes of human beings (Sayana); ten regions of space (or ten vital breaths—Daya.).

Sat it yamah, the six are twins (six seasons of two months duration each are the six twins).

They say of the seventh among what are born together, that he is born as one, that the six verily are twins, the wise, born of gods. What are coveted by them, placed according to their proper position, move, changing in form, for the sake of him who stands by.

16. Them, being women, (striyah satistan), they verily declared to me as men (u me pumsa ahuh). One with eyes sees; the blind knows not (pasyet aksanvan; na vi cetet andhah).

Sah pituh pita asat—They of the father father became, i.e. he who knows them well became the father of father. A new topic now starts in the hymn. There is obviously a glorification of wisdom, enabling one to see and know. One is not sure what they are; who, though women, are declared to be man.

17. Avah parena, ena avarena, etc. Beneath of what is above, above of this that is beneath, the cow has stood up, bearing the calf with the foot.

Sa kadrici, she (the cow) whither going?

Kam svid ardham para agat, to what half is she going away?

Kva svit sute, where gives the birth (to the calf)?

Na hi yuthe antah, it is not within the herd.

18. Who recognizes the father (pitaram anuveda) as beneath of what is above (avah parena); as above of this that is beneath (parah enat avarena)—who behaving like a poet (kaviyamanah kah iha), has explained this here? Whence has sprung up the god-mind (devam manah).

19. Ye arvancah tan un paracah ahuh—They, who are reeent, them they call ancient.

Ye parancas tam un arvacah ahuh—They, who are ancient, them call recent (u—उ—a particle to indicate emphasis. This is always given as unnasalized उ=ऊँ): O Soma, them which Indra and thou have done, them carry they that look like being yoked to the pole of space. (Dhura na yukta rajaso vahanti).

Rajasah, of the space.

20. Dva suparna sayuja sakhaya etc. Two birds, comrades, united (or associated) to each other, resort to a common tree. Of the two, one eats the tasty berry (pippalam) the other without eating, looks on.

The two birds are (i) the infinitesimal soul (jivatman) who eats the tasty berry (i.e. along the cycles of birth and death enjoys the fruits of its good and vicious actions); (ii) the Infinite Supreme (paramatman) who merely looks on; He is unattached, and provides the inferior bird the opportunities of jnana, karma, and bhoga, (knowledge, actions and the enjoyments). The lower soul enjoys the rewards of its deeds.

The verse refers to the eternal realities of the three categories, two of which are the cetana, and third one the inert matter. Brahman, the Supreme, the first cause of the universe and Infinite; prakṛti, the material casue, and simultaneously existing since eternity along with the Brahman, and the third one innumerable number of eternally existing infiinitesimal souls or the jivas. The relation between the Supreme Self and individual souls is also clear in this verse, where the universe made out of Pṛakrti is regarded as a tree, the individual souls eat (enjoy and suffer) whilst the Supreme Self without tasting, merely shines of His own glory and merely looks on (cakasiti=अभिपश्यति, looks on —Daya.).

Geldner in this verse sees a reference to the two sets of people resorting to the tree of wisdom (वृक्ष); one of them realize it and enjoy, whilst the other does not realize or enjoy and simply stares.

21. Where the birds (suparna) ceaselessly sing forth (abhisvaranti) about their share of immortality (amṛtasya bhagam), before the learned assembly (vidatha), there the lord of all (visvasya), (bhuvanasya gopah), the protector of the world; he, the wise entered me the unripe (sah ma dhirah pakam atra avivesa).

Suparnah, or birds, are the lower souls (jivah). In verse 19, there is a reference to knowing the father; here in this, a reference to the knowledge of the father (ma dhirah a vivesa, or the wise entering me). The share of immortality (amaṛtasya bhagam) is what knowledge of immortality, they have realized. In the assembly of the learned where the wise people sing of that immortality, there I had the vision of that knowledge of father (mentioned in verse 19). The wise devotee had the wisdom from their discourse.

Same commentators regard the sun as the Suparna in this verse.

22. Again a reference to the tree (vṛksa); eating and drinking of honey (madhvadah), the honey of transcendental knowledge, the birds (suparnah), the berry (pippalam), sweet and tasty (svadu) and the father (pitaram).

Upon which tree, honey drinkers, the birds rest in peace, and all inspire themselves; on the top of it, they say, is verily, the sweet berry. One does not reach up to it, who does not know the father. (Geldner's classification into two sorts of people is more relevant in this verse, rather than in verse 20). Only the God-abiding and God-loving people can enjoy the sweetness of the berries hanging on the top of the tree.

23. Only those persons are entitled to attain immortality, who have known the mystery that the Gayatra is placed upon the Gayatra, or who has constructed a tristup from what is in tristup; or who has known that the jagat quarter (padam) is placed in the jagat.

Gayatra metre with 8+8+8+syllables. Tristup with 11+11+11 +11, four quarters. Jagat जागत् metres with four quarters of 12+12 +12+12 syllables.

From the verse begins the liturgical teaching of the spiritual science, with a reference to divine speech and its revelation. The Supreme Self not only created the universe for the enjoyment of lower self, He also gave the Divine Speech and through it the Divine Enlightenment.

24. With the Gayatra, one fashions the praise (arkam, pertain to Ṛk, the Ṛgveda), and with the Ṛgvedic hymns, he constructs the mantra of the Sama or the Book of Songs (Samaveda) and with traistubha, one constructs vak, (or address or speech) or the prose of the Yajurveda, and with the vak or yajuh, he constructs the dvipada (of two quarters) and catuspada (of four quarters) metres of the Atharvaveda; and thus in all the entire divine literature of the seven metres (sapta vanih), out of the syllables (aksarena).

25. Now in this verse, we have a mystic parallelism and concordance in what we have in the cosmic creation and the Divine Speech :

With the jagat, one established the river (sindhum), in the heaven (divi), in the rathantara, one saw the sun (suryam) again and again. They speak (ahus) of three fuels (tisrah samidhas) of Gayatra. Therefore, it excels far (pra ririce) with its immense (mahna) grandeur (mahitva).

26. I call here (upahvaye) the cow (dhenu) easy to milk (sudugham). And the one who can milk a cow (godhuk) with a dexterous hand (sahastah) has milked her (dohat enam). May the Savita (the sun or the Creator) inspire us (savisat) with the noblest inspiration (srestham savam). The oven (gharmah) is kindled (abhiddhah). This, verily, I speak out (tat um iti su pra vocam).

27. Making a bellowing sound (hinkṛnvati) she has come here (अभि+आ+अगात्), the mistress of wealth and plenty (vasupatni), yearning for her calf (vatsamicchanti) in heart (manasa). May this cow (aghnya, not to be hurt or killed) yield milk (duham) for the Asvins (asvibhyam); may she prosper (sa varddhatam) for the sake of immense happiness (mahate saubhagaya). The cow is the cattle; it is the divine speech and it is the mother earth (पृथिवी धेनुर्वा—Daya.). The allegory applies to all the three. The description continues in the next verse.

28. The cow lowed towards her calf (gauh amimet anu vatsam), that was keeping the eyes open (misantam); she made the bellowing sounds, (hinn akṛnot), verily, to measure (or to smell, to lick) (matavai hin iti) the face or forehead (murdhanam). Fondly inviting (vavasana) its mouth (sṛkvanam) towards her warm udder (gharmam, Nir. XI. 42), she produces a bellowing sound (mimati mayum), makes it drink (payate) with her profuse milk (payobhih). The ritualists utilize this verse in the ritual when the calf is moved off from the cow for milking. Again this verse refers to cow and the earth both.

29. This he (ayam sah), by whom the cow is encompassed (yena gauh abhivṛta), makes a bellowing sound (mimati-mayum). She remaining upon the height (dhvasanau adhisrita), makes a bellowing sound. With her thoughts (sa cittibhir) she keeps down the mortal (ni hi cakara martyam) becoming the lightning (vidyud bhavanti), she has thrown back (prati auhata) the garment (vavrim).

Perhaps here the reference is to the rising of the sun from the dawn; vidyut may not be lightning, merely 'shining'.

The general idea is that though the calf (even moon) waxed, and superceded the mother cow, the mother stood on the heights and she along with the calf made a bellowing sound. She remained above the mortals, and becoming the lightning, she threw back the garments of darkness.

30. Now begins another theme in the hymn, pertaining to the mysteries of life and death.

The life (jivam), breathing (anat), moving fast (turagatu), is at rest (saye); rushing (ejat), it is firm (dhruvam) in the middle of habitations (madhya a pastyanam). The immortal self of the Dead (jivah mṛtasya), having the same birth-place with the mortal (amartyo martyena sayonih), wanders about (carati) at his own will (svadhabhih). The body is mortal and the self is immortal. Both are united like brothers having a common origin. Again, in a very abstract form there is a reference to the difference, when the soul is confined in the body and when it comes out of it as a free entity.

31. Now we have a reference to the cosmic creator and protector (gopam), and the same cycle of birth and death, bondage and freedom.

I have seen the protector (apasyam gopam) who does not stumble down (anipadyamanam), who wanders (carantam sah) hither and away (a ca para ca) along the paths (pathibhih); going together (sadhricih), going all round (visucih), hidden (vasanah, covered or wearing robes), he moves about (a varivartti) within the world (bhuvanesu antah).

God and the souls are both invisible, the soul is not always cognizant of God's existence, whilst God is always cognizant of the existence of souls. According to the eternal law of God, the souls move about in the cycle of life and death, according to their own actions, good, bad or indifferent (the Law of Karma) throughout the universe, and the Supreme God is the ordainer.

The poetic imagery of the cowherd is beautiful. He never falters in his steps. This way or that way, he is always seen moving with the flock, and all round the flock. So often he gets hidden, moving about within the fields. Gopa, in this sense is the ordainer.

32. He who created this (yah im cakara) does not know this (na so asya veda); from him who saw this (ya im dadarsa, tasmat), varily this is indeed hidden (hiruk it nu). He is shrouded (parivitah) within the womb (antah yona) of the mother (matuh); he who has many off-springs or many births (bahu-praja) enters suffering (nihṛtim a vivesa).

Bahu prajah, may also mean 'one who has gone through many births' (Sayana); also the same, bahujanma (Daya.) Nir-ṛti is the earth or the place of bondage and suffering.

33. Now we take up the theme of cosmic creation. The sky or celestial space is my father (dyauh me pita), the progenitor (janita); here is my navel (nabhih atra). This vast earth is my mother, the friend (bandhuh me mata pṛthivi mahi iyam). Within the two vessels (camvoh) held upside above (uttanayoh) is my place of birth (yonih antah). Here the father produced the pregnancy of the daughter (atra pita duhituh garbham a adhat).

34. I ask thee (pṛcchami tva) of the ultimate limit of the earth (param antam pṛthivyah); I ask of (pṛcchami) that where (yatra) is navel of the world (bhuvanasya nabhih). I ask thee (pṛcchami tva) of the semen of the strong horse (vṛsno asvasya retah); I ask of the ultimate abode of speech (pṛcchami vacah paramam vyoma).

35. The answers of the above questions follow in this verse :
This altar (iyam vedih) is the ultimate limit of the earth (paro antah pṛthivya); this sacrifice (ayam yajnah) is the navel of the world (bhuvanasya nabhih). This Soma (ayam somah) is the semen of the strong horse (vṛsno asvasya retah); this Brahman (brahmayam) is the ultimate abode (paramam vyoma) of speech (vacah). Speech (vac) is not the ordinary spoken word; it is the transcendental inspired knowledge, the source of which is the Supreme Reality. There is the saptanama or seven names mentioned elsewhere also.

36. The seven embryos (sapta ardhagarbhah), the semen of the world (bhuvanasya retah), stand up for their separate functions (tisthanti vidharmani) through the ordinance of Visnu (visnoh pradisa). They with their thoughts (te dhitibhih), they, wise, with their mind (manasa te vipascitah), encompassing (paribhuvah) remain encircling all (paribhavanti visvatah).

37. I do not understand this (na vi janami idam), like which I am (yadiva asmi); I roam about in hiding (ninyah), enwrapped in thought (sam naddho manasa carami). When there came to me (yada magan) the first—born off-springs of the Ṛta (prathamaja ṛtasyad) immediately after that (at it). I enjoy a portion of this speech (vaco asnuve bhagam asyah).

38. Here is a verse which supports the doctrine of the cycle of births and deaths, enjoined by the Veda. Rearwards (apaṅ) and forwards (prañ) goes one held by svadha (eti svadhaya gṛbhīto), becoming immortal, having the same origin as the mortal (amartyah martyena sayonih). These two (ta), eternal (sasvanta), moving around (visucina), go in different directions (viyanta). They understand the one (ni anyam cikyuh); they do not understand the other (na ni cikyuh anyam).

There are two sorts of people; people of one group who have seen the truth; and of the other who have not. One group of people always move forward, from lower life to the higher one, the other go round without an escape from the bondage.

39. Upon which aksara (song—syllable, or indestructible) the supreme position (parame vyoman), all the gods (visvedevah) have been taking their seats (adhi niseduh); what can he do with the knowledge of ṛca (kim ṛca karisyati) who does not know that (yas tanna veda)? They who know this (ya it tad viduh), verily, they sit together (ta ime sam asate).

40. This is a verse, dedicated to cow (earth and speech); love and regards to cow.

Eating good barely grass (su-yavas-at) may you be indeed happy (bhagavati hi bhuyah); then may we be happy (atho vayam bhagavanto syama). O, cow, thou shall not be hurt (aghnye)! always (visadanim) eat grass (addhi tṛnam), drink clear water (piba suddham udakam), wandering about (acaranti).

41. The pink cow (gaurih) has made a bellowing sound producing waters (mimaya salilani taksati); she (sa) becoming one footed (ekapadi), two-footed (dvipadi), four-footed (catuspadi) eight footed (astapadi), nine-footed (navapadi), is with a thousand syllables (babhuvasi sahasrak-sara) in the supreme heaven (parame vyoman).

Here cow is speech; the waters produced are some kind of trans-cendental happiness (referred earlier). In the lower world, the speech is one-footed etc., but in the transcendental realm (which is its natural position), it has thousands of syllables (so much so that it is soundless integrated whole).

42. From her the oceans flow out here and there (tasyah samudra adhi vi ksaranti); thereby are alive the four directions (tena jivanti pradi-sas catasrah); thence flow the syllable (tatah ksarate aksaram); all live upon that (tad visvam upajivati).

The life is poetry; the entire vocabulary is the sindhu or ocean. The syllables first appeared as ocean; the ocean is the language that one speaks, the total vocabulary.

43. I see the smoke of the cowdung at a distance (sakamayam dhumam arat apasyam), above of this that is all around and that is below (visuvata parah ena avarena). The horses (virah) have cooked (apacanta) the spotted bull (uksanam pṛsnim). They became the first dharmas (tani dharmani prathamani asan).

Dayananda translates uksanam as secakam (सेचकम्), the cloud that impregnates with water; pṛsnim is akasa or space; and virah are people well-versed in knowledge; apacanta is the practice of austerity by leading a disciplined life. "The horses have cooked the spotted bull" carries no sense. The smoke from cow-dung has also no direct relevancy here. It is rhetoric; the fire is the fire of austerity, and it produces the virile smoke (शक्तिमयं ब्रह्मचर्यकर्मानुष्ठानाग्निधूमम्—Daya).

44. Three steeds with manes (trayah kesinah) look on from time to time (ṛtutha vi caksate). One among them effects a share during the year (samvatsare vapate ekah esam). One grazes on the entire world (visvam ekah abhi-caste) with its powers (sacibhih). Of one, the flight is seen (dhrajih ekasya dadṛse), not the form (na-rupam).

Saci=karma (Nigh. II. 1), power.

By trayah kesinah (three steeds), Dayananda interprets Vayu (air), Vidyut (lightning) and Surya (the sun); kesinah=shining.

45. Speech (vak) is divided as four quarters (catvari parimita padani); the poets who have intuition know them (tam viduh brahmanah ye manisinah). Three of them, concealed in the cave, do not move (guha trini nihita nengayanti), the fourth of the speech, men speak (turiyam vacah manusyah vadanti).

Commentators have given an extensive thought to the four divisions of speech: the four Vedas; the four kinds of words,—noun, verb, preposition and indeclinables (particles); or the language of the mantras, the kalpa, the brahmana, and laukika or current speech; or the languages of serpents, birds, insects and man; or they may be para, audible; pasyanii, visible; audible only to sages and saints; madhyama, intelligible or expressive, proceeding from the heart; and vaikhari, articulate, as residing in the mouth, and enunciated by the palate, lips, tongue etc; or again, they may be of the three upper worlds and of the world of man.

46. They speak of Indra, Mitra, Varuna, Agni, then he is the suparna garutman. What is one, poets speaḳ in many ways (ekam sad vipra bahudha vadanti); they speak of Agni, Yama, Matarisvan.

47. The ruddy birds rise up to the heaven (harayah suparnah ut patanti divam), to the dark path (kṛsnam niyanam) robed in waters (apo vasanah). They have come back hither from the abode of ṛta (te a vavṛtran sadanat ṛtasya). Immediately after that the earth is soaked with ghee (at it ghṛtena pṛthivi vi udyate).

48. Twelve spokes (pradhayah); one wheel (ekam cakram); three navel-nails (nabhi); who, indeed, has known this? Therein together (tasmin sakam), like poles (sankavah)—three hundred and sixty have been placed, not in the least shaking (calacalasah).

49. Stanah, breast; sasayah, lasting; mayobhuh, producing vitality; varyani (covetable, worthy of being accepted); ratnadhah, bringing gems; sudatrah, well-giving, freely giving; kah, maketh. What lasting breast you have, producing vitality, with which you nourish all that is covetable, which brings gems, which possesses prosperity, and which is freely giving, O Sarasvati, may you make that here for us to drink.

Sarasvati is here invoked as mother.

50. The devas performed a sacrifice with sacrifice (yajna); they became the first dharmas. Lo, these greatnesses resorted to the heaven, where the ancient Sadhyas, the gods, the devas are.

51. This water comes up and down alike day by day. They, the parjanyas, enliven the earth; Agnis, the fires, enliven the heaven.

Agni= Vidyut (lightning); parjanya clouds; udaka=water—Daya.

Water goes up and down day by day alike. This water in the mystic sense, is only some kind of transcendental joy, which migrates from the earth, the annamaya kosha, to the innermost realm, vijnana-maya and anandamaya koshas, the heaven, and then from the inner-most realm comes back to the outermost.

52. The divine bird, the great bird, the child of waters, of herbs, worthy to be seen, who brings satisfaction with rains, in the rainy season, that Sarasvat, I invoke again and again.

Sarasvat, is one in which many currents meet; in this sense, a great person of repute and scholarship (Daya.).

Apam=of the antariksa, midspace.

The Atharva-veda reproduces almost the whole of this asya vamasya hymn in two smaller hymns (IX. 9 and IX. 10) of 22 and 28 verses respectively.

We have already said that there is a reference to 23 verses of this hymn in the Nirukta; some of the important derivations of Yaska are as follows :—

1. Bhrata, brother, is derived from √भृ to take; he takes a share of patrimony, or he is to be brought up. His third brother is butter-backed (i.e. Agni).

Seven is an extended (सृप्ता) number. There are seven rays of the sun (IV. 26).

2, 11, 12, 13, 48. Seven yoke the one-wheeled car, i.e the car which moves on a single wheel. Cakram, wheel is derived from √चक्, to repel or √चर्, to move; √क्रम्, to go. The word nama, (नाम) name, is derived from √नम्, from being drawn up; the seven rays draw up the juices for him.

The three-navelled wheel (trinabhi cakram) is the year with its three seasons, summer (grisma) rainy (varsa) and winter (hemanta); a year is called samvatsara, because people live together by them. Grisma, is summer, because juices are swallowed during this period, and; rainy season is varsa, because during this time it rains. Winter is hemanta, because it is full of snow. Again himam, snow, is derived from √हन्, to injure, or from√hi, to hasten.

Five spoked (I. 164. 13) are five seasons of the year, taking the winter and the dewy season together. Six aras are said to be inserted (I. 164.13). This is with reference to the six seasons, which are inserted in the navel as spokes. Again sat, six is derived from √सह्, sah to bear.

One wheel and twelve fellies (pradhayah) (I. 164. 48), and twelve spoked one (I. 164. 11). These are with reference to months, A month is called masa, from measuring; pradhi is felly, since it is well-secured.

The reference to the fact that in it are placed together 360 (I. 164. 48) sanikas or spokes, this is in reference to 360 days (day+night) in a year. Then we have 720 figure (I. 164.11), this is when days and nights are counted separately (Nir. IV. 27).

16. The word andhas (I. 164. 16), blind, is so called, because no attention can de fixed in it, or because nothing is visible. The word andhas elsewhere is a synonym of food also; because it is to be sought (adhyaniyam bhavati) (Nir. V. 1).

21. Suparna, for birds is supatana, i.e. rays of sun falling in a beautiful manner, invoke or move towards the portion of immortality (amṛta=water), i.e. of water, with consciousness. The lord, guardian of all created beings, is the sun. The lord, guardian of all the senses, is the soul. (This is the adhyatma explanation). The birds, suparna, are the senses; easily going astray, vigilantly invoke, i.e. move towards the portion of immortality (amṛtasya bhagam). He, the wise one, approached me, the immature (pakam); pakam is immature, i.e. one who is to be matured. The soul is such (Nir. III. 12).

26. Cow is called aghnya because she is not to be killed (अ+हन्), or she is the destroyer of sin (Nir. XI. 43).

27. This is self-explained, by the mere reading of it. (Nir. XI. 45).

28. The cow lowed after the calf, who blinks, or who does not blink, i.e. the sun. On its forehead, she made the hin sound for recognition. She lows like mayu, i.e. the sun. This is the atmospheric speech. This is the giver of warm milk, say the ritualists. Dhenu is derived from √धे, to suck, or from √धि, to nourish (Nir. XI. 42).

29. Here he thunders, surrounded by whom the speech utters a lowing sound, i.e. makes a noise, or like mayu, i.e. the sun. This is the atmospheric speech. The word vavrih is a synonym of form, because it covers; √वृ to cover. Having overspread the earth with rain, it draws it back again (Nir. II. 9).

32. Yaska refers to the ascetics who say that "people having many children fall into calamity (बहुप्रजा निर्ऋतिमाविवेश), but according to the etymologists, it refers to the phenomenon of rain. He who made it (य ईं चकार); the verbs to make (करोति), to scatter (किरति) are used in connection with the phenomenon of rain. "न सो अस्य वेद", i.e. he did not know of it, i.e. the middle one (or to cloud even). He the middle one who saw it concealed by the sun alone knew of it. Maturyonau, मातुर्योनौ, or in the womb of the mother; mother (mata) means atmosphere, in it the beings are measured out (निर्+√मा); womb means atmosphere. This is a vast region encompassed by air. This other meaning, i.e. a woman's womb (yoni), is derived from the same root also; it is surrounded (by sinews and flesh perhaps). Multiplying greatly, he reaches earth through the phenomenon of rain (Nir. II. 8).

33. Bandhu or relative. Here is my uterine relative. Relative (bandhu) is so called from being connected together (सम्बन्धनात्). Uterine or nabhih is so called from being fastened together (संनहनात्). It is said, children are born fastened to the ambitions, thence the near relatives are called as having a common ambition, or a common tie. A near relative (ज्ञातिः) is so called from being well-known (संज्ञानात्). The womb (योनिः) is within the two wide spread world-halves. Widespread (uttana) i.e. spread very wide, or spread very high. There father bestows the life germ on the daughter, i.e. the rain cloud on the earth (Nir. IV. 21).

37. Na vijanami yadi vedamasmi, quoted as an illustration of apprehension arising from a particular state (paridevana) in the context of a description of paroksakṛta, pratyaksakṛta and adhyatmik (indirectly addressed, directly addressed and self-invocations, Nir. VII. 3).

40. Nothing very particular, Nir. XI. 44—A section dealing with cow.

41. Fashioning waters, gauri lowed one-footed (ekapadi) with the middle (madhyami, air); two-footed (dvipadi), with middle air and the sun; four-footed (catuspadi), with the quarters (dik); eight-footed (astapadi), with the quarters and intermediate quarters (dik and avantara dik); nine-footed (navapadi), with the quarters, intermediate quarters and the Sun. Thousand syllabled (sahasra aksara), i.e. having much water in the highest heaven (Nir. XI. 44).

42. Tasyah samudra adhi vi ksaranti, i.e. oceans flow down from her, i.e. the clouds pour rain, and all the created beings, dependent on the quarters, live thereby. Thence flows the imperishable water; on that all created beings live (Nir. XI. 41).

44. Trayah kesinah, three lights (having long hairs) perceive at the proper season, i.e., they behold at the right time. One of them strews in the year (samvatsare vapata eka esam), i.e. fire burns the earth. One beholds everything with its actions (visvam ekah abhicaste sacibhih); i.e. the sun. Of one the motion is seen, but not its shape, i.e., the middle one (Nir. XII. 27).

46. Garutman, is so called because he is praised (गरुत्मान् गरणवान् गुर्वात्मा महात्मेति वा), or whose soul is mighty or whose soul is great. He to whom the hymn is addressed and the oblation is offered is this very terrestrial Agni. These two higher luminaries receive praise and oblations under this appellation incidentally only (Nir. VII. 18).

47. Kṛsnam niyanam, (nirayanam), the dark egression, i.e. the night of the sun. Bay steeds having beautiful wings (harayah suparna) are the draught-animals, i.e., the rays of the sun. When from heaven, from the common dwelling place of waters, i.e. the sun, they turn towards the earth, the latter is made wet with clarified butter, i.e. water, ghṛta=water, since it is derived from √घृ, to besprinkle (Nir. VII. 24).

50. Yaska refers to a Brahmana passage in connection with this verse (Ait. Br. I. 16); Agni was the victim. They immolated him; with him they made sacrifice, yajna. Those were the first ordinances (dharmani prathamani).

51. The verse is explained by mere reading of it. Uniform with days, this water goes up and falls down again. Clouds bring new life to earth; fires animate heaven (Nir. VII. 23). See for Asya Vamasya Hymn, the work of C. Kunhan Raja, Madras, 1956, with Bhasyas of Sayana and Atmananda; and R. V. Vaidya's astronomical interpretation).

Hymn-165

For the verse 7, see Nir. VI. 7.

2. Brahmani, the increasing or extending wealth (Nigh. II. 10), or food (Nigh. II. 7)—Daya.

Syana=asva or horse (Nigh. I. 14).

3. Mahinah=महिमायुक्तः, man of repute, respectable—one with reputations—Daya. (महति मह्यते पूज्यते वा तत् माहिनम्, Unadi, II. 57).

Samprcchase, you require what is right, समीचीनं पृच्छसि—Sayana.

Subhanair voceh, you ask of the people with kind words, which is the way? See Yv. XXXIII. 27 also.

4. See Yv. XXXIII. 78.

5. Antamebhih, near, close at hand (Nigh. II. 16).

6. Tuvisman, strong (Nigh. III. 1).

9. Maghavan, the one with huge wealth and prosperity (Daya).

Anuttama te maghavan nakirnu na, there is nothing which has not been inspired by you (Daya.); whatever is said by thee, Indra, is true (Sayana). Anuttam, which is not sent or driven away (Sayana); अप्रेरितम् or not inspired—Daya.

12. Anedyah, worthy of praise, प्रशस्य (Nigh. III. 8) Daya.

13. Esam bhuta naveda ma rtanam—Be not uncognizant of my merits. Navedah, the one free from pains (Daya.).

15. A yasista, come and be accessible; mandaryasya karoh, capable of conferring delight; capable of having good qualities, actions, and behaviours (Daya.).

Isam, vṛjanam, jiradanum, food, strength and long life. Daya. (अन्नं, बलम्, जीवनम्).

Hymn-166

For verse 6, see Nir. VI. 30.

3. Umasah, the one offering protection. (अवितारः—Sayana; रक्षणादिकर्त्तारः—Daya.).

4. Tavisibhih, by strength, (बलैः, Daya.).

Harmya, beautiful houses.

6. Pasvah, sudhiteva barhana, as a well-hurled weapon wounds the animal (deer). Krivih-dati, having sharp teeth (Nir. VI. 30), the one with biting or violent teeth—Daya.; missile teethed (विक्षेपणशील दन्ती—क्रिविर्हिंसनमेव दन्ता यस्याः सा—Sayana).

Sayana connects pasun with krivirdati, the missile of the winds; because he says when the wind blows, animals are withered or chilled.

Arista-gramah—Since when the wind blows the animals are withered or chilled, such villages where needs no violence; peaceful villages, free from danger.

8. Tanayasya pustisu, in the interests of the children, for the well-being of children, (children or descendents).

9. Vavṛte (वावृते)=vavṛte, ववृते (Panini VI. 1. 7).

Prapathesu khadayah, prapatha is a rest-house for the travellers on high ways, for lodging and boarding (meals, khadayah).

10. Sam-mistah, well mixed (सम्यक् मिश्रिताः—Daya.).

11. Sujihvah, with fine speech, truthful in words, sweet-tongued.

12. Aditeriva vratam, act or obligations of Aditi (the fine attitude of mid-space); aditi=antariksa; hrunati, goes in a crooked manner.

13. Jamitvam, the enjoyments of pleasure and pain (Daya.).

14. Parinasa=by many (Nigh. III.1).

15. वयां=वयं=we.

Hymn-167

2. Samudrasya cit dhanayanta pare, bearing or collecting wealth, even on the farther shore of the sea (or on the other bank); a metaphorical usage for the winds bearing wealth (i.e. rain) from long distance beyond the skirts of horizon.

3. Ghṛtaci, night (Nigh. I. 7).

Upara, the upper direction (Nigh. I. 6).

Guha caranti manuso na yosa, going in the darkness of the sky, as if it was in privity or in secret, like the wife of a man, who is brilliantly attired, remains in the privacy of female apartments (Sayana).

Sabhavati vidathyeva samvak, distinguished in learned assemblies; this may refer to lightning also which at times shows itself as if in an assembly, sabha. In the Vedic days, ladies also used to participate in the learned assemblies of scholars in public on equal basis.

4. Sadharanyeva, with a common woman, woman in general; like young people in company of ordinary woman. (This refers to lightning, and winds).

Rodasi, sky and earth.

5. Rodasi, in this verse has also been taken as lightning by certain commentators or the wife of Maruts—रोदसी मरुत्पत्नी विद्युत् वा एतन्नामिकेयमपि—Sayana).

Asurye, in the clouds.

Asurya-iva, like a Surya (सूर्या), the wife or daughter of Surya. Solar light (Daya.).

7. Vṛsamana ahamyuh sthira. ahamyuh, high-minded, (Sayana);

vṛsamana, one who is inclined to impregnate (Daya.); one inclined to rain (वृष्ट्यादि वर्षणमनस्का—Sayana); with ahamkara or self-mindedness and stationary.

8. Vavṛdhe im maruto dativarah, im, ईं, from all sides, pratyaksam; when the offering is presented (dativarah)—promotes this your increase.

Dativarah-(यो दाति दानं वृणोति स:—Daya.) the one who is liberal in giving; the one who of his own will gives liberally.

Hymn-168

1. Yajna – yajna, in all yajnas. Tuturvanih, with a speedy movement.

2. Vabrasah, one who goes with speed—Daya.

Svatavasah, one who goes with his own strength and initiative.

3. Tṛpta-ansavah, with well-nourished branches, or well-nourished limbs, or highly potented (or activated) solar rays (Daya.). The term has been also used in connection with Soma creeper.

Duvasah, maid-servants—Daya.

Rambhini, a lady well-versed in house-hold duties—Daya.

Amsesu, on shoulders, perhaps lances suspended on shoulders of Maruts.

5. Ṛsti-vidyutah, possessors of double-edged sword, shining like lightning.

Hanu, chin; jihvaya, by tongue or speech.

Etasah, horses; yamani, on the paths.

6. Rajaso mahasparam, light of the vast region; the great cause of the geo-sphere—Daya. This may indicate the limits of rains.

Rajas, regions, also water.

7. Amavati, the one full of knowledge.

Svarvati, the one full of happiness.

Ratih, liberal gifts (danam)—Daya.

Asurya iva janjati, like all-subduing force of the Asuras. Just as asuras plunder and give to others, so the winds plunder the clouds to enrich the earth.

8. Yadi (यदी)=yadi (यदि). (Panini VI. 3.135).

Ghṛtam=water.

Pavibhyah, solar rays like a thunderbolt.

9. Pṛsni, the sun.

Sapsarasah, those who are in moving (Nigh. III. 14).

Stomah, a dialogue in questions and answers. Mandaryasya, of him who gives happiness to all.
This verse occurs at I. 165. 15; 166.15; 167. 11; and 168.10.

Hymm-169

For verse 3, see Nir. VI. 15.

1. Varuta,=varita, the one who accepts or agrees.

Sumna, happiness, pleasures.

2. Visvakṛstih, all men; people in general—Daya.

3. Ṛstih, availability; attainment.

Sanemi, old (Nigh. III. 27).

Junanti, attain.

Susukvan, the purifiers (शोचकः)—Daya.

4. Rayim, wealth including milk and dairy products.

Daksinaya-iva, like the one given as daksina, a fee liberally given.

Ratim, दानम्, a gift, a present.

Vajaih, with food etc.

5. Tve rayah indra tosatamah, here rayah may mean riches, wealth or even friends or kinsmen (then Maruts here).

6. Tirthe naryah paunsyani tasthuh, like the manly energy of an enemy in the field of battle; tirthe, battle; Dayananda interprets tirthe as a boat to carry across and na aryah, like a rich businessman (vaisya); naryah may mean enemies too.

7. Ṛnavanam, one in debt, debtor (Daya.); a contemptible enemy (Sayana). The cloud is a debtor to the winds for its water content.

8. Visvajanya, for the creator of universe.

Surudhah, one who contains in himself the penetrating (causing injury) solar rays.

Go-agrah, (gavah, गाव: = solar rays), the one who has rays in the fore-front.

Hymn-170

For verse 1, see Nir. I. 6.

1. There it seems, it does not exist; i.e, there is no today (nunam) nor indeed tomorrow. Today (adya), on this day (asmin dyavi). Dyuh. is a synonym of day because it is bright (dyut). Tomorrow (svah) the time that is still expected. Yesterday (hyah), the time that is expired. "Who knows that which is yet to come (i.e. the future? This other word, adbhutam (wonderful)=abhutam, i.e. something, which, as it were, is unprecedented. "The mind of another is apt to waver" (anyasya cittam abhisancarenyam), i.e. fickle. Another, a person not to be introduced (anyasya), to good people. Cittam, mind is derived from cit, to know. Utadhitam vinasyati (lo! the expected is lost), assigned, i.e. a thing intended (for offering) Nir. I. 6.

2. Samarane, in battle (Nigh. II. 17).

Bhratah agastya, friend agastya. Agastya, the person full of enlightenment—Daya. (An interchange of benefits; presentation of oblations by one; the reward given by the other—Wilson).

4. This refers to Indra or Agastya (Wilson).

Amṛtasya, never - dying immortal soul, with consciousness (cetanam).

5. Vasupati, the lord of riches.

Mitrapati, the sustainer of friends.

Marudbhih, by the learned people—Daya.

Hymn-171

1. Mucadhvam asvan, let loose your horses; take the horses out of car that you may not come back to the sacrifice in anger. Wilson thinks that this hymn indicates a trimming between the worships of Indra and the Maruts.

Maruts, learned ones: brave persons, vital breaths.

Namasa, with salutation or with food (Daya.). (Nigh. II. 7). Turanam,those moving with speed. Helah—disrespect.

2. Stha=(ष्ठा) stha (स्थ).

Vṛdhasah, the prospering ones.

3, Maghava, worthy of reverence—Daya.

Vanani, भजनीयानि, worthy of possession and enjoyment.

5. Sthavirah, an experienced old person; the grateful one. (कृतज्ञो वृद्ध;—Daya.).

6. Avayata-helah, one free from disrespect and disrepute.

Hymn-172

1. Yamah (यामः)—Movement.

Ahibhanavah, the illuminator of clouds—Daya.= अहीयमान-प्रकाशाः =lights never diminishing (Sayana).

Sudanavah, the liberal givers, सुष्ठु दातारः—Daya. शोभनदानाः—Sayana.

2. Saruh, the double edged sword which is the killer of evil ones.

3. Tṛnaskandasya, of the one with a blade of greed; of the one who is encouraging greed.

Hymn-173

1. Gayat sama nabhanyam, sing the heaven-ascending Samas. Samas are the hymns which the udgatṛ chants: nabhanyam नभसि साधु (वर्णव्यत्ययेन सस्य नः, a transposition of letters), pervading throughout the space—Daya.

Gavah, cows; as if, rays (किरणा इव); dhenavah, cows giving milk; adabdhah, unimpeded; not permitted to be killed (हिंसितुमयोग्याः—Daya).

2. Maryah, the mortal; yajatrah, invoker; mithuna, pair of man and woman.

Vṛsa, showerer of true knowledge; vṛsabhih, by them who enlighten—Daya.

3. Krandat asvah, as a horse neighs; naya-manah, the one carrying things; this perhaps refers to the roaring sound of the fire (Wilson). Saradah—autumn.

4. Cyautnani, the Stotras or praises—Daya. It is, properly, causing to fall down; firm, hard (च्यावयितृणि दृढानि स्तोत्राणि कर्माणि स्वकीयानि सामर्थ्यानि वा—Sayana).

Dasma-varcah, with valour dominating over enemies.

5. Vavabrusah, good-looking, charming.

6. Opasamiva dyam bhartti, he upholds the sky; opasam, near to, i.e. earth and sky as contiguous to heaven,—iva, अत्यन्तं सम्बद्धम्, quite close and contiguous—Daya.; also a horn—Sayana. He upholds the sky as easily as a bull bears his horns.

7. Samatsu, in the battles (Daya).

8. Samudra, in the midspace or antariksa—Daya.

Gauh, speech.

Eva एवा=eva (एव).

10. Vispardhasah, envious in particular (परस्परं विशेषत: स्पर्धमाना: —Daya).

Mitrayuvah, friend to the allies; madhyayuvah, learned ones maintaining neutrality.

Purpatim, master or mayor of a city.

11. Juhuranah, with mind averted, with a crooked mind (दुष्टेषु कुटिल:—Daya).

Tirthe na tatṛsanam, like a lake to a thirsty.

12. See also Yv. III. 46.

Yavya, as if river (Nigh I. 13).

Gih, truthful speech.

13. Harivah, possessors of horses—Daya.

Gatum, to the earth.

Isam vṛjanam jiradanum, food, strength and long life.

Hymn-174

For verse 2, see Nir. VI. 31.

1. Tarutrah, one who takes us across the ocean of miseries —Daya.

Asura, one like a cloud —Daya.

2. Mṛdhra-vachah—mṛdu-vacah, one with soft, sweet and refined speech.

Saradih, pertaining to autumn.

Dano visa indra mṛdhravacah—Indra, make the tribes liberal and sweet in speech (Nir. VI. 31).

Purukutsa, the one having numerous rays potent like thunderbolt—Daya.

You have made the subject (rain), soliciting forbearance, descend (in showers); when you had rent as under the gliding, world filling (clouds), then, irreproachable one, you did make the waters flow in channels and did open the chief cloud for young purukutsa —(Sayana).

3. Vṛtah Indra, O the accepted and acknowledged Indra (the head of a state).

Surapatnih, the wives of the brave.

Asusam agnim, fire strong enough for smelting.

Puruhuta, respected by many—Daya.

Vṛtah surapatnih, to the cities inhabited by raksasas.

Raksah simhah na etc . protect or defend like a lion. As a lion protects the forest, in which his lair (dame) is, from the depredations of other animals.

4. Arnansi, waters.

Gah, earth; hari, two horses driving the chariot.

5. Kutsam, the thunderbolt (वज्रम्).

Ṛjra, straight and direct moving.

Asva, (अश्वा), two horses.

6. Mitrerun, enemies of friends.

Aryamanam, the judicial officer.

7. Arka satau, in the distribution of food.

Dasaya, for the Sudras.

Danucitrah, actions pertaining to unusual liberal gifts.

Tisrah, three regions, or the best, ordinary and the worst. Sayana refers this to three states of the earth, identical with three rituals of darsa or lunar periods, the pasu or victim, and soma or libation, or as implying earth, firmament, and heaven.

Kuyavacam, those who speak in favour.

Ku-yava, rotten barley (cf. I. 104.4 for Kuyava, vagrant, or दुर्योनि).

Sirah, nerves or veins.

Na sravantih, like flowing rivers.

Paraya turvasam yadum svasti, you have protected; svasti, without loss or detriment; paraya पाराय may mean, bear across, convey over in safety.

Hymn-175

1. Harivah, O, the one possessing excellent horses.

2. Matsarah, pleasure giving.

Sahavan (सहावां)—saha-van (सहऽवान्).

Pṛtanasat, overthrower of hosts—or armies. (पृतनां नृसेनां सहते येन सः—Daya.).

3. Dasyum osah, burn the evil mischievous person.

4. Susnaya, the one who harms otheıs and exploits.

5. Vṛtraghna, the killer of Vṛtra; the sun who disperses the clouds.

Madah, intoxication; pleasure (हर्षः—Daya). Kratuh, big achievements.

Hymn-176

2. Vesaya (वेशयाः)—vesaya (वेशय), food (Daya).

Girah, speech; vṛsa, adept in agricultural operations.

3. Panca, five; five classes in society;—Brahmana, Ksattriya, Vaisya, Sudra, and Nisada (cf. I. 7.9).

4.. Surih, a learned person.

Dunasam, one destroyed with difficulty.

5. Dvibarhasah, one who succeeds on account of his two attributes, learning and efforts (Daya.); doubly devout.

Arkesu, in prayers; in well-cooked food.

Sanusak, combination or co-ordination.

6. Purvebhyah, jaritṛbhyah, the earlier seekers of the science of yoga, or ancient encomiasts.

Hymn-177

1. Kṛstinam, cultured persons.

Puruhutah, respected by all.

Madrik, desirous of fulfilment of passions (or desirous of the oblations).

In this and subsequent verses, we have terms of alike nature;

वृषभः, वृषणा, वृषभसः, वृषरथासः, वृषभ्यां वृषभ, varsa (वर्षं) and (वर्षाणम्) varsanam are showering; shedding; effusing; vṛsana (वृषण) may be horses; the car is varsana (वर्षंण); Indra is vṛsabha (वृषभ); the Soma is vṛsan (वृषन्), and so on.

Dayananda translates vṛsabhah, as exceedingly strong (अतीव बलवान्), vṛsana, as strong horses (बलिष्ठावश्वौ); vṛsanah, as strong youths; vṛsabhasah as bulls or creatures with all round strength and vigour (परिशक्तिबन्धकः); vṛsarathasah, as strong cars; mighty carriers; vṛsanam as strong (दृढम्), vṛsabhyam, the two strongs; and so on.

4. Brahmani, riches, wealth (Nigh. II. 10).

Hari (हरी) (dual), two horses; two powers, electrical and gravitational attractions.

Miyedha, from medha; Sayana interprets it as a victim of sacrifices; one which is further enlightened, when something is thrown in it. (मियेन प्रक्षेपेणेनैधः प्रदीपनं यस्य सः—Daya.).

Hymn-178

1. Srustih, knowledge acquired by hearing (श्रोतव्या विद्या)—Daya.

Uti, protection; jaritṛbhyah, for adorers.

2. Svasara, the sisters (day and night).

Gha (घा)=gha (घ)=eva.

Yonau, गृहे, in the house (Daya).

Sutukah, such ladies as are always prepared to accept the best.

3. Pṛtsu, in the battles (Daya.).

4. Prakhadah, good eater.

Pṛksah, the enquired one; the desired food.

5. Dayananda translates isam as the inspiration for work प्रेरणम्, vṛjanam as strength, and jiradanum as the consciousness (cf. I.177.5); otherwise the terms also mean food, strength and long life.

Hymn-179

For verses 4 and 5, see Nir. V.2 and VI.4 respectively.

1. Dosah, nights; vastoh, days; usasah, dawn.

Vṛsanah patnih jagamyuh, let husbands approach their wives.

2. Ṛtasapah, disseminators of truth.

Patnih vṛsabhih jagamyuh, let wives be approached by their husbands.

Ajim, battle.

Mithunam, pairs of husband and wife.

4. Lopamudra, hiding in shyness is the characteristic of whom, such a lady (लोप एव ग्रामुद्रा समन्तात् प्रत्ययकारिणी यस्याः सा—Daya.). The verse refers to the sexual coitus during the climax of passions.

Nadasya ma rudhatah kama agan—Here nadah means a seer, ṛsi; it is derived from nad, नद्, meaning to praise. "The love of the self-controlled seer has come to me"—self controlled (rudhatah kamah) i.e. of one who is celibate and who has controlled himself with regard to procreation, has come to me. It is said that with these words, the seer's daughter wailed (a legend says that seer's daughter is Lopamudra, wife of Agastya).

5. Pulukamah, exceedingly sexy; with many desires.

6. Agastyah, those who tread on the path of righteousness alone and not drifted to any other course—Daya.

Khanitraih, with implements (of digging etc.). Khanamanah, one who carries the digging or ploughing operations.

Asisah, the fulfilled desires.

Hymn-180

1. Diyat, may go (Nigh. I. 14).

Pavayah, wheels as of a potter.

2. Visvagurtti, workers of all crafts—Daya; variously going (in relation to car).

3. Vaninah, corona of the sun with rays; of a thicket.

Ṛtapsu, the drinkers of water (Ṛta--water) Nigh. I. 12; one whose forms are truth.

Hvarah na, like a thief (Sayana); hvarah, the one who dispels anger (ह्वरस्य क्रोधस्यायं निवारकः—Daya.).

4. Gharmam madhumantam, heat as soothing as sweet (butter or honey); gharmam, दिनम्, day (Daya.).

Pasvah-isti, the concordance (sangati) of the family of cattle (Daya.); Sayana interprets pasu as fire; (अग्निः पशुरासीत् Tait. S. V. 7.26)

5. Dasras, see earlier references I. 117.5; dispeller of pain (Daya.).

Taugrya, belonging to Tugra (see earlier references I. 117.14); belonging to the strongest amongst strongs (Daya.).

Yajatra, the co-ordinators (संगमयितारौ—Daya.).

7. Panih, tradesman—Daya.

Vipanirhitavan, according to Sayana, panih is पणागारः, or the pitcher in which the commodities for sale are placed; or the jar or vessel for storing the Soma juice after filtration. (Hitavan, being placed). He further suggests that pani may mean a trader, and hitavan would mean opulent—हितं विद्यते यस्य सः, the one whose advantage is involved—Daya.).

8. Karadhuniva, kara is sound and hence like an instrument of sound—कारान् शब्दान् धूनयतीव—Daya.).

10. Isam, something worth having, a pleasure.

Vṛjanam, movement; jiradanum, to the soul (Daya.).

Hymn-181

For verse 4, see Nir. XII. 3.

2. Manojuvah, those possessing the speed of mind—Daya; vataranhasah, those who have speeds of winds.

3. Ahampurvah, emulative, very generous—Sayana; "this is me", one who has such a knowledge—Daya.

4. Iheha jata, born in this world; got recognition in this world —Daya; the two asvins or moon and the sun (here and there born a pair).

Subhagah putrah, auspicious son (moon and the sun).

Arepasa tanva namabhih svaih: Arepasa one free from sin (repah, sin). (Sayana recalls the legends of Dadhyanc—I. 84.13)—as faultless in your forms and (perfect in) your many excellences—Wilson.

Born here and there, they two are praised together with reference to a body unstained by sin and to their own names. One of you two is the victor, the promoter of noble sacrifice; the other is regarded as the blessed son of heaven—Nir.XII.3.

5. Kakubhah, all directions—Daya.; points of horizon (Wilson); the best—Sayana.

Asvin, a pair of air and the sun—Daya.

Hari, two horses; the electrical and gravitational forces—Daya. Rajansi, regions.

6. Saradvan, pertaining to autumn and other seasons—Daya; also saranavan, the disperser of clouds and leaves of trees, or very old and withered.

Evaih anyasya, the faculties of the other. (एवैः प्रापकैः—Daya.; कामैः गमनैः वा—Sayana).

9. Purandhih, one who sustains the world—Daya; one who sustains all, the earth or Pusan—Sayana.

Hymn-182

1. Vispalavasu, the two who protect the entire community, and provide accomodation; rich in benevolence to mankind. (Sayana refers to the legend of the iron or golden leg given to Vispala).

2. Indratama, maruttama, the superlatives of Indra and Marut (excessively prosperous, or most imperial and exceedingly vital).

Rathitama, excellent possessor of cars.

4. Ratninim, attractive, charming—Daya.; effluent in precious rewards.

Vacam-vacam, every word.

Rayatah sunah, barking dogs.

5. Plavam paksinam, winged bark; plava—a raft or float; a boat.

Taugryaya, for the one related to Tugra, strongest amongst strongs.

6. Catasro-navah, four boats. This refers to a legend, about which Professor Roth presented genuine difficulties. Samudra means mid-space or antariksa; How Bhujyu should have fallen into jeopardy in the sky, how he should have got there at all ? Here the occurrence of the term navah, clearly indicates a reference to boat and sea and not the mid-space (Wilson).

7. Parna mṛgasya pataroh-iva arabhe—As the leaves for the support of a falling animal. Sayana translates mṛgasya as of the cleaner scavenger, a sweeper. Dayananda also translates as मार्जयितु योग्यः.

Hymn-183

1. Tribandhurah, see I.34.2; three bindings; tricakrah, three wheels, and tridhatuh, three metals (gold, silver and copper); bandhur is the charioteer's place, सारथि स्थान; see III.43.1 also बन्धुरेष्ठाः.

Vih na parnaih, just as a bird (vih) with wings.

2. Kratumanta, highly mechanized. In this verse we have a reference to the mechanized space-vehicle. On the spiritual side, this vehicle would take one to the inner world sojourn from the annamaya kosa, to the innermost cavity of self-realization.

3. Suvṛtam rathah, rolling car, the car, whose every part is functioning satisfactorily and nicely (यः सुष्ठुः सर्वाङ्गैः शोभनस्तम्).

Nasatya=na+asatya=truth, person with true knowledge and true action.

4. Vṛkah, wolf, a thief (Daya.); a crooked person; vṛki, she-wolf; wife of a crooked person—Daya.

Gih, speech.

5. Gotamah, intellectual person.

Purumidhah, impregnated with various substances (Daya.).

Atrih, ever-moving; one free from three categories of pains.

Dasra, the dispeller of poverty and miseries—Daya.

6. Ratreh, of the night; of the sea of darkness.

Devayanaih, paths of superior ones; or the paths of learned people.

Hymn-184

1. Ukthaih, with laudatory verses or praises.

Divah napata, grandsons of heaven (Sayana); one who has no failure in enterprises (divah=व्यवहारस्य; napatah=न विद्यते पातो ययोस्तौ).

2. Panin, to traders (प्रशस्तव्यवहारकर्त्तॄन्—Daya).

Urmya, with night (Nigh. I. 7).

3. Isu kṛta-iva, the two, established by speech (वाणीकृताविव—Daya.). Pusan, पोषकः, the sustainer, perhaps the sun. According to Sayana, it indicates the pair of Asvins, i.e. the sun and the moon.

Surya, सूर्या the beloved of Surya (सूर्यस्य कान्ता—Daya.). See I. 116.17. There is a legend associated with Surya. The Surya (सूर्य) was desirous of giving his daughter, Surya (सूर्या), to Soma, but the gods desired her as a wife; they agreed that he who should first reach the sun as a goal, should wed the damsel. The Asvins were victorious, and Surya, well pleased by their success, rushed immediately to their chariot. Sayana, commenting on the present verse, adds to the legend, that besides Surya, a prize was offered of a hymn of a thousand verses, which the Asvins also won; but at the request of Agni and other competitors, they gave up to them portions of the hymn.

Varunasya bhureh, of the interrupted sacrifice, which is obstructive of the sin that intercepts the reward (Sayana); sin-removing sacrifice (Wilson); the abundance of the best (or of water)—Daya.

4. Madhvi, one associated with sweetness; karoh, of the worker.

5. Stomam, praise.

Maghavana, the prosperous two.

Varttih, right path.

6. The same as I. 163. 6.

Hymn-185

For verse 1, see Nir. III. 22.

1. Of these two, which is prior, which posterior? How were they born? O sages, who know them thoroughly? They themselves support all their functions, whatever, they are. And their two days, i.e. day and night, roll on as if placed on chariot wheels. With these words, the seer describes the greatness of heaven and earth. Nir. III. 22.

Ahani cakriya iva, two days, as if, wheeled (i.e. day and night in succession like rotations of a wheel).

2. Raksatam no abhvat, defend us from the great danger

(Wilson). Abhvat, from the great (i.e. the great pain arising out of pernicious actions like untruth etc.—Daya.); from the terrible sins, महतो भयहेतोः पापात्—Sayana.

3. Aditeh, of the indivisible; of the earth, or of the sun —Daya.; of the mid-space, since that is also indivisible like the earth —Sayana.

4. Devanam ahnam, divine days, i.e. days and nights; Dayananda translates devanam as waters etc.

Devaputre, sons of God; ahnam, in the midst of days; ubhayebhih, alongwith the two, the stationary and moving (स्थावरजङ्गमैः सह —Daya.).

5. Svasara jami pitroh upasthe, sisters and kindred, placed on their lap as its parents; abhi jighranti bhuvanasya nabhim, scenting the navel of the world.

Nabhim, centre of gravity (नहनं मध्यस्थमाकर्षणाख्यं बन्धनम्—Daya.).

6. Amṛtam=water (Nigh. I. 12).

7. Pṛthvi, extensive; urvi, the one possessing innumerable substances.

8. Jah patim, the protector or sustainer of the wife, the husband; or jah=daughter, and hence jah-patim is son-in-law (Sayana).

Cakṛma (चकृमा)=cakṛma (चकृम). Agah, crime, fault.

9. Sudastaraya, for the one who gives extensively and liberally.

10. Avadyat, from abuse (निन्द्यात्); duritat, from vicious actions (Daya.). Mata, lady architect (मान्यकर्त्री—Daya.) i.e. mother.

11. Bhutam devanamavame avobhih, be ever with your protection in the proximity of those who praise you.

Avame, in the proximity of.

Avobhih, with your protection.

Devanam, the praisers.

Hymn-186

1. Also see Yv. XXXIII. 34.

Visvanarah, leader of every one—Daya; does good to all men.

Ilabhih, with food etc.; vidathe, in all acts pertaining to enlightenment (यज्ञे)—Daya.

Matsatha (मत्सथा)=matsatha (मत्सथ).

3. Atithim, like the guest, like a sanyasin.

Agnim, man of enlightenment.

Varunah, respectable learned person.

Surih, highly intellectual.

4. Namasa, with food etc.

Usasanakta—Day and night.

Dhenuh, speech.

Ahan=ahani, in the day.

Payasi, in water.

5. Ahirbudhnyah, a cloud in the midspace (ahih—cloud, budhnyah—one in antariksa or inter-space). (See Nir. V. 4; ahih and budhna both synonyms of antariksa.).

Napatam apam, see previous notes.

Sindhuh, a river in general.

6. Tuvih-tamah, superb in strength.

7. Surabhistamam=surabhih-tamam, superb in fragrance; most fragrant fruit.

8. Avanayo na rathah risadasah, like the protecting vehicles or defence cars (Wilson); avanayah, pertaining to earth (Daya.); risadasah, the destroyer of enemies.

Mitrayujah, the group of allies.

9. Saruh, darkness; i.e. light destroyer.

Irinam, oscillating world; the arid land (ऊषर प्रदेश—Sayana).

Sudine, cloudless day; a fine day.

Senah, as if army (Daya.); the army of clouds; rain-bearing clouds; the army of Maruts.

10. Ṛbhuksah, men of wisdom. Pusanam, sustainer.

Svatavaso hi santi, who are of independent powers. (Svatavasah—स्वकीयं तवो बलं येषान्ते—Daya.); the possessors of their own strength.

Hymn-187

For verse 1, see Nir. IX. 25.

This hymn has also been known traditionally as one pertaining to food or nourishment.

1. Pitu=palakam, that which nourishes (pitu, पालकं अन्नम्—Daya.). Tritah, mind, speech and action—a triad—Daya. (Name of Indra also, whose fame spreads over three regions—Sayana); three statured Indra —Yv. XXXIV. 7.

Tavisim—This is a synonym of strength, from √तु, to increase, with whose vigour, Trita, i.e. Indra who abides in three regions rends Vṛtra limb by limb. (Nir. XI. 25).

3. Sivah, sivabhih utibhih, mayobhih all of them mean pleasure-giving; source of delight or auspicious.

Advayah, not being two-fold; having none but agreeable properties (सुशेवः सुष्ठुसुखः—Daya.).

4. Rasah, juices, tastes, tasty food; food with six sorts of tastes.

Rajansi, regions of space; vatah-iva, like winds.

5. Tuvigrivah iva irate, those with strong or stiff necks. Usually tuvi means many or much, बहु. Sayana interprets तुविग्रीवा as प्रवृद्धग्रीवा enlarged necks (people when eat sit erect, दृढांग, and firm; and when they are without food, the neck is bent). If we consider the case of great eaters, then tuvigrivah would mean, as if, they have many throats.

8. Vatape pivah it bhava, body, do you grow fat or strong (पीव: वृद्धिकर:—Daya.). Body is vatapa (वाताप), since it is sustained by vital air (vata).

9. Gavasirah, foods prepared from milk.

Yava-asirah, (यवऽआशिर:), prepared from barly or flour.

10. Vṛkkah, curative in respect to diseases.

Karambha, a cake of parched meal, prepared from saktu (सक्तु); this is the name of a medicinal herb also.

Udarathih, carminative, appetizer.

Hymn-188

The hymn is addressed to the various forms of Agni, referred to earlier as apris, (आप्री), (apriyah). (For apri hymns, see Nir. VIII. 21).

1. Samiddha, glowing like fire; or well-kindled (cf. सुसमिद्ध).

3. Idyah, praised.

4. Barhih, sacred grass (I.13.5); enlightenment (संवर्द्धितं तेज इव विज्ञानम्—Daya.).

5. Durah, doors (द्वाराणि).

Virat, and samrat are similar terms, from rat, राजते, shining;

यो विविधेषु गुणेषु कर्मसु वा राजते—Daya.

Vibhvih and prabhvih are also similar terms. (One is व्यापिकाः, pervading, vibhvih; the other is समर्थ or potent—prabhvih)—Daya.

8. For Bharati, ida and Sarasvati, see earlier notes.

Bharati, the possessor of entire knowledge (सकल विद्याधारिका).

Ila, worthy of adoration (प्रशस्ता).

Sarasvati, the possessor of enlightenment, movements (सरः) etc. (प्रशस्तं सरो विज्ञानं गमनं वा विद्यते यस्यां तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.).

9. Tvasta, creator, architect.

10. Svahakṛtisu, in the duties performed with endings of svaha (स्वाहया कृतयः क्रिया येषु व्यवहारेषु तेषु—Daya.).

Hymn-189

1. For this see also Yv. V. 36; VII. 43 and XL.16. It also occurs in the Isa Upanisad as the concluding verse, and according to some commentators, it has been put in the mouth of a person, almost now departing from this world.

Vayunani, intentions, prajnanani—Daya. and Sayana; also virtuous and non-virtuous actions.

Juhuranam, born out of the crooked ways, (कुटिलगतिजन्यम्—Daya; कुटिलकारी, crooked, Sayana;), that would force us astray.

Enah, sin.

2. Tvam paraya navyah asman svastibhih, (paraya) convey us, (svastibhih) beyond all evil ways by the sacred acts.

Navyah, adorable in the newer ways; durgani, the evil acts, difficult to be overcome, दुर्गमनानि पापानि—Sayana; दुःखेन गन्तुं योग्यानि—Daya; pṛthvi, extensive earth; puh ca, the city also.

Urvi bhava, may become spacious; tokaya, to offspring or children and tanayaya, sons; sam yoh, bestower of happiness.

3. Amivah, diseases; anagnitrah, unprotected by heat (fire, here fever) अविद्यमानज्वरेण रक्षकाः, protector from the non-existing fever—Daya. Kṛstih, cultured person; yajatra, adorable divinity the one always in accompaniment, संगच्छमान—Daya.

4. Payubhih, by the means of protection, रक्षणोपायैः—Daya.

5. Ducchunayai, to the crooked ones, to the malevolent; aghaya, sinful or wicked; avisyave, vicious, righteous, voracious.

Dasate, to the one who bites.

Datvate, to the one with teeth or fangs.

6. Ṛtajata, born for noble acts or sacrifice.

Yansat, may give, यच्छेत्—Daya; विमुंचति खलु आत्मानम्, may except or release himself—Sayana.

Ririksoh, from those who are inclined to harm him.

Vispat, those who obstruct in particular; those who do wrong.

8. Avocama nivacanani, we address our pious prayers, (or our words which are definitely pious or righteous—Daya.).

Manasya sunuh, son of mantras (or prayers)—(नियत इति मनो मन्त्राः—Sayana); or son of enlightened persons—Daya.

Hymn-190

For verses 1 and 5, see Nir. VI.23 and IV.25

1. Anarva means one who is not dependent on others. Increase the independent, mighty (vṛsabham) sweet tongued (mandrajihvam) and praiseworthy lord of prayer (bṛhaspatim) with hymns (arkaih). Increase (vardhaya) the lord of prayer, who is independent, who does not depend on others, the mighty, sweet-tongued (whose speech is delightful), or whose tongue is fascinating, the praiseworthy with hymn, i.e. stanzas of praise (arkaih), which are means of worship (Nir. VI. 23).

Bṛhaspati in this hymn is the protector or cherisher (पालयितारम्) of the prayer.

2. Ṛtviyah, the hymns of seasons (particularly of rains).

Ṛte, in truth.

Matarisva, like air or wind.

3. Namasah, respectful.

Slokam, the true speech.

Saviteva, like the sun.

Ahanyah, pertaining to day, or daily (revolving sun).

4. Vicetah, persons with keen intuitions (विविधाश्चेता: प्रज्ञा यस्य—Daya.).

5. Bṛhaspate cayase it piyarum, O Bṛhaspati, may you destroy the derider. Here piy means to deride (Nir. IV.25); piyarum, those who wish to enjoy the drinks (पानेच्छुकम्)—Daya.; lover of Soma drinks (Sayana).

Vamam, reputed, a synonym of प्रशस्य (Nigh. III. 8).

Manyamanah, stupid; papah, sinful; pajrah, mean.

Dudhye, दूढ्ये=दुःध्ये, one who thinks viciouslly in respect of others (Daya.).

Usrikam=usriya, an old cow who has stopped giving milk; also old bullock; उस्रिकम् उस्रियेति गोनाम कुत्सितामल्पक्षीरोत्स्राविणी गां जीर्णमनड्वाहं वा—Sayana.

6. Suyavasah=suyavasah (सुयवस:), one rich in food grains.

Apivṛtha ap urnuvantah asthuh, enveloped in ignorance, stand extricated from that covering.

7. Rodhacakra, river with whirls (Nigh. I. 13).

8. Tuvijatah, beneficent.

Tuvisman, the powerful.

Hymn-191

This is the concluding hymn of Mandala—I of the Ṛgveda with a reference to poisons and poisonous creatures. The deities are water, grass and the sun, (अबोषधिसूर्या देवता) and has 16 verses. It starts with words kankatona and therefore, it is known as the kankatona sukta. In respect to this, Saunaka says: 'let anyone who is afflicted by poison diligently repeat the hymn' and as the traditional superstition says, that if so repeated, the person would not suffer, though inflicted by a serpent or an envenomed spear. Of course, the hymn is an instructive one with no superstitions associated with it. The superstition that mere repetition of the verses would remove the malady is a much later innovation in the degraded society.

1. Kankatah, na kankatah, satina, kankatah—Kankatah is something with very little of venom; nakankata is opposite to little, i.e. exceedingly poisonous (snakes); satina is synonymous of water in the Nirukta.

Dvaviti, of two types, one with a little venom, and exceedingly venomous.

Adṛstah, the invisible poisonous creatures.

Alipsata, have smeared; always get stick (Daya.).

2. Avaghnati, a strong antidote, अत्यन्तं दु:खयन्ती (Daya.); a drug or antidote being destroyed (literal translation—Wilson), or a certain drug, understood, destructive of poisonōus creatures.

Ayati, coming; parayati, departing.

3. Sarasah, like blades of grass; kusarasah, like blades of thorny grass; darbhasah, soft kusa grass called darbha; maunjah, munja grass: Poa cynosuroides, Saccharum spontaneum, saccharum Munja, Andropogon muricatum. (Wilson).

4. For this see, Av. VI. 52.2 (slight variation).

5. Prati adrsran, discovered in the dark, (not by actual seeing); as snakes by their breathing (Sayana).

Visvadrstah, seen by all, such poisonous ones.

6. Ilayata, go to your respective places; soma, moon.

7. Ye ansyah ye angyah, those who move by their shoulders, and the others moving by their body.

Ansyah, अंसेषु स्कन्धेषु भवाः, born in (or on) shoulders—Daya. Sayana gives other renderings also; ansarhah (अंसार्हाः), being suited to the shoulders; ansagah (अंसगाः), moving by the shoulders; ansabhyam khadanto va, (अंसाभ्यां खादन्तो वा), biting with their shoulders. We have similar interpretaions of angyah also. (अङ्गगा अङ्गेन शरीरेण हन्तारो वा लूतिकादयः)—Sayana.

Sucikah, having sharp needle-like stings (like scorpions)—Daya.

8. Adrstaha, अदृष्टहा, destroyer of the unseen; dissipator of darkness (Daya.). (See Av. V. 23. 6 also).

9. See Av. VI. 52. 1 with some variations.

10. Drtim, leather bag for holding liquor.
The verses 10 to 13 deal with the science of poisons or visa vidya also known as madhu-vidya or science of ambrosia. "Having taken the poison in the solar orb (surye) with the fourth finger, having made it ambrosia, and caused them to blend together, may it become poisonless." (Sunlight with its actinic rays is considered as intrumental in counteracting, the effect of poison.) The science of antidotes is known as madhula, or madhuvidya (verse 1).

11. Iyattika, insignificant bird.

Sakuntika, kapinjala bird; francoline partridge.

12. Trih-sapta vispulingakah, 3×7=21 kinds of small birds; vispulingakah, a small bird; catika, female sparrow. [Seven tongues, with three variations (red, white and black) of each also gives the number 21.].

13. Navanam navatinam, 99 (innumerable) types of waves of pain.

14. Trih sapta mayuryah—21 types of pea-hens.

Agruvah, rivers (Nigh. I.13).

15. Kusumbhakah, nakulah or mungoose (Viveta Mungoose), whose hostility to the snake is so well known.

16. Vṛscika, scorpion.

According to M. Langlois, this hymn alludes to the state of sky before the commencement of a sacrifice. According to him visa is darkness which is dispersed by the morning light, or by the rays of the sun.

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ
ऋग्वेद संहिता

with

English Translation

by Svami Satya Prakash Sarasvati
and Satyakam Vidyalankar

Volume IV

Book II, Hymns [1—43]

Book III, Hymns [1—62]

चतुर्थो भागः

द्वितीयं मण्डलम्, सूक्तानि [१—४३]

तृतीयं मण्डलम्, सूक्तानि [१—६२]

Veda Pratishthana
New Delhi

RGVEDA, Vol. IV

Published by the Veda Pratishthana, New Delhi
on behalf of the Narendra Mohan Foundation,
Pusa Road, New Delhi (India)

Transliteration based on the text of Theodor Aufrecht.

Sole Distributors :
S. Chand & Company Ltd
Ram Nagar, New Delhi-110055
JULLUNDUR : LUCKNOW : BOMBAY : CALCUTTA : MADRAS
HYDERABAD : PATNA : NAGPUR : BANGALOR : COCHIN

Printed at :
Shiksha Bharati Press, G. T. Road, Shahdara, Delhi

CONTENTS

IN MEMORY OF

VED RATAN MOHAN

Col. Ved Ratan Mohan, M.P. was born at Rawalpindi on July 30, 1920. He graduated from the Punjab University and later took his Master of Commerce Degree from Delhi University.

Shri Ved Ratan Mohan's father Shri N.N. Mohan was a prominent industrialist and a generous philanthropist. Shri Ved Ratan Mohan made his own memorable contribution to the success of the enterprises in which his family was interested. He also took active interest in public life and supported many worthwhile causes.

In 1961, the honorary rank of Captain was conferred on Shri Ved Ratan Mohan; in 1966, he became a Lieutenant Colonel in the Territorial Army; in 1972, the honorary rank of Colonel in the Territorial Army was conferred on him.

He was elected as Deputy Mayor of the Municipal Corporation, in Lucknow. Later he was elected to the office of the Mayor. In 1964. he was nominated as a Member of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council. In 1967, he was awarded Padama Shri. In 1971, he became the recipient of the Padma Bhushan Award. In 1972, he was elected to Rajya Sabha, the Upper House of Indian Parliament, from Uttar Pradesh.

He died on July 28, 1973, deeply mourned and widely lamented.

He had travelled extensively and had a wide range of interests and accomplishments. Photography, painting. music and poetry had a claim on him. Equally, he gave generously. of himself to the solution of public problems and to personal hardships of individuals in distress. He was deeply interested in Indian culture and in educational institutions as vehicles of India's cultural renaissance and socio-economic reconstruction. The Vedas and their message energised his inspiration and impelled him to consecrated action for human welfare.

Ved Ratan Mohan

Foreword

by

Dr. L.M. Singhvi

Executive Chairman, Veda Pratisthana.

The Vedas enshrine the cosmic vision and vitality of our ancestors and epitomise a living legacy of divine inspiration, intuition and insight.

The glory of the Vedas is their universal and timeless quality.

The subtle and symbolic invocations of the Sruti and the mystic and melodic music of the celestial hymns have hallowed human consciousness through trackless centuries with a sublime glow.

The Vedas exemplify a carefully nurtured and elaborately systematized oral tradition which is unrivalled in the annals of civilization.

The evocative poetry of joyous and spontaneous affirmation of life and nature, the unravelling explorations of the seers into the terrestrial and transcendental destiny of mankind, the pervasive immanence and the pristine omnipresence of primeval reality and primordial matter, and the wisdom and philosophy of Moral and Social Order in an harmonious equilibrium unfold the luminous realm of the spirit of the Vedas.

The Vedas are unique in their perspective of time and space.

Early in the history of human civilization, the Vedas proclaimed the essential unity of mankind, untrammelled by geographical barriers and tribal parochialism.

The Vedas declared the enduring filial allegiance of Man to Mother Earth: माता भूमिः पुत्रोऽहं पृथिव्याः......अथर्व. 12.1.12.

The Vedas articulated the essential equality and intrinsically equal dignity of men and nations and the need for cooperative effort for common benefit: अज्येष्ठासो अकनिष्ठास एते, संभ्रातरो वावृधुः सौभगाय । ऋक्. 5.60.5.

The Vedas cautioned against recrimination, jealousy and ill-will among the human kindred: मा भ्राता भ्रातरं द्विक्षन् मा स्वसारमुत स्वसा......अथर्व. 3.30.3.

The Vedas aimed and aspired for an ambiance of unfailing and ubiquitous friendship:

मित्रस्याहं चक्षुषा सर्वाणि भूतानि समीक्षे ।
मित्रस्य चक्षुषा समीक्षामहे । यजु. 36.18.

The Vedas celebrate the vac whose array of thousand syllables and thousand postures of consciousness manifested in a thousand ways appear as flame-songs of the earth and the empyrean. In their innermost recesses are embedded the eternal and cosmic powers of illumination. The Vedic words rising from the oceanic depths of creative consciousness provide a panoramic vision and a thousand vignettes of that real inner illumination, svar, reached by dhi, the two facets of which are karma (action) and prajna (knowledge). In that realm of invocation and sacrifice, faith (sraddha) converges with reason (tarka); intuition assimilates perception; light combines with vigour; wisdom coalesces with valour; speech and action become one. The science of Vedas seeks that true synthesis of faith and reason, and in that pursuit, its prayer is that we may be blessed with "faith" that has not degenerated into the somnolence of the spirit and that we may be endowed with "reason" that has not, in the words of Gurudeva Tagore, lost "its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit" and which has its habitation in the meandering maze of pointless prolixity:

त्रातारो देवा अधिवोचता नो मा नो निद्रा ईशत मोत जल्पि: ।
वयं सोमस्य विश्वह प्रियास सुवीरासो विदथमावदेम ॥ ऋक्. 8.48.14.

The true Vedic faith does not countenance dogma; the Vedic reason is not a euphemism for sophistry; the Vedic word is not a victim of verbiage. The essential perception of the Vedas is not a prisoner of perversions. The humanism of Vedas is not a hypocrisy and the Vedic teaching of tolerance is not a transient contrivance. The core commitment of Vedas is to truth and dharma, to harmony and happiness, to freedom and justice. The soulful Vedic voyage in ceaseless quest of the experience of inner illumination and with its rich symbolism and manifold meanings is perhaps the oldest and the most magnificent and many-splendoured pilgrimage of the human spirit.

The Vedas gave the Magna Carta of Human Brotherhood and Universal Goodwill and proclaimed a noble prayerful Preamble to the humanitarian Constitution of One World based on friendship, fellow-feeling, freedom and fearlessness in words which are immortal and ever inspiring and which are central to the basic teleology and technology of building impregnable defences of peace in the minds of men. The Vedic seers who viewed the world of perception and the world of thought as a continuum prayed for the composite benediction of hearing noble thoughts and seeing noble deeds: भद्रं कर्णेभि: श्रृणुयाम देवा भद्रं पश्येमाक्षिभिर्यजत्रा: । यजु. 25.21

In that endeavour of building a universe of noble thoughts and noble deeds, the Vedic seers convened a cosmic convocation based on the fundamental human quest for truth and the acceptance of its many facets (एकं सद् विप्रा: वहुधा वदन्ति):

आ नो भद्राः क्रतवो यन्तु विश्वतोऽदब्धासो अपरीतास उद्भिदः ।
देवा नो यथा सदमिद् वृधे असन्नप्रायुवो रक्षितारो दिवे दिवे ॥ ऋक्. 1.89.1.

In the Vedic vision of human society, man in his relaticn to man was not predatory, aggressive and oppressive as in the Hobbesian nightmare which conjured up homo homini lupus. The Vedic ideal was that Man was under an obligation to protect and preserve and to aid and comfort mankind everywhere: पुमान् पुमांसं परिपातु विश्वत: । ऋक्. 6.75.14.

The Vedic philosophy of freedom and fearlessness reached a credal and climactic crescendo in the earthy yet ethereal invocations:

अभय मित्रादभयमित्रादभयं ज्ञातादभयं परोक्षात् ।
अभयं नक्तमभयं दिवा नः सर्वा आशा मम मित्र भवन्तु ॥ अथर्व. 19.15.7

Equally, the Vedic hymn of togetherness remains a refreshing reminder and a beacon light to the fractured and fragmented world out of whose womb the new world order is struggling to be born:

सङ्गच्छध्वं संवदध्वं सं वो मनांसि जानताम् ।
देवा भागं यथा पूर्वे सञ्जानाना उपासते ॥ ऋक्. 10.191.2.

These noble thoughts made the culture of the Vedas the first and foremost foundation of the edifice of universal values: सा प्रथमा संस्कृतिर्विश्ववारा: । यजु. 7.14.

These enduring verities of the Vedas are not a relic of the past, nor are they the exclusive preserve or the sole inheritance of Indians and Indo-Aryans. They belong to the common heritage of humanity and are relevant in our contemporary world and in our age. We owe it to ourselves and to the peoples and the nations of the world to share this precious heritage and to disseminate its message and meaning.

It is the proud privilege of Veda Pratisthana to be the chosen instrument of the monumental project for preparing and presenting a readable and systematic modern translation of all the four Vedas. The Veda Pratisthana has had the credentials and the capacity to attempt this ambitious task because it was founded on the deep understanding and encyclopaedic erudition of Swami Satya Prakashji, an eminent scientist and a distinguished professor before he became a parivrajaka, the firm financial support and the bounteous benefaction of Narendra Mohan Foundation, an eloquent and tangible testament of the Mohan family's liberal and public-spirited disposition, and of the intrepid faith, fortitude, vision and dedication of the late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri.

The munificence of Major Kapil Mohan and his family and their deep devotion to the cause of Vedic learning enabled the Veda Pratisthana to embark on this noble enterprise. It was Major Kapil Mohan's resolve to raise a truly meaningful memorial in the form of a new edition of the Vedas in remembrance of his elder brother, the late Col. Ved Ratan Mohan that led the Narendra Mohan Foundation to offer its generous and unsparing financial assistance for this project. We acknowledge our debt of gratitude to Major Kapil Mohan and to Narendra Mohan Foundation. We also take this opportunity to pay our tribute to the memory of Col. Ved Ratan Mohan whose life was a superb saga of service and an inexhaustible treasury of goodwill.

The late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri was the main architect of Veda Pratisthana. It was to him that we owed the initial organization, the basic conception and the purposeful momentum of the project. Indeed, we are only trying to translate his dream into a reality. An eminent and gifted parliamentarian, whose cascading eloquence, sparkling wit, mature wisdom and intrinsic goodness had a singular charm, Parkash Vir Shastri was an articulate exponent and a selfless missionary of the fundamental values of India's creative and spiritual culture. Spun and woven with the warp and woof of Indian sensitivity and perception, the tapestry of his life and work was as authentic as it was inspiring. He shunned the pettiness and parochialism of politics and strove to reinforce our national life with the tensile strength of our quintessential heritage. He lived and worked for national goals. In national politics he was the ambassador of the larger cultural claims on life. In his tragic and untimely death, Mother India lost an illustrious son who distinguished himself not by the office he held, nor by his wealth or material acquisitions, but by his dedicated and singleminded service to the cause of the nation. In his death, Veda Pratisthana lost its moving spirit, regained mainly because his memory is a motive force. We savour the exhilarating fragrance and see the inspiring and exhorting presence of his personality, pervasive, permeating and perdurable, in the fruition of this project and pay our affectionate homage to his everlasting memory.

Deepavali, 1978.

Preface

The Vedas are the Word of God. At the very beginning of the Creation, man received knowledge of the Vedas. The Ṛgveda is the most ancient of all the holy scriptures in the world.

Knowledge of the Vedas is not intended for a particular race or country. God revealed this knowledge for the greatest good of mankind. This noble objective is reflected in the following words of the Vedic sages :

> May all be happy and rid of diseases,
> May all have a happy and harmonious life,
> May nobody ever be afflicted with suffering.

The Vedas have been translated into several languages. Scholars like Griffith, Wilson and Max Müller have written commentaries on the Vedas in English. But the need for bringing out an unconventional and standard translation of the Vedas has been felt for quite sometime. The task, however, involved dedication, hard work and considerable financial resources.

Col. Ved Ratna Mohan, ex-M.P., was a promising youngman, the scion of a family which had implicit faith in the Vedas. His brilliant career was cut short by untimely death in 1973. His father, late Shri Narendra Mohan, was a leading industrialist of India. Devoted to social service, he took keen interest in the dissemination and distribution of religious literature. He had unshakable faith in God. Daily he would perform yajna and once in a year he would perform this on a big scale when all the mantras of one of the four Vedas would be recited. He had named his eldest son Ved Ratna (Jewel of the Vedas). He had desired the late Ved Ratna to do some service to the Vedas. But fate had willed otherwise. Col. Ved Ratna died before he could fulfil his father's wish.

His younger brother Major Kapil Mohan, who has great reverence for the Vedas like his father, made the noble resolve to get all the four Vedas translated into English and publish them on behalf of the Narendra Mohan Foundation in the sacred memory of his elder brother. This Foundation was endowed by the sons of the late Shri Narendra Mohan, the founder of the Mohan Industries, in accordance with the wishes of their father. A hospital, a college, and several other charitable institutions devoted to public service are being run by the Foundation.

The task of rendering the four Vedas into English was entrusted to the Veda Pratishthana by the Foundation. Dr. Govardhan Lal Dutta, a famous educationist and Head of the Pratishthana, requested the Vedic scholar Svami Satya Prakash Sarasvati to undertake the highly onerous responsibility. Indeed one could think of no other scholar better qualified than Svami Satya Prakashji to accomplish this task. I am happy that Svamiji was kind enough to accede to the request. He is devoting most of his time to the translation work though he is a parivrajaka, a peripatetic monk. In this task, he is collaborating with Pandit Satyakam Vidyalankar.

Thanks are particularly due to Shri Vishwanath for his unstinted cooperation in the excellent printing of this work. No words would be adequate to express my warm appreciation and grateful thanks to Major Kapil Mohan, Svami Satya Prakashji and other colleagues and co-workers of the Veda Pratisthana who have generally helped in the accomplishment of this sacred task.

Our labours would be fully rewarded if through this English translation of the four Vedas, attempted for the first time in India, the divine message enshrined in the Vedas impregnates human consciousness everywhere.

Shravani Poornima,
Vikramiya Samvat 2034,
August 28, 1977.

Prakash Vir Shastri
Secretary, Veda Pratishthana
New Delhi

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ṚGVEDA SAMHITA

ऋग्वेद संहिता

द्वितीयं मण्डलम्

---

(१) प्रथमं सूक्तम्

(१-१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ त्वमग्ने द्युभिस्त्वमाशुशुक्षणिस्त्वमद्भ्यस्त्वमश्मनस्परि ।
त्वं वनेभ्यस्त्वमोषधीभ्यस्त्वं नृणां नृपते जायसे शुचिः ॥१॥
तवाग्ने होत्रं तव पोत्रमृत्वियं तव नेष्ट्रं त्वमग्निदृतायतः ।
तव प्रशास्त्रं त्वमध्वरीयसि ब्रह्मा चासि गृहपतिश्च नो दमे ॥२॥

1.

Tvám agne dyúbhis tvám āṣuṣukshánis tvám adbhyás tvám áṣmanas pári | tvám vánebhyas tvám óshadhībhyas tvám nriṇā́m nripate jāyase ṣúciḥ || 1 || távāgne hotrám táva potrám ritvíyam táva neshtrám tvám agníd ritāyatáḥ | táva praṣāstrám tvám adhvarīyasi brahmā́ cási griliápatis ca no dáme || 2 ||

ṚGVEDA SAMHITA

BOOK TWO

1

O self-effulgent, the sovereign Lord of men, ever eager to flare up around, your glory is manifested in firmament waters, around rocks, in forests and in plants of the earth. 1

O foremost adorable, yours is the function of invoker, of purifier, of preceptor, and of initiator; you are the bearer of lustre. When you inspire us for selfless actions, you become the promoter, the priest and the master of the ceremonies in our homes. 2

त्वमग्न इन्द्रो वृषभः सतामसि त्वं विष्णुरुरुगायो नमस्यः ।
त्वं ब्रह्मा रयिविद्ब्रह्मणस्पते त्वं विधर्तः सचसे पुरंध्या ॥३॥
त्वमग्ने राजा वरुणो धृतव्रतस्त्वं मित्रो भवसि दस्म ईड्यः ।
त्वमर्यमा सत्पतिर्यस्य संभुजं त्वमंशो विदथे देव भाजयुः ॥४॥

tvám agna índro vrishabháḥ satām asi tváṃ víshṇur urugāyó namasyàḥ | tvám brahmá rayivíd brahmaṇas pate tváṃ vidhartaḥ sacase púraṃdhyā || 3 || tvám agne rája váruṇo dhṛitávratas tvám mitró bhavasi dasmá íḍyaḥ | tvám aryamá sátpatir yásya sambhújaṃ tvám áṅso vidáthe deva bhājayúḥ || 4 ||

त्वमग्ने त्वष्टा विधते सुवीर्यं तव ग्नावो मित्रमहः सजात्यम् ।
त्वमाशुहेमा ररिषे स्वश्व्यं त्वं नरां शर्धो असि पुरूवसुः ॥५॥

tvám agne tváshṭā vidhaté suvíryaṃ táva gnávo mitramahaḥ sajātyàṃ | tvám āṣuhémā rarishe svá̄ṣvyaṃ tváṃ narāṃ ṣárdho asi purūvásuḥ || 5 ||

॥१८॥ त्वमग्ने रुद्रो असुरो महो दिवस्त्वं शर्धो मारुतं पृक्ष ईशिषे ।
त्वं वातैररुणैर्यासि शंगयस्त्वं पूषा विधतः पासि नु त्मना ॥६॥
त्वमग्ने द्रविणोदा अरंकृते त्वं देवः सविता रत्नधा असि ।
त्वं भगो नृपते वस्व ईशिषे त्वं पायुर्दमे यस्तेऽविधत् ॥७॥

tvám agne rudró ásuro mahó divás tváṃ ṣárdho márutam prikshá ïsishe | tváṃ vátair aruṇaír yāsi ṣaṃgayás tvám pushá vidhatáḥ pāsi nú tmána || 6 || tvám agne draviṇodá araṃkríte tváṃ deváḥ savitá ratnadhá asi | tvám bhágo nripate vásva ïṣishe tvám pāyúr dáme yás té 'vidhat || 7 ||

O foremost adorable, you are our resplendent Lord, the most powerful. You are all-pervading to be worshipped with obeisance. O master of the sacred hymns, you are the high priest, the source of wisdom, and the sustainer of each and all; you are the embodiment of wisdom, the fountain-head of intellect. 3

You, the adorable Lord, are venerable and thus upholder of truth; you, O the destroyer of evils, are our praiseworthy source of light. You are Lord of justice, generous and liberal to all men, you are self-radiant, and so may you give us reward of our virtuous endeavours. 4

O Lord, you are the architect of universe, and bestower of strength to your dedicated worshipper. All our prayers are for you only. O benevolent source of light, you are our brother; you swiftly inspire us for noble deeds and amply reward us with productive wealth. O the possessor of all treasures, verily you are the real source of vitality for mankind. 5

O adorable, you are the lord of the vital power of cosmos; you are the inspirer of vital winds, the provider of nourishment. You travel as if, with ruddy winds and go to the house of benevolent man. You are the granter of food. Thus you speedily guard your worshipper in every way. 6

O adorable Lord, you are the giver of wealth to him who worships you. You are divine source of enlightenment, the bearer of all precious treasures. O protector of men, you are the gracious ruler of all riches. You are the guardian of the worshipper who serves you with dedication. 7

त्वामग्ने दम आ विश्पतिं विशस्त्वां राजानं सुविदत्रमृञ्जते ।
त्वं विश्वानि स्वनीक पत्यसे त्वं सहस्राणि शता दश प्रति ॥८॥
त्वामग्ने पितरमिष्टिभिर्नरस्त्वां भ्रात्राय शम्या तनूरुचम् ।
त्वं पुत्रो भवसि यस्तेऽविधत्त्वं सखा सुशेवः पास्याधृषः ॥९॥

tvám agne dáma á vispátim vísas tvám rájānam suvidátram riñjate | tvám vísvāni svanīka patyase tvám sahásrāṇi satá dása práti || 8 | tvám agne pitáram ishtíbhir náras tvám bhrātráya sámyā tanūrúcam | tvám putró bhavasi yás té 'vidhat tvám sákhā susévah pāsy ādhríshaḥ || 9 ||

त्वमग्न ऋभुराके नमस्यस्त्वं वाजस्य क्षुमतो राय ईशिषे ।
त्वं वि भास्यनु दक्षि दावने त्वं विशिक्षुरसि यज्ञमातनिः ॥१०॥

tvám agna ribhúr āké namasyàs tvám vājasya kshumáto rāyá īsishe | tvám ví bhāsy ánu dakshi dāváne tvám visíkshur asi yajñám ātániḥ || 10 ||

॥१०॥ त्वमग्ने अदितिर्देव दाशुषे त्वं होत्रा भारती वर्धसे गिरा ।
त्वमिळा शतहिमासि दक्षसे त्वं वृत्रहा वसुपते सरस्वती ॥११॥
त्वमग्ने सुभृत उत्तमं वयस्तव स्पार्हे वर्ण आ संदृशि श्रियः ।
त्वं वाजः प्रतरणो बृहन्नसि त्वं रयिर्बहुलो विश्वतस्पृथुः ॥१२॥

tvám agne áditir deva dāsúshe tvám hótrā bhāratī vardhase girá | tvám íḷā satáhimāsi dákshase tvám vritrahá vasupate sárasvatī || 11 || tvám agne súbhrita uttamám váyas táva spārhé várṇa á saṃdrísi sríyaḥ | tvám vájaḥ pratárano brihánn asi tvám rayír bahuló visvátas prithúḥ || 12 ||

O adorable, protector of mankind, the devotees enshrine you in their own homes and hearts and thus they propitiate you as a benevolent sovereign. O the embodiment of perfect knowledge and divine light, you are the sovereign lord of universe and the granter of tens, hundreds and thousands of rewards. 8

O self-radiant Lord, men approach you as their guardian with their impelling prayers and with their pious work for the sake of winning your brotherhood. You become protector from evils to them who worship you and as a very kind friend guard them from the violence of adversaries. 9

O adorable, you are all-wise, and even from the nearest approach, worthy of worship with obeisance. You have mastery over the store of the plenitude and the riches. You shine and enlighten favourably for the sake of granting benefits. You are our careful instructor and giver of rewards to our work and worship. 10

O adorable, you are the source of enlightenment to the dedicated devotee. You are an inspirer and embodiment of culture, glorified by hymns. You are a living symbol of divine wisdom, helping us to live vigorously for hundred winters. You are master of treasure, an incarnation of divine speech and dispeller of darkness. 11

When well-pleased, O adorable Lord, you become the highest vigour incarnate for your worshipper. All glories abide in your enviable lustre and appearance. You are the plenitude that carries up to the end of our journey; you are a multitude of riches spread out on every side. 12

त्वामग्न आदित्यास आस्यं१ त्वां जिह्वां शुचयश्चक्रिरे कवे ।
त्वां रातिषाचो अध्वरेषु सश्चिरे त्वे देवा हविरदन्त्याहुतम् ॥१३॥
त्वे अग्ने विश्वे अमृतासो अद्रुह आसा देवा हविरदन्त्याहुतम् ।
त्वया मर्तासः स्वदन्त आसुतिं त्वं गर्भो वीरुधां जज्ञिषे शुचिः ॥१४॥
त्वं तान्त्सं च प्रति चासि मज्मनाग्ने सुजात प्र च देव रिच्यसे ।
पृक्षो यदत्र महिना वि ते भुवदनु द्यावापृथिवी रोदसी उभे ॥१५॥
ये स्तोतृभ्यो गोअग्रामश्वपेशसमग्ने रातिमुपसृजन्ति सूरयः ।
अस्माञ्च तांश्च प्र हि नेषि वस्य आ बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१६॥

tvám agna ādityása āsyàm tvā́m jihvā́m śúcayaś cakrire kave | tvā́m rātisháco adhvaréshu saścire tvé devā́ havír adanty áhutam || 13 || tvé agne víśve amṛ́tāso adrúha āsā́ devā́ havír adanty áhutam | tváyā mártāsaḥ svadanta āsutím tvám gárbho vīrúdhām jajñishe śúciḥ || 14 || tvám tán sám ca práti cāsi majmánágne sujāta prá ca deva ricyase | prikshó yád átra mahinā́ ví te bhúvad ánu dyā́vā-prithiví ródasī ubhé || 15 || yé stotṛ́bhyo góagrām áśvapeśasam ágne rātím upasṛjánti sūráyaḥ | asmā́ñ ca tā́ṅś ca prá hí néshi vásya ā́ brihád vadema vidáthe suvī́rāḥ || 16 ||

(२) द्वितीयं सूक्तम्

(१–१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ यज्ञेन वर्धत जातवेदसमग्निं यजध्वं हविषा तना गिरा ।
समिधानं सुप्रयसं स्वर्णरं द्युक्षं होतारं वृजनेषु धूर्षदम् ॥१॥

2.

Yajñéna vardhata jātávedasam agním yajadhvam havíshā tána girā́ | samidhānám suprayásam svárṇaram dyukshám hótāram vṛjáneshu dhūrshádam || 1 ||

O adorable Lord, the suns of the universe are just like your mouth. O poet of penetrating vision, the pious people have made you their tongue. Nature's bounties accompany you to the place of worship, and partake and enjoy the offerings which are presented to you. 13

O adorable Lord, all the faithful and immortal Nature's bounties enjoy the oblation offered to you, with you as their mouth. Through you do the mortals tastefully enjoy their food and drink. You are manifested with lustre, as if, of a freshly born plant. 14

O adorable Lord, perfectly manifested in Nature's bounties, you on your own accord are equal to them and by your greatness superior to them. Whatsoever is offered to you here in dedication spreads out itself over the two worlds, heaven and earth. 15

May you, O adorable Lord, lead us and those wise men to fortune who liberally give away fine cows and good horses to the chanters of hymns. May we along with our descendents ever repeat our solemn prayers to you at our congregations. 16

2

Glorify the adorable, the fire-divine, cognizant of all, by work and worship. May you worship Him with intense love and extensive hymns, Him who is well kindled, and who receives rich offerings, much lauded, resplendent, the conveyor of oblations, the giver of strength, and a prominent leader in struggles. 1

अभि त्वा नक्तीरुषसो ववाशिरेऽग्ने वत्सं न स्वसरेषु धेनवः ।
दिव इवेदरतिर्मानुषा युगा क्षपो भासि पुरुवार संयतः ॥२॥
तं देवा बुध्ने रजसः सुदंससं दिवस्पृथिव्योररतिं न्येरिरे ।
रथमिव वेद्यं शुक्रशोचिषमग्निं मित्रं न क्षितिषु प्रशंस्यम् ॥३॥

abhí tvā náktīr usháso vavāṣiré 'gne vatsáṃ ná svásareshu dhenávaḥ | divá ivéd aratír mā́nushā yugā́ kshápo bhāsi puruvāra saṃyátaḥ || 2 || táṃ devā́ budhné rájasaḥ sudáṅsasaṃ divásprithivyór aratíṃ ny èrire | rátham iva védyaṃ ṣukráṣocisham agním mitráṃ ná kshitíshu praṣáṅsyam || 3 ||

तमुक्षमाणं रजसि स्व आ दमे चन्द्रमिव सुरुचं ह्वार आ दधुः ।
पृश्न्याः पतरं चितयन्तमक्षभिः पाथो न पायुं जनसी उभे अनु ॥४॥
स होता विश्वं परि भूत्वध्वरं तमु हव्यैर्मनुष ऋञ्जते गिरा ।
हिरिशिप्रो वृधसानासु जर्भुरद्द्यौर्न स्तृभिश्चितयद्रोदसी अनु ॥५॥

tám ukshámāṇaṃ rájasi svá ā́ dáme candrám iva surúcaṃ hvārá ā́ dadhuḥ | pṛ́ṣṇyāḥ pataráṃ citáyantam akshábhiḥ pāthó ná pāyúṃ jánasī ubhé ánu || 4 || sá hótā víṣvam pári bhūtv adhvaráṃ tám u havyaír mánusha riñjate girā́ | hiríṣipró vridhasānā́su járbhurad dyaúr ná stríbhiṣ citayad ródasī ánu || 5 ||

॥२१॥ स नो रेवत्समिधानः स्वस्तये संददस्वान्रयिमस्मासु दीदिहि ।
आ नः कृणुष्व सुविताय रोदसी अग्ने हव्या मनुषो देव वीतये ॥६॥

sá no revát samidhānáḥ svastáye saṃdadasvā́n rayím asmā́su dīdihi | ā́ naḥ krinushva suvitā́ya ródasī ágne havyā́ mánusho deva vītáye || 6 ||

The nights and dawns bow to you as the milch-cows do towards a calf in their lairs of rest. O fire-divine, adored by all, you, self-controlled, are verily spread through the space, and you brightly shine on human generations of all ages through successive days and nights. 2

Nature's bounties have established the fire-divine at the roots of the world; this adorable fire pervades all through heaven and earth. worthy to be adored like a well-fashioned chariot, possessed of bright flame and deserving to be appreciated by all men like a friend. 3

Men establish the fire-divine in an isolated place in their own hearts, which illuminates like the brightly shining gold in the heaven's vault, and is delightful like moon. Its glory pervades the whole earth and is recognized by the characteristic flames, providing protection on our path in both the realms, heaven and earth. 4

He, the universal fire, the invoker, encompasses the entire cosmic sacrificial creation for providing protection. Men crown Him alone with their offerings and hymns. Possessed of golden flames, He distinguishes Himself alone both the regions of the universe like the sky with stars, while hastily rustling through the growing herbs. 5

O universal fire, opulently kindling for our peace, may you bestow wealth on us by your light. May you make our paths easy in heaven and earth for happy journeying, and may you invoke Nature's bounties to accept the offerings of devotees. 6

दा नो अग्ने बृहतो दाः सहस्रिणो दुरो न वाजं श्रुत्या अपा वृधि ।
प्राची द्यावापृथिवी ब्रह्मणा कृधि स्व१र्ण शुक्रमुषसो वि दिद्युतः ॥७॥
स इधान उषसो राम्या अनु स्व१र्ण दीदेदरुषेण भानुना ।
होत्राभिरग्निर्मनुषः स्वध्वरो राजा विशामतिथिश्चारुरायवे ॥८॥
एवा नो अग्ने अमृतेषु पूर्व्य धीष्पीपाय बृहद्दिवेषु मानुषा ।
दुहाना धेनुर्वृजनेषु कारवे त्मना शतिनं पुरुरूपमिषणि ॥९॥

dá no agne briható dáḥ sahasríṇo duró ná vájam ṣrútyā ápā vṛidhi | prácī dyávāprithiví bráhmaṇā kṛidhi svàr ṇá ṣukrám usháso ví didyutaḥ || 7 || sá idhāná usháso rámyā ánu svàr ṇá dīded arushéṇa bhānúnā | hótrābhir agnír mánushaḥ svadhvaró rájā viṣám átithiṣ cárur āyáve || 8 || evá no agne amṛíteshu pūrvya dhísh pīpāya briháddiveshu mánushā | dúhānā dhenúr vṛijáneshu kāráve tmánā ṣatínam pururúpam isháṇi || 9 ||

वयमग्ने अर्वता वा सुवीर्यं ब्रह्मणा वा चितयेमा जनाँ अति ।
अस्माकं द्युम्नमधि पञ्च कृष्टिषूच्चा स्व१र्ण शुशुचीत दुष्टरम् ॥१०॥
स नो बोधि सहस्य प्रशंस्यो यस्मिन्त्सुजाता इषयन्त सूरयः ।
यमग्ने यज्ञमुपयन्ति वाजिनो नित्ये तोके दीदिवांसं स्वे दमे ॥११॥
उभयासो जातवेदः स्याम ते स्तोतारो अग्ने सूरयश्च शर्मणि ।
वस्वो रायः पुरुश्चन्द्रस्य भूयसः प्रजावतः स्वपत्यस्य शग्धि नः ॥१२॥

vayám agne árvatā vā suvíryam bráhmaṇā vā citayemā jánāṅ áti | asmákam dyumnám ádhi páñca krishṭíshūccá svàr ṇá ṣuṣucīta dushṭáram || 10 || sá no bodhi sahasya praṣáṅsyo yásmin sujātá isháyanta sūráyaḥ | yám agne yajñám upayánti vajíno nítye toké dīdiváṅsam své dáme || 11 || ubháyāso jātavedaḥ syāma te stotáro agne sūráyaṣ ca ṣármaṇi | vásvo rāyáḥ puruṣcandrásya bhúyasaḥ prajávataḥ svapatyásya ṣagdhi naḥ || 12 ||

O universal fire, may you give us vast possessions, the thousand-fold riches. May you open to us the gates of abundance, so that we may be glorious. May you make heaven and earth favourable to us. The dawns have broken up into splendour and yonder shines the brilliant sun. 7

Kindled at the beautiful dawns, it breaks up into roseate splendour like solar rays. O fire-divine, may you, exhilarated by our offerings, help us in instituting the worship. You are the king of people and our benign guest. 8

O fire-divine, most brilliant of all divine immortals, may our prayers, offered to you in the congregation of men, please you. May you spontaneously bestow hundred-fold wealth of various forms to the chanter of hymns just like a milch-cow yielding milk for nourishment. 9

May we, O fire-divine, gain good vitality and intellectual vigour. And may we distinguish ourselves far above other people through our devotion. May our sun-like glory shine perpetually far above in the midst of all the five classes of men. 10

O mighty fire-divine, may you listen to our aspirations. It is to you that our noble-born priests address their prayers to obtain nourishment. O revered and illustrious one, our opulent devotees enshrine you in their hearts, and kindle you in their homes, for the sake of never-failing posterity. 11

O universal fire, knowing all that is born, may both of us, sages and poets, be blessed with your protection. Bestow on us fine dwellings and rich treasure consisting of abundant wealth and wisdom, accompanied by a host of family members and virtuous offspring. 12

ये स्तोतृभ्यो गोअग्रामश्वपेशसमग्ने रातिमुपसृजन्ति सूरयः ।
अस्माञ्च तांश्च प्र हि नेषि वस्य आ बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१३॥

yé stotríbhyo — || 13 ||

(३) तृतीयं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च इध्मः समिद्धो वाग्निः, (२) द्वितीयाया नराशंसः, (३) तृतीयाया इळः, (४) चतुर्थ्या बर्हिः, (५) पञ्चम्या देवीर्द्वारः, (६) षष्ठ्या उषासानक्ता, (७) सप्तम्या दैव्यौ होतारौ प्रचेतसौ, (८) अष्टम्यास्तिस्रो देव्यः सरस्वतीळाभारत्यः, (९) नवम्यास्त्वष्टा, (१०) दशम्या वनस्पतिः, (११) एकादश्याश्च स्वाहाकृतयो देवताः । (१–६, ८–११) प्रथमादितृचद्वयस्य अष्टम्यादिचतुर्ऋचाश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (७) सप्तम्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ समिद्धो अग्निर्निहितः पृथिव्यां प्रत्यङ्विश्वानि भुवनान्यस्थात् ।
होता पावकः प्रदिवः सुमेधा देवो देवान्यजत्वग्निरर्हन् ॥१॥
नराशंसः प्रति धामान्यञ्जन्तिस्रो दिवः प्रति मह्ना स्वर्चिः ।
घृतप्रुषा मनसा हव्यमुन्दन्मूर्धन्यज्ञस्य समनक्तु देवान् ॥२॥
ईळितो अग्ने मनसा नो अर्हन्देवान्यक्षि मानुषात्पूर्वो अद्य ।
स आ वह मरुतां शर्धो अच्युतमिन्द्रं नरो बर्हिषदं यजध्वम् ॥३॥

3.

Sámiddho agnír níhitaḥ prithivyám pratyáñ víṣvāni bhúvanāny asthāt | hótā pāvakáḥ pradívaḥ sumedhá devó deván yajatv agnír árhan || 1 || nárāṣáṅsaḥ práti dhámāny añján tisró dívaḥ práti mahná svarcíḥ | ghritaprúshā mánasā havyám undán mūrdhán yajñásya sám anaktu deván || 2 || īḷitó agne mánasā no árhan deván yakshi mánushāt pū́rvo adyá | sá á vaha marútāṃ ṣárdho ácyutam índraṃ naro barhishádaṃ yajadhvam || 3 ||

O adorable, may our men of devotion and intellect who profusely give horses and cows in gifts, and thus immensely contribute to the vitality and intellectual growth be led on the path of wisdom and affluence. May we, accompanied with our offsprings glorify you with praises in our work and worship. 13

3

The universal fire, being kindled and established on the earth, rises up and spreads over all the created worlds. May the fire-divine, the invoker and purifier, the ancient, the all-wise and adorable establish our relations with Nature's forces. 1

May the fire-divine, adored by all men and possessed of brilliant flames, shine revealing the triple heavens by his greatness. May our offerings moistened with butter (i.e. dedicated services sweetened with love) invoke Nature's bounties at the place of our worship. 2

O fire-divine, men may or may not, but you please invoke Nature's bounties while being praised by us. May we procure, through you, the co-operation of vital principles and the benevolence of the resplendent Lord. O devotees, may you worship the Lord, enshrined in your hearts. 3

देवं बर्हिर्वर्धमानं सुवीरं स्तीर्णं राये सुभरं वेद्यस्याम् ।
घृतेनाक्तं वसवः सीदतेदं विश्वे देवा आदित्या यज्ञियासः ॥४॥
वि श्रयन्तामुर्विया हूयमाना द्वारो देवीः सुप्रायणा नमोभिः ।
व्यचस्वतीर्वि प्रथन्तामजुर्या वर्णं पुनाना यशसं सुवीरम् ॥५॥

déva barhir várdhamānam suvíram stīrṇám rāyé subháram védy asyám | ghriténāktám vasavaḥ sīdatedám víṣve devā ādityā yajñíyāsaḥ || 4 || ví ṣrayantām urviyá hūyámānā dvấro devíḥ suprāyaṇá námobhiḥ | vyácasvatīr ví prathantām ajuryá várṇam punānấ yaṣásam suvíram || 5 ||

॥२३॥ साध्वपांसि सनता न उक्षिते उषासानक्ता वय्येव रण्विते ।
तन्तुं ततं संवयन्ती समीची यज्ञस्य पेशः सुदुघे पयस्वती ॥६॥
दैव्या होतारा प्रथमा विदुष्टर ऋजु यक्षतः समृचा वपुष्टरा ।
देवान्यजन्तावृतुथा समञ्जतो नाभा पृथिव्या अधि सानुषु त्रिषु ॥७॥
सरस्वती साधयन्ती धियं न इळा देवी भारती विश्वतूर्तिः ।
तिस्रो देवीः स्वधया बर्हिरेदमच्छिद्रं पान्तु शरणं निषद्य ॥८॥
पिशङ्गरूपः सुभरो वयोधाः श्रुष्टी वीरो जायते देवकामः ।
प्रजां त्वष्टा वि ष्यतु नाभिमस्मे अथा देवानामप्येतु पाथः ॥९॥

sādhv ápāṅsi sanátā na ukshité ushásānáktā vayyèva raṇvité | tántum tatám samváyantī samīcí yajñásya péṣaḥ sudúghe páyasvatī || 6 || daívyā hótārā prathamá vidúshṭarā rijú yakshataḥ sám ricā vapúshṭarā | devấn yájantav rituthấ sám añjato nábhā prithivyấ ádhi sánushu trishú || 7 || sárasvatī sādháyantī dhíyam na íḷā deví bhárātī viṣvátūrtiḥ | tisró devíḥ svadháyā barhír édám áchidram pāntu ṣaraṇám nishádya || 8 || piṣáṅgarūpaḥ subháro vayodhấḥ ṣrushṭí vīró jāyate devákāmaḥ | prajám tváshṭā ví shyatu nábhim asmé áthā devánām ápy etu páthaḥ || 9 ||

O cosmic altar, the universal sacrifice, may you be the cause of our prosperity; may you furnish us with good progeny. May you extend your affection all around us for our sustenance. May all the vital forces and Nature's bounties, all the divine suns, and all the participants in the cosmic sacrifice play their respective roles with harmony and loving regards. 4

May the divine doors of the universal sacrifice, affording easy approach, be thrown open when invoked with our prayers. May they, the spacious and the ageless ones, stretch themselves far and wide, conferring sanctity upon the illustrious devotees possessed of virtuous progeny. 5

May dawn and night, ever growing in strength, interweaving in concert, full of milk which they easily yield, and beautiful participants in the universal sacrifice, extend the thread to complete the web of creation like a pair of female weavers and impel us for noble actions. 6

May the two divine invokers (dawn and night) full in wisdom and stature, properly pay tributes together with illumining sacred verses of Ṛk. May they invoke Nature's bounties in due season on the navel of the earth (home) and at the three high dimensions of space. 7

May the divine speech perfecting our understanding and divine knowledge and all-satisfying divine culture be with us at our faultless altar of work and worship and protect us for our welfare. 8

May a brave, strong and wise son be born in the house of the worshipper. May he, with a golden halo around him, be well-nourished and healthy, and favourite of the learned. May our sculptor, the Creator, give us progeny to continue our line of succession. May we have ample food to tread along the path of divine wisdom. 9

वनस्पतिरवसृजन्नुप स्थादग्निर्हविः सूदयाति प्र धीभिः ।
त्रिधा समक्तं नयतु प्रजानन्देवेभ्यो दैव्यः शमितोप हव्यम् ॥१०॥
घृतं मिमिक्षे घृतमस्य योनिर्घृते श्रितो घृतम्वस्य धाम ।
अनुष्वधमा वह मादयस्व स्वाहाकृतं वृषभ वक्षि हव्यम् ॥११॥

vánaspátir avasṛijánn úpa sthād agnír havíḥ sūdayāti prá dhībhíḥ | trídhā sámaktaṃ nayatu prajānán devébhyo daívyaḥ ṣamitópa havyám || 10 || ghṛitám mimikshe ghṛitám asya yónir ghṛité ṣritó ghṛitám v asya dhā́ma | anushvadhám ā́ vaha mādáyasva sváhākṛitaṃ vṛishabha vakshi havyám || 11 ||

(४) चतुर्थं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः सोमाहुतिर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ हुवे वः सुद्योत्मानं सुवृक्तिं विशामग्निमतिथिं सुप्रयसम् ।
मित्र इव यो दिधिषाय्यो भूद्देव आदेवे जने जातवेदाः ॥१॥
इमं विधन्तो अपां सधस्थे द्वितादधुर्भृगवो विक्ष्वायोः ।
एष विश्वान्यभ्यस्तु भूमा देवानामग्निररतिर्जीराश्वः ॥२॥
अग्निं देवासो मानुषीषु विक्षु प्रियं धुः क्षेष्यन्तो न मित्रम् ।
स दीदयदुशतीरूर्म्या आ दक्षाय्यो यो दास्वते दम आ ॥३॥

4.

Huvé vaḥ sudyótmānaṃ suvṛiktíṃ viṣā́m agním átithiṃ suprayásam | mitrá iva yó didhisháyyo bhū́d devá ā́deve jáne jātávedāḥ || 1 || imáṃ vidhánto apā́ṃ sadhásthe dvitā́dadhur bhṛígavo vikshv āyóḥ | eshá víṣvāṇy abhy ástu bhū́mā devā́nām agnír aratír jīrā́ṣvaḥ || 2 || agníṃ devā́so mā́nushīshu vikshú priyáṃ dhuḥ ksheshyánto ná mitrám | sá dīdayad uṣatír ū́rmyā ā́ dakshā́yyo yó dā́svate dáma ā́ || 3 ||

May the universal fire, preserver of plants, be with us spreading out his light on all sides. May it by its special potentialities help us in preparing proper oblations. May the friendly fire-divine carry the offerings to Nature's bounties, the offerings which have been triply anointed and presented by the devotees. 10

We pour out our constant love, for it is born of love. It is lodged in love and verily, love is its source of strength. O mighty Lord, may you convey to Nature's bounties our offerings, blessed with auspicious word SVĀHĀ, and fill them with rapture. 11

4

I invoke fire-divine who is refulgent and cognizant of all things. It is sustainer of all including the sun in the sky and men on the earth. It strips, as if, all sins from us, and is friendly like the well-entertained guest of the people. 1

The wise men worshipping it in the cosmic ocean of the firmament establish its two-fold light among the people of universe. May it, the messenger of Nature's bounties, possessed of swift flames, be superior to creatures of all regions. 2

As men, settled in a home bring therein a beloved friend, the divine powers establish the fire-divine amidst human races. It illumines the eagerly loving nights, and deserves full reverence in the home of liberal worshippers. 3

अस्य रण्वा स्वस्येव पुष्टिः संदृष्टिरस्य हियानस्य दक्षोः ।
वि यो भरिभ्रदोषधीषु जिह्वामत्यो न रथ्यो दोधवीति वारान् ॥४॥
आ यन्मे अभ्वं वनदः पनन्तोशिग्भ्यो नामिमीत वर्णम् ।
स चित्रेण चिकिते रंसु भासा जुजुर्वाँ यो मुहुरा युवा भूत् ॥५॥

asyá raṇvá svásyeva pushṭíḥ sáṃdṛishṭir asya hiyā-násya dákshoḥ | ví yó bháribhrad óshadhīshu jihvám átyo ná ráthyo dodhavīti várān || 4 || á yán me ábhvaṃ vanádaḥ pánantośigíbhyo nāmimīta várṇam | sá citréṇa cikite ráṃsu bhāsá jujurváñ yó múhur á yúvā bhút || 5 ||

॥२५॥ आ यो वना तातृषाणो न भाति वार्ण पथा रथ्येव स्वानीत् ।
कृष्णाध्वा तपू रण्वश्चिकेत द्यौरिव स्मयमानो नभोभिः ॥६॥
स यो व्यस्थादभि दक्षदुर्वीं पशुर्नैति स्वयुरगोपाः ।
अग्निः शोचिष्माँ अतसान्युष्णन्कृष्णव्यथिरस्वदयन्न भूम ॥७॥

á yó vánā tātṛishāṇó ná bháti vár ṇá pathá ráthyeva svānīt | kṛishṇádhvā tápū raṇváś ciketa dyaúr iva smáya-māno nábhobhiḥ || 6 || sá yó vy ásthād abhí dákshad ur-vím paśúr naíti svayúr ágopāḥ | agníḥ śocíshmāñ atasány ushṇán kṛishṇávyathir asvadayan ná bhúma || 7 ||

नू ते पूर्वस्यावसो अधीतौ तृतीये विदथे मन्म शंसि ।
अस्मे अग्ने संयद्वीरं बृहन्तं क्षुमन्तं वाजं स्वपत्यं रयिं दाः ॥८॥
त्वया यथा गृत्समदासो अग्ने गुहा वन्वन्त उपराँ अभि ष्युः ।
सुवीरासो अभिमातिषाहः स्मत्सूरिभ्यो गृणते तद्वयो धाः ॥९॥

nú te púr-vasyávaso ádhītau tṛitíye vidáthe mánma śaṅsi | asmé agne saṃyádvīram bṛihántaṃ kshumántaṃ vájaṃ svapatyáṃ ra-yíṃ dāḥ || 8 || tváyā yáthā gṛitsamadáso agne gúhā van-vánta úparāñ abhí shyúḥ | suvírāso abhimātisháhaḥ smát sūríbhyo gṛiṇaté tád váyo dhāḥ || 9 ||

The growth of fire-divine is as delightful as the growth of one's own possessions. Rapturous are its looks as it bursts into flames on its way. It brandishes its tongue-like flames amongst plantations, as a chariot-horse lashes with tails. 4

When my thoughts enjoy its glory, sing its praises, it lends its choicest variegated colours to us. Though it seems growing old and out-worn, it becomes young again and again. 5

Like a thirsty man, it lifts its flames to the forests, and roars like a flood advancing on a road. It neighs like a chariot war-horse leaving black trail of the blazing fire. It distinguishes itself like a well-lit sky full of smiling stars. 6

It, the fire-divine, difuses its light far and wide along the vast earth while burning and moves like a beast that wanders asunder, and has no herdsman to keep in control. It with its blazing flames and its black affliction assails the dry plantations with its heat as it completely consumes the moisture out of them. 7

Now a hymn is being sung to you at the third session of the ceremonial worship, while your earlier favour is gratefully appreciated. May you grant us vast treasures and continuous succession of brave followers, and also wealth of wisdom along with brave and disciplined progeny. 8

O fire-divine, may you bestow such vigour on your singer as well as on his patrons, as may enable the exalted devotees, strong and heroic, and over-throwers of insolent foes, to overpower and finally conquer their superior rivals working against them in secret. 9

(५) पञ्चमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः सोमाहुतिर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२२॥

होताजनिष्ट चेतनः पिता पितृभ्य ऊतये ।
प्रयक्षञ्जेन्यं वसु शकेम वाजिनो यमम् ॥१॥
आ यस्मिन्सप्त रश्मयस्तता यज्ञस्य नेतरि ।
मनुष्वद्दैव्यमष्टमं पोता विश्वं तदिन्वति ॥२॥

5.

Hótājanishṭa cétanaḥ pitā́ pitṛíbhya ūtáye | prayákshañ jényaṃ vásu ṣakéma vājíno yámam || 1 || ā́ yásmin saptá raṣmáyas tatā́ yajñásya netári | manushvád daívyam ashṭamám pótā víṣvaṃ tád invati || 2 ||

दधन्वे वा यदीमनु वोचद्ब्रह्माणि वेरु तत् ।
परि विश्वानि काव्या नेमिश्चक्रमिवाभवत् ॥३॥
साकं हि शुचिना शुचिः प्रशास्ता क्रतुनाजनि ।
विद्वाँ अस्य व्रता ध्रुवा वया इवानु रोहते ॥४॥

dadhanvé vā yád īm ánu vócad bráhmāṇi vér u tát | pári víṣvāni kā́vyā nemíṣ cakrám ivābhavat || 3 || sākáṃ hí ṣúcinā ṣúciḥ praṣāstā́ krátunājani | vidvā́ñ asya vratā́ dhruvā́ vayā́ ivā́nu rohate ||4||

ता अस्य वर्णमायुवो नेष्टुः सचन्त धेनवः ।
कुवित्तिसृभ्य आ वरं स्वसारो या इदं ययुः ॥५॥
यदी मातुरुप स्वसा घृतं भरन्त्यस्थित ।
तासामध्वर्युरागतौ यवो वृष्टीव मोदते ॥६॥

tá asya várṇam āyúvo néshṭuḥ sacanta dhenávaḥ | kuvít tisṛíbhya ā́ váraṃ svásāro yā́ idáṃ yayúḥ || 5 || yádī mātúr úpa svásā ghṛitám bháranty ásthita | tā́sām adhvaryúr ā́gatau yávo vṛishṭíva modate || 6 ||

5

The distinguished invoker (fire divine), giver of consciousness, the protector, reveals itself for the protection of men during all ages, offering them its covetable wealth. May we be able to achieve that wealth of wisdom which becomes the means of our preservation. 1

The seven rays are extended in this leader of worship. There is a divine eighth that manifests itself in the mankind, and as protector of all beings, it, as if, the priest of purification, sets everything else in motion. 2

When devotee firmly establishes the sacred fire and sings the devotional prayers with a definite objective to glorify it, then all the hymns, as if, embrace this fire from all sides as the rim surrounds the spokes of a wheel. 3

The pure universal fire, born out of pure wisdom, manifests itself as the prime element of creation. The person, who knows the eternal laws of this fire, successively grows like branches of a tree. 4

These sister-like fingers, in action resembling the ever approaching waters, enhance the triple brilliant glory of the leading fire-divine. 5

When the sister vessel comes near the maternal fire-altar bringing with it the purified butter, the fire-divine, the invoker priest, rejoices at its approach just as a field of barley revelling in the rain. 6

स्वः स्वाय धायसे कृणुतामृत्विगृत्विजम् ।
स्तोमं यज्ञं चादरं वनेमा ररिमा वयम् ॥७॥
यथा विद्वाँ अरं करद्विश्वेभ्यो यजतेभ्यः । अयमग्ने त्वे अपि यं यज्ञं चकृमा वयम् ॥८॥

sváḥ sváya dháyase kriṇutám ritvíg ritvíjam | stómam yajñám cád áram vanémā rarimá vayám || 7 || yáthā vidváñ áram kárad víṣvebhyo yajatébhyaḥ | ayám agne tvé ápi yám yajñám cakrimá vayám || 8 ||

(६) षष्ठं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः सोमाहुतिर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥ इमां मे अग्ने समिधमिमामुपसदं वनेः । इमा उ षु श्रुधी गिरः ॥१॥
अया ते अग्ने विधेमोर्जो नपादश्वमिष्टे । एना सूक्तेन सुजात ॥२॥
तं त्वा गीर्भिर्गिर्वणसं द्रविणस्युं द्रविणोदः । सपर्येम सपर्यवः ॥३॥
स बोधि सूरिर्मघवा वसुपते वसुदावन् । युयोध्यस्मद्द्वेषांसि ॥४॥
स नो वृष्टिं दिवस्परि स नो वाजमनर्वाणम् । स नः सहस्रिणीरिषः ॥५॥
ईळानायावस्यवे यविष्ठ दूत नो गिरा । यजिष्ठ होतरा गहि ॥६॥

6.

Imám me agne samídham imám upasádam vaneḥ | imá u shú ṣrudhī gíraḥ || 1 || ayá te agne vidhemórjo napād áṣvamishṭe | ená sūkténa sujāta || 2 || tám tvā gīrbhír gírvaṇasam draviṇasyúm draviṇodaḥ | saparyéma saparyávaḥ || 3 || sá bodhi sūrír maghávā vásupate vásudāvan | yuyodhy àsmád dvéshāñsi || 4 || sá no vrishṭím divás pári sá no vájam anarváṇam | sá naḥ sahasríṇīr íshaḥ || 5 || íḷānāyāvasyáve yávishṭha dūta no girá | yájishṭha hotar á gahi || 6 ||

May the fire-divine itself assume the role of the priest and carry on work for its own firm establishment. May we worthily repeat its praise and through it offer to the Lord our homage. 7

May we offer · our worship to you, O fire-divine, in the manner wise men pay reverence to all the adorable Nature's bounties, and may this sacred act of ours also be perfected in you. 8

6

O adorable Lord, accept my prayers and the offerings which I make to you; and also hear graciously these songs of praise that I sing. 1

O adorable, the Lord of vitality, nobly born, let us honour you with prayers and songs of praise. 2

O bounteous, worthy of our worship and wealthy offerings, let us as devotees propitiate you with our songs. 3

O Lord of riches and bestower of prosperity, may you, the bounteous and inspirer, drive away our hatred towards adversaries. 4

May He give us rain from the skies, strength which no man may resist, and hundred-fold nourishment. 5

O herald, ever young, most adorable, the one invoked by us all, may you come near him who worships you with his song and seeks your favour. 6

अन्तर्ह्यग्न ईयसे विद्वाञ्जन्मोभया कवे । दूतो जन्येव मित्र्यः ॥७॥
स विद्वाँ आ च पिप्रयो यक्षि चिकित्व आनुषक् । आ चास्मिन्त्सत्सि बर्हिषि ॥८॥

antár hy àgna íyase vidváñ jánmobháyā kave | dūtó jányeva mítryaḥ ||7|| sá vidvā́ñ ā́ ca piprayo yákshi cikitva ānushák | ā́ cāsmín satsi barhíshi ||8||

(७) सप्तमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः सोमाहुतिर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२८॥ श्रेष्ठं यविष्ठ भारताग्ने द्युमन्तमा भर । वसो पुरुस्पृहं रयिम् ॥१॥
मा नो अरातिरीशत देवस्य मर्त्यस्य च । पर्षि तस्या उत द्विषः ॥२॥
विश्वा उत त्वया वयं धारा उदन्या इव । अति गाहेमहि द्विषः ॥३॥
शुचिः पावक वन्द्योऽग्ने बृहद्वि रोचसे । त्वं घृतेभिराहुतः ॥४॥
त्वं नो असि भारताग्ने वशाभिरुक्षभिः । अष्टापदीभिराहुतः ॥५॥
द्र्वन्नः सर्पिरासुतिः प्रत्नो होता वरेण्यः । सहसस्पुत्रो अद्भुतः ॥६॥

7.

Ṣréshṭhaṃ yavishṭha bhāratágne dyumántam ā́ bhara | váso puruspṛ́haṃ rayím || 1 || mā́ no árātir īṣata devásya mártyasya ca | párshi tásyā utá dvisháḥ || 2 || víṣvā utá tváyā vayáṃ dhā́rā udanyā̀ iva | áti gāhemahi dvíshaḥ || 3 || ṣúciḥ pāvaka vándyó 'gne bṛihád ví rocase | tváṃ ghṛitébhir ā́hutaḥ || 4 || tváṃ no asi bhāratágne vaṣā́bhir ukshábhiḥ | ashṭā́padībhir ā́hutaḥ || 5 || drvànnaḥ sarpírāsu-tiḥ pratnó hótā várenyaḥ | sáhasas putró ádbhutaḥ || 6 ||

O all-wise, and adorable, you dwell in the inner-most (hearts), and are aware of both, our past births and past deeds. You are friendly to mankind like an envoy. 7

May you, who is all-knowing, fulfil our aspirations; may you, who is intelligent, convey to Nature's bounties our offerings in due order; and may you grace this place of worship with your blessings. 8

7

O Lord of supreme strength, our guardian and preserver, and Lord of wealth, may you grant us splendid and coveted riches. 1

O Lord, let no enemy of men, learned or otherwise, prevail against us; may you save us from all adversaries. 2

Thus protected by you, may we force a way through our enemies, like torrents of water. 3

O adorable and purifier, you are venerable and holy and you shine forth bright when adored with loving devotion. 4

O adorable Lord, our sustainer, you are entirely ours when we rear and take care of pregnant cows, castrated, bullocks and octapeds. 5

How beautiful is this sacred fire of which wood fuel is the food, and butter is the drink, and which is the ancient one, the giver of gifts and is venerable. 6

(८) अष्टमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां गायत्री, (६) षष्ठ्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२९॥ वाजयन्निव नू रथान्योगाँ अग्नेरुप स्तुहि । यशस्तमस्य मीळ्हुषः ॥१॥
यः सुनीथो ददाशुषेऽजुर्यो जरयन्नरिम् । चारुप्रतीक आहुतः ॥२॥
य उ श्रिया दमेष्वा दोषोषसि प्रशस्यते । यस्य व्रतं न मीयते ॥३॥
आ यः स्वर्ण भानुना चित्रो विभात्यर्चिषा । अञ्जानो अजरैरभि ॥४॥
अत्रिमनु स्वराज्यमग्निमुक्थानि वावृधुः । विश्वा अधि श्रियो दधे ॥५॥
अग्नेरिन्द्रस्य सोमस्य देवानामूतिभिर्वयम् ।
अरिष्यन्तः सचेमह्यभि ष्याम पृतन्यतः ॥६॥

8.

Vājayánn iva nū́ ráthān yógāñ agnér úpa stuhi | yaṣás-tamasya mīḷhúshaḥ || 1 || yáḥ sunīthó dadāṣúshe 'juryó jaráyann arím | cā́rupratīka ā́hutaḥ || 2 || yá u ṣriyā́ dámeshv ā́ doshóshási praṣasyáte | yásya vratáṃ ná mī́yate || 3 || ā́ yáḥ svàr ṇá bhānúnā citró vibhā́ty arcíshā | añjānó ajáraír abhí || 4 || átrim ánu svarā́jyam agním ukthā́ni vāvṛidhuḥ | víṣvā ádhi ṣríyo dadhe || 5 || agnér índrasya sómasya devā́nām ūtíbhir vayám | árishyantaḥ sacemahy abhí shyāma pṛitanyatáḥ || 6 ||

(९) नवमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ नि होता होतृषदने विदानस्त्वेषो दीदिवाँ असदत्सुदक्षः ।
अदब्धव्रतप्रमतिर्वसिष्ठः सहस्रंभरः शुचिजिह्वो अग्निः ॥१॥

9.

Ní hótā hotṛishádane vídānas tveshó dīdivā́ñ asadat su-dákshaḥ | ádabdhavratapramatir vásishṭhaḥ sahasrambharáḥ ṣúcijihvo agníḥ || 1 ||

8

May you praise the adorable Lord, seated, as if, in a harnessed chariot, glorious and bestower of happiness, as you who strive for material wealth. 1

May we invoke Him, who offers good guidance to His worshipper, who is ageless and invulnerable and wears out inimical thoughts of the one who propitiates. 2

May we invoke Him, who has lustrous glory, and who is loudly praised at dusk and dawn in our homes, and whose law is never violated. 3

(May we invoke Him) who indeed is a lovely one, decorated by his imperishable lights, and shines with His lustre, as the heaven with the light of the sun. 4

Our hymns glorify the adorable Lord, who is also the destroyer of evils according to His set laws. He is possessed of all glory. 5

May we ever remain under the protection of the adorable Lord, all-blissful and resplendent, and also under the care of Nature's bounties. May we over-power all the evil forces battling against us. 6

9

The adorable Lord is seated, as if, on the highest throne as invoker. He is ablaze with light and vivid in radiance. He is full of knowledge and perfect in judgement. He is most wise, and his laws are inviolable. He is exceedingly rich in treasures. The most adorable Lord, with brilliant radiance is the sustainer of thousands of luminaries. 1

त्वं दूतस्त्वमु नः परस्पास्त्वं वस्य आ वृषभ प्रणेता ।
अग्ने तोकस्य नस्तने तनूनामप्रयुच्छन्दीद्यद्बोधि गोपाः ॥२॥
विधेम ते परमे जन्मन्नग्ने विधेम स्तोमैरवरे सधस्थे ।
यस्माद्योनेरुदारिथा यजे तं प्र त्वे हवींषि जुहुरे समिद्धे ॥३॥

tvám dūtás tvám u naḥ paraspás tvám vásya á vṛishabha praṇetá | ágne tokásya nas táne tanū́nām áprayuchan dídyad bodhi gopáḥ ||2|| vidhéma te paramé jánmann agne vidhéma stómair ávare sadhásthe | yásmād yóner udárithā yáje tám prá tvé havī́ṅshi juhure sámiddhe || 3 ||

अग्ने यजस्व हविषा यजीयाञ्छ्रुष्टी देष्णमभि गृणीहि राधः ।
त्वं ह्यसि रयिपती रयीणां त्वं शुक्रस्य वचसो मनोता ॥४॥
उभयं ते न क्षीयते वसव्यं दिवेदिवे जायमानस्य दस्म ।
कृधि क्षुमन्तं जरितारमग्ने कृधि पतिं स्वपत्यस्य रायः ॥५॥
सैनानीकेन सुविदत्रो अस्मे यष्टा देवाँ आयजिष्ठः स्वस्ति ।
अदब्धो गोपा उत नः परस्पा अग्ने द्युमदुत रेवद्दिदीहि ॥६॥

ágne yájasva havíshā yájīyāñ chrushṭí deshṇám abhí gṛiṇīhi rádhaḥ | tvám hy ási rayipátī rayīṇám tvám ṣukrásya vácaso manótā || 4 || ubháyam te ná kshīyate vasavyám divé-dive jáyamānasya dasma | kṛidhí kshumántam jaritáram agne kṛidhí pátim svapatyásya rāyáḥ || 5 || sainánīkena suvidátro asmé yáshṭā devā́ñ ā́yajishṭhaḥ svastí | ádabdho gopá utá naḥ paraspá ágne dyumád utá revád didīhi || 6 ||

O adorable Lord, you are our envoy; you are indeed our protector here and far beyond. You are our guide for a prosperous life, O mighty God. May you be our unfailing and refulgent defender, O adorable, of our people and posterity. 2

O supreme Lord, may we worship your glory manifested in the suns and stars of the highest celestial regions, and may we also worship you with our chants for your glory pervading in the middle region. I adore again the same glory of yours which is manifested in the fire on the earth, to which our offerings are poured when kindled and ablaze. 3

O adorable Lord, you are the supreme performer of the unending cosmic sacrifice. You are the sovereign Lord of all riches, and inspirer in us of the divine speech. May you bless us with all that is our due. 4

O splendid adorable Lord, your both kinds of wealth, material and spiritual, neither decay or diminish and are replenished day to day. May you grant nourishment to your worshipper and make him the master of riches in addition to good progeny. 5

O adorable Lord, may you grant us prosperity through your brilliant glory as you are the best invoker of Nature's bounties. May you be our indomitable defender and our protector even in the far off places. May you shine in us with your light; shine in us with your opulence. 6

(१०) दशमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२॥ जोहूत्रो अग्निः प्रथमः पितेवेळस्पदे मनुषा यत्समिद्धः ।
श्रियं वसानो अमृतो विचेता मर्मृजेन्यः श्रवस्यः स वाजी ॥१॥
श्रूया अग्निश्चित्रभानुर्हवं मे विश्वाभिर्गीर्भिरमृतो विचेताः ।
श्यावा रथं वहतो रोहिता वोतारुषाह चक्रे विभृत्रः ॥२॥

10.

Johū́tro agníḥ prathamáḥ pitévelás padé mánushā yát sámiddhaḥ | śríyaṃ vásāno amríto vícetā marmṛijényaḥ śravasyàḥ sá vājī́ || 1 || śrūyá agníś citrábhānur hávam me víśvābhir gīrbhír amríto vícetāḥ | śyāvā́ rátham vahato róhitā votárushā́ha cakre víbhṛitraḥ || 2 ||

उत्तानायामजनयन्त्सुषूतं भुवदग्निः पुरुपेशासु गर्भः ।
शिरिणायां चिदक्तुना महोभिरपरीवृतो वसति प्रचेताः ॥३॥
जिघर्म्यग्निं हविषा घृतेन प्रतिक्षियन्तं भुवनानि विश्वा ।
पृथुं तिरश्चा वयसा बृहन्तं व्यचिष्ठमन्नै रभसं दृशानम् ॥४॥
आ विश्वतः प्रत्यञ्चं जिघर्म्यरक्षसा मनसा तज्जुषेत ।
मर्यश्रीः स्पृहयद्वर्णो अग्निर्नाभिमृशे तन्वा३ जर्भुराणः ॥५॥

uttānā́yām ajanayan súshūtam bhúvad agníḥ purupéśāsu gárbhaḥ | śíriṇāyāṃ cid aktúnā máhobhir áparīvṛito vasati prácetāḥ || 3 || jígharmy agníṃ havíshā ghriténa pratikshiyántam bhúvanāni víśvā | pṛithúṃ tiraścā́ váyasā bṛihántaṃ vyácishṭham ánnai rabhasáṃ dṛíśānam || 4 || ā́ viśvátaḥ pratyáñcam jígharmy arakshásā mánasā táj jusheta | máryaśrī spṛihayádvarṇo agnír nā́bhimṛíśe tanvā̀ járbhurāṇaḥ || 5 ||

10

The adorable Lord is the foremost, and frequent inspirer of Nature's bounties. He is kind like a father when kindled by man at the performance of sacred selfless acts. He is clothed in radiance, immortal, perfect in knowledge, bestower of food, powerful, and He is to be worshipped. 1

May the adorable Lord (in the sun), diversely rich in lustre, the immortal and all-wise, listen to my invocations accompanied by sacred hymns. The brown, red and ruddy horses (rays of the sun at dusk, morn and during the day) draw His chariot of creation. Then His glory is diffused in all regions. 2

Men kindle this universal, hidden, asleep fire in sacred wood. May the fire divine rest in the embryo of the herbs of varied colours. Even during nights, this kindled fire, fed with oblations, abides conscious in the night, un-enveloped by darkness. 3

I anoint the fire-divine with my oblation of butter where-upon it brightens, all the regions, wide in its all compre-hending vast expansion. It is most spacious owing to its glory, exalted by rich offerings, seen in the impetuosity of its flames. 4

I kindle all-pervading fire-divine with my loving devotion. May it gladly accept my regards, when offered with un-hesitating mind. When this venerable fire divine assumes any form, that may be whichsoever desired, and whilst blazing with radiance, it cannot be endured and touched. 5

ज्ञेया भागं सहसानो वरेण त्वादूतासो मनुवद्वदेम ।
अनूनमग्निं जुह्वा वचस्या मधुपृचं धनसा जोहवीमि ॥६॥

jñeyā́ bhāgám sahasānó várena tvā́dūtāso manuvád vadema | ánūnam agním juhvā̀ vacasyā́ madhupŕ̥cam dhanasā́ johavīmi || 6 ||

(११) एकादशं सूक्तम्

(१-२१) एकविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-२०) प्रथमादिविंशत्यृचां विराट्स्थाना, (२१) एकविंश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ श्रुधी हवमिन्द्र मा रिषण्यः स्याम ते दावने वसूनाम् ।
इमा हि त्वामूर्जो वर्धयन्ति वसूयवः सिन्धवो न क्षरन्तः ॥१॥
सृजो महीरिन्द्र या अपिन्वः परिष्ठिता अहिना शूर पूर्वीः ।
अमर्त्यं चिद्दासं मन्यमानमवाभिनदुक्थैर्वावृधानः ॥२॥
उक्थेष्विन्नु शूर येषु चाकन्स्तोमेष्विन्द्र रुद्रियेषु च ।
तुभ्येदेता यासु मन्दसानः प्र वायवे सिस्रते न शुभ्राः ॥३॥
शुभ्रं नु ते शुष्मं वर्धयन्तः शुभ्रं वज्रं बाह्वोर्दधानाः ।
शुभ्रस्त्वमिन्द्र वावृधानो अस्मे दासीर्विशः सूर्येण सह्याः ॥४॥

11.

Ṣrudhí hávam indra mā́ rishaṇyaḥ syā́ma te dāváne vásūnām | imā́ hí tvā́m ū́rjo vardháyanti vasūyávaḥ síndhavo ná ksharantaḥ || 1 || sṛijó mahī́r indra yā́ ápinvaḥ párishṭhitā áhinā ṣūra pūrvī́ḥ | ámartyaṃ cid dāsám mányamānam ávābhinad ukthaír vāvṛidhānáḥ || 2 || ukthéshv ín nú ṣūra yéshu cākán stómeshv indra rudríyeshu ca | túbhyéd etā́ yā́su mandasānáḥ prá vāyáve sisrate ná ṣubhrā́ḥ || 3 || ṣubhrám nú te ṣúshmaṃ vardháyantaḥ ṣubhrám vájram bāhvór dádhānāḥ | ṣubhrás tvám indra vāvṛidhānó asmé dā́sīr víṣaḥ sū́ryeṇa sahyāḥ || 4 ||

May you, O fire-divine, the destroyer of evils by your strength, listen to our invocations. May we speak out to you, our messenger, like our wise ancestors. I repeatedly, with eloquence, invoke fire-divine who is sweet and perfect in all aspects whilst offering oblations to it for procuring wealth of wisdom. 6

11

Listen to our call, O resplendent; do not harm us. May we get your gift of spiritual treasure. May these thoughts like the streaming rivers, designed to obtain divine light invigorate you. 1

You set free the many streams of virtuous thought, formerly arrested by vicious tendencies, and make them dynamic. Glorified by our hymns, you crush the pretentious devil of ignorance, who feigns to be deathless. 2

O resplendent mighty self, these hymns and prayers in which you take delight, and the laudations which you greatly relish, are, in fact, addressed to you. 3

We are now invigorating your brilliant strength and placing the adamantine power of will in your hands by our prayers and thoughts. Growing powerful for our sake and being effective, O resplendent Self, you should overpower the servile elements with the help of spiritual illumination. 4

गुहा हितं गुह्यं गूळ्हमप्स्वपीवृतं मायिनं क्षियन्तम् ।
उतो अपो द्यां तस्तभ्वांसमहन्नहिं शूर वीर्येण ॥५॥

॥४॥ स्तवा नु त इन्द्र पूर्व्या महान्युत स्तवाम नूतना कृतानि ।
स्तवा वज्रं बाह्वोरुशन्तं स्तवा हरी सूर्यस्य केतू ॥६॥
हरी नु त इन्द्र वाजयन्ता घृतश्चुतं स्वारमस्वार्ष्टाम् ।
वि समना भूमिरप्रथिष्टारंस्त पर्वतश्चित्सरिष्यन् ॥७॥

gúhā hitáṃ gúhyaṃ gūḷhám apsv ápīvṛitam māyínaṃ kshiyántam | utó apó dyáṃ tastabhváṅsam áhann áhiṃ ṣūra vīryèṇa || 5 || ||

stávā nú ta indra pūrvyá maháṅy utá stavāma nū́tanā kṛitáni | stávā vájram bāhvór uṣántaṃ stávā hárī sū́ryasya ketū́ || 6 || hárī nú ta indra vājáyantā ghṛitaṣcútaṃ svārám asvārshṭām | ví samaná bhū́mir aprathishṭáraṅsta párvataṣ cit sarishyán || 7 ||

नि पर्वतः साद्यप्रयुच्छन्त्सं मातृभिर्वावशानो अक्रान् ।
दूरे पारे वाणीं वर्धयन्त इन्द्रेषितां धमनिं पप्रथन्नि ॥८॥
इन्द्रो महां सिन्धुमाशयानं मायाविनं वृत्रमस्फुरन्निः ।
अरेजेतां रोदसी भियाने कनिक्रदतो वृष्णो अस्य वज्रात् ॥९॥
अरोरवीद्वृष्णो अस्य वज्रोऽमानुषं यन्मानुषो निजूर्वात् ।
नि मायिनो दानवस्य माया अपादयत्पपिवान्त्सुतस्य ॥१०॥

ní párvataḥ sādy áprayuchan sám mātṛíbhir vāvaṣānó akrān | dūré pāré vā́ṇīṃ vardháyanta índreshitāṃ dhamánim paprathan ní || 8 || índro maháṃ síndhum āṣáyānam māyāvínaṃ vṛitrám asphuran níḥ | árejetāṃ ródasī bhiyāné kánikradato vṛíshṇo asya vájrāt || 9 || ároravīd vṛíshṇo asya vájró 'mānushaṃ yán mánusho nijū́rvāt | ní māyíno dānavásya māyá ápādayat papiván sutásya || 10 ||

By your mighty strength, O brave self, you destroy the serpentine devil who lies secretly concealed in evil thoughts, the crafty, blocking the flow of virtues and arresting the rains in the sky of mental regions. 5

Let me praise your earlier great deeds, O resplendent self, and also praise those that are newly performed : let me praise your adamantine will power which is inherent in you, and let me praise the vital beams which are the heralds of spiritual illumination. 6

Your two horses (yoked to the sun)—mental and vital faculties in the body complex—with all their vigour have announced the rain of forth-coming virtuous thoughts. The level earth,—physical personality—anxiously expects the fall of the rain, as the gathering cloud passes by. 7

The rain cloud, over conscious of its functions is settled down, resonating with the maternal waters, it has spread wide. The winds augmenting the sound in distant horizon, have promulgated the inner voice of the resplendent self. 8

The powerful resplendent self strikes down the dark evil forces who lay across the river of virtuous thoughts. At that time vital and mental faculties of the human body tremble through fear of the roaring adamantine will power of the soul. 9

The adamantine will of the benevolent resplendent soul voices its strength to strike down the hostile forces of evil, concealed in the sense organs. Having realized the spiritual bliss, the soul overthrows the wickedness of the dark forces of evil. 10

॥५॥ पिबापिबेदिन्द्र शूर सोमं मन्दन्तु त्वा मन्दिनः सुतासः ।
पृणन्तस्ते कुक्षी वर्धयन्त्वित्था सुतः पौर इन्द्रमाव ॥११॥
त्वे इन्द्राप्यभूम विप्रा धियं वनेम ऋतया सपन्तः ।
अवस्यवो धीमहि प्रशस्तिं सद्यस्ते रायो दावने स्याम ॥१२॥
स्याम ते त इन्द्र ये त ऊती अवस्यव ऊर्जं वर्धयन्तः ।
शुष्मिन्तमं यं चाकनाम देवास्मे रयिं रासि वीरवन्तम् ॥१३॥

píbā-pibéd indra ṣūra sómam mándantu tvā mandínaḥ sutā́saḥ | priṇántas te kukshī́ vardhayantv itthā́ sutáḥ paurá índram āva || 11 || tvé indrā́py abhūma víprā dhíyaṃ vanema ṛitayā́ ṡápantaḥ | avasyávo dhīmahi práṣastiṃ sadyás te rāyó dāváne syāma || 12 || syā́ma té ta indra yé ta ūtí avasyáva ū́rjaṃ vardháyantaḥ | ṣushmíntamaṃ yáṃ cākánāma devāsmé rayíṃ rāsi vīrávantam || 13 ||

रासि क्षयं रासि मित्रमस्मे रासि शर्ध इन्द्र मारुतं नः ।
सजोषसो ये च मन्दसानाः प्र वायवः पान्त्यग्रणीतिम् ॥१४॥
व्यन्त्विन्नु येषु मन्दसानस्तृपत्सोमं पाहि द्रह्यदिन्द्र ।
अस्मान्त्सु पृत्स्वा तरुत्रावर्धयो द्यां बृहद्भिरर्कैः ॥१५॥
॥६॥ बृहन्त इन्नु ये ते तरुत्रोक्थेभिर्वा सुम्नमाविवासान् ।
स्तृणानासो बर्हिः पस्त्यावत्त्वोता इदिन्द्र वाजमग्मन् ॥१६॥

rā́si kshā́yaṃ rā́si mitrám asmé rā́si ṣárdha indra mā́rutaṃ naḥ | sajóshaso yé ca mandasānā́ḥ prá vāyávaḥ pānty ágraṇītim || 14 || vyántv ín nú yéshu mandasānás tṛipát sómam pahi drahyád indra | asmā́n sú pṛitsv ā́ tarutrā́vardhayo dyā́m bṛihádbhir arkaíḥ || 15 ||

bṛihánta ín nú yé te tarutrokthébhir vā sumnám āvívāsān | stṛiṇānā́so barhíḥ pastyā̀vat tvótā íd indra vā́jam agman || 16 ||

O resplendent self, may you drink and drink again the consummate spiritual bliss and may this joy invigorate you by inspiring the entire physical personality. Verily this consummate bliss would give full satisfaction of self-realization to the soul. 11

We the devotees fully belong to you, O resplendent soul. May we be able to receive your wisdom while engaged in performing noble deeds. Seeking your favour, may we be able to adopt your divine virtues. May we ever become worthy of the gift of your riches. 12

O resplendent self, may we, your faithful devotees, continue to appreciate more and more your glory. We are ever eager to have your protection; may you give us, O self, the coveted, most inspiring wisdom and brave sons. 13

May you give us comfortable homes and sincere friends. Grant us the assertive strong vitality to share your spiritual joy, and may the vital breaths experience the benign bliss. 14

O resplendent self, on the occasions of such sacred acts as you have most appreciated and on the occasions of struggle of life, may you enjoy the satiating nectar. Also may your devotees and prayers associate themselves in this enjoyment. O liberator, may you in association with other vital elements augment our prosperity and make us worthy of your enlightenment. 15

Great indeed become they who seek to win your favour through holy hymns, O liberator from evils. They open out their affectionate hearts in your devotion, and are blessed by your protection. They verily acquire special benefits of home and sustenance from you. 16

उ॒ग्रेष्वि॒न्नु शू॑र मन्दसा॒नस्त्रिक॑द्रुकेषु पाहि॒ सोम॑मिन्द्र ।
प्र॒दोधु॑व॒च्छ्मश्रु॑षु प्रीणा॒नो या॒हि हरि॑भ्यां सु॒तस्य॑ पी॒तिम् ॥१७॥

ugréshv ín nú ṣūra mandasānás tríkadrukeshu pāhi sómam indra | pradódhuvac chmáṣrushu prīṇānó yāhí háribhyām sutásya pītím || 17 ||

धि॒ष्वा शवः॑ शूर॒ येन॑ वृ॒त्रम॒वाभि॑न॒द्दानु॑मौर्णवा॒भम् ।
अपा॑वृणो॒र्ज्योति॒॑रार्या॑य॒ नि स॑व्य॒तः सा॑दि॒ दस्यु॑रिन्द्र ॥१८॥

dhishvá ṣávaḥ ṣūra yéna vṛitrám avábhinad dánum aurṇavābhám | ápāvṛiṇor jyótir áryāya ní savyatáḥ sādi dásyur indra || 18 ||

सने॑म॒ ये त॑ ऊ॒तिभि॒स्तर॑न्तो॒ विश्वाः॒ स्पृध॒ आर्ये॑ण॒ दस्यू॑न् ।
अ॒स्मभ्यं॒ तत्त्वा॒ष्ट्रं वि॒श्वरू॑प॒मर॑न्धयः सा॒ख्यस्य॑ त्रि॒ताय॑ ॥१९॥

sánema yé ta ūtíbhis táranto víṣvā spṛídha áryeṇa dásyūn | asmábhyam tát tvāshṭrám viṣvárūpam árandhayaḥ sākhyásya tritáya || 19 ||

अ॒स्य सु॑वा॒नस्य॑ म॒न्दिन॑स्त्रि॒तस्य॒ न्यर्बु॑दं वावृधा॒नो अ॑स्तः ।
अव॑र्तय॒त्सूर्यो॒ न च॒क्रं भि॒नद्व॒लमिन्द्रो॒ अङ्गि॑रस्वान् ॥२०॥
नू॒नं सा ते॒ प्रति॒ वरं॑ जरि॒त्रे दु॑ही॒यदि॑न्द्र॒ दक्षि॑णा म॒घोनी॑ ।
शिक्षा॑ स्तो॒तृभ्यो॒ माति॑ ध॒ग्भगो॑ नो बृ॒हद्व॑देम वि॒दथे॑ सु॒वीराः॑ ॥२१॥

asyá suvānásya mandínas tritásya ny árbudam vāvṛidhānó astaḥ | ávartayat sūryo ná cakrám bhinád valám índro áṅgirasvān || 20 || nūnám sá te práti váram jaritré duhīyád indra dákshiṇā maghónī | ṣíkshā stotṛíbhyo máti dhag bhágo no bṛihád vadema v. s. || 21 ||

Exulted by the spell of spiritual ecstasy, may you, O resplendent self, further relish the nectar through three realms—physical, mental, and spiritual. May you enjoy the bliss with the satisfaction of smiles on your face, and with your vigour in vital organs and be delighted. 17

May you put in yourself once more, O resplendent self, the same strength by which you strike down the devilish evil, the coverer of enlightenment, who extends its web of influence like a spider. May you restore the light of wisdom to the men of truth and faith, so that the infidel is finally crushed by you. 18

May we honour those men who, through your help, surpass all their rivals, as the infidels surpassed by men of truth and faith. This you have done for us. You have subdued the variegated types of passions, born out of the creative mind, through the friendship and control of the triple realm (physical, vital and mental). 19

The divine soul, has cast down the demon of ego, the enemy of the triple realm (physical, vital and mental) having realized the spiritual bliss. In order to kill the devil of pride, it aided with the life-essence, wields his adamantine determination as the sun whirls round his wheels. 20

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshippers. May you not keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly at this sacred assembly and be blessed with worthy descendants. 21

[अथ द्वितीयोऽनुवाकः ॥] (१२) द्वादशं सूक्तम्

(१–१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ यो जात एव प्रथमो मनस्वान्देवो देवान्क्रतुना पर्यभूषत् ।
यस्य शुष्माद्रोदसी अभ्यसेतां नृम्णस्य मह्ना स जनास इन्द्रः ॥१॥
यः पृथिवीं व्यथमानामदृंहद्यः पर्वतान्प्रकुपिताँ अरम्णात् ।
यो अन्तरिक्षं विममे वरीयो यो द्यामस्तभ्नात्स जनास इन्द्रः ॥२॥

12.

Yó jātá evá prathamó mánasvān devó devā́n krátunā paryábhūshat | yásya śúshmād ródasī ábhyasetām nṛimṇásya mahnā́ sá janāsa índraḥ || 1 || yáḥ pṛithivī́m vyáthamānām ádṛiṅhad yáḥ párvatān prákupitāñ áramṇāt | yó antárikshaṃ vimamé várīyo yó dyā́m ástabhnāt sá janāsa índraḥ || 2 ||

यो हत्वाहिमरिणात्सप्त सिन्धून्यो गा उदाजदपधा वलस्य ।
यो अश्मनोरन्तरग्निं जजान संवृक्समत्सु स जनास इन्द्रः ॥३॥
येनेमा विश्वा च्यवना कृतानि यो दासं वर्णमधरं गुहाकः ।
श्वघ्नीव यो जिगीवाँ लक्षमाददर्यः पुष्टानि स जनास इन्द्रः ॥४॥

yó hatvā́him áriṇāt saptá síndhūn yó gā́ udā́jad apadhā́ valásya | yó áśmanor antár agníṃ jajā́na saṃvṛík samátsu s. j. í. || 3 || yénemā́ víśvā cyávanā kṛitā́ni yó dā́saṃ várṇam ádharaṃ gúhākaḥ | śvaghnī́va yó jigīvā́ñ lakshám ā́dad aryáḥ pushṭā́ni s. j. í. || 4 ||

यं स्मा पृच्छन्ति कुह सेति घोरमुतेमाहुर्नैषो अस्तीत्येनम् ।
सो अर्यः पुष्टीर्विज इवा मिनाति श्रदस्मै धत्त स जनास इन्द्रः ॥५॥

yáṃ smā pṛichánti kúha séti ghorám utém āhur naíshó astī́ty enam | só aryáḥ pushṭī́r víja ivā́ mināti śrád asmai dhatta s. j. í. || 5 ||

12

O men, it is the resplendent self, the foremost, who, as soon as it is born excels other divine faculties with its power and under its submission, the dual complex of body and mind functions, owing to the supremacy of its strength. 1

O men, it is the resplendent self who makes the trembling earth, i.e. the body physique, firm; who tranquillizes the agitated senses, who measures out the mid vital region and keeps the celestial mental realm upright. 2

O men, there is another, the supreme resplendent Lord who having destroyed the evil forces, has set free the seven channels of virtues, who has restored wisdom concealed in dark caves of ignorance, who manifests the fire-energy hidden between the rocks and who is invincible in battle. 3

O men, He is the resplendent Lord by whom all this fast revolving universe has been created, who drives away to oblivion the dark devil forces and who snatches off the riches of the malicious like a hunter striking his prey. 4

O men, He is the resplendent Lord, the one whom all fear. They inquire "Where is he ?" They say "He is not (at any one particular place.)" He takes away the inimical tendencies of the senses like a hunting bird. O men, have faith in Him. 5

॥८॥ यो र॒ध्रस्य॑ चोदि॒ता यः कृ॒शस्य॒ यो ब्र॒ह्मणो॒ नाध॑मानस्य की॒रेः ।
यु॒क्तग्रा॑व्णो॒ यो॑ऽवि॒ता सु॑शि॒प्रः सु॒तसो॑मस्य॒ स ज॑नास॒ इन्द्रः॑ ॥६॥
यस्याश्वा॑सः प्र॒दिशि॒ यस्य॒ गावो॒ यस्य॒ ग्रामा॒ यस्य॒ विश्वे॒ रथा॑सः ।
यः सूर्यं॒ य उ॒षसं॑ ज॒जान॒ यो अ॒पां ने॒ता स ज॑नास॒ इन्द्रः॑ ॥७॥
यं क्रन्द॑सी सं॒यती॑ वि॒ह्वये॑ते॒ परेऽव॑र उ॒भया॑ अ॒मित्राः॑ ।
स॒मा॒नं चि॒द्रथ॑मातस्थि॒वांसा॒ नाना॑ हवेते॒ स ज॑नास॒ इन्द्रः॑ ॥८॥
यस्मा॒न्न ऋ॒ते वि॒जय॑न्ते॒ जना॑सो॒ यं युध्य॑माना॒ अव॑से॒ हव॑न्ते ।
यो विश्व॑स्य प्रति॒मानं॑ ब॒भूव॒ यो अ॑च्युत॒च्युत्स ज॑नास॒ इन्द्रः॑ ॥९॥
यः शश्व॑तो॒ मह्येनो॒ दधा॑ना॒नम॑न्यमाना॒ञ्छर्वा॑ ज॒घान॑ ।
यः शर्ध॑ते॒ नानु॒ददा॑ति शृ॒ध्यां यो दस्यो॑र्ह॒न्ता स ज॑नास॒ इन्द्रः॑ ॥१०॥

yó radhrásya coditā́ yáḥ kṛiśásya yó brahmáṇo nā́dhamānasya kīréḥ | yuktágrāvṇo yó 'vitā́ suśipráḥ sutásomasya s. j. í. || 6 || yásyā́śvāsaḥ pradíśi yásya gā́vo yásya grā́mā yásya víśve ráthāsaḥ | yáḥ sū́ryam yá ushásam jajā́na yó apā́m netā́ s. j. í. || 7 || yám krándasī samyatī́ vihváyete páre 'vara ubháyā amítrāḥ | samānám cid rátham ātasthivā́ṅsā nā́nā havete s. j. í. || 8 || yásmān ná ṛité vijáyante jánāso yám yúdhyamānā ávase hávante | yó víśvasya pratimā́nam babhū́va yó acyutacyút s. j. í. || 9 || yáḥ śáśvato máhy éno dádhānān ámanyamānāñ chárvā jaghā́na | yáḥ śárdhate nā́nudádāti śṛidhyā́m yó dásyor hantā́ s. j. í. || 10 ||

॥९॥ यः शम्ब॑रं॒ पर्व॑तेषु क्षि॒यन्तं॑ चत्वारिं॒श्यां श॒रद्य॒न्ववि॑न्दत् ।
ओ॒जा॒यमा॑नं॒ यो अहिं॑ ज॒घान॒ दानुं॒ शया॑नं॒ स ज॑नास॒ इन्द्रः॑ ॥११॥

yáḥ śámbaram párvateshu kshiyántam catvāriṅśyā́m śarády anvávindat | ojāyámānam yó áhim jaghā́na dā́num śáyānam s. j. í. || 11 ||

O men, He is the resplendent Lord, who is the inspirer of the rich and poor, and of the priest who recites His praise and is a suppliant. He is charming, and defender of him who initiates worships and constantly sings devotional songs for Him. 6

O men, He is the resplendent Lord who has a control over horses and cows, villages and all chariots, brings forth the sun and the dawn, and who orders the waters to flow. 7

O men, He is the resplendent Lord who is invoked both by heaven and earth, both by enemies and friends even whilst encountering with each other, and also by two persons, sitting on the same chariot. 8

O men, He is the resplendent Lord, without whose blessings no man can conquer, and whom the fighters invoke for protection. He is more than a match, or prototype for everyone and He moves even the immovable. 9

O men, He is the resplendent Lord, who destroys with His punitive justice the infidels and who pays Him no homage, and is crual towards innocent, and virtuous. He does not grant success to the arrogant and is the slayer of the vicious persons. 10

O men, He is the resplendent, who finds out the arrogant clouds of devilish tendencies concealed in the dark rocks of sin for long forty autumns. He destroys the sleeping venomous serpent born of evils, growing in strength and blocking the way of the flow of divine light. (The resplendent here in this verse may also be the sun who ultimately wins over the clouds, thickly wide-spread for forty days). 11

यः सप्तरश्मिर्वृषभस्तुविष्मानवासृजत्सर्तवे सप्त सिन्धून् ।
यो रौहिणमस्फुरद्वज्रबाहुर्द्यामारोहन्तं स जनास इन्द्रः ॥१२॥
द्यावा चिदस्मै पृथिवी नमेते शुष्माच्चिदस्य पर्वता भयन्ते ।
यः सोमपा निचितो वज्रबाहुर्यो वज्रहस्तः स जनास इन्द्रः ॥१३॥
यः सुन्वन्तमवति यः पचन्तं यः शंसन्तं यः शशमानमूती ।
यस्य ब्रह्म वर्धनं यस्य सोमो यस्येदं राधः स जनास इन्द्रः ॥१४॥
यः सुन्वते पचते दुध्र आ चिद्वाजं दर्दर्षि स किलासि सत्यः ।
वयं त इन्द्र विश्वह प्रियासः सुवीरासो विदथमा वदेम ॥१५॥

yáḥ saptáraṣmir vṛishabhás túvishmān avásṛijat sártave saptá síndhūn | yó rauhiṇám ásphurad vájrabāhur dyám āróhantam s. j. í. || 12 || dyávā cid asmai pṛithiví namete ṣúshmāc cid asya párvatā bhayante | yáḥ somapā́ nicitó vájrabāhur yó vájrahastaḥ s. j. í. || 13 || yáḥ sunvántam ávati yáḥ pácantam yáḥ ṣáṅsantam yáḥ ṣaṣamānám ūtí | yásya bráhma várdhanam yásya sómo yásyedám rā́dhaḥ s. j. í. || 14 || yáḥ sunvaté pácate dudhrá ā́ cid vā́jam dárdarshi sá kílāsi satyáḥ | vayám ta indra viṣváha priyā́saḥ suvī́rāso vidátham ā́ vadema || 15 ||

(१३) त्रयोदशं सूक्तम्

(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-१२) प्रथमादि-द्वादशर्चां जगती. (१३) त्रयोदश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१०॥ ऋतुर्जनित्री तस्या अपस्परि मक्षू जात आविशद्यासु वर्धते ।
तदाहना अभवत्पिप्युषी पयोंऽशोः पीयूषं प्रथमं तदुक्थ्यम् ॥१॥

13.

Ritúr jánitrī tásyā apás pári makshū́ jātá ā́viṣad yā́su várdhate | tád āhanā́ abhavat pipyúshī páyo 'ṅṣóḥ pīyū́sham prathamám tád ukthyàm || 1 ||

O men, He is the resplendent, who with His majestic strength controls with seven reins and sends down the seven streams of light to flow forth. He with the bolt in His arms invigorates the ascending clouds. 12

O men, He is the resplendent Lord, before whom bend all the powers of celestial and terrestrial regions. He is widely known as the cherisher of all benevolent thoughts and deeds bearing the bolt of punitive justice in His hands. 13

O men, He is the resplendent Lord, who with His help favours a devotee who repeatedly sings devotional prayers, performs benevolent acts, and verily toils for the Lord. He is the one whom the devotional prayers and our benevolent deeds exhilarate. 14

O resplendent Lord, you indeed are difficult to approach, and a true benefactor, and bestower of sustenance on him who offers the libations of selfless acts in life, and who ripens his devotion to you. May we always be dear to you and sing a hymn in the congregational hall of worship and be endowed with brave posterity. 15

13

The rainy season is the mother of nectar, which as soon as born of her, enters into the waters. The mother cherishes this nectar, the first essence of it, and hence all praises to it. 1

सध्रीमा यन्ति परि बिभ्रतीः पयो विश्वप्स्न्याय प्र भरन्त भोजनम् ।
समानो अध्वा प्रवतामनुष्यदे यस्ताकृणोः प्रथमं सास्युक्थ्यः ॥२॥
अन्वेको वदति यद्ददाति तद्रूपा मिनन्तदपा एक ईयते ।
विश्वा एकस्य विनुदस्तितिक्षते यस्ताकृणोः प्रथमं सास्युक्थ्यः ॥३॥

sadhrím ā́ yanti pári bíbhratīḥ páyo viṣvápsnyāya prá bharanta bhójanam | samānó ádhvā pravátām anushyáde yás tā́kriṇoḥ prathamáṃ sā́sy ukthyàḥ || 2 || ánv éko vadati yád dádāti tád rūpā́ minán tádapā éka īyate | víṣvā ékasya vinúdas titikshate yás tā́kṛi⁰ || 3 ||

प्रजाभ्यः पुष्टिं विभजन्त आसते रयिमिव पृष्ठं प्रभवन्तमायते ।
असिन्वन्दंष्ट्रैः पितुरत्ति भोजनं यस्ताकृणोः प्रथमं सास्युक्थ्यः ॥४॥
अधाकृणोः पृथिवीं संदृशे दिवे यो धौतीनामहिहन्नारिणक्पथः ।
तं त्वा स्तोमेभिरुदभिर्न वाजिनं देवं देवा अजनन्त्सास्युक्थ्यः ॥५॥

prajā́bhyaḥ pushṭíṃ vibhájanta āsate rayím iva prishṭhám prabhávantam āyaté | ásinvan dáṅshṭraiḥ pitúr atti bhójanaṃ yás tā́kṛi⁰ || 4 || ádhākṛiṇoḥ pṛithivíṃ saṃdṛíṣe divé yó dhautīnā́m ahihann ā́riṇak patháḥ | táṃ tvā stómebhir udábhir ná vājínaṃ deváṃ devā́ ajanan sā́sy ukthyàḥ || 5 ||

॥११॥ यो भोजनं च दयसे च वर्धनमार्द्रादा शुष्कं मधुमद्दुदोहिथ ।
स शेवधिं नि दधिषे विवस्वति विश्वस्यैक ईशिषे सास्युक्थ्यः ॥६॥

yó bhójanaṃ ca dáyase ca várdhanam ārdrā́d ā́ ṣúshkam mádhumad dudóhitha | sá ṣevadhíṃ ní dadhishe vivásvati víṣvasyaíka īṣishe sā́sy u. || 6 ||

The rivers flowing together bearing this nectar come from all around, and offer their waters to the sea, which are its food. The flow of all these channels is directed towards the same sea. O resplendent Lord, all this goes on according to your first assignment and hence all praises to you. 2

One worshipper speaks about that which he offers; another moves about, supervising the forms of oblations, the third one removes all the deficiences of the two. O resplendent Lord, this goes on according to your first assignment and hence all praises to you. 3

They (the house-holders) continue distributing nourishment to the people, whilst (the priests) offer ample and sustaining presents to the guest, the sacred fire, who relishingly masticates (and thus consumes) the food offered by the patron. O resplendent Lord, this goes on according to your first assignment and hence all praises to you. 4

Indeed you make the earth visible in the celestial region, you set open the paths of the on-rushing streams of virtues. O destroyer of the dragon of evils, the learned priests exalt you with sacred hymns as people offer water to a thirsty horse. O resplendent Lord, this goes on according to your first assignment and hence all praises to you. 5

You give food and prosperity to the worshipper and you milk out dry and sweet corn from the wet plants. You grant riches to the priest. You are the sole sovereign of the whole world. O resplendent Lord, this goes on according to your first assignment and hence all praises to you. 6

यः पुष्पिणीश्च प्रस्वश्च धर्मणाधि दाने व्य१वनीरधारयः ।
यश्चासमा अजनो दिद्युतो दिव उरुरूर्वाँ अभितः सास्युक्थ्यः ॥७॥
यो नार्मरं सहवसुं निहन्तवे पृक्षाय च दासवेशाय चावहः ।
ऊर्जयन्त्या अपरिविष्टमास्यमुतैवाद्य पुरुकृत्सास्युक्थ्यः ॥८॥

yáḥ pushpíṇīṣ ca prasvàṣ ca dhármaṇā́dhi dā́ne vy ávánīr ádhārayaḥ | yáṣ cā́samā ájano didyúto divá urúr ūrvā́ñ abhítaḥ s. u. || 7 || yó nārmarám saháwasum níhantave prikshā́ya ca dāsáveṣāya cā́vahaḥ | ūrjáyantyā áparivishṭam āsyàm utaívā́dyá purukrit s. u. || 8 ||

शतं वा यस्य दश साकमाद्य एकस्य श्रुष्टौ यद्ध चोदमाविथ ।
अरज्जौ दस्यून्त्समुनब्दभीतये सुप्राव्यो अभवः सास्युक्थ्यः ॥९॥
विश्वेदनु रोधना अस्य पौंस्यं ददुरस्मै दधिरे कृत्नवे धनम् ।
षळस्तभ्ना विष्टिरः पञ्च संदृशः परि परो अभवः सास्युक्थ्यः ॥१०॥

ṣatám vā yásya dáṣa sākám ā́dya ékasya ṣrushṭaú yád dha codám ā́vitha | arajjaú dásyūn sám unab dabhī́taye suprāvyò abhavaḥ s. u. || 9 || víṣvéd ánu rodhanā́ asya paúṃsyam dadúr asmai dadhiré kritnáve dhánam | sháḷ astabhnā vishṭíraḥ páñca saṃdríṣaḥ pári paró abhavaḥ s. u. || 10 ||

॥१२॥ सुप्रवाचनं तव वीर वीर्यं१ यदेकेन क्रतुना विन्दसे वसु ।
जातूष्ठिरस्य प्र वयः सहस्वतो या चकर्थ सेन्द्र विश्वास्युक्थ्यः ॥११॥

supravācanáṃ táva vīra vīryàṃ yád ékena krátunā vindáse vásu | jātúshṭhirasya prá váyaḥ sáhasvato yá cakártha séndra víṣvāsy ukthyàḥ || 11 ||

You are the Lord who has by culture caused the flower and fruit plants to spread over the fields and also generated the various luminaries of the celestial region, and who has created the wide-stretched mountains; and hence all praises to you. 7

You are the one who without hesitation has violently crushed cruel men and along with them their rich treasures, with your sharpened thunder-bolt (the clear out punitive laws) for purposes of the defence of sacred possessions of the virtuous and for the destruction of evil forces, and hence all praises to you. 8

O resplendent Lord, you bind the undisciplined in a bond. You have the pleasure of being assisted by ten-hundred (1000) natural forces for the protection of the helpless one. You are the one by whom all are to be fed, and you are the protector of the worshipper. For the sake of your devotee, you have cast the evil forces into unfettered captivity. You alone are to be approached by all and hence all praises to you. 9

All obstacles yield to your manly strength, and all the virtuous lay before you, the victor, all their possessions. You are the door of mighty deeds and uphold the regions of the six extensions or cardinal points and offer protection to the five classes of men who look up to you and hence all praises to you. 10

The valour of yours is laudable, O hero, with your single effort you acquire all the wealth that you wish. You are powerful, and you accept the offerings of one who is firm in his devotion. Such are your multifarious performances, and as such, all praises to you. 11

अरमयः सरपसस्तराय कं तुर्वीतये च वय्याय च स्रुतिम् ।
नीचा सन्तमुदनयः परावृजं प्रान्धं श्रोणं श्रवयन्त्सास्युक्थ्यः ॥१२॥
अस्मभ्यं तद्वसो दानाय राधः समर्थयस्व बहु ते वसव्यम् ।
इन्द्र यच्चित्रं श्रवस्या अनु द्यून्बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१३॥

áramayaḥ sárapasas tárāya káṃ turvítaye ca vayyāya ca srutím | nīcā́ sántam úd anayaḥ parāvṛ́jam prā́ndhám ṣroṇáṃ ṣraváyan s. u. || 12 || asmábhyam tád vaso dānā́ya rā́dhaḥ sám arthayasva bahú te vasavyàm | índra yác citráṃ ṣravasyā́ ánu dyū́n bṛhád vadema v. s. || 13 ||

(१४) चतुर्दशं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ अध्वर्यवो भरतेन्द्राय सोममामत्रेभिः सिञ्चता मद्यमन्धः ।
कामी हि वीरः सदमस्य पीतिं जुहोत वृष्णे तदिदेष वष्टि ॥१॥
अध्वर्यवो यो अपो वव्रिवांसं वृत्रं जघानाशन्येव वृक्षम् ।
तस्मा एतं भरत तद्वशायँ एष इन्द्रो अर्हति पीतिमस्य ॥२॥

14.

Ádhvaryavo bháraténdrāya sómam ámatrebhiḥ siñcatā mádyam ándhaḥ | kāmí hí vīráḥ sádam asya pītíṃ juhóta vṛ́shṇe tád íd eshá vashṭi || 1 || ádhvaryavo yó apó vavrivā́ṅsaṃ vṛtrā́ṃ jaghā́nāṣányeva vṛkshám | tásmā etám bharata tadvaṣā́yaṅ eshá índro arhati pītím asya || 2 ||

You are the one who regulates the flowing waters for an easy crossing for the benefit of courageous and benevolent persons. You are also well-known for bringing up the forlorn or destitute who has been blind and crippled and cast down under the burden of miseries and lowlines of affliction; you are such, and hence all praises to you. 12

O resplendent Lord, may you set aside that treasure for a gift to us. Ample is your wealth. May you willingly and kindly grant us that wealth day by day. May we be endowed with brave sons and in your praise, sing out brilliant hymns in the congregation. 13

14

O presenters of offerings, sing your devotional songs to the resplendent Lord. Pour out the intense love of your heart before the Lord, for the sovereign Lord is always pleased to entertain your love. Offer Him with dedication as He always prefers you to do it. 1

O worshippers, sing your devotional songs to the resplendent Lord, who loves to hear them. He destroys the devil of ignorance which obstructs the path of virtuous thoughts as the lightning burns a tree. The resplendent Lord is worthy of the enjoyment of these laudations. 2

अध्वर्यवो यो दृभीकं जघान यो गा उदाजदप हि वलं वः ।
तस्मा एतमन्तरिक्षे न वातमिन्द्रं सोमैरोर्णुत जूर्न वस्त्रैः ॥३॥
अध्वर्यवो य उरणं जघान नव चख्वांसं नवतिं च बाहून् ।
यो अर्बुदमव नीचा बबाधे तमिन्द्रं सोमस्य भृथे हिनोत ॥४॥

ádhvaryavo yó dríbhīkaṃ jaghắna yó gắ udắjad ápa hí valáṃ váḥ | tásmā etám antárikshe ná vắtam índraṃ sómair órṇuta jū́r ná vástraiḥ || 3 || ádhvaryavo yá úraṇaṃ jaghắna náva cakhváṅsaṃ navatíṃ ca bāhū́n | yó árbudam áva nīcắ babādhé tám índraṃ sómasya bhṛithé hinota || 4 ||

अध्वर्यवो यः स्वश्नं जघान यः शुष्णमशुषं यो व्यंसम् ।
यः पिप्रुं नमुचिं यो रुधिक्रां तस्मा इन्द्रायान्धसो जुहोत ॥५॥
अध्वर्यवो यः शतं शम्बरस्य पुरो बिभेदाश्मनेव पूर्वीः ।
यो वर्चिनः शतमिन्द्रः सहस्रमपावपद्भरता सोममस्मै ॥६॥

ádhvaryavo yáḥ sv áṣnaṃ jaghắna yáḥ ṣúshṇam aṣúshaṃ yó vyàṅsam | yáḥ píprum námucim yó rudhikrắṃ tásmā índrāyắndhaso juhota || 5 || ádhvaryavo yáḥ ṣatáṃ ṣámbarasya púro bibhédắṣmaneva pūrvīḥ | yó varcínaḥ ṣatám índraḥ sahásram apávapad bhāratā sómam asmai || 6 ||

॥१४॥ अध्वर्यवो यः शतमा सहस्रं भूम्या उपस्थेऽवपज्जघन्वान् ।
कुत्सस्यायोरतिथिग्वस्य वीरान्न्यावृणग्भरता सोममस्मै ॥७॥
अध्वर्यवो यन्नरः कामयाध्वे श्रुष्टी वहन्तो नशथा तदिन्द्रे ।
गभस्तिपूतं भरत श्रुतायेन्द्राय सोमं यज्यवो जुहोत ॥८॥

ádhvaryavo yáḥ ṣatám ắ sahásram bhū́myā upásthé 'vapaj jaghanván | kútsasyāyór atithigvásya vīrấn ny ávṛiṇag bhāratā sómam asmai || 7 || ádhvaryavo yán naraḥ kāmáyādhve ṣrushṭí váhanto naṣathā tád índre | gábhastipūtam bharata ṣrutáyéndrāya sómaṃ yajyavo juhota || 8 ||

O worshippers, sing your devotional songs to the resplendent Lord, who destroys wild tendencies and who restores to us the lost wisdom and subdues passions. Sing profusely His praises and fill His heart with your love like the wind filling the firmament. Pour out your love and cover the Lord with it as a disabled and sick person covers himself with garments. 3

O worshippers, when our devotional songs are sung, may you invoke the resplendent Lord, who destroys the obstructive forces possessing ninety-nine arms, and cast the serpent-like dark forces down head-long. 4

O worshippers, pour out the delightful devotional songs to that resplendent Lord, who easily dispels obstinacy and exploitation; who subdues violence, ego, everclinging evils and obstacles. 5

O worshippers, sing your devotional songs to the resplendent Lord who, as if, with a stone batters hundreds of strong holds of law-breaking tendencies and who humbles down a hundred-thousand forces of blazing evils. 6

O worshippers, sing your devotional songs to that victorious Lord, who dispels and destroys and thus uproots hundreds and thousands of aggressors, and who humbles down the forces opposing the virtues of generosity, liveliness and hospitality. 7

O the leading worshippers, you obtain from the resplendent Lord whatever you desire when you bring your offerings willingly to Him. Sing the devotional songs and dedicate your sanctified actions and offer them to the adorable Lord, O priests. 8

अध्वर्यवः कर्तना श्रुष्टिमस्मै वने निपूतं वन उन्नयध्वम् ।
जुषाणो हस्त्यमभि वावशे व इन्द्राय सोमं मदिरं जुहोत ॥९॥
अध्वर्यवः पयसोधर्यथा गोः सोमेभिरीं पृणता भोजमिन्द्रम् ।
वेदाहमस्य निभृतं म एतद्दित्सन्तं भूयो यजतश्चिकेत ॥१०॥

ádhvar-yavaḥ kártanā srushṭím asmai vánc nípūtaṃ vána ún na-yadhvam | jushāṇó hástyam abhí vāvase va índrāya sómam
madiráṃ juhota || 9 || ádhvaryavaḥ páyasódhar yáthā góḥ
sómebhir īm priṇatā bhojám índram | védāhám asya níbhṛitam ma etád dítsantam bhū́yo yajatás ciketa || 10 ||

अध्वर्यवो यो दिव्यस्य वस्वो यः पार्थिवस्य क्षम्यस्य राजा ।
तमूर्दरं न पृणता यवेनेन्द्रं सोमेभिस्तदपो वो अस्तु ॥११॥
अस्मभ्यं तद्वसो दानाय राधः समर्थयस्व बहु ते वसव्यम् ।
इन्द्र यच्चित्रं श्रवस्या अनु द्यून्बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१२॥

ádhvaryavo yó divyásya vásvo yáḥ párthivasya kshámyasya rájā | tám ū́rdaraṃ ná priṇatā yávenéndraṃ sómebhis
tád ápo vo astu || 11 || asmábhyaṃ tád — || 12 ||

(१५) पञ्चदशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ प्र घा न्वस्य महतो महानि सत्या सत्यस्य करणानि वोचम् ।
त्रिकद्रुकेष्वपिबत्सुतस्यास्य मदे अहिमिन्द्रो जघान ॥१॥

15.

Prá ghā nv àsya maható maháni satyá satyásya káraṇāni vocam | tríkadrukeshv apibat sutásyāsyá máde áhim
índro jaghāna || 1 ||

O worshippers, just as medicinal offerings to a fire are crushed, washed with water and purified and lifted up in ladles, so may your devotional songs, free from malice and hatred, be offered to the resplendent Lord, who when well-pleased, gladly accepts it from your hands. 9

O worshippers, may you offer to the bountiful resplendent Lord your sweet devotional songs, like the udder of a cow getting filled with milk. May He liberally accept our devotions, so affectionately offered to Him, and may He say in acknowledgement, "I know him, I am sure of this, and I would surely give him more". 10

O worshippers, may you offer to the bountiful resplendent Lord, who is master of the treasures of heaven, mid-heaven and also of the earth. May you offer your songs so profusely as people fill the granary with corn. May such (pious) act be for your good. 11

O resplendent Lord, may you set aside that treasure for a gift to us. Ample is your wealth. May you willingly and kindly grant us that wealth day by day. May we be endowed with brave sons and in your praise sing out brilliant hymns in the congregation. 12

15

I proclaim the praise of the great and authentic deeds of the resplendent Lord, who is an embodiment of truth. In three regions He partakes of the divine bliss, and exhilarated by it, He destroys the serpentine devil of evils. 1

अवंशे द्यामस्तभायद्बृहन्तमा रोदसी अपृणदन्तरिक्षम् ।
स धारयत्पृथिवीं पप्रथच्च सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥२॥
सद्मेव प्राचो वि मिमाय मानैर्वज्रेण खान्यतृणन्नदीनाम् ।
वृथासृजत्पथिभिर्दीर्घयाथैः सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥३॥
स प्रवोळ्हॄन्परिगत्या दभीतेर्विश्वमधागायुधमिद्धे अग्नौ ।
सं गोभिरश्वैरसृजद्रथेभिः सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥४॥
स ईं महीं धुनिमेतोररम्णात्सो अस्नातॄनपारयत्स्वस्ति ।
त उत्स्नाय रयिमभि प्र तस्थुः सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥५॥

avaṅsé dyā́m astabhāyad brihántam ā́ ródasī aprinad antáriksham | sá dhārayad prithivī́m papráthac ca sómasya tā́ máda índraṣ cakāra || 2 || sádmeva prā́co ví mimāya mā́nair vájreṇa khā́ny atrinan nadī́nām | vrī́thāsrijat pathíbhir dīrghayāthaíḥ sómasya tā́ — || 3 || sá pravoḷhrī́n parigátyā dabhī́ter víṣvam adhāg ā́yudham iddhé agnaú | sám góbhir áṣvair asrijad ráthebhiḥ só⁰ || 4 || sá īm mahī́m dhúnim étor aramṇāt só asnātrī́n apārayat svastí | tá utsnā́ya rayím abhí prá tasthuḥ só⁰ || 5 ||

॥१६॥ सोदञ्चं सिन्धुमरिणान्महित्वा वज्रेणान उषसः सं पिपेष ।
अजवसो जविनीभिर्विवृश्चन्त्सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥६॥
स विद्वाँ अपगोहं कनीनामाविर्भवन्नुदतिष्ठत्परावृक् ।
प्रति श्रोणः स्थाद्व्यनगचष्ट सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥७॥

sódañcam síndhum ariṇān mahitvā́ vájreṇā́na ushásaḥ sám pipesha | ajaváso javínībhir vivriṣcán só⁰ || 6 || sá vidvā́m̐ apagohám kanī́nām āvír bhávann úd atishṭhat parāvrík | práti ṣroṇá sthād vy ànág acashṭa só⁰ || 7 ||

He establishes heaven in the supportless space. With His power, He fills the inter-space, heaven and earth (with His light). He has upheld and extended the wide earth. All this He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 2

Like buildings He has measured out the space (eastern and other quarters), and He has dug the beds of rivers with His adamantine bull-dozers, and has sent them forth by the long-continued paths. All this He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 3

Surrounding the malicious forces, which suppress the faculty of right discretion, He burns all the demonic weapons in the kindled fire and restores (the faculty), and enriches it with all its zeal, sustenance and motive power (cows, horses, and chariots). All this He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 4

The resplendent sun slows the velocity. He tranquillizes this great river of toil and turbulence, so that it might be crossed. He conveys across it in safety, those righteous persons who are unable to pass over it and who having crossed it proceed to realize the wealth they have been seeking. All this He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 5

With His strength, the resplendent Lord makes the rivers flow towards the north. He crushes the cart of the dawn with His adamantine radiance, scattering the tardy enemy of darkness with His swift forces. All this He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 6

The eclipsed sun of the divine enlightenment manifests himself and stands up high for revelling with the maiden glories. The crippled lame is enabled to stand upon his legs and the blind now begins to see. All this, He (the resplendent Lord) does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 7

भिनद्वलमङ्गिरोभिर्गृणानो वि पर्वतस्य दृंहितान्यैरत् ।
रिणग्रोधांसि कृत्रिमाण्येषां सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥८॥
स्वप्नेनाभ्युप्या चुमुरिं धुनिं च जघन्थ दस्युं प्र दभीतिमावः ।
रम्भी चिदत्र विविदे हिरण्यं सोमस्य ता मद इन्द्रश्चकार ॥९॥
नूनं सा ते प्रति वरं जरित्रे दुहीयदिन्द्र दक्षिणा मघोनी ।
शिक्षा स्तोतृभ्यो माति धग्भगो नो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१०॥

bhinád valám áñgirobhir griṇānó ví párvatasya driṅhitány airat | riṇág ródhāṅsi kritrímāṇy eshām só° || 8 || svápnenābhyúpyā cúmurim dhúnim ca jaghántha dásyum prá dabhítim āvaḥ | rambhí cid átra vivide híraṇyam só° || 9 || nūnám sā́ te práti — || 10 ||

(१६) षोडशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां जगती, (९) नवम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१७॥ प्र वः सतां ज्येष्ठतमाय सुष्टुतिमग्नाविव समिधाने हविर्भरे ।
इन्द्रमजुर्यं जरयन्तमुक्षितं सनाद्युवानमवसे हवामहे ॥१॥
यस्मादिन्द्राद्बृहतः किं चनेमृते विश्वान्यस्मिन्त्संभृताधि वीर्या ।
जठरे सोमं तन्वी३ सहो महो हस्ते वज्रं भरति शीर्षणि क्रतुम् ॥२॥

16.

Prá vaḥ satā́m jyéshṭhatamāya sushṭutím agnáv iva samidhāné havír bhare | índram ajuryám jaráyantam ukshitám sanā́d yúvānam ávase havāmahe || 1 || yásmād índrād brihatáḥ kím caném rité víśvāny asmin sámbhritā́dhi vīryā̀ | jaṭháre sómam tanvì sáho máho háste vájram bhárati śīrsháṇi krátum || 2 ||

Well pleased with the fire-priests, the resplendent Lord dispels dismal darkness. He breaks open the strong gates of the mountain. He casts away the artificial walls of the dark fortresses of evil. All this, He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 8

Having laid laziness and timidity low through sleep, the resplendent Self slays them and preserves the faculty of discretion. His chamberlain, the mind, in this contest finds the golden treasure. All this He does in the ecstasy of His benign bliss. 9

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshippers. May not your grace keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly at this sacred assembly and be blessed with worthy descendents. 10

16

For your protection, O worshippers, I offer an excellent hymn to the resplendent Lord, the best amongst holies, in the same way as an oblation is offered to the kindled ceremonial fire. We invoke, for our protection, that Lord who is ever-youthful, eternal, invincible and powerful destroyer of the evil. 1

All prowess is centred within that mighty resplendent Lord, without whom this world were nothing. He is the embodiment of the benign bliss, carries great strength and energy in His body, bears adamantine forces in His hands and wisdom in His head. 2

न क्षोणीभ्यां परिभ्वे त इन्द्रियं न समुद्रैः पर्वतैरिन्द्र ते रथः ।
न ते वज्रमन्वश्नोति कश्चन यदाशुभिः पतसि योजना पुरु ॥३॥
विश्वे ह्यस्मै यजताय धृष्णवे क्रतुं भरन्ति वृषभाय सश्चते ।
वृषा यजस्व हविषा विदुष्टरः पिबेन्द्र सोमं वृषभेण भानुना ॥४॥

ná kshoṇíbhyām paribhvè ta indriyáṃ ná samudraíḥ párvatair indra te ráthaḥ | ná te vájram ánv aṣnoti káṣ caná yád āṣúbhiḥ pátasi yójanā purú || 3 || víṣve hy àsmai yajatáya dhṛishṇáve krátum bháranti vṛishabháya sáṣcate | vṛ́shā yajasva havíshā vidúshṭaraḥ píbendra sómaṃ vṛishabhéṇa bhānúnā || 4 ||

वृष्णः कोशः पवते मध्व ऊर्मिर्वृषभान्नाय वृषभाय पातवे ।
वृषणाध्वर्यू वृषभासो अद्रयो वृषणं सोमं वृषभाय सुष्वति ॥५॥

vṛ́shṇaḥ kóṣaḥ pavate mádhva ūrmír vṛishabhánnāya vṛishabháya pắtave | vṛ́shaṇādhvaryū́ vṛishabháso ádrayo vṛ́shaṇaṃ sómaṃ vṛishabháya sushvati || 5 ||

॥१८॥ वृषा ते वज्र उत ते वृषा रथो वृषणा हरी वृषभाण्यायुधा ।
वृष्णो मदस्य वृषभ त्वमीशिष इन्द्र सोमस्य वृषभस्य तृप्णुहि ॥६॥
प्र ते नावं न समने वचस्युवं ब्रह्मणा यामि सवनेषु दाधृषिः ।
कुविन्नो अस्य वचसो निबोधिषदिन्द्रमुत्सं न वसुनः सिचामहे ॥७॥

vṛ́shā te vájra utá te vṛ́shā rátho vṛ́shaṇā hárī vṛishabhắṇy ắyudhā | vṛ́shṇo mádasya vṛishabha tvám īṣisha índra sómasya vṛishabhásya tṛipṇuhi || 6 || prá te nắvaṃ ná sámane vacasyúvam bráhmaṇā yāmi sávaneshu dádhṛishiḥ | kuvín no asyá vácaso nibódhishad índram útsaṃ ná vásunaḥ sicāmahe || 7 ||

O resplendent Lord, your might is not over-come by heaven and earth and when you traverse many leagues with speed, your chariot is not stopped by oceans and mountains, and nobody can escape from your laws of punitive justice. 3

All devotees offer worship to this hero, the resplendent Lord, who is adorable, powerful, munificient and ready to help. You, wise and liberal, are expected to worship this Lord with oblations. May you, resplendent Lord, showerer of blessings, accept our devotional songs with compassion and affection. 4

(From the heart of the devotees) the stream of devotional emotions, strength-giving and sweet, is flowing towards the resplendent Lord, who would gladly accept it with his affectionate response. May these emotions be expressed out of our heart in the same way as the two priests (a priest with his assistant) express the juice out of the invigorating medicinal herbs with the help of strong pressing stones. 5

Shower of bounties is your adamantine weapon and shower of blessings is your chariot; and so are your horses and armoury. You are the Lord of the spiritual happiness. May you enjoy to your satisfaction your own benign bliss. 6

I sing forth to you an eloquent hymn on my success in this struggle of life carrying me across like a boat. I approach you being bold, with a hymn of prayers for your acceptance and appreciation. We pour out libations to the resplendent Lord, who is a receptacle of treasure as a well is of water. 7

पुरा संबाधादभ्या ववृत्स्व नो धेनुर्न वत्सं यवसस्य पिप्युषी ।
सकृत्सु ते सुमतिभिः शतक्रतो सं पत्नीभिर्न वृषणो नसीमहि ॥८॥
नूनं सा ते प्रति वरं जरित्रे दुहीयदिन्द्र दक्षिणा मघोनी ।
शिक्षा स्तोतृभ्यो माति धग्भगो नो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥९॥

purá sambādhád abhy á vavṛitsva no dhenúr ná vatsáṃ yávasasya pipyúshī | sakṛít sú te sumatíbhiḥ ṣatakrato sám pátnībhir ná vṛíshaṇo nasīmahi || 8 || nūnáṃ sá — || 9 ||

(१७) सप्तदशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-७) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चां जगती, (८-९) अष्टमीनवम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥ तदस्मै नव्यमङ्गिरस्वदर्चत शुष्मा यदस्य प्रत्नथोदीरते ।
विश्वा यद्गोत्रा सहसा परीवृता मदे सोमस्य दृंहितान्यैरयत् ॥१॥
स भूतु यो ह प्रथमाय धायस ओजो मिमानो महिमानमातिरत् ।
शूरो यो युत्सु तन्वं परिव्यत शीर्षणि द्यां महिना प्रत्यमुञ्चत ॥२॥
अधाकृणोः प्रथमं वीर्यं महद्यदस्याग्रे ब्रह्मणा शुष्ममैरयः ।
रथेष्ठेन हर्यश्वेन विच्युताः प्र जीरयः सिस्रते सध्र्यक् पृथक् ॥३॥

17.

Tád asmai návyam aṅgirasvád arcata ṣúshmā yád asya pratnáthodírate | víṣvā yád gotrá sáhasā párīvṛitā máde sómasya dṛiṅhitány aírayat || 1 || sá bhūtu yó ha prathamáya dháyasa ójo mímāno mahimánam átirat | ṣúro yó yutsú tanvàm parivyáta ṣīrsháṇi dyám mahiná práty amuñcata || 2 || ádhākṛiṇoḥ prathamáṃ vīryàm mahád yád asyágre bráhmaṇā ṣúshmam aírayaḥ | ratheshṭhéna háryaṣvena vícyutāḥ prá jīráyaḥ sisrate sadhryàk príthak || 3 ||

May you conduct us to safety before the calamity comes, as a cow grazing in a meadow leads her calf (out of peril). O performer of hundreds of selfless actions, may we well receive your favours, as wives receive their loving husbands. 8

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshippers. May not your grace keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly at this sacred assembly and be blessed with worthy descendents. 9

17

Like the fire-priests, sing a new hymn in honour of Him who has been maintaining His energies as such from immemorial times, and who breaks open with His strength all the hurdles and obstacles under the ecstasy of His divine bliss. 1

May that resplendent Lord be exalted, who manifesting His glory exhibits His might in His ecstasy of divine bliss and who stands self-defended in combats, and who by His greatness sustains the heaven, as if, on His head. 2

That great prowess you have displayed first to the worshipper in his presence, and when he sees you approaching, seated, as if, on a solar chariot, his evil thoughts of once are hurled down, get scattered and finally disappear by the spell of the prayerful hymns. 3

अधा यो विश्वा भुवनाभि मज्मनेशानकृत्प्रवया अभ्यवर्धत ।
आद्रोदसी ज्योतिषा वह्निरातनोत्सीव्यन्तमांसि दुधिता समव्ययत् ॥४॥
स प्राचीनान्पर्वतान्दृंहदोजसाधराचीनमकृणोदपामपः ।
अधारयत्पृथिवीं विश्वधायसमस्तभ्नान्मायया द्यामवस्रसः ॥५॥

ádhā yó víṣvā bhúvanābhí majmáneṣānakrít právayā abhy ávardhata | ấd ródasī jyótishā váhnir ấtanot sívyan támāṅsi dúdhitā sám avyayat || 4 || sá prācínān párvatān driṅhad ójasādharācínam akriṇod apā́m ápaḥ | ádhārayat prithivíṃ viṣvádhāyasam ástabhnān māyáyā dyā́m avasrásaḥ || 5 ||

॥२०॥ सास्मा अरं बाहुभ्यां यं पिताकृणोद्विश्वस्मादा जनुषो वेदसस्परि ।
येना पृथिव्यां नि क्रिविं शयध्यै वज्रेण हत्व्यवृणक्तुविष्वणिः ॥६॥
अमाजूरिव पित्रोः सचा सती समानादा सदसस्त्वामिये भगम् ।
कृधि प्रकेतमुप मास्या भर दद्धि भागं तन्वो३ येन मामहः ॥७॥

sā́smā áram bāhúbhyāṃ yám pitā́kriṇod víṣvasmād ā́ janúsho védasas pári | yénā prithivyā́ṃ ní krívim ṣayádhyai vájreṇa hatvy ávriṇak tuvishváṇiḥ || 6 || amājū́r iva pitróḥ sácā satí samānā́d ā́ sádasas tvā́m iye bhágam | kridhí praketám úpa māsy ā́ bhara daddhí bhāgáṃ tanvò yéna māmáhaḥ || 7 ||

भोजं त्वामिन्द्र वयं हुवेम ददिष्ट्वमिन्द्रापांसि वाजान् ।
अविड्ढीन्द्र चित्रया न ऊती कृधि वृषन्निन्द्र वस्यसो नः ॥८॥
नूनं सा ते प्रति वरं जरित्रे दुहीयदिन्द्र दक्षिणा मघोनी ।
शिक्षा स्तोतृभ्यो माति धग्भगो नो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥९॥

bhojáṃ tvā́m indra vayáṃ huvema dadísh ṭvám indrā́pāṅsi vā́jān | aviḍḍhī́ndra citráyā na ūtí kridhí vrishann indra vásyaso naḥ || 8 || nūnáṃ sā́ — || 9 ||

He (the resplendent) with His prowess, supremacy and sovereignty maintains a control over all the worlds. He sustains earth and heaven with His effulgent light, and scattering the malignant gloom and darkness, He pervades the entirety. 4

He with His might makes firm the shaky and unstable mountains. He channels downwards the course of the waters. He controls the earth that nourishes us all, and with His skill, stays the heaven from falling. 5

Quite powerful is He for the protection of this world, of which He is the sole defender, and which He has fabricated with His own prowess for the sake of mankind, and over whom He is supreme by His wisdom. He also with His thunder, strikes the malicious with His adamantine forces, and consigns them to eternal sleep on the earth. 6

I pray you for good fortune, as a maiden that remains unmarried and grows old in the house of her parents and prays to get a husband. May you give us the inner vision by which we become prosperous and bodily strong. By these blessings, you have been honouring your worshippers. 7

Let us invoke you, O bounteous resplendent Leader. You are the giver of works (opportunities) and foods. May you help us, O leader, with manifold assistance, affluence, and happiness. 8

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshipper. May not your grace keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly at the sacred assembly and be blessed with worthy descendents. 9

(१८) अष्टादशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२१॥ प्राता रथो नवो योजि सस्निश्चतुर्युगस्त्रिकशः सप्तरश्मिः ।
दशारित्रो मनुष्यः स्वर्षाः स इष्टिभिर्मतिभी रंह्यो भूत् ॥१॥
सास्मा अरं प्रथमं स द्वितीयमुतो तृतीयं मनुषः स होता ।
अन्यस्या गर्भमन्य ऊं जनन्त सो अन्येभिः सचते जेन्यो वृषा ॥२॥

18.

Prātā rátho návo yoji sásnis cáturyugas trikaṣáḥ saptáraṣmiḥ | dáṣāritro manushyàḥ svarshā́ḥ sá ishṭíbhir matíbhī ráṅhyo bhūt || 1 || sā́smā áram prathamáṃ sá dvitíyam utó tṛitíyam mánushaḥ sá hótā | anyásyā gárbham anyá ū jananta só anyébhiḥ sacate jényo vṛíshā || 2 ||

हरी नु कं रथ इन्द्रस्य योजमायै सूक्तेन वचसा नवेन ।
मो षु त्वामत्र बहवो हि विप्रा नि रीरमन्यजमानासो अन्ये ॥३॥

hárī nú kaṃ rátha índrasya yojam āyaí sūkténa vácasā návena | mó shú tvā́m átra baháve hí víprā ní rīraman yájamānāso anyé || 3 ||

आ द्वाभ्यां हरिभ्यामिन्द्र याह्या चतुर्भिरा षड्भिर्हूयमानः ।
आष्टाभिर्दशभिः सोमपेयमयं सुतः सुमख मा मृधस्कः ॥४॥
आ विंशत्या त्रिंशता याह्यर्वाङा चत्वारिंशता हरिभिर्युजानः ।
आ पञ्चाशता सुरथेभिरिन्द्रा षष्ट्या सप्तत्या सोमपेयम् ॥५॥

á dvā́bhyāṃ háribhyām indra yāhy ā́ catúrbhir ā́ shaḍbhír hūyámānaḥ | ā́shṭābhír daṣábhiḥ somapéyam ayáṃ sutáḥ sumakha mā́ mṛídhas kaḥ || 4 || ā́ viṅṣatyā́ triṅṣátā yāhy arvā́ṅ ā́ catvāriṅṣátā háribhir yujānáḥ | ā́ pañcāṣátā surátbebhir indrā́ shashṭyā́ saptatyā́ somapéyam || 5 ||

18

In the morning the new and splendid chariot is harnessed, furnished with four yokes, three whips, seven reins, ten wheels, beneficial to mankind. May it confer happiness and be sanctified with solemn ceremonies and praises. (The verse indicates the chariot of the sun, the chariot of human body and the sacrifice). 1

That (chariot) is worthy of the resplendent sun, the great beneficiaries of mankind, to carry him through the first, the second, and even the third. The embryo of one is hatched by someone else. He goes as a noble bull. The victorious (chariot of the sun) the showerer of benefits, coordinates with the movements of other heavenly bodies. (The sun measures the universe in three steps; first step, at the morning rise, the second at the midnoon, zenith, and third at the evening setting). 2

May I now harness by means of a well-chanted new hymn the tawny horses of the sun's brilliant chariot, so that he (the resplendent sun) continues to proceed on his journey. Amongst us here are many worthy poets and priests. Beware of other institutors of sacred rites, lest they tempt you away. 3

O resplendent sun, the performer of the cosmic sacrifice, may you being invoked, come on a chariot driven by two, by four, by six, by eight or ten horses; may you come to accept precious offerings of cosmic saps, but do not scorch us to the extreme. 4

Come hither yoking your chariot with twenty, thirty, forty, fifty, sixty or seventy horses, O resplendent sun, to accept the cosmic saps. 5

॥२२॥ आशीत्या नवत्या याह्यर्वाङा शतेन हरिभिरुह्यमानः ।
अयं हि ते शुनहोत्रेषु सोम इन्द्र त्वाया परिषिक्तो मदाय ॥६॥
मम ब्रह्मेन्द्र याह्यच्छा विश्वा हरी धुरि धिष्वा रथस्य ।
पुरुत्रा हि विहव्यो बभूथास्मिञ्छूर सवने मादयस्व ॥७॥
न म इन्द्रेण सख्यं वि योषदस्मभ्यमस्य दक्षिणा दुहीत ।
उप ज्येष्ठे वरूथे गभस्तौ प्रायेप्राये जिगीवांसः स्याम ॥८॥
नूनं सा ते प्रति वरं जरित्रे दुहीयदिन्द्र दक्षिणा मघोनी ।
शिक्षा स्तोतृभ्यो माति धग्भगो नो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥९॥

áṣītyá navatyá yāhy arvāñ á ṣaténa háribhir uhyámānaḥ | ayám hí te ṣunáhotreshu sóma índra tvāyá párishikto mádāya || 6 || máma bráhmendra yāhy áchā víṣvā hárī dhurí dhishvā ráthasya | purutrá hí viháyvo babhúthāsmíñ chūra sávane mādayasva || 7 || ná ma índreṇa sakhyám ví yoshad asmábhyam asya dákshiṇā duhīta | úpa jyéshṭhe várūthe gábhastau prāyé-prāye jigīvāńsaḥ syāma || 8 || nūnám sá — || 9 ||

(१९.) एकोनविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ अपाय्यस्यान्धसो मदाय मनीषिणः सुवानस्य प्रयसः ।
यस्मिन्निन्द्रः प्रदिवि वावृधान ओको दधे ब्रह्मण्यन्तश्च नरः ॥१॥
अस्य मन्दानो मध्वो वज्रहस्तोऽहिमिन्द्रो अर्णोवृतं वि वृश्चत् ।
प्र यद्वयो न स्वसराण्यच्छा प्रयांसि च नदीनां चक्रमन्त ॥२॥

19.

Ápāyy asyándhaso mádāya mánīshiṇaḥ suvānásya práyasaḥ | yásminn índraḥ pradívi vāvṛidhāná óko dadhé brahmaṇyántaṣ ca náraḥ || 1 || asyá mandānó mádhvo vájrahastó 'him índro arṇovṛítam ví vṛiṣcat | prá yád váyo ná svásarāṇy áchā práyāńsi ca nadī́nām cákramanta || 2 ||

Come hither, O resplendent sun, yoking your chariot with eighty, ninety or even a hundred horses. The cosmic sap has been poured out to you in delightful containers (that is, in Nature's wide spread beauty) for your exultation. 6

Come towards my prayer, O resplendent sun, may you yoke both your horses to the pole of your chariot. You have indeed been the object of glorification by many, but may you rejoice yourself in these celebrations. 7

Never may our appreciation of the resplendent sun be diminished. May his bounties continue to flow towards us. May we, under the excellent protection of his arm, be victorious in every struggle. 8

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshippers. May not your grace keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly and be blessed with worthy descendents. 9

19

O wise men of learning, the worshipper has offered the libation of exhilarating spiritual bliss to the growing resplendent self (the soul), dwelling in the abode of enlightenment, which he relishes. 1

Exhilarated by this sweet spiritual bliss, the resplendent self, arming himself with the adamantine determination, controls the venomous evil tendencies, and the delicious streams of river of this bliss begin to flow as birds towards their nests. 2

स माहिन इन्द्रो अर्णो अपां प्रैरयदहिहाच्छा समुद्रम् ।
अजनयत्सूर्यं विदद्गा अक्तुनाह्नां वयुनानि साधत् ॥३॥
सो अप्रतीनि मनवे पुरूणीन्द्रो दाशद्दाशुषे हन्ति वृत्रम् ।
सद्यो यो नृभ्यो अतसाय्यो भूत्पस्पृधानेभ्यः सूर्यस्य सातौ ॥४॥
स सुन्वत इन्द्रः सूर्यमा देवो रिणङ्मर्त्याय स्तवान् ।
आ यद्रयिं गुहदवद्यमस्मै भरदंशं नैतशो दशस्यन् ॥५॥

sá mâhina índro árṇo apấm praírayad ahihấchā samudrám | ájanayat sū́ryaṃ vidád gấ aktúnấhnāṃ vayúnāni sādhat || 3 || só apratíni mánave purū́ṇíndro dāṣad dāṣúshe hánti vṛitrám | sadyó yó nṛíbhyo atasấyyo bhū́t paspṛidhānébhyaḥ sū́ryasya sātaú || 4 || sá sunvatá índraḥ sū́ryam ấ devó riṇaṅ mártyāya stavā́n | ấ yád rayíṃ guhádavadyam asmai bhárad áṅṣaṃ naítaṣo daṣasyán || 5 ||

॥२५॥ स रन्धयत्सदिवः सारथये शुष्णमशुषं कुयवं कुत्साय ।
दिवोदासाय नवतिं च नवेन्द्रः पुरो व्यैरच्छम्बरस्य ॥६॥
एवा त इन्द्रोचथमहेम श्रवस्या न त्मना वाजयन्तः ।
अश्याम तत्साप्तमाशुषाणा ननमो वधरदेवस्य पीयोः ॥७॥
एवा ते गृत्समदाः शूर मन्मावस्यवो न वयुनानि तक्षुः ।
ब्रह्मण्यन्त इन्द्र ते नवीय इषमूर्जं सुक्षितिं सुम्नमश्युः ॥८॥
नूनं सा ते प्रति वरं जरित्रे दुहीयदिन्द्र दक्षिणा मघोनी ।
शिक्षा स्तोतृभ्यो माति धग्भगो नो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥९॥

sá randhayat sadívaḥ sấrathaye ṣúshṇam aṣúshaṃ kúyavaṃ kútsāya | dívodāsāya navatíṃ ca návéndraḥ púro vy aìrac chámbarasya || 6 || evấ ta indrocátham ahema ṣravasyấ ná tmánā vājáyantaḥ | aṣyấma tát sáptam āṣushāṇấ nanámo vádhar ádevasya pīyóḥ || 7 || evấ te gṛitsamadấḥ ṣū́ra mánmāvasyávo ná vayúnāni takshuḥ | brahmaṇyánta indra te návīya ísham ū́rjaṃ sukshitíṃ sumnám aṣyuḥ || 8 || nūnáṃ sá — || 9 ||

That mighty resplendent self, the destroyer of the demon of evils, sends forth the stream of thoughts towards God; thereon he illumines the intellect, and discovers the cows of wisdom, and further accomplishes the day to day duties of life. 3

That resplendent self gives many matchless rewards to the presentor of libations and destroys the nescience for all of them, who vie with each other for the attainment of the sun of enlightenment. 4

The praiseworthy resplendent self unveils the sun of spiritual radiance for the benefit of the mortal, and provides to the munificient learned seer, mysterious and inestimable riches, as (a father gives to his son his) due share. 5

He, the resplendent self, for the benefit of the mind, the charioteer, destroys the demons of pettiness, greed, and malice; and for the devotees of the enlightened, demolishes the ninety-nine cities of the demon of violence. 6

Thus, O resplendent Lord, we address you our praise with a desire of procuring sustenance and vigour from you; may we have the privilege of your friendship. You always make the violent weapons of the infidel adversary ineffective. 7

O brave resplendent Lord, the blissful sages, seeking your favour, worship you, and sing your glory, May they, the pious, obtain food, strength, habitations, and felicity, from you. 8

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshippers. May not your grace keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly and be blessed with worthy descendents. 9

(२०) विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः। इन्द्रो देवता। (१-२, ४-९) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थ्यादिनृचद्वयस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, (३) तृतीयायाश्च विराड्रूपा छन्दसी ॥

॥२५॥ वयं ते वय इन्द्र विद्धि षु णः प्र भरामहे वाजयुर्न रथम्।
विपन्यवो दीध्यतो मनीषा सुम्नमियक्षन्तस्त्वावतो नॄन् ॥१॥
त्वं न इन्द्र त्वाभिरूती त्वायतो अभिष्टिपासि जनान्।
त्वमिनो दाशुषो वरूतेत्थाधीरभि यो नक्षति त्वा ॥२॥

20.

Vayáṃ te váya indra viddhí shú ṇaḥ prá bharāmahe vājayúr ná rátham | vipanyávo dídhyato manīshá sumnám íyakshantas tvávato nṝ́n || 1 || tváṃ na indra tvábhir ūtí tvāyató abhishṭipási jánān | tvám inó dāṣúsho varūtétthádhīr abhí yó nákshati tvā || 2 ||

स नो युवेन्द्रो जोहूत्रः सखा शिवो नरामस्तु पाता।
यः शंसन्तं यः शशमानमूती पचन्तं च स्तुवन्तं च प्रणेषत् ॥३॥
तमु स्तुष इन्द्रं तं गृणीषे यस्मिन्पुरा वावृधुः शाशदुश्च।
स वस्वः कामं पीपरदियानो ब्रह्मण्यतो नूतनस्यायोः ॥४॥
सो अङ्गिरसामुचथा जुजुष्वान्ब्रह्मा तूतोदिन्द्रो गातुमिष्णन्।
मुष्णन्नुषसः सूर्येण स्तवानश्नस्य चिच्छिश्नथत्पूर्व्याणि ॥५॥

sá no yúvéndro johū́traḥ sákhā ṣivó narám astu pātá | yáḥ ṣáñsantaṃ yáḥ ṣaṣamānám ūtí pácantaṃ ca stuvántaṃ ca praṇéshat || 3 || tám u stusha índraṃ táṃ gṛiṇīshe yásmin purá vāvṛidhúḥ ṣāṣadúṣ ca | sá vásvaḥ kámam pīparad iyānó brahmaṇyató nū́tanasyāyóḥ || 4 || só áñgirasām ucáthā jujushván bráhmā tūtod índro gātúm ishṇán | mushṇánn ushásaḥ sū́ryeṇa staván áṣṇasya cic chiṣnathat pūrvyáṇi || 5 ||

20

We bring, O resplendent Lord, this offering to you, as one desirous of obtaining food brings his waggon. We are well-skilled in devotional song, and enlightened with wisdom, and we seek great bliss from you, the benefactor of people. 1

You are our own with all your aids, and a guardian to our men, who are loyal to you, O resplendent Lord. You are rich in affluence and the protector of your devotees, who approach you with sincerity. 2

May that resplendent Lord be the saviour of our people. He is ever-young and a beneficent friend deserving to be invoked. He offers his protection to that admirer who implores, toils, collects offerings, and Him who praises. 3

May I praise our resplendent Lord; I indeed admire him, from whom since ancient days, the priests have been deriving their strength and amazing power. May He, being approached, fulfil the desire for wealth of this present day young person who is composing hymns for Him. 4

That resplendent Lord, gladly accepting the songs of energetic pious men, makes their prayers effectual and effective, forging out a way for them. He batters down the strongholds of malicious enemies as the sun snatches away the light from dawns. 5

॥२६॥ स ह श्रुत इन्द्रो नाम देव ऊर्ध्वो भुवन्मनुषे दस्मतमः ।
अव प्रियमर्शसानस्य साह्वाञ्छिरो भरद्दासस्य स्वधावान् ॥६॥
स वृत्रहेन्द्रः कृष्णयोनीः पुरन्दरो दासीरैरयद्वि ।
अजनयन्मनवे क्षामपश्च सत्रा शंसं यजमानस्य तूतोत् ॥७॥

sá ha śrutá índro náma devá ūrdhvó bhuvan mánushe dasmátamaḥ | áva priyám arṣasānásya sāhvāñ chíro bharad dāsásya svadhávān || 6 || sá vṛitrahéndraḥ kṛishṇáyonīḥ puraṃdaró dásīr airayad ví | ájanayan mánave kshám apáṣ ca satrá ṣáṅsaṃ yájamānasya tūtot || 7 ||

तस्मै तवस्यमनु दायि सत्रेन्द्राय देवेभिरर्णसातौ ।
प्रति यदस्य वज्रं बाह्वोर्धुर्हत्वी दस्यून्पुर आयसीर्नि तारीत् ॥८॥
नूनं सा ते प्रति वरं जरित्रे दुहीयदिन्द्र दक्षिणा मघोनी ।
शिक्षा स्तोतृभ्यो माति धग्भगो नो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥९॥

tásmai tavasyàm ánu dāyi satréndrāya devébhir árṇasātau | práti yád asya vájram bāhvór dhúr hatví dásyūn púra áyasīr ní tārīt || 8 || nūnáṃ sá — || 9 ||

(२१) एकविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां जगती, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२७॥ विश्वजिते धनजिते स्वर्जिते सत्राजिते नृजित उर्वराजिते ।
अश्वजिते गोजिते अब्जिते भरेन्द्राय सोमं यजताय हर्यतम् ॥१॥

21.

Viṣvajíte dhanajíte svarjíte satrājíte nṛijíta urvarājíte | aṣvajíte gojíte abjíte bharéndrāya sómaṃ yajatáya haryatám || 1 ||

May that resplendent and victorious Lord stand up ready to act as the greatest wonder-worker for man. May the self-reliant mighty leader cast down the head of the mischievous disloyal man after overpowering him. 6

May that resplendent Lord, the killer of the enemies, the scatterer of dark clouds of evils, and the breaker of strongholds of foes batters the cities of infidels. He makes land fertile and provides irrigation to the fields. He surely makes the efforts of the worshippers effectual. 7

In the tumult of the conflict, all Nature's forces concede every bit of theirs to the supreme power of the resplendent Lord for the shower of happiness and prosperity. When they place the best of the adamantine weapons in His command, He smashes down the iron forts of the malacious, and kills them. 8

May your liberality in granting wisdom be shown to your singer. May you bestow vitality to your worshippers. May not your grace keep us out of reward. May we sing your glory loudly and be blessed with worthy descendents. 9

21

May you express sweet devotional prayers to the resplendent Lord who conquers all, who is the Lord of wealth and happiness, and Lord of time and space. He is the Lord of men and Lord of earth, Lord of horses, Lord of cattle and the Lord of waters. 1

अभिभुवेऽभिभङ्गाय वन्वतेऽषाळ्हाय सहमानाय वेधसे ।
तुविग्रये वह्नये दुष्टरीतवे सत्रासाहे नम इन्द्राय वोचत ॥२॥

abhibhúve 'bhibhaṅgáya vanvaté 'shāḷhāya sáhamānāya vedháse | tuvigráye váhnaye dushṭárītave satrāsáhe náma índrāya vocata || 2 ||

सत्रासाहो जनभक्षो जनंसहश्च्यवनो युध्मो अनु जोषमुक्षितः ।
वृतंचयः सहुरिर्विक्ष्वारित इन्द्रस्य वोचं प्र कृतानि वीर्या ॥३॥

satrāsāhó janabhakshó janaṃsaháś cyávano yudhmó ánu jósham ukshitáḥ | vritaṃcayáḥ sáhurir vikshv āritá índrasya vocam prá kritáni vīryā̀ ||3||

अनानुदो वृषभो दोधतो वधो गम्भीर ऋष्वो असमष्टकाव्यः ।
रध्रचोदः श्नथनो वीळितस्पृथुरिन्द्रः सुयज्ञ उषसः स्वर्जनत् ॥४॥

anānudó vrishabhó dódhato vadhó gambhīrá rishvó ásamashṭakāvyaḥ | radhracodáḥ snáthano viḷitás prithúr índraḥ suyajñá ushásaḥ svàr janat || 4 ||

यज्ञेन गातुमप्तुरो विविद्रिरे धियो हिन्वाना उशिजो मनीषिणः ।
अभिस्वरा निषदा गा अवस्यव इन्द्रे हिन्वाना द्रविणान्याशत ॥५॥
इन्द्र श्रेष्ठानि द्रविणानि धेहि चित्तिं दक्षस्य सुभगत्वमस्मे ।
पोषं रयीणामरिष्टिं तनूनां स्वाद्मानं वाचः सुदिनत्वमह्नाम् ॥६॥

yajñéna gātúm aptúro vividrire dhíyo hinvānā́ usíjo manīshíṇaḥ | abhisvárā nishádā gá avasyáva índre hinvānā́ dráviṇāny āsata ||5|| índra śréshṭhāni dráviṇāni dhehi cíttiṃ dákshasya subhagatvám asmé | pósham rayīṇā́m árishṭiṃ tanū́nāṃ svādmā́naṃ vācáḥ sudinatvám áhnām || 6 ||

May you offer your reverential prayers to the resplendent Lord, who is overpowering, ever-conquering, the munificient, the invincible, the all-enduring, all-wise, all-adorable, the sustainer, the unassailable, and the ever-victorious. 2

He is ever victorious and supreme benefactor of man. He overthrows the braggart, and casts down the foes; He is a fighter. He is praised amongst men as a victorious scatterer of enemy, and is gratified by our devotions. May I proclaim the achievements and the mighty accomplishments of the resplendent Lord. 3

The resplendent Lord is unequalled in liberality, the showerer of benefits, the irresistible hero, the destroyer of the mischievous, profound and endowed with imperetrable sagacity, an inspirer of the timid, a powerful and all-round smasher of foes. He, with his benevolent nobility, is the primal source of the pleasing light of the dawn. 4

The aspirants of gratifications, sending their prayers to Him, the thought provoker, are led to the right path by worship, and thence they conquer calamities. Seeking His favour and sending their invocations and prayers to the resplendent Lord, they enjoy riches. 5

O resplendent Lord, bless us with the best of treasures, the spirit of ability and fortune. May we obtain from you an abundance of wealth, security of person, sweetness of speech and auspiciousness of days. 6

(२२) द्वाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चो अष्टिः, (२-४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य चातिशक्वरी, (४) चतुर्थ्या अष्टिर्वा छन्दांसि ॥

॥२८॥ त्रिकद्रुकेषु महिषो यवाशिरं तुविशुष्मस्तृपत्सोममपिबद्विष्णुना सुतं यथावशत् ।
स ईं ममाद महि कर्म कर्तवे महामुरुं सैनं सश्चद्देवो देवं सत्यमिन्द्रं सत्य इन्दुः ॥१॥

22.

Tríkadrukeshu mahishó yavāṣiram tuvishúshmas tripát sómam apibad vishṇunā sutáṃ yáthāvaṣat | sá īm mamāda máhi kárma kártave mahā́m urúṃ saínaṃ saṣcad devó deváṃ satyám índraṃ satyá índuḥ || 1 ||

अध त्विषीमाँ अभ्योजसा क्रिविं युधाभवदा रोदसी अपृणदस्य मज्मना प्र वावृधे ।
अधत्तान्यं जठरे प्रेमरिच्यत सैनं सश्चद्देवो देवं सत्यमिन्द्रं सत्य इन्दुः ॥२॥

ádha tvíshīmā̃ abhy ójasā kríviṃ yudhā́bhavad ā́ ródasī apriṇad asya majmánā prá vāvṛidhe | ádhattānyáṃ jaṭháre prém aricyata saínaṃ — || 2 ||

साकं जातः क्रतुना साकमोजसा ववक्षिथ साकं वृद्धो वीर्यैः सासहिर्मृधो विचर्षणिः ।
दाता राधः स्तुवते काम्यं वसु सैनं सश्चद्देवो देवं सत्यमिन्द्रं सत्य इन्दुः ॥३॥

sākáṃ jātáḥ krátunā sākám ójasā vavakshitha sākáṃ vṛiddhó vīryaiḥ sāsahír mṛídho vícarshaṇiḥ | dā́tā rā́dha stuvaté kā́myaṃ vásu saínaṃ — || 3 ||

22

Just as in sacred rituals, the offerings of the medicinal herbs are mixed up with barley and milk and the libations given thrice a day (morning, mid-day, and evening), similarly the resplendent self enjoys in participation with the all-pervading vital complex, the enjoyments of the divine sap of the spiritual realm during the three periods of life (youth, adult and old age). The draught of the divine sap considerably inspires the great and mighty resplendent self to perform exceedingly supreme actions. May that divine sap (of the spiritual realm) pervade the divine self. True is the self and true is the divine sap. 1

And mighty resplendent self dispels nescience with His radiance in the conflict. He fills up the earth and heaven as He grows with His prowess, after invigoration with the divine elixir. He holds a part of this, and the rest He distributes over to the gods (the sense organs). May the divine sap pervade the divine self. True is the self and true is the divine sap. 2

O Self, cognate with wisdom, and cognate with vigour, you have risen and with that you support the universe. Mighty with your heroic energies, you are the subduer of the malevolent; you are the distinguisher (between good and evil), and the giver of substantial wealth to the chosen devotee. May the divine sap (of the spiritual realm) pervade the divine self. True is the self and true is the divine sap. 3

तव त्यन्नर्यं नृतोऽप इन्द्र प्रथमं पूर्व्यं दिवि प्रवाच्यं कृतम् ।
यद्देवस्य शवसा प्रारिणा असुं रिणन्नपः ।
भुवद्विश्वमभ्यादेवमोजसा विदादूर्जं शतक्रतुर्विदादिषम् ॥४॥

táva tyán nár-
yam̥ nritó 'pa indra prathamám pūrvyám̥ diví praváçyam̥ kritám | yád devásya ṣávasā prárinā ásum̥ rinánn apáḥ | bhúvad víṣvam abhy ádevam ójasā vidád úrjam̥ ṣatákratur vidád ísham || 4 ||

(२३) त्रयोविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–१९) एकोनविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१, ५, ९, ११, १७, १९) प्रथमापञ्चमीनवम्येकादशीसप्तदश्येकोनविंश्यृचां ब्रह्मणस्पतिः, (२–४, ६–८, १०, १२–१६, १८) द्वितीयादिपञ्चादितृचयोर्दशम्या द्वादश्यादिपञ्चानामष्टादश्याश्च बृहस्पतिर्देवते । (१–१४, १६–१८) प्रथमादिचतुर्दशर्चां षोडश्यादितृचस्य च जगती, (१५, १९) पञ्चदश्येकोनविंश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२९॥ गणानां त्वा गणपतिं हवामहे कविं कवीनामुपमश्रवस्तमम् ।
ज्येष्ठराजं ब्रह्मणां ब्रह्मणस्पत आ नः शृण्वन्नूतिभिः सीद सादनम् ॥१॥
देवाश्चित्ते असुर्य प्रचेतसो बृहस्पते यज्ञियं भागमानशुः ।
उस्रा इव सूर्यो ज्योतिषा महो विश्वेषामिज्जनिता ब्रह्मणामसि ॥२॥
आ विबाध्या परिरापस्तमांसि च ज्योतिष्मन्तं रथमृतस्य तिष्ठसि ।
बृहस्पते भीमममित्रदम्भनं रक्षोहणं गोत्रभिदं स्वर्विदम् ॥३॥

23.

Ganánām̥ tvā ganápatim̥ havāmahe kavím̥ kavīnấm upamáṣravastamam | jyeshtharájam bráhmanām brahmanas pata á nah̥ srinvánn ūtíbhih̥ sīda sádanam || 1 || devás cit te asurya prácetaso bríhaspate yajñíyam bhāgám ānaṣuh̥ | usrá iva sū́ryo jyótishā mahó víṣveshām íj janitá bráhmanām asi || 2 || á vibádhyā parirápas támānsi ca jyótishmantam̥ rátham ritásya tishthasi | bríhaspate bhīmám amitradámbhanam̥ rakshohánam̥ gotrabhídam̥ svarvídam || 3 ||

That foremost accomplishment of yours, O Self, the delighter of all, deserves renown in heaven, when for the good of man, you arrest by force the breath of evil forces (the dark clouds), thereby sending down the rain of virtues. May the resplendent self overpower darkness of every corner with His radiance. May He, the accomplisher of hundred-fold selfless actions, procure vigour and procure food for us. 4

23

We invite you, supreme Lord, suprascient amongst preceptors, who is the head of the common folk, a supreme seer amongst seers, superb in glory, and the supreme Lord of the hymns. Listening to us may you occupy this seat at this place of worship, coming with all your protections. 1

Through your favours, even the benevolent Nature's bounties enjoy their share of worship, O mighty Lord supreme. As the sun generates dawns with his light, so you are the source of divine knowledge. 2

Having repelled the revilers and darkness out of our hearts, you, the Lord supreme, mount upon the chariot of eternal truth that is lustrous, formidable, humiliator of enemies, slayer of the evil forces, the cleaver of the clouds (of nescience) and the bestower of bliss. 3

सुनीतिभिर्नयसि त्रायसे जनं यस्तुभ्यं दाशान्न तमंहो अश्नवत् ।
ब्रह्मद्विषस्तपनो मन्युमीरसि बृहस्पते महि तत्ते महित्वनम् ॥४॥
न तमंहो न दुरितं कुतश्चन नारातयस्तितिरुर्न द्वयाविनः ।
विश्वा इदस्माद्ध्वरसो वि बाधसे यं सुगोपा रक्षसि ब्रह्मणस्पते ॥५॥ sunī-

tíbhir nayasi trā́yase jánam yáś túbhyam dā́śān ná tám áṅho aśnavat | brahmadvíshas tápano manyumī́r asi bṛ́haspate máhi tát te mahitvanám || 4 || ná tám áṅho ná duritám kútaś caná nā́rātayas titirur ná dvayāvínaḥ | víśvā íd asmād dhvaráso ví bādhase yám sugopā́ rákshasi brahmaṇas pate || 5 ||

॥३०॥ त्वं नो गोपाः पथिकृद्विचक्षणस्तव व्रताय मतिभिर्जरामहे ।
बृहस्पते यो नो अभि ह्वरो दधे स्वा तं मर्मर्तु दुच्छुना हरस्वती ॥६॥
उत वा यो नो मर्चयादनागसोऽरातीवा मर्तः सानुको वृकः ।
बृहस्पते अप तं वर्तया पथः सुगं नो अस्यै देववीतये कृधि ॥७॥
त्रातारं त्वा तनूनां हवामहेऽवस्पर्तरधिवक्तारमस्मयुम् ।
बृहस्पते देवनिदो नि बर्हय मा दुरेवा उत्तरं सुम्नमुन्नशन् ॥८॥
त्वया वयं सुवृधा ब्रह्मणस्पते स्पार्हा वसु मनुष्या ददीमहि ।
या नो दूरे तळितो या अरातयोऽभि सन्ति जम्भया ता अनप्नसः ॥९॥

tvám no gopā́ḥ pathikṛ́d vicakshaṇás táva vratā́ya matíbhir jarāmahe | bṛ́haspate yó no abhí hváro dadhé svā́ tám marmartu duchúnā hárasvatī || 6 || utá vā yó no marcáyād ánāgaso 'rātīvā́ mártaḥ sānukó vṛ́kaḥ | bṛ́haspate ápa tám vartayā patháḥ sugám no asyaí devávītaye kṛdhi || 7 || trātā́ram tvā tanū́nām havāmahé 'vaspartar adhivaktā́ram asmayúm | bṛ́haspate devanído ní barhaya mā́ durévā úttaram sumnám ún naśan || 8 || tváyā vayám suvṛ́dhā brahmaṇas pate spārhā́ vásu manushyā́ dadīmahi | yā́ no dūré taḷíto yā́ árātayo 'bhí sánti jambháyā tā́ anapnásaḥ || 9 ||

With your excellent guidance you properly lead a person and protect him; no danger would overtake him who brings you his offerings. You punish the one who despites knowledge and humble the wrath of a wicked. Supreme is this greatness of yours, O Lord-supreme. 4

Neither sin nor sorrow from any quarter, neither enemies nor hypocrites and double-dealers ever harm the person, whom, you, the Lord suprascient defend and protect, for you drive away from him all that is treacherous and injurious. 5

You are our careful defender and guide on our path; with our hymns of adoration we sing in your honour, abiding by the holy laws. Whoever lays snare for us, may his own wickedness precipitate and destroy him, O Lord-supreme. 6

And also drive away from our path that hostile mortal, that greedy wolf, who harms us, the innocent, O Lord supreme. Give us fair access to the divine enlightenment. 7

We invoke you, O saviour, the preserver of our persons, our champion, our friend. Strike down, O Lord-supreme, the revilers of the divines. May not the malevolent enjoy a high favour from you. 8

May we obtain enviable riches worthy of men through you, O Lord-supreme, a great promoter; kill all those enemies of ours who attack us whether from far or near, and deprive them of all their possessions. 9

त्वया॑ व॒यमु॑त्त॒मं धी॑महे॒ वयो॒ बृह॑स्पते॒ पप्रि॑णा॒ सस्नि॑ना यु॒जा ।
मा नो॑ दुः॒शंसो॑ अभिदि॒प्सुरी॑शत॒ प्र सु॒शंसा॑ म॒तिभि॑स्तारिषीमहि ॥१०॥

॥३१॥ अ॒ना॒नु॒दो वृ॑ष॒भो जग्मि॑राह॒वं निष्ट॑प्ता॒ शत्रुं॒ पृत॑नासु सास॒हिः ।
असि॑ स॒त्य ऋ॑ण॒या ब्र॑ह्मणस्पत उ॒ग्रस्य॑ चिद्दमि॒ता वी॑ळुह॒र्षिणः॑ ॥११॥
अदे॑वेन॒ मन॑सा॒ यो रि॑ष॒ण्यति॑ शा॒सामु॒ग्रो मन्य॑मानो॒ जिघां॑सति ।
बृह॑स्पते॒ मा प्रण॒क्तस्य॑ नो व॒धो नि क॑र्म म॒न्युं दु॒रेव॑स्य॒ शर्ध॑तः ॥१२॥

tváyā vayám uttamám dhīmahe váyo bríhaspate páprinā sásninā yujā́ | mā́ no duḥsáṅsō abhidipsúr īṣata prá suṣáṅsā matíbhis tārishīmahi || 10 ||

anānudó vrishabhó jágmir āhavám níshṭaptā ṣátrum prítanāsu sāsahíḥ | ási satyá riṇayā́ brahmaṇas pata ugrásya cid damitā́ vīḷuharshíṇaḥ || 11 || ádevena mánasā yó rishaṇyáti ṣāsā́m ugró mányamāno jíghāṅsati | bríhaspate mā́ prának tásya no vadhó ní karma manyúm durévasya ṣárdhataḥ || 12 ||

भरे॑षु॒ हव्यो॒ नम॑सोप॒सद्यो॒ गन्ता॒ वाजे॑षु॒ सनि॑ता॒ धनं॑धनम् ।
विश्वा॒ इद॒र्यो अ॑भिदि॒प्स्वो॒३॒ मृधो॒ बृह॒स्पति॒र्वि व॑वर्हा॒ रथाँ॑ इव ॥१३॥
तेजि॑ष्ठया तप॒नी र॒क्षस॑स्तप॒ ये त्वा॑ नि॒दे द॑धि॒रे दृ॒ष्टवी॑र्यम् ।
आ॒विस्तत्कृ॑ष्व॒ यदस॑त्त उ॒क्थ्यं१॒ बृह॑स्पते॒ वि प॑रि॒रापो॑ अर्दय ॥१४॥
बृह॑स्पते॒ अति॒ यद॒र्यो अर्हा॑द्द्यु॒मद्वि॒भाति॒ क्रतु॑म॒ज्जने॑षु ।
यद्दी॒दय॒च्छव॑स ऋतप्रजात॒ तद॒स्मासु॒ द्रवि॑णं धेहि चि॒त्रम् ॥१५॥

bháreshu hávyo námasopasádyo gánta vā́jeshu sánitā dhánam-dhanam | víṣvā íd aryó abhidipsvò mrídho bríhaspátir ví vavarha ráthaṅ iva || 13 || tejishṭhayā tapaní rakshásas tapa yé tva nidé dadhiré drishṭávīryam | āvís tát krishva yád ásat ta ukthyàm bríhaspate ví parirā́po ardaya || 14 || bríhaspate áti yád aryó árhād dyumád vibhā́ti krátumaj jáneshu | yád dīdáyac chávasa ritaprajāta tád asmā́su dráviṇam dhehi citrám || 15 ||

May we gain highest vigour of life through you, as you are our rich and liberal associate, O Lord-supreme; may not the reproachful and deceitful person be our master. May we, with our devotion and wisdom cross over the hurdles of life. 10

You are, O Lord-suprascient, never yielding, a warrior and a showerer of benefits, ever-ready to proceed to the battlefield, a destroyer of the enemy and a victor. You are true, the discharger of debts, the humiliator of the fierce and of the boastful exultant. 11

May not the weapon of him reach us, who with a godless mind seeks to harm us and designs to kill the devotees, and who is fierce and arrogant, O Lord-supreme, may we on the other hand humble the pride of that wicked and defiant foe. 12

Fit to be invoked in battles, fit to be adored with worship, going into fights, giver of wealth and its dividend, may you, O Lord-supreme, overthrow like an armoured car, all the assailing malignant enemies. 13

Burn up with your fiery wrath the evil forces, which try to look to you with contempt. O Lord-supreme, may you manifest that valour of yours which is worthy of praises, and destroy the revilers. 14

May you bestow on us that wonderful treasure, which is worthy of the pious and righteous, is endowed by its lustre, and which may be effectively utilized for public purposes, O Lord-supreme, born of truth. 15

॥३२॥ मा नः स्तेनेभ्यो ये अभि द्रुहस्पदे निरामिणो रिपवोऽन्नेषु जागृधुः ।
आ देवानामोहते वि व्रयो हृदि बृहस्पते न परः साम्नो विदुः ॥१६॥

mā́ na stenébhyo yé abhí druhás padé nirāmíṇo ripávó 'nneshu jāgṛidhúḥ | á devā́nām óhate ví vráyo hṛidí bṛíhaspate ná paráḥ sā́mno viduḥ || 16 ||

विश्वेभ्यो हि त्वा भुवनेभ्यस्परि त्वष्टाजनत्साम्नःसाम्नः कविः ।
स ऋणचिदृणया ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्द्रुहो हन्ता मह ऋतस्य धर्तरि ॥१७॥

víṣvebhyo hí tvā bhúvanebhyas pári tváshṭā́janat sā́mnaḥ-sāmnaḥ kavíḥ | sá ṛiṇacíd ṛiṇayā́ bráhmaṇas pátir druhó hantā́ mahá ṛitásya dhartári || 17 ||

तव श्रिये व्यजिहीत पर्वतो गवां गोत्रमुदसृजो यदङ्गिरः ।
इन्द्रेण युजा तमसा परीवृतं बृहस्पते निरपामौब्जो अर्णवम् ॥१८॥

táva ṣriyé vy àjihīta párvato gávāṃ gotrám udásṛijo yád aṅgiraḥ | índreṇa yujā́ támasā párīvṛitam bṛíhaspate nír apā́m aubjo arṇavám || 18 ||

ब्रह्मणस्पते त्वमस्य यन्ता सूक्तस्य बोधि तनयं च जिन्व ।
विश्वं तद्भद्रं यदवन्ति देवा बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१९॥

bráhmaṇas pate tvám asyá yantā́ sūktásya bodhi tánayaṃ ca jinva | víṣvaṃ tád bhadráṃ yád ávanti devā́ bṛihád vadema — || 19 ||

O Lord-supreme, deliver us not to the thieves, the enemies, who delight in violence, ever seize upon the food of others and who in their hearts bear a contempt towards righteous, and do not know the extent of your power (against evil). 16

Our Lord-architect, has created you a gem amongst the entire creation, you are a poet singer of every divine hymn. The Lord-suprascient acknowledge the debt of every performer of a great noble selfless act, and He is the acquitter of the debt and a destroyer of the oppressor. 17

The mountain, who conceals the cows (the intellects), goes asunder at your approach and thus you set free the cattle. O resplendent Lord-supreme, you force down the ocean of waters which gets enveloped by darkness. 18

The Lord-suprascient, who is the controller of this world, understands and appreciates this hymn of ours and grants us posterity. All that which the divines regard with love is blessed. May we and our family loudly praiše you in these sacrificial assemblies. 19

(२४) चतुर्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१-१०) प्रथमर्चो दशम्याश्च बृहस्पतिः, (२-९,११,१३-१६) द्वितीयाद्यष्टानामेकादश्यास्त्रयोदश्यादिचतसृणाञ्च ब्रह्मणस्पतिः, (१२) द्वादश्याश्चेन्द्राब्रह्मणस्पती देवताः । (१-११,१३-१५) प्रथमाद्येकादशर्चां त्रयोदश्यादितृचस्य च जगती. (१२,१६) द्वादशीषोडश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१॥ सेमामविड्ढि प्रभृतिं य ईशिषेऽया विधेम नवया महा गिरा ।
यथा नो मीढ्वान्त्स्तवते सखा तव बृहस्पते सीषधः सोत नो मतिम् ॥१॥
यो नन्त्वान्यनमन्न्योजसोतादर्दर्मन्युना शम्बराणि वि ।
प्राच्यावयदच्युता ब्रह्मणस्पतिरा चाविशद्वसुमन्तं वि पर्वतम् ॥२॥

24.

Sémām aviḍḍhi prábhṛitiṃ yá íṣishe 'yā́ vidhema návaya mahā́ girā́ | yáthā no mīḍhvā́n stávate sákhā táva bṛ́haspate sī́shadhaḥ sótá no matím || 1 || yó nántvāny ánaman ny ójasotā́dardar manyúnā ṣámbarāṇi ví | prā́cyāvayad ácyutā bráhmaṇas pátir ā́ cāviṣad vásumantaṃ ví párvatam || 2 ||

तद्देवानां देवतमाय कर्त्वमश्रथ्नन्दृळ्हाव्रदन्त वीळिता ।
उद्गा आजदभिनद्ब्रह्मणा वलमगूहत्तमो व्यचक्षयत्स्वः ॥३॥
अश्मास्यमवतं ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्मधुधारमभि यमोजसातृणत् ।
तमेव विश्वे पपिरे स्वर्दृशो बहु साकं सिसिचुरुत्समुद्रिणम् ॥४॥

tád devā́nāṃ devátamāya kártvam áṣrathnan dṛḷhā́vradanta vīḷitā́ | úd gā́ ājad ábhinad bráhmaṇā valám ágūhat támo vy àcakshayat sváḥ || 3 || áṣmāsyam avatám bráhmaṇas pátir mádhudhāram abhí yám ójasā́tṛiṇat | tám evá víṣve papire svardṛ́ṣo bahú sākáṃ sisicur útsam udríṇam ||4||

24

Would you, the one who superintends over all, be pleased with this proffered oblation. May we worship Him with this new and great poem. You are the only Lord to be invoked and are our closest friend; may you, O Lord-preceptor, such as you are, favour us with pure wisdom. 1

You are that Lord-suprascient who, by His might, bends down things which deserve to be bent, rends asunder the disrespecting infidels with His wrath, moves those who are apparently immovables and enters into the depth of knowledge which is full of wisdom. 2

That is the characterising feature of our Lord-protector, the most godly among the divines, that in His presence, the firm (closed gates of knowledge) are thrown open, and the strong (barriers) become relaxed. He sets the cows of wisdom at liberty, breaks the wall of darkness with our sacred prayers, dispels ignorance and causes the spiritual radiance to shine. 3

The Lord-suprascient breaks open with His powerful will the heavy rocky lid, covering the stores of the sweet-streaming knowledge, and thereon all they, who see the light start drinking their fill. They abundantly empty out together the fountain of blissful nectar. 4

सना ता का चिद्भुवना भवीत्वा माद्भिः शरद्भिर्दुरो वरन्त वः ।
अयतन्ता चरतो अन्यदन्यदिद्या चकार वयुना ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥५॥

sánā tā́ ká cid bhúvanā bhávītvā mā́dbhíḥ sarádbhir dúro varanta vaḥ | áyatantā carato anyád-anyad íd yá cakā́ra vayúnā bráhmaṇas pátiḥ || 5 ||

॥२॥ अभिनक्षन्तो अभि ये तमानशुर्निधिं पणीनां परमं गुहा हितम् ।
ते विद्वांसः प्रतिचक्ष्यानृता पुनर्यत उ आयन्तदुदीयुराविशम् ॥६॥
ऋतावानः प्रतिचक्ष्यानृता पुनरात आ तस्थुः कवयो महस्पथः ।
ते बाहुभ्यां धमितमग्निमश्मनि नकिः षो अस्त्यरणो जहुर्हि तम् ॥७॥

abhinákshanto abhí yé tám ānasúr nidhím paṇīnā́m paramám gúhā hitám | té vidvā́ṅsaḥ praticákshyā́nṛitā púnar yáta u áyan tád úd īyur avíśam || 6 || ṛitā́vānaḥ praticákshyā́nṛitā púnar ā́ta ā́ tasthuḥ kaváyo mahás patháḥ | té bāhúbhyām dhamitám agním áśmani nákiḥ shó asty áraṇo jahúr hí tám || 7 ||

ऋतज्येन क्षिप्रेण ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्यत्र वष्टि प्र तदश्नोति धन्वना ।
तस्य साध्वीरिषवो याभिरस्यति नृचक्षसो दृशये कर्णयोनयः ॥८॥
स संनयः स विनयः पुरोहितः स सुष्टुतः स युधि ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ।
चाक्ष्मो यद्वाजं भरते मती धनादित्सूर्यस्तपति तप्यतुर्वृथा ॥९॥

ṛitájyena kshipréṇa bráhmaṇas pátir yátra váshṭi prá tád aśnoti dhánvanā | tásya sādhvī́r íshavo yā́bhir ásyati nṛicákshaso dṛiśáye kárṇayonayaḥ || 8 || sá saṃnayáḥ sá vinayáḥ puróhitaḥ sá súshṭutaḥ sá yudhí bráhmaṇas pátiḥ | cākshmó yád vā́jam bhárate matī́ dhanā́d ít sū́ryas tapati tapyatúr vṛíthā ||9|||

For you (O devotees), the constant and manifold bounties of the Lord-suprascient, through months and through years, set open the gates of future rains (of divine knowledge). As a result of this, the two regions (the earth and space, or the physical and mental realms), mutually and without effort, have their shares of joy. 5

Those learned sages, searching on every side, discover the highly precious treasure (of divine wisdom), hidden wrapped in the cave of greed and malice. When they perceive the falsehood, they go back, only to come again by the same route to force an entrance. 6

The holy sages, lovers of truth, having observed the falsehood, once more pursue the main road thither, and with their hand, they set the rock cave (of ignorance) to destructive fire and keep it burning till they are sure that no evil continues to persist there. 7

With His swift-shooting bow furnished with the string of truth, stretching to the ear of the marksman, the Lord-suprascient surely accomplishes whatever He aims at. Holy are the arrows with which He shoots; human eyes being the target, thus receive His enlightenment. 8

The Lord-suprascient, with the honoured place in the first rank, adopts the doctrine of alliance and non-alliance in tne conflicts. He is the minute observer, and the bestower of food and riches with proper discrimination, and like the glowing sun, He scorches the oppressor, who harms others on no fault of theirs. 9

विभु प्रभु प्रथमं मेहनावतो बृहस्पतेः सुविदत्राणि राध्या ।
इमा सातानि वेन्यस्य वाजिनो येन जना उभये भुञ्जते विशः ॥१०॥

vibhú prabhú prathamám meh́ānāvato bríhaspáteḥ suvidátrāṇi rā́dhyā | imá sātā́ni venyásya vājíno yéna jánā ubháye bhuñjaté víṣaḥ || 10 ||

॥३॥ योऽवरे वृजने विश्वथा विभुर्महामु रण्वः शवसा ववक्षिथ ।
स देवो देवान्प्रति पप्रथे पृथु विश्वेदु ता परिभूर्ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥११॥
विश्वं सत्यं मघवाना युवोरिदापश्चन प्र मिनन्ति व्रतं वाम् ।
अच्छेन्द्राब्रह्मणस्पती हविर्नोऽन्नं युजेव वाजिना जिगातम् ॥१२॥

yó 'vare vrijáne viṣváthā vibhúr mahā́m u raṇváḥ ṣávasā vavákshitha | sá devó devā́n práti paprathe prithú víṣvéd u tā́ paribhū́r bráhmaṇas pátiḥ || 11 || víṣvam satyám maghavānā yuvór íd ā́paṣ caná prá minanti vratám vām | áchendrābrahmaṇaspatī havír nó 'nnam yújeva vājínā jigātam || 12 ||

उताशिष्ठा अनु शृण्वन्ति वह्नयः सभेयो विप्रो भरते मती धना ।
वीळुद्वेषा अनु वश ऋणमाददिः स ह वाजी समिथे ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥१३॥
ब्रह्मणस्पतेरभवद्यथावशं सत्यो मन्युर्महि कर्मा करिष्यतः ।
यो गा उदाजत्स दिवे वि चाभजन्महीव रीतिः शवसासरत्पृथक् ॥१४॥

utā́ṣishṭhā ánu ṣriṇvanti váhnayaḥ sabhéyo vípro bharate matí dhánā | vīḷudvéshā ánu váṣa riṇám ādadíḥ sá ha vājí samithé bráhmaṇas pátiḥ || 13 || bráhmaṇas páṭer abhavad yathāvaṣám satyó manyúr máhi kármā karishyatáḥ | yó gā́ udā́jat sá divé ví cābhajan mahíva rītíḥ ṣávasāsarat príthak || 14 ||

The gifts of the bounteous Lord-supreme are vast, abundant, of first grade and easily obtainable. These well-given benevolent acquisitions are from the lovable mighty Lord-supreme, whereby both classes of people, high and low, are able to enjoy. 10

He, the Lord-suprascient, is in everyway, supreme and blissful, and sustains by His strength the noble worshipper as well as one who is in true distress. He is greatly renowned amongst the divine forces, and therefore, He encompasses this entirely. 11

O Lord-suprascient, from you and from the resplendent lower self, proceed all eternal laws of Nature. Even the waters serve you and do not violate the order established by you, may both of you come to these offerings as the pair of horses go to their fodder. 12

The swift bearers of our invocations listen, whilst the priest of the assembly offers wealth along with devotional praises. May the Lord, the despiser of oppression, accept (the payment of) the debt, remitted willingly. May He be the acceptor of our food and other presents at this sacrifice. 13

The fury of the Lord-suprascient becomes effective according to His wishes when He engages Himself to perform a great deed. He restores (the stolen) wisdom-cows concealed in the dark caves of malice for the sake of enlightened ones, and divides them amongst them. Then like the channels of a big river, they, with the treasured wisdom, move away in different directions. (The wisdom flows through the channels of sense organs). 14

ब्रह्मणस्पते सुयमस्य विश्वहा रायः स्याम रथ्यो३ वयस्वतः ।
वीरेषु वीराँ उप पृङ्धि नस्त्वं यदीशानो ब्रह्मणा वेषि मे हवम् ॥१५॥
ब्रह्मणस्पते त्वमस्य यन्ता सूक्तस्य बोधि तनयं च जिन्व ।
विश्वं तद्भद्रं यदवन्ति देवा बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१६॥

bráhmaṇas pate suyámasya viṣváhā rāyáḥ syāma rathyò váyasvataḥ | vīréshu vīrā̃ñ úpa priñdhi nas tváṃ yád īṣāno bráhmaṇā véshi me hávam || 15 || bráhmaṇas pate tvám asya — || 16 ||

(२५) पञ्चविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ इन्धानो अग्निं वनवद्वनुष्यतः कृतब्रह्मा शूशुवद्रातहव्य इत् ।
जातेन जातमति स प्र सर्सृते यंयं युजं कृणुते ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥१॥
वीरेभिर्वीरान्वनवद्वनुष्यतो गोभी रयिं पप्रथद्बोधति त्मना ।
तोकं च तस्य तनयं च वर्धते यंयं युजं कृणुते ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥२॥
सिन्धुर्न क्षोदः शिमीवाँ ऋघायतो वृषेव वध्रीँरभि वष्ट्योजसा ।
अग्नेरिव प्रसितिर्नाह वर्तवे यंयं युजं कृणुते ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥३॥

25.

Indhāno agníṃ vanavad vanushyatáḥ kritábrahmā ṣūṣuvad rātáhavya ít | jāténa jātám áti sá prá sarsrite yáṃ-yaṃ yújaṃ kriṇuté bráhmaṇas pátiḥ || 1 || vīrébhir vīrā́n vanavad vanushyató góbhī rayím paprathad bódhati tmánā | tokáṃ ca tásya tánayaṃ ca vardhate yáṃ-yaṃ — || 2 || síndhur ná kshódaḥ ṣímīvā̃ñ righāyató vríshevа vádhrīm̐r abhí vashṭy ójasā | agnér iva prásitir náha vártave yáṃ-yaṃ — || 3 ||

O Lord-suprascient, may we be the masters of the well-disciplined wealth of wisdom and vigour. Bestow on us waves after waves (posterity to posterity). May you, the Lord of all, listen to our invocations addressed through your divine word. 15

The Lord-suprascient, who is the controller of this (world) understands and appreciates this hymn of ours and grants us posterity. All that which divines regard with love is blessed. May we and our family loudly praise you in these sacrificial assemblies. 16

25

The one, whomsoever the Lord-suprascient takes for his friend, would surely overpower his adversaries and grow strong as he kindles the fire, repeats the hymns and offers oblations to the supreme power. He lives to behold the child of his child, and thus prospers. 1

The one, whomsoever the Lord-suprascient takes for his friend, would verily conquer his enemy's warriors with his own, increase his wealth with cows, would grow wise by himself, and his children and their children would prosper. 2

The one, whomsoever the Lord-suprascient takes for His friend, would rule over his infuriated foes with his might, like a bull over oxen and would grow impetuous like an on-rushing stream; and further, like the spreading flame of fire, it would be impossible to stop his progress. 3

तस्मा अर्षन्ति दिव्या असश्चतः स सत्वभिः प्रथमो गोषु गच्छति ।
अनिभृष्टतविषिर्हन्त्योजसा यंयं युजं कृणुते ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥४॥
तस्मा इद्विश्वे धुनयन्त सिन्धवोऽच्छिद्रा शर्म दधिरे पुरूणि ।
देवानां सुम्ने सुभगः स एधते यंयं युजं कृणुते ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥५॥

tásmā arshanti divyā́ asaṣcátaḥ sá sátvabhiḥ prathamó góshu gachati | ánibhrishṭatavishir hanty ójasā yám-yam — || 4 || tásmā íd víṣve dhunayanta síndhavó 'chidrā ṣárma dadhire purū́ṇi | devā́nām sumné subhágaḥ sá edhate yám-yam — || 5 ||

(२६) षड्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ ऋजुरिच्छंसो वनवद्वनुष्यतो देवयन्निददेवयन्तमभ्यसत् ।
सुप्रावीरिद्वनवत्पृत्सु दुष्टरं यज्वेदयज्योर्वि भजाति भोजनम् ॥१॥
यजस्व वीर प्र विहि मनायतो भद्रं मनः कृणुष्व वृत्रतूर्ये ।
हविष्कृणुष्व सुभगो यथाससि ब्रह्मणस्पतेरव आ वृणीमहे ॥२॥
स इज्जनेन स विशा स जन्मना स पुत्रैर्वाजं भरते धना नृभिः ।
देवानां यः पितरमाविवासति श्रद्धामना हविषा ब्रह्मणस्पतिम् ॥३॥

26.

Ṛijúr íc cháṅso vanavad vanushyató devayánn íd ádevayantam abhy àsat | suprāvī́r íd vanavat pritsú dushṭáram yájvéd áyajyor ví bhajāti bhójanam || 1 || yájasva vīra prá vihi manāyató bhadrám mánaḥ kriṇushva vritratū́rye | havísh kriṇushva subhágo yáthāsasi bráhmaṇas páter áva ā́ vriṇīmahe || 2 || sá íj jánena sá viṣā́ sá jánmanā sá putraír vā́jam bharate dhánā nríbhiḥ | devā́nām yáḥ pitáram āvívāsati ṣraddhā́manā havíshā bráhmaṇas pátim || 3 ||

Any one, whomsoever the Lord-suprascient takes for His friends, the blessings of Nature's bounties descend unimpeded for his sake, goes foremost amongst the devout, he acquires wisdom—cattle, and further, of unimpaired vigour, he kills the enemies with his might. 4

Whomsoever the Lord-suprascient takes for His friend, for him all rivers of bliss flow; him do uninterrupted and numerous pleasures await, and blessed with the felicity of Nature's bounties, he ever progresses. 5

26

The honest praiser alone conquers violent enemies; the god-loving man alone overpowers the infidel. The earnest worshipper alone defeats a formidable opponent in conflicts; the selfless sacrificer alone appropriates for the common good the possessions of the faithless. 1

May you perform selfless acts, O brave devotee, and proceed resolutely against those who are provoking hostility. May your mind be of firm and best intents in the conflicts against vices and prepare the offerings so that you may be prosperous. We also solicit the favour of the Lord-suprascient. 2

That man alone who with a dedicated mind worships and offers to the Lord-suprascient, the protector of enlightened ones, acquires riches sustenance and his posterity through his people, his folk, his inheritance, his sons and leading persons. 3

यो अस्मै हव्यैर्घृतवद्भिरविधत्प्र तं प्राचा नयति ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ।
उरुष्यतीमंहसो रक्षती रिषोंऽहोश्चिदस्मा उरुचक्रिरद्भुतः ॥४॥

yó asmai havyaír ghritávadbhir ávidhat prá tám prācā́ nayati bráhmaṇas pátiḥ | urushyátīm áṅhaso rákshatī rishó 'ṅhóś cid asmā urucákrir ádbhutaḥ || 4 ||

(२७) सप्तविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१७) सप्तदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गृत्समदो गार्त्समदः कूर्मो वा ऋषिः । आदित्या देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ इमा गिर आदित्येभ्यो घृतस्नूः सनाद्राजभ्यो जुह्वा जुहोमि ।
शृणोतु मित्रो अर्यमा भगो नस्तुविजातो वरुणो दक्षो अंशः ॥१॥
इमं स्तोमं सक्रतवो मे अद्य मित्रो अर्यमा वरुणो जुषन्त ।
आदित्यासः शुचयो धारपूता अवृजिना अनवद्या अरिष्टाः ॥२॥
त आदित्यास उरवो गभीरा अदब्धासो दिप्सन्तो भूर्यक्षाः ।
अन्तः पश्यन्ति वृजिनोत साधु सर्वं राजभ्यः परमा चिदन्ति ॥३॥
धारयन्त आदित्यासो जगत्स्था देवा विश्वस्य भुवनस्य गोपाः ।
दीर्घाधियो रक्षमाणा असुर्यमृतावानश्चयमाना ऋणानि ॥४॥

27.

Imá gíra ādityébhyo ghritásnūḥ sanā́d rā́jabhyo juhvā̀ juhomi | srinótu mitró aryamā́ bhágo nas tuvijātó váruṇo dáksho áṅśaḥ || 1 || imám stómam sákratavo me adyá mitró aryamā́ váruṇo jushanta | ādityā́saḥ súcayo dhā́rapūtā ávrijinā anavadyā́ árishṭāḥ || 2 || tá ādityā́sa urávo gabhīrā́ ádabdhāso dípsanto bhūryakshā́ḥ | antáḥ paśyanti vrijinótá sādhú sárvam rā́jabhyaḥ paramā́ cid ánti || 3 || dhāráyanta ādityā́so jágat sthā́ devā́ víśvasya bhúvanasya gopā́ḥ | dīrghā́dhiyo rákshamāṇā asuryàm ritā́vānaś cáyamānā riṇā́ni || 4 ||

The Lord-suprascient leads him forward to success, who honours him with love and precious presents. That munificient and wonderful (Lord) saves him from sins and sorrows, protects him from distress and raises him to greatness. 4

27

I offer my invocations with words of sacred hymns and intense love to sons of Mother Infinity, the cosmic stars of self-effulgence. May the sun, the dwarf-stars, cold-stars, giant-stars, and other twinkling ones, listen to us. 1

May those of equal splendour, the sun, the dwarf-stars, and the giant-stars be pleased today by our invocations,—they who are sons of Mother Infinity, luminous, purified by showers of effulgence, who abandon none and are irreproachable and unassailable. 2

These stars, sons of Mother Infinity are of huge dimensions, unparallel, provided with super brilliance, radiating out, as if, from innumerable eyes. Whether far from or near to the royal celestial bodies, they appear, as if, beholding from their innermost our vices and virtues both. 3

The brilliant stars (sons of Mother Infinity) are the upholders (of all gravitational bodies), movable or apparently stationary. They are the protectors of the universe (by balancing the equilibrium), are provident in acts, dispellers of darkness, true to eternal law, and the acquitters of Nature's debts. 4

विद्यामादित्या अवसो वो अस्य यदर्यमन्भय आ चिन्मयोभु ।
युष्माकं मित्रावरुणा प्रणीतौ परि श्वभ्रेव दुरितानि वृज्याम् ॥५॥

vidyā́m ādityā ávaso vo asyá yád aryaman bhayá ā́ cin mayobhú | yushmā́kam mitrāvaruṇā práṇītau pári ṣvábhreva duritā́ni vṛijyām || 5 ||

॥७॥ सुगो हि वो अर्यमन्मित्र पन्था अनृक्षरो वरुण साधुरस्ति ।
तेनादित्या अधि वोचता नो यच्छता नो दुष्परिहन्तु शर्म ॥६॥
पिपर्तु नो अदिती राजपुत्राति द्वेषांस्यर्यमा सुगेभिः ।
बृहन्मित्रस्य वरुणस्य शर्मोप स्याम पुरुवीरा अरिष्टाः ॥७॥

sugó hí vo aryaman mitra pánthā anṛiksharó varuṇa sādhúr ásti | ténādityā ádhi vocatā no yáchatā no dushpariháutu ṣárma || 6 || pípartu no áditī rā́japutrā́ti dvéshāṅsy aryamā́ sugébhiḥ | bṛihán mitrásya váruṇasya ṣármópa syāma puruvī́rā árishṭāḥ || 7 ||

तिस्रो भूमीर्धारयन्त्रीँरुत द्यून्त्रीणि व्रता विदथे अन्तरेषाम् ।
ऋतेनादित्या महि वो महित्वं तदर्यमन्वरुण मित्र चारु ॥८॥
त्री रोचना दिव्या धारयन्त हिरण्ययाः शुचयो धारपूताः ।
अस्वप्नजो अनिमिषा अदब्धा उरुशंसा ऋजवे मर्त्याय ॥९॥

tisró bhū́mīr dhārayan trī́ṅr utá dyū́n trī́ṇi vratā́ vidáthe antár eshām | ṛiténādityā máhi vo mahitvám tád aryaman varuṇa mitra cā́ru || 8 || trī́ rocanā́ divyā́ dhārayanta hiraṇyáyāḥ ṣúcayo dhā́rapūtāḥ | ásvapnajo animishā́ ádabdhā uruṣáṅsā ṛijáve mártyāya || 9 ||

May I be conscious, O suns (sons of Mother Infinity) of this protection of yours, the cause of happiness and (security) in danger. O Dwarf-stars, the sun, and the giant stars, so long as all of you stay on, may I (by Lord's grace) get over sins and sorrows, which are like pitfalls (in my path). 5

O Dwarf stars, the sun and the giant stars, (by God's grace) so long as you are, may we be led on easy path, pleasant and free from thorns. May you speak to us favourably and grant us unobstructed happiness. 6

May Goddess Infinity, the mother of royal sons carry us beyond malice by easy paths. May we, unharmed and endowed with many descendents be blessed with the motherly protection and happiness which is enjoyed by the dwarf-stars, the sun, and the giant-stars. 7

In this creation are held in balance the three regions, terrestrial, interspatial, and celestial, and the three divine realms, pertaining to body, mind, and spirit, provided with three eternal functions—physical, mental, and transcendental. O sons of Mother Infinity, the dwarf-stars, the sun and the giant-stars, you are excellent and great since you further the eternal law (of our Lord). 8

The brilliant sons of Mother Infinity, shining like golden ornaments, purified by the shower of effulgent pleasure never sleep, never close their eyelids, are unassailable and uphold the three bright celestial regions and admired by such persons as repose full confidence in eternal laws. 9

त्वं विश्वेषां वरुणासि राजा ये च देवा असुर ये च मर्ताः ।
शतं नो रास्व शरदो विचक्षेऽश्यामायूंषि सुधितानि पूर्वा ॥१०॥

tvám víṣveshām varuṇāsi rā́jā yé ca devā́ asura yé ca mártāḥ | ṣatám no rāsva ṣarádo vicákshe 'çyā́māyū́ṅshi súdhitāni pū́rvā || 10 ||

॥८॥ न दक्षिणा वि चिकिते न सव्या न प्राचीनमादित्या नोत पश्चा ।
पाक्या चिद्वसवो धीर्या चिद्युष्मानीतो अभयं ज्योतिरश्याम् ॥११॥
यो राजभ्य ऋतनिभ्यो ददाश यं वर्धयन्ति पुष्टयश्च नित्याः ।
स रेवान्याति प्रथमो रथेन वसुदावा विदथेषु प्रशस्तः ॥१२॥

ná dakshiṇā́ ví cikite ná savyā́ ná prācī́nam ādityā nótá paṣcā́ | pākyā̀ cid vasavo dhīryā̀ cid yushmā́nīto ábhayam jyótir aṣyām || 11 || yó rā́jabhya ṛitaníbhyo dadā́ṣa yáṃ vardháyanti pushṭáyaṣ ca nítyāḥ | sá revā́n yāti prathamó ráthena vasudā́vā vidátheshu praṣastáḥ || 12 ||

शुचिरपः सूयवसा अदब्ध उप क्षेति वृद्धवयाः सुवीरः ।
नकिष्टं घ्नन्त्यन्तितो न दूराद्य आदित्यानां भवति प्रणीतौ ॥१३॥
अदिते मित्र वरुणोत मृळ यद्वो वयं चकृमा कच्चिदागः ।
उर्वश्यामभयं ज्योतिरिन्द्र मा नो दीर्घा अभि नशन्तमिस्राः ॥१४॥

ṣúcir apáḥ sūyávasā ádabdha úpa ksheti vṛiddhávayāḥ suvī́raḥ | nákish ṭáṃ ghnanty ántito ná dūrā́d yá ādityā́nām bhávati práṇītau || 13 || ádite mítra váruṇotá mṛiḷa yád vo vayáṃ cakṛimā́ káç cid ā́gaḥ | urv àṣyām ábhayam jyótir indra mā́ no dīrghā́ abhí naṣan támisrāḥ || 14 ||

O giant star (one of the sons of Mother-Infinity), the destroyer of foes, you are the sovereign over all heavenly bodies, whether they be self-luminous or terrestrial-like, (with no light of their own). May you grant unto us a long life to behold for hundred autumns, and may we enjoy blessed lives of our forefathers. 10

Neither is the right (i.e. south) nor the left (i.e. the north) do I distinguish; neither that which is in front (i.e. the east), nor the one on our back (i.e. the west). O giver of dwellings, may I, who are immature in knowledge, and timid in spirit, obtain, when guided by you, the light that is free from fear. 11

He who presents offerings to the royal and eternally true—Mother Infinity, and recognises her glory working behind her sons (the suns and celestial stars), and he whom her favours exalt, becomes wealthy, renowned, munificient and honoured, and is encouraged to perform noble acts as one proceeding to sacrifices in his chariot. 12

Those devotees who are safe in the good guidance of the Mother Infinity and her sons, become pure, live long, remain unmolested and acquire abundant food and virtuous sons, and further, enjoy sweet fruits of their noble actions. No one, whether near or far, would harm such a man. 13

O Mother Infinity, and her sons—the sun and the giant stars, may you have pity on us, even although we may have committed some offence against you (and your laws). May I obtain, O resplendent Lord, that great light which is free from peril. Let not the protracted glooms (of night and nescience) envelope us. 14

उभे अस्मै पीपयतः समीची दिवो वृष्टिं सुभगो नाम पुष्यन् ।
उभा क्षयावाजयन्याति पृत्सूभावर्धौ भवतः साधू अस्मै ॥१५॥
या वो माया अभिद्रुहे यजत्राः पाशा आदित्या रिपवे विचृत्ताः ।
अश्वीव ताँ अति येषं रथेनारिष्टा उरावा शर्मन्त्स्याम ॥१६॥
माहं मघोनो वरुण प्रियस्य भूरिदाव्न आ विदं शूनमापेः ।
मा रायो राजन्त्सुयमादव स्थां बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१७॥

ubhé asmai pīpayataḥ samīcī́ divó vrishṭím subhágo nā́ma púshyan | ubhā́ ksháyāv ājáyan yāti pritsū́bhā́v árdhau bhavataḥ sādhū́ asmai || 15 || yā́ vo māyā́ abhidrúhe yajatrāḥ pā́śā ādityā ripáve vícṛittāḥ | aśvíva tā́ñ áti yesham ráthenárishṭā urā́v ā́ śárman syāma || 16 || mā́hám maghóno varuṇa priyásya bhūridā́vna ā́ vidam śū́nam āpéḥ | mā́ rāyó rājan suyámād áva sthām brihád vadema — || 17 ||

(२८) अष्टाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गृत्समदो गार्त्समदः कूर्मो वा ऋषिः । वरुणो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥९॥ इदं कवेरादित्यस्य स्वराजो विश्वानि सान्त्यभ्यस्तु मह्ना ।
अति यो मन्द्रो यजथाय देवः सुकीर्तिं भिक्षे वरुणस्य भूरेः ॥१॥
तव व्रते सुभगासः स्याम स्वाध्यो वरुण तुष्टुवांसः ।
उपायन उषसां गोमतीनामग्नयो न जरमाणा अनु द्यून् ॥२॥

28.

Idám kavér ādityásya svarā́jo víśvāni sā́nty abhy àstu mahnā́ | áti yó mandró yajáthāya deváḥ sukīrtím bhikshe váruṇasya bhū́reḥ || 1 || táva vraté subhágāsaḥ syāma svādhyò varuṇa tushṭuvā́ṅsaḥ | upā́yana ushásām gómatīnām agnáyo ná járamāṇā ánu dyū́n || 2 ||

Both, the loving wife and her blessed husband flourish when Mother Infinity offers them protection. Verily prosperous, the family thrives with the heavenly rain of blessings. Victorious in life's conflicts, it defends its possessions and assails that of its adversaries. To him and the family, both portions of material and spiritual realms become propitious. 15

O adorable sons of Mother-Infinity (the celestial suns), may I pass safe in your chariot over the deluding obstacles which you devise for the malignant, the snares which are spread for the enemy, in like manner as a horseman passes over a difficult stretch of road. Thus may we abide secure in infinite felicity. 16

May I never be worried, O Lord of giant stars, at the elevation of a wealthy charitable man who does good (and leads a prosperous life). May I never, O radiant one, lack in your well-awarded riches. May we, blessed with excellent descendants, worthily glorify Nature's bounties at this worship. 17

28

This is the praise of the self-radiant farseeing enlightened one. May He excell all the existing ones by His greatness. I beg for glory of this sovereign venerable one, a divine, who, when much pleased is propitious to His adorer. 1

May we, O venerable one, deeply meditating on you, earnestly praising you every day at dawn and abiding by your discipline, be prosperous; and may we shine like fires. 2

तव स्याम पुरुवीरस्य शर्मन्नुरुशंसस्य वरुण प्रणेतः ।
यूयं नः पुत्रा अदितेरदब्धा अभि क्षमध्वं युज्याय देवाः ॥३॥
प्र सीमादित्यो असृजद्विधर्ता ऋतं सिन्धवो वरुणस्य यन्ति ।
न श्राम्यन्ति न वि मुचन्त्येते वयो न पप्तू रघुया परिज्मन् ॥४॥
वि मच्छ्रथाय रशनामिवाग ऋध्याम ते वरुण खामृतस्य ।
मा तन्तुश्छेदि वयतो धियं मे मा मात्रा शार्यपसः पुर ऋतोः ॥५॥

táva syāma puruvíra-
sya śármann uruśáṅsasya varuṇa praṇetaḥ | yūyáṃ naḥ putrā aditer adabdhā abhí kshamadhvam yújyāya devāḥ || 3 || prá sīm ādityó asrijad vidhartā́ ritáṃ síndhavo váruṇasya yanti | ná śrāmyanti ná ví mucanty eté váyo ná paptū raghuyā́ párijman || 4 || ví mác chrathāya raśanā́m ivā́ga ridhyā́ma te varuṇa khā́m ritásya | mā́ tántuś chedi váyato dhíyam me mā́ mā́trā śāry apásaḥ purá ritóḥ || 5 ||

॥१०॥ अपो सु म्यक्ष वरुण भियसं मत्सम्राळृतावोऽनु मा गृभाय ।
दामेव वत्साद्वि मुमुग्ध्यंहो नहि त्वदारे निमिषश्चनेशे ॥६॥
मा नो वधैर्वरुण ये त इष्टावेनः कृण्वन्तमसुर भ्रीणन्ति ।
मा ज्योतिषः प्रवसथानि गन्म वि षू मृधः शिश्रथो जीवसे नः ॥७॥
नमः पुरा ते वरुणोत नूनमुतापरं तुविजात ब्रवाम ।
त्वे हि कं पर्वते न श्रितान्यप्रच्युतानि दूळभ व्रतानि ॥८॥

ápo sú myaksha varuṇa bhiyásam mát sámrāḷ ṛ́tāvó 'nu mā gribhāya | dā́meva vatsā́d ví mumugdhy áṅho nahí tvád āré nimíshaś canéśe || 6 || mā́ no vadhaír varuṇa yé ta ishṭā́v énaḥ kriṇvántam asura bhrīṇánti | mā́ jyótishaḥ pravasathā́ni ganma ví shū́ mṛ́dhaḥ śiśratho jīváse naḥ || 7 || námaḥ purā́ te varuṇotá nūnám utā́parám tuvijāta bravāma | tvé hí kam párvate ná śritā́ny ápracyutāni dūḷabha vratā́ni || 8 ||

O venerable one, chief guide of men, may we abide in the felicity of yours, who is endowed with great prowess and glorified by many. O invincible divine sons of Mother Infinity, may you have compassion, and admit us to your friendship. 3

The enlightened one, the upholder, creates the cosmic waters, and the same venerable Lord inspires the rivers to flow, which never get weary, and never stop. They have descended with swiftness, like birds upon the circumvient earth. 4

Cast off sin from me, O venerable one, as if it were a rope. May we obtain from you a channel of cosmic waters (divine cosmic intelligence). Cut not the thread of my life engaged in weaving pious works, and may not the total awards of my action be shattered before time. 5

Keep off all danger from me, O venerable one. O supreme sovereign, the sustainer of eternal laws, may you bestow your favour upon me. Cast off sin from me, like a tether from a calf. I am not even my leylid's lord without you. 6

Do not harm us, O vernerable God, repeller of foes, with those destructive weapons which are meant to demolish the person who commits sins on sacred occasions. Let us not depart (before our time) from the region of light. Destroy the malevolent that we may live. 7

As we have been offering adoration to you, O venerable Lord, in the past, so we offer it now; so may we offer it in future too, to you, the invincible. In you, as on an immovable mountain, all statutes are firmly established, and are not to be disregarded. 8

परं ऋणा सावीरध मत्कृतानि माहं राजन्नन्यकृतेन भोजम् ।
अव्युष्टा इन्नु भूयसीरुषास आ नो जीवान्वरुण तासु शाधि ॥९॥
यो मे राजन्युज्यो वा सखा वा स्वप्ने भयं भीरवे मह्यमाह ।
स्तेनो वा यो दिप्सति नो वृको वा त्वं तस्माद्वरुण पाह्यस्मान् ॥१०॥
माहं मघोनो वरुण प्रियस्य भूरिदाव्न आ विदं शूनमापेः ।
मा रायो राजन्सुयमादव स्थां बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥११॥

pára riṇā́ sāvīr ádha mátkritāni mā́hám rājann anyákritena bhojam | ávyushṭā ín nú bhū́yasīr ushā́sa ā́ no jīvā́n varuṇa tā́su ṣādhi || 9 || yó me rājan yújyo vā sákhā vā svápne bhayám bhīráve máhyam áha | stenó vā yó dípsati no vríko vā tvám tásmād varuṇa pāhy asmā́n || 10 || mā́hám maghóno — || 11 ||

(२९) एकोनत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गृत्समदो गार्त्समदः कूर्मो वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ धृतव्रता आदित्या इषिरा आरे मत्कर्त रहसूरिवागः ।
शृण्वतो वो वरुण मित्र देवा भद्रस्य विद्वाँ अवसे हुवे वः ॥१॥
यूयं देवाः प्रमतिर्यूयमोजो यूयं द्वेषांसि सनुतर्युयोत ।
अभिक्षत्तारो अभि च क्षमध्वमद्या च नो मृळयतापरं च ॥२॥

29.

Dhrítavratā ā́dityā íshirā āré mát karta rahasū́r ivá-gaḥ | srinvató vo váruṇa mítra dévā bhadrásya vidvā́ñ ávase huve vaḥ || 1 || yūyám devāḥ prámatir yūyám ójo yūyám dvéshāṅsi sanutár yuyota | abhikshattáro abhí ca kshámadhvam adyá ca no mriḷáyatāparám ca || 2 ||

O venerable God, may you discharge me from the debts incurred by me, or for my sake by others. May I not, O illustrious God, be dependant on the wealth earned by others. Many are the mornings that have, as it were, indeed not dawned; make us, O venerable one, alive in them. 9

Protect us, O venerable one, against every peril with which a kinsman or a friend threatens in my slumber, or from a thief or wolf or a crooked man who attempts to destroy us. 10

May I never be worried, O venerable one, the elevation of a wealthy charitable man who does good and leads a prosperous life. May I never, O radiant one, lack in your well-awarded riches. May we, blessed with excellent descendents, worthily glorify Nature's bounties at this worship. 11

29

O wise men, enlightened as suns, and upholders of law, may you remove sin far from me, as a woman who secretly delivers does hers. O divine and vital, as inbreath and outbreath, knowing your benevolent spirit, I invoke you, the listener of prayers, for my protection. 1

O illustrious ones, you are superior intelligence. You are inspiring vigour. May you drive away malevolent subduing instincts, and overcome them entirely and grant us falicity both now and in future. 2

किमू नु वः कृणवामापरेण किं सनेन वसव आप्येन ।
यूयं नो मित्रावरुणादिते च स्वस्तिमिन्द्रामरुतो दधात ॥३॥
हये देवा यूयमिदापयः स्थ ते मृळत नाधमानाय मह्यम् ।
मा वो रथो मध्यमवाळृते भून्मा युष्मावत्स्वापिषु श्रमिष्म ॥४॥

kím ū nú vaḥ kriṇavāmāparena kím sánena vasava ā́pyena | yūyám no mitrāvaruṇādite ca svastím indrāmaruto dadhāta || 3 || hayé devā yūyám íd āpáya stha té mriḷata nā́dhamānāya máhyam | mā́ vo rátho madhyamavā́ḷ rité bhūn má yushmávatsv āpíshu sramishma || 4 || prá va éko mimaya bhū́ry ágo yán mā pitéva kitavám ṣaṣāsá | āré pā́ṣā āré aghā́ni devā mā́ mā́dhi putré vím iva grabhīshṭa || 5 ||

प्र व एको मिमय भूर्यागो यन्मा पितेव कितवं शशास ।
आरे पाशा आरे अघानि देवा मा माधि पुत्रे विमिव ग्रभीष्ट ॥५॥
अर्वाञ्चो अद्या भवता यजत्रा आ वो हार्दि भयमानो व्ययेयम् ।
त्राध्वं नो देवा निजुरो वृकस्य त्राध्वं कर्तादवपदो यजत्राः ॥६॥
माहं मघोनो वरुण प्रियस्य भूरिदाव्न आ विदं शूनमापेः ।
मा रायो राजन्त्सुयमादव स्थां बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥७॥

arvā́ñco adyá bhavatā yajatrā ā́ vo hā́rdi bháyamāno vyayeyam | trā́dhvam no devā nijúro vríkasya trā́dhvam kartā́d avapádo yajatrāḥ || 6 || máhám maghóno — || 7 ||

What may we do for you, O learned upholders, either now or in future; what may we do, O life-bearing planets, by perpetual and practicable acts of devotion? May you yourself make us comfortable and happy. May you assist, O friendly and virtuous, benevolent as Mother Infinity, resplendent and vital as inbreaths and outbreaths, in maintaining our well-being. 3

O illustrious ones, you are our friends and well-wishers. Being so, grant falicity to us, who now implore you. Let not your moving car be slow in coming to our aid in our noble actions. Such as you are, never let us be weary of relatives. 4

You are to me as a father to his son, and therefore, alone in you I have confided my evils and offences. May all the bonding forces stay away from me; may all sins be far from me. A son, as I am of yours, do not seize me, as a fowler catches a bird. 5

O adorable illustrious ones, abide by me today, so that I cast off fear and gain your affectionate love. May you protect us from the rapacity of the wolf and wickeds. May you protect us from him who works us misfortune. 6

May I never witness, O venerable one, distress or destitution of my kinsman, who is opulent and good. May I never, O royal and radiant One, be lacking in well-earned riches. May we, be blessed with excellent descendants, and may we worthily glorify Nature's bounties at this worship. 7

(३०) त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१-५, ७, ८, १०) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां सप्तम्या अष्टम्या उत्तरार्धर्चस्य दशम्याश्चेन्द्रः, (६) षष्ठ्या इन्द्रासोमौ, (८) अष्टम्या पूर्वार्धर्चस्य सरस्वती, (९) नवम्या बृहस्पतिः, (११) एकादश्याश्च मरुतो देवताः । (१-१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (११) एकादश्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥१२॥

ऋतं देवाय कृण्वते सवित्र इन्द्रायाहिघ्ने न रमन्त आपः ।
अहरहर्यात्यक्तुरपां कियात्या प्रथमः सर्ग आसाम् ॥१॥
यो वृत्राय सिनमत्राभरिष्यत्प्र तं जनित्री विदुष उवाच ।
पथो रदन्तीरनु जोषमस्मै दिवेदिवे धुनयो यन्त्यर्थम् ॥२॥
ऊर्ध्वो ह्यस्थादध्यन्तरिक्षेऽधा वृत्राय प्र वधं जभार ।
मिहं वसान उप हीमदुद्रोत्तिग्मायुधो अजयच्छत्रुमिन्द्रः ॥३॥

30.

Ritám deváya krinvaté savitrá índrāyāhighné ná ramanta ápaḥ | áhar-ahar yāty aktúr apám kíyāty á prathamáḥ sárga āsām || 1 || yó vritráya sínam átrábharishyat prá tám jánitrī vidúsha uvāca | pathó rádantīr ánu jósham asmai divé-dive dhúnayo yanty ártham || 2 || ūrdhvó hy ásthād ádhy antárikshé 'dhā vritráya prá vadhám jabhāra | míham vásāna úpa hím ádudrot tigmáyudho ajayac chátrum índraḥ || 3 ||

बृहस्पते तपुषाश्नेव विध्य वृकद्वरसो असुरस्य वीरान् ।
यथा जघन्थ धृषता पुरा चिदेवा जहि शत्रुमस्माकमिन्द्र ॥४॥
अव क्षिप दिवो अश्मानमुच्चा येन शत्रुं मन्दसानो निजूर्वाः ।
तोकस्य सातौ तनयस्य भूरेरस्माँ अर्धं कृणुतादिन्द्र गोनाम् ॥५॥

bríhaspate tápushásneva vidhya vríkadvaraso ásurasya vīrán | yáthā jaghántha dhrishatá purá cid evá jahi satrum asmákam indra || 4 || áva kshipa divó áṣmānam uccá véna sátrum mandasānó nijúrvāḥ | tokásya sātaú tánayasya bhúrer asmáñ ardhám krinutád indra gónām || 5 ||

30

The deeds, sacred or otherwise, dedicated to the supreme creator, the resplendent Lord, executor of laws, and the dispeller of serpentine darkness incessantly continue to flow day by day; who knows at what period of time does their first dedication take place ? 1

The Mother Infinity discloses to the resplendent soul name of the evil one who offers oblations to the dark forces. Obedient to the will, the stream of illustrious actions flows, day by day, to their objective goal, tracing out their assigned paths like roaring rivers. 2

As soon as the evil stands upright in the mind, the resplendent soul equips itself with adamantine will power to destroy the devil of ignorance enveloped by delusions. The soul conquers the hostile dark forces with its sharp intellect and will. 3

O the Lord supreme, strike with your blazing will power as with a bolt, the children of nesciences. You are known to destroy our sins; may you destroy them today as ever. 4

In the ecstasy of your spiritual bliss, may you hurl down the heavenly bolt of your adamantine will power, to destroy the sinful tendencies. Make us your copartners, O resplendent soul, for the acquisition of cows, children and progeny in abundance. 5

॥१३॥ प्र हि क्रतुं वृहथो यं वनुथो रध्रस्य स्थो यजमानस्य चोदौ ।
इन्द्रासोमा युवमस्माँ अविष्टमस्मिन्भयस्थे कृणुतमु लोकम् ॥६॥
न मा तमन्न श्रमन्नोत तन्द्रन्न वोचाम मा सुनोतेति सोमम् ।
यो मे पृणाद्यो ददद्यो निबोधाद्यो मा सुन्वन्तमुप गोभिरायत् ॥७॥
सरस्वति त्वमस्माँ अविड्ढि मरुत्वती धृषती जेषि शत्रून् ।
त्यं चिच्छर्धन्तं तविषीयमाणमिन्द्रो हन्ति वृषभं शण्डिकानाम् ॥८॥

prá hí krátuṃ vṛihátho yáṃ vanuthó radhrásya stho yájamānasya codaú | índrāsomā yuvám asmā́ñ avishṭam asmín bhayásthe kṛiṇutam u lokám || 6 || ná mā taman ná sraman nótá tandran ná vocāma mā́ sunotéti sómam | yó me pṛiṇā́d yó dádad yó nibódhād yó mā sunvántam úpa góbhir ā́yat || 7 || sárasvati tvám asmā́ñ aviḍḍhi marútvatī dhṛishatī́ jeshi ṣátrūn | tyáṃ cic chárdhantam tavishīyámā-ṇam índro hanti vṛishabháṃ ṣáṇḍikānām || 8 ||

यो नः सनुत्य उत वा जिघत्नुरभिख्याय तं तिगितेन विध्य ।
बृहस्पत आयुधैर्जेषि शत्रून्द्रुहे रीषन्तं परि धेहि राजन् ॥९॥
अस्माकेभिः सत्वभिः शूर शूरैर्वीर्या कृधि यानि ते कर्त्वानि ।
ज्योगभूवन्ननुधूपितासो हत्वी तेषामा भरा नो वसूनि ॥१०॥
तं वः शर्धं मारुतं सुम्नयुर्गिरोप ब्रुवे नमसा दैव्यं जनम् ।
यथा रयिं सर्ववीरं नशामहा अपत्यसाचं श्रुत्यं दिवेदिवे ॥११॥

yó naḥ sá-nutya utá vā jighatnúr abhikhyā́ya táṃ tigiténa vidhya | bṛíhaspata ā́yudhair jeshi ṣátrūn druhé ríshantam pári dhehi rājan || 9 || asmā́kebhiḥ sátvabhiḥ ṣūra ṣū́rair vīryā̀ kṛidhi yā́ni te kártvāni | jyóg abhūvann ánudhūpitāso hatvī́ téshām ā́ bharā no vásūni || 10 || táṃ vaḥ ṣárdham mā́ru-taṃ sumnayúr giró̀pa bruve námasā daívyam jánam | yá-thā rayíṃ sárvavīraṃ náṣāmahā apatyasā́caṃ ṣrútyaṃ divé-dive || 11 ||

O resplendent soul and blissful divine power, eradicate the effect of the painful evil. You are the inspirer of devoted worshipper. May you protect us on all occasions of peril and make the world free from fear. 6

Let it not vex me, tire me and make me slothful, and may we never say, "do not offer devotion and dedication"; for it is the resplendent one that fulfils my wishes, gives me prosperity, hears my prayers and rewards me fully. 7

May you protect us, O divine speech. May you suppress the devil of ignorance in alliance with the vital principles, and mean' while, may the resplendent soul destroy even the foremost formidable ferocity. 8

May you find out the one who is in hiding and planning to injure us, and then pierce him with sharpened weapons. May you conquer with your ingenuity, O supreme intellect. May you destroy the offending evil spirits by your sharp adamantine will, O resplendent soul. 9

May you achieve all, that you ought to, O the supreme hero, the resplendent self, in alliance with your associates, i.e. your vital organs. Our evil forces have long been inflated with pride. Destroy them and may we get the reward which was so far withheld due to obstructions. 10

Desirous of happiness and comfort, O vital principles, I glorify with prayers and offerings your divine, manifest, and congregated strength so that we may thereby daily enjoy distinguishable affluence, accompanied by valiant family members including children. 11

(३१) एकत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१-६) प्रथमादिषड्वां जगती, (७) सप्तम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१४॥ अस्माकं मित्रावरुणावतं रथमादित्यै रुद्रैर्वसुभिः सचाभुवा ।
प्र यद्वयो न पप्तन्वस्मनस्परि श्रवस्यवो हृषीवन्तो वनर्षदः ॥१॥
अध स्मा न उदवता सजोषसो रथं देवासो अभि विक्षु वाजयुम् ।
यदाशवः पद्याभिस्तित्रतो रजः पृथिव्याः सानौ जङ्घनन्त पाणिभिः ॥२॥
उत स्य न इन्द्रो विश्वचर्षणिर्दिवः शर्धेन मारुतेन सुक्रतुः ।
अनु नु स्थात्यवृकाभिरूतिभी रथं महे सनये वाजसातये ॥३॥

31.

Asmákam mitrāvaruṇāvatam rátham ādityaí rudraír vásubhiḥ sacābhúvā | prá yád váyo ná páptan vásmanas pári ṣravasyávo hríshīvanto vanarshádaḥ || 1 || ádha smā na úd avatā sajoshaso rátham devāso abhí vikshú vājayúm | yád āṣávaḥ pádyābhis títrato rájaḥ prithivyáḥ sánau jáñghananta pāṇíbhiḥ || 2 || utá syá na índro visvácarshaṇir diváḥ ṣárdhena márutena sukrátuḥ | ánu nú sthāty avrikábhir ūtíbhī rátham mahé sanáye vájasātaye || 3 ||

उत स्य देवो भुवनस्य सक्षणिस्त्वष्टा ग्नाभिः सजोषा जूजुवद्रथम् ।
इळा भगो बृहद्दिवोत रोदसी पूषा पुरंधिरश्विनावधा पती ॥४॥
उत त्ये देवी सुभगे मिथूदृशोषासानक्ता जगतामपीजुवा ।
स्तुषे यद्वां पृथिवि नव्यसा वचः स्थातुश्च वयस्त्रिवया उपस्तिरे ॥५॥

utá syá devó bhúvanasya sakshánis tváshṭa gnábhiḥ sajóshā jūjuvad rátham | íḷā bhágo brihaddivótá ródasī pūshá púraṃdhir asvínāv ádhā pátī || 4 || utá tyé devi subháge mithudrísoshásānákta jágatām apījúvā | stushé yád vām prithivi návyasā váca stha-túṣ ca váyas trívayā upastíre || 5 ||

31

O cosmic light and cosmic plasma, may you accompanied by self luminous-suns, the cosmic vital principles and powers conferring prosperity preserve our chariot of human body when our restless mind and senses fly away like cheerful birds from their nest in search of food, perching on trees of the woods. 1

When our senses traversing the space and raising the dust with their paces, trample with their feet upon high mental level of human earthly body, O divine power, of one accord, may you protect our ever-moving chariot gone forth in quest of food, to live in harmony with the people. 2

And may our all-beholding and powerful soul associated with the vital energies of the body support us with beneficent helps so that we may obtain ample wealth and abundant food (great wisdom and prosperity). 3

And may that glorious architect of universe, the sovereign Lord of the world, associated with the divine powers, well-disposed, guide us on the chariot of life. May He the embodiment of culture, may He, the resplendent gracious Lord, the master of the mental and physical faculties, sagacious nourisher and the divine twin-powers the protectors, guide and conduct the chariot of our activity. 4

And may those brilliant, blessed dawns and night, that appear by turns and are the inspirers of all creatures show us our true path. And may you, O cosmic powers of earth and heaven, carry our chariot of human body on the path of progress. I praise you with a fresh hymn and offer homage of three types (praise, prayer, and meditation). 5

उत वः शंसमुशिजामिव श्मस्यहिर्बुध्न्योऽज एकपादुत ।
त्रित ऋभुक्षाः सविता चनो दधेऽपां नपादाशुहेमा धिया शमि ॥६॥
एता वो वश्म्युद्यता यजत्रा अतक्षन्नायवो नव्यसे सम् ।
श्रवस्यवो वाजं चकानाः सप्तिर्न रथ्यो अह धीतिमश्याः ॥७॥

utá vaḥ sáṅsam uṣíjām iva ṣmasy áhir budhnyò 'já ékapād utá | tritá ṛibhukshā́ḥ savitā́ cáno dadhe 'pā́ṃ ñápād āṣuhémā dhiyā́ ṣámi || 6 || etā́ vo vasmy údyatā yajatrā átakshann āyávo návyase sám | ṣravasyávo vā́jaṃ cakānā́ḥ sáptir ná ráthyo áha dhītím asyāḥ || 7 ||

(३२) द्वात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो द्यावापृथिव्यौ, (२–३) द्वितीयातृतीययोरिन्द्रस्त्वष्टा वा, (४–५) चतुर्थीपञ्चम्यो राका, (६–७) षष्ठीसप्तम्योः सिनीवाली, (८) अष्टम्याश्च लिङ्गोक्ता देवताः । (१–५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां जगती. (६–८) षष्ठ्यादितृचस्य चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥ अस्य मे द्यावापृथिवी ऋतायतो भूतमवित्री वचसः सिषासतः ।
ययोरायुः प्रतरं ते इदं पुर उपस्तुते वसूयुर्वां महो दधे ॥१॥
मा नो गुह्या रिप आयोरहन्दभन्मा न आभ्यो रीरधो दुच्छुनाभ्यः ।
मा नो वि यौः सख्या विद्धि तस्य नः सुम्नायता मनसा तत्त्वेमहे ॥२॥
अहेळता मनसा श्रुष्टिमा वह दुहानां धेनुं पिप्युषीमसश्चतम् ।
पद्याभिराशुं वचसा च वाजिनं त्वां हिनोमि पुरुहूत विश्वहा ॥३॥

32.

Asyá me dyāvāpṛithivī ṛitāyató bhūtám avitrī́ vácasaḥ síshāsataḥ | yáyor ā́yuḥ prataráṃ té idám purá úpastute vasūyúr vām mahó dadhe || 1 || mā́ no gúhyā rípa āyór áhan dabhan mā́ na ābhyó rīradho duchúnābhyaḥ | mā́ no ví yauḥ sakhyā́ viddhí tásya naḥ sumnāyatā́ mánasā tát tvemahe || 2 || áheḷatā mánasā ṣrushṭím ā́ vaha dúhānāṃ dhenúm pipyúshīm asaṣcátaṃ | pádyābhir āṣúṃ vácasā ca vājínaṃ tváṃ hinomi puruhūta viṣváhā || 3 ||

We love to praise you, O divine powers, like those men who love to propitiate. May the divine sun, the sustaining power behind the interspersed clouds, the un-born, one-footed, and possessing three-fold attributes and endowed with cosmic eternal light and the lightning residing in water-clouds be a blessing to us. 6

I love to appreciate, O adorable ones, your benevolent services. The worshippers have composed these appreciations for your services with earnestness. May you, who are desirous of food (applause) and vigour (love of service) continue to serve like a chariot-horse. 7

32

May you, O heaven and earth, possessor of exceedingly great might and praised by all, be champion of my sacred hymns. Full of intense devotion and coming out of a worshipful heart, I glorify you. I honour you both for blessings and my prosperity. 1

May the secret intrigues of the hostile men never hurt us any day. Do not subject us to the inflictions of such evil-doers. Do not deprive us of our friendships. Grant us the prayer which we are advancing with earnestness, and with a crave for your blessings. 2

May you grant us the well-nourished, and compact divine speech, yielding milk of devotion and conferring happiness. Daily I propitiate you, with earnestness in my deeds and words, O Lord, the one praised by all. 3

राकामहं सुहवां सुष्टुती हुवे शृणोतु नः सुभगा बोधतु त्मना ।
सीव्यत्वपः सूच्याच्छिद्यमानया ददातु वीरं शतदायमुक्थ्यम् ॥४॥
यास्ते राके सुमतयः सुपेशसो याभिर्ददासि दाशुषे वसूनि ।
ताभिर्नो अद्य सुमना उपागहि सहस्रपोषं सुभगे रराणा ॥५॥
सिनीवालि पृथुष्टुके या देवानामसि स्वसा ।
जुषस्व हव्यमाहुतं प्रजां देवि दिदिड्ढि नः ॥६॥
या सुबाहुः स्वङ्गुरिः सुषूमा बहुसूवरी ।
तस्यै विश्पत्न्यै हविः सिनीवाल्यै जुहोतन ॥७॥
या गुङ्गूर्या सिनीवाली या राका या सरस्वती । इन्द्राणीमह्व ऊतये वरुणानीं स्वस्तये ॥८॥

rākā́m ahā́m suhávām sushṭutī́ huve srinótu naḥ subhágā bódhatu tmánā | sī́vyatv ápaḥ sucyā́chidyamānayā dádātu vīrā́m satádāyam ukthyàm || 4 || yā́s te rāke sumatáyaḥ supéṣaso yā́bhir dádāsi dāṣúshe vásūni | tā́bhir no adyá sumánā upā́gahi sahasraposhā́m subhage rárāṇā || 5 || sínīvāli prí-thushṭuke yā́ devā́nām ási svásā | jushásva havyám ā́hutam prajā́m devi didiḍḍhi naḥ || 6 || yā́ subāhúḥ svaṅgúríḥ su-shū́mā bahusū́varī | tásyai viṣpátnyai havíḥ sinīvāíyai juho-tana || 7 || yā́ guṅgū́r yā́ sinīvālī́ yā́ rākā́ yā́ sárasvatī | in-drāṇī́m ahva ūtáye varuṇānī́m svastáye || 8 ||

[अथ चतुर्थोऽनुवाकः ॥] (३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । रुद्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१६॥ आ ते पितर्मरुतां सुम्नमेतु मा नः सूर्यस्य संदृशो युयोथाः ।
अभि नो वीरो अर्वति क्षमेत प्र जायेमहि रुद्र प्रजाभिः ॥१॥

33.

Ā́ te pitar marutāṃ sumnám etu mā́ naḥ sū́ryasya saṃdṛ́ṣo yuyothāḥ | abhí no vīró árvati kshameta prá jā-yemahi rudra prajā́bhiḥ || 1 ||

I invoke the praiseworthy full-moon night with my nicely-composed hymns. May she who holds great wealth listen to our prayer and appreciate it. May she stitch our fabric of actions with unbreakable needle. May she grant us brave and praiseworthy opulent children. 4

O bounteous full-moon night, possessing graceful form and excellent wisdom, may you grant prosperity to the faithful devotees. May you favourably be with us, bestowing thousandfold blessings. 5

O night of extensive and deep darkness, (the new moon night), dear as sister to Nature's bounties, may you enjoy the homage offered to you. May you bless us with prosperous children, O divine night. 6

Offer homage to that divine night of extensive and deep darkness (night of new moon), who has lovely arms, loving fingers and who gives new life to all men. 7

I solicit my well-being and protection from my Lord, the Creator of the divine speech, as also of the first night of the waxing moon, the no-moon night, and the night of the full-moon, the speech which is an embodiment of divine knowledge, the divine glory and the divine excellence. 8

33

May your favour come to us, O the sustainer of cosmic vital principles. Do not deprive us from the sight of the sun. May our brave sons, O cosmic vital physician, subdue the adversaries. May we be multiplied with continued progeny. 1

त्वादत्तेभी रुद्र शंतमेभिः शतं हिमा अशीय भेषजेभिः ।
व्यस्मद्द्वेषो वितरं व्यंहो व्यमीवाश्चातयस्वा विषूचीः ॥२॥
श्रेष्ठो जातस्य रुद्र श्रियासि तवस्तमस्तवसां वज्रबाहो ।
पर्षि णः पारमंहसः स्वस्ति विश्वा अभीती रपसो युयोधि ॥३॥
मा त्वा रुद्र चुक्रुधामा नमोभिर्मा दुष्टुती वृषभ मा सहूती ।
उन्नो वीराँ अर्पय भेषजेभिर्भिषक्तमं त्वा भिषजां शृणोमि ॥४॥
हवीमभिर्हवते यो हविर्भिरव स्तोमेभी रुद्रं दिषीय ।
ऋदूदरः सुहवो मा नो अस्यै बभ्रुः सुशिप्रो रीरधन्मनायै ॥५॥

tvádattebhī rudra ṣáṃtamebhiḥ ṣatáṃ hímā aṣīya bheshajébhiḥ | vy àsmád dvésho vitaráṃ vy áṅho vy ámīvāṣ cātayasvā víshūcīḥ || 2 || ṣréshṭho jātásya rudra ṣriyā́si tavástamas tavásāṃ vajrabāho | párshi ṇaḥ pārám áṅhasaḥ svastí víṣvā abhī́tī rápaso yuyodhi || 3 || mā́ tvā rudra cukrudhāmā námobhir mā́ dúshṭutī vṛishabha mā́ sáhūtī | ún no vīrā́ṅ arpaya bheshajébhir bhishā́ktamaṃ tvā bhishájāṃ ṣṛiṇomi || 4 || hávīmabhir hávate yó havírbhir áva stómebhī rudrá ṃ dishīya | ṛidūdáraḥ suhávo mā́ no asyaí babhrúḥ suṣípro rīradhaṅ manā́yai || 5 ||

॥१७॥ उन्मा ममन्द वृषभो मरुत्वान्त्वक्षीयसा वयसा नाधमानम् ।
घृणीव च्छायामरपा अशीया विवासेयं रुद्रस्य सुम्नम् ॥६॥
क्व स्य ते रुद्र मृळयाकुर्हस्तो यो अस्ति भेषजो जलाषः ।
अपभर्ता रपसो दैव्यस्याभी नु मा वृषभ चक्षमीथाः ॥७॥

ún mā mamanda vṛishabhó marútvān tvákshīyasā váyasā nā́dhamānam | ghṛíṇīva chāyā́m arapā́ aṣīyā́ vivāseyaṃ rudrásya sumnám || 6 || kvà syá te rudra mṛiḷayā́kur hásto yó ásti bheshajó jálāshaḥ | apabhartā́ rápaso daívyasyābhí nú mā vṛishabha cakshamīthāḥ || 7 ||

May I enjoy a hundred winters with the help of the most blissful medicinal cures given by you, O cosmic vital physician. Drive away enmity and hatred from us, drive sin far away, and drive away meladies and troubles to distant quarters. 2

O cosmic vital physician, in glory greatest amongst all born, the mightiest of the mighty, wielder of the adamantine justice, may you carry us safely beyond danger; chase away from us all assaults of physical injury. 3

May we never provoke you, O cosmic vital physician, the showerer of benefits, with our ill-addressed prayers, never with a badly composed joint invocation. May you tone up our sons and heroes with your medicinal cures; I hear you to be the most competent one among physicians. 4

With my hymns may I pacify cosmic vital physician, who is invoked with calls and offerings. May he, the one easily accessible, and of beautiful form, pleasing manners, and a soft heart, never subject us to malevolent disposition. 5

The showerer of benefits, by the vital principles has filled me, His grace-seeker, with joy by giving me invigorating nourishment. Having become free from injury, may I so propitiate the cosmic vital physician, that I enjoy it as one distressed by scorching heat gets relief in shade. 6

O cosmic vital physician, where is that kind hand of yours, which heals, cures, and gives comfort ? O showerer of benefits, may you be gracious to us. 7

प्र बभ्रवे वृषभाय श्वितीचे महो महीं सुष्टुतिमीरयामि ।
नमस्या कल्मलीकिनं नमोभिर्गृणीमसि त्वेषं रुद्रस्य नाम ॥८॥
स्थिरेभिरङ्गैः पुरुरूप उग्रो बभ्रुः शुक्रेभिः पिपिशे हिरण्यैः ।
ईशानादस्य भुवनस्य भूरेर्न वा उ योषद्रुद्रादसुर्यम् ॥९॥
अर्हन्बिभर्षि सायकानि धन्वार्हन्निष्कं यजतं विश्वरूपम् ।
अर्हन्निदं दयसे विश्वमभ्वं न वा ओजीयो रुद्र त्वदस्ति ॥१०॥

prá babhráve vrishabháya svitīcé mahó mahím sushtutím īrayāmi | namasyá kalmalīkínaṃ námobhir griṇīmási tveshám rudrásya náma || 8 || sthirébhir áñgaiḥ pururūpa ugró babhrúḥ sukrébhiḥ pipise híraṇyaiḥ | íṣanād asyá bhúvanasya bhū́rer ná vá u yoshad rudrád asuryàm || 9 || árhan bibharshi sáyakāni dhánvárhan nishkáṃ yajatáṃ viṣvárūpam | árhann idáṃ dayase víṣvam ábhvaṃ ná vá ójīyo rudra tvád asti || 10 ||

॥१८॥

स्तुहि श्रुतं गर्तसदं युवानं मृगं न भीममुपहत्नुमुग्रम् ।
मृळा जरित्रे रुद्र स्तवानोऽन्यं ते अस्मन्नि वपन्तु सेनाः ॥११॥
कुमारश्चित्पितरं वन्दमानं प्रति नानाम रुद्रोपयन्तम् ।
भूरेर्दातारं मत्पतिं गृणीषे स्तुतस्त्वं भेषजा रास्यस्मे ॥१२॥
या वो भेषजा मरुतः शुचीनि या शंतमा वृषणो या मयोभु ।
यानि मनुरवृणीता पिता नस्ता शं च योश्च रुद्रस्य वश्मि ॥१३॥

stuhí ṣrutáṃ gratasádaṃ yúvānam mṛigáṃ ná bhīmám upahatnúm ugrám | mṛilá jaritré rudra stávāno 'nyáṃ te asmán ní vapantu sénāḥ || 11 || kumārás cit pitáraṃ vándamānam práti nānāma rudropayántam | bhū́rer dātáram sátpatiṃ griṇīshe stutás tvám bheshajá rāsy asmé || 12 || yá vo bheshajá marutaḥ ṣúcīni yá ṣáṃtamā vṛishaṇo yá mayobhú | yáni mánur ávṛiṇītā pitá nas tá ṣáṃ ca yóṣ ca rudrásya vaṣmi || 13 ||

I send forth a big hymn of earnest praises to the showerer of benefits, the one of pleasing manners, with spotless garments; may we bow down to Him; my homage to the brilliant one. We glorify the splendid name of the cosmic vital physician. 8

The cosmic vital physician with His sturdy and steady constitution, multi-forms and pleasing manners, is bedecked like sun with brilliant golden ornaments. The supreme vigour never goes away from Him who is the supreme ruler of this universal order. 9

Deservingly you, like the solar orb, hold the arrows and the bow, deservingly you wear the necklace of gold showing all its beautiful forms; deservingly you distribute among your worshippers all this wonderful power of yours. Nothing is mightier than you, O cosmic vital physician, Lord in the sun. 10

Glorify the cosmic vital physician (Lord in the sun), sitting high in his cosmic chariot. He is dreadful, deadly and fierce like a wild beast. Propitiated by praises, O Lord, grant happiness to him who praises you, and may your hosts overpower others who are our adversary. 11

I bow down to you, O cosmic vital power, just like a son bows to his greeting father. I praise the benevolent leader who gives much. On being praised may you grant your healing cures to us. 12

I long for those of your medicaments, O mighty vital principles, which are pure, most healing and a source of happiness. I long for those which our elders have found efficacious in their experience and also for those obtained from cosmic vital physicians for my cure and prevention. 13

परि णो हेती रुद्रस्य वृज्याः परि त्वेषस्य दुर्मतिर्मही गात् ।
अव स्थिरा मघवद्भ्यस्तनुष्व मीढ्वस्तोकाय तनयाय मृळ ॥१४॥
एवा बभ्रो वृषभ चेकितान यथा देव न हृणीषे न हंसि ।
हवनश्रुन्नो रुद्रेह बोधि बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१५॥

pári ṇo hetí rudrásya vrijyāḥ pári tveshásya durmatír mahí gāt | áva sthirá magliávadbhyas tanushva míḍhvas tokáya tánayāya mriḷa || 14 || evá babhro vrishabha cekitāna yáthā deva ná hriṇīshé ná háṅsi | havanaśrún no rudrehá bodhi brihád v. v. s. || 15 ||

(३४) चतुस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । मरुतो देवताः । (१-१४) प्रथमादिचतुर्दशर्चां जगती, (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥ धारावरा मरुतो धृष्ण्वोजसो मृगा न भीमास्तविषीभिरर्चिनः ।
अग्नयो न शुशुचाना ऋजीषिणो भृमिं धमन्तो अप गा अवृण्वत ॥१॥
द्यावो न स्तृभिश्चितयन्त खादिनो व्य१भ्रिया न द्युतयन्त वृष्टयः ।
रुद्रो यद्वो मरुतो रुक्मवक्षसो वृषाजनि पृश्न्याः शुक्र ऊधनि ॥२॥
उक्षन्ते अश्वाँ अत्याँ इवाजिषु नदस्य कर्णैस्तुरयन्त आशुभिः ।
हिरण्यशिप्रा मरुतो दविध्वतः पृक्षं याथ पृषतीभिः समन्यवः ॥३॥

34.

Dhārāvará marúto dhrishṇvòjaso mrigá ná bhīmás távishībhir arcínaḥ | agnáyo ná śuśucāná rijīshíṇo bhrímiṃ dhámanto ápa gá avriṇvata || 1 || dyávo ná stríbhiś citayanta khādíno vy àbhríyā ná dyutayanta vrishṭáyaḥ | rudró yád vo maruto rukmavakshaso vríshájani príśnyāḥ śukrá údhani || 2 || ukshánte áśvāñ átyāñ ivājíshu nadásya kárṇais turayanta āśúbhiḥ | híraṇyaśiprā maruto dávidhvataḥ prikshám yātha príshatībhiḥ samanyavaḥ || 3 ||

May the missiles of cosmic vital physician, Lord in the sun, avoid us. May the great wrath of the impetuous Lord go away from us. May you turn away your strong bow of destruction from our wealthy friends and bestow happiness upon our sons and grandsons. 14

O, one of pleasing manners and showerer of benefits, omniscient and divine, bearer of our invocation, may you not show your wrath on us, nor kill us. May you now hear our invocations, O cosmic vital physician, Lord in the sun. May we loudly sing your praises in the sacred public worship and be gifted with brave sons. 15

34

O dynamic mortals (verily mortals are vitals), possessed of bold spirit, formidable like wild beasts, reverencing the world by their energies. Brightly shining like fires and soft in temperament, restore the wealth of the earth by blowing up whirlwinds of doubts and superstitions. 1

Since the mighty cosmic vital power procreate you in the womb of firmament, O cloud-bearing thunder winds (verily, these winds are vitals) you shine like starry heavens. You, the showerer of rain, illuminate the world like flash of lightnings. 2

The winds charge the clouds to move with speed like the racings of swift steeds, or like the boatmen rushing through water channels with their oars. O winds, with golden forms, may you go ahead one-minded badly shaking the trees, with your multicoloured clouds to receive your sustenance. 3

पृक्षे ता विश्वा भुवना ववक्षिरे मित्राय वा सदमा जीरदानवः ।
पृषदश्वासो अनवभ्रराधस ऋजिप्यासो न वयुनेषु धूर्षदः ॥४॥
इन्धन्वभिर्धेनुभी रप्शदूधभिरध्वस्मभिः पथिभिर्भ्राजदृष्टयः ।
आ हंसासो न स्वसराणि गन्तन मधोर्मदाय मरुतः समन्यवः ॥५॥

pṛikshé tá vísvā bhúvanā vavakshire mitráya vā sádam á jīrádānavaḥ | príshadasvāso anavabhrárādhasa ṛijipyáso ná vayúneshu dhūrshádaḥ || 4 || índhanvabhir dhenúbhī rapṣádūdhabhir adhvasmábhiḥ pathíbhir bhrājadṛishṭayaḥ | á hansáso ná svásarāṇi gantana mádhor mádāya marutaḥ samanyavaḥ || 5 ||

॥२०॥

आ नो ब्रह्माणि मरुतः समन्यवो नरां न शंसः सवनानि गन्तन ।
अश्वामिव पिप्यत धेनुमूधनि कर्ता धियं जरित्रे वाजपेशसम् ॥६॥
तं नो दात मरुतो वाजिनं रथ आपानं ब्रह्म चितयद्दिवेदिवे ।
इषं स्तोतृभ्यो वृजनेषु कारवे सनिं मेधामरिष्टं दुष्टरं सहः ॥७॥
यद्युञ्जते मरुतो रुक्मवक्षसोऽश्वान्रथेषु भग आ सुदानवः ।
धेनुर्न शिश्वे स्वसरेषु पिन्वते जनाय रातहविषे महीमिषम् ॥८॥
यो नो मरुतो वृकताति मर्त्यो रिपुर्दधे वसवो रक्षता रिषः ।
वर्तयत तपुषा चक्रियाभि तमव रुद्रा अशसो हन्तना वधः ॥९॥

á no bráhmāṇi marutaḥ samanyavo narám ná sáṅsaḥ sávanāni gantana | ásvām iva pipyata dhenúm údhani kártā dhíyaṃ jaritré vájapesasam || 6 || tám no dāta maruto vājínaṃ rátha āpānám bráhma citáyad divé-dive | ísham stotṛíbhyo vṛijáneshu kāráve saním medhám árishṭaṃ dushṭáraṃ sáhaḥ || 7 || yád yuñjáte marúto rukmávakshasó 'svān rátheshu bhága á sudánavaḥ | dhenúr ná sísve svásareshu pinvate jánāya rātáhavishe mahím ísham || 8 || yó no maruto vṛikátāti mártyo ripúr dadhé vasavo rákshata risháḥ | vartáyata tápushā cakríyābhí tám áva rudrā aṣáso hantanā vádhaḥ || 9 ||

They, the cloud-bearing winds, are quick in giving waters to all places, as friends offer help to their friends. They bear dappled clouds as their steeds; their gifts are never small; seated in their chariots, they go straight ahead. 4

O learned mortals (for they are verily vitals) of one mind, may you come like full-uddered cow, with enlightenment like shining lances. May you come for the divine enjoyment, just as swans fly to their nests. 5

O learned mortals, moving with one common directive, may you come to the place of learning and worship, adored by all. May you be enriched with benevolence, like the udders of milch cow or a mare, and for the singer grace the songs with rich rewards. 6

Grant us, O benevolent mortals, the vigour which may lead our toil to success and that hymn which daily reaches and glorifies supreme God. May you grant food for the singers in the midst of their followers, and also liberality, wisdom, unimpaired invincible vigour. 7

When the golden-breasted learned mortals (verily they are vitals) yoke their horses to their chariots to participate in the auspicious occasions of providing learning, they promise to procure rich nourishment to the offerer of devotional homage, as the milch cow does to her young calf. 8

O mortals, the granter of shelter, (for they are vitals), may you, protect us from the malignity of the man who cherishes wolf-like enmity against us; encompass him with your burning diseases; may you save us from injury and strike down the weapon of the cursing enemy. 9

चित्रं तद्वो मरुतो याम चेकिते पृश्न्या यदूधरप्यापयो दुहुः ।
यद्वा निदे नवमानस्य रुद्रियास्त्रितं जराय जुरतामदाभ्याः ॥१०॥

citrám tád vo maruto yáma cekite príṣnyā yád ū́dhar ápy āpáyo duhúḥ | yád vā nidé návamānasya rudriyās tritám járāya juratám adābhyāḥ || 10 ||

॥२१॥ तान्वो महो मरुत एवयाव्नो विष्णोरेषस्य प्रभृथे हवामहे ।
हिरण्यवर्णान्ककुहान्यतस्रुचो ब्रह्मण्यन्तः शंस्यं राध ईमहे ॥११॥
ते दशग्वाः प्रथमा यज्ञमूहिरे ते नो हिन्वन्तूषसो व्युष्टिषु ।
उषा न रामीररुणैरपोर्णुते महो ज्योतिषा शुचता गोअर्णसा ॥१२॥
ते क्षोणीभिररुणेभिर्नाञ्जिभी रुद्रा ऋतस्य सदनेषु वावृधुः ।
निमेघमाना अत्येन पाजसा सुश्चन्द्रं वर्णं दधिरे सुपेशसम् ॥१३॥
ताँ इयानो महि वरूथमूतय उप घेदेना नमसा गृणीमसि ।
त्रितो न यान्पञ्च होतॄनभिष्टय आववर्तदवराञ्चक्रियावसे ॥१४॥
यया रध्रं पारयथात्यंहो यया निदो मुञ्चथ वन्दितारम् ।
अर्वाची सा मरुतो या व ऊतिरो षु वाश्रेव सुमतिर्जिगातु ॥१५॥

tā́n vo mahó marúta evayā́vno víshṇor eshásya prabhṛithé havāmahe | híraṇyavarṇān kakuhā́n yatásruco brahmaṇyántaḥ ṣáṅsyam rā́dha īmahe || 11 || té dáṣagvāḥ prathamā́ yajñám ūhire té no hinvantūsháso vyùshṭishu | ushā́ ná rāmī́r aruṇaír áporṇute mahó jyótishā ṣucatā́ góarṇasā || 12 || te kshoṇíbhir aruṇébhir nā́ñjíbhī rudrā́ ṛitásya sádaneshu vāvṛidhuḥ | niméghamānā átyena pā́jasā suṣcandrám várṇam dadhire supéṣasam || 13 || tā́ṅ iyānó máhi várūtham ūtáya úpa ghéd enā́ námasā gṛiṇīmasi | tritó ná yā́n páñca hótṛīn abhíshṭaya āvavártad ávarāñ cakríyā́vase || 14 || yáyā radhrám pārayatháty áṅho yáyā nidó muñcátha vanditā́ram | arvā́cī sā́ maruto yā́ va ūtír ó shú vāṣréva sumatír jigātu || 15 ||

O mortals, brave and gallant, your marvellous energy is well-known, whereby seizing the udder of interspaee, you milk it for your friends, and destroy your revilers of faithful adorables. 10

We call upon those learned dedicated mortals (for they are vitals) who willingly attend the worship offered to the all-pervading Lord. May we, singing our hymns and raising our well-kept, golden-hued pre-eminent ladles of the fire-ritual, invoke them for the wealth which all extol. 11

The master minds controlling ten sense organs are the first who bring offerings to the divine powers. May they inspire us at the breaking of dawn. With the blazing light of their hymns, surging with wisdom, they uncover the truth concealed under the dark covers of evil, obstructing the light of truth, as the dawns uncover the dark shadow of night by her ruddy rays. 12

Those cosmic vital powers have grown powerful, abiding by the eternal laws of nature, roaring in rhythmic tunes and decorating clouds with golden colour. Showering rains with vigour, they assume a lovely and well-decorated complexion. 13

We praise with reverence and humility those five excellent invokers (five vital breaths) for great protection and praise them with this hymn for support. May the seer of three comforts (physical, mental and spiritual) bring them here with him in the chariot (of vital complex) for superior help and favour. 14

May your favour, O vital mortals, with which you help the meek during a calamity and with which you liberate your admirers from reproach, be turned hereward. May your grace come to us well like a lowing cow (towards her calf). 15

(३५) पञ्चत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अपां नपात् देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२२॥ उपेमसृक्षि वाजयुर्वचस्यां चनो दधीत नाद्यो गिरो मे ।
अपां नपादाशुहेमा कुवित्स सुपेशसस्करति जोषिषद्धि ॥१॥
इमं स्वस्मै हृद आ सुतष्टं मन्त्रं वोचेम कुविदस्य वेदत् ।
अपां नपादसुर्यस्य मह्ना विश्वान्यर्यो भुवना जजान ॥२॥
समन्या यन्त्युप यन्त्यन्याः समानमूर्वं नद्यः पृणन्ति ।
तमू शुचिं शुचयो दीदिवांसमपां नपातं परि तस्थुरापः ॥३॥

35.

Úpem asrikshi vājayúr vacasyā́m cáno dadhīta nādyó gíro me | apā́ṃ nápād āsuhémā kuvít sá supéṣasas karati jóshishad dhí || 1 || imā́ṃ sv àsmai hridá ā́ sútashṭam mántraṃ vocema kuvíd asya védat | apā́ṃ nápād asuryà-sya mahnā́ víṣvāny aryó bhúvanā jajāna || 2 || sám anyā́ yánty úpa yanty anyā́ḥ samānám ūrvā́ṃ nadyàḥ priṇanti | tám ū ṣúciṃ ṣúcayo dīdivā́ṅsam apā́ṃ nápātam pári ta-sthur ā́paḥ || 3 ||

तमस्मेरा युवतयो युवानं मर्मृज्यमानाः परि यन्त्यापः ।
स शुक्रेभिः शिक्वभी रेवदस्मे दीदायानिध्मो घृतनिर्णिगप्सु ॥४॥
अस्मै तिस्रो अव्यथ्याय नारीर्देवाय देवीर्दिधिषन्त्यन्नम् ।
कृता इवोप हि प्रसर्स्रे अप्सु स पीयूषं धयति पूर्वसूनाम् ॥५॥

tám ásmerā yuvatáyo yúvānam marmri-jyámānāḥ pári yanty ā́paḥ | sá ṣukrébhiḥ ṣíkvabhī revád asmé dīdā́yānidhmó ghritánirṇig apsú || 4 || asmaí tisró avyathyā́ya nā́rīr devā́ya devī́r didhishanty ánnam | krítā ivópa hí prasarsré apsú sá pīyū́shaṃ dhayati pūrvasū́nām || 5 ||

35

I recite this poem for obtaining prosperity. May the hydrodynamic power lying latent in the flowing stream, be wealth-giver, to me, the reciter. May this impetuous electric power so utilized be decoratingly useful to me. 1

Let us sing well, in its appreciation this poem which has been well-fashioned out from the heart; who can say whether it would be appreciated ! The hydrodynamic power, the noble Nature's force, has generated good many things existing by its supreme might. 2

Some waters collect together, other's join them. As rivers they flow together to a common reservoir (ocean). The pure waters have gathered round the hydrodynamic power, pure and shining. 3

The young and modest waters, the bashful maidens, wait upon that youthful hydrodynamically produced fire repeatedly decorating him. He (the fire) has richly shone for us with his brilliant and powerful limbs in the midst of waters, unfed with fuel and yet shining as if nourished by butter. May all this bring abundance to us. 4

To this unshakable divine power (hydrodynamic), the three divine females (wisdom, speech and culture) personified, supply the sustaining elements. This power is formed, as if, in waters, but is utilized far and wide. He (the personified hydrodynamic power) enjoys the ambrosia of gravitational energy, already acting thereupon from before hand. 5

॥२३॥ अश्वस्यात्र जनिमास्य च स्वर्द्रुहो रिषः संपृचः पाहि सूरीन् ।
आमासु पूर्षु परो अप्रमृष्यं नारातयो वि नशन्नानृतानि ॥६॥
स्व आ दमे सुदुघा यस्य धेनुः स्वधां पीपाय सुभ्वन्नमत्ति ।
सो अपां नपादूर्जयन्नप्स्व१न्तर्वसुदेयाय विधते वि भाति ॥७॥
यो अप्स्वा शुचिना दैव्येन ऋतावाजस्र उर्विया विभाति ।
वया इदन्या भुवनान्यस्य प्र जायन्ते वीरुधश्च प्रजाभिः ॥८॥
अपां नपादा ह्यस्थादुपस्थं जिह्मानामूर्ध्वो विद्युतं वसानः ।
तस्य ज्येष्ठं महिमानं वहन्तीर्हिरण्यवर्णाः परि यन्ति यह्वीः ॥९॥
हिरण्यरूपः स हिरण्यसंदृगपां नपात्सेदु हिरण्यवर्णः ।
हिरण्ययात्परि योनेर्निषद्या हिरण्यदा ददत्यन्नमस्मै ॥१०॥

áṣvasyấtra jánimāsyá ca svàr druhó risháḥ sampŕícaḥ pāhi sūrín | āmásu pūrshú paró apramṛishyáṃ nárātayo ví naṣan nánṛitāni || 6 || svá ấ dáme sudúghā yásya dhenúḥ svadhấm pīpāya subhv ánnam atti | só apấṃ nápād ūrjáyann apsv àntár vasudéyāya vidhaté ví bhāti || 7 || yó apsv ấ ṣúcinā daívyena ṛitávājasra urviyấ vibhắti | vayấ íd anyấ bhúvanāny asya prá jāyante vīrúdhaṣ ca prajábhiḥ || 8 || apấṃ nápād ấ hy ásthād upástham jihmánām ūrdhvó vidyútaṃ vásānaḥ | tásya jyéshṭham mahimánaṃ váhantīr híraṇyavarṇāḥ pári yanti yahvíḥ || 9 || híraṇyarūpaḥ sá híraṇyasaṃdṛig apấṃ nápāt séd u híraṇyavarṇaḥ | hiraṇyáyāt pári yóner nishádyā hiraṇyadấ dadaty ánnam asmai || 10 ||

॥२४॥ तदस्यानीकमुत चारु नामापीच्यं वर्धते नप्तुरपाम् ।
यमिन्धते युवतयः समित्था हिरण्यवर्णं घृतमन्नमस्य ॥११॥

tád asyánīkam utá cáru nấmāpīcyàṃ vardhate náptur apấm | yám indháte yuvatáyaḥ sám itthấ híraṇyavarṇaṃ ghṛitám ánnam asya || 11 ||

In him (the hydrodynamic power) lies the source of mechanical horse-power, and also of other advantages. May you defend the pious patrons against malice and oppression (utilization for defence purpose). Neither the enemies nor the untruthful vilains would be blessed by this energy, whether abiding in the immature or mature waters. 6

He, the hydrodynamic power personified, abides in his own dwelling; he is a cow which can be easily milked; he augments the nectar, and eats the sacrificial food. He gathering strength (high driving or propelling forces) in the midst of waters, shines for the sake of conferring wealth upon the worshipper (the person or the organization harnessing the energy). 7

All other creatures and the creepers with their offspring are indeed born forth as the branches of this hydro-dynamic energy, who, untired and holy, shines abundantly in the midst of waters and vegetation with his pure and divine lustre. 8

The hydrodynamic energy, arrayed in lightning, ascends in the midst of curled clouds. The flowing clouds of golden colour surround him, carrying with them his exceeding glory. 9

The hydrodynamic energy in the form of fire and lightning has a golden form and a golden appearance; he (personi-fied) indeed has the same golden complexion even when he is enshrined on the altar away from his golden home. The givers of gold offer him his sacrificial food. 10

The hidden face and lovely name of this eternal fluid-dynamic energy grow powerful. Golden-coloured water (or butter) is the food of this fire divine and as such, the youthful waters of the aerial ocean enkindle him well here. 11

अस्मै बहूनामवमाय सख्ये यज्ञैर्विधेम नमसा हविर्भिः ।
सं सानु मार्ज्मि दिधिषामि बिल्मैर्दधाम्यन्नैः परि वन्द ऋग्भिः ॥१२॥
स ईं वृषाजनयत्तासु गर्भं स ईं शिशुर्धयति तं रिहन्ति ।
सो अपां नपादनभिम्लातवर्णोऽन्यस्येवेह तन्वा विवेष ॥१३॥
अस्मिन्पदे परमे तस्थिवांसमध्वस्मभिर्विश्वहा दीदिवांसम् ।
आपो नप्त्रे घृतमन्नं वहन्तीः स्वयमत्कैः परि दीयन्ति यह्वीः ॥१४॥
अयांसमग्ने सुक्षितिं जनायायांसमु मघवद्भ्यः सुवृक्तिम् ।
विश्वं तद्भद्रं यदवन्ति देवा बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥१५॥

asmaí bahūnám avamáya sákhye yajñaír vidhema námasā havírbhiḥ | sám sánu márjmi dídhishāmi bílmair dádhāmy ánnaiḥ pári vanda ṛigbhíḥ || 12 || sá īṃ vríshājanayat tásu gárbhaṃ sá īṃ śíśur dhayati táṃ rihanti | só apáṃ nápād ánabhimlātavarṇo 'nyásyeveha tanvā̀ vivesha || 13 || asmín padé paramé tasthiváṅsam adhvasmábhir viśváhā dīdiváṅsām | ā́po náptre ghṛitám ánnaṃ váhantīḥ svayám átkaiḥ pári dīyanti yahvī́ḥ || 14 || áyāṅsam agne sukshitím jánāyā́yāṅsam u maghávadbhyaḥ suvṛiktím | víśvaṃ tád — || 15 ||

(३६) षट्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च इन्द्रो मधुश्च, (२) द्वितीयाया मरुतो माधवश्च, (३) तृतीयायास्त्वष्टा शुक्रश्च, (४) चतुर्थ्या अग्निः शुचिश्च, (५) पञ्चम्या इन्द्रो नभश्च, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च मित्रावरुणौ नभस्यश्च देवताः । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ तुभ्यं हिन्वानो वसिष्ट गा अपोऽधुक्षन्त्सीमविभिरद्रिभिर्नरः ।
पिबेन्द्र स्वाहा प्रहुतं वषट्कृतं होत्रादा सोमं प्रथमो य ईशिषे ॥१॥

36.

Túbhyaṃ hinvānó vasishṭa gā́ apó 'dhukshan sīm ávibhir ádribhir náraḥ | píbendra svā́hā práhutaṃ váshaṭ-kṛitaṃ hotrā́d ā́ sómam prathamó yá ī́śishe || 1 ||

Let us wait upon this nearest friend among the many with the sacrifices, a prayer and offerings. I decorate his high place (the establishment), feed him with chips of wood, support him with food and exalt him with songs. 12

He is his own revealer and sows the seed of plasma in the vast expanse of universe. He indeed draws life-giving element from them and they lick him. That fluid-dynamic energy with unfaded effulgence, here unites as it were with other manifested forms of divine powers (energies). 13

The great waters bearing rich nourishment to feed their offspring flow and surround him who in his supreme position is resplendent with the rays that never perish. 14

O most adorable and effulgent Lord, the giver of good homes, I have come to you for the prosperity of my people; I have come with a good hymn for the sake of procuring opulence from you. May all auspicious gifts which Nature's bounties can give to others be ours. May we, surrounded by brave followers, loudly praise you, O Divine, in this sacrificial assembly. 15

36

O resplendent Lord, the first and foremost to rule, we invoke you by presenting these sweet songs which the poets have composed, just as a herbal oblation is pressed with stone and filtered through wool with great effort. Accept these sweet emotional expressions of homage presented by the priests with the exclamation SVAHA and VASAT (two forms of HAILS). 1

यज्ञैः संमिश्लाः पृषतीभिर्ऋष्टिभिर्यामञ्छुभ्रासो अञ्जिषु प्रिया उत ।
आसद्या बर्हिर्भरतस्य सूनवः पोत्रादा सोमं पिबता दिवो नरः ॥२॥
अमेव नः सुहवा आ हि गन्तन नि बर्हिषि सदतना रणिष्टन ।
अथा मन्दस्व जुजुषाणो अन्धसस्त्वष्टर्देवेभिर्जनिभिः सुमद्गणः ॥३॥
आ वक्षि देवाँ इह विप्र यक्षि चोशन्होतर्नि षदा योनिषु त्रिषु ।
प्रति वीहि प्रस्थितं सोम्यं मधु पिबाग्नीध्रात्तव भागस्य तृप्णुहि ॥४॥

yajñaíḥ sámmiṣlāḥ príshatībhir ṛishṭíbhir yámañ chubhráso añjíshu priyá́ utá | āsádyā barhír bharatasya sūnavaḥ potrád ā́ sómam pibatā divo naraḥ || 2 || améva naḥ suhavā ā́ hí gántana ní barhíshi sadatanā ráṇishṭana | átha mandasva jujushāṇó ándhasas tváshṭar devébhir jánibhiḥ sumádgaṇaḥ || 3 || ā́ vakshi devā́ñ ihá vipra yákshi coṣán hotar ní shadā yónishu trishú | práti vīhi prásthitam somyám mádhu píbā́gnīdhrāt táva bhāgásya tṛipṇuhi || 4 ||

एष स्य ते तन्वो नृम्णवर्धनः सह ओजः प्रदिवि बाह्वोर्हितः ।
तुभ्यं सुतो मघवन्तुभ्यमाभृतस्त्वमस्य ब्राह्मणादा तृपत्पिब ॥५॥
जुषेथां यज्ञं बोधतं हवस्य मे सत्तो होता निविदः पूर्व्या अनु ।
अच्छा राजाना नम एत्यावृतं प्रशास्त्रादा पिबतं सोम्यं मधु ॥६॥

eshá syá te tanvò nṛimṇavárdhanaḥ sáha ójaḥ pradívi bāhvór hitáḥ | túbhyaṃ sutó maghavan túbhyam ábhṛitas tvám asya bráhmaṇād ā́ tṛipát piba || 5 || jushéthāṃ yajñám bódhataṃ hávasya me sattó hótā nivídaḥ pūrvyā́ ánu | áchā rā́jānā náma ety ā́vṛitam praṣāstrád ā́ pibataṃ somyám mádhu || 6 ||

O cloud bearing winds, engaged in sacred dedications, while on march, you appear as if adorned with spears and riding on spotted (mares or deers), and wearing attractive ornaments; you are offsprings of the luminous heaven, leaders in the firmament. May you be enshrined in the firmament and accept sweet songs from the pious priests. 2

O Nature's forces, easy to be invoked, may you all come to us together; and the supreme Lord, architect of the universe also come to bless us, along with the brilliant consorts in this creation, with Nature's bounties and their divine counterparts and may you accept our loving prayers and be delighted. 3

Bring Nature's bounties here and worship them, O poet sage, and ardently longing for them please be seated in the three spheres (knowledge, words and action). O inviting priest, cherish the sweetness of the blissful elixir —spiritual experience—realized by you through the aid of the preceptor and be satisfied with your share. 4

O bounteous person, here is the augmenter of vigour of your body, and the strength of your arms. It has been specially prepared and dedicated to you. May you accept it, as offered to you by the high priest, and rejoice. 5

O persons incharge of the departments of welfare and benevolence, may both of you be gratified with this public functions of service, and hear our invocations. Our priest, sitting on the dias, is repeatedly reciting the traditional benedictions. May you come to accept our greetings offered to you by our director. 6

(३७) सप्तत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां द्रविणोदाः,
(५) पञ्चम्या अश्विनौ, (६) षष्ठ्याश्चाग्निर्देवताः । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ मन्दस्व होत्रादनु जोषमन्धसोऽध्वर्यवः स पूर्णां वष्ट्यासिचम् ।
तस्मा एतं भरत तद्वशो ददिर्होत्रात्सोमं द्रविणोदः पिब ऋतुभिः ॥१॥
यमु पूर्वमहुवे तमिदं हुवे सेदु हव्यो ददिर्यो नाम पत्यते ।
अध्वर्युभिः प्रस्थितं सोम्यं मधु पोत्रात्सोमं द्रविणोदः पिब ऋतुभिः ॥२॥

37.

Mándasva hotrád ánu jósham ándhasó 'dhvaryavaḥ sá pūrṇáṃ vashty āsícam | tásmā etám bharata tadvaṣó dadír hotrád sómaṃ draviṇodaḥ píba ṛitúbhiḥ || 1 || yám u púrvam áhuve tám idáṃ huve séd u hávyo dadír yó náma pátyate | adhvaryúbhiḥ prásthitaṃ somyám mádhu potrát sómaṃ d. p. ṛi. || 2 ||

मेद्यन्तु ते वह्नयो येभिरीयसेऽरिषण्यन्वीळयस्वा वनस्पते ।
आयूया धृष्णो अभिगूर्या त्वं नेष्ट्रात्सोमं द्रविणोदः पिब ऋतुभिः ॥३॥
अपाद्धोत्रादुत पोत्रादमत्तोत नेष्ट्रादजुषत प्रयो हितम् ।
तुरीयं पात्रममृक्तममर्त्यं द्रविणोदाः पिबतु द्राविणोदसः ॥४॥

médyantu te váhnayo yébhir íyasé 'rishaṇyan vīḷayasvā vanaspate | āyū́yā dhṛishṇo abhigū́ryā tváṃ neshṭrát sómaṃ — || 3 || ápād dhotrád utá potrád amattotá neshṭrád ajushata práyo hitám | turī́yam pátram ámṛiktam ámartyaṃ draviṇodáḥ pibatu drāviṇodasáḥ || 4 ||

37

O Lord, bestower of gifts, may you by gratified by the dedicated service offered by your devotee (food-liberations offered by the priest). O priests, He loves homage in abundance. Offer this to Him; in consequence He would be your benefactor. May you, O Lord, accept the elixir of sweet devotional prayers (as if, the herbal juice) from the cup of invoking priest, appropriate to the seasons. 1

I invite Him today, whom indeed I have invited before; He indeed deserves invocation who is renowned as a benefactor. The sweet expressions of devotion have been presented to you, by the priests. O Lord, the donor of gifts, may you accept the elixir of sweet devotional prayers from the cup of purifying priest who present it, appropriate to the seasons. 2

O donor of gifts and the Lord of vegetation, may these bearers, by whom you are borne along, be gratified. You are always firm, do no injury and are strong, steadfast in your resolves. O showerer of gifts, may you accept the elixir of sweet devotional prayers from the cup of the leading priest, who, uttering the words, presents the spiritual elixir, appropriate to the seasons. 3

Lord, the bestower of gifts, has accepted the sweet devotional elixir from the cup of the invoking priest, from the cup of the purifying priest and as well from the cup of the leading priest. He also equally enjoys the fourth one, undisturbed and immortal from the offerer of gifts (the presiding priest). 4

अर्वाञ्चमद्य यय्यं नृवाहणं रथं युञ्जाथामिह वां विमोचनम् ।
पृङ्क्तं हवींषि मधुना हि कं गतमथा सोमं पिबतं वाजिनीवसू ॥५॥
जोष्यग्ने समिधं जोष्याहुतिं जोषि ब्रह्म जन्यं जोषि सुष्टुतिम् ।
विश्वेभिर्विश्वाँ ऋतुना वसो मह उशन्देवाँ उशतः पायया हविः ॥६॥

arváñcam adyá yayyàm nrivâhanam rátham yuñjāthām ihá vām vimócanam | priñktám havínshi mádhunā hí kam gatám áthā sómam pibatam vājinīvasū || 5 || jóshy agne samídham jóshy âhutim jóshi bráhma jányam jóshi sushṭutím | víṣvebhir víṣvāñ ritúnā vaso mahá uṣán devâñ uṣatáḥ pāyayā havíḥ || 6 ||

(३८) अष्टात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । सविता देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२॥

उदु ष्य देवः सविता सवाय शश्वत्तमं तदपा वह्निरस्थात् ।
नूनं देवेभ्यो वि हि धाति रत्नमथाभजद्वीतिहोत्रं स्वस्तौ ॥१॥
विश्वस्य हि श्रुष्टये देव ऊर्ध्वः प्र बाहवा पृथुपाणिः सिसर्ति ।
आपश्चिदस्य व्रत आ निमृग्रा अयं चिद्वातो रमते परिज्मन् ॥२॥
आशुभिश्चिद्यान्वि मुचाति नूनमरीरमदतमानं चिदेतोः ।
अह्यर्षूणां चिन्न्ययाँ अविष्यामनु व्रतं सवितुर्मोक्यागात् ॥३॥

38.

Úd u shyá deváḥ savitá saváya ṣaṣvattamám tádapā váhnir asthāt | nūnám devébhyo ví hí dhâti rátnam áthâbhajad vītíhotram svastaú || 1 || víṣvasya hí ṣrushṭáye devá ūrdhváḥ prá bāhávā prithúpaṇiḥ sísarti | âpaṣ cid asya vratá â nímrigrā ayám cid vâto ramate párijman || 2 || āṣúbhiṣ cid yán ví mucāti nūnám árīramad átamānam cid étoḥ | ahyárshūṇām cin ny àyāñ avishyám ánu vratám savitúr móky âgāt || 3 ||

May you two yoke your hero-bearing and swift-moving chariot, pilot it to this direction and come hitherwards. Your landing place is here. May you moisten the offerings with your sweetness. Do indeed come here. Then O twin-divines, showerers of gifts, partake in the beauties of creation. 5

May you be pleased with the fuel of dedication, O adorable God; accept our offerings of prayers; accept the hymn beneficial to the people; accept our earnest praises. May you, O loving divine, let all the sweet Nature's bounties and divine powers accept the sweet elixir, appropriate to the seasons. 6

38

The divine creator, the bearer of life, has been perpetually creating, for such is His function. Verily he bestows lovely gifts on Nature's bounties. May he give prosperity to the devout worshippers. 1

The resplendent sun with his arms stretching extensively, rises for the good of the world. It is in accordance to the eternal ordinance that the waters (in oceans) purify and the wind (in the interspace) sports in its circling region. 2

Having gone speedily, no sooner he (the sun) winds up his rays and stops the traveller from his onward journey. He restrains the activity of those (i.e. the rays) that have been attacking the serpentine clouds. It is in accordance with the creator's eternal laws, (that as the sun sets), night approaches. 3

पुनः समव्यद्विततं वयन्ती मध्या कर्तोर्न्यधाच्छक्म धीरः ।
उत्संहायास्थाद्व्यृ१तूँरदर्धररमतिः सविता देव आगात् ॥४॥
नानौकांसि दुर्यो विश्वमायुर्वि तिष्ठते प्रभवः शोको अग्नेः ।
ज्येष्ठं माता सूनवे भागमाधादन्वस्य केतमिषितं सवित्रा ॥५॥

púnaḥ sám avyad vítatam váyantī madhyá́ kártor ny àdhāc chákma dhíraḥ | út saṃháyāsthād vy ritū́ñr adardhar arámatiḥ savitá́ devá á́gāt || 4 || nánaúkāṅsi dúryo víṣvam á́yur ví tishṭhate prabhaváḥ ṣóko agnéḥ | jyéshṭham mātá́ sūnáve bhāgám ádhād ánv asya kétam ishitáṃ savitrá́ || 5 ||

॥३॥ समाववर्ति विष्ठितो जिगीषुर्विश्वेषां कामश्चरताममाभूत् ।
शश्वाँ अपो विकृतं हित्व्यागादनु व्रतं सवितुर्दैव्यस्य ॥६॥
त्वया हितमप्यमप्सु भागं धन्वान्वा मृगयसो वि तस्थुः ।
वनानि विभ्यो नकिरस्य तानि व्रता देवस्य सवितुर्मिनन्ति ॥७॥
याद्राध्यं१ वरुणो योनिमप्यमनिशितं निमिषि जर्भुराणः ।
विश्वो मार्ताण्डो व्रजमा पशुर्गात्स्थशो जन्मानि सविता व्याकः ॥८॥
न यस्येन्द्रो वरुणो न मित्रो व्रतमर्यमा न मिनन्ति रुद्रः ।
नारातयस्तमिदं स्वस्ति हुवे देवं सवितारं नमोभिः ॥९॥

samâvavarti víshṭhito jigīshúr víṣveshāṃ kā́mas cáratām amábhūt | ṣáṣvā́ñ ápo víkritaṃ hitvy á́gād ánu vratáṃ savitúr daívyasya || 6 || tváyā hitám ápyam apsú bhāgáṃ dhánvánv á́ mrigayáso ví tasthuḥ | vánāni víbhyo nákir asya tá́ni vratá́ devásya savitúr minanti || 7 || yādrā́dhyàṃ váruṇo yónim ápyam ánisitaṃ nimíshi járbhurāṇaḥ | víṣvo mārtāṇḍó vrajám á́ paṣúr gāt sthaṣó jánmāni savitá́ vy á́kaḥ || 8 || ná yásyéndro váruṇo ná mitró vratám aryamá́ ná minánti rudráḥ | nárātayas tám idáṃ svastí huvé deváṃ savitáraṃ námobhiḥ || 9 ||

Once more has she (the night) spread it out, weaving her extended web over the world. The prudent person lays down his work incomplete. But every one springs up when the unwearied divine sun, having rested for a a while, rises and well defines the seasons. 4

Now the powerful glow of the household fire is lit, door to door, in a number of homes throughout the world. The mother (dawn) lays down the full share for her son (the fire), sent to him according to the wishes of the creator. 5

Everyone who goes out to various places for earning, returns, for home is the desire of all moving beings. A labourer returns home leaving his work half-done, according to the indications of the divine sun (now set). 6

The animals of forests, in arid places, go in search of water which has been collected in the firmament. The wild beasts spread themselves over the dry land. The trees of forest are assigned to the birds; no one ever disregards these laws of the divine sun. 7

On the closing of the eyes of the sun (i.e. sunset), the venerable God, provides agreeable places of rest to all movable creatures. The birds go to their nests on trees and the cattle go to their lair. The sun disperses creatives in various directions to their respective places of rest. 8

Here I implore with obeisances prosperity from that resplendent creator of universe whose law neither divine powers of heaven and earth such as sun, ocean, cosmic light, cosmic law giver, vital principles nor even their opponents violate. 9

भगं धियं वाजयन्तः पुरंधिं नराशंसो ग्नास्पतिर्नो अव्याः ।
आये वामस्य संगथे रयीणां प्रिया देवस्य सवितुः स्याम ॥१०॥
अस्मभ्यं तद्दिवो अद्भ्यः पृथिव्यास्त्वया दत्तं काम्यं राध आ गात् ।
शं यत्स्तोतृभ्य आपये भवात्युरुशंसाय सवितर्जरित्रे ॥११॥

bhágaṃ dhíyaṃ vājáyantaḥ púraṃdhiṃ nárāṣáṅso gnáspátir no avyāḥ | āyé vāmáśya saṃgathé rayīṇáṃ priyā́ devásya savitúḥ syāma || 10 || asmábhyaṃ tád divó adbhyáḥ pṛithivyā́s tváyā dattáṃ kā́myaṃ rā́dha ā́ gāt | ṣáṃ yát stotṛ́bhya āpáye bhávāty uruṣáṅsāya savitar jaritré || 11 ||

(३९) एकोनचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ ग्रावाणेव तदिदर्थं जरेथे गृध्रेव वृक्षं निधिमन्तमच्छ ।
ब्रह्माणेव विदथ उक्थशासा दूतेव हव्या जन्या पुरुत्रा ॥१॥
प्रातर्यावाणा रथ्येव वीराजेव यमा वरमा सचेथे ।
मेने इव तन्वा३ शुम्भमाने दम्पतीव क्रतुविदा जनेषु ॥२॥
शृङ्गेव नः प्रथमा गन्तमर्वाक्छफाविव जर्भुराणा तरोभिः ।
चक्रवाकेव प्रति वस्तोरुस्रार्वाञ्चा यातं रथ्येव शक्रा ॥३॥

39.

Grávāṇeva tád íd árthaṃ jarethe gṛídhreva vṛikshám nidhimántam ácha | brahmáṇeva vidátha ukthaṣā́sā dūtéva hávyā jányā purutrā́ || 1 || prātaryā́vāṇā rathyeva vīrā́jéva yamā́ váram ā́ sacethe | méne iva tanvā̀ ṣúmbhamāne dámpatīva kratuvídā jáneshu || 2 || ṣṛíṅgeva naḥ prathamā́ gantam arvā́k chaphā́v iva járbhurāṇā tárobhiḥ | cakravākéva práti vástor usrārvā́ñcā yātam rathyèva ṣakrā || 3 ||

May the lord of creation, the one adored by men, the Lord of speech, preserve us. He is the one, all-wise, worshipped by all, auspicious, and the sole object of meditation. May we be dear to resplendent Lord of creation in the acquisition of wealth and prosperity. 10

May that desirable wealth given by you come to us from heaven, from the waters and from the earth, which, O creator, shall continue to be a source of happiness to friends and to those who praise you. 11

39

Move quickly to the goal like a pair of clouds purposefully descending. Fly like eagles to a tree of treasures, or like two venerable priests to chant the hymns in the assembly of learned seers or like two royal messengers invited with honour in a land of many people. 1

You go forth in the morning like heroes mounted on chariots. You are like a pair of goats clinging to each other by their own choice. You are similar to two birds shining with their brilliant body. You are like a married couple conscious of their obligations in society. 2

Come foremost to us (like a bull) with two horns, or like (a horse) with two hoofs stamping with speed. O twins, may you come here every morning like two loving birds (cakra-vaka, Anas Casarca), awaiting the morning or like two heroes, over-throwers of foes, mounted on chariots. 3

नावेव नः पारयतं युगेव नभ्येव न उपधीव प्रधीव ।
श्वानेव नो अरिषण्या तनूनां खृगलेव विस्रसः पातमस्मान् ॥४॥
वातेवाजुर्या नद्येव रीतिरक्षी इव चक्षुषा यातमर्वाक् ।
हस्ताविव तन्वे३ शंभविष्ठा पादेव नो नयतं वस्यो अच्छ ॥५॥

॥५॥ ओष्ठाविव मध्वास्ने वदन्ता स्तनाविव पिप्यतं जीवसे नः ।
नासेव नस्तन्वो रक्षितारा कर्णाविव सुश्रुता भूतमस्मे ॥६॥
हस्तेव शक्तिमभि संददी नः क्षामेव नः समजतं रजांसि ।
इमा गिरो अश्विना युष्मयन्तीः क्ष्णोत्रेणेव स्वधितिं सं शिशीतम् ॥७॥
एतानि वामश्विना वर्धनानि ब्रह्म स्तोमं गृत्समदासो अक्रन् ।
तानि नरा जुजुषाणोप यातं बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥८॥

nāvéva naḥ pārayataṃ yugéva nábhyeva na upadhíva pradhíva | svấneva no árishaṇyā tanúnām khṛigaleva visrásaḥ pātam asmấn || 4 || vátevājuryấ nadyèva rītír akshí iva cákshushá yātam arvák | hástāv iva tanvè sámbhavishṭhā pấdeva no nayataṃ vásyo ácha || 5 ||

óshṭhāv iva mádhv āsné vádantā stánāv iva pipyataṃ jīváse naḥ | náseva nas tanvò rakshitárā kárṇāv iva suśrútā bhūtam asmé || 6 || hásteva ṣaktím abhí saṃdadí naḥ kshámeva naḥ sám ajataṃ rájāṅsi | imá gíro aṣvinā yushmayántīḥ kshṇótreṇeva svádhitiṃ sáṃ ṣiṣītam || 7 || etáni vām aṣvinā várdhanāni bráhma stómaṃ gritsamadáso akran | táni narā jujushāṇópa yātam brihád — || 8 ||

(४०) चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१-५, ६) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां षष्ठ्याः पूर्वार्धस्य च सोमापूषणौ, (६) षष्ठ्या उत्तरार्धस्य चादितिर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ सोमापूषणा जनना रयीणां जनना दिवो जनना पृथिव्याः ।
जातौ विश्वस्य भुवनस्य गोपौ देवा अकृण्वन्नमृतस्य नाभिम् ॥१॥

40.

Sómāpūshaṇā jánanā rayīṇáṃ jánanā divó jánanā prithivyáḥ | jātaú víṣvasya bhúvanasya gopaú devá akriṇvann amrítasya nábhim || 1 ||

Carry us safely across the danger as if in a boat; guarding our bodies against injuries like hounds, save us from a breakdown, like two armours, like yokes, like axles, like spokes, and like fellies. 4

Indestructible like two winds, moving rapidly like two rivers, seeing like two eyes, may you come here, O twin divines. Like two hands and like two feet most serviceable to the body, lead us towards excellent wealth. 5

Speak like the two lips uttering sweet words, feed us like the two breasts yielding nourishment, that we may live. Be the protectors of our person like the two nostrils and be like the two ears, for the hearing of agreeables. 6

Be the givers of strength to us like two hands. May you give us extensive space like the earth. Sharpen, O twin divines, these hymns which are addressed to you, like a hatchet sharpened on a grindstone. 7

The cheerful sages have composed these hymns which glorify you, as also the prayer for you, O twin divines. O brave warriors, come to us accepting them. Being endowed with brave sons may we sing aloud in the sacrificial assembly. 8

40

O divine bliss and sustenance, both of you are the generators of riches, heavenly and terrestrial; as soon as born, you are guardians of the entire world. Nature's bounties have made you, as if, the source of immortality. 1

इमौ देवौ जायमानौ जुषन्तेमौ तमांसि गूहतामजुष्टा ।
आभ्यामिन्द्रः पक्वमामास्वन्तः सोमापूषभ्यां जनदुस्रियासु ॥२॥
सोमापूषणा रजसो विमानं सप्तचक्रं रथमविश्वमिन्वम् ।
विषूवृतं मनसा युज्यमानं तं जिन्वथो वृषणा पञ्चरश्मिम् ॥३॥

imaú devaú jā́yamānau jushantemaú támāṅsi gūhatām ájushṭā | ābhyā́m índraḥ pakvám āmā́sv antáḥ somāpūshábhyāṃ janad usríyāsu || 2 || sómāpūshaṇa rájaso vimā́naṃ saptácakraṃ ráthaṃ ávisvaminvam | vishūvṛ́tam mánasā yujyámānaṃ táṃ jinvatho vṛishaṇā páñcaraṣmim || 3 ||

दिव्यन्यः सदनं चक्र उच्चा पृथिव्यामन्यो अध्यन्तरिक्षे ।
तावस्मभ्यं पुरुवारं पुरुक्षुं रायस्पोषं वि ष्यतां नाभिमस्मे ॥४॥
विश्वान्यन्यो भुवना जजान विश्वमन्यो अभिचक्षाण एति ।
सोमापूषणाववतं धियं मे युवाभ्यां विश्वाः पृतना जयेम ॥५॥
धियं पूषा जिन्वतु विश्वमिन्वो रयिं सोमो रयिपतिर्दधातु ।
अवतु देव्यदितिरनर्वा बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥६॥

livy ȧnyáḥ sádanaṃ cakrá uccā́ pṛithivyā́m anyó ádhy antárikshe | tā́v asmábhyam puruvā́ram purukshúṃ rāyás póshaṃ ví shyatāṃ nā́bhim asmé || 4 || víṣvāny anyó bhúvanā jajā́na víṣvam anyó abhicā́kshāṇa eti | sómāpūshaṇāv ávataṃ dhíyam me yuvā́bhyāṃ víṣvāḥ pṛ́tanā jayema || 5 || dhíyam pūshā́ jinvatu viṣvaminvó rayíṃ sómo rayipátir dadhātu | ávatu devy áditir anarvá bṛiº || 6 ||

Nature's bounties have been propitiating these two divinities (bliss and sustenance) from the earliest times of creation, thereby driving away the disagreeable glooms. With these two, bliss and sustenance, the resplendent Lord generates the mature milk in the immature heifers. 2

O bliss and sustenance, showerer of benefits, may you set in motion that cosmic chariot which measures out the space, and which has seven wheels (the seven: two eyes, two ears, two nostrils and a tongue), quite unique in the universe, and which turns in all directions, which is harnessed by mind and which has reins (of five breaths). 3

One of them (bliss) has taken his seat high in the heaven, while the other (sustenance) has done so on the earth and in the mid-air. May the two grant us much desired abundance of riches, the great source of enjoyment to us. 4

One of you (the bliss) created all beings, the other (sustenance) goes onward all beholding. O bliss and sustenance, enlighten my intellect for protection, so that we conquer all hosts of adversaries through your grace. 5

May all-pervading sustenance grant us happiness through intellect, and in the same way, may the bliss, lord of prosperity, grant us riches. May the resistless divine eternity preserve us. May the Mother Infinity who is without an adversary, protect us so that we, accompanied by brave progeny, worthily glorify you, our Lord, in this assembly. 6

(४१) एकचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-२१) एकविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । (१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोर्वायुः, (३) तृतीयाया इन्द्रवायू, (४-६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य मित्रावरुणौ, (७-९) सप्तम्यादितृचस्याश्विनौ, (१०-१२) दशम्यादितृचस्येन्द्रः, (१३-१५) त्रयोदश्यादितृचस्य विश्वे देवाः, (१६-१८) षोडश्यादितृचस्य सरस्वती, (१९-२१) एकोनविंश्यादितृचस्य द्यावापृथिव्यौ हविर्धाने वा, (१९) एकोनविंश्यास्तृतीयपादस्य चाग्निर्वा देवताः । (१-१५, १९-२१) प्रथमादिपञ्चदशर्चामेकोनविंश्यादितृचस्य च गायत्री, (१६-१७) षोडशीसप्तदश्योरनुष्टुप्, (१८) अष्टादश्याश्च बृहती छन्दांसि ॥

॥७॥ वायो ये ते सहस्रिणो रथासस्तेभिरा गहि । नियुत्वान्त्सोमपीतये ॥१॥
नियुत्वान्वायवा गह्ययं शुक्रो अयामि ते । गन्तासि सुन्वतो गृहम् ॥२॥
शुक्रस्याद्य गवाशिर इन्द्रवायू नियुत्वतः । आ यातं पिबतं नरा ॥३॥
अयं वां मित्रावरुणा सुतः सोम ऋतावृधा । ममेदिह श्रुतं हवम् ॥४॥
राजानावनभिद्रुहा ध्रुवे सदस्युत्तमे । सहस्रस्थूण आसाते ॥५॥

॥८॥ ता सम्राजा घृतासुती आदित्या दानुनस्पती । सचेते अनवह्वरम् ॥६॥
गोमदू षु नासत्याश्वावद्यातमश्विना । वर्ती रुद्रा नृपाय्यम् ॥७॥

41.

Váyo yé te sahasríṇo ráthāsas tébhir á́ gahi | niyútvān sómapītaye || 1 || niyútvān vāyav á́ gahy ayáṃ ṣukró ayāmi te | gántāsi sunvató griháṃ || 2 || ṣukrásyādyá gávāṣira índravāyū niyútvataḥ | á́ yātam píbataṃ narā || 3 || ayáṃ vam mitrāvaruṇā sutáḥ sóma ritāvridhā | máméd ihá ṣrutaṃ hávam || 4 || rā́jānāv ánabhidruhā dhruvé sádasy uttamé | sahásrasthūṇa āsāte || 5 ||

tá́ samrā́jā ghritásutī ādityá́ dánunas pátī | sácete ánavahvaram || 6 || gómad ū shú nāsatyáṣvāvad yātam aṣvinā | vartí rudrā nripáyyam || 7 ||

41

You are most welcome, O sense of touch, to come with your entire awareness in thousand-fold chariots which you possess, to participate in enjoying the glory of creation. 1

May you, O sense of touch, with all your awareness come. This graceful sensitivity of sweet taste is offered to you. You are fond of visiting those houses, where you get it. 2

O self and the sense of touch, with mind and horses, yoked together, may you come to participate today in the enjoyment of the bright juice blent with milk and herbal extracts. 3

This offering is made to you, O instinct of affection and benevolence, cherishers of truth; please do come and enjoy the drink. 4

O both of you, the sovereigns, free from prejudices, please be seated in the most elegant, firmly-based hall of thousand pillars. 5

These two sovereigns (instincts of affection and benevolence), sweetly nourished with tender feelings, the inseparables, and lords of liberty, show favour to them who are sincere. 6

O in-breaths and out-breaths, of breaths of vital complex, in whom there is no untruth, may you go with your wisdom and vigour by the direct road to the place where sense-organs are getting their enjoyments directly from natural sources. 7

न यत्परो नान्तर आदधर्षद्वृषण्वसू । दुःशंसो मर्त्यो रिपुः ॥८॥
ता न आ वोळ्हमश्विना रयिं पिशङ्गसंदृशम् । धिष्ण्या वरिवोविदम् ॥९॥
इन्द्रो अङ्ग महद्भयमभी षदप चुच्यवत् । स हि स्थिरो विचर्षणिः ॥१०॥

ná yát páro nā́ntara ādadhár-shad vṛishaṇvasū | duḥṣáṅso mártyo ripúḥ || 8 || tā́ na ā́ voḷham aṣvinā rayím piṣáñgasaṃdṛiṣam | dhíshṇyā varivo-vídam || 9 || índro añgá mahád bhayám abhī́ shád ápa cu-cyavat | sá hí sthiró vícarshaṇiḥ || 10 ||

॥९॥ इन्द्रश्च मृळयाति नो न नः पश्चादघं नशत् । भद्रं भवाति नः पुरः ॥११॥
इन्द्र आशाभ्यस्परि सर्वाभ्यो अभयं करत् । जेता शत्रून्विचर्षणिः ॥१२॥
विश्वे देवास आ गत शृणुता म इमं हवम् । एदं बर्हिर्नि षीदत ॥१३॥
तीव्रो वो मधुमाँ अयं शुनहोत्रेषु मत्सरः । एतं पिबत काम्यम् ॥१४॥
इन्द्रज्येष्ठा मरुद्गणा देवासः पूषरातयः । विश्वे मम श्रुता हवम् ॥१५॥

॥१०॥ अम्बितमे नदीतमे देवितमे सरस्वति ।
अप्रशस्ता इव स्मसि प्रशस्तिमम्ब नस्कृधि ॥१६॥

índras ca mṛiḷáyāti no ná naḥ paṣcā́d aghám naṣat | bhadrám bhavāti naḥ puráḥ || 11 || índra ā́ṣābhyas pári sár-vābhyo ábhayam karat | jétā ṣátrūn vícarshaṇiḥ || 12 || víṣve devāsa ā́ gata ṣriṇutā́ ma imám hávam | édám bar-hír ní shīdata || 13 || tīvró vo mádhumāñ ayám ṣunáhotre-shu matsaráḥ | etám pibata kā́myam || 14 || índrajyeshṭhā — || 15 ||

ámbitame nádītame dévitame sárasvati | apraṣastā́ iva smasi práṣastim amba nas kṛidhi || 16 ||

O showerer of wealth, grant us those riches which neither distant nor near malevolent man or foe shall rob. 8

May you, resolute twin-divines, bring to us riches of various sorts, and wealth begetting wealth. 9

May resplendent Lord drive away all great and overpowering danger, for He is firm and active; and beholder of all. 10

In case the resplendent Lord is gracious to us, no vice would reach us from behind, and virtue auspiciousness would be ever in front of us. 11

May the resplendent Lord, the conqueror of adversaries and all-wise, provide us security from fear from all quarters. 12

O Nature's bounties, may all of you come and listen to my invocation. May you be with us in our hearts. 13

This fresh, sweet and exhilarating nectar of devotional prayers is for you, presented in the house of the learned and dedicated devotees. May you accept them at your pleasure. 14

May you all vital breaths, of whom the self is supreme and the divinities of whom Lord the nourisher, is the benefactor, hear my invocation. 15

O best of mothers, O best of rivers, O best of godly powers, O divine speech, we are, as if, unworthy of repute; please favour as with renown, O mother. 16

त्वे विश्वा सरस्वति श्रितायूंषि देव्याम् ।
शुनहोत्रेषु मत्स्व प्रजां देवि दिदिड्ढि नः ॥१७॥
इमा ब्रह्म सरस्वति जुषस्व वाजिनीवति ।
या ते मन्म गृत्समदा ऋतावरि प्रिया देवेषु जुह्वति ॥१८॥
प्रेतां यज्ञस्य शंभुवा युवामिदा वृणीमहे । अग्निं च हव्यवाहनम् ॥१९॥
द्यावा नः पृथिवी इमं सिध्रमद्य दिविस्पृशम् । यज्ञं देवेषु यच्छताम् ॥२०॥
आ वामुपस्थमद्रुहा देवाः सीदन्तु यज्ञियाः । इहाद्य सोमपीतये ॥२१॥

tvé víṣvā sarasvati ṣritā́yūṅshi devyā́m | ṣunáhotreshu matsva prajā́m devi didiḍḍhi naḥ || 17 || imā́ bráhma sarasvati jushásva vājinīvati | yā́ te mánma gṛitsamadā́ ṛitāvari priyā́ devéshu júhvati || 18 || prétām yajñásya ṣambhúvā yuvā́m íd ā́ vṛiṇīmahe | agním ca havyavā́hanam || 19 || dyā́vā naḥ pṛithivī́ imám sidhrám adyá divispṛ́ṣam | yajñám devéshu yachatām || 20 || ā́ vām upástham adruhā deváḥ sīdantu yajñíyāḥ | ihā́dyá sómapītaye || 21 ||

(४२) द्विचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । शकुन्तो (कपिञ्जलरूपीन्द्र) देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥९.१॥ कनिक्रदज्जनुषं प्रब्रुवाण इयर्ति वाचमरितेव नावम् ।
सुमङ्गलश्च शकुने भवासि मा त्वा का चिदभिभा विश्व्या विदत् ॥१॥
मा त्वा श्येन उद्वधीन्मा सुपर्णो मा त्वा विददिषुमान्वीरो अस्ता ।
पित्र्यामनु प्रदिशं कनिक्रदत्सुमङ्गलो भद्रवादी वदेह ॥२॥

42.

Kánikradaj janúsham prabruvāṇá íyarti vā́cam aritéva nā́vam | sumaṅgálaṣ ca ṣakune bhávāsi mā́ tvā kā́ cid abhibhā́ víṣvyā vidat || 1 || mā́ tvā ṣyená úd vadhīn mā́ suparṇó mā́ tvā vidad íshumān vīró ástā | pítryām ánu pradíṣam kánikradat sumaṅgálo bhadravādī́ vadehá || 2 ||

All life-vigours are vested in you, O godly divine speech. May you, O goddess, delight in the company of men of enlightenment. 17

O divine speech, full of bounties, accept these sacred hymns, dear to the divine powers, which the blissful poets offer as acceptable to you. 18

May you both make our worship fruitful. We seek you alone and the fire-divine, the carrier of oblations. 19

May heaven and earth (the innermost and outermost sheath of body-complex) carry our noble efforts to the highest region of illumination. 20

May the adorable divine powers devoid of malice, come today and join with you both to cherish the elixir of life. 21

42

You, crying aloud and announcing your arrival, send forth your note as a boatsman guides his boat. And since you are very auspicious, O inner conscience, may no calamity, whatever befall on us from any quarter. 1

May the hawk not kill you (O inner conscience), nor the eagle. May not a fighting bowman with arrows catch you. The sun has gone to the southern solstice; may this, speak season be also benign and benevolent to you. O Lord, speak out kindly and bless us on this occasion. 2

अव क्रन्द दक्षिणतो गृहाणां सुमङ्गलो भद्रवादी शकुन्ते ।
मा नः स्तेन ईशत माघशंसो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥३॥

áva kranda dakshiṇató grihā́ṇām sumaṅgálo bhadravādī́ ṣakunte | mā́ na stená īṣata mā́ghásaṅso brihád — || 3 ||

(४३) त्रिचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शौनको गृत्समद ऋषिः । शकुन्तो (कपिञ्जलरूपीन्द्रः) देवता ।
(१, ३) प्रथमातृतीययोर्ऋचोर्जगती, (२) द्वितीयायाश्चातिशक्वर्यष्टिर्वा छन्दसी ॥

॥१२॥ प्रदक्षिणिदभि गृणन्ति कारवो वयो वदन्त ऋतुथा शकुन्तयः ।
उभे वाचौ वदति सामगा इव गायत्रं च त्रैष्टुभं चानु राजति ॥१॥
उद्गातेव शकुने साम गायसि ब्रह्मपुत्र इव सवनेषु शंससि ।
वृषेव वाजी शिशुमतीरपीत्या सर्वतो नः शकुने भद्रमा वद
विश्वतो नः शकुने पुण्यमा वद ॥२॥
आवदंस्त्वं शकुने भद्रमा वद तूष्णीमासीनः सुमतिं चिकिद्धि नः ।
यदुत्पतन्वदसि कर्करिर्यथा बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥३॥

43.

Pradakshiṇíd abhí griṇanti kārávo váyo vádanta ritutha̋ ṣakúntayaḥ | ubhé vā́cau vadati sāmagā́ iva gāyatrám ca traíshṭubham cā́nu rājati || 1 || udgātéva ṣakune sā́ma gāyasi brahmaputrá iva sávaneshu ṣaṅsasi | vrísheva vājī́ ṣíṣumatīr apítyā sarváto naḥ ṣakune bhadrám ā́ vada viṣváto naḥ ṣakune púṇyam ā́ vada || 2 || āvádaṅs tvám ṣakune bhadrám ā́ vada tū́shṇím ā́sīnaḥ sumatím cikiddhi naḥ | yád utpátan vádasi karkarír yathā brihád — || 3 ||

O bird (the voice of inner conscience), the proclaimer of all that is good, benign, and benevolent, may you cry from the right (or south) of our dwellings (or hearts). May no thief, no evil doer, prevail against us. May we, blessed with excellent descendents, worthily praise you in this assembly of devotees. 3

43

May the bird of inner conscience guide us from time to time proclaiming the circum ambulations, according to circumstances, like the chanters of hymns. The conscience speaks out both the types of hymns like a Sama-singer, having a mastery over the Gayatri, the Usnik, the Tristubha and the Jagati songs. 1

Like the master-singer, you sing the songs of Saman, O the bird of inner conscience. You praise at the libations like a preceptor. Like a powerful male mating with a female beloved, may you speak out benevolent and auspicious words to us from every quarter; may you proclaim aloud prosperity to us from every side. 2

When you speak out, speak out auspicious things, O bird of inner conscience; when you remain silent, be pleased to cherish kind thoughts towards us. When you speak out flying upwards, your voice is like sweet musical notes of a lute. May we, blessed with excellent descendents, sing aloud your praises in the sacrificial assembly. 3

ऋग्वेद संहिता

तृतीयं मण्डलम्

[अथ प्रथमोऽनुवाकः ॥] (१) प्रथमं सूक्तम्

(१-२३) त्रयोविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥ विश्वेश्वराय नमः ॐ ॥

॥१३॥ सोमस्य मा तवसं वक्ष्यग्ने वह्निं चकर्थ विदथे यजध्यै ।
देवाँ अच्छा दीद्यद्युञ्जे अद्रिं शमाये अग्ने तन्वं जुषस्व ॥१॥
प्राञ्चं यज्ञं चकृम वर्धतां गीः समिद्भिरग्निं नमसा दुवस्यन् ।
दिवः शशासुर्विदथा कवीनां गृत्साय चित्तवसे गातुमीषुः ॥२॥

1.

Sómasya mā tavásam vákshy agne váhnim cakartha vidáthe yájadhyai | deván ácha dídyad yuñjé ádrim samāyé agne tanvàm jushasva || 1 || práñcam yajñám cakrima várdhatām gíh samídbhir agním námasā duvasyan | diváh sasāsur vidáthā kavīnám gritsāya cit taváse gātúm īshuh || 2 ||

ṚGVEDA SAMHITA

BOOK THREE

1.

O Supreme fire-divine, render me vigorous, since you wish me to be the bearer of spiritual bliss for offering worship at the congregation. O fire-divine, while I toil and make preparations for conducting worship, may you shining brightly assume your brilliant form and invoke Nature's bounties for the protection of my person. 1

We, the devotees, have made the performance of worship progressively enhancing by serving fire-divine with offerings of fuel-wood and reverence. Let our hymns glorify this fire. May the poet sages of divine virtue guide the sacred rites of our singers for proper worship of this mighty and glorious fire-divine. 2

मयो दधे मेधिरः पूतदक्षो दिवः सुबन्धुर्जनुषा पृथिव्याः ।
अविन्दन्नु दर्शतमप्स्वन्तर्देवासो अग्निमपसि स्वसॄणाम् ॥३॥
अवर्धयन्त्सुभगं सप्त यह्वीः श्वेतं जज्ञानमरुषं महित्वा ।
शिशुं न जातमभ्यारुरश्वा देवासो अग्निं जनिमन्वपुष्यन् ॥४॥
शुक्रेभिरङ्गै रज आततन्वान्क्रतुं पुनानः कविभिः पवित्रैः ।
शोचिर्वसानः पर्यायुरपां श्रियो मिमीते बृहतीरनूनाः ॥५॥

máyo dadhe médhiraḥ pūtádaksho diváḥ subándhur janúshā prithivyā́ḥ | ávindann u darṣatám apsv àntár devā́so agním apási svásrīṇām || 3 || ávardhayan subhágaṃ saptá yahvī́ḥ ṣvetáṃ jajñānám arushám mahitvā́ | ṣíṣuṃ ná jātám abhy ā̀rur áṣvā devā́so agníṃ jániman vapushyan || 4 || ṣukrébhir áñgai rája ātatanván krátum punānáḥ kavíbhiḥ pavítraiḥ | ṣocír vásānaḥ páry ā́yur apā́ṃ ṣríyo mimīte brihatī́r ánūnāḥ || 5 ||

॥१४॥ वव्राजा सीमनदतीरदब्धा दिवो यह्वीरवसाना अनग्नाः ।
सना अत्र युवतयः सयोनीरेकं गर्भं दधिरे सप्त वाणीः ॥६॥
स्तीर्णा अस्य संहतो विश्वरूपा घृतस्य योनौ स्रवथे मधूनाम् ।
अस्थुरत्र धेनवः पिन्वमाना मही दस्मस्य मातरा समीची ॥७॥
बभ्राणः सूनो सहसो व्यद्यौद्दधानः शुक्रा रभसा वपूंषि ।
श्चोतन्ति धारा मधुनो घृतस्य वृषा यत्र वावृधे काव्येन ॥८॥

vavrā́jā sīm ánadatīr ádabdhā divó yahvī́r ávasānā ánagnāḥ | sánā átra yuvatáyaḥ sáyonīr ékaṃ gárbhaṃ dadhire saptá vā́ṇīḥ || 6 || stīrṇā́ asya saṃháto viṣvárūpā ghritásya yónau sraváthe mádhūnām | ásthur átra dhenávaḥ pínvamānā mahī́ dasmásya mātárā samīcī́ || 7 || babhrāṇáḥ sūno sahaso vy àdyaud dádhānaḥ ṣukrā́ rabhasā́ vápūṅshi | ṣcótanti dhā́rā mádhuno ghritásya vríshā yátra vāvridhé kā́vyena || 8 ||

The fire-divine, the one, full of understanding, pure in discernment, closely associated with celestial and terrestrial regions, bestows bliss upon us. Nature's forces have found the fire-divine in the midst of ethereal vapours of the cosmos and also right in the movements of waters. 3

The seven great attributes glorify the blessed fire-divine, white (pure) at birth, and red (radiant), when waxen. Nature's bounty approaches him, and cherish with affection as mares approach a new-born youngling 4

Overspreading himself through the mid-region with his radiant flames, purging his power with wise purifications, clothed in radiance, this cosmic fire-divine, spreads abroad his own unmitigated and extensive grandeurs. 5

The fire-divine seeks heaven's mighty glories. He is unconsuming, unimpaired, not clothed and yet not naked. These seven channels of radiance (as of a speech), eternally young, sprung from the same source, receive him as their one common embryo. 6

After the sweet rains in the inter-space which is the source of waters, the compact rays of omni-form scatter in all directions as milk coming from the full-uddered cows. The mighty (heaven and earth) are the fitting parents of this graceful fire-divine. 7

O source of strength, carefully cherished, you shine brightly, assuming refulgent and lasting beauties. The streams of love and sweetness flow forth where the mighty fire-divine grows strong by his praise. 8

पितुश्चिदूधर्जनुषा विवेद व्यस्य धारा असृजद्वि धेनाः ।
गुहा चरन्तं सखिभिः शिवेभिर्दिवो यह्वीभिर्न गुहा बभूव ॥९॥
पितुश्च गर्भं जनितुश्च बभ्रे पूर्वीरेको अधयत्पीप्यानाः ।
वृष्णे सपत्नी शुचये सबन्धू उभे अस्मै मनुष्ये३ नि पाहि ॥१०॥

pitúṣ cid ū́dhar janúshā viveda vy ásya dhā́rā asṛijad ví dhénāḥ | gúhā cárantam sákhibhiḥ ṣivébhir divó yahvī́bhir ná gúhā babhūva || 9 || pitúṣ ca gárbham janitúṣ ca babhre pūrvī́r éko adhayat pípyānāḥ | vṛíshṇe sapátnī ṣúcaye sábandhū ubhé asmai manushyè ní pāhi || 10 ||

॥१५॥ उरौ महाँ अनिबाधे ववर्धापो अग्निं यशसः सं हि पूर्वीः ।
ऋतस्य योनावशयद्दमूना जामीनामग्निरपसि स्वसॄणाम् ॥११॥
अक्रो न बभ्रिः समिथे महीनां दिदृक्षेयः सूनवे भाऋजीकः ।
उदुस्रिया जनिता यो जजानापां गर्भो नृतमो यह्वो अग्निः ॥१२॥
अपां गर्भं दर्शतमोषधीनां वना जजान सुभगा विरूपम् ।
देवासश्चिन्मनसा सं हि जग्मुः पनिष्ठं जातं तवसं दुवस्यन् ॥१३॥
बृहन्त इद्भानवो भाऋजीकमग्निं सचन्त विद्युतो न शुक्राः ।
गुहेव वृद्धं सदसि स्वे अन्तरपार ऊर्वे अमृतं दुहानाः ॥१४॥

uraú mahā́ñ anibādhé vavardhā́po agním yaṣásaḥ sám hí pūrvī́ḥ | ṛitásya yónāv aṣayad dámūnā jāmīnā́m agnír apási svásṛīṇām || 11 || akró ná babhrír samithé mahī́nām didṛikshéyaḥ sūnáve bhā́ṛijīkaḥ | úd usríyā jánitā yó jajā́nāpā́m gárbho nṛítamo yahvó agníḥ || 12 || apā́m gárbham darṣatám óshadhīnām vánā jajāna subhágā vírūpam | devā́saṣ cin mánasā sám hí jagmúḥ pánishṭham jātám tavásam duvasyan || 13 || bṛihánta íd bhānávo bhā́ṛijīkam agním sacanta vidyúto ná ṣukrā́ḥ | gúheva vṛiddhám sádasi své antár apārá ūrvé amṛ́tam dúhānāḥ || 14 ||

From his first manifestation, he (the fire-divine) is conversant with the secret knowledge of the cosmos. He sets his voices and his streams in motion. Even though he is moving invisible with his young dames of heaven—Nature's bounties—he himself does not stay hidden. 9

He (the fire-divine) nurses the embryo of his sire (firmament) and generator (this world). He alone sucks many a swelling bosom—by their over-flowing love. Both, these fellow-spouses are bright and strong, and are friendly to men. May you, O fire, preserve them. 10

The mighty fire-divine grows in space unbounded; many cosmic vapours give strength to him. He, the friend of mankind lies there within the lap of nature's laws, enjoying the affection of sisterly cosmic rivers. 11

This cosmic fire is the generator of universe, the embryo of waters, the leader of men, most manly, defender in struggles, and is illumined by his own radiance. He himself produces water for his loving children. 12

The auspicious wood genders this fire divine, who is varied in his graceful forms and is present in all the vapours of the cosmos and plants. All the bounties of Nature approach with reverence this newly revealed, strong and resplendent fire-divine which is mighty and worthy of praise. 13

Like brilliant lightnings, mighty luminaries accompany the light-diffusing divine fire (the fire of conscience). Then he grows powerful, and imperishable in his boundless dwelling, as if in a deep cavern, whence they milk out immortal light. 14

ईळे च त्वा यजमानो हविर्भिरीळे सखित्वं सुमतिं निकामः ।
देवैरवो मिमीहि सं जरित्रे रक्षा च नो दम्येभिरनीकैः ॥१५॥

ïḷe ca tvā yája-
māno havírbhir íḷe sakhitvám sumatíṃ níkāmaḥ | devaír ávo mimīhi sáṃ jaritré ráksha ca no dámyebhir ánīkaiḥ
|| 15 ||

॥१६॥ उपक्षेतारस्तव सुप्रणीतेऽग्ने विश्वानि धन्या दधानाः ।
सुरेतसा श्रवसा तुञ्जमाना अभि ष्याम पृतनायूँरदेवान् ॥१६॥
आ देवानामभवः केतुरग्ने मन्द्रो विश्वानि काव्यानि विद्वान् ।
प्रति मर्ताँ अवासयो दमूना अनु देवान्रथिरो यासि साधन् ॥१७॥
नि दुरोणे अमृतो मर्त्यानां राजा ससाद विदथानि साधन् ।
घृतप्रतीक उर्विया व्यद्यौदग्निर्विश्वानि काव्यानि विद्वान् ॥१८॥
आ नो गहि सख्येभिः शिवेभिर्महान्महीभिरूतिभिः सरण्यन् ।
अस्मे रयिं बहुलं संतरुत्रं सुवाचं भागं यशसं कृधी नः ॥१९॥
एता ते अग्ने जनिमा सनानि प्र पूर्व्याय नूतनानि वोचम् ।
महान्ति वृष्णे सवना कृतेमा जन्मञ्जन्मन्निहितो जातवेदाः ॥२०॥ upakshetā́ras táva supraṇīté 'gne víśvāni dhányā dádhānāḥ | surétasā śrávasā túñjamānā abhí shyāma pṛitanāyū́ñr ádevān || 16 || ā́ devā́nām abhavaḥ ketúr agne mandró

víśvāni kā́vyāni vidvā́n | práti mártāñ avāsayo dámūnā ánu devā́n rathiró yāsi sā́dhan || 17 || ní duroṇé amṛíto mártyā-
nāṃ rā́jā sasāda vidáthāni sā́dhan | ghṛitápratīka urviyā́ vy àdyaud agnír víśvāni kā́vyāni vidvā́n || 18 || ā́ no gahi sa-khyébhiḥ śivébhir mahā́n mahíbhir ūtíbhiḥ saraṇyán | asmé rayím bahulám sáṃtarutram suvā́cam bhāgám yaśásam kṛidhī naḥ || 19 || etā́ te agne jánimā sánāni prá pūrvyā́ya
nū́tanāni vocam | mahā́nti vṛíshṇe sávanā kṛitémā jánmañ
-janman níhito jātávedāḥ || 20 ||

I worship you with dedication, and crave for your goodwill and friendship. May you along with Nature's bounties bestow grace upon the chanters of hymns, and protect us with your benign radiance. 15

O fire-divine, the illustrious leader of all, may we, your followers, masters of all treasures become strong by honest and earnest action and good reputation, so that we may overpower the godless opponents (i.e. evil desires), when they come in conflict with us. 16

You are the banner of Nature's bounties, O fire-divine; you are the bestower of bliss and knower of all secret wisdom. You provide dwelling places to the mortals, and enlighten them. With great speed, like a charioteer, you march towards godly men and fulfil their aspirations. 17

The immortal king of universe takes his place in the heart of mortal men, and blesses them in all their sacred aspirations. The divine-fire, with his spiritual radiance reflecting intense love and knowing all secret wisdom shines extensively, as fire fed with butter. 18

O Lord of creations, come unto us with your auspicious friendship; come speedily with your mighty strength to protect us. Bestow upon us abundant wealth, safe from dangers, well-spoken of, desirable and renowned. 19

O fire-omniscience, I address you, who are ancient, these old and new adorations. These invocations are offered to you, O showerer of benefits. You are the cognizant of all that exists and you are established in this life and all the lives to come. 20

जन्मञ्जन्मन्निहितो जातवेदा विश्वामित्रेभिरिध्यते अजस्रः ।
तस्य वयं सुमतौ यज्ञियस्यापि भद्रे सौमनसे स्याम ॥२१॥
इमं यज्ञं सहसावन्त्वं नो देवत्रा धेहि सुक्रतो रराणः ।
प्र यंसि होतर्बृहतीरिषो नोऽग्ने महि द्रविणमा यजस्व ॥२२॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥२३॥

jánmañ-janman níhito jātávedā viṣvámitrebhir idhyate ájasraḥ | tásya vayám̩ sumataú yajñíyasyápi bhadré saumanasé syāma || 21 || imám̩ yajñám̩ sahasāvan tvám̩ no devatrá dhehi sukrato rárāṇaḥ | prá yaṅsi hotar bṛihatír ísho nó 'gne máhi drávinam á yajasva || 22 || ílām agne purudáṅsam̩ saním̩ góḥ ṣaṣvattamám̩ hávamānāya sādha | syán naḥ sūnús tánayo vijávágne sá te sumatír bhūtv asmé || 23 ||

(२) द्वितीयं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । वैश्वानरोऽग्निर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ वैश्वानराय धिषणामृतावृधे घृतं न पूतमग्नये जनामसि ।
द्विता होतारं मनुषश्च वाघतो धिया रथं न कुलिशः समृण्वति ॥१॥
स रोचयज्जनुषा रोदसी उभे स मात्रोरभवत्पुत्र ईड्यः ।
हव्यवाळग्निरजरश्चनोहितो दूळभो विशामतिथिर्विभावसुः ॥२॥

2.

Vaiṣvānaráya dhisháṇām ṛitāvṛídhe ghṛitám̩ ná pūtám agnáye janāmasi | dvitá hótāram mánushaṣ ca vāgháto dhiyá rátham̩ ná kúliṣaḥ sám ṛiṇvati || 1 || sá rocayaj janúshā ródasī ubhé sá mātrór abhavat putrá íḍyaḥ | havyavál̥ agnír ajáraṣ cánohito dūl̥ábho viṣám átithir vibhávasuḥ || 2 ||

The omniscient fire-divine (the fire of conscience) is established in every person in his every birth. This perpetual fire-divine is kindled by devotees who are friendly to all. May we ever be held in the good grace and favour of that supreme creator, worthy of our adoration. 21

O mighty fire-divine, the performer of good deeds, may you rejoicingly convey our noble acts to the bounties of Nature. O invoker of Nature's bounties, bestow on us abundant food and grant us great wealth. 22

O fire of inner conscience, may you acquire for your most devoted worshipper nourishing food which enables him to obtain wisdom and which works wonders. May we have children, to multiply our race; may that gracious will of yours be ever upon us. 23

2

We present our praises, pure as butter, to fire-divine, illustrious leader of the universe, who promotes eternal law. With thoughtful insight, worshipper and priests bring this eternal invoker anear to the two-fold functions as an axe of carpenter fabricates a chariot. 1

By his first manifestation he (the terrestrial fire) makes both the worlds (heaven and earth) resplendent. He, the praise-worthy offspring of his parents, becomes ageless, gracious, infallible carrier of oblations, rich in radiant light and inviolable guest of the people. 2

क्रत्वा दक्षस्य तरुषो विधर्मणि देवासो अग्निं जनयन्त चित्तिभिः ।
रुरुचानं भानुना ज्योतिषा महामत्यं न वाजं सनिष्यन्नुप ब्रुवे ॥३॥
आ मन्द्रस्य सनिष्यन्तो वरेण्यं वृणीमहे अह्रयं वाजमृग्मियम् ।
रातिं भृगूणामुशिजं कविक्रतुमग्निं राजन्तं दिव्येन शोचिषा ॥४॥
अग्निं सुम्नाय दधिरे पुरो जना वाजश्रवसमिह वृक्तबर्हिषः ।
यतस्रुचः सुरुचं विश्वदेव्यं रुद्रं यज्ञानां साधदिष्टिमपसाम् ॥५॥

krátvā dákshasya tárusho vídharmaṇi deváso agníṃ janayanta cíttibhiḥ | rurucānáṃ bhānúnā jyótishā mahā́m átyaṃ ná vā́jaṃ sanishyánn úpa bruve || 3 || ā́ mandrásya sanishyánto váreṇyaṃ vṛiṇīmáhe áhrayaṃ vā́jam ṛigmíyam | rātíṃ bhṛígūṇām uśíjaṃ kavíkratum agníṃ rā́jantaṃ divyéna śocíshā || 4 || agníṃ sumnā́ya dadhire puró jánā vā́jaśravasam ihá vṛiktábarhishaḥ | yatásrucaḥ surúcaṃ viśvádevyaṃ rudráṃ yajñā́nāṃ sā́dhadishṭim apásām || 5 ||

॥१८॥ पावकशोचे तव हि क्षयं परि होतर्यज्ञेषु वृक्तबर्हिषो नरः ।
अग्ने दुवं इच्छमानास आप्यमुपासते द्रविणं धेहि तेभ्यः ॥६॥
आ रोदसी अपृणदा स्वर्महज्जातं यदेनमपसो अधारयन् ।
सो अध्वराय परि णीयते कविरत्यो न वाजसातये चनोहितः ॥७॥
नमस्यत हव्यदातिं स्वध्वरं दुवस्यत दम्यं जातवेदसम् ।
रथीर्ऋतस्य बृहतो विचर्षणिरग्निर्देवानामभवत्पुरोहितः ॥८॥

pā́vakaśoce táva hí ksháyam pári hótar yajñéshu vṛiktábarhisho náraḥ | ágne dúva ichámānāsa ā́pyam úpāsate drávinaṃ dhehi tébhyaḥ || 6 || ā́ ródasī apṛiṇad ā́ svàr maháj jātáṃ yád enam apáso ádhārayan | só adhvarā́ya pári ṇīyate kavír átyo ná vā́jasātaye cánohitaḥ || 7 || namasyáta havyádātiṃ svadhvaráṃ duvasyáta dámyaṃ jātávedasam | rathír ṛitásya bṛiható vícarshaṇir agnír devā́nām abhavat puróhitaḥ || 8 ||

The enlightened priests generate the fire-divine in multiform by their surpassing strength of power, and with their inventive thoughts. I, eager to win a reward, address him who is speedy like a horse and resplendent with his solar brilliance. 3

Eager to obtain the enviable, ample, and praise-worthy reward, we choose out fire-divine, who is the giver of gifts to the enlightened ancient seers, with poet's wisdom, and shines forth with a heavenly lustre. 4

For happiness, men, having practised austerity, and uplifted ladies set the sacrificial fire glorious, before performing any noble act. This fire is renowned for giving benefits, is extremely brilliant, is dear to all divine powers, inflictor of punishments, and he enables men to accomplish good and benevolent deeds. 5

O invoking priest, the fire-divine of purifying flame, men spread out their loving devotion at the place of worship, and enshrine you in their hearts. They wait on you, O fire-divine, for your service and friendship. May you bestow wealth and wisdom on them. 6

The fire-divine fills heaven and earth and also the great realm of light, as soon as manifest. The wise men glorify him by their noble deeds. He, the giver of food, is led forth to the place of worship like a steed, so that he may grant us wealth and wisdom. 7

He is oblation-bearer and knower of all laws and regulations; he serves all household friends and knows everything. May you honour and revere fire-divine, who drives the chariot of imperishable laws. He is most active and foremost among the divine powers. 8

तिस्रो यह्वस्य समिधः परिज्मनोऽग्नेरपुनन्नुशिजो अमृत्यवः ।
तासामेकामदधुर्मर्त्ये भुजमु लोकमु द्वे उप जामिमीयतुः ॥९॥
विशां कविं विश्पतिं मानुषीरिषः सं सीमकृण्वन्त्स्वधितिं न तेजसे ।
स उद्वतो निवतो याति वेविषत्स गर्भमेषु भुवनेषु दीधरत् ॥१०॥

tisró yahvásya samídhaḥ párijmano ’gnér apunann uṣíjo ámṛityavaḥ | tásām ékām ádadhur mártye bhújam u lokám u dvé úpa jāmím īyatuḥ || 9 || viṣā́ṃ kavíṃ viṣpátim mā́nushīr íshaḥ sáṃ sīm akṛiṇvan svádhitiṃ ná téjase | sá udváto niváto yāti vévishat sá gárbham eshú bhúvaneshu dīdharat || 10 ||

॥११॥ स जिन्वते जठरेषु प्रजज्ञिवान्वृषा चित्रेषु नानदन्न सिंहः ।
वैश्वानरः पृथुपाजा अमर्त्यो वसु रत्ना दयमानो वि दाशुषे ॥११॥
वैश्वानरः प्रत्नथा नाकमारुहद्दिवस्पृष्ठं भन्दमानः सुमन्मभिः ।
स पूर्ववज्जनयञ्जन्तवे धनं समानमज्मं पर्येति जागृविः ॥१२॥
ऋतावानं यज्ञियं विप्रमुक्थ्य१मा यं दधे मातरिश्वा दिवि क्षयम् ।
तं चित्रयामं हरिकेशमीमहे सुदीतिमग्निं सुविताय नव्यसे ॥१३॥
शुचिं न यामन्निषिरं स्वर्दृशं केतुं दिवो रोचनस्थामुषर्बुधम् ।
अग्निं मूर्धानं दिवो अप्रतिष्कुतं तमीमहे नमसा वाजिनं बृहत् ॥१४॥

sá jinvate jaṭháreshu prajajñiván vríshā citréshu nā́nadan ná siṅháḥ | vaiṣvānaráḥ prithupā́jā ámartyo vásu rátnā dáyamāno ví dāṣúshe || 11 || vaiṣvānaráḥ pratnáthā nā́kam áruhad divás prishṭhám bhándamānaḥ sumánmabhiḥ | sá pūrvaváj janáyañ jantáve dhánaṃ samānám ájmam páry eti jā́grivih || 12 || ritávānaṃ yajñíyaṃ vípram ukthyàm ā́ yáṃ dadhé mātaríṣvā diví kshárayam | táṃ citráyāmaṃ hárikeṣam īmahe sudītím agníṃ suvitā́ya návyase || 13 || ṣúciṃ ná yā́mann ishiráṃ svardríṣaṃ ketúṃ divó rocanasthā́m usharbúdham | agním mūrdhā́naṃ divó ápratishkutaṃ tám īmahe námasā vājínam brihát || 14 ||

The immortal priests consecrated three splendours of the great and all-pervading divine fire; one of them, they placed in the world of mortals as the nourisher; while the other two (lightning and the sun) have passed into the sisterly worlds of space. 9

The sacrificial offerings presented by men brighten the fire-divine, wise and protector of men, just as they sharpen and polish the axe. Repeatedly he goes to high and low places; and lays down his vital seed of life within these worlds. 10

While manifest in multicoloured receptacles of cosmos, the mighty fire-divine, the immortal illustrious leader of the universe, a divinity or profound lustre, grows roaring like a lion, and bestows wealth and wisdom on dedicated worshippers. 11

The illustrious leader of the universe, ascends as ever the heaven above the summit of firmament, well greeted by the singers of brilliant hymns. He, as in old times, producing riches for the folk, and ever vigilant, traverses the common way again. 12

We invoke the fire-divine for new prosperity, him who goes high in a splendid way, whose flames are golden and excellently bright. The cosmic wind brings and establishes on earth, this holy fire, adorable, true to law, wise and originally a dweller in high heaven. 13

We with mighty prayers implore him, who is pure, swift, giver of food, beholder of light, and who strides in heaven's bright sphere like banner, whom none may turn aside and who is awakened at dawn. 14

मन्द्रं होतारं शुचिमद्वयाविनं दमूनसमुक्थ्यं विश्वचर्षणिम् ।
रथं न चित्रं वपुषाय दर्शतं मनुर्हितं सदमिद्राय ईमहे ॥१५॥

mandrám hótāram súcim ádvayāvinam dámūnasam ukthyàm visvácarshanim | rátham ná citrám vápushāya darsatám mánurhitam sádam íd rāyá īmahe || 15 ||

(३) तृतीयं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । वैश्वानरोऽग्निर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ वैश्वानराय पृथुपाजसे विपो रत्ना विधन्त धरुणेषु गातवे ।
अग्निर्हि देवाँ अमृतो दुवस्यत्यथा धर्माणि सनता न दूदुषत् ॥१॥
अन्तर्दूतो रोदसी दस्म ईयते होता निषत्तो मनुषः पुरोहितः ।
क्षयं बृहन्तं परि भूषति द्युभिर्देवेभिरग्निरिषितो धियावसुः ॥२॥
केतुं यज्ञानां विदथस्य साधनं विप्रासो अग्निं महयन्त चित्तिभिः ।
अपांसि यस्मिन्नधि संदधुर्गिरस्तस्मिन्त्सुम्नानि यजमान आ चके ॥३॥
पिता यज्ञानामसुरो विपश्चितां विमानमग्निर्वयुनं च वाघताम् ।
आ विवेश रोदसी भूरिवर्पसा पुरुप्रियो भन्दते धामभिः कविः ॥४॥

3.

Vaisvānaráya prithupájase vípo rátnā vidhanta dharúneshu gátave | agnír hí deváň amríto duvasyáty áthā dhármāni sanátā ná dūdushat || 1 || antár dūtó ródasī dasmá īyate hótā níshatto mánushah puróhitah | ksháyam brihántam pári bhūshati dyúbhir devébhir agnír ishitó dhiyávasuh || 2 || ketúm yajñánām vidáthasya sádhanam víprāso agním mahayanta cíttibhih | ápānsi yásminn ádhi samdadhúr gíras tásmin sumnáni yájamāna á cake || 3 || pitá yajñánām ásuro vipascítām vimánam agnír vayúnam ca vāghátām | á vivesa ródasī bhúrivarpasa purupriyó bhandate dhámabhih kavíh || 4 ||

We solicit wealth and wisdom of the adorable fire-divine (or the fire of inner conscience), who is cheerful, invoker of bounties of nature, pure, the suppressor of enemies, praise-worthy and dear to all mankind. He is beautiful to behold like a splendid chariot, benefactor of men. 15

3

They, the intelligent priests, offer precious things to the immensely powerful fire-divine, the leader of mankind, during the firmly-founded (holy rites) so that they may go (on the right path). The immortal fire-divine honours Nature's bounties, and therefore, let no one violate the eternal laws. 1

The splendorous fire-divine goes between heaven and earth, as the messanger of Nature's bounties, having taken his seat as man's invoking foremost priest. The fire-divine urged by powers, prays with hymns, and diligently adorns great heights in the celestial region. 2

By their earnest thoughts, the sages glorify the fire-divine, the ensign of their faith, the one who fulfils their sacred aspirations. To him the sages dedicate their benevolent actions, and the worshipper looks for joy and happiness. 3

The fire-divine is a preserver of faith, the invigorator of learned, the measure and the symbol of the sages. He in many different forms pervades heaven and earth. He is the popular sage, who is glorified on account of his great might and splendour. 4

चन्द्रमग्निं चन्द्ररथं हरिव्रतं वैश्वानरमप्सुषदं स्वर्विदम् ।
विगाहं तूर्णिं तविषीभिरावृतं भूर्णिं देवास इह सुश्रियं दधुः ॥५॥

candrám agním candrárathaṃ hárivrataṃ vaisvanarám apsushádaṃ svarvídam | vigāháṃ tū́rṇiṃ távishībhir ā́vṛitam bhū́rṇiṃ devása ihá susríyaṃ dadhuḥ || 5 ||

॥२१॥ अग्निर्देवेभिर्मनुषश्च जन्तुभिस्तन्वानो यज्ञं पुरुपेशसं धिया ।
रथीरन्तरीयते साधदिष्टिभिर्जीरो दमूना अभिशस्तिचातनः ॥६॥
अग्ने जरस्व स्वपत्य आयुन्यूर्जा पिन्वस्व समिषो दिदीहि नः ।
वयांसि जिन्व बृहतश्च जागृव उशिग्देवानामसि सुक्रतुर्विपाम् ॥७॥
विश्पतिं यह्वमतिथिं नरः सदा यन्तारं धीनामुशिजं च वाघताम् ।
अध्वराणां चेतनं जातवेदसं प्र शंसन्ति नमसा जूतिभिर्वृधे ॥८॥
विभावा देवः सुरणः परि क्षितीरग्निर्बभूव शवसा सुमद्रथः ।
तस्य व्रतानि भूरिपोषिणो वयमुप भूषेम दम आ सुवृक्तिभिः ॥९॥

agnír devébhir mánushaṣ ca jantúbhis tanvānó yajñám purupéṣasaṃ dhiyá | rathír antár īyate sádhadishṭibhir jīró dámūnā abhiṣasticátanaḥ || 6 || ágne járasva svapatyá ā́yuny ūrjá pinvasva sám ísho didīhi naḥ | váyaṅsi jinva bṛihatáṣ ca jāgṛiva uṣíg devā́nām ási sukrátur vipā́m || 7 || viṣpátiṃ yahvám átithiṃ náraḥ sádā yantáraṃ dhīnā́m uṣíjaṃ ca vāghátam | adhvarā́ṇāṃ cétanaṃ jātávedasam prá ṣaṅsanti námasā jūtíbhir vṛidhé || 8 || vibhā́vā deváḥ suráṇaḥ pári kshitír agnír babhūva ṣávasā sumádrathaḥ | tásya vratā́ni bhūriposhíṇo vayám úpa bhūshema dáma ā́ suvṛiktíbhiḥ || 9 ||

The divine men have established here the lovely fire-divine, the illustrious leader of the universe, whose chariot is charming, whose actions are golden, who dwells in cosmic vapours, and is full of bliss. Pervading swiftly and wildly he is surrounded by powers. He is vivacious and very glorious. 5

Perfect in performance the multiform sacrifice, the fire-divine (the universal fire), the subduer of evils, the charioteer, swift-moving, goes to and forth along with Nature's bounties in his cosmic chariot, in the space between heaven and earth. 6

O fire-divine, may you bless us in order that we be gifted with good progeny and long life; may your radiance increase in brilliance and may you invigorate us with energy, and provide us with food, ever vigilant, may you bestow upon us plentiful crops. You are active envoy of nature's bounties, and lord of our inspired songs. 7

The leaders always praise with their salutation and extensive devotion, the fire-divine who is ever young and mighty lord of people and their guest and the inspirer of pious thoughts. He is the eternal priest of eloquent poets and the omniscient enlivener of woshippers for their prosperity. 8

The fire-divine, the resplendent, the giver of great joy, accompanied by his lovely cosmic chariot, encompasses the whole earth by his might for protection. Let us, with excellent laudations, place ourselves under the laws of that supreme who nourishes multitudes in his own abode. 9

वैश्वानर तव धामान्या चंके येभिः स्वर्विदभवो विचक्षण ।
जात आपृणो भुवनानि रोदसी अग्ने ता विश्वा परिभूरसि त्मना ॥१०॥
वैश्वानरस्य दंसनाभ्यो बृहदरिणादेकः स्वपस्यया कविः ।
उभा पितरा महयन्नजायताग्निर्द्यावापृथिवी भूरिरेतसा ॥११॥

vaíṣvānara táva dhā́māny ā́ cake yébhiḥ svarvíd ábhavo vicakshaṇa | jātá ā́priṇo bhúvanāni ródasī ágne tā́ víṣvā paribhū́r asi tmánā || 10 || vaiṣvānarásya daṅsánābhyo bṛihád áriṇād ékaḥ svapasyáyā kavíḥ | ubhā́ pitárā mahá-yann ajāyatāgnír dyā́vāpṛithiví bhū́riretasā || 11 ||

(४) चतुर्थं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च इध्मः समिद्धो वाग्निः, (२) द्वितीयायास्तनूनपात्, (३) तृतीयाया इळः, (४) चतुर्थ्या बर्हिः, (५) पञ्चम्या देवीर्द्वारः, (६) षष्ठ्या उषासानक्ता, (७) सप्तम्या दैव्यौ होतारौ प्रचेतसौ, (८) अष्टम्यास्तिस्रो देव्यः सरस्वतीळा-भारत्यः, (९) नवम्यास्त्वष्टा, (१०) दशम्या वनस्पतिः, (११) एकादश्याश्च स्वाहाकृतयो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२२॥ समित्समित्सुमना बोध्यस्मे शुचाशुचा सुमतिं रासि वस्वः ।
आ देव देवान्यजथाय वक्षि सखा सखीन्त्सुमना यक्ष्यग्ने ॥१॥
यं देवासस्त्रिरहन्नायजन्ते दिवेदिवे वरुणो मित्रो अग्निः ।
सेमं यज्ञं मधुमन्तं कृधी नस्तनूनपाद्घृतयोनिं विधन्तम् ॥२॥

4.

Samíṭ-samit sumánā bodhy asmé ṣucā́-ṣucā sumatím rāsi vásvaḥ | ā́ deva devā́n yajáthāya vakshi sákhā sákhīn sumánā yakshy agne || 1 || yám devā́sas trír áhann āyájante divé-dive váruṇo mitró agníḥ | sémám yajñám mádhumantaṃ kṛidhi nas tánūnapād ghṛitáyonim vidhántam || 2 ||

O illustrious leader of the universe, the seer of all, I celebrate your glories wherewith you become blissfull. You fill the entire creation down from heaven to earth as soon as you get manifested. O fire-divine, you yourself surround all the creatures of the universe and thus provide them protection. 10

Following the deeds of the universally devoted person, one attains greatness (or prosperity). Such a sage alone bestows rewards of noble actions. This fire-divine, adoring both the parents, (heaven and earth), has become manifest, by his own supremacy. 11

4

May you be gracious to us with each kindled wood of fuel, and with every flash grant the boon of prosperity. O fire-divine, may you bring divine powers to help us in our benevolent actions. May you favour your devotees, as friends favour friends. 1

May the fire-divine, the universal protector of bodies, who is devotionally sustained thrice a day, every day, by Nature's bounties like the sun the surveyor during the morning, by terrestrical fire— the adorable, the venerable, during the day and by moon and stars, during the night, enrich the source of our devotional enlightenment with his sweetness and love. 2

प्र दीधितिर्विश्ववारा जिगाति होतारमिळः प्रथमं यजध्यै ।
अच्छा नमोभिर्वृषभं वन्दध्यै स देवान्यक्षदिषितो यजीयान् ॥३॥
ऊर्ध्वो वां गातुरध्वरे अकार्यूर्ध्वा शोचींषि प्रस्थिता रजांसि ।
दिवो वा नाभा न्यसादि होता स्तृणीमहि देवव्यचा वि बर्हिः ॥४॥
सप्त होत्राणि मनसा वृणाना इन्वन्तो विश्वं प्रति यन्नृतेन ।
नृपेशसो विदथेषु प्र जाता अभी३मं यज्ञं वि चरन्त पूर्वीः ॥५॥

dī́dhitir viṣvávāra jigāti hótāram iḷáḥ prathamáṃ yája-dhyai | áchā námobhir vrishabhám vandádhyai sá devā́n yakshad ishitó yájīyān || 3 || ūrdhvó vāṃ gātúr adhvaré akāry ūrdhvā́ ṣocī́ṅshi prásthitā rájāṅsi | divó va nábhā ny àsādi hótā strinīmáhi devávyacā ví barhíḥ || 4 || saptá hotrāṇi mánasā vriṇāná ínvanto víṣvam práti yann riténa | nripéṣaso vidátheshu prá jātá abhīmáṃ yajñáṃ ví caranta pūrvī́ḥ || 5 ||

॥२३॥ आ भन्दमाने उषसा उपाके उत स्मयेते तन्वा३ विरूपे ।
यथा नो मित्रो वरुणो जुजोषदिन्द्रो मरुत्वाँ उत वा महोभिः ॥६॥
दैव्या होतारा प्रथमा न्यृञ्जे सप्त पृक्षासः स्वधया मदन्ति ।
ऋतं शंसन्त ऋतमित्त आहुरनु व्रतं व्रतपा दीध्यानाः ॥७॥
आ भारती भारतीभिः सजोषा इळा देवैर्मनुष्येभिरग्निः ।
सरस्वती सारस्वतेभिरर्वाक्तिस्रो देवीर्बर्हिरेदं सदन्तु ॥८॥

á bhándamāne ushása upāke utá smayete tanvā̀ vírūpe | yáthā no mitró váruṇo jújoshad índro marútvāṅ utá vā máhobhiḥ || 6 || daívyā hótārā prathamá ny ṛiñje saptá pri-kshásaḥ svadháyā madanti | ritáṃ ṣáṅsanta ritám ít tá āhur ánu vratáṃ vratapá dídhyānāḥ || 7 || á bháratī bhára-tībhiḥ sajóshā íḷā devaír manushyèbhir agníḥ | sárasvatī sārasvatébhir arvák tisró devír barhír édáṃ sadantu || 8 ||

May the universally recognized divine wisdom proceed to adore the first invoker of our sacred worship. May we honour the mighty Lord, the showerer of benefits, with our homage. Being urged may He invite the worshipful Nature's bounties to our assistance. 3

The fire is enkindled for both (the householder and the priest) to carry you upwards, in the sacred ritual. Its radiant flames soar aloft to celestial regions. The invoker has his firm seat in the midst of the navel, and the proper cushion mirth have been assigned to the learned participants. 4

Nature's bounties which gratify the universe with rain are invoked during the seven processes of the fire-ritual, when solicited with all sincerety of mind. May the personified Nature's bounties be with us for bringing prosperity in our fire-ritual. 5

Night and dawn, both being praised come here together, smiling in different forms and colours. May divine powers, such as the wind, the ocean, and the lightning (fire from electric and other sources), associated with vital principles, serve us with their glories. 6

Of all the invokers, I propitiate the two foremost celestial ones, fire and the sun. The seven ministering priests also please them by the offerings of milk, butter and food. Honouring the eternal truths and meditating on these laws, they always abide by them. 7

May the divine culture together with the masters of cultural studies, the divine wisdom, together with wise, and the divine speech, together with eloquent speakers come to us and all these three divine virtues be enshrined in our hearts. 8

तन्नस्तुरीपमध पोषयित्नु देव त्वष्टर्वि रराणः स्यस्व ।
यतो वीरः कर्मण्यः सुदक्षो युक्तग्रावा जायते देवकामः ॥९॥
वनस्पतेऽव सृजोप देवानग्निर्हविः शमिता सूदयाति ।
सेदु होता सत्यतरो यजाति यथा देवानां जनिमानि वेद ॥१०॥
आ याह्यग्ने समिधानो अर्वाङिन्द्रेण देवैः सरथं तुरेभिः ।
बर्हिर्न आस्तामदितिः सुपुत्रा स्वाहा देवा अमृता मादयन्ताम् ॥११॥

tán nas turípam ádha poshayitnú déva tvashṭar ví rarāṇáḥ syasva | yáto vīráḥ karmaṇyàḥ sudáksho yuktágrāvā jấyate devákāmaḥ || 9 || vánaspaté 'va sṛijópa devấn agnír havíḥ ṣamitấ sūdayāti | séd u hótā satyátaro yajāti yáthā devánāṃ jánimāni véda || 10 || ấ yāhy agne samidhānó arvấñ índreṇa devaíḥ saráthaṃ turébhiḥ | barhír na āstām áditiḥ suputrá sváhā devấ amṛ́tā mādayantām || 11 ||

(५) पञ्चमं सूक्तम्

(११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ प्रत्यग्निरुषसश्चेकितानोऽबोधि विप्रः पदवीः कवीनाम् ।
पृथुपाजा देवयद्भिः समिद्धोऽप द्वारा तमसो वह्निरावः ॥१॥
प्रेद्वग्निर्वावृधे स्तोमेभिर्गीर्भिः स्तोतॄणां नमस्य उक्थैः ।
पूर्वीर्ऋतस्य संदृशश्चकानः सं दूतो अद्यौदुषसो विरोके ॥२॥

5.

Práty agnír usháṣas cékitānó 'bodhi vípraḥ padavíḥ kavīnám | pṛithupájā devayádbhiḥ sámiddhó 'pa dvấrā támaso váhnir āvaḥ || 1 || préd v agnír vāvṛidhe stómebhir gīrbhí stotṝṇáṃ namasyà ukthaíḥ | pūrvī́r ṛitásya saṃdṛíṣaṣ cakānáḥ sáṃ dūtó adyaud usháso viroké || 2 ||

O supreme architect of creation, may you be generous to grant us strength and vigour so that we give birth to such a child who is intelligent, ever-active, proficient in sculpture and beloved amongst enlightened persons. 9

O master of forests, may you send forth Nature's bounties to help us. May the sustaining fire-divine ripen our corn for offerings. May He, the embodiment of great truths be our invoker, since He alone knows the divine secrets. 10

O fire-divine, kindled into flames, may you, associated with the rays of the sun and other divine powers, come here speedily as if mounted on the fast-running chariot. May the mother earth cherish us in our sacred works. May the immortal environmental divine powers appreciate our devotional exclamation 'Svaha'. 11

5

The fire-divine, the eloquent leader of the wise and the enlightened sages is awakened to greet the dawns. He, kindled by the pious priests, throws open the gates of darkness with his far-spread lustre. 1

The adorable fire-divine is magnified by laudations, sacred hymns, and praises sung by the chanters. Like eternal truths, the messenger, particularly shines forth at the first flash of dawn. 2

अधाय्यग्निर्मानुषीषु विक्ष्व१पां गर्भो मित्र ऋतेन साधन् ।
आ हर्यतो यजतः सान्वस्थादभूदु विप्रो हव्यो मतीनाम् ॥३॥
मित्रो अग्निर्भवति यत्समिद्धो मित्रो होता वरुणो जातवेदाः ।
मित्रो अध्वर्युरिषिरो दमूना मित्रः सिन्धूनामुत पर्वतानाम् ॥४॥
पाति प्रियं रिपो अग्रं पदं वेः पाति यह्वश्चरणं सूर्यस्य ।
पाति नाभा सप्तशीर्षाणमग्निः पाति देवानामुपमादमृष्वः ॥५॥

ádhāyy agnír mā́nushīshu vikshv àpā́ṃ gárbho mitrá ṛiténa sā́dhan | ā́ haryató yajatáḥ sā́nv asthād ábhūd u vípro hávyo matīnā́m || 3 || mitró agnír bhavati yát sámiddho mitró hótā váruṇo jātávedāḥ | mitró adhvaryúr ishiró dámūnā mitráḥ síndhūnām utá párvatānām || 4 || pā́ti priyáṃ ripó ágram padáṃ véḥ pā́ti yahváṣ cáraṇaṃ sū́ryasya | pā́ti nā́bhā saptáṣīrshāṇam agníḥ pā́ti devā́nām upamā́dam ṛishváḥ || 5 ||

॥२५॥ ऋभुश्चक्र ईड्यं चारु नाम विश्वानि देवो वयुनानि विद्वान् ।
ससस्य चर्म घृतवत्पदं वेस्तदिदग्नी रक्षत्यप्रयुच्छन् ॥६॥
आ योनिमग्निर्घृतवन्तमस्थात्पृथुप्रगाणमुशन्तमुशानः ।
दीद्यानः शुचिर्ऋष्वः पावकः पुनःपुनर्मातरा नव्यसी कः ॥७॥
सद्यो जात ओषधीभिर्ववक्षे यदी वर्धन्ति प्रस्वो घृतेन ।
आप इव प्रवता शुम्भमाना उरुष्यदग्निः पित्रोरुपस्थे ॥८॥

ṛibhúṣ cakra ī́ḍyaṃ cā́ru nā́ma víṣvāni devó vayúnāni vidvā́n | sasásya cárma ghṛitávat padáṃ vés tád íd agní rakshaty áprayuchan || 6 || ā́ yónim agnír ghṛitávantam asthāt prithúpragāṇam uṣántam uṣānáḥ | dī́dyānaḥ ṣúcir ṛishváḥ pāvakáḥ púnaḥ-punar mātárā návyasī kaḥ || 7 || sadyó jātá óshadhībhir vavakshe yádī várdhanti prasvò ghṛiténa | ā́pa iva pravátā ṣúmbhamānā urushyád agníḥ pitrór upásthe || 8 ||

The fire-divine is generated amidst cosmic waters through eternal truths. He is the friend of the pious and is enshrined in the homes of men. Loved and adored he mounts upon the summit (the altar) and becomes worthy of our invocations. 3

The fire-divine when duly enkindled becomes friend; and as friend, he becomes invoker, venerable, and knows of all that exists. And again as friend, he functions as an active priest, an inspirer and disciplined. Verily he is benefactor of flowing rivers and moving clouds. 4

The graceful fire-divine guards the lovely extensive summit of the moving earth. Mighty, he guards the daily course of the sun. At the navel of the earth, (i.e. between heaven and earth) he guards the seven-fold vital principles and sublime deeds of pious devotees. 5

The wise fire-divine knows all that is to be known; he shines both in his latent and manifest forms, and assumes a fair name for adoration. The fire-divine guards with care that spiritual bliss which flows unceasingly. 6

The blazing fire-divine, which is refulgent, pure, sublime, and purifier, enters his bright sweet extensive chamber and provides fresh life to his parents, i.e. earth and heaven. 7

As soon as generated he ascends to heights and the tender shoots of plants flourish along with descending waters. May this fire-divine protect us while he grows in the bosom of his parents (heaven and earth). 8

उदु ष्टुतः समिधा यह्वो अद्यौद्वर्ष्मन्दिवो अधि नाभा पृथिव्याः ।
मित्रो अग्निरीड्यो मातरिश्वा दूतो वक्षद्यजथाय देवान् ॥९॥
उदस्तम्भीत्समिधा नाकमृष्वो३ऽग्निर्भवन्नुत्तमो रोचनानाम् ।
यदी भृगुभ्यः परि मातरिश्वा गुहा सन्तं हव्यवाहं समीधे ॥१०॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥११॥

úd u shṭutáḥ samídhā yahvó adyaud várshman divó ádhi nábhā pṛithivyā́ḥ | mitró agnír ī́ḍyo mātaríṣvā́ dūtó vakshad yajáthāya devā́n || 9 || úd astambhīt samídhā nā́kam ṛishvò 'gnír bhávann uttamó rocanā́nām | yádī bhṛ́gubhyaḥ pári mātaríṣvā gúhā sántaṃ havyavā́haṃ samīdhé || 10 || íḷām agne — || 11 ||

(६) षष्ठं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ प्र कारवो मनना वच्यमाना देवद्रीचीं नयत देवयन्तः ।
दक्षिणावाड्वाजिनी प्राच्येति हविर्भरन्त्यग्नये घृताची ॥१॥
आ रोदसी अपृणा जायमान उत प्र रिक्था अध नु प्रयज्यो ।
दिवश्चिदग्ने महिना पृथिव्या वच्यन्तां ते वह्नयः सप्तजिह्वाः ॥२॥
द्यौश्च त्वा पृथिवी यज्ञियासो नि होतारं सादयन्ते दमाय ।
यदी विशो मानुषीर्देवयन्तीः प्रयस्वतीरीळते शुक्रमर्चिः ॥३॥

6.

Prá kāravo mananā́ vacyámānā devadrī́cīṃ nayata devayántaḥ | dakshiṇāvā́ḍ vājínī prā́cy eti havír bháranty agnáye ghṛitā́cī || 1 || ā́ ródasī apṛiṇā jā́yamāna utá prá rikthā ádha nú prayajyo | diváṣ cid agne mahinā́ pṛithivyā́ vacyántāṃ te váhnayaḥ saptájihvāḥ || 2 || dyaúṣ ca tvā pṛithivī́ yajñíyāso ní hótāraṃ sādayante dámāya | yádī víṣo mā́nushīr devayántīḥ práyasvatīr ī́ḷate ṣukrám arcíḥ || 3 ||

Being extolled, the youthful fire-divine shines with kindled fuel to the summit of the celestial region and to the navel of the earth. May he, the benefactor, the adorable, the cosmic breath, bring here Nature's bounties to help us in the accomplishment of our selfless noble deeds. 9

For the sake of enlightened sages, the cosmic wind generates the fire-divine, the bearer of oblations, so far concealed in the caves. Now himself having become the best of all luminaries, and rising aloft he supports the firmament with his radiance. 10

O fire-divine, may you grant wisdom to your most devoted worshipper and may we have sons and grandsons to perpetuate our race. May your gracious favour ever remain with us. 11

6

Inspired with the divine urge, O devout singers, bring forward the divinity-approaching ladle directed towards the ritual fire. Charged with sacrificial food and brought to the forefront (east), from the south and filled with butter, it goes forth presenting an offering to the fire. 1

From your manifestation, O cosmic fire, you fill both heaven and earth, O most adorable, you excell them. May your seven-coloured flames roll on, far and wide, beyond the expanses of heaven and earth. 2

Whenever human race, aspiring to be divine and bringing offerings, praises your splendid lustre, heaven and earth, and adorable Nature's bounties, accept you as their prime invoker in the cosmic sacrifice. 3

महान्त्सधस्थे ध्रुव आ निषत्तोऽन्तर्द्यावा माहिने हर्यमाणः ।
आस्क्रे सपत्नी अजरे अमृक्ते सबर्दुघे उरुगायस्य धेनू ॥४॥
व्रता ते अग्ने महतो महानि तव क्रत्वा रोदसी आ ततन्थ ।
त्वं दूतो अभवो जायमानस्त्वं नेता वृषभ चर्षणीनाम् ॥५॥

mahán sadhásthe dhruvá á níshatto 'ntár dyávā máhine háryamāṇaḥ | áskre sapátnī ajáre ámṛikte sabardúghe urugāyásya dhenú || 4 || vratá te agne maható maháni táva krátvā ródasī á tatantha | tvám dūtó abhavo jáyamānas tvám netá vṛishabha carshaṇīnám || 5 ||

॥२७॥ ऋतस्य वा केशिना योग्याभिर्घृतस्नुवा रोहिता धुरि धिष्व ।
अथा वह देवान्देव विश्वान्त्स्वध्वरा कृणुहि जातवेदः ॥६॥
दिवश्चिदा ते रुचयन्त रोका उषो विभातीरनु भासि पूर्वीः ।
अपो यदग्न उशधग्वनेषु होतुर्मन्द्रस्य पनयन्त देवाः ॥७॥
उरौ वा ये अन्तरिक्षे मदन्ति दिवो वा ये रोचने सन्ति देवाः ।
ऊमा वा ये सुहवासो यजत्रा आयेमिरे रथ्यो अग्ने अश्वाः ॥८॥
ऐभिरग्ने सरथं याह्यर्वाङ् नानारथं वा विभवो ह्यश्वाः ।
पत्नीवतस्त्रिंशतं त्रींश्च देवाननुष्वधमा वह मादयस्व ॥९॥

ritásya vā keśínā yogyábhir ghṛitasnúvā róhitā dhurí dhishva | áthā vaha deván deva víśvān svadhvará kṛiṇuhi jātavedaḥ || 6 || diváś cid á te rucayanta roká ushó vibhātír ánu bhāsi pūrvíḥ | apó yád agna uśádhag váneshu hótur mandrásya panáyanta deváḥ || 7 || uraú vā yé antárikshe mádanti divó vā yé rocané sánti deváḥ | úmā vā yé suhávāso yájatrā āyemiré rathyo agne áśvāḥ || 8 || aíbhir agne saráthaṃ yāhy arváñ nānārathám vā vibhávo hy áśvāḥ | pátnīvatas triṅśátaṃ tríṅś ca deván anushvadhám á vaha mādáyasva || 9 ||

The great and beloved cosmic fire is surely established between heaven and earth. They (heaven and earth) may be regarded as powerful fellow brides (of the sun), or they may be compared with the two milch cows of the wide extending cosmic fire, furnishing their uninjuring nectar. 4

Great are your deeds, O great cosmic fire; you have fully spread abroad heaven and earth by your supremacy, as soon as you get manifest. You become a messenger between the two worlds and mighty leader of men. 5

May you harness with traces to your cosmic car, your long-maned ruddy steeds (solar rays) to proceed to participate in the cosmic sacrifice. O divine knower of all that is born, may you take along with you Nature's bounties and make them propitious to the divine oblation. 6

O blissful fire, when you abide in the forests and with your blazes, you dry up water at your pleasure, your brilliant lights shine right down from sky, and you beam through many a shining dawn. The learned devotees command your performance whilst you burn these forests. 7

(Along with) the divine powers who rejoice in the vast mid-region or dwell in the heaven's realm of brightness, or those, who are holy helpers and prompt to hear our calls, or who, whilst on their chariots turn their horses towards us; O cosmic fire, (may you approach us). 8

May you approach us with these, borne on one car, or on many, for your steeds (beams) are very powerful. May you then bring thirty and three divines together with their consorts (i.e. their virtues, attributes), according to your sweet will, and rejoice. 9

स होता यस्य रोदसी चिदुर्वी यज्ञंयज्ञमभि वृधे गृणीतः ।
प्राची अध्वरेव तस्थतुः सुमेके ऋतावरी ऋतजातस्य सत्ये ॥१०॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥११॥

sá hótā yásya ródasī cid urví yajñám-yajñam abhí vridhé grinītáh | prácī adhvaréva tasthatuh suméke ritávarī ritájātasya satyé || 10 || íḷām agne — || 11 ||

(७) सप्तमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ प्र य आरुः शितिपृष्ठस्य धासेरा मातरा विविशुः सप्त वाणीः ।
परिक्षिता पितरा सं चरेते प्र सर्स्राते दीर्घमायुः प्रयक्षे ॥१॥
दिवक्षसो धेनवो वृष्णो अश्वा देवीरा तस्थौ मधुमद्वहन्तीः ।
ऋतस्य त्वा सदसि क्षेमयन्तं पर्येका चरति वर्तनिं गौः ॥२॥
आ सीमरोहत्सुयमा भवन्तीः पतिश्चिकित्वान्रयिविद्रयीणाम् ।
प्र नीलपृष्ठो अतसस्य धासेस्ता अवासयत्पुरुधप्रतीकः ॥३॥

7.

Prá yá ārúh sitiprishthásya dhāsér á mātárā vivisuh saptá vánīh | parikshítā pitárā sám carete prá sarsrāte dīrghám áyuh prayákshe || 1 || divákshaso dhenávo vríshno ásvā devír á tasthau mádhumad váhantīh | ritásya tvā sádasi kshemayántam páry ékā carati vartaním gaúh || 2 || á sīm arohat suyámā bhávantīh pátis cikitván rayivíd rayīnám | prá nílaprishtho atasásya dhāsés tá avāsayat purudhápratīkah || 3 ||

He is the priest at whose repeated worship, even the vast heaven and earth sign out for the sake of expansion and evolution in the cosmic sacrifice. They, fair holy and true, stand to offer worship to Him who is born of truth, and is truth personified. 10

O fire-divine, may you grant wealth and wisdom to your most devoted worshipper; and may we have sons and grandsons who perpetuate our race. May your gracious favour ever remain with us. 11

7

The radiations of the white-backed, all-sustaining cosmic fire, have arisen and pervaded the spacious heaven and earth, and seven channels of speeches. The encompassing parents—heaven and earth—co-operate with him, and bestow long life for the sake of assiduous worship. 1

The sky-traversing beams of the showerer of benefits are the milch kine of the cosmic fire. They dwell in sweet streams of rivers. O fire, desirous of response, one of your divine attributes—the speech, always glorifies you pacifying your flames in the abode of everlasting truth. 2

The solar fire, the careful selector of treasures, mounts upon the well-trained mares (beams). The blue-backed and multi-faced solar corona grants them a good place of rest for cherishing of their rapid speed. 3

महि त्वाष्ट्रमूर्जयन्तीरजुर्यं स्तभूयमानं वहतो वहन्ति ।
व्यङ्गेभिर्दिद्युतानः सधस्थ एकामिव रोदसी आ विवेश ॥४॥
जानन्ति वृष्णो अरुषस्य शेवमुत ब्रध्नस्य शासने रणन्ति ।
दिवोरुचः सुरुचो रोचमाना इळा येषां गण्या माहिना गीः ॥५॥

máhi tvāshṭrám ūrjáyantīr ajuryám stabhūyámānam vaháto vahanti | vy áñgebhir didyutānáḥ sadhástha ékām iva ródasī á vivesa || 4 || jānánti vríshṇo arushásya sévam utá bradhnásya sásane raṇanti | divorúcaḥ surúco rócamānā íḷā yésham gáṇyā máhinā gíḥ || 5 ||

॥२॥ उतो पितृभ्यां प्रविदानु घोषं महो महद्भ्यामनयन्त शूषम् ।
उक्षा ह यत्र परि धानमक्तोरनु स्वं धाम जरितुर्ववक्ष ॥६॥
अध्वर्युभिः पञ्चभिः सप्त विप्राः प्रियं रक्षन्ते निहितं पदं वेः ।
प्राञ्चो मदन्त्युक्षणो अजुर्या देवा देवानामनु हि व्रता गुः ॥७॥
दैव्या होतारा प्रथमा न्यृञ्जे सप्त पृक्षासः स्वधया मदन्ति ।
ऋतं शंसन्त ऋतमित्त आहुरनु व्रतं व्रतपा दीध्यानाः ॥८॥
वृषायन्ते महे अत्याय पूर्वीर्वृष्णे चित्राय रश्मयः सुयामाः ।
देव होतर्मन्द्रतरश्चिकित्वान्महो देवान्रोदसी एह वक्षि ॥९॥

utó pitríbhyām pravídānu ghósham mahó mahádbhyām anayanta sūshám | ukshá ha yátra pári dhánam aktór ánu svám dháma jaritúr vavāksha || 6 || adhvaryúbhiḥ pañcábhiḥ saptá víprāḥ priyám rakshante níhitam padám véḥ | práñco madanty ukshánọ ajuryá devá devánām ánu hí vratá gúḥ || 7 || daívyā hótārā prathamá — || 8 || vrishāyánte mahé átyāya pūrvír vríshṇe citráya raṣmáyaḥ suyāmáḥ | déva hotar mandrátaraṣ cikitván mahó deván ródasī éhá vakshi || 9 ||

Invigorating him, who is mighty and immortal source of creation, the radiant waves carry him forward. The fire-divine, radiant with his various forms in celestial region, enters both the worlds as if they were one. 4

Men comprehend the blessings of the imperishable showerer of benefits, and exult in the command of the powerful fire-divine; their frequent, earnest, bright and radiant hymns are illuminating heaven. 5

Verily the devotees get knowledge of two mighty parents, heaven and earth, and by glorifying them aloud bring strength to the fire-divine. Then the fire-divine, the bestower of bliss, radiates his own light to the worshipper to dispel the darkness of night. 6

Seven sages with five priests guard the firmly settled place which is prepared for the fast moving sacrificial fire. The undecaying divine sages with their faces turned to the east, sprinkling the lipations-rejoice as they themselves follow the path of godly sages. 7

I propitiate the two first divine offerers of worship; the seven priests rejoice in their own ecstasy. The illustrious celebrators of holy worship reciting the praises call him the true protector of eternal law. They speak of truth praising the truth-eternal, and declaring that living unto the truth is accepting the truth. 8

O divine invoker of Nature's bounties, the vast and wide spreading beams shed moisture for you, the powerful, the victorious, the splendourous and the showerer of benefits. May you, the omniscient and bliss-bestowing lord, bring here nature's bounties, heaven and earth. 9

पृक्षप्रयजो द्रविणः सुवाचः सुकेतव उषसो रेवदूषुः ।
उतो चिदग्ने महिना पृथिव्याः कृतं चिदेनः सं महे दशस्य ॥१०॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥११॥

prikshápraya̲jo dravinah suvácah suketáva usháso revád ūshuh | utó cid agne mahiná prithivyáh kritám cid énah sám mahé daṣasya || 10 || íḷām agne — || 11 ||

(८) अष्टमं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१–५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां यूपः, (६–१०) षष्ठ्यादिपञ्चानां यूपाः, (८) अष्टम्या विश्वे देवा वा, (११) एकादश्याश्च व्रश्चनो देवताः । (१–२, ४–६, ८–११) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्याष्टम्यादिचतसृणाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (३, ७) तृतीयासप्तम्योश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ अञ्जन्ति त्वामध्वरे देवयन्तो वनस्पते मधुना दैव्येन ।
यदूर्ध्वस्तिष्ठा द्रविणेह धत्ताद्यद्वा क्षयो मातुरस्या उपस्थे ॥१॥
समिद्धस्य श्रयमाणः पुरस्ताद्ब्रह्म वन्वानो अजरं सुवीरम् ।
आरे अस्मदमतिं बाधमान उच्छ्रयस्व महते सौभगाय ॥२॥
उच्छ्रयस्व वनस्पते वर्ष्मन्पृथिव्या अधि ।
सुमिती मीयमानो वर्चो धा यज्ञवाहसे ॥३॥

8

Añjánti tvám adhvaré devayánto vánaspate mádhunā daívyena | yád ūrdhvás tíshṭhā drávineha dhattād yád vā ksháyo mātúr asyá upásthe || 1 || sámiddhasya ṣráyamāṇah purástād bráhma vanvānó ajáram suvíram | āré asmád ámatim bádhamāna úc chrayasva mahaté saúbhagāya || 2 || úc chrayasva vanaspate várshman prithivyá ádhi | súmitī mīyámāno várco dhā yajñávāhase || 3 ||

O ever-moving lord, may the dawns gleam forth in splendour for us; these are full of oblations, full of pious prayers and full of auspicious signs that confer wealth. O fire-divine, may you with the might of your diffusive flame consume all our sins committed. 10

O fire-divine, may you grant wealth and wisdom to your most devoted worshipper; and may we have sons and grandsons who perpetuate our race. May your gracious favour ever remain with us. 11

8

O Sun, the lord of beams, the faithful devotees aspiring to be divine annoint you with divine sweet melodies at the worship; whether you are at a lofty place (at the zenith) or on the lap of your mother earth (i.e. at the horizon), grant us riches. 1

May you rising on the east go up further high for the sake of our great fortune, dispensing food as the source of undecaying health and excellent progeny. May you keep off our enemy at a distance and go up high for great auspiciousness. 2

O Sun, the lord of radiance, be exalted on the loftiest spot of the earth, and may you give splendour, fixed and measured well, to him who toils on the soil. 3

युवा सुवासाः परिवीत आगात्स उ श्रेयान्भवति जायमानः ।
तं धीरासः कवय उन्नयन्ति स्वाध्यो३ मनसा देवयन्तः ॥४॥
जातो जायते सुदिनत्वे अह्नां समर्य आ विदथे वर्धमानः ।
पुनन्ति धीरा अपसो मनीषा देवया विप्र उदियर्ति वाचम् ॥५॥

yúvā suvā́sāḥ párivīta ā́gāt sá u ṣréyān bhavati jā́yamānaḥ | tám dhī́rāsaḥ kaváya ún nayanti svādhyò mánasā devayántaḥ || 4 || jātó jāyate sudinatvé áhnām samaryá ā́ vidáthe várdhamānaḥ | punánti dhī́rā apáso manīshā́ devayā́ vípra úd iyarti vā́cam || 5 ||

॥४॥ यान्वो नरो देवयन्तो निमिम्युर्वनस्पते स्वधितिर्वा ततक्ष ।
ते देवासः स्वरवस्तस्थिवांसः प्रजावदस्मे दिधिषन्तु रत्नम् ॥६॥
ये वृक्णासो अधि क्षमि निमितासो यतस्रुचः ।
ते नो व्यन्तु वार्यं देवत्रा क्षेत्रसाधसः ॥७॥
आदित्या रुद्रा वसवः सुनीथा द्यावाक्षामा पृथिवी अन्तरिक्षम् ।
सजोषसो यज्ञमवन्तु देवा ऊर्ध्वं कृण्वन्त्वध्वरस्य केतुम् ॥८॥
हंसा इव श्रेणिशो यतानाः शुक्रा वसानाः स्वरवो न आगुः ।
उन्नीयमानाः कविभिः पुरस्ताद्देवा देवानामपि यन्ति पाथः ॥९॥

yā́n vo náro devayánto nimimyúr vánaspate svádhitir vā tatáksha | té devā́saḥ sváravas tasthivā́ṅsaḥ prajā́vad asmé didhishantu rátnam || 6 || yé vṛiknā́so ádhi kshámi nímitāso yatásrucaḥ | té no vyantu vā́ryam devatrā́ kshetrasā́dhasaḥ || 7 || ādityā́ rudrā́ vásavaḥ sunīthā́ dyā́vākshā́mā pṛithivī́ antáriksham | sajóshaso yajñám avantu devā́ ūrdhvám kṛiṇvantv adhvarásya ketúm || 8 || haṅsā́ iva ṣreṇiṣó yátānāḥ ṣukrā́ vásānāḥ sváravo na ā́guḥ | unnīyámānāḥ kavíbhiḥ purástād devā́ devā́nām ápi yanti páthaḥ || 9 ||

Well-robed and beautifully covered and the young (Sun) comes and grows glorious as soon as it springs to life. Steadfast and God-blessed forces, in a most meditating thoughtful manner, upraise him. 4

Born on the horizon of the cosmic sacrifice, it (sun) creates days, so auspicious: steadfast, active, and intelligent devotees consecrate him with wisdom, and the devout worshipper recites praises in his honour. 5

May those splendid timber trees which the God-loving forest-dwellers have firmly planted on the standing posts which their axe have trimmed, bestow upon us wealth and progeny. 6

May those timber posts which have been cut down upon the earth, and which have been fabricated by the craftsmen be helpful in accomplishing benevolent works, and bear our precious gifts to divine powers. 7

May the cosmic divine powers such as sun, wind and life-giving breath afford protection and may heaven and earth and other divine powers cherish our worshipful acts with a common consent. May they raise aloft the banner of our dedicated action of public good. 8

Arrayed in bright garments these timber posts ranging in rows erected by devoted craftsmen on our front, are seen like the row of swans. They being bright proceed, as if, on the path of divine radiance. 9

शृङ्गाणीवेच्छृङ्गिणां सं ददृश्रे चषालवन्तः स्वरवः पृथिव्याम् ।
वाघद्भिर्वा विहवे श्रोषमाणा अस्माँ अवन्तु पृतनाज्येषु ॥१०॥
वनस्पते शतवल्शो वि रोह सहस्रवल्शा वि वयं रुहेम ।
यं त्वामयं स्वधितिस्तेजमानः प्रणिनाय महते सौभगाय ॥११॥

sríṅgāṇīvéc chriṅgíṇām sám dadrisre cashā́lavantaḥ sváravaḥ prithivyā́m | vāghádbhir vā vihavé sróshamāṇā asmā́ñ avantu pritanā́jyeshu || 10 || vánaspate satávalso ví roha sahásravalsā ví vayám ruhema | yám tvā́m ayám svádhitis téjamānaḥ praṇinā́ya mahaté saúbhagāya || 11 ||

(९) नवमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां बृहती, (९) नवम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥ सखायस्त्वा ववृमहे देवं मर्तास ऊतये ।
अपां नपातं सुभगं सुदीदितिं सुप्रतूर्तिमनेहसम् ॥१॥
कायमानो वना त्वं यन्मातॄरजगन्नपः ।
न तत्ते अग्ने प्रमृषे निवर्तनं यद्दूरे सन्निहाभवः ॥२॥
अति तृष्टं ववक्षिथाथैव सुमना असि ।
प्रप्रान्ये यन्ति पर्यन्य आसते येषां सख्ये असि श्रितः ॥३॥

9.

Sákhāyas tvā vavrimahe devám mártāsa ūtáye | apā́m nápātam subhágam sudī́ditim suprátūrtim anehásam || 1 || kā́yamāno vanā́ tvám yán mātrī́r ájagann apáḥ | ná tát te agne pramríshe nivártanam yád dūré sánn ihā́bhavaḥ || 2 || áti trishṭám vavakshithā́thaivá sumánā asi | prá-prānyé yánti páry anyá āsate yéshām sakhyé ási sritáḥ || 3 ||

Entire in all parts and girded with iron chains, they appear upon the earth like the horns of horned cattle. Having received laudations from expert craftsmen, may they protect us in the days of our conflicts. 10

O Lord of the wood, may you whom the sharpened hatchet has brought for great auspiciousness, mount up with hundred branches, so that with thousand branches, we may rise to greatness. 11

9

We as your mortal friends choose you, the divine, for our protection. You are imperishable life—force auspicious, resplendent, the best guide and sinless and as such take us across the miseries. 1

You go up to the motherly cosmic ocean through your love to stay in the woods, O cosmic fire, your tarrying away so far has now become unbearable. So, in a moment, may you come to be with us from afar. 2

O God, you exceedingly wish to provide the satisfaction to your worshippers and are well-disposed to them; of those in whose friendship you are cherished, some show steady progress, while others sit around without any. 3

ईयिवांसमति स्रिधः शश्वतीरति सश्चतः ।
अन्वीमविन्दन्निचिरासो अद्रुहोऽप्सु सिंहमिव श्रितम् ॥४॥
ससृवांसमिव त्मनाग्निमित्था तिरोहितम् ।
ऐनं नयन्मातरिश्वा परावतो देवेभ्यो मथितं परि ॥५॥

váṅsam áti srídhaḥ ṣáṣvatīr áti saṣcátaḥ | ánv īm avindan niciráso adrúho 'psú siṅhám iva ṣritám || 4 || sasrivāṅsam iva tmánāgním itthā́ tiróhitam | aínaṃ nayan mātaríṣvā parāváto devébhyo mathitám pári || 5 ||

॥६॥

तं त्वा मर्ता अगृभ्णत देवेभ्यो हव्यवाहन ।
विश्वान्यद्यज्ञाँ अभिपासि मानुष तव क्रत्वा यविष्ठ्य ॥६॥
तद्भद्रं तव दंसना पाकाय चिच्छदयति ।
त्वां यदग्ने पशवः समासते समिद्धमपिशर्वरे ॥७॥
आ जुहोता स्वध्वरं शीरं पावकशोचिषम् ।
आशुं दूतमजिरं प्रत्नमीड्यं श्रुष्टी देवं सपर्यत ॥८॥
त्रीणि शता त्री सहस्राण्यग्निं त्रिंशच्च देवा नव चासपर्यन् ।
औक्षन्घृतैरस्तृणन्बर्हिरस्मा आदिद्धोतारं न्यसादयन्त ॥९॥

táṃ tvā mártā agribhṇata devébhyo havyavāhana | víṣvān yád yajñā́ṅ abhipási mānusha táva krátvā yavishṭhya || 6 || tád bhadrám táva daṅsánā pákāya cic chadayati | tvā́ṃ yád agne paṣávaḥ samā́sate sámiddham apiṣarvaré || 7 || ā́ juhotā svadhvarám ṣīrám pāvakáṣocisham | āṣúṃ dūtám ajirám pratnám íḍyaṃ srushṭī́ devā́ṃ saparyata || 8 || tríṇi ṣatā́ trí sahásrāṇy agníṃ triṅṣác ca devā́ náva cāsaparyan | aúkshan ghritaír ástriṇan barhír asmā́ ā́d íd dhótāraṃ ny àsādayanta || 9 ||

The benignant and long lived enlightened ones discover the inner fire hidden in vital regions like a lion in a cave, at the time of their conflict with constantly ravaging internal conflicts. 4

The cosmic wind brings from afar the fire-divine, hidden so far, for the sake of enlightened devotees, by a process of attrition like a father reclaiming his fugitive son. 5

O fire-divine, the bearer of oblations, benefactor of men, most youthful, since you guard all benevolent devotees by your selfless deeds, they accept you as their invoker. 6

O fire-divine, auspicious is your worship, for it inspires faith even in the ignorant person. The herds of cattle gather around you when kindled at the dead of might. 7

May you offer obeiseance to that fire-divine who burns with purifying glow, who is dormant in every fuel, who is a swift messenger, active, immortal and adorable. May you serve him with quiet devotion. 8

Three thousand, three hundred and thirty-nine• countless enlightened men pay homage to the fire-divine. They profusely present loving devotion to Him and enshrine Him in their worshipful hearts and make Him their invoking priest. 9

(१०) दशमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ त्वाम॑ग्ने मनी॒षिण॑: स॒म्राजं॑ चर्षणी॒नाम् । दे॒वं मर्ता॑स इन्धते॒ सम॑ध्व॒रे ॥१॥
त्वां य॒ज्ञेष्वृ॒त्विज॒मग्ने॒ होता॑रमीळते । गो॒पा ऋ॒तस्य॑ दीदिहि॒ स्वे दमे॑ ॥२॥
स घा॒ यस्ते॒ ददा॑शति स॒मिधा॑ जा॒तवे॑दसे । सो अ॑ग्ने धत्ते सु॒वीर्यं॒ स पु॑ष्यति ॥३॥
स के॒तुर॑ध्व॒राणा॑म॒ग्निर्दे॒वेभि॒रा ग॑मत् । अ॒ञ्जा॒नः स॒प्त होतृ॑भिर्ह॒विष्म॑ते ॥४॥
प्र होत्रे॑ पू॒र्व्यं वचो॒ऽग्नये॑ भरता बृ॒हत् । वि॒पां ज्योतीं॑षि॒ बिभ्र॑ते॒ न वे॒धसे॑ ॥५॥

10.

Tvám agne manīshíṇaḥ samrā́jam carshaṇīnā́m | devám mártāsa indhate sám adhvaré || 1 || tvā́ṃ yajñéshv ṛitvíjam ágne hótāram īḷate | gopā́ ṛitásya dīdihi své dáme || 2 || sá ghā yás te dádāṣati samídhā jātávedase | só agne dhatte suvī́ryaṃ sá pushyati || 3 || sá ketúr adhvarā́ṇām agnír devébhir ā́ gamat | añjānáḥ saptá hótṛibhir havíshmate || 4 || prá hótre pūrvyáṃ váco 'gnáye bharatā bṛihát | vipā́ṃ jyótīṅshi bíbhrate ná vedháse || 5 ||

॥८॥ अ॒ग्निं व॑र्धन्तु नो॒ गिरो॒ यतो॒ जाय॑त उ॒क्थ्य॑: । म॒हे वाजा॑य॒ द्रवि॑णाय दर्श॒तः ॥६॥
अग्ने॒ यजि॑ष्ठो अध्व॒रे दे॒वान्दे॑वय॒ते यज । होता॑ म॒न्द्रो वि रा॑ज॒स्यति॒ स्रिध॑: ॥७॥
स न॑: पावक दीदिहि द्यु॒मद॒स्मे सु॒वीर्य॑म् । भवा॑ स्तो॒तृभ्यो॒ अन्त॑मः स्व॒स्तये॑ ॥८॥

agníṃ vardhantu no gíro yáto jáyata ukthyàḥ | mahé vā́jāya drávinaya darṣatáḥ || 6 || ágne yájishṭho adhvaré devā́n devayaté yaja | hótā mandró ví rājasy áti srídhaḥ || 7 || sá naḥ pāvaka dīdihi dyumád asmé suvī́ryam | bhávā stotṛíbhyo ántamaḥ svastáye || 8 ||

10

The wise sages, the mortals, enshrine you in their loving hearts, O adorable Lord, resplendent like fire, and the sovereign king of people. 1

They glorify you as the priest, the invoker of Nature's bounties to help in the performance of the sacred acts. May you shine, in your own way, O Lord, the destroyer of nescience, the preserver of all noble deeds. 2

Verily he acquires good virility and prospers, who dedicates all his wealth and offers devotion to you, O omniscient Lord. 3

May our Lord, resplendent like fire, and the banner of all benevolent deeds, come along with Nature's bounties. He is honoured with love and devotion by the seven officiating priests of the universe for the benefit of the worshipper. 4

To the adorable Lord, may you offer your highest and foremost regards, for He enlightens the intellectual genius, the men of wisdom. 5

May our hymns exalt the divine fire so that his glory may be magnified and become manifest for the purpose of bestowing abundant food and riches. 6

O fire-divine, you are profoundly expected at the performance of the dedicated sacred acts. May you honour Nature's bounties on behalf of the devotees aspiring to be divine. We are under your supreme sovereignity, since you are the invoker, blissful and giver of protection against calamities. 7

May you, O purifier, bestow on us your shining, glorious virility. May you be very much close to your devoted chanters for their well-being. 8

तं त्वा विप्रा विपन्यवो जागृवांसः समिन्धते । हव्यवाहममर्त्यं सहोवृधम् ॥९॥

tám tvā víprā vipanyávo jāgrivánsaḥ sám indhate | havyaváham ámartyam sahovrídham || 9 ||

(११) एकादशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ अग्निर्होता पुरोहितोऽध्वरस्य विचर्षणिः । स वेद यज्ञमानुषक् ॥१॥
स हव्यवाळमर्त्य उशिग्दूतश्चनोहितः । अग्निर्धिया समृण्वति ॥२॥
अग्निर्धिया स चेतति केतुर्यज्ञस्य पूर्व्यः । अर्थं ह्यस्य तरणि ॥३॥
अग्निं सूनुं सनश्रुतं सहसो जातवेदसम् । वह्निं देवा अकृण्वत ॥४॥
अदाभ्यः पुरएता विशामग्निर्मानुषीणाम् । तूर्णी रथः सदा नवः ॥५॥

11.

Agnír hótā puróhito dhvarásya vícarshaṇiḥ | sá veda yajñám ānushák || 1 || sá havyavā́ḷ ámartya uṣíg dūtáṣ cánohitaḥ | agnír dhiyā́ sám riṇvati || 2 || agnír dhiyā́ sá cetati ketúr yajñásya pūrvyáḥ | ártham hy àsya táraṇi || 3 || agním sūnúm sánaṣrutam sáhaso jātávedasam | váhnim devā́ akriṇvata || 4 || ádābhyaḥ puraetā́ viṣā́m agnír mā́nushīṇām | tū́rṇī ráthaḥ sádā návaḥ || 5 ||

॥१०॥ साह्वान्विश्वा अभियुजः क्रतुर्देवानाममृक्तः । अग्निस्तुविश्रवस्तमः ॥६॥

sāhvā́n víṣvā abhiyújaḥ krátur devā́nām ámriktaḥ | agnís tuvíṣravastamaḥ || 6 ||

The wise, intelligent and vigilant priest kindle the divine light such as is yours (in their hearts). You are the conveyer of offerings, immortal and augmenter of strength. 9

11

The adorable God is our medium of devotion and is the supreme guide of our sacred deeds. He knows the course of all events as they proceed. 1

The adorable Lord, medium of devotion, immortal, divine carrier of enlightenment and the cherisher of our dedicated actions, inspires the devotees with divine wisdom. 2

The adorable Lord, the earliest banner of virtuous actions, knows all objectiveness through his wisdom; His radiance carries us across the darkness. 3

The enlightened ones are privileged to recognize the adorable Lord, as the source of strength; the Lord who is eternally renowned, the knower of all that is born, and carrier of divinities. 4

The adorable Lord, the precedor of human race, the speedy carrier of virtues is ever new and unsusceptable of any harm. 5

The adorable Lord is the most liberal contributor of food and is able to resist all assailants when confronted. He is the inspirer and nourisher of Nature's bounties. 6

अभि प्रयांसि वाहसा दाश्वाँ अश्नोति मर्त्यः । क्षयं पावकशोचिषः ॥७॥
परि विश्वानि सुधिताग्नेरश्याम मन्मभिः । विप्रासो जातवेदसः ॥८॥
अग्ने विश्वानि वार्या वाजेषु सनिषामहे । त्वे देवास एरिरे ॥९॥

abhí práyāṅsi váhasā dāṣvā́ñ aṣnoti mártyaḥ | ksháyam pāvakáṣocishaḥ || 7 || pári víṣvāni súdhitāgnér aṣyāma mánmabhiḥ | víprāso jātávedasaḥ || 8 || ágne víṣvāni vā́ryā vā́jeshu sanishāmahe | tvé devā́sa érire || 9 ||

(१२) द्वादशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्राग्नी देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ इन्द्राग्नी आ गतं सुतं गीर्भिर्नभो वरेण्यम् । अस्य पातं धियेषिता ॥१॥
इन्द्राग्नी जरितुः सचा यज्ञो जिगाति चेतनः । अया पातमिमं सुतम् ॥२॥

12.

Índrāgnī ā́ gatam sutám gīrbhír nábho várenyam | asyá pātam dhiyéshitā || 1 || índrāgnī jaritúḥ sácā yajñó jigāti cétanaḥ | ayā́ pātam imám sutám || 2 ||

इन्द्रमग्निं कविच्छदा यज्ञस्य जूत्या वृणे । ता सोमस्येह तृम्पताम् ॥३॥
तोशा वृत्रहणा हुवे सजित्वानापराजिता । इन्द्राग्नी वाजसातमा ॥४॥

índram agním kavichádā yajñásya jūtyā́ vriṇe | tā́ sómasyehá trimpatām || 3 || tosā́ vrítrahánā huve sajítvānā́parājitā | indrāgnī́ vājasā́tamā || 4 ||

From the adorable Lord of purifying radiance, the liberal mortal worshipper receives from all sides abundant food and prosperity. 7

May we, endowed with intelligence obtain precious rewards through our adoration to the omniscient adorable Lord. 8

O adorable Lord, may we win all precious gifts in our struggles of life, since all Nature's forces derive inspirations from you only. 9

12

O radiation from the cosmic sun and lightning within our inner conscience may you come to our acceptable libations, presented in the form of sweet hymns full of heavenly bliss; may you please enjoy them to your satisfaction. 1

O radiations from inner cosmic sun and lightning, the conscious worship of the devotee proceeds to you. May you, when invoked come to us to enjoy the devotional bliss to your satisfaction. 2

Urged by the force of faith, I implore cosmic rays of the inner sun and lightning, the protectors of the pious sages. May they be satisfied with the sweet nector of joy, here presented. 3

I invoke the rays of the inner cosmic sun and lightning, the destroyers of the foes, the removers of the darkness, the victorious, the invincible and the bestowers of abundant nourishment. 4

प्र वामर्चन्त्युक्थिनो नीथाविदो जरितारः । इन्द्राग्नी इष आ वृणे ॥५॥

prá vām arcanty ukthíno nīthāvído jaritā́raḥ | índrāgnī ísha ā́ vriṇe || 5 ||

॥१२॥ इन्द्राग्नी नवतिं पुरो दासपत्नीरधूनुतम् । साकमेकेन कर्मणा ॥६॥
इन्द्राग्नी अपसस्पर्युप प्र यन्ति धीतयः । ऋतस्य पथ्या३ अनु ॥७॥
इन्द्राग्नी तविषाणि वां सधस्थानि प्रयांसि च । युवोरप्तूर्यं हितम् ॥८॥
इन्द्राग्नी रोचना दिवः परि वाजेषु भूषथः । तद्वां चेति प्र वीर्यम् ॥९॥

índrāgnī navatím púro dāsápatnīr adhūnutam | sākám ékena kármaṇā || 6 || índrāgnī ápasas pā́ry úpa prá yanti dhītáyaḥ | ritásya pathyā̀ ánu || 7 || índrāgnī tavishā́ṇi vāṃ sadhásthāni práyāṅsi ca | yuvór aptū́ryaṃ hitám || 8 || índrāgnī rocanā́ diváḥ pári vā́jeshu bhūshathaḥ | tád vāṃ ceti prá vīryàm || 9 ||

[अथ द्वितीयोऽनुवाकः ॥] (१३) त्रयोदशं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्र ऋषभ ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ प्र वो देवायाग्नये बर्हिष्ठमर्चास्मै ।
गमद्देवेभिरा स नो यजिष्ठो बर्हिरा सदत् ॥१॥
ऋतावा यस्य रोदसी दक्षं सचन्त ऊतयः ।
हविष्मन्तस्तमीळते तं सनिष्यन्तोऽवसे ॥२॥

13.

Prá vo deváyāgnáye bárhishṭham arcāsmai | gámad devébhir ā́ sá no yájishṭho barhír ā́ sadat || 1 || ritā́vā yásya ródasī dáksham sácanta ūtáyaḥ | havíshmantas tám īḷate táṃ sanishyántó 'vase || 2 ||

O rays of the inner cosmic sun and lightning, the devotees who know the right path and are well-versed in the melody of divine symphony, invoke both of you. So I too beseech you for getting super nourishment. 5

O rays of the inner cosmic sun and lightning, with one united effort you overthrow ninety strong holds possessed by evil forces. 6

O rays of the inner cosmic sun and lightning, the enlightened persons always tread the paths of truth. 7

O rays of the inner cosmic sun and lightning, in you vigour and food are abiding together; your readiness for despensing justice is highly commendable. 8

O rays of the inner cosmic sun and lightning, you illuminate the lucid realms of heaven with victory in inner conflicts. So well-known is the prowess of both of you. 9

13

I loudly sign with utmost power the glory of adorable Lord, so that He, the best offerer, may come to us with the bounties of Nature and be seated in our hearts. 1

The adorable God is the observer of truth and the Lord of the inner conscience celestial and cosmic regions. The protective nature's bounties wait on Him for strength. He is adored by dedicated devotees and those who seek wealth approach Him for protection. 2

स यन्ता विप्र एषां स यज्ञानामथा हि षः ।
अग्निं तं वो दुवस्यत दाता यो वनिता मघम् ॥३॥
स नः शर्माणि वीतयेऽग्निर्यच्छतु शंतमा ।
यतो नः प्रुष्णवद्वसु दिवि क्षितिभ्यो अप्स्वा ॥४॥
दीदिवांसमपूर्व्यं वस्वीभिरस्य धीतिभिः ।
ऋक्वाणो अग्निमिन्धते होतारं विश्पतिं विशाम् ॥५॥
उत नो ब्रह्मन्नविष उक्थेषु देवहूतमः ।
शं नः शोचा मरुद्वृधोऽग्ने सहस्रसातमः ॥६॥ नू नो रास्व सहस्रवत्तोकवत्पुष्टिमद्वसु । द्युमदग्ने सुवीर्यं वर्षिष्ठमनुपक्षितम् ॥७॥

sá yantá vípra eshām sá yajñánām áthā hí sháḥ | agním tám vo duvasyata dátā yó vánitā maghám || 3 || sá naḥ ṣármāṇi vītáye 'gnír yachatu ṣáṃtamā | yáto naḥ prushṇávad vásu diví kshitíbhyo apsv á || 4 || dīdivánsam ápūrvyaṃ vásvībhir asya dhītíbhiḥ | ríkvāṇo agním indhate hótāraṃ viṣpátiṃ viṣám || 5 || utá no bráhmann avisha ukthéshu devahūtamaḥ | ṣáṃ naḥ ṣocā marúdvṛidhó 'gne sahasrasátamaḥ || 6 || nū́ no rāsva sahásravat tokávat pushṭimád vásu | dyumád agne suvíryaṃ várshishṭham ánupakshitam || 7 ||

(१४) चतुर्दशं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्र ऋषभ ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ आ होता मन्द्रो विदथान्यस्थात्सत्यो यज्वा कवितमः स वेधाः ।
विद्युद्रथः सहसस्पुत्रो अग्निः शोचिष्केशः पृथिव्यां पाजो अश्रेत् ॥१॥

14.

Á hótā mandró vidáthāny asthāt satyó yájvā kavítamaḥ sá vedháḥ | vidyúdrathaḥ sáhasas putró agníḥ ṣocíshkeṣaḥ pṛithivyám pájo aṣret || 1 ||

He, the sage, is the guide of those who worship; He is the regulator of sacred dedicated acts. May you pay homage to Him as He is the benefactor and the bestower of great wealth. 3

May the adorable Lord, grant us more prosperous dwellings and beneficial comforts for our maintenance. So that from Him infinite wealth, whether it is derived from heaven or from earth, or from waters, may come to us. 4

The devotees kindle love for the adorable Lord, who is self-radiant, the unprecedented invoker and the protector of people through His own excellent designs. 5

May you, O adorable Lord, the most competent of Nature's bounties perfect our prayers, as well as songs. You are glorified by mortals, and are the showerer of thousands of blessings; may you augment our felicity. 6

May you now grant us wealth by thousands along with progeny, nourishment, brilliant treasure, and exalted vigour, and may you be infinite and inexhaustible in your blessings to us. 7

14

May the adorable Lord, the invoker, the exhilarator, ever-true, most-wise, and ordainer be in our thoughts whilst we are in this synod. He, the source of strength, with lightning as His chariot and with lustrous flames as his hair manifests His glory on the earth. 1

अयामि ते नमउक्तिं जुषस्व ऋतावस्तुभ्यं चेतते सहस्वः ।
विद्वाँ आ वक्षि विदुषो नि षत्सि मध्य आ बर्हिरूतये यजत्र ॥२॥
द्रवतां त उषसा वाजयन्ती अग्ने वातस्य पथ्याभिरच्छ ।
यत्सीमञ्जन्ति पूर्व्यं हविर्भिरा वन्धुरेव तस्थतुर्दुरोणे ॥३॥
मित्रश्च तुभ्यं वरुणः सहस्वोऽग्ने विश्वे मरुतः सुम्नमर्चन् ।
यच्छोचिषा सहसस्पुत्र तिष्ठा अभि क्षितीः प्रथयन्त्सूर्यो नॄन् ॥४॥
वयं ते अद्य ररिमा हि काममुत्तानहस्ता नमसोपसद्य ।
यजिष्ठेन मनसा यक्षि देवानस्रेधता मन्मना विप्रो अग्ने ॥५॥

áyāmi te námaüktiṃ jushasva ṛítāvas túbhyaṃ cétate sahasvaḥ | vidvā́ñ ā́ vakshi vidúsho ní shatsi mádhya ā́ barhír ūtā́ye yajatra || 2 || drávatāṃ ta ushásā vājáyantī ágne vā́tasya pathyā̀bhir ácha | yát sīm añjánti pūrvyáṃ havírbhir ā́ vandhúreva tasthatur duroṇé || 3 || mitrá́ṣ ca túbhyaṃ várunaḥ sahasvó 'gne víṣve marútaḥ sumnám arcan | yác chocíshā sahasas putra tíshṭhā abhí kshitī́ḥ pratháyan sū́ryo nṛ́n || 4 || vayáṃ te adyá rarimā́ hí kā́mam uttānáhastā námasopasádya | yájishṭhena mánasā yakshi devā́n ásredhatā mánmanā vípro agne || 5 ||

त्वद्धि पुत्र सहसो वि पूर्वीर्देवस्य यन्त्यूतयो वि वाजाः ।
त्वं देहि सहस्रिणं रयिं नोऽद्रोघेण वचसा सत्यमग्ने ॥६॥
तुभ्यं दक्ष कविक्रतो यानीमा देव मर्तासो अध्वरे अकर्म ।
त्वं विश्वस्य सुरथस्य बोधि सर्वं तदग्ने अमृत स्वदेह ॥७॥

tvád dhí putra sahaso ví pūrvī́r devásya yánty ūtáyo ví vā́jāḥ | tvā́ṃ dehi sahasríṇaṃ rayíṃ no 'drogheṇa vácasā satyám agne || 6 || túbhyaṃ daksha kavikrato yā́nīmā́ déva mártāso adhvaré ákarma | tvā́ṃ víṣvasya suráthasya bodhi sárvaṃ tád agne amṛita svadehá || 7 ||

To you, O adorable Lord, the sustainer of eternal laws, I offer my reverential salutatious. O possessor of strength, expounder of ceremony, may you accept them; and wise as you are, may you bring men of wisdom here. O pious one, may you enshrine hearts of devotees for protection. 2

May the food-bestowing evenings and dawns hasten towards you, O adorable Lord, come on a chariot moving as if on the paths of wind. The priests worship you at these hours as usual with offerings. May the evenings and dawns come united like a yoke to stay in our dwellings. 3

O vigorous adorable Lord, all Nature's bounties, such as the sun, ocean and space-winds offer their praises to you, O the source of strength, you stand like the sun shedding lustre on man-kind. 4

With uplifted hands, approaching you with reverence, we present to you today our deep devotion. May you, O wise lord, honour Nature's bounties with great affection and unwearied appreciation. 5

From you, verily, O source of strength, many and various benefactions and various kinds of food devolve upon the devout worshipper. May you grant us, O adorable Lord, infinite wealth and a children observant of truth and with speech devoid of guile. 6

O mighty, omniscient, radiant adorable Lord, these offerings, which we mortals present to you in our worship are for you. May you, O immortal Lord, cherish and bless everyone who is worthily virtuous. 7

(१५) पञ्चदशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कात्य उत्कील ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ वि पाजसा पृथुना शोशुचानो बाधस्व द्विषो रक्षसो अमीवाः ।
सुशर्मणो बृहतः शर्मणि स्यामग्नेरहं सुहवस्य प्रणीतौ ॥१॥
त्वं नो अस्या उषसो व्युष्टौ त्वं सूर उदिते बोधि गोपाः ।
जन्मेव नित्यं तनयं जुषस्व स्तोमं मे अग्ने तन्वा सुजात ॥२॥
त्वं नृचक्षा वृषभानु पूर्वीः कृष्णास्वग्ने अरुषो वि भाहि ।
वसो नेषि च पर्षि चात्यंहः कृधी नो राय उशिजो यविष्ठ ॥३॥

15.

Ví pájasā prithúnā ṣóṣucāno bádhasva dvishó raksháso ámīvāḥ | susármaṇo brihatáḥ ṣármaṇi syām agnér ahám suhávasya práṇītau || 1 || tvám no asyá usháso vyùshṭau tvám sū́ra údite bodhi gopáḥ | jánmeva nítyam tánayam jushasva stómam me agne tanvà sujāta || 2 || tvám nricá-kshā vrishabhánu pūrvī́ḥ krishṇásv agne arushó ví bhāhi | váso néshi ca párshi cáty áṅhaḥ kridhí no rāyá uṣíjo yavishṭha || 3 ||

अषाळ्हो अग्ने वृषभो दिदीहि पुरो विश्वाः सौभगा संजिगीवान् ।
यज्ञस्य नेता प्रथमस्य पायोर्जातवेदो बृहतः सुप्रणीते ॥४॥
अच्छिद्रा शर्म जरितः पुरूणि देवाँ अच्छा दीद्यानः सुमेधाः ।
रथो न सस्निरभि वक्षि वाजमग्ने त्वं रोदसी नः सुमेके ॥५॥

áshāḷho agne vrishabhó didīhi púro víṣvāḥ saúbhagā saṃjigīván | yajñásya netá prathamásya pāyór jấtavedo brihatáḥ supraṇīte || 4 || áchidrā ṣárma jaritaḥ purū́ṇi deváñ ácha dī́dyānaḥ sumedháḥ | rátho ná sásnir abhí vakshi vấjam ágne tvám ródasī naḥ suméke || 5 ||

15

Resplendent with your wide extending lustre (as exhibited in solar rays), may you drive away the infections and the diseases. May the supreme adorable Lord be guide and shelter to me and may I continue to be with the Lord, easily invoked. 1

May you become our protector whilst now the morn is breaking and may you be a guardian when the sun has mounted high up. O Lord, manifested by your radiance, may you be pleased with my constant prayer as a father with his son. 2

O adorable Lord, the showerer of benefits, beholder of men, radiant even amidst darkness, may you shine with abundant glow as usual. O bestowerer of comforts, lead us on righteous paths and keep us away from evils. May you, ever-young, fulfil our aspirations for prosperity. 3

O adorable Lord, mighty and showerer of benefits, may you brighten all the strongholds of the virtuous and their fortunes. O omniscient Lord, you are the foremost guide of the benevolent noble deeds. 4

You are endowed with sharp intelligence and radiance, and are the invoker of Nature's bounties. May you bring many faultless shelters and convey to them our homage as a chariot carries the food. May you illuminate the beautiful heaven and earth. 5

प्र पीपय वृषभ जिन्व वाजानग्ने त्वं रोदसी नः सुदोघे ।
देवेभिर्देव सुरुचा रुचानो मा नो मर्तस्य दुर्मतिः परि ष्ठात् ॥६॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥७॥

prá pī-
paya vṛishabha jínva vā́jān ágne tvám ródasī naḥ sudóghe |
devébhir deva surúcā rucānó mā́ no mártasya durmatíḥ pári shṭhāt || 6 || íḷām agne — || 7 ||

(१६) षोडशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कात्य उत्कील ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । प्रगाथः (विषमर्चा बृहती समर्चा सतोबृहती) छन्दः ॥

॥१६॥ अयमग्निः सुवीर्यस्येशे महः सौभगस्य ।
राय ईशे स्वपत्यस्य गोमत ईशे वृत्रहथानाम् ॥१॥
इमं नरो मरुतः सश्चता वृधं यस्मिन्रायः शेवृधासः ।
अभि ये सन्ति पृतनासु दूढ्यो विश्वाहा शत्रुमादभुः ॥२॥
स त्वं नो रायः शिशीहि मीढ्वो अग्ने सुवीर्यस्य ।
तुविद्युम्न वर्षिष्ठस्य प्रजावतोऽनमीवस्य शुष्मिणः ॥३॥

16.

Ayám agníḥ suvī́ryasyéṣe maháḥ saúbhagasya | rāyá
ī́ṣe svapatyásya gómata ī́ṣe vṛitrahátbānām || 1 || imám
naro marutaḥ saṣcatā vṛídhaṃ yásmin rā́yaḥ ṣévṛidhāsaḥ |
abhí yé sánti pṛítanāsu dūḍhyò viṣvā́hā ṣátrum ādabhúḥ
|| 2 || sá tvám no rāyáḥ ṣiṣīhi mīḍhvo agne suvī́ryasya | túvidyumna várshishṭhasya prajā́vato 'namīvásya sushmí-ṇaḥ || 3 ||

O mighty fire-divine, be propitious and grant us food full of nutrition and make heaven and earth yield milk for us. May you, O Lord, shine with divine radiance. Let not the ill will of any mortal prevail against us. 6

O adorable Lord, may you grant to the offerer of oblations, such earth as is the giver of cattle and is useful in our sacred ceremonies and is of long endure. May you bless us with sons and grandsons and may your favour be productive of good unto us. 7

16

This adorable God is the lord of heroic strength and of great good fortune. He is the lord of wealth, comprising progeny and cattle; he commands the forces which repel evils. 1

O vital principles, you always associate with the adorable Lord for glory, in whom is stored wisdom contributing to bliss. You always overpower the wickedness in struggles and everyday humble evil-hearted adversaries. 2

O opulent glorious adorable Lord, showerer of benefits, may you enrich us with riches, comprising vigour, numerous progeny, health and happiness. 3

चक्रिर्यो विश्वा भुवनाभि सासहिश्चक्रिर्देवेष्वा दुवः ।
आ देवेषु यतत आ सुवीर्य आ शंस उत नृणाम् ॥४॥
मा नो अग्नेऽमतये मावीरतायै रीरधः ।
मागोतायै सहसस्पुत्र मा निदेऽप द्वेषांस्या कृधि ॥५॥
शग्धि वाजस्य सुभग प्रजावतोऽग्ने बृहतो अध्वरे ।
सं राया भूयसा सृज मयोभुना तुविद्युम्न यशस्वता ॥६॥

cákrir yó víśvā bhúvanābhí sāsahíś cákrir devéshv ā́ dúvaḥ | ā́ devéshu yátata ā́ suvírya ā́ śáṅsa utá nriṇā́m || 4 || mā́ no agné 'mataye mā́vīratāyai rīradhaḥ | mā́gótāyai sahasas putra mā́ nidé 'pa dvéshāṅsy ā́ kṛidhi || 5 || śagdhí vā́jasya subhaga prajā́vató 'gne bṛiható adhvaré | sám rāyā́ bhū́yasā sṛija mayobhúnā túvidyumna yáśasvatā || 6 ||

(१७) सप्तदशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रः कत ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ समिध्यमानः प्रथमानु धर्मा समक्तुभिरज्यते विश्ववारः ।
शोचिष्केशो घृतनिर्णिक्पावकः सुयज्ञो अग्निर्यजथाय देवान् ॥१॥
यथायजो होत्रमग्ने पृथिव्या यथा दिवो जातवेदश्चिकित्वान् ।
एवानेन हविषा यक्षि देवान्मनुष्वद्यज्ञं प्र तिरेममद्य ॥२॥

17.

Samidhyámānaḥ prathamā́nu dhármā sám aktúbhir ajyate viśvávāraḥ | śocíshkeśo ghṛitánirṇik pāvakáḥ suyajñó agnír yajáthāya devā́n || 1 || yáthā́yajo hotrám agne pṛithivyā́ yáthā divó jātavedaś cikitvā́n | evā́néna havíshā yakshi devā́n manushvád yajñám prá tiremám adyá || 2 ||

He, who is the creator, pervades all worlds; He the enduring maker, conveys our offerings to Nature's bounties. He is present with the devout worshippers and amidst the heroism and devotion of men. 4

May you not consign us, O adorable Lord, to malignity or to the absence of posterity; nor, O source of strength, to the sensuousness nor to slander. May you drive away all animosities. 5

O auspicious adorable Lord, bestow upon us at the time of our ceremony, food or any enjoyment which may lead to happiness and glory. 6

17

The sacrificial fire, the purifier, the one whose hair is flame, when duly first kindled and worshipped at the altar becomes the object of adoration by all. He is sprinkled with butter, so that He may convey our oblations to Nature's bounties. 1

O omnipresent fire, just as you have been providing nutrient offerings to the earth and just as you have been doing it from time immemorial, in the same manner provide these to Nature's bounties. May you lead our sacred ceremonies to success today as you have been doing all the years. 2

त्रीण्यायूंषि तव जातवेदस्तिस्र आजानीरुषसस्ते अग्ने ।
ताभिर्देवानामवो यक्षि विद्वानथा भव यजमानाय शं योः ॥३॥
अग्निं सुदीतिं सुदृशं गृणन्तो नमस्यामस्त्वेड्यं जातवेदः ।
त्वां दूतमरतिं हव्यवाहं देवा अकृण्वन्नमृतस्य नाभिम् ॥४॥
यस्त्वद्धोता पूर्वो अग्ने यजीयान्द्विता च सत्ता स्वधया च शंभुः ।
तस्यानु धर्म प्र यजा चिकित्वोऽथा नो धा अध्वरं देववीतौ ॥५॥

tríṇy áyūṅshi táva jātavedas tisrá ājánīr ushásas te agne | tábhir devánām ávo yakshi vidván áthā bhava yájamānaya ṣáṃ yóḥ || 3 || agníṃ sudītíṃ sudṛíṣaṃ griṇánto namasyámas tvéḍyaṃ jātavedaḥ | tváṃ dūtám aratíṃ havyavāhaṃ devá akriṇvann amṛítasya nábhim || 4 || yás tvád dhóta pū́rvo agne yájīyān dvitá ca sátta svadháya ca ṣambhúḥ | tásyánu dhárma prá yaja cikitvó 'tha no dha adhvarám devávītau || 5 ||

(१८) अष्टादशं सूक्तम

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रः कत ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१८॥ भवा नो अग्ने सुमना उपेतौ सखेव सख्ये पितरेव साधुः ।
पुरुद्रुहो हि क्षितयो जनानां प्रति प्रतीचीर्दहतादरातीः ॥१॥
तपो ष्वग्ने अन्तराँ अमित्रान्तपा शंसमररुषः परस्य ।
तपो वसो चिकितानो अचित्तान्वि ते तिष्ठन्तामजरा अयासः ॥२॥

18.

Bhávā no agne sumánā úpetau sákheva sákhye pitáreva sādhúḥ | purudrúho hí kshitáyo jánānām práti pratīcír dahatād árātīḥ || 1 || tápo shv àgne ántarāñ amítrān tápā ṣáṅsam árarushaḥ párasya | tápo vaso cikitānó acíttān ví te tishṭhantām ajárā ayásaḥ || 2 ||

O omnipresent fire, yours are three forms of manifestation; and three are your forms born of (seasonal) dawns. May you in these various forms convey our homage to Nature's bounties and willingly be the bestower of happiness on the institutor of this worship. 3

O omnipresent fire, the centre of ambrosia, we venerate you; you are glorified with brilliance and beauty and are worthy of adoration. Nature's bounties have made you their messenger, the disinterested leader of oblations for the environments. 4

That priest who is the presenter of oblations is most diligent offerer of worship. He is seated with sacrificial food in two places (at the altar) and is the source of happiness. May you, O fire, cognizant of our devotion, officiate in accordance with tradition and thus render our rituals acceptable to Nature's bounties. 5

18

Be kind to us when we approach you, O adorable God. May you be the fulfiller of our aspirations like a friend to a friend, or like parents to their child. Since men are great oppressors of men, may you consume the adversaries who are against us. 1

Burn up thoroughly, O adorable God, our assailing enemies who are near us. Reject the course of infidels, who do not worship. May you, O granter of comforts, cognizant of sacred works, destroy the foolish, so that your undecaying, all-pervading virtues may ever prevail. 2

इध्मेनाग्न इच्छमानो घृतेन जुहोमि हव्यं तरसे बलाय ।
यावदीशे ब्रह्मणा वन्दमान इमां धियं शतसेयाय देवीम् ॥३॥
उच्छोचिषा सहसस्पुत्र स्तुतो बृहद्वयः शशमानेषु धेहि ।
रेवदग्ने विश्वामित्रेषु शं योर्मर्मृज्मा ते तन्वं१ भूरि कृत्वः ॥४॥
कृधि रत्नं सुसनितर्धनानां स घेदग्ने भवसि यत्समिद्धः ।
स्तोतुर्दुरोणे सुभगस्य रेवत्सृप्रा करस्ना दधिषे वपूंषि ॥५॥

idhménāgna ichámāno ghriténa juhómi havyám tárase bálāya | yávad íse bráhmaṇā vándamāna imáṃ dhíyaṃ ṣataséyāya devím || 3 || úc chocíshā sahasas putra stutó brihád váyaḥ ṣaṣamānéshu dhehi | revád agne visvámitreshu sáṃ yór marmrijmā́ te tanvàm bhúri krítvaḥ || 4 || kridhí rátnaṃ susanitar dhánānāṃ sá ghéd agne bhavasi yát sámiddhaḥ | stotúr duroṇé subhágasya revát sriprá karásnā dadhishe vápūṅshi || 5 ||

(१९) एकोनविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कौशिको गाथी ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ अग्निं होतारं प्र वृणे मियेधे गृत्सं कविं विश्वविदममूरम् ।
स नो यक्षद्देवताता यजीयान्राये वाजाय वनते मघानि ॥१॥
प्र ते अग्ने हविष्मतीमियर्म्यच्छा सुद्युम्नां रातिनीं घृताचीम् ।
प्रदक्षिणिद्देवतातिमुराणः सं रातिभिर्वसुभिर्यज्ञमश्रेत् ॥२॥

19.

Agníṃ hótaram prá vriṇe miyédhe grítsaṃ kavíṃ visvavídam ámūram | sá no yakshad devátātā yájīyān rāyé vájāya vanate maghā́ni || 1 || prá te agne havíshmatīm iyarmy ácha sudyumnáṃ rātínīṃ ghritā́cīm | pradakshiṇíd devátātim urāṇáḥ sáṃ rātíbhir vásubhir yajñám asret || 2 ||

Desirous of wealth and overwhelming might, I offer you, O adorable Lord, my dedicated actions further enlivened by devotion, and supported by knowledge. Praising you with sacred hymns, as much as I can, I propitiate you, that you may render this praise resplendent with infinite treasure. 3

Rise up with your glow, O adorable Lord, the source of strength, when praised in hymns, and give abundant vitality, in rest and stir; to them who belong to the universal kinships, and who toil to serve you. May you grant them exemption from sickness and danger. 4

O adorable God, liberal donor of riches, bestow upon us the most precious of treasures, for such you do when served well. You promptly bestow riches on your fortunate devotees, with your arms extended to them. 5

19

I have the honour to invoke the adorable Lord to be our guide in the fire-ceremony. He is most wise, all-knowing and infallible. In our worship, may He, the adorable one, transfer our homage to divine powers, and accept our precious offerings for wealth and nourishment. 1

O adorable Lord, in your honour in this fire ritual, I lift the ladle, full of offerings, shining with brilliance and food. May you, propitiated by the presented offerings, sanctify this sacrificial ritual by your circumambulation. 2

स तेजीयसा मनसा त्वोत उत शिक्ष स्वपत्यस्य शिक्षोः ।
अग्ने रायो नृतमस्य प्रभूतौ भूयाम ते सुष्टुतयश्च वस्वः ॥३॥
भूरीणि हि त्वे दधिरे अनीकाग्ने देवस्य यज्यवो जनासः ।
स आ वह देवतातिं यविष्ठ शर्धो यदद्य दिव्यं यजासि ॥४॥
यत्त्वा होतारमनजन्मियेधे निषादयन्तो यजथाय देवाः ।
स त्वं नो अग्नेऽवितेह बोध्यधि श्रवांसि धेहि नस्तनूषु ॥५॥

sá téjīyasā mánasā tvóta utá ṣiksha svapatyásya ṣikshóḥ ágne rāyó nrítamasya prábhūtau bhūyáma te sushṭutáyaṣ ca vásvaḥ || 3 || bhū́rīṇi hí tvé dadhiré ánīkāgne devásya yájyavo jánāsaḥ | sá á vaha devátātim yavishṭha ṣárdho yád adyá divyám yájasi || 4 || yát tvā hótāram anájan miyédhe nishadáyanto yajáthāya deváḥ | sá tvám no agne 'vitéhá bodhy ádhi ṣrávāṅsi dhehi nas tanū́shu || 5 ||

(२०) विंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कौशिको गाथी ऋषिः । (१, ५) प्रथमापञ्चम्योर्ऋचोर्विश्वे देवाः, (२–४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य चाग्निर्देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ अग्निमुषसमश्विना दधिक्रां व्युष्टिषु हवते वह्निरुक्थैः ।
सुज्योतिषो नः शृण्वन्तु देवाः सजोषसो अध्वरं वावशानाः ॥१॥
अग्ने त्री ते वाजिना त्री षधस्था तिस्रस्ते जिह्वा ऋतजात पूर्वीः ।
तिस्र उ ते तन्वो देववातास्ताभिर्नः पाहि गिरो अप्रयुच्छन् ॥२॥

20.

Agním ushásam aṣvínā dadhikrám vyúshṭishu havate váhnir ukthaíḥ | sujyótisho naḥ ṣriṇvantu deváḥ sajóshaso adhvarám vāvaṣānáḥ || 1 || ágne trí te vájinā trí shadhásthā tisrás te jihvá ṛitajāta pūrvíḥ | tisrá u te tanvò devávātās tábhir naḥ pāhi gíro áprayuchan || 2 ||

O adorable Lord, the person who has the privilege of your protection becomes endowed with a most luminous mind; may you bestow upon him excellent progeny. As you are a very liberal dispenser of riches and a superb leader, may we ever remain under your guidance and glorify you for wealth and prosperity. 3

O resplendent fire-divine, the worshippers have set on you full many a brilliant flame. O ever-young Lord, may you invoke all Nature's bounties here today, and inspire them for effulgence. 4

O fire-divine, in as much as enlightened devotees, attending the ceremony, annoint you as their invoking priest, may you be our protector on this occasion and grant abundant food to our descendants. 5

20

The leading priest invokes with praises at the break of morn, the divine fire, the dawn, the twin pair of divine powers, and the divine gravitational forces. May the resplendent divinities, cherisher of sacred works, hear our invocation with common consent. 1

O divine fire, enkindled through eternal laws, three are your viands and three are the abiding places, three are your tongues, three are your forms, which the divine powers delight in. May you with unceasing care be propitious to our praise. 2

अग्ने भूरीणि तव जातवेदो देव स्वधावोऽमृतस्य नाम ।
याश्च माया मायिनां विश्वमिन्व त्वे पूर्वीः संदधुः पृष्टबन्धो ॥३॥
अग्निर्नेता भग इव क्षितीनां दैवीनां देव ऋतुपा ऋतावा ।
स वृत्रहा सनयो विश्ववेदाः पर्षद्विश्वाति दुरिता गृणन्तम् ॥४॥
दधिक्रामग्निमुषसं च देवीं बृहस्पतिं सवितारं च देवम् ।
अश्विना मित्रावरुणा भगं च वसून्रुद्राँ आदित्याँ इह हुवे ॥५॥

ágne bhū́rīṇi táva jātavedo déva svadhāvo 'mṛítasya nā́ma | yā́ṣ ca māyā́ māyínām viṣvaminva tvé pūrvī́ḥ saṃdadhúḥ prishṭabandho || 3 || agnír netā́ bhága iva kshitīnā́ṃ daívīnāṃ devá ṛitupā́ ṛitā́vā | sá vṛitrahā́ sanáyo viṣvávedāḥ párshad víṣvā́ti duritā́ gṛiṇántam || 4 || dadhikrā́m agnī́m ushásaṃ ca devī́m bṛíhaspátiṃ savitā́raṃ ca devám | aṣvínā mitrā́váruṇā bhágaṃ ca vásūn rudrā́ñ ādityā́ñ ihá huve || 5 ||

(२१) एकविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कौशिको गाथी ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चस्त्रिष्टुप्, (२-३) द्वितीयातृतीययोरनुष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्या विराड्रूपा, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च सतोबृहती छन्दांसि ॥

॥२१॥ इमं नो यज्ञममृतेषु धेहीमा हव्या जातवेदो जुषस्व ।
स्तोकानामग्ने मेदसो घृतस्य होतः प्राशान प्रथमो निषद्य ॥१॥
घृतवन्तः पावक ते स्तोकाः श्चोतन्ति मेदसः ।
स्वधर्मन्देववीतये श्रेष्ठं नो धेहि वार्यम् ॥२॥

21.

Imáṃ no yajñám amṛíteshu dhehīmā́ havyā́ jātavedo jushasva | stokā́nām agne médaso ghṛitásya hótaḥ prā́ṣāna prathamó nishádya || 1 || ghṛitávantaḥ pāvaka te stokā́ ṣcotanti médasaḥ | svádharman devávītaye ṣréshṭhaṃ no dhehi vā́ryam || 2 ||

O adorable Lord, omniscient and divine, many are the names you bear. O fulfiller of all aspirations, accomplisher of prayers, you are very well acquainted with the delusive practices of charmers, used against the enlightened ones. 3

The fire-divine is the guide of devout men, as the sun is the regulator of seasons. May He, the observer of truth, the destroyer of evil forces, the ancient, and the omniscient, convey His devotees safe over all troubles. 4

I invoke here the divine gravitational forces, the fire-divine, the dawn, the lord of vast universe, the divine creator, the twin faculties of mind and body, the lord of the luminous world and the cosmic ocean, and the master of riches and comforts, as also the provider of all dwellings, the cosmic vital principles and radiant rays of the sun to help us in our sacred works. 5

21

May you convey our devotional worship, O omniscient Lord, to the immortals and be pleased with our offerings. O adorable Lord, ever-enshrined in our hearts, may you gladly accept our humble homage of love and devotion. 1

The dedication full of love is offered to you, O adorable Lord, the purifier, and the ordainer for the enlightenment of pious devotees. May you grant us excellent affluence. 2

तुभ्यं स्तोका घृतश्चुतोऽग्ने विप्राय सन्त्य ।
ऋषिः श्रेष्ठः समिध्यसे यज्ञस्य प्राविता भव ॥३॥
तुभ्यं श्चोतन्त्यध्रिगो शचीवः स्तोकासो अग्ने मेदसो घृतस्य ।
कविशस्तो बृहता भानुनागा हव्या जुषस्व मेधिर ॥४॥
ओजिष्ठं ते मध्यतो मेद उद्भृतं प्र ते वयं ददामहे ।
श्चोतन्ति ते वसो स्तोका अधि त्वचि प्रति तान्देवशो विहि ॥५॥

túbhyam stoká ghritaścútó 'gne víprāya santya | ríshiḥ śréshṭhaḥ sám idhyase yajñásya prāvitá bhava || 3 || túbhyaṃ ścotanty adhrigo śacīva stokáso agne médaso ghritásya | kaviśastó brihatá bhānúnágā havyá jushasva medhira || 4 || ójishṭhaṃ te madhyató méda údbhritam prá te vayáṃ dadāmahe | ścótanti te vaso stoká ádhi tvací práti tán devaśó vihi || 5 ||

(२२) द्वाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कौशिको गाथी ऋषिः । (१–३, ५) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्या ऋचश्चाग्निः, (४) चतुर्थ्याश्च पुरीष्या अग्नयो देवताः । (१–३, ५) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्या ऋचश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२२॥ अयं सो अग्निर्यस्मिन्त्सोममिन्द्रः सुतं दधे जठरे वावशानः ।
सहस्रिणं वाजमत्यं न सप्तिं ससवान्त्सन्त्स्तूयसे जातवेदः ॥१॥
अग्ने यत्ते दिवि वर्चः पृथिव्यां यदोषधीष्वप्स्वा यजत्र ।
येनान्तरिक्षमुर्वाततन्थ त्वेषः स भानुरर्णवो नृचक्षाः ॥२॥

22.

Ayáṃ só agnír yásmin sómam índraḥ sutáṃ dadhé jaṭháre vāvaśānáḥ | sahasríṇaṃ vájam átyaṃ ná sáptiṃ sasaván sán stūyase jātavedaḥ || 1 || ágne yát te diví várcaḥ prithivyáṃ yád óshadhīshv apsv á yajatra | yénāntárikshani urv ātatántha tveshåḥ sá bhānúr arṇavó nricákshāḥ || 2 ||

The humble homage, full of love and dedication, is offered to you, O all-wise adorable Lord. You are kindled like sacred fire, as you are the best of seers. May you be the protector of our sacred acts. 3

The humble offerings full of love and dedication are presented to you, O irrepressible and powerful Lord. Therefore, praised by sages, come with great splendour, O all-wise Lord, and be pleased with our offerings. 4

We present to you the most intense love from the deepest core of our heart. O bestower of comforts, may our love touch your compassion and may you convey our devotion to your Nature's bounties in appropriate manner. 5

22

This is that universal fire-divine in whom the resplendent sun pours out its loving homage for its own benefit. You are praised by us, O omnipresent divine fire, enjoying the oblation of many sorts like a rapid courser (enjoying many pleasures in battle). 1

O adorable universal fire-divine, your splendour is visible in heaven and earth, in the plants and in water; your glory over-spreads the vast mid region, with shine and effulgence of an ocean overlooking men. 2

अग्ने दिवो अर्णमच्छा जिगास्यच्छा देवाँ ऊचिषे धिष्ण्या ये ।
या रोचने परस्तात्सूर्यस्य याश्चावस्तादुपतिष्ठन्त आपः ॥३॥
पुरीष्यासो अग्नयः प्रावणेभिः सजोषसः ।
जुषन्तां यज्ञमद्रुहोऽनमीवा इषो महीः ॥४॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥५॥

ágne divó árṇam áchā jigāsy áchā deváñ ūcishe dhíshṇyā yé | yā́ rocané parástāt sū́ryasya yā́ṣ cāvástād upatíshṭhanta ā́paḥ || 3 || purīshyā̀so agnáyaḥ prāvaṇébhiḥ sajóshasaḥ | jushántāṃ yajñám adrúho 'namīvā́ ísho mahī́ḥ || 4 || ī́ḷām agne — || 5 ||

(२३) त्रयोविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारतौ देवश्रवोदेववातावृषी । अग्निर्देवता । (१-२, ४-५) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थपञ्चम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (३) तृतीयायाश्च सतोबृहती छन्दसी ॥

॥२३॥ निर्मथितः सुधित आ सधस्थे युवा कविरध्वरस्य प्रणेता ।
जूर्यत्स्वग्निरजरो वनेष्वत्रा दधे अमृतं जातवेदाः ॥१॥
अमन्थिष्टां भारता रेवदग्निं देवश्रवा देववातः सुदक्षम् ।
अग्ने वि पश्य बृहताभि रायेषां नो नेता भवतादनु द्यून् ॥२॥

23.

Nírmathitaḥ súdhita ā́ sadhásthe yúvā kavír adhvarásya praṇetā́ | jū́ryatsv agnír ajáro váneshv átrā dadhe amṛ́taṃ jātávedāḥ || 1 || ámanthishṭām bhā́ratā revád agníṃ devásravā devávātaḥ sudáksham | ágne ví paṣya bṛihatā́bhí rāyéshāṃ no netā́ bhavatād ánu dyū́n || 2 ||

You move, O universal fire, to the vapour in heaven. You intigrate the activities who are the vital airs of the body. You animate the waters in the bright region above the sun, as well as those that are in the firmament beneath. 3

May the universal fire-divine, benign and protective, variously manifested in combinations, cherish our noble benevolent deeds and grant us abundant food, free from disease and malice. 4

O adorable Lord, may you grant to the offerer of oblation, such earth as is the giver of cattle and is of long endure. May you bless us with sons and grandsons and may your favour be productive of good unto us. 5

23

Properly kindled and established in the altar (of hearts), this youthful, ageless, divine fire, becomes promotor of beneficial sacred deeds. May this imperishable divine light, blaming amidst consuming forests of delusions grant us here immortalizing elixir. 1

The enlightened sages, gifted to hear divine message, and divinely inspired, churn the powerful and bliss-bestowing divine fire. May you, O adorable Lord, lead us to the vast riches and nourishment day after day. 2

दश क्षिपः पूर्व्यं सीमजीजनन्त्सुजातं मातृषु प्रियम् ।
अग्निं स्तुहि दैववातं देवश्रवो यो जनानामसद्वशी ॥३॥
नि त्वा दधे वर आ पृथिव्या इळायास्पदे सुदिनत्वे अह्नाम् ।
दृषद्वत्यां मानुष आपयायां सरस्वत्यां रेवदग्ने दिदीहि ॥४॥
इळामग्ने पुरुदंसं सनिं गोः शश्वत्तमं हवमानाय साध ।
स्यान्नः सूनुस्तनयो विजावाग्ने सा ते सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ॥५॥

dáṣa kshípaḥ pūrvyáṃ sīm ajījanan sújātam mātṛíshu priyám | agníṃ stuhi daivavātáṃ devaṣravo yó jánānām ásad vaṣí || 3 || ní tvā dadhe vára á pṛithivyá íḷāyās padé sudinatvé áhnām | dṛisháḍvatyām mánusha āpayáyāṃ sárasvatyāṃ revád agne didīhi || 4 || íḷām agne — || 5 ||

(२४) चतुर्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चोऽनुष्टुप्, (२–५) द्वितीयादिचतसृणाञ्च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥२४॥ अग्ने सहस्व पृतना अभिमातीरपास्य । दुष्टरस्तरन्नरातीर्वर्चो धा यज्ञवाहसे ॥१॥
अग्न इळा समिध्यसे वीतिहोत्रो अमर्त्यः । जुषस्व सू नो अध्वरम् ॥२॥
अग्ने द्युम्नेन जागृवे सहसः सूनवाहुत । एदं बर्हिः सदो मम ॥३॥

24.

Ágne sáhasva pṛítanā abhímātīr ápāsya | dushṭáras tárann árātīr várco dhā yajñávāhase || 1 || ágna iḷá sám idhyase vītíhotro ámartyaḥ | jushásva sú no adhvarám || 2 || ágne dyumnéna jāgṛive sáhasaḥ sūnav āhuta | édám barhíḥ sado máma || 3 ||

Ten fingers (ten senses) generate this inner fire. O sages gifted to hear divine message, may you adore this divinely inspired fire, which is the benefactor of mankind. 3

I establish you, O divine inner fire, on the excellent altar of the earth, on an suspicious day of days; may you, O inner fire, shine gloriously in the voice of such men as speak with hard conviction and are possessed of life-giving message and as are endowed with the words of wisdom. 4

O adorable Lord, may you grant to the offerer of oblation, such earth as is the giver of cattle and is useful in our sacred ceremonies and is of long endure. May you bless us with sons and grandsons and may your favour be productive of good unto us. 5

24

Repel, O adorable Lord, hostile evil forces; drive away adversaries. O invincible, foe-surpassing, conquer formidable forces and give splendour to the institutor of worship. 1

O adorable Lord, you are immortal and lover of devotional offerings, and kindled by divine wisdom. May you accept our homage with joy. 2

O ever-vigilant, source of strength, adorable Lord, may you be with us when invoked and dwell in our heart with your full glory. 3

अग्ने विश्वेभिरग्निभिर्देवेभिर्महया गिरः । यज्ञेषु य उ चायवः ॥४॥
अग्ने दा दाशुषे रयिं वीरवन्तं परीणसम् । शिशीहि नः सूनुमतः ॥५॥

ágne víşvebhir agníbhir devébhir mahayā gíraḥ | yajñéshu yá u cāyávaḥ || 4 || ágne dá dāşúshe rayím vīrávantam párīṇasam | şişīhí naḥ sūnumátaḥ || 5 ||

(२५) पञ्चविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१-३, ५) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्या ऋचश्चाग्निः, (४) चतुर्थ्याश्चेन्द्राग्नी देवते । विराट् छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ अग्ने दिवः सूनुरसि प्रचेतास्तना पृथिव्या उत विश्ववेदाः ।
ऋधग्देवाँ इह यजा चिकित्वः ॥१॥
अग्निः सनोति वीर्याणि विद्वान्त्सनोति वाजममृताय भूषन् ।
स नो देवाँ एह वहा पुरुक्षो ॥२॥
अग्निर्द्यावापृथिवी विश्वजन्ये आ भाति देवी अमृते अमूरः ।
क्षयन्वाजैः पुरुश्चन्द्रो नमोभिः ॥३॥
अग्न इन्द्रश्च दाशुषो दुरोणे सुतावतो यज्ञमिहोप यातम् ।
अमर्धन्ता सोमपेयाय देवा ॥४॥

25.

Ágne diváḥ sūnúr asi prácetās tánā prithivyá utá vişvávedāḥ | rídhag deváñ ihá yajā cikitvaḥ || 1 || agníḥ sanoti vīryāṇi vidván sanóti vájam amrítāya bhúshan | sá no deváñ éhá vahā puruksho || 2 || agnír dyávāprithiví vişvájanye á bhāti deví amríte ámūraḥ | ksháyan vájaiḥ puruşcandró námobhiḥ || 3 || ágna índras ca dāşúsho duroṇé sutávato yajñám ihópa yātam | ámardhantā somapéyāya devā || 4 ||

O adorable God, may you with all the divine fires, energy in various forms exalt the praises of those who worship you with full dedication. 4

O adorable Lord, grant abundant wealth and brave children to the dedicated brave devotee. Make us prosperous and father of brave progeny. 5

25

O adorable God, you are omniscient, discriminator of actions and the source of all divine as well as earthly treasures. May you, who knows everything, inspire Nature's bounties particularly on this occasion. 1

The all-wise adorable Lord, bestows faculties (securing prosperity and descendents), adorning (the world with lustre) he provides strength for immortality, may he, the Lord of all nourishment inspire Nature's bounties to come hither. 2

The adorable Lord, the infallible, is the granter of dwelling; He is brilliant and illuminates the divine immortal sources of everything,—the heaven and earth—through his vigour and wisdom. 3

O adorable Lord, may you and the resplendent sun, while protecting our noble deeds, come to the place of worship in the dwelling of the offerer of homage to share the spiritual joy. 4

अग्ने अपां समिध्यसे दुरोणे नित्यः सूनो सहसो जातवेदः । सधस्थानि महयमान ऊती ॥५॥

ágne apā́ṃ sám idhyase duroṇé nítyaḥ sūno sahaso jātavedaḥ | sadhásthāni maháyamāna ūtí || 5 ||

(२६) षड्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-६, ८-९) प्रथमतृचद्वयस्याष्टमीनवम्योर्ऋचोश्च गाथिनो विश्वामित्रः, (७) सप्तम्याश्च ब्रह्म ऋषी । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य वैश्वानरोऽग्निः, (४-६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य मारुतोऽग्निः, (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योर्ऋचोरग्निः परं ब्रह्म वा, (९) नवम्याश्च विश्वामित्रोपाध्यायो देवताः । (१-६) प्रथमतृचद्वयस्य जगती, (७-९) तृतीयतृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२६॥ वैश्वानरं मनसाग्निं निचाय्या हविष्मन्तो अनुषत्यं स्वर्विदम् ।
सुदानुं देवं रथिरं वसूयवो गीर्भी रण्वं कुशिकासो हवामहे ॥१॥
तं शुभ्रमग्निमवसे हवामहे वैश्वानरं मातरिश्वानमुक्थ्यम् ।
बृहस्पतिं मनुषो देवतातये विप्रं श्रोतारमतिथिं रघुष्यदम् ॥२॥
अश्वो न क्रन्दञ्जनिभिः समिध्यते वैश्वानरः कुशिकेभिर्युगेयुगे ।
स नो अग्निः सुवीर्यं स्वश्व्यं दधातु रत्नममृतेषु जागृविः ॥३॥

26.

Vaiṣvānarám mánasāgníṃ nicáyyā havíshmanto anushatyáṃ svarvídam | sudánuṃ deváṃ rathiráṃ vasūyávo gīrbhí raṇváṃ kuṣikáso havāmahe || 1 || táṃ ṣubhrám agním ávase havāmahe vaiṣvānarám mātaríṣvānam ukthyàm | bṛíhaspátim mánusho devátātaye vípraṃ ṣrótāram átithiṃ raghushyádam || 2 || áṣvo ná krándañ jánibhiḥ sám idhyate vaiṣvānaráḥ kuṣikébhir yugé-yuge | sá no agníḥ suvíryaṃ sváṣvyaṃ dádhātu rátnam amṛíteshu jágṛiviḥ || 3 ||

O source of all powers, the eternal and omniscient adorable Lord, your protective radiance is exalted and illumined in all the inhabited regions and in the vast cosmic ocean. 5

26

Revering in our heart, we of the race of preceptors, seekers of wealth, offering devotion, invoke with sons the supreme leaders of the universe, who is the observer of truth, the bestower of happiness, bountiful, the fast moving and the beautiful. 1

We invoke you, for our own protection and for the devotion of mankind, the radiant supreme leader of the universe, the permeator of the firmament, the adorable Lord of ceremonies, the wise, the one prompt to hear supplications, the swiftly-moving, and the guest of man. 2

Age after age, the supreme fire-divine, neighing like a foal, nourished by mother, is kindled by the preceptors. May that fire-divine, vigilant among the immortals, grant us wealth and precious stones, along with heroic and noble deeds. 3

प्र यन्तु वाजास्तविषीभिरग्नयः शुभे संमिश्लाः पृषतीरयुक्षत ।
बृहदुक्षो मरुतो विश्ववेदसः प्र वेपयन्ति पर्वताँ अदाभ्याः ॥४॥
अग्निश्रियो मरुतो विश्वकृष्टय आ त्वेषमुग्रमव ईमहे वयम् ।
ते स्वानिनो रुद्रिया वर्षनिर्णिजः सिंहा न हेषक्रतवः सुदानवः ॥५॥

prá yantu vájās távishībhir agnáyaḥ ṣubhé sámmiṣlāḥ príshatīr ayukshata | brihadúksho marúto viṣvávedasaḥ prá vepayanti párvatāñ ádābhyāḥ || 4 || agniṣríyo marúto viṣvákrishṭaya á tveshám ugrám áva īmahe vayám | té svānino rudríyā varshánirṇijaḥ siṅhā ná heshákratavaḥ sudánavaḥ || 5 ||

॥२७॥ व्रातंव्रातं गणंगणं सुशस्तिभिरग्नेर्भामं मरुतामोज ईमहे ।
पृषदश्वासो अनवभ्रराधसो गन्तारो यज्ञं विदथेषु धीराः ॥६॥
अग्निरस्मि जन्मना जातवेदा घृतं मे चक्षुरमृतं म आसन् ।
अर्कस्त्रिधातू रजसो विमानोऽजस्रो घर्मो हविरस्मि नाम ॥७॥
त्रिभिः पवित्रैरपुपोद्ध्य१र्कं हृदा मतिं ज्योतिरनु प्रजानन् ।
वर्षिष्ठं रत्नमकृत स्वधाभिरादिद्द्यावापृथिवी पर्यपश्यत् ॥८॥
शतधारमुत्समक्षीयमाणं विपश्चितं पितरं वक्त्वानाम् ।
मेळिं मदन्तं पित्रोरुपस्थे तं रोदसी पिपृतं सत्यवाचम् ॥९॥

vrátam-vrātam gaṇám-gaṇam suṣastíbhir agnér bhámam marútām ója īmahe | príshadaṣvāso anavabhrárādhaso gántāro yajñám vidátheshu dhírāḥ || 6 || agnír asmi jánmanā jātávedā ghritám me cákshur amrítam ma āsán | arkás tridhátū rájaso vimánó 'jasro gharmó havír asmi náma || 7 || tribhíḥ pavítrair ápupod dhy àrkám hridá matím jyótir ánu prajānán | várshishṭham rátnam akrita svadhábhir ád íd dyávāprithiví páry apaṣyat || 8 || ṣatádhāram útsam ákshīyamāṇam vipaṣcítam pitáram váktvānām | meḷím mádantam pitrór upásthe tám rodasī pipritam satyavácam || 9 ||

May the swift flames of fire, combined with the vigorous wind, proceed to the pure cosmos, condensing the rain drops. And may we have such cloud-bearing winds, as are irresistible, and present everywhere, and make the mountains shake. 4

These cloud-bearing winds are friends of men, glorious as fire. We implore their fierce radiance for our protection. These storming offsprings of vital powers, clothed in robes of rain are givers of good gifts, and loud like roaring lions. 5

These cloud-bearing winds are like partly-coloured steeds, dispensers of unfailing wealth, firm and frequenters to the congregation. We solicit the might of these cloud-bearing winds and the radiance of fire-divine with solemn prayers in every assembly, band in band and troop following troop. 6

I, the fire-divine, have since my first manifestation, been endowed with the knowledge of all that exists. The butter is my eye and the ambrosia my mouth. I am the living breath of three-fold universe. The measurer of the firmament, and the exhaustless warmth. I am also the burnt oblation. 7

The wise man first comprehends the light of God in his heart, then with three—the minds, the speech, and the deeds—purifies the soul. By his own nature he further makes himself most excellent and contemplates on earth and heaven. 8

O heaven and earth, may you fulfil the aspirations of that sage, who is many-chanelled, and inexhaustible stream of knowledge, the collector of holy texts, rejoicing in his parent's bosom and whose words are truth. 9

(२७) सप्तविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चामग्निः, (१) प्रथमाया ऋतवो वा देवताः । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२८॥ प्र वो वाजा अभिद्यवो हविष्मन्तो घृताच्या । देवाञ्जिगाति सुम्नयुः ॥१॥
ईळे अग्निं विपश्चितं गिरा यज्ञस्य साधनम् । श्रुष्टीवानं धितावानम् ॥२॥
अग्ने शकेम ते वयं यमं देवस्य वाजिनः । अति द्वेषांसि तरेम ॥३॥
समिध्यमानो अध्वरे३ऽग्निः पावक ईड्यः । शोचिष्केशस्तमीमहे ॥४॥
पृथुपाजा अमर्त्यो घृतनिर्णिक्स्वाहुतः । अग्निर्यज्ञस्य हव्यवाट् ॥५॥

27.

Prá vo vā́jā abhídyavo havíshmanto ghritā́cyā | devā́ñ jigāti sumnayúḥ || 1 || íḷe agníṃ vipaṣcítaṃ girā́ yajñásya sā́dhanam | srushṭīvā́naṃ dhitā́vānam || 2 || ágne ṣakéma te vayáṃ yámaṃ devásya vājínaḥ | áti dvéshāṅsi tarema || 3 || samidhyámāno adhvarè 'gníḥ pāvaká ī́ḍyaḥ | ṣocíshkeṣas tám īmahe || 4 || prithupā́jā ámartyo ghritánirṇik svā̀hutaḥ | agnír yajñásya havyavā́ṭ || 5 ||

॥२९॥ तं सबाधो यतस्रुच इत्था धिया यज्ञवन्तः । आ चक्रुरग्निमूतये ॥६॥
होता देवो अमर्त्यः पुरस्तादेति मायया । विदथानि प्रचोदयन् ॥७॥
वाजी वाजेषु धीयतेऽध्वरेषु प्र णीयते । विप्रो यज्ञस्य साधनः ॥८॥
धिया चक्रे वरेण्यो भूतानां गर्भमा दधे । दक्षस्य पितरं तना ॥९॥

táṃ sabā́dho yatásruca itthā́ dhiyā́ yajñávantaḥ | ā́ cakrur agním ūtáye || 6 || hóta devó ámartyaḥ purástād eti māyáyā | vidáthani pracodáyan || 7 || vājī́ vā́jeshu dhīyate 'dhvaréshu prá ṇīyate | vípro yajñásya sā́dhanaḥ || 8 || dhiyā́ cakre váreṇyo bhūtā́nāṃ gárbham ā́ dadhe | dákshasya pitáraṃ tánā || 9 ||

27

With the powerful and brilliant food and with butter-yeilding cows and other things worthy of oblations, the worshipper in search of happiness goes to the enlightened teachers. 1

I glorify adorable God, with excellent songs who is inspirer of sages, accomplisher of all dedicated deeds, bestower of bliss and prosperity. 2

O powerful and divine, may we, offering homage, be able to keep you enshrined in our hearts, and overcome all our animosities. 3

We glorify that adorable fire-divine who is kindled by our worship, who purifies, and whose flame is like a bunch of hairs. 4

The fire-divine, who shines bright, is immortal, enrobed with butter, well-worshipped, and is a carrier of the offerings of worship. 5

The priests, imbibed with pious thoughts, and with lifted-up ladles, bring here this fire-divine for their protection. 6

He, the invoker, the immortal fire-divine comes first directing solemnities by his wondrous wisdom. 7

Both in battle and worship, the valerous fire-divine is brought forward reverently at the holy worship, for, he is the sage who accomplishes noble acts. 8

He, the chosen one, is revealed through noble deeds. He comprehends the germ of all creatures. He has been received by the children of wise as the parents of the world. 9

नि त्वा दधे वरेण्यं दक्षस्येळा सहस्कृत । अग्ने सुदीतिमुशिजम् ॥१०॥
॥३०॥ अग्निं यन्तुरमप्तुरमृतस्य योगे वनुषः । विप्रा वाजैः समिन्धते ॥११॥
ऊर्जो नपातमध्वरे दीदिवांसमुप द्यवि । अग्निमीळे कविक्रतुम् ॥१२॥
ईळेन्यो नमस्यस्तिरस्तमांसि दर्शतः । समग्निरिध्यते वृषा ॥१३॥
वृषो अग्निः समिध्यतेऽश्वो न देववाहनः । तं हविष्मन्त ईळते ॥१४॥
वृषणं त्वा वयं वृषन्वृषणः समिधीमहि । अग्ने दीद्यतं बृहत् ॥१५॥

ní tvā dadhe várenyam dákshasyelā́ sahaskṛita | ágne sudītím uṣíjam || 10 ||
agním yantúram aptúram ṛitásya yóge vanúshaḥ | víprā vā́jaiḥ sám indhate || 11 || ūrjó nápātam adhvaré dīdivā́ṅsam úpa dyávi | agním īḷe kavíkratum || 12 || īḷényo namasyàs tirás támāṅsi darṣatáḥ | sám agnír idhyate vṛíshā || 13 || vṛísho agníḥ sám idhyaté 'ṣvo ná devavā́hanaḥ | tám havíshmanta īḷate || 14 || vṛíshaṇam tvā vayám vṛishan vṛíshaṇaḥ sám idhīmahi | ágne dī́dyatam bṛihát || 15 ||

(२८) अष्टाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-२, ६) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोः षष्ठ्याश्च गायत्री, (३) तृतीयाया उष्णिक्, (४) चतुर्थ्यास्त्रिष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च जगती छन्दांसि ॥

॥३१॥ अग्ने जुषस्व नो हविः पुरोळाशं जातवेदः । प्रातःसावे धियावसो ॥१॥
पुरोळा अग्ने पचतस्तुभ्यं वा घा परिष्कृतः । तं जुषस्व यविष्ठ्य ॥२॥

28.

Ágne jushásva no havíḥ puroḷā́ṣam jātavedaḥ | prātaḥsāvé dhiyāvaso || 1 || puroḷā́ agne pacatás túbhyam vā ghā párishkṛitaḥ | tám jushasva yavishṭhya || 2 ||

O strength engendered fire-divine, you are sustained by wisdom of the wise. You are the resplendent, the desirable and you love to be offered homage. 10

The wise devotees kindle with dedication, the fire-divine regulator of the world and the prompter of rain. 11

I adore in this worship the fire-divine, the prime source of strength, dynamic in action. His radiance reaches beyond the firmament. 12

The revered, adorable, splendorous, showerer of benefits, and dispeller of darkness, such fire-divine, is to be kindled. 13

The dedicated devotees glorify that fire-divine, who is the showerer of blessings, the bearer of homage to divine powers, just as a horse bears the rider to his home. 14

Profusely offering homage, we kindle the mightily shining fire-divine, who showers benefits on his devotees. 15

28

O omniscient, adorable God, who rewards pious acts with wealth, may you accept our cakes offered with butter. 1

O most useful fire-divine, accept these offerings of cakes, dressed in butter (prayers poured out of devotion), prepared particularly for you. 2

अग्ने वीहि पुरोळाशमाहुतं तिरोअह्न्यम् । सहसः सूनुरस्यध्वरे हितः ॥३॥
माध्यंदिने सवने जातवेदः पुरोळाशमिह कवे जुषस्व ।
अग्ने यह्वस्य तव भागधेयं न प्र मिनन्ति विदथेषु धीराः ॥४॥
अग्ने तृतीये सवने हि कानिषः पुरोळाशं सहसः सूनवाहुतम् ।
अथा देवेष्वध्वरं विपन्यया धा रत्नवन्तममृतेषु जागृविम् ॥५॥
अग्ने वृधान आहुतिं पुरोळाशं जातवेदः । जुषस्व तिरोअह्न्यम् ॥६॥

ágne vīhí puroḷā́ṣam ā́hutam tiróahnyam | sáhasaḥ sūnúr asy adhvaré hitáḥ || 3 || mā́dhyaṃdine sávane jātavedaḥ puroḷā́ṣam ihá kave jushasva | ágne yahvásya táva bhāgadhéyaṃ ná prá minanti vidátheshu dhī́rāḥ || 4 || ágne tṛitī́ye sávane hí kā́nishaḥ puroḷā́ṣaṃ sahasaḥ sūnav ā́hutam | áthā devéshv adhvarám vipanyáyā dhā́ rátnavantam amṛíteshu jā́gṛivim || 5 || ágne vṛidhāná ā́hutim puroḷā́ṣaṃ jātavedaḥ | jushásva tiróahnyam || 6 ||

(२९.) एकोनत्रिंशं सूक्तम

(१–१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१–४, ६–१६) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां षष्ठ्याद्येकादशानाञ्चाग्निः, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च अग्निर्ऋत्विजो वा देवताः । (१, ४, १०, १२) प्रथमाचतुर्थीदशमीद्वादशीनामनुष्टुप्, (२, ३, ५, ७–९, १३, १६) द्वितीयातृतीययोः पञ्चम्याः सप्तम्यादितृचस्य त्रयोदशीषोडश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (६, ११, १४, १५) षष्ठ्येकादशीचतुर्दशीपञ्चदशीनाञ्च जगती छन्दांसि ॥

॥३२॥ अस्तीदमधिमन्थनमस्ति प्रजननं कृतम् ।
एतां विश्पत्नीमा भराग्निं मन्थाम पूर्वथा ॥१॥

29.

Ástīdám adhimánthanam ásti prajánanaṃ kṛitám | etā́ṃ viṣpátnīm ā́ bharāgním manthāma pūrváthā || 1 ||

O fire-divine, enjoy these specially prepared oblations that are presented to you as the day passes. You are the source of strength. We enshrine you at our place of worship for our benefit. 3

O omniscient fire-divine, enjoy our specially prepared offerings presented to you at the mid-day worship. O mighty one, the prudent sages in the solemn assemblies do not reject your portion of offerings. 4

Be pleased, O fire-divine, the source of strength. With our oblations, offered at the third daily worship (evening). And through skill and may you, propitiated with praise convey these precious imperishable and refreshing offerings to immortal divine powers. 5

O wise omniscient fire-divine, elevator of the devotee, accept our invigorating oblations offered further as the day disappears. 6

29

This, the apparatus of attrition for the first generation of fire is ready; the generation of the flame is ready; may you hold it (the wooden stick) the matron of mankind. Let us churn the fire as has been done since earliest times. 1

अरण्योर्निहितो जातवेदा गर्भ इव सुधितो गर्भिणीषु ।
दिवेदिव ईड्यो जागृवद्भिर्हविष्मद्भिर्मनुष्येभिरग्निः ॥२॥
उत्तानायामव भरा चिकित्वान्त्सद्यः प्रवीता वृषणं जजान ।
अरुषस्तूपो रुशदस्य पाज इळायास्पुत्रो वयुनेऽजनिष्ट ॥३॥
इळायास्त्वा पदे वयं नाभा पृथिव्या अधि ।
जातवेदो नि धीमह्यग्ने हव्याय वोळ्हवे ॥४॥
मन्थता नरः कविमद्वयन्तं प्रचेतसममृतं सुप्रतीकम् ।
यज्ञस्य केतुं प्रथमं पुरस्तादग्निं नरो जनयता सुशेवम् ॥५॥

aráṇyor níhito jātávedā gárbha iva súdhito garbhíṇīshu | divé-diva íḍyo jāgṛivádbhir havíshmadbhir manushyèbhir agníḥ || 2 || uttānáyām áva bharā cikitvā́n sadyáḥ právītā vṛ́shaṇam jajāna | arushástūpo rúṣad asya pā́ja íḷāyās putró vayúne 'janishṭa || 3 || íḷāyās tvā padé vayám nā́bhā pṛithivyā́ ádhi | jā́tavedo ní dhīmahy ágne havyā́ya vóḷhave || 4 || mánthatā naraḥ kavím ádvayantam prácetasam amṛ́tam suprátīkam | yajñásya ketúm prathamám purástād agním naro janayatā suṣévam || 5 ||

॥३३॥ यदी मन्थन्ति बाहुभिर्वि रोचतेऽश्वो न वाज्यरुषो वनेष्वा ।
चित्रो न यामन्नश्विनोरनिवृतः परि वृणक्त्यश्मनस्तृणा दहन् ॥६॥
जातो अग्नी रोचते चेकितानो वाजी विप्रः कविशस्तः सुदानुः ।
यं देवास ईड्यं विश्वविदं हव्यवाहमदधुरध्वरेषु ॥७॥

yádī mánthanti bāhúbhir ví rocaté 'ṣvo ná vājy àrushó váneshv á | citró ná yā́mann aṣvínor ánivṛitaḥ pári vṛiṇakty áṣmanas tṛ́ṇā dáhan || 6 || jātó agnī́ rocate cékitāno vājī́ vípraḥ kaviṣastáḥ sudā́nuḥ | yám devā́sa íḍyam viṣvavídam havyavā́ham ádadhur adhvaréshu || 7 ||

This omnipresent fire lies in the two fire-sticks as the embryo is well-set in pregnant woman. This fire-divine must be exalted day by day by vigilant men laden with devotional offerings. 2

Let the intelligent priest place the lower side of the sticks with the face upwards, and the upper with the surface downward, so that, quickly impregnated it generates the flame, the showerer of benefits. With his red pillar,— radiant in splendour, the flame, produced by the process (of attrition) be regenerated as the son of the goddess of wisdom. 3

We set this omnipresent fire-divine upon the central point of the earth—which is the seat of knowledge—for the purpose of receiving the oblation. 4

Institutors of the ceremony produced by attrition this fire-divine who is the sage, the guileless, intelligent, immortal, very wise and splendid to look on. O leaders, bring forth this most propitious fire which is the first ensign of worship and the source of felicity. 5

When with their arms they rub him, this radiant fire bursts forth like a fleet courser and like multi-coloured-chariot of twin-divines, unresisted in its course, this fire spreads wide around consuming stones and burning up vegetation. 6

As soon as manifested one sees the glow of this fire-divine shines who is observant, mighty, swift moving, praised by the wise and liberal in giving rewards. It is he whom divine powers hold as the bearer of oblations at worship and who is adorable and all-knowing. 7

सीद होतः स्व उ लोके चिकित्वान्त्सादया यज्ञं सुकृतस्य योनौ ।
देवावीर्देवान्हविषा यजास्यग्ने बृहद्यजमाने वयो धाः ॥८॥
कृणोत धूमं वृषणं सखायोऽस्रेधन्त इतन वाजमच्छ ।
अयमग्निः पृतनाषाट् सुवीरो येन देवासो असहन्त दस्यून् ॥९॥
अयं ते योनिर्ऋत्वियो यतो जातो अरोचथाः ।
तं जानन्नग्न आ सीदाथा नो वर्धया गिरः ॥१०॥

sída hotaḥ svá u loké cikitvā́n sādáyā yajñám sukṛitásya yónau | devāvī́r devā́n havíshā yajāsy ágne bṛihád yájamāne váyo dhāḥ || 8 || kṛiṇóta dhūmám vṛíshaṇam sakhāyó 'sredhanta itana vā́jam ácha | ayám agníḥ pṛitanāshā́ṭ suvī́ro yéna deváso ásahanta dásyūn || 9 || ayám te yónir ṛitvíyo yáto jātó árocathāḥ | tám jānánn agna ā́ sīdáthā no vardhayā gíraḥ || 10 ||

॥३४॥ तनूनपादुच्यते गर्भ आसुरो नराशंसो भवति यद्विजायते ।
मातरिश्वा यदमिमीत मातरि वातस्य सर्गो अभवत्सरीमणि ॥११॥
सुनिर्मथा निर्मथितः सुनिधा निहितः कविः ।
अग्ने स्वध्वरा कृणु देवान्देवयते यज ॥१२॥
अजीजनन्नमृतं मर्त्यासोऽस्रेमाणं तरणिं वीळुजम्भम् ।
दश स्वसारो अग्रुवः समीचीः पुमांसं जातमभि सं रभन्ते ॥१३॥

tánūnápād ucyate gárbha āsuró nárāṣáṅso bhavati yád vijā́yate | mātaríṣvā yád ámimīta mātári vā́tasya sárgo abhavat sárīmaṇi || 11 || sunirmáthā nírmathitaḥ sunidhā́ níhitaḥ kavíḥ | ágne svadhvarā́ kṛiṇu devā́n devayaté yaja || 12 || ájījanann amṛ́tam mártyāso 'sremā́ṇam taráṇim vīḷújambham | dáṣa svásāro agrúvaḥ samī́cīḥ púmāṅsam jātám abhí sám rabhante || 13 ||

O priest, may you sit down in your own place; you are cognizant of holy acts; may you initiate the ceremony at the chief place of sacred worship. O fire-divine, you are dear to divine powers and carry oblations to them; may you bestow abundant food on the host-worshipper. 8

My friends, may you raise smoke, the showerer of benefits, and attain wealth indefatigably. This heroic fire-divine is able to encounter adversaries and through him divine powers overcome animosities. 9

O fire-divine, this is your right place of birth, in all seasons, whence as soon as you spring to life you ever shine. Knowing this, may you stay here and thrive by our praises. 10

When he exists in the form of embryo, he is called imperishable; and when he is born he is known as one strong and popular with people. When he displays his splendour in the firmament he is called cosmic force; and in due course he becomes the rapid flight of mind. 11

O fire-divine, you are rubbed to life, with reverential attrition and deposited with respectful care. May you render our ceremonies faultless and bring Nature's bounties for the benefit of devout worshippers. 12

Mortals have brought to life this immortal unconquerable, unfailing fire-divine possessing mighty jaws to consume the oblation. All the sisters, the ten fingers, jointly rejoice at the birth of their infant brother. 13

प्र सप्तहोता सनकादरोचत मातुरुपस्थे यदशोचदूधनि ।
न नि मिषति सुरणो दिवेदिवे यदसुरस्य जठरादजायत ॥१४॥
अमित्रायुधो मरुतामिव प्रयाः प्रथमजा ब्रह्मणो विश्वमिद्विदुः ।
द्युम्नवद्ब्रह्म कुशिकास एरिर एकएको दमे अग्निं समीधिरे ॥१५॥
यदद्य त्वा प्रयति यज्ञे अस्मिन्होतश्चिकित्वोऽवृणीमहीह ।
ध्रुवमया ध्रुवमुताशमिष्ठाः प्रजानन्विद्वाँ उप याहि सोमम् ॥१६॥

prá saptáhotā sanakā́d arocata mātúr upásthe yád áṣocad ū́dhani | ná ní mishati suráṇo divé-dive yád ásurasya jaṭhárād ájāyata || 14 || amitrāyúdho marútām iva prayā́ḥ prathamajā́ bráhmaṇo víṣvam íd viduḥ | dyumnávad bráhma kuṣikā́sa érira éka-eko dáme agníṃ sám īdhire || 15 || yád adyá tvā prayatí yajñé asmín hótaṣ cikitvó 'vriṇīmahīhá | dhruvám ayā dhruvám utā́ṣamishṭhāḥ prajānán vidvā́ñ úpa yāhi sómam || 16 ||

(३०) त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-२२) द्वाविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ इच्छन्ति त्वा सोम्यासः सखायः सुन्वन्ति सोमं दधति प्रयांसि ।
तितिक्षन्ते अभिशस्तिं जनानामिन्द्र त्वदा कश्चन हि प्रकेतः ॥१॥

30.

Ichánti tvā somyā́sah sákhāyaḥ sunvánti sómaṃ dádhati práyāṅsi | títikshante abhíṣastiṃ jánānām índra tvád ā́ káṣ caná hí praketáḥ || 1 ||

Served by the seven priests (the vital breaths), he (the life-fire) shines eternally; when he blames the lives with upon the bosom and lap of his mother (earth), he delight. Day by day, he never closes his eyes since his first manifestation from the interior of the spark-emitting wood. 14

The highly enlightened sages, the first born of Lord, the creator, armed against evil forces, possessing the energies of the vital principles, comprehend the universe and each one singly kindles fire and singing prayer in his home offer homage to this divine fire. 15

O omniscient fire-divine, cognizant of all ceremonies as we today approach you in the course of our progressive worship, may you steadily convey our offerings to Nature's bounties or tranquilly be at rest. May you, O enlightened and all-knowing one, approach and cherish the libations of medicinal herbs. 16

30

O resplendent Lord, your loving friends wish to commune with you. They sing sweet melodies and offer you their homage. Supported by you, they endure patiently the calumny of men; for who is wiser than you. 1

न ते॑ दू॒रे प॑र॒मा चि॒द्रजां॒स्या तु प्र या॑हि हरिवो॒ हरि॑भ्याम् ।
स्थि॒राय॒ वृष्णे॒ सव॑ना कृ॒तेमा यु॒क्ता ग्रावा॑णः समिधा॒ने अ॒ग्नौ ॥२॥
इन्द्रः॑ सु॒शिप्रो॑ म॒घवा॒ तरु॑त्रो म॒हाव्रा॑तस्तुविकू॒र्मिरृघा॑वान् ।
यदु॒ग्रो धा बा॑धि॒तो मर्त्ये॑षु॒ क्व१॒॑ त्या ते॑ वृषभ वी॒र्या॑णि ॥३॥
त्वं हि ष्मा॑ च्याव॒यन्नच्यु॑ता॒न्येको॑ वृ॒त्रा चर॑सि॒ जिघ्न॑मानः ।
तव॒ द्यावा॑पृथि॒वी पर्व॑ता॒सोऽनु॑ व्र॒ताय॒ निमि॑तेव तस्थुः ॥४॥
उ॒ताभ॑ये पुरुहूत॒ श्रवो॑भि॒रेको॑ दृ॒ळ्हम॑वदो वृत्र॒हा सन् ।
इ॒मे चि॑दिन्द्र॒ रोद॑सी अपा॒रे यत्सं॑गृ॒भ्णा म॑घवन्का॒शिरित्ते॑ ॥५॥ ná te dūré paramā́ cid rā́- jāṅsy ā́ tú prá yāhi harivo háribhyām | sthirā́ya vṛ́shṇe

sávanā kṛitémā́ yuktā́ grā́vāṇah samidhāné agnaú || 2 || índraḥ suśípro maghávā tárutro mahā́vrātas tuvikūrmír ṛ́ghāvān | yád ugró dhā́ bādhitó mártyeshu kvà tyā́ te vṛishabha vīryā̀ṇi || 3 || tvám hí shmā cyāváyann ácyutāny éko
vṛitrā́ cárasi jíghnamānaḥ | táva dyā́vāpṛithiví párvatāsó
'nu vratā́ya nímiteva tasthuḥ || 4 || utā́bhaye puruhūta śrávobhir éko dṛilhám avado vṛitrahā́ sán | imé cid indra ró-
dasī apāré yát saṃgṛibhṇā́ maghavan kāśír ít te || 5 ||

॥२॥ प्र सू त॑ इन्द्र प्र॒वता॒ हरि॑भ्यां॒ प्र ते॒ वज्रः॑ प्रमृ॒णन्ने॑तु॒ शत्रू॑न् ।
ज॒हि प्र॑ती॒चो अ॑नू॒चः परा॑चो॒ विश्वं॑ स॒त्यं कृ॑णु॒हि वि॒ष्टम॑स्तु ॥६॥
यस्मै॒ धायु॒रद॑धा॒ मर्त्या॒याभ॑क्तं चिद्भजते गे॒ह्यं१॒॑ सः ।
भ॒द्रा त॑ इन्द्र सु॒मतिर्घृ॒ताची॑ स॒हस्र॑दाना पुरुहूत रा॒तिः ॥७॥ prá sú ta indra pravátā háribhyām prá te vájraḥ pra-mṛiṇánn etu śátrūn | jahí pratīcó anūcáḥ párāco víśvaṃ

satyám kṛiṇuhi vishṭám astu || 6 || yásmai dhā́yur ádadhā mártyāyā́bhaktaṃ cid bhajate gehyàm sáḥ | bhadrā́ ta in-dra sumatír ghṛitā́cī sahásradānā puruhūta rātíḥ || 7 ||

O lord of sun-rays, the remotest regions are not remote for you; please do come speedily with your radiance. O steady showerer of benefits, these offerings are for your presentation. While inner fire is being kindled, we are pouring forth the expressions of devotion, as juice from herbs flows out when pressed between stones. 2

O bounteous resplendent Lord, you are showerer of benefits, of loving countenance, conveyer of men beyond troubles, the supreme-willed, the accomplisher of many great deeds, the devastator of hostile regions, the terror of foes. Where are those heroic deeds which you performed against sinful mortals, when opposed. 3

You alone cast down the firmly footed evil-doers; you alone proceed destroying the evil forces. The heaven and earth and the mountains under your command stand still as if immovable. 4

O bounteous resplendent Lord, destroyer of evils by your prowess, when invoked by many, you come alone and proclaim to Nature's bounties, "fear not". O opulent Lord, vast is your grasp, wherewith you over-power these boundless worlds, heaven and earth. 5

O resplendent Lord, let your radiance come from all sides; let your bolt of punitive justice destroy evils. May you slay those who assail you in front or in rear or those who fly from the combat. Make the universe (an abode of) truth. May all powers be concentrated in you. 6

O resplendent Lord, invoked by all, Lord of all treasures, the man, to whom you give blessings, enjoys unprecedented domestic prosperity. Your auspicious favour, loving and soothing, brings unbounded wealth. 7

सहदानुं पुरुहूत क्षियन्तमहस्तमिन्द्र सं पिणक्कुणारुम् ।
अभि वृत्रं वर्धमानं पियारुमपादमिन्द्र तवसा जघन्थ ॥८॥
नि सामनामिषिरामिन्द्र भूमिं महीमपारां सदने ससत्थ ।
अस्तभ्नाद्द्यां वृषभो अन्तरिक्षमर्षन्त्वापस्त्वयेह प्रसूताः ॥९॥
अलातृणो वल इन्द्र व्रजो गोः पुरा हन्तोर्भयमानो व्यार ।
सुगान्पथो अकृणोन्निरजे गाः प्रावन्वाणीः पुरुहूतं धमन्तीः ॥१०॥

sahá-dānum puruhūta kshiyántam ahastám indra sám pinak kúṇārum | abhí vṛitráṃ várdhamānam píyārum apā́dam indra tavásā jaghantha || 8 || ní sāmanā́m ishirā́m indra bhū́mim mahī́m apārā́ṃ sádane sasattha | ástabhnād dyā́ṃ vṛishabhó antáriksham árshantv ā́pas tváyehá prásūtāḥ || 9 || alātṛiṇó valá indra vrajó góḥ purā́ hántor bháyamāno vy àra | sugā́n pathó akṛiṇon niráje gā́ḥ prā́van vā́ṇīḥ puruhūtáṃ dhámantīḥ || 10 ||

॥३॥ एको द्वे वसुमती समीची इन्द्र आ पप्रौ पृथिवीमुत द्याम् ।
उतान्तरिक्षादभि नः समीक इषो रथीः सयुजः शूर वाजान् ॥११॥
दिशः सूर्यो न मिनाति प्रदिष्टा दिवेदिवे हर्यश्वप्रसूताः ।
सं यदानळध्वन आदिदश्वैर्विमोचनं कृणुते तत्त्वस्य ॥१२॥
दिदृक्षन्त उषसो यामन्नक्तोर्विवस्वत्या महि चित्रमनीकम् ।
विश्वे जानन्ति महिना यदागादिन्द्रस्य कर्म सुकृता पुरूणि ॥१३॥

éko dvé vásumatī samīcī́ índra ā́ paprau pṛithivī́m utá dyā́m | utántárikshād abhí naḥ samīká ishó rathī́ḥ sayújaḥ śūra vā́jān || 11 || díśaḥ sū́ryo ná mināti prádishṭā divé-dive háryaśvaprasūtāḥ | sáṃ yád ā́naḷ ádhvana ā́d íd áśvair vimócanaṃ kṛiṇute tát tv àsya || 12 || dídṛikshanta usháso yā́mann aktór vivásvatyā máhi citrám ánīkam | víśve jānanti mahinā́ yád ā́gād índrasya kárma súkṛitā purū́ṇi || 13 ||

O resplendent Lord, invoked by all, may you grind to dust the reviling evil force, associated with demonic tendencies, and increasing in might, may you deprive it of its hands and also its feet, and destroy him completely by your strength. 8

O resplendent Lord, you have established in its position the silent earth, the vast, unbounded and fertile. You are the showerer of benefits and sustain the heaven and earth; let the rain waters engendered by you flow hither. 9

O resplendent Lord, the heavy cloud, the receptacle of water, in silence has dready opened itself (i.e. rained) before you could cast your blow on him with your bolt. Then you make the path for waters to issue easy. Loud-sounding they proceed to meet the waters of the earth, invoked by many. 10

The resplendent Lord alone fills up with His magnanimity the two, earth and heaven, mutually associated and rich in treasures. May you, O hero, come with your aurora of glory as if mounted in a chariot and bring wholesome food and vigour from the firmament. 11

The resplendent sun does not transgress the ordered limits already set, days in and days out, by the Lord of radiant universe. When he approaches the terminus, his journey comes to an end; he sets free the horses of his chariot for such is his assignment. 12

All men are eager to behold the broad, bright phase of the refulgent dawn after whilst the night has disappeared. And when dawn comes in glory, all people acknowledge the manifold and glorious deeds of the resplendent Lord. 13

महि ज्योतिर्निहितं वक्षणास्वामा पक्वं चरति बिभ्रती गौः ।
विश्वं स्वाद्म संभृतमुस्रियायां यत्सीमिन्द्रो अदधाद्भोजनाय ॥१४॥
इन्द्र दृह्य यामकोशा अभूवन्यज्ञाय शिक्ष गृणते सखिभ्यः ।
दुर्मायवो दुरेवा मर्त्यासो निषङ्गिणो रिपवो हन्त्वासः ॥१५॥

máhi jyótir níhitam vakshánāsv āmá pakvám carati bíbhratī gaúḥ | víṣvam svádma sámbhritam usríyāyām yát sīm índro ádadhād bhójanāya || 14 || índra dríhya yāmakoṣá abhūvan yajñáya ṣiksha griṇaté sákhibhyaḥ | durmāyávo durévā mártyāso nishaṅgíṇo ripávo hántvāsaḥ || 15 ||

॥४॥ सं घोषः शृण्वेऽवमैरमित्रैर्जही न्येष्वशनिं तपिष्ठाम् ।
वृश्चेमधस्ताद्वि रुजा सहस्व जहि रक्षो मघवन्रन्धयस्व ॥१६॥
उद्वृह रक्षः सहमूलमिन्द्र वृश्चा मध्यं प्रत्यग्रं शृणीहि ।
आ कीवतः सललूकं चकर्थ ब्रह्मद्विषे तपुषिं हेतिमस्य ॥१७॥
स्वस्तये वाजिभिश्च प्रणेतः सं यन्महीरिष आसत्सि पूर्वीः ।
रायो वन्तारो बृहतः स्यामास्मे अस्तु भग इन्द्र प्रजावान् ॥१८॥
आ नो भर भगमिन्द्र द्युमन्तं नि ते देष्णस्य धीमहि प्ररेके ।
ऊर्व इव पप्रथे कामो अस्मे तमा पृण वसुपते वसूनाम् ॥१९॥

sám ghóshaḥ ṣriṇve 'vamaír amítrair jahí ny èshv aṣánim tápishṭhām | vriṣcém adhástād ví rujā sáhasva jahí rákshho maghavan randháyasva || 16 || úd vriha rákshaḥ sahámūlam indra vriṣcá mádhyam práty ágram ṣriṇīhi | á kívataḥ salalúkam cakartha brahmadvíshe tápushim hetím asya || 17 || svastáye vājíbhiṣ ca praṇetaḥ sám yán mahír ísha āsátsi pūrvíḥ | rāyó vantáro brihatáḥ syāmāsmé astu bhága indra prajávān || 18 || á no bhara bhágam indra dyumántam ní te deshṇásya dhīmahi prareké | ūrvá iva paprathe kámo asmé tám á priṇa vasupate vásūnām || 19 ||

A mighty splendour rests upon the bosom of the rivers. The cow yet immature grazes in the fields bearing the ripe milk in her udders, for resplendent Lord has placed in the cow all this integrated sweetness for our nourishment. 14

O resplendent Lord, may you be firm for there are obstructors on the path of righteousness. May you secure to the worshipper and his friends, the means of completing the dedicated service. These mortal malignant enemies armed with malicious weapons and approaching with evil intentions must be destroyed. 15

The effect of your punitive justice has been heard by the foes approaching near us. May you hurl against them your fierce and blazing bolt and cut them up by the root. O bounteous Lord, may you subdue them and crush these cruel infidels completely. 16

O resplendent Lord, may you pluck up the race of these infidels by the root; cut asunder the middle and blight the summit. May you drive away the greedy people to remote regions and cast your fierce bolt of punitive justice upon those who are opposed to the Lord and the divine knowledge. 17

O resplendent Lord, supreme regulator of the universe, may you provide us with vitality for our welfare. May we become strong in your proximity, and be the winners of abundant food and riches, and may there be to us wealth accompanied by progeny. 18

O resplendent Lord, bring to us splendid affluence; we rely on the over-flow of bounties from your side. Our desire is as insatiable as the fire of the ocean. May you appease it, O Lord of infinite riches. 19

इमं कामं मन्दया गोभिरश्वैश्चन्द्रवता राधसा पप्रथश्च ।
स्वर्यवो मतिभिस्तुभ्यं विप्रा इन्द्राय वाहः कुशिकासो अक्रन् ॥२०॥
आ नो गोत्रा दर्दृहि गोपते गाः समस्मभ्यं सनयो यन्तु वाजाः ।
दिवक्षा असि वृषभ सत्यशुष्मोऽस्मभ्यं सु मघवन्बोधि गोदाः ॥२१॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥२२॥

imáṃ kā́mam mandayā góbhir áṣvaiṣ candrávatā rā́dhasā papráthaṣ ca | svaryávo matíbhis túbhyaṃ víprā índrāya vā́haḥ kuṣikā́so akran || 20 || ā́ no gotrā́ dardrihi gopate gā́ḥ sám asmábhyaṃ sanáyo yantu vā́jāḥ | divákshā asi vṛishabha satyáṣushmo ’smábhyaṃ sú maghavan bodhi godā́ḥ || 21 || ṣunáṃ huvema maghávānam índram asmín bháre nṛítamaṃ vā́jasātau | ṣṛiṇvántam ugrám ūtáye samátsu ghnántaṃ vṛitrā́ṇi saṃjítaṃ dhánānām || 22 ||

(३१) एकत्रिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-२२) द्वाविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऐषीरथिः कुशिको वा ऋषिः ।
इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

शासद्वह्निर्दुहितुर्नप्त्यं गाद्विद्वाँ ऋतस्य दीधितिं सपर्यन् ।
पिता यत्र दुहितुः सेकमृञ्जन्त्सं शग्म्येन मनसा दधन्वे ॥१॥
न जामये तान्वो रिक्थमारैक्चकार गर्भं सनितुर्निधानम् ।
यदी मातरो जनयन्त वह्निमन्यः कर्ता सुकृतोरन्य ऋन्धन् ॥२॥

31.

Ṣā́sad váhnir duhitúr naptyàṃ gād vidvā́ñ ṛitásya dī́dhitiṃ saparyán | pitā́ yátra duhitúḥ sékam ṛiñján sáṃ ṣagmyèna mánasā dadhanvé || 1 || ná jāmáye tā́nvo rikthám āraik cakā́ra gárbhaṃ sanitúr nidhā́nam | yádī mātáro janáyanta váhnim anyáḥ kartā́ sukṛítor anyá ṛindhán || 2 ||

O resplendent Lord, with cows and horses, and with shining treasures, gratify our longings, and may you please make us renowned. The wise preceptors, desirous of heaven offer praise to you with pious prayers. 20

O Lord of earth, divide the clouds and send us rain, whence nutritions food may come to us. O showerer of benefits, you pervade the sky and your might is truth. O bounteous Lord, please consider yourself as our protector. 21

We call on our bounteous Lord for our protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles, and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 22

31

The disciplined and wise father, relying on the sanction of natural rights, honours his grandson, the son of his daughter, with valuable gifts. The father trusting to the impregnation of the daughter consoles himself with cheerful mind. 1

The son does not transfer paternal wealth to his sister. He makes her receptacle of the embryo of her husband. When parents procreate children of either sex, one (the male) becomes the performer of holy rites (he is the legal inheriter), the other (the female) is to be enriched with gifts. 2

अग्निर्जज्ञे जुह्वा३ रेजमानो महस्पुत्राँ अरुषस्य प्रयक्षे ।
महान्गर्भो मह्या जातमेषां मही प्रवृद्धर्यश्वस्य यज्ञैः ॥३॥
अभि जैत्रीरसचन्त स्पृधानं महि ज्योतिस्तमसो निरजानन् ।
तं जानतीः प्रत्युदायन्नुषासः पतिर्गवामभवदेक इन्द्रः ॥४॥
वीळौ सतीरभि धीरा अतृन्दन्प्राचाहिन्वन्मनसा सप्त विप्राः ।
विश्वामविन्दन्पथ्यामृतस्य प्रजानन्नित्ता नमसा विवेश ॥५॥

agnír jajñe juhvà réjamāno mahás putráñ arushásya prayákshe | mahán gárbho máhy á jātám eshām mahí pravṛíd dháryaṣvasya yajñaíḥ || 3 || abhí jaítrīr asacanta spṛidhānám máhi jyótis támaso nír ajānan | tám jānatíḥ práty úd āyann ushásaḥ pátir gávām abhavad éka índraḥ || 4 || vīḷaú satír abhí dhírā atṛindan prācáhinvan mánasā saptá víprāḥ | víṣvām avindan pathyàm ṛitáṣya prajānánn ít tá námasá viveṣa || 5 ||

॥६॥ विदद्यदी सरमा रुग्णमद्रेर्महि पाथः पूर्व्यं सध्र्यक्कः ।
अग्रं नयत्सुपद्यक्षराणामच्छा रवं प्रथमा जानती गात् ॥६॥
अगच्छदु विप्रतमः सखीयन्नसूदयत्सुकृते गर्भमद्रिः ।
ससान मर्यो युवभिर्मखस्यन्नथाभवदङ्गिरः सद्यो अर्चन् ॥७॥

vidád yádī sarámā rugṇám ádrer máhi páthaḥ pūrvyáṃ sadhryàk kaḥ | ágraṃ nayat supády ákshharāṇām áchā rávam prathamá jānatí gāt || 6 || ágachad u vípratamaḥ sakhīyánn ásūdayat sukṛíte gárbham ádriḥ | sasána máryo yúvabhir makhasyánn áthābhavad áñgirāḥ sadyó árcan || 7 ||

For the worship of the resplendent Lord, the fire-divine with its glowing flames, has begotten its mighty sons (that is, rays). Great is that germ, and great is their birth, and great is their efficacy for the worship of the resplendent Lord, the source of radiant emanations. 3

The victorious vital principles of body and mind join with the soul while it contends with dark evil forces. The dawns of spiritual light issues forth from darkness. At last the soul becomes the sole sovereign of the realm of the spiritual world. 4

The seven dedicated and intelligent seekers, the seven senses having ascertained that wisdom is concealed in the strong cavern of the physical body propitiate the soul through concentrated efforts of mental devotion. They recover the lost wisdom by the path of dedicated actions. For the soul, having realized their pious acts and offerings, enters the cave of ignorance to recover wisdom. 5

When the sanctified mind discovers the broken entrance of the mountain of dark forces, then the soul first makes a straight and broad path as previously promised. Then the sure-footed mind, recognizing as if by lowing, proceeds and comes close to the imperishable cows of spirituality. 6

When the most virtuous and realized soul prompted by the friendship of the true seekers proceeds to the cave of ignorance, then the big cave hiding the wisdom behind its dark walls of embryo gives way, and yields its contents to the valiant soul. Ultimately the soul, the destroyer of the evils, recovers the cattle, and immediately, afterwards the sages become devout worshippers. 7

सतःसतः प्रतिमानं पुरोभूर्विश्वा वेद जनिमा हन्ति शुष्णम् ।
प्र णो दिवः पदवीर्गव्युरर्चन्त्सखा सखीँरमुञ्चन्निरवद्यात् ॥८॥
नि गव्यता मनसा सेदुरर्कैः कृण्वानासो अमृतत्वाय गातुम् ।
इदं चिन्नु सदनं भूर्येषां येन मासाँ असिषासन्नृतेन ॥९॥
संपश्यमाना अमदन्नभि स्वं पयः प्रत्नस्य रेतसो दुघानाः ।
वि रोदसी अतपद्घोष एषां जाते निःष्ठामदधुर्गोषु वीरान् ॥१०॥

satáḥ-sataḥ pratimánam purobhū́r víṣvā veda jánimā hánti ṣúshṇam | prá ṇo diváḥ padavī́r gavyúr árcan sákhā sákhīn̐r amuñcan nír avadyā́t ||8|| ní gavyatā́ mánasā sedur arkaíḥ kriṇvānā́so amṛitatvā́ya gātúm | idáṃ cin nú sádanam bhū́ry eshāṃ yéna mā́sān̐ ásishāsann ṛiténa || 9 || sampáṣyamānā amadann abhí svám páyaḥ pratnásya rétaso dúghānāḥ | ví ródasī atapad ghósha eshāṃ jāté nishṭhā́m ádadhur góshu vīrā́n || 10 ||

॥७॥ स जातेभिर्वृत्रहा सेदु हव्यैरुदुस्रिया असृजदिन्द्रो अर्कैः ।
उरूच्यस्मै घृतवद्भरन्ती मधु स्वाद्म दुदुहे जेन्या गौः ॥११॥
पित्रे चिच्चक्रुः सदनं समस्मै महि त्विषीमत्सुकृतो वि हि ख्यन् ।
विष्कभ्नन्तः स्कम्भनेना जनित्री आसीना ऊर्ध्वं रभसं वि मिन्वन् ॥१२॥

sá jātébhir vṛitrahā́ séd u havyaír úd usríyā asṛijad índro arkaíḥ | urūcy àsmai ghṛitávad bhárantī mádhu svā́dma duduhe jényā gaúḥ || 11 || pitré cic cakruḥ sádanaṃ sám asmai máhi tvíshīmat sukṛíto ví hí khyán | vishkabhnánta skámbhanenā jánitrī ā́sīnā ūrdhváṃ rabhasáṃ ví minvan || 12 ||

May he be free from all reproach, who is the representative of all that is excellent, who is the anticipator of evil forces, who knows all that is born, who destroys petty-mindedness and has wide vision. He restores the lost wisdom, and there by becomes our friend as if having come from heaven honours us as his friend. 8

The sages, with minds intent on receiving wisdom, proceed to propitiate soul with devotional hymns, leading along the road to immortality. Great has been their perseverance, by which they seek for months to accomplish their final objective. 9

Meditating on their own recovered cows of wisdom and bestowing the milk of prolific knowledge to their progeny, the sages feel highly delighted; their shouts of joy spread through heaven and earth,—body and mind. They put their faith on the recovery of the lost wisdom and keep constant vigilance to sustain it. 10

The soul, assisted by vital organs, provided born for its aid, becomes the destroyer of evils, and thus it receives praises and oblations. The excellent cows of wisdom contribute abundantly to sacred offerings and yield butter of devotion, and the spiritual sweet nourishing milk. 11

These sages while performing pious acts make an auspicious and splendid abode for their protector soul and engage themselves in its worship. Then they establish the soul in commune with the universal soul, sustaining heaven and earth—body and mind, and upholds it providing the pillar of the firmament, the central spine of the human body. 12

मही यदि धिषणा शिश्नथे धात्सद्योवृधं विभ्वं रोदस्योः ।
गिरो यस्मिन्ननवद्याः समीचीर्विश्वा इन्द्राय तविषीरनुत्ताः ॥१३॥
मह्या ते सख्यं वश्मि शक्तीरा वृत्रघ्ने नियुतो यन्ति पूर्वीः ।
महि स्तोत्रमव आगन्म सूरेरस्माकं सु मघवन्बोधि गोपाः ॥१४॥
महि क्षेत्रं पुरु श्चन्द्रं विविद्वानादित्सखिभ्यश्चरथं समैरत् ।
इन्द्रो नृभिरजनद्दीद्यानः साकं सूर्यमुषसं गातुमग्निम् ॥१५॥

mahí yádi dhishánā șișnáthe dhát sadyovṛídham vibhvàm ródasyoḥ | gíro yásminn anavadyā́ḥ samīcī́r víșvā índrāya távishīr ánuttāḥ || 13 || máhy ā́ te sakhyám vașmi șaktī́r ā́ vṛitraghné niyúto yanti pūrvī́ḥ | máhi stotrám áva ā́ganma sūrér asmā́kam sú maghavan bodhi gopā́ḥ || 14 || máhi kshétram purú șcandrám vividvā́n ā́d ít sákhibhyaș caráthaṃ sám airat | índro nṛíbhir ajanad dī́dyānaḥ sākám sū́ryam ushásam gātúm agním || 15 ||

॥८॥ अपश्चिदेष विभ्वो३ दमूनाः प्र सध्रीचीरसृजद्विश्वश्चन्द्राः ।
मध्वः पुनानाः कविभिः पवित्रैर्द्युभिर्हिन्वन्त्यक्तुभिर्धनुत्रीः ॥१६॥
अनु कृष्णे वसुधिती जिहाते उभे सूर्यस्य मंहना यजत्रे ।
परि यत्ते महिमानं वृजध्यै सखाय इन्द्र काम्या ऋजिप्याः ॥१७॥
पतिर्भव वृत्रहन्त्सूनृतानां गिरां विश्वायुर्वृषभो वयोधाः ।
आ नो गहि सख्येभिः शिवेभिर्महान्महीभिरूतिभिः सरण्यन् ॥१८॥

apáș cid eshá vibhvò dámūnāḥ prá sadhrī́cīr asṛijad vișváșcandrāḥ | mádhvaḥ punānā́ḥ kavíbhiḥ pavítrair dyúbhir hinvanty aktúbhir dhánutrīḥ || 16 || ánu kṛishṇé vásudhitī jihāte ubhé sū́ryasya maṅhánā yájatre | pári yát te mahimā́nam vṛijádhyai sákhāya indra kā́myā ṛijipyā́ḥ || 17 || pátir bhava vṛitrahan sūnṛ́tānām girā́m vișvā́yur vṛishabhó vayodhā́ḥ | ā́ no gahi sakhyébhiḥ șivébhir mahā́n mahī́bhir ūtíbhiḥ saraṇyán || 18 ||

Inasmuch as the soul, swiftly waxing, the sustainer of all senses, coordinates the activities of body and mind (earth and heaven), to it, our faultless and extensive commendations are due. And therefore, all the invincible powers belong to the soul. 13

I wish to gain your friendship and extensive powers; many energies come to you. O the destroyer of evils, O wise soul, we offer to you glorious praise and dedication. May you be, O bounteous Lord, our God and protector. 14

He (the resplendent Lord) having found vast, splendid and rich tracts of land, sends life and motion to his friends and lovers. The radiant resplendent Lord in association with the leading vital principles animantes the sun, dawn, the earth and fire with activity. 15

Resplendent Lord, the destroyer of evil forces, manifests the widespread, commingled, all-delighting cosmic vapours. These watery elements are the producers of food and they generate swift flowing streams of blissful elixir, incessently flowing have been day and night. These waters benevolent to all sanctified by sages. 16

O resplendent Lord, to you proceed the two alternations of successively revolving day and night; both of them sanctified by the might of the sun, while your sincere and acceptable friends, the cosmic vital principles, are ready to encounter your adversaries and maintain your greatness. 17

O immortal resplendent Lord, destroyer of evils, the showerer of benefits, the giver of food, may you be the lord of our true and delightful expressions; may you, O great divine leader while intending to cherish our noble deeds, come to us with loving affection and preserve us with your auspicious protection. 18

तमङ्गिरस्वन्नमसा सपर्यन्नव्यं कृणोमि सन्यसे पुराजाम् ।
द्रुहो वि याहि बहुला अदेवीः स्वश्च नो मघवन्त्सातये धाः ॥१९॥
मिहः पावकाः प्रतता अभूवन्त्स्वस्ति नः पिपृहि पारमासाम् ।
इन्द्र त्वं रथिरः पाहि नो रिषो मक्षूमक्षू कृणुहि गोजितो नः ॥२०॥
अदेदिष्ट वृत्रहा गोपतिर्गा अन्तः कृष्णाँ अरुषैर्धामभिर्गात् ।
प्र सूनृता दिशमान ऋतेन दुरश्च विश्वा अवृणोदप स्वाः ॥२१॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥२२॥

tám aṅgirasván námasā saparyán návyam̐ kriṇomi sányase purājám | drúho ví yāhi bahulá ádevīḥ svàś ca no maghavan sātáye dhāḥ || 19 || míhaḥ pāvakáḥ prátatā abhūvan svastí naḥ piprihi pārám āsām | índra tvám̐ rathiráḥ pāhi no rishó makshú-makshū kriṇuhi gojíto naḥ || 20 || ádedishṭa vritrahá gópatir gá antáḥ krishṇáñ arushaír dhámabhir gāt | prá sūnrítā diśámāna riténa dúraś ca víśvā avriṇod ápa sváḥ || 21 || śunám̐ huvema — || 22 ||

(३२) द्वात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–१७) सप्तदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥९॥ इन्द्र सोमं सोमपते पिबेमं माध्यंदिनं सवनं चारु यत्ते ।
प्रप्रुथ्या शिप्रे मघवन्नृजीषिन्विमुच्या हरी इह मादयस्व ॥१॥

32.

Índra sómam̐ somapate píbemám mádhyam̐dinam̐ sávanam̐ cáru yát te | praprúthyā śípre maghavann rijīshin vimúcyā hárī ihá mādayasva || 1 ||

I worship you with deep reverence, as realized sages do. O eternal Lord, I glorify you with new compositions. May you destroy the many impious oppressors of your worshippers and bestow upon us, O bounteous Lord, your own wealth for our benediction. 19

O resplendent Lord, your purifying and bless-bestowing streams of water are spread on all sides. Make us worthy to swim across it with safety. May you defend us from the malevolent, and make us strong to quickly conquer the cows of wisdom. 20

The slayer of evil forces discovers the cows of wisdom and by his radiant effulgence drives away the black devils. May he, importing us eternal truth throw, open all portals of knowledge for us. 21

We invoke you for our protection the opulent Lord, who is purifier, brave, the best guide in all the combats of life, the terrible fighter in his battles, the destroyer of foes and the conqueror of wealth. 22

32

O resplendent the lower self, fountain of bliss, accept our devotion which is dedicated to you at noon-day worship. O bounteous, bliss lover, loosen your strenuous actions, relax mentally and physically, and rejoice to the fullest extent. 1

गवाशिरं मन्थिनमिन्द्र शुक्रं पिबा सोमं ररिमा ते मदाय ।
ब्रह्मकृता मारुतेना गणेन सजोषा रुद्रैस्तृपदा वृषस्व ॥२॥
ये ते शुष्मं ये तविषीमवर्धन्नर्चन्त इन्द्र मरुतस्त ओजः ।
माध्यंदिने सवने वज्रहस्त पिबा रुद्रेभिः सगणः सुशिप्र ॥३॥
त इन्न्वस्य मधुमद्विविप्र इन्द्रस्य शर्धो मरुतो य आसन् ।
येभिर्वृत्रस्येषितो विवेदामर्मणो मन्यमानस्य मर्म ॥४॥
मनुष्वदिन्द्र सवनं जुषाणः पिबा सोमं शश्वते वीर्याय ।
स आ ववृत्स्व हर्यश्व यज्ञैः सरण्युभिरपो अर्णा सिसर्षि ॥५॥

gávāṣiram manthínam indra ṣukrám píbā sómam rarimā́ te mádāya | brahmakṛítā mā́rutenā gaṇéna sajóshā rudraís tṛipád ā́ vṛishasva || 2 || yé te ṣúshmam yé távishīm ávardhann árcanta indra marútas ta ójaḥ | mā́dhyaṃdine sávane vajrahasta píbā rudrébhiḥ ságanaḥ suṣipra || 3 || tá ín nv àsya mádhumad vivipra índrasya ṣárdho marúto yá ā́san | yébhir vṛitrásyeshitó vivédāmarmáṇo mányamānasya márma ||4|| manushvád indra sávanaṃ jushāṇáḥ píbā sómam ṣaṣvate vīryā̀ya | sá ā́ vavṛitsva haryaṣva yajñaíḥ saraṇyúbhir apó árṇā sisarshi || 5 ||

॥१०॥ त्वमपो यद्ध वृत्रं जघन्वाँ अत्याँ इव प्रासृजः सर्तवाजौ ।
शयानमिन्द्र चरता वधेन वव्रिवांसं परि देवीरदेवम् ॥६॥
यजाम इन्नमसा वृद्धमिन्द्रं बृहन्तमृष्वमजरं युवानम् ।
यस्य प्रिये ममतुर्यज्ञियस्य न रोदसी महिमानं ममाते ॥७॥

tvám apó yád dha vṛitrám jaghanvā́ñ átyāñ iva prā́sṛijaḥ sártavā́jaú | ṣáyānam indra cáratā vadhéna vavrivā́ñsam pári devī́r ádevam || 6 || yájāma ín námasā vṛiddhám índram bṛihántam ṛishvám ajáram yúvānam | yásya priyé mamátur yajñíyasya ná ródasī mahimā́nam mamā́te || 7 ||

O resplendent self, accept our devotional love, mixed with milk or butter, milk-like purity of heart and mind; we offer it for your exhilaration. May you, along with the company of devout organs and vital breath, enjoy it to your full satisfaction. 2

These are the vital organs, O resplendent self, who, worshipping your prowess, augment your strength and vigour. O possessor of the adamantine determination and splendid form, may you along with the vital breath cherish our devotion at the noon-day worship. 3

These are the vital organs who are the strength of soul and who gently encourage it. Animated by them it pierces the vital part of evil which imagines itself invulnerable. 4

O resplendent self, like an intelligent being, pleased with our homage, may you cherish our devotion for the sake of perpetual vigour. O lord of sturdy organs may you come along with adorable (vital organs), and traversers (of the cosmos) and send down the nectar of spiritual joy to blend with the joys of body. 5

O resplendent self, inasmuch as you destroy the slumbering and darkling thought, obstructing evil forces, you let forth the pure thoughts like horses rushing into battle. 6

Therefore, we worship with reverence the resplendent self, who is great and sublime, eternal and ever youthful, and whose magnitude the great heaven and earth could never measure nor can, conceive to measure in future. 7

इन्द्रस्य कर्म सुकृता पुरूणि व्रतानि देवा न मिनन्ति विश्वे ।
दाधार यः पृथिवीं द्यामुतेमां जजान सूर्यमुषसं सुदंसाः ॥८॥
अद्रोघ सत्यं तव तन्महित्वं सद्यो यज्जातो अपिबो ह सोमम् ।
न द्याव इन्द्र तवसस्त ओजो नाहा न मासाः शरदो वरन्त ॥९॥
त्वं सद्यो अपिबो जात इन्द्र मदाय सोमं परमे व्योमन् ।
यद्ध द्यावापृथिवी आविवेशीरथाभवः पूर्व्यः कारुधायाः ॥१०॥

índrasya kárma súkritā purū́ṇi vratā́ni devā́ ná minanti víṣve | dādhā́ra yáḥ prithivī́ṃ dyā́m utémā́ṃ jajā́na sū́ryam ushásaṃ sudáṅsāḥ || 8 || ádrogha satyáṃ táva tán mahitvám sadyó yáj jātó ápibo ha sómam | ná dyā́va indra tavásas ta ójo nā́hā ná mā́sāḥ ṣarádo varanta || 9 || tvám sadyó apibo jātá indra mádāya sómam paramé vyòman | yád dha dyā́vāprithivī́ ā́viveṣīr áthābhavaḥ pūrvyáḥ kārúdhāyāḥ || 10 ||

॥११॥ अहन्नहिं परिशयानमर्ण ओजायमानं तुविजात तव्यान् ।
न ते महित्वमनु भूदध द्यौर्यदन्यया स्फिग्या३ क्षामवस्थाः ॥११॥
यज्ञो हि त इन्द्र वर्धनो भूदुत प्रियः सुतसोमो मियेधः ।
यज्ञेन यज्ञमव यज्ञियः सन्यज्ञस्ते वज्रमहिहत्य आवत् ॥१२॥
यज्ञेनेन्द्रमवसा चक्रे अर्वागैनं सुम्नाय नव्यसे ववृत्याम् ।
यः स्तोमेभिर्वावृधे पूर्व्येभिर्यो मध्यमेभिरुत नूतनेभिः ॥१३॥

áhann áhim pariṣáyānam árṇa ojāyámānam tuvijāta távyān | ná te mahitvám ánu bhūd ádha dyaúr yád anyáyā sphigyā̀ kshā́m ávasthāḥ || 11 || yajñó hí ta indra várdhano bhū́d utá priyáḥ sutásomo miyédhaḥ | yajñéna yajñám ava yajñíyaḥ sán yajñás te vájram ahihátya āvat || 12 || yajñénéndram ávasā́ cakre arvā́g aínaṃ sumnā́ya návyase vavrityām | yá stómebhir vāvridhé pūrvyébhir yó madhyamebhir utá nū́tanebhiḥ || 13 ||

Even all Nature's forces cannot belittle the greatness of the glorious exploits, and pious works of this resplendent self, of one who sustains the earth (body) and heaven (mind), and who is performer of marvels. The same self instigates the sun and dawn, source of intelligence and divine inspirations. 8

O guileless soul, this is your true greatness, that as soon as you take birth in the human form, you taste the elixir of spiritual bliss. Neither the heavens, nor days, nor nights, nor months, nor years can check your mighty powers. 9

As soon as you take birth in the highest realm of divine world, O resplendent self, you taste the elixir of spiritual bliss for your exhilaration. Thereby you command the sphere of mind and body and become the prime artificer of all activities. 10

O resplendent self, inspirer of all creative works, you with your vigorous action dispel all serpentine instincts, which envelop the dormant mind. Yet the mental complex does not apprehend your greatness, as with one of your arms, you keep the physical body concealed. 11

O soul, our devotional worship is the augmentation of your glory, for the ritual, in which we offer our regards, is acceptable to you. O most worshipful, may you protect the solemn worshippers with determination and may this sacred worship strengthen your adamantine will-power for the destruction of our demoniac impulses. 12

The worshipper by his traditional rituals establishes close proximity with the self which has always been exalted by praises of sages whether ancient, medieval or recent; may I further invoke him for new blessings. 13

विवेष यन्मा धिषणा जजान स्तवै पुरा पार्यादिन्द्रमह्नः ।
अंहसो यत्र पीपरद्यथा नो नावेव यान्तमुभये हवन्ते ॥१४॥
आपूर्णो अस्य कलशः स्वाहा सेक्तेव कोशं सिसिचे पिबध्यै ।
समु प्रिया आववृत्रन्मदाय प्रदक्षिणिदभि सोमास इन्द्रम् ॥१५॥
न त्वा गभीरः पुरुहूत सिन्धुर्नाद्रयः परि षन्तो वरन्त ।
इत्था सखिभ्य इषितो यदिन्द्रा दृळ्हं चिदरुजो गव्यमूर्वम् ॥१६॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥१७॥

vivésha yán mā dhisháṇā jajána stávai purā́ pā́ryād índram áhnaḥ | áṅhaso yátra pīpárad yáthā no nāvéva yā́ntam ubháye havante || 14 || ápūrṇo asya kaláṣaḥ sváhā sékteva kóṣam sisice píbadhyai | sám u priyā́ ā́vavṛitran mádāya pradakshiṇíd abhí sómāsa índram || 15 || ná tvā gabhīráḥ puruhūta síndhur nádrayaḥ pári shánto varanta | itthā́ sákhibhya ishitó yád indrā́ dṛiḷháṃ cid árujo gávyam ūrvám || 16 || ṣunáṃ huvema — || 17 ||

(३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-३, ५, ७, ९, ११-१३) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चमीसप्तमी-नवम्यृचामेकादश्यादितृचस्य च गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः। (४, ६, ८, १०) चतुर्थी-षष्ठ्यष्टमीदशमीनाञ्च नद्य ऋषिकाः। (१-३, ५, ९, ११-१३) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चमी-नवम्योर्ऋचोरेकादश्यादितृचस्य च नद्यः। (४, ८, १०) चतुर्थ्यष्टमीदशमीनां विश्वामित्रः। (६, ७) षष्ठीसप्तम्योश्चेन्द्रो देवताः। (१-१२) प्रथमादि-द्वादशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (१३) त्रयोदश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१२॥ प्र पर्वतानामुशती उपस्थादश्वे इव विषिते हासमाने ।
गावेव शुभ्रे मातरा रिहाणे विपाट्छुतुद्री पयसा जवेते ॥१॥

33.

Prá párvatānām uṣatī́ upásthād áṣve iva víshite hā́samāne | gā́veva ṣubhré mātárā rihāṇé vípāṭ chutudrī́ páyasā javete || 1 ||

When the idea of glorifying the self enters my mind, I sing praises. May I laud him before encountering distant (evil days), whereby he may lead us beyond troubles; and both of us mind and the self, as if existing in Two opposte sides invoke him (the soul), just as those on either bank of a river hail a passenger in a boat. 14

The vase is filled with elixir homage for his acceptance. I pour it out for your acceptance, O soul, as water carrier pours out water from his bag. May the sweet streams of devotional elixir flow in reverence round the soul for his exhilaration. 15

O self, the soul, summoned by all, when you break through even the firmly built stalls of dark impulses neither the deep flowing flood of waters nor the accompanying hills can arrest your movement. 16

We call on our bounteous Lord for our protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggle and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 17

33

Two rivers are flowing with a variety of movements, the one is slow getting readily whilst the other flooded, both flowing from the flanks of the mountains, eager (to reach the sea) like two mares with loosened reins, contending with each other in speed, or like two fair mother-cows hastening to lick their calves, subsequently they flow rapidly beyond their confluence in one stream with united waters. 1

इन्द्रेषिते प्रसवं भिक्षमाणे अच्छा समुद्रं रथ्येव याथः ।
समाराणे ऊर्मिभिः पिन्वमाने अन्या वामन्यामप्येति शुभ्रे ॥२॥
अच्छा सिन्धुं मातृतमामयासं विपाशमुर्वीं सुभगामगन्म ।
वत्समिव मातरा संरिहाणे समानं योनिमनु संचरन्ती ॥३॥
एना वयं पयसा पिन्वमाना अनु योनिं देवकृतं चरन्तीः ।
न वर्तवे प्रसवः सर्गतक्तः किंयुर्विप्रो नद्यो जोहवीति ॥४॥
रमध्वं मे वचसे सोम्याय ऋतावरीरुप मुहूर्तमेवैः ।
प्र सिन्धुमच्छा बृहती मनीषावस्युरह्वे कुशिकस्य सूनुः ॥५॥

índreshite prasavám bhíkshamāṇe áchā samudrám rathyèva yāthaḥ | samārāṇé ūrmíbhiḥ pínvamāne anyá vām anyám ápy eti ṣubhre || 2 || áchā síndhum mātṛítamām ayāsaṃ vípāṣam urvíṃ subhágām aganma | vatsám iva mātárā saṃrihāṇé samānáṃ yónim ánu saṃcárantī || 3 || ená vayám páyasā pínvamānā ánu yónim devákṛitaṃ cárantīḥ | ná vártave prasaváḥ sárgataktaḥ kiṃyúr vípro nadyò johavīti || 4 || rámadhvam me vácase somyáya ṛítāvarīr úpa muhūrtám évaiḥ | prá síndhum áchā bṛihatí manīshávasyúr ahve kuṣikásya sūnúḥ || 5 ||

॥१३॥ इन्द्रो अस्माँ अरदद्वज्रबाहुरपाहन्वृत्रं परिधिं नदीनाम् ।
देवोऽनयत्सविता सुपाणिस्तस्य वयं प्रसवे याम उर्वीः ॥६॥
प्रवाच्यं शश्वधा वीर्यं तदिन्द्रस्य कर्म यदहिं विवृश्चत् । वि वज्रेण परिषदो जघानायन्नापोऽयनमिच्छमानाः ॥७॥

índro asmáñ aradad vájrabāhur ápāhan vṛitrám paridhíṃ nadínām | devò 'nayat savitá supāṇís tásya vayám prasavé yāma urvíḥ || 6 || praváeyaṃ ṣaṣvadhá vīryàṃ tád índrasya kárma yád áhiṃ vivṛiṣcát | ví vájreṇa parishádo jaghānáyann ápó 'yanam ichámānāḥ || 7 ||

Impelled by the sun, soliciting his commands, both of you go to the ocean like charioteers to their goal: flowing together, and swelling with your waves, bright rivers, each one of you proceeds to meet the other. 2

I go to the most resourceful rivers; I go to the one, with variety of movements flowing together to a common receptacle, like parent cows hastening to caress the calf. 3

[The rivers speak]Fertilizing the land with our current, we are flowing to the receptacle which has been appointed by the divine Lord, the course appointed for our journey permits no delay. Of what is the sage desirous, that he addresses the rivers ? 4

[The sage speaks] I, the disciple of an enlightened teacher, having acquired necessary knowledge, now desirous of protection, solicit your favour and address with earnest prayer to you the rivers before me. O rivers, charged with water, rest a moment from your course at my request. 5

[The rivers speak]The resplendent sun, wielder of the sharp rays, defines our course when he slashes obstructive forces blocking the path of waters. The sun leads us on our path, and obedient to his commands we flow as ample streams. 6

[The sage speaks] The heroic endeavours of resplendent sun are ever to be celebrated as he sets asunder the dark venomous obstructive forces and with his sharp lightning destroys the surrounding obstructors of rains. Then the waters proceed in the desired direction. 7

एतद्वचो जरितर्मापि मृष्ठा आ यत्ते घोषानुत्तरा युगानि ।
उक्थेषु कारो प्रति नो जुषस्व मा नो नि कः पुरुषत्रा नमस्ते ॥८॥
ओ षु स्वसारः कारवे शृणोत ययौ वो दूरादनसा रथेन ।
नि षू नमध्वं भवता सुपारा अधोअक्षाः सिन्धवः स्रोत्याभिः ॥९॥
आ ते कारो शृणवामा वचांसि ययाथ दूरादनसा रथेन ।
नि ते नंसै पीप्यानेव योषा मर्यायेव कन्या शश्वचै ते ॥१०॥

etád váco jaritar máپi mrishthā ā́ yát te ghóshān úttarā yugáni | ukthéshu kāro práti no jushasva mā́ no ní kaḥ purushatrā́ námas te || 8 || ó shú svasāraḥ kāráve srinota yayaú vo dūrā́d ánasā ráthena | ní shū́ namadhvam bhávatā supārā́ adhoakshā́ḥ sindhavaḥ srotyā́bhiḥ || 9 || ā́ te kāro srinavāmā vácāṅsi yayátha dūrā́d ánasā ráthena | ní te naṅsai pīpyānéva yóshā máryāyeva kanyā̀ sasvacaí te || 10 ||

॥१४॥ यदङ्ग त्वा भरताः संतरेयुर्गव्यन्ग्राम इषित इन्द्रजूतः ।
अर्षादह प्रसवः सर्गतक्त आ वो वृणे सुमतिं यज्ञियानाम् ॥११॥
अतारिषुर्भरता गव्यवः समभक्त विप्रः सुमतिं नदीनाम् ।
प्र पिन्वध्वमिषयन्तीः सुराधा आ वक्षणाः पृणध्वं यात शीभम् ॥१२॥
उद्व ऊर्मिः शम्या हन्त्वापो योक्त्राणि मुञ्चत ।
मादुष्कृतौ व्येनसाघ्न्यौ शूनमारताम् ॥१३॥

yád aṅgá tvā bharatā́ḥ saṃtáreyur gavyán grā́ma ishitá índrajūtaḥ | árshād áha prasaváḥ sárgatakta ā́ vo vriṇe sumatím yajñíyānām || 11 || átārishur bharatā́ gavyávaḥ sám ábhakta vípraḥ sumatím nadī́nām | prá pinvadhvam ishá-yantīḥ surā́dhā ā́ vakshánāḥ priṇádhvam yātá sībham || 12 || úd va ūrmíḥ sámyā hantv ā́po yóktrāṇi muñcata | mā́dushkritau vyènasāghnyaú sū́nam ā́ratām || 13 ||

[The rivers speak] O praiser of the resplendent sun, forget not this praise, nor the words of reverence that you have addressed to us for these words will be remembered in future too. O celebrator of holy rites, be favourable to us in solemn prayers. Treat us not in the arrogant manner as usually men do. May you accept our salutation. 8

[The sage speaks] O sister streams, kindly listen to him who praises you, who has come from afar with a chariot (cart). May you bow down lowlily; become easily fordable; remain, rivers, lower than the axle of the wheel with your currents. 9

[The rivers speak] O singer of the hymn, we hear your words, that you have come from afar with a cart and a chariot. We bow down before you like a woman nursing her child and like a maiden bending to embrace a man, so will we do for you. 10

[The sage speaks] Since, rivers, you have allowed me to cross, so may the people of this land pass over your united stream. May the people desiring to cross the streams, permitted by you and impelled by the sun, pass. Then let the course appointed for your going be resumed. I appreciate and admire the wisdom of the holy ones like you. 11

Illustrious people of the land, seeking wealth, pass over; the sage enjoys the favour of the rivers. May the streams irrigate the fields to make them fertile and produce wealth and abundance. May rivers fill the fields in full. 12

Let your waves (rivers) so flow that the pin of the yoke remains above the waters. And may the two streams, exempt from misfortune or defect, and unrestrained, stay within limits for our abundance. 13

(३४) चतुस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ इन्द्रः पूर्भिदातिरद्दासमर्कैर्विदद्वसुर्दयमानो वि शत्रून् ।
ब्रह्मजूतस्तन्वा वावृधानो भूरिदात्र आपृणद्रोदसी उभे ॥१॥
मखस्य ते तविषस्य प्र जूतिमियर्मि वाचममृताय भूषन् ।
इन्द्र क्षितीनामसि मानुषीणां विशां दैवीनामुत पूर्वयावा ॥२॥

34.

Índraḥ pūrbhíd ā́tirad dā́sam arkaír vidádvasur dáyamāno ví ṣátrūn | bráhmajūtas tanvā̀ vāvṛidhānó bhū́ridātra ā́pṛiṇad ródasī ubhé || 1 || makhásya te tavishásya prá jūtím íyarmi vā́cam amṛítāya bhū́shan | índra kshitīnā́m asi mā́nushīṇām viṣā́m daívīnām utá pūrvayā́vā || 2 ||

इन्द्रो वृत्रमवृणोच्छर्धनीतिः प्र मायिनाममिनाद्वर्पणीतिः ।
अहन्व्यंसमुशधग्वनेष्वाविर्धेना अकृणोद्राम्याणाम् ॥३॥
इन्द्रः स्वर्षा जनयन्नहानि जिगायोशिग्भिः पृतना अभिष्टिः ।
प्रारोचयन्मनवे केतुमह्नामविन्दज्ज्योतिर्बृहते रणाय ॥४॥
इन्द्रस्तुजो बर्हणा आ विवेश नृवद्दधानो नर्या पुरूणि ।
अचेतयद्धिय इमा जरित्रे प्रेमं वर्णमतिरच्छुक्रमासाम् ॥५॥

índro vṛitrám avṛiṇoc chárdhanītiḥ prá māyínām amināḍ várpaṇītiḥ | áhan vyàṅsam uṣádhag váneshv āvír dhénā akṛiṇod rāmyā́ṇām || 3 || índraḥ svarshā́ janáyann áhāni jigā́yoṣígbhiḥ pṛítanā abhishṭíḥ | prā́rocayan mánave ketúm áhnām ávindaj jyótir bṛihaté rā́ṇāya || 4 || índras tújo barhā́ṇā ā́ viveṣa nṛivád dádhāno náryā purū́ṇi | ácetayad dhíya imā́ jaritré prémám várṇam atirac chukrám āsām || 5 ||

34

The resplendent self, dispeller of the strongholds of evils, manifesting his greatness, mercilessly destroys his adversaries and overwhelms the wicked impulses with his radiant wisdom. Inspired by prayers, he expands his stature and armed in many ways he imparts spiritual joy to both the realms of body and mind. 1

O resplendent self, adorable and mighty, decorating you, I address sincere prayers to you for the sake of obtaining immortality. You are the leader of human generations as well of Nature's heavenly bounties. 2

The resplendent self, the inspirer of glorious deeds, destroys evils; resistless in combats, he overcomes deceivers who resolve to consume him. He completely annihilates the mutilated demoniac ideas lurking in the confused human brain and recovers the stolen wisdom, hidden in the dark caves of ignorance. 3

The bliss-bestower soul, as if like the sun, brightens the days, and helping brilliant sages subdues the gloom of evil impulses. He then illumines the banner of divine consciousness for the benefit of mankind and provides divine wisdom to win over conflicts of life. 4

The powerful soul breaks through all adversities like a leader piercing through the army of wicked enemies. It radiates wisdom in the minds of devotees and widely spreads out splendour by his own radiance. 5

॥१६॥ महो महानि पनयन्त्यस्येन्द्रस्य कर्म सुकृता पुरूणि ।
वृजनेन वृजिनान्त्सं पिपेष मायाभिर्दस्यूँरभिभूत्योजाः ॥६॥
युधेन्द्रो मह्ना वरिवश्चकार देवेभ्यः सत्पतिश्चर्षणिप्राः ।
विवस्वतः सदने अस्य तानि विप्रा उक्थेभिः कवयो गृणन्ति ॥७॥

mahó mahā́ni panayanty asyéndrasya kárma súkṛitā purū́ṇi | vṛijánena vṛijinā́n sám pipesha māyā́bhir dásyū́ṅr abhíbhūtyojāḥ || 6 || yudhéndro mahnā́ várivaș cakāra devébhyaḥ sátpatiș carshaṇipráḥ | vivásvataḥ sádane asya tā́ni víprā ukthébhiḥ kaváyo gṛiṇanti || 7 ||

सत्रासाहं वरेण्यं सहोदां ससवांसं स्वरपश्च देवीः ।
ससान यः पृथिवीं द्यामुतेमामिन्द्रं मदन्त्यनु धीरणासः ॥८॥
ससानात्याँ उत सूर्यं ससानेन्द्रः ससान पुरुभोजसं गाम् ।
हिरण्ययमुत भोगं ससान हत्वी दस्यून्प्रार्यं वर्णमावत् ॥९॥
इन्द्र ओषधीरसनोदहानि वनस्पतीँरसनोदन्तरिक्षम् ।
बिभेद वलं नुनुदे विवाचोऽथाभवद्दमिताभिक्रतूनाम् ॥१०॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥११॥

satrāsā́ham váreṇyam sahodā́m sasavā́ṅsam svàr apáș ca devī́ḥ | sasā́na yáḥ pṛithivī́m dyā́m utémā́m índram madanty ánu dhī́raṇāsaḥ || 8 || sasā́nā́tyā́ṅ utá sū́ryam sasānéndraḥ sasāna purubhójasam gā́m | hiraṇyáyam utá bhógam sasāna hatví dásyūn prā́ryam várṇam āvat || 9 || índra óshadhīr asanod áhāni vánaspátīṅr asanod antáriksham | bibhéda valám nunudé vívācó 'thābhavad damitā́bhíkratūnām || 10 || șunám huvema — || 11 ||

Many great and glorious achievements of this mighty soul are universally celebrated. It crushes the strong by its own strength, and through its overpowering prowess, it overcomes the malignant by its wondrous art and wisdom. 6

The resplendent self, the protector of the virtuous and fulfiller of the aspirations of men gives opulent rewards to the sense-organs in the fierce struggle. Therefore, prudent sages praise his achievements with sacred hymns in the sacrificial chamber of the worshipper. 7

Devout and wise worshippers propitiate resplendent self, the subduer of evils, superb, the giver of strength, the enjoyer of bliss and fruits of divine actions, and granter of consciousness to the terrestrial and cosmic realms (of body and mind). 8

The soul gives vitality and divine consciousness. He gives speech which like a cow nourishes all. He enriches men with golden wisdom. Verily, he destroys the wicked ones and protects the group of virtuous people. 9

May the resplendent Lord, day by day, give us medicinal herbs, and plants and trees, and the water-laden clouds in the mid-space. He cleaves the clouds of ignorance, scatters opponents, and subdues proud adversaries. 10

We call on our bounteous Lord for our protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggle and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 11

(३५) पञ्चत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ तिष्ठा हरी रथ आ युज्यमाना याहि वायुर्न नियुतो नो अच्छ ।
पिबास्यन्धो अभिसृष्टो अस्मे इन्द्र स्वाहा ररिमा ते मदाय ॥१॥
उपाजिरा पुरुहूताय सप्ती हरी रथस्य धूर्ष्वा युनज्मि ।
द्रवद्यथा संभृतं विश्वतश्चिदुपेमं यज्ञमा वहात इन्द्रम् ॥२॥

35.

Tíshṭhā hárī rátha ā́ yujyámānā yāhí vāyúr ná niyúto no ácha | píbāsy ándho abhísrishṭo asmé índra sváhā rarimā́ te mádāya || 1 || úpājirā́ puruhūtā́ya sáptī hárī ráthasya dhūrshv ā́ yunajmi | dravád yáthā sámbhṛitaṃ viṣvátaṣ cid úpemáṃ yajñám ā́ vahāta índram || 2 ||

उपो नयस्व वृषणा तपुष्पोतेमव त्वं वृषभ स्वधावः ।
ग्रसेतामश्वा वि मुचेह शोणा दिवेदिवे सदृशीरद्धि धानाः ॥३॥
ब्रह्मणा ते ब्रह्मयुजा युनज्मि हरी सखाया सधमाद आशू ।
स्थिरं रथं सुखमिन्द्राधितिष्ठन्प्रजानन्विद्वाँ उप याहि सोमम् ॥४॥
मा ते हरी वृषणा वीतपृष्ठा नि रीरमन्यजमानासो अन्ये ।
अत्यायाहि शश्वतो वयं तेऽरं सुतेभिः कृणवाम सोमैः ॥५॥

úpo nayasva vṛíshaṇā tapushpótém ava tváṃ vṛishabha svadhāvaḥ | grásetām áṣvā ví muccha ṣóṇā divé-dive sadṛíṣīr addhi dhānā́ḥ || 3 || bráhmaṇā te brahmayújā yunajmi hárī sákhāyā sadhamā́da āṣū́ | sthiráṃ ráthaṃ sukháṃ indrādhitíshṭhan prajānán vidvā́ñ úpa yāhi sómam || 4 || mā́ te hárī vṛíshaṇā vītápṛishṭhā ní rīraman yájamānāso anyé | atyā́yāhi ṣáṣvato vayáṃ té 'raṃ sutébhiḥ kṛiṇavāma sómaiḥ || 5 ||

35

O resplendent self, having yoked the two faculties—mental and intellectual—in the chariot of human body, come to us, as the cosmic wind rushing towards us. We offer to you with reverence our loving devotion for your exaltation. 1

I harness for you, O resplendent self, invoked by all, the swift-gliding pair of mental and physical energies—to the chariot like human form, so that they may bring you to my well-set place of sacred work. 2

O showerer of benefits and giver of nourishment, may you bring your vigorous and protective steed-like faculties here and protect your worshippers. Let your sturdy senses relax here and enjoy nourishing food. May you also find the same nourishment day by day. 3

Reciting sacred prayers I harness these faculties which are your allies and swift-paced in the struggle of life and which are to be yoked with prayerful mind. O resplendent self, may you mounting on your firm and comfortable chariot, come to our devotional worship to participate in our spiritual joy. 4

Let not your vigorous and charming faculties be attracted by other host-worshippers. May you pass by them all and hasten onward hither. With loving devotion, we shall propitiate you to your full satisfaction. 5

॥१८॥ तवायं सोमस्त्वमेह्यर्वाङ् शश्वत्तमं सुमना अस्य पाहि ।
अस्मिन्यज्ञे बर्हिष्या निषद्या दधिष्वेमं जठर इन्दुमिन्द्र ॥६॥
स्तीर्णं ते बर्हिः सुत इन्द्र सोमः कृता धाना अत्तवे ते हरिभ्याम् ।
तदोकसे पुरुशाकाय वृष्णे मरुत्वते तुभ्यं राता हवींषि ॥७॥

távāyáṃ sómas tvám éhy arvā́ñ chaṣvattamáṃ sumánā asyá pāhi | asmín yajñé barhíshy ā́ nishádyā dadhishvé-máṃ jaṭhára índum indra || 6 || stīrṇáṃ te barhíḥ sutá in-dra sómaḥ kritā́ dhānā́ áttave te háribhyām | tádokase pu-ruṣā́kāya vríshṇe marútvate túbhyaṃ rātā́ havī́ṅshi || 7 ||

इमं नरः पर्वतास्तुभ्यमापः समिन्द्र गोभिर्मधुमन्तमक्रन् ।
तस्यागत्या सुमना ऋष्व पाहि प्रजानन्विद्वान्पथ्या३ अनु स्वाः ॥८॥
याँ आभजो मरुत इन्द्र सोमे ये त्वामवर्धन्नभवन्गणस्ते ।
तेभिरेतं सजोषा वावशानो३ऽग्नेः पिब जिह्वया सोममिन्द्र ॥९॥
इन्द्र पिब स्वधया चित्सुतस्याग्नेर्वा पाहि जिह्वया यजत्र ।
अध्वर्योर्वा प्रयतं शक्र हस्ताद्धोतुर्वा यज्ञं हविषो जुषस्व ॥१०॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥११॥

imáṃ náraḥ párvatās túbhyam ā́paḥ sám indra góbhir má-dhumantam akran | tásyāgátyā sumánā ṛishva pāhi prajā́-nán vidvā́n pathyā̀ ánu svā́ḥ || 8 || yā́ñ ā́bhajo marúta indra sóme yé tvā́m ávardhann ábhavan gaṇás te | tébhir etáṃ sajóshā vāvaṣānò 'gnéḥ piba jihváyā sómam indra || 9 || ín-dra píba svadháyā cit sutásyāgnér vā pāhi jihváyā yaja-tra | adhvaryór vā práyataṃ ṣakra hástād dhótur vā ya-jñáṃ havísho jushasva || 10 || ṣunáṃ huvema — || 11 ||

O resplendent self, this loving devotion is for you; hasten to approach it, and well-disposed, taste it unceasingly. May you be enshrined in our prayerful heart and accept our humble love in full. 6

O resplendent self, our hearts are opened for you; our emotional affection is poured forth. The nourishing food for the physical and mental faculties has been made available. O showerer of benefits, may you dwell in our heart, girt with vital breaths. For you, these dedications are offered. 7

The leaders of the ceremony have prepared for you, O resplendent self, this elixir which has been sweetened with intellect, austerity and pure thoughts; O beautiful self, may you be favourably disposed to accept this elixir which suits well to your characteristic aptitude. 8

O resplendent self, may you drink this divine elixir, in the company of those vital breaths who share in this libation, who encourage you and are your associates. May you with your eagerness relish it with burning enthusiasm. 9

O resplendent self, may you drink of this effused spiritual nectar either your own by relish O adorable, or by burning compulsion. Drink it, O strong and potent, offered by the hands of presenters or accept it from the hands of the pious devotees. 10

We call on our bounteous Lord for our protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 11

(३६) षट्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१–९, ११) प्रथमादिनवर्चामेकादश्याश्च गाथिनो विश्वामित्रः, (१०) दशम्याश्चाङ्गिरसो घोर ऋषी । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१९॥ इमामू षु प्रभृतिं सातये धाः शश्वच्छश्वदूतिभिर्यादमानः ।
सुतेसुते वावृधे वर्धनेभिर्यः कर्मभिर्महद्भिः सुश्रुतो भूत् ॥१॥
इन्द्राय सोमाः प्रदिवो विदाना ऋभुर्येभिर्वृषपर्वा विहायाः ।
प्रयम्यमानान्प्रति षू गृभायेन्द्र पिब वृषधूतस्य वृष्णः ॥२॥

36.

Imā́m ū shú prábhṛitiṃ sātáye dhāḥ ṣáṣvac-chaṣvad ūtíbhir yā́damānaḥ | suté-sute vāvṛidhe várdhanebhir yáḥ kármabhir mahádbhiḥ súṣruto bhū́t || 1 || índrāya sómāḥ pradívo vídānā ṛibhúr yébhir vṛíshaparvā víhāyāḥ | prayamyámānān práti shū́ gṛibhāyéndra píba vṛíshadhūtasya vṛíshṇaḥ || 2 ||

पिबा वर्धस्व तव घा सुतास इन्द्र सोमासः प्रथमा उतेमे ।
यथापिबः पूर्व्याँ इन्द्र सोमाँ एवा पाहि पन्यो अद्या नवीयान् ॥३॥
महाँ अमत्रो वृजने विरप्श्युग्रं शवः पत्यते धृष्ण्वोजः ।
नाह विव्याच पृथिवी चनैनं यत्सोमासो हर्यश्वममन्दन् ॥४॥
महाँ उग्रो वावृधे वीर्याय समाचक्रे वृषभः काव्येन ।
इन्द्रो भगो वाजदा अस्य गावः प्र जायन्ते दक्षिणा अस्य पूर्वीः ॥५॥

píbā várdhasva táva ghā sutā́sa índra sómāsaḥ prathamā́ utémé | yáthā́pibaḥ pūrvyā́ñ indra sómāñ evā́ pāhi pányo adyā́ návīyān || 3 || mahā́ñ ámatro vṛijáne virapṣy ùgrám ṣávaḥ patyate dhṛishṇv ójaḥ | nā́ha vivyāca pṛithiví canainam yát sómāso háryaṣvam ámandan || 4 || mahā́ñ ugró vāvṛidhe vīryā̀ya samā́cakre vṛishabháḥ kā́vyena índro bhago vājadā́ asya gā́vaḥ prá jāyante dákshiṇā asya pūrvíḥ || 5 ||

36

O resplendent self, ever-ready to help your associates with protective measures, accept our offerings for the grant of wealth. You are the one who grows with augmenting energies through reiterated libations and are renowned for glorious deeds. 1

For the resplendent self, the divine happiness is derived from the innermost celestial region, and thereby it becomes strong-jointed, vast and wise. O resplendent self, may you drink in full this divine happiness a juice, as if churned out and effused, capable of exhilarating and invigorating you, and providing you control over evil tendencies. 2

O resplendent self, accept the divine happiness and thrive. These blessings are offered to you from ancient times. O self, the adorable, cherish today the recent dedications as you have been enjoying in the past (previous lives). 3

The great illustrious self is invincible in battles and he is the defier of foes. His fierce strength and resistless vigour are exerted everywhere. When verily the divine happiness exhilarates this master of vigorous strength, his glory, neither the earth could comprehend nor the other one (heaven). 4

The mighty, fierce, auspicious and illustrious self, the showerer of benefits, augments in power as he is animated for heroic acts by praises. His senses of wisdom provide prosperity, and thus his contributions are manifold. 5

॥२०॥ प्र यत्सिन्धवः प्रसवं यथायन्नापः समुद्रं रथ्येव जग्मुः ।
अतश्चिदिन्द्रः सदसो वरीयान्यदीं सोमः पृणति दुग्धो अंशुः ॥६॥
समुद्रेण सिन्धवो यादमाना इन्द्राय सोमं सुषुतं भरन्तः ।
अंशुं दुहन्ति हस्तिनो भरित्रैर्मध्वः पुनन्ति धारया पवित्रैः ॥७॥

prá yát síndhavaḥ prasavám yátháyann ápaḥ samudrám rathyèva jagmuḥ | átaṣ cid índraḥ sádaso váriyān yád ım sómaḥ priṇáti dugdhó aṅṣúḥ || 6 || samudréṇa síndhavo yádamānā índrāya sómam súshutam bhárantaḥ | aṅṣúm duhanti hastíno bharítrair mádhvaḥ punanti dháraya pavítraiḥ || 7 ||

ह्रदा इव कुक्षयः सोमधानाः समी विव्याच सवना पुरूणि ।
अन्ना यदिन्द्रः प्रथमा व्याश वृत्रं जघन्वाँ अवृणीत सोमम् ॥८॥
आ तू भर माकिरेतत्परि ष्ठाद्विद्मा हि त्वा वसुपतिं वसूनाम् ।
इन्द्र यत्ते माहिनं दत्रमस्त्यस्मभ्यं तद्धर्यश्व प्र यन्धि ॥९॥
अस्मे प्र यन्धि मघवन्नृजीषिन्निन्द्र रायो विश्ववारस्य भूरेः ।
अस्मे शतं शरदो जीवसे धा अस्मे वीराञ्छश्वत इन्द्र शिप्रिन् ॥१०॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥११॥

hradá iva kuksháyaḥ somadhánāḥ sám ī vivyāca sávanā purúṇi | ánnā yád índraḥ prathamá vy áṣa vritrám jaghanváñ avriṇīta sómam || 8 || á tú bhara mákir etát pári shṭhād vidmá hí ´tvā vásupatim vásūnām | índra yát te máhinam dátram ásty asmábhyam tád dharyaṣva prá yandhi || 9 || asmé prá yandhi maghavann rijīshinn índra rāyó viṣvávārasya bhúreḥ | asmé ṣatám ṣarádo jīváse dhā asmé vīráñ cháṣvata indra ṣiprin || 10 || ṣunám huvema — || 11 ||

As the rivers pursue their course, or as the rain-waters rush to the ocean, or chariots march to a goal, in the same manner, the milk of divine happiness rushingly fills the soul in full, and in this sense, the self becomes superb in his realm. 6

As the rivers are solicitious to fill up the ocean in the same way, the sense organs milk out the divine happiness, remove the evil impurities from it through proper filters, and carry it as an offering to the resplendent self. 7

The capacity of the resplendent self (the soul) for holding and enjoying the divine happiness is immense as that of a lake, for he has been receiving it and accumulating at numerous selfless sacrifices through the series of life. Inasmuch as he has enjoyed it at the first occasion, he has been simultaneously slaying the demon nescience, and then further enjoying the divine happiness, sharing it with other faculties. 8

O resplendent self, bestow prosperity, without delay; let no one impede you, for we know you to be the Lord of wealth of abundant treasures. And since your greatness is munificence, therefore, O Lord of speedy vitality, grant us ample riches. 9

O oppulent resplendent Lord, you are our guide on a straight path, charming and handsome; may you give us riches in ample quantity; bless us to live for hundred years and bestow upon us continued prosperity. 10

We call on our bounteous Lord for protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles and the supreme provider of foods. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 11

(३७) सप्तत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः। इन्द्रो देवता। (१-१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चां गायत्री, (११) एकादश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ वार्त्रहत्याय शवसे पृतनाषाह्याय च। इन्द्र त्वा वर्तयामसि ॥१॥
अर्वाचीनं सु ते मन उत चक्षुः शतक्रतो। इन्द्र कृण्वन्तु वाघतः ॥२॥
नामानि ते शतक्रतो विश्वाभिर्गीर्भिरीमहे। इन्द्राभिमातिषाह्ये ॥३॥
पुरुष्टुतस्य धामभिः शतेन महयामसि। इन्द्रस्य चर्षणीधृतः ॥४॥
इन्द्रं वृत्राय हन्तवे पुरुहूतमुप ब्रुवे। भरेषु वाजसातये ॥५॥

37.

Vártrahatyāya ṣávase pritanāsháhyāya ca | índra tvā́ vartayāmasi || 1 || arvācínam sú te mána utá cákshuḥ ṣatakrato | índra krinvántu vāghátaḥ || 2 || nā́māni te ṣatakrato víṣvābhir gīrbhír īmahe | índrābhimātisháhye || 3 || purushṭutásya dhā́mabhiḥ ṣaténa mahayāmasi | índrasya carshaṇīdhrítaḥ || 4 || índram vritrā́ya hántave puruhūtám úpa bruve | bháreshu vā́jasātaye || 5 ||

॥२२॥ वाजेषु सासहिर्भव त्वामीमहे शतक्रतो। इन्द्र वृत्राय हन्तवे ॥६॥
द्युम्नेषु पृतनाज्ये पृत्सुतूर्षु श्रवःसु च। इन्द्र साक्ष्वाभिमातिषु ॥७॥
शुष्मिन्तमं न ऊतये द्युम्निनं पाहि जागृविम्। इन्द्र सोमं शतक्रतो ॥८॥
इन्द्रियाणि शतक्रतो या ते जनेषु पञ्चसु। इन्द्र तानि त आ वृणे ॥९॥

vā́jeshu sāsahír bhava tvā́m īmahe ṣatakrato | índra vritrā́ya hántave || 6 || dyumnéshu pritanā́jye pritsutū́rshu ṣrávassu ca | índra sā́kshvābhímātishu || 7 || ṣushmíntamam na ūtáye dyumnínam pāhi jā́grivim | índra sómam ṣatakrato || 8 || indriyā́ṇi ṣatakrato yā́ te jáneshu pañcásu | índra tā́ni ta ā́ vriṇe || 9 ||

37

We invoke you, O resplendent Lord, to exert the strength that destroys evil nescience and over-power forces of hostility. 1

O Lord, the performer of hundred selfless deeds, may our praises direct your spirit and eyes hitherward. 2

O performer of hundred selfless deeds, we recite your many names in all our hymns for strength and for the triumph over evils. 3

We repeat the praise of universally lauded resplendent Lord, the supporter of man, invested with a hundred glories. 4

I address you, O resplendent Lord, invoked by all for destroying evils by nescience and granting us food as a reward of battle. 5

The victorious in struggles, O resplendent self, performer of hundred brave deeds in battles; we solicit you to destroy nescience. 6

Overcome, O resplendent self, those who are adverse to us in riches, in battles, in wars, in glories, and in martial strength. 7

O resplendent self, performer of hundred selfless deeds, for our preservation, accept our loving devotion which is superb in excellence, glory and exhilaration. 8

O illustrious self, performer of hundred selfless deeds, I regard the five organs of senses, provided to the five classes of people in society, as dependent on you. 9

अगन्निन्द्र श्रवो बृहद्द्युम्नं दधिष्व दुष्टरम्। उत्ते शुष्मं तिरामसि ॥१०॥
अर्वावतो न आ गह्यथो शक्र परावतः।
उ लोको यस्ते अद्रिव इन्द्रेह तत आ गहि ॥११॥

ágann indra sravo bṛihád dyumnám dadhishva dushṭáram | út te sushmam tirāmasi || 10 || arvāváto na á gahy átho sakra parāvátaḥ | u lokó yás te adriva índrehá táta á gahi || 11 ||

(३८) अष्टात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रो वाच्यो वा प्रजापतिः, तावुभौ वा, गाथिनो विश्वामित्रो वा ऋषिः। इन्द्रो देवता। त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः॥

॥२३॥ अभि तष्टेव दीधया मनीषामत्यो न वाजी सुधुरो जिहानः।
अभि प्रियाणि मर्मृशत्पराणि कवीँरिच्छामि संदृशे सुमेधाः ॥१॥
इनोत पृच्छ जनिमा कवीनां मनोधृतः सुकृतस्तक्षत द्याम्।
इमा उ ते प्रण्यो३ वर्धमाना मनोवाता अध नु धर्मणि ग्मन् ॥२॥
नि षीमिदत्र गुह्या दधाना उत क्षत्राय रोदसी समञ्जन्।
सं मात्राभिर्ममिरे येमुरुर्वी अन्तर्मही समृते धायसे धुः ॥३॥

38.

Abhí táshṭeva dīdhayā manīshám átyo ná vājí sudhúro jíhānaḥ | abhí priyáṇi mármṛisat párāṇi kavíñr ichāmi saṃdríse sumedháḥ || 1 || inótá pṛicha jánimā kavīnám manodhṛítaḥ sukṛítas takshata dyám | imá u te praṇyò várdhamānā mánovātā ádha nú dhármaṇi gman || 2 || ní shīm íd átra gúhyā dádhānā utá kshatráya ródasī sám añjan | sám mátrābhir mamiré yemúr urví antár mahí sámṛite dháyase dhuḥ || 3 ||

O illustrious self, may you receive from us the offerings; may you grant us such wealth as may not be easily surpassed. We shall acclaim and applaud your vigour. 10

O radiant illustrious self, come to us from far and nigh. May you, from any region whatsoever come to us, O thunderarmed. 11

38

Compose a pious praise, as a carpenter carves the wood zealously or as a quick horse comfortably carries his load, pondering upon what is dearest and noble, I with clear vision aspire to understand the teachings of our sages. 1

Ask of the holy teachers, the origin of these poet sages, who with well-disciplined minds and virtuous deeds achieved the heavenly bliss. May these expediatory praises, rapid as the mind, augment your power and reach you. 2

Comprehending hidden mysteries here on this earth, they, through their power, measure the secrets of the realm of mind and body. They set limits to their elements connect both of them mutually together wide spread and vast and fix the intermediate realm of vital breath to sustain them. 3

आतिष्ठन्तं परि विश्वे अभूषञ्छ्रियो वसानश्चरति स्वरोचिः ।
महत्तद्वृष्णो असुरस्य नामा विश्वरूपो अमृतानि तस्थौ ॥४॥
असूत पूर्वो वृषभो ज्यायानिमा अस्य शुरुधः सन्ति पूर्वीः ।
दिवो नपाता विदथस्य धीभिः क्षत्रं राजाना प्रदिवो दधाथे ॥५॥

ātíshṭhantam pári víṣve abhūshañ chríyo vásānaṣ carati svárociḥ | mahát tád vríshṇo ásurasya nā́mā́ viṣvárūpo amṛ́tāni tasthau || 4 || ásūta pū́rvo vṛishabhó jyáyān imá asya ṣurúdhaḥ santi pūrvī́ḥ | dívo napātā vidáthasya dhībhíḥ kshatrám rājānā pradívo dadhāthe || 5 ||

॥२४॥ त्रीणि राजाना विदथे पुरूणि परि विश्वानि भूषथः सदांसि ।
अपश्यमत्र मनसा जगन्वान्व्रते गन्धर्वाँ अपि वायुकेशान् ॥६॥
तदिन्न्वस्य वृषभस्य धेनोरा नामभिर्ममिरे सक्म्यं गोः ।
अन्यदन्यदसुर्यं१ वसाना नि मायिनो ममिरे रूपमस्मिन् ॥७॥
तदिन्न्वस्य सवितुर्नकिर्मे हिरण्ययीममतिं यामशिश्रेत् ।
आ सुष्टुती रोदसी विश्वमिन्वे अपीव योषा जनिमानि वव्रे ॥८॥
युवं प्रत्नस्य साधथो महो यद्दैवी स्वस्तिः परि णः स्यातम् ।
गोपाजिह्वस्य तस्थुषो विरूपा विश्वे पश्यन्ति मायिनः कृतानि ॥९॥

tríṇi rājānā vidáthe purúṇi pári víṣvāni bhūshathaḥ sádaṅsi | ápaṣyam átra mánasā jaganvā́n vraté gandharvā́ñ ápi vāyúkeṣān || 6 || tád ín nv àsya vṛishabhásya dhenór ā́ námabhir mamire sákmyam góḥ | anyád-anyad asuryàm vásānā ní māyíno mamire rūpám asmin || 7 || tád ín nv àsya savitúr nákir me hiraṇyáyīm amátim yám áṣiṣret | ā́ sushṭutí ródasī viṣvaminvé ápīva yóshā jánimāni vavre || 8 || yuvám pratnásya sādhatho mahó yád daívī svastíḥ pári ṇaḥ syātam | gopájihvasya tasthúsho vírūpā víṣve paṣyanti māyínaḥ kṛitáni || 9 ||

They all adorn him, who is riding in his chariot of human form; self luminous, he travels clothed in splendour. Wonderful are the acts of this showerer of benefits, the influencer of universal conscience, who being omniform stays in the domain of immortality. 4

The eternal showerer of benefits, the preceder and elders generate thoughts; these are his many alleyers of thirst. These sovereign divines, sustainers of firmament, possess that wealth which is acquired by the splendid worship of holy synod. 5

These royal divines embellish the three universal sacrificial acts and make them full of requisites of the celebrations. With my mental perception I behold you at the place of worship. I see your steeds in the activity of sense-organs with their hairs waving in the wind. 6

The sages, for the realization of the Lord, the showerer of benefits, milk the milch-cow of knowledge, that is known by many names. They further invest it with the diversified strength of the vital force and become adept in the mystic art and then they realize the existence of God within themselves. 7

No one distinguishes my golden lustre from that of universal creator, in which the inner self has taken refuge. Gratified by pious praises, the soul cherishes the all-fostering mind and body as a mother cherishes her children. 8

You two secure the great felicity of the ancient worshipper and provide heavenly bliss. May you ever stay with us. All those wise sages, who perform wonderous acts, perceive manyfold forms of this resplendent lord. 9

शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥१०॥

ṣunám huvema — || 10 ||

(३९) एकोनचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ इन्द्रं मतिर्हृद आ वच्यमानाच्छा पतिं स्तोमतष्टा जिगाति ।
या जागृविर्विदथे शस्यमानेन्द्र यत्ते जायते विद्धि तस्य ॥१॥
दिवश्चिदा पूर्व्या जायमाना वि जागृविर्विदथे शस्यमाना ।
भद्रा वस्त्राण्यर्जुना वसाना सेयमस्मे सनजा पित्र्या धीः ॥२॥
यमा चिदत्र यमसूरसूत जिह्वाया अग्रं पतदा ह्यस्थात् ।
वपूंषि जाता मिथुना सचेते तमोहना तपुषो बुध्न एता ॥३॥
नकिरेषां निन्दिता मर्त्येषु ये अस्माकं पितरो गोषु योधाः ।
इन्द्र एषां दृंहिता माहिनावानुद्गोत्राणि ससृजे दंसनावान् ॥४॥

39.

Índram matír hṛidá á vacyámānáchā pátiṃ stómatashṭā jigāti | yá jágṛivir vidáthe ṣasyámānéndra yát te jáyate viddhí tásya || 1 || diváṣ cid á pūrvyá jáyamānā ví jágṛivir vidáthe ṣasyámānā | bhadrá vástrāṇy árjunā vásānā séyám asmé sanajá pítryā dhíḥ || 2 || yamá cid átra yamasúr asūta jihváyā ágram pátad á hy ásthāt | vápūṅshi jātá mithuná sacete tamohánā tápusho budhná étā || 3 || nákir eshāṃ ninditá mártyeshu yé asmákam pitáro góshu yodháḥ | índra eshāṃ dṛiṅhitá máhināvān úd gotráṇi sasṛije daṅsánāvān || 4 ||

We call on our bounteous Lord for protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 10

39

The praise that is prompted by heart, and uttered by the reciters of sacred hymns, proceeds to the resplendent Lord and arouses His compassion. When sung forth in holy synod. O Lord please be cognizant of this praise, composed for you. 1

The hymn, revealed before the dawn of day, is the awakener of Lord's compassion when recited aloud in holy synod. It is ancient, auspicious and decked with shining melody. It is our perennial heritage. 2

The mother inspirer of the twins has brought forth the twin faculties on this occasion. The tip of my tongue gets eager to praise them. They too, born at the end of night, combine to dispel darkness and thus attain their beauty. 3

There are no revilers amongst men of our proginators and fighters for the recovery of lost wisdom. The mighty resplendent Lord, the accomplisher of great deeds restores vast knowledge for the benefit of these sages. 4

सखा ह यत्र सखिभिर्नवग्वैरभिज्ञ्वा सत्वभिर्गा अनुग्मन् ।
सत्यं तदिन्द्रो दशभिर्दशग्वैः सूर्यं विवेद तमसि क्षियन्तम् ॥५॥

sákhā ha yátra sákhibhir návagvair abhijñv á sátvabhir gá anugmán | satyáṃ tád índro daṣábhir dáṣagvaiḥ sū́ryaṃ viveda támasi kshiyántam || 5 ||

॥२६॥ इन्द्रो मधु संभृतमुस्रियायां पद्वद्विवेद शफवन्नमे गोः ।
गुहा हितं गुह्यं गूळ्हमप्सु हस्ते दधे दक्षिणे दक्षिणावान् ॥६॥
ज्योतिर्वृणीत तमसो विजानन्नारे स्याम दुरितादभीके ।
इमा गिरः सोमपाः सोमवृद्ध जुषस्वेन्द्र पुरुतमस्य कारोः ॥७॥
ज्योतिर्यज्ञाय रोदसी अनु ष्यादारे स्याम दुरितस्य भूरेः ।
भूरि चिद्धि तुजतो मर्त्यस्य सुपारासो वसवो बर्हणावत् ॥८॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥९॥

índro mádhu sámbhṛitam usríyāyām padvád viveda ṣaphávan náme góḥ | gúhā hitáṃ gúhyaṃ gūḷhám apsú háste dadhe dákshiṇe dákshiṇāvān || 6 || jyótir vṛiṇīta támaso vijānánn āré syāma duritád abhíke | imá gíraḥ somapāḥ somavṛiddha jushásvendra purutámasya kāróḥ || 7 || jyótir yajñáya ródasī ánu shyād āré syāma duritásya bhū́reḥ | bhū́ri cid dhí tujató mártyasya supāráso vasavo barháṇāvat || 8 || ṣunáṃ huvema — || 9 ||

The resplendent self plans to trace out the missing cow (the inner light) with the assistance of nine faithful friends (the five vital breaths + the four inner behaviours, mind, conscience, intelligence and ego), and the other ten friends (five organs of senses, with their five cognitions, colour, taste, smell, touch and sound). Ultimately, he attains success in discovering the true light of the sun, lying so far concealed in the darkness of the innermost cavity. 5

The resplendent self discovers the sweet milk of wisdom secreted in the milch-cow and thereupon brings forth from its concealment, the herd of cattle (feet and hoof) theory and practice. He holds in his right hand such gifts as had been hidden in the obscure corners and was confused in the waves of illusive intellect. 6

The discriminating intellect separates the light from the darkness. May we be removed afar from all evils. O soul, may you accept our highest regards nourished with devotion and be pleased with the tributes paid by most zealous worshipper. 7

Let there be light through both the realms of body and mind for worshipful acts. May we be far removed from overwhelming evils. May the grantor of prosperity on the receipt of presents bestow increasing affluence upon the benevolent man. 8

We call on our bounteous Lord for protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 9

(४०) चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ इन्द्र त्वा वृषभं वयं सुते सोमे हवामहे । स पाहि मध्वो अन्धसः ॥१॥
इन्द्र क्रतुविदं सुतं सोमं हर्य पुरुष्टुत । पिबा वृषस्व तातृपिम् ॥२॥
इन्द्र प्र णो धितावानं यज्ञं विश्वेभिर्देवेभिः । तिरः स्तवान विश्पते ॥३॥
इन्द्र सोमाः सुता इमे तव प्र यन्ति सत्पते । क्षयं चन्द्रास इन्दवः ॥४॥
दधिष्वा जठरे सुतं सोममिन्द्र वरेण्यम् । तव द्युक्षास इन्दवः ॥५॥

40

Índra tvā vṛishabhám vayám suté sóme havāmahe | sá pāhi mádhvo ándhasaḥ || 1 || índra kratuvídam sutám sómam harya purushṭuta | píbá vṛishasva tátṛipim || 2 || índra prá ṇo dhitávānam yajñám víṣvebhir devébhiḥ | tirá stavāna viṣpate || 3 || índra sómāḥ sutá imé táva prá yanti satpate | ksháyam candrása índavaḥ || 4 || dadhishvá jaṭháre sutám sómam indra váreṇyam | táva dyukshása índavaḥ || 5 ||

॥२॥ गिर्वणः पाहि नः सुतं मधोर्धाराभिरज्यसे । इन्द्र त्वादातमिद्यशः ॥६॥
अभि द्युम्नानि वनिन इन्द्रं सचन्ते अक्षिता । पीत्वी सोमस्य वावृधे ॥७॥
अर्वावतो न आ गहि परावतश्च वृत्रहन् । इमा जुषस्व नो गिरः ॥८॥
यदन्तरा परावतमर्वावतं च हूयसे । इन्द्रेह तत आ गहि ॥९॥

gírvaṇaḥ pāhí naḥ sutám mádhor dhárābhir ajyase | índra tvádātam íd yáṣaḥ || 6 || abhí dyumnáni vanína índram sacante ákshitā | pītví sómasya vāvṛidhe || 7 || arvāváto na á gahi parāvátaṣ ca vṛitrahan | imá jushasva no gíraḥ || 8 || yád antará parāvátam arvāvátam ca hūyáse | índrehá táta á gahi || 9 ||

40

We invoke you, O resplendent Lord, the showerer of benefits for coming to the place where offerings are presented. May you relish our exhilarating devotional love. 1

O swift moving powerful resplendent Lord, accept our hearty compliments revered by all which are exhilarating and inspiring for noble deeds. 2

O resplendent Lord, protector of people, highly admired by all and associated by Nature's bounties, may you promote our wealth-bestowing actions. 3

O resplendent Lord, protector of the virtuous, our brilliantly expressed loving greetings flow towards you only. 4

O resplendent Lord, your celestial luminaries are blissful. May you accept our devotional love and keep it in your heart. 5

O widely praised resplendent Lord, accept our loving homage. These exhilarating streams of love flow to you. May we obtain food sanctified by you. 6

The brilliant and undiminished devotional love offered by His loyal subject overwhelms the resplendent Lord Through these loving regards His glory increases vigour. 7

O destroyer of enemies, whether from near or afar, come to us and accept our devotion expressed through words. 8

Whether called from near or afar, or from midspace may you come hitherward, O illustrious Lord. 9

(४१) एकचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–९.) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ आ तू न इन्द्र मद्र्यग्घुवानः सोमपीतये । हरिभ्यां याह्यद्रिवः ॥१॥
सत्तो होता न ऋत्वियस्तिस्तिरे बर्हिरानुषक् । अयुज्रन्प्रातरद्रयः ॥२॥
इमा ब्रह्म ब्रह्मवाहः क्रियन्त आ बर्हिः सीद । वीहि शूर पुरोळाशम् ॥३॥
रारन्धि सवनेषु ण एषु स्तोमेषु वृत्रहन् । उक्थेष्विन्द्र गिर्वणः ॥४॥
मतयः सोमपामुरुं रिहन्ति शवसस्पतिम् । इन्द्रं वत्सं न मातरः ॥५॥

41.

Á tū́ na indra madryàg ghuvānáḥ sómapītaye | háribhyām yāhy adrivaḥ || 1 || sattó hótā na ṛitvíyas tistiré barhír ānushák | áyujran prātár ádrayaḥ || 2 || imā́ bráhma brahmavāhaḥ kriyánta ā́ barhíḥ sīda | vīhí ṣūra puroḷā́ṣam || 3 || rārandhí sávaneshu ṇa eshú stómeshu vṛitrahan | ukthéshv indra girvaṇaḥ || 4 || matáyaḥ somapā́m urúm riḥánti ṣávasas pátim | índram vatsám ná mātáraḥ || 5 ||

॥४॥ स मन्दस्वा ह्यन्धसो राधसे तन्वा महे । न स्तोतारं निदे करः ॥६॥
वयमिन्द्र त्वायवो हविष्मन्तो जरामहे । उत त्वमस्मयुर्वसो ॥७॥
मारे अस्मद्वि मुमुचो हरिप्रियार्वाङ्याहि । इन्द्र स्वधावो मत्स्वेह ॥८॥
अर्वाञ्चं त्वा सुखे रथे वहतामिन्द्र केशिना । घृतस्नू बर्हिरासदे ॥९॥

sá mandasvā hy ándhaso rā́dhase tanvā̀ mahé | ná stotā́ram nidé karaḥ || 6 || vayám indra tvāyávo havíshmanto jarāmahe | utá tvám asmayúr vaso || 7 || mā́ré asmád ví mumuco háripriyārvā́ñ yāhi | índra svadhāvo mátsvehá || 8 || arvā́ñcam tvā sukhé ráthe váhatām indra keṣínā | ghṛitásnū barhír āsáde || 9 ||

41

O resplendent Lord, wielder of the punitive justice, when invoked may you accept our devotional love at the place of our work and worship, come to me with a speed and with vital aura of glory. 1

The invoking priest is seated at the proper place and season. The cushion mat is spread, and the stones have been placed for preparing morning libations. 2

O mighty bearer of wisdom, these prayers are offered by us: be enshined in our hearts and cherish our dedicated noble deeds. 3

Destroyer of evil, O resplendent Lord, relish our adorations and hymns offered at the daily worship. 4

Our praises caress the mighty lord, the cherisher of the devotional love, as cows lick their calves. 5

May you be delighted with our loving devotion, we offer for your own great munifiecence, may you not put your adorer the reproach. 6

O resplendent Lord, bestower of habitation, offering oblations, we dearly love you. May you also draw us to your love. 7

Lover of your radiating vitality and enjoyer of the offerings, O resplendent Lord, loosen not the horses of your car whilst far from us, but come with them to us, whenever invoked and be delighted. 8

Whilst we think of you O Lord, may you speedily come in your chariot as if, drawn by long-maned and sleek-coated steads, and be seated on the matty cushions of our heart. 9

(४२) द्विचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ उप नः सुतमा गहि सोममिन्द्र गवाशिरम् । हरिभ्यां यस्ते अस्मयुः ॥१॥
तमिन्द्र मदमा गहि बर्हिःष्ठां ग्रावभिः सुतम् । कुविन्न्वस्य तृप्णवः ॥२॥
इन्द्रमित्था गिरो ममाच्छागुरिषिता इतः । आवृते सोमपीतये ॥३॥
इन्द्रं सोमस्य पीतये स्तोमैरिह हवामहे । उक्थेभिः कुविदागमत् ॥४॥
इन्द्र सोमाः सुता इमे तान्दधिष्व शतक्रतो । जठरे वाजिनीवसो ॥५॥

42.

Úpa naḥ sutám á́ gahi sómam indra gávāṣiram | hári-bhyām yás te asmayúḥ || 1 || tám indra mádam á́ gahi bar-hishṭhā́m grávabhiḥ sutám | kuvín nv àsya tripṇávaḥ || 2 || índram itthá́ gíro mámáchāgur ishitá́ itáḥ | āvríte só-mapītaye || 3 || índram sómasya pītáye stómair ihá havā-mahe | ukthébhiḥ kuvíd āgámat || 4 || índra sómāḥ sutá́ imé tán dadhishva ṣatakrato | jaṭháre vājinīvaso || 5 ||

॥६॥ विद्मा हि त्वा धनञ्जयं वाजेषु दधृषं कवे । अधा ते सुम्नमीमहे ॥६॥
इममिन्द्र गवाशिरं यवाशिरं च नः पिब । आगत्या वृषभिः सुतम् ॥७॥
तुभ्येदिन्द्र स्व ओक्ये सोमं चोदामि पीतये । एष रारन्तु ते हृदि ॥८॥

vidmá́ hí tvā dhanamjayám vá́jeshu dadhrishám kave | ádhā te sumnám īmahe || 6 || imám indra gávāṣiram yávāṣiram ca naḥ piba | āgátyā vríshabhiḥ sutám || 7 || túbhyéd indra svá okyè sómam codāmi pītáye | eshá rārantu te hridí || 8 ||

42

Come resplenden Lord, to cherish devotional love, blent with thoughts and deeds as if the herbal juice mixed with milk and curd. Favourably disposed may you come speedily, as if on a car drawn by horses. 1

Come, O resplendent Lord, to cherish the exhilarating devotional love expressed by the stones of our holy endevours and as if placed upon the matty cushions of our pious heart; drink of it to your satisfaction for there is plenty. 2

May my praises, addressed from hence and in this manner, reach resplendent Lord, to bring his mercy here to inspire our dedicated deeds. 3

We invoke resplendent Lord here with sacred hymns and prayers to accept our loving devotion; may He, repeatedly invoked, come here. 4

O resplendent Lord, embodiment of hundreds of selfless noble deeds, rich in wealth and wisdom, these are the deeds dedicated to you as if poured out with love. May you accept them with full satisfaction. 5

Far-seeing resplendent Lord, we know you to be victorious and winner of wealth and battles, therefore, we ask of you to grant us riches. 6

Being present, O resplendent Lord, be delighted to cherish our holy love as one accepts herbal juice expressed by stones and mixed with curd and barley. 7

O resplendent Lord, I offer my devotional love to you, who are seated in the heaven of innermost cavity, for your kind acceptance. May you in your heart enjoy its ecstasy. 8

त्वां सुतस्य पीतये प्रत्नमिन्द्र हवामहे । कुशिकासो अवस्यवः ॥९॥

tvā́ṃ sutásya pītáye pratnám indra havāmahe | kuṣikáso avasyávaḥ || 9 ||

(४३) त्रिचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ आ याह्यर्वाङुप वन्धुरेष्ठास्तवेदनु प्रदिवः सोमपेयम् ।
प्रिया सखाया वि मुचोप बर्हिस्त्वामिमे हव्यवाहो हवन्ते ॥१॥
आ याहि पूर्वीरति चर्षणीराँ अर्य आशिष उप नो हरिभ्याम् ।
इमा हि त्वा मतयः स्तोमतष्टा इन्द्र हवन्ते सख्यं जुषाणाः ॥२॥
आ नो यज्ञं नमोवृधं सजोषा इन्द्र देव हरिभिर्याहि तूयम् ।
अहं हि त्वा मतिभिर्जोहवीमि घृतप्रयाः सधमादे मधूनाम् ॥३॥
आ च त्वामेता वृषणा वहातो हरी सखाया सुधुरा स्वङ्गा ।
धानावदिन्द्रः सवनं जुषाणः सखा सख्युः शृणवद्वन्दनानि ॥४॥
कुविन्मा गोपां करसे जनस्य कुविद्राजानं मघवन्नृजीषिन् ।
कुविन्म ऋषिं पपिवांसं सुतस्य कुविन्मे वस्वो अमृतस्य शिक्षाः ॥५॥

43.

Ā́ yāhy arvā́ñ úpa vandhureshṭhā́s távéd ánu pradívaḥ somapéyam | priyā́ sákhāyā ví mucópa barhís tvā́m imé havyavā́ho havante || 1 || ā́ yāhi pūrvír áti carshaṇír ā́ñ aryá āṣísha úpa no háribhyām | imā́ hí tvā matáya stómatashṭā índra hávante sakhyáṃ jushāṇā́ḥ || 2 || ā́ no yajñáṃ namovṛídhaṃ sajóshā índra deva háribhir yāhi tū́yam | aháṃ hí tvā matíbhir jóhavīmi ghṛitáprayāḥ sadhamā́de mádhūnām || 3 || ā́ ca tvā́m etā́ vṛíshaṇā váhāto hárī sákhāyā sudhúrā svā́ñgā | dhānā́vad índraḥ sávanaṃ jushāṇáḥ sákhā sákhyuḥ ṣṛiṇavad vándanāni || 4 || kuvín mā gopā́ṃ kárase jánasya kuvíd rā́jānam maghavann ṛijīshin | kuvín ma ṛíshim papivā́ṅsaṃ sutásya kuvín me vásvo amṛítasya ṣíkshāḥ || 5 ||

We, the descendents of austere sages, and desirous of protection invoke you, O eternal Lord, so that you relish our devotional love. 9

43

Descend to us, riding as if in your cosmic chariot, for verily this celestial elixir devotional love is for you. May you unyoke your dear horses near the place of worship for the worshippers solicit your presence here. 1

Passing by multitudes, come here, Lord of celestial world, with your radiance, to receive our benedictions; for these praises, composed by the devout, invoke you, soliciting your friendship. 2

O resplendent Lord, come speedily with your heavenly radiance and be pleased to bless our food-augmenting worship. With the food of my thoughts and butter of love, I invoke you in my heart, the chamber of sweet libations. 3

May these two vigorous friendly burthen-bearing and well-limbed steeds of radiant faculties bring you here. May the resplendent Lord approve of the ceremony offering grains. May He as a friend hear the praises of His friend. 4

O bounteous Lord, a guide to the righteous path, make me the guardian of the people, a monarch of men. Make me a holy sage, the lover of spiritual bliss, and grant me the wealth that lasts for long. 5

आ त्वा॑ बृ॒हन्तो॒ हर॑यो युजा॒ना अ॒र्वागि॑न्द्र सध॒मादो॑ वहन्तु ।
प्र ये द्वि॒ता दि॒व ऋ॒ञ्जन्त्याताः॒ सुसं॑मृष्टासो वृष॒भस्य॑ मू॒राः ॥६॥
इन्द्र॒ पिब॒ वृष॑धूतस्य॒ वृष्ण॒ आ यं ते॑ श्ये॒न उ॑श॒ते ज॒भार॑ ।
यस्य॒ मदे॑ च्या॒वय॑सि॒ प्र कृ॒ष्टीर्यस्य॒ मदे॒ अप॑ गो॒त्रा व॒वर्थ॑ ॥७॥
शु॒नं हु॑वेम म॒घवा॑न॒मिन्द्र॑म॒स्मिन्भरे॒ नृत॑मं॒ वाज॑सातौ ।
शृ॒ण्वन्त॑मु॒ग्रमू॒तये॑ स॒मत्सु॒ घ्नन्तं॑ वृ॒त्राणि॑ सं॒जितं॒ धना॑नाम् ॥८॥

á tvā bṛihánto hárayo yujāná arvā́g indra sadhamā́do vahantu | prá yé dvitā́ divá ṛiñjánty ā́tāḥ súsaṃmṛishṭāso vṛishabhásya mūrā́ḥ || 6 || índra píba vṛ́ishadhūtasya vṛ́ishṇa ā́ yám te ṣyená uṣaté jabhā́ra | yásya máde cyāváyasi prá kṛishṭír yásya máde ápa gotrā́ vavártha || 7 || ṣunáṃ huvema — || 8 ||

(४४) चतुश्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । बृहती छन्दः ॥

॥८॥

अ॒यं ते॑ अस्तु हर्य॒तः सोम॒ आ हरि॑भिः सु॒तः ।
जु॒षा॒ण इ॑न्द्र॒ हरि॑भिर्न॒ आ ग॒ह्या ति॑ष्ठ॒ हरि॑तं॒ रथ॑म् ॥१॥
ह॒र्यन्नु॒षस॑मर्चयः॒ सूर्यं॑ ह॒र्यन्न॑रोचयः ।
वि॒द्वांश्चि॑कि॒त्वान्ह॑र्यश्व वर्धस॒ इन्द्र॒ विश्वा॑ अ॒भि श्रियः॑ ॥२॥

44.

Ayáṃ te astu haryatáḥ sóma ā́ háribhiḥ sutáḥ | jushāṇá indra háribhir na ā́ gahy ā́ tishṭha háritaṃ rátham || 1 || haryánn ushásam arcayaḥ sū́ryaṃ haryánn arocayaḥ | vidvā́ṅṣ cikitvā́n haryaṣva vardhasa índra víṣvā abhí ṣríyaḥ || 2 ||

May your mighty horses harnessed and exhilarated, bring you to the car as if O resplendent Lord to our presence. They, are the destroyers of your foes, O showerer of benefits, and when well-groomed, they traverse swiftly to the furthest limits of heaven demarcating it into two. 6

O resplendent self, cherish devotional sap of love offered and expressed as if by the beneficient stones of thoughts and deeds. It is that which the falcon of the intutive mind brings you. Exhilarated by this you cast down opposing men and set asunder the dark clouds of ignorance. 7

We invoke the bounteous resplendent Lord for our protection, who is distinguished in these combats, the leader in the food-bestowing strife, hearer of our praises, terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, and the conqueror of wealth. 8

44

O resplendent Lord, may this delightsome sweet sap of love expressed as if by the stones of vital and mental faculties be offered to you. Ascend the cosmic verdant chariot, and with your spiritual radiance come and stay with us. 1

O Lord of vital radiance, relishing the sap of love. You make the dawn glow; relishing the same you make the sun shine. Knowing and discriminating all our wishes you increase glory of joy. 2

द्यामिन्द्रो हरिधायसं पृथिवीं हरिवर्पसम् ।
अधारयद्धरितोर्भूरि भोजनं ययोरन्तर्हरिश्चरत् ॥३॥
जज्ञानो हरितो वृषा विश्वमा भाति रोचनम् ।
हर्यश्वो हरितं धत्त आयुधमा वज्रं बाह्वोर्हरिम् ॥४॥
इन्द्रो हर्यन्तमर्जुनं वज्रं शुक्रैरभीवृतम् ।
अपावृणोद्धरिभिरद्रिभिः सुतमुद्गा हरिभिराजत ॥५॥

dyám índro háridhāyasam prithivím hárivarpasam | ádhārayad dharítor bhū́ri bhójanam yáyor antár háriṣ cárat || 3 || jajñānó hárito vríshā víṣvam ā́ bhāti rocanám | háryaṣvo háritam dhatta ā́yudham ā́ vájram bāhvór hárim || 4 || índro haryántam árjunam vájram ṣukraír abhī́vritam | ápāvriṇod dháribhir ádribhiḥ sutám úd gā́ háribhir ājata || 5 ||

(४५) पञ्चचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । बृहती छन्दः ॥

॥९॥ आ मन्द्रैरिन्द्र हरिभिर्याहि मयूररोमभिः ।
मा त्वा के चिन्नि यमन्विं न पाशिनोऽति धन्वेव ताँ इहि ॥१॥
वृत्रखादो वलंरुजः पुरां दर्मो अपामजः ।
स्थाता रथस्य हर्योरभिस्वर इन्द्रो दृळ्हा चिदारुजः ॥२॥

45.

Ā́ mandraír indra háribhir yāhí mayū́raromabhiḥ | mā́ tvā ké cin ní yaman vím nā́ pāṣínó 'ti dhánveva tā́ñ ihi || 1 || vritrakhādó valamrujáḥ purā́m darmó apā́m ajáḥ | sthā́tā ráthasya háryor abhisvará índro drilhā́ cid ārujáḥ || 2 ||

The resplendent Lord upholds the heaven with streams of golden hue and the earth with her green and gold. The green golden pair of heaven and earth yields plenteous nourishing material for Him. Between the pair moves the cosmic wind. 3

As soon as resplendent Lord gets revealed, He illuminates all the realms of celestial regions. He holds the radiant weapon, the thunder bolt of punitive justice, in his hands. 4

The resplendent sun with his shining lustre and alround holo rises up on the horizon. His rejoicing rays beam out through the clouds and uncover the darkness; there by, he throws out the gloom with the help of his rays from the surface of earth. 5

45

Come, resplendent Lord, with your beautiful multicolour radiant rays like that of a peacock. Let no obstruction detain you and catch you as the fowlers catch a bird, by throwing snares: pass them by quickly as travellers cross a desert. 1

The resplendent Lord is the devourer of evils, destroyer of the clouds of ignorance, He is the demolisher of strongholds of evil tendencies and inspirer of virtuous acts. He comes speedily, as if, mounted on his cosmic chariot urging his horses to move towards us. 2

गम्भीराँ उदधीँरिव क्रतुं पुष्यसि गा इव ।
प्र सुगोपा यवसं धेनवो यथा ह्रदं कुल्या इवाशत ॥३॥
आ नस्तुजं रयिं भरांशं न प्रतिजानते ।
वृक्षं पक्वं फलमङ्कीव धूनुहीन्द्र संपारणं वसु ॥४॥
स्वयुरिन्द्र स्वराळसि स्मद्दिष्टिः स्वयशस्तरः ।
स वावृधान ओजसा पुरुष्टुत भवा नः सुश्रवस्तमः ॥५॥

gambhīrā́ñ udadhī́ñr iva krátum pushyasi gā́ iva | prá sugopā́ yávasam dhenávo yathā hradám kulyā́ ivāṣata || 3 || ā́ nas tújam rayím bharā́ṅsam ná pratijānaté | vrikshám pakvám phálam aṅkī́va dhūnuhī́ndra sampā́raṇam vásu || 4 || svayúr indra svarā́ḷ asi smáddishṭiḥ sváyaṣastaraḥ | sá vāvridhāná ójasā purushṭuta bhávā naḥ suṣrávastamaḥ || 5 ||

(४६) षट्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ युध्मस्य ते वृषभस्य स्वराजं उग्रस्य यूनः स्थविरस्य घृष्वेः ।
अजूर्यतो वज्रिणो वीर्याणीन्द्र श्रुतस्य महतो महानि ॥१॥
महाँ असि महिष वृष्ण्येभिर्धनस्पृदुग्र सहमानो अन्यान् ।
एको विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजा स योधया च क्षयया च जनान् ॥२॥

46.

Yudhmásya te vrishabhásya svarā́ja ugrásya yū́na sthávirasya ghrī́shveḥ | ájūryato vajríṇo vīryā̀ṇī́ndra ṣrutásya maható mahā́ni || 1 || mahā́ñ asi mahisha vrī́shṇyebhir dhanaspṛ́d ugra sáhamāno anyā́n | éko víṣvasya bhúvanasya rā́jā sá yodháyā ca kshayáyā ca jánān || 2 ||

You cherish the performer of the sacred deeds like pools of water, deep and full; or like a careful herdsman who cherishes the cows, or like milch-cows that go well-guarded to the mead, or like water brooks that reach the lake. 3

Grant us riches, securing us against adversaries, as a father bestows his portion on a son arrived at maturity. O resplendent Lord, shake the tree of wealth to fulfil our aspirations as with hooks one brings down ripened fruit. 4

O resplendent Lord, you are self-opulent, the sole sovereign, Lord, good leader and of most glorious fame. Increasing in vigour and glory may you be a most bountiful bestower of food and fame to us. 5

46

Vast are the energies of yours, O resplendent Lord, the warrior, the showerer of benefits, the sovereign ruler, fierce, ever-youthful and eternal, the overcomer of foes, the undecaying and the wielder of punitive justice. You are great and great are your heroic achievements. 1

Adorable and powerful resplendent Lord, you are great and magnificent, overcoming adversaries by your prowess: you alone are the ruler of all the world: may you help us in fighting against our adversaries and give safety to the inhabitants of the world. 2

प्र मात्राभी रिरिचे रोचमानः प्र देवेभिर्विश्वतो अप्रतीतः ।
प्र मज्मना दिव इन्द्रः पृथिव्याः प्रोरोर्महो अन्तरिक्षादृजीषी ॥३॥
उरुं गभीरं जनुषाभ्युग्रं विश्वव्यचसमवतं मतीनाम् ।
इन्द्रं सोमासः प्रदिवि सुतासः समुद्रं न स्रवत आ विशन्ति ॥४॥
यं सोममिन्द्र पृथिवीद्यावा गर्भं न माता बिभृतस्त्वाया ।
तं ते हिन्वन्ति तमु ते मृजन्त्यध्वर्यवो वृषभ पातवा उ ॥५॥

prá mā́trābhī ririce rócamānaḥ prá devébhir viṣváto ápratītaḥ | prá majmánā divá índraḥ prithivyā́ḥ prórór mahó antárikshād ṛijīshī́ || 3 || urúṃ gabhīráṃ janúshābhy ùgráṃ viṣvávyacasam avatám matīnā́m | índraṃ sómāsaḥ pradívi sutā́saḥ samudráṃ ná sraváta ā́ viṣanti || 4 || yáṃ sómam indra pṛithivī́dyā́vā gárbhaṃ ná mātā́ bibhṛitás tvāyā́ | táṃ te hinvanti tám u te mṛijanty adhvaryávo vṛishabha pā́tavā́ u || 5 ||

(४७) सप्तचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ मरुत्वाँ इन्द्र वृषभो रणाय पिबा सोममनुष्वधं मदाय ।
आ सिञ्चस्व जठरे मध्व ऊर्मिं त्वं राजासि प्रदिवः सुतानाम् ॥१॥
सजोषा इन्द्र सगणो मरुद्भिः सोमं पिब वृत्रहा शूर विद्वान् ।
जहि शत्रूँरप मृधो नुदस्वाथाभयं कृणुहि विश्वतो नः ॥२॥

47.

Marútvāñ indra vṛishabhó ráṇāya píbā sómam anushvadhám mádāya | ā́ siñcasva jaṭháre mádhva ūrmíṃ tváṃ rā́jāsi pradívaḥ sutā́nām || 1 || sajóshā indra ságaṇo marúdbhiḥ sómam piba vṛitrahā́ ṣūra vidvā́n | jahí ṣátrūñr ápa mṛ́idho nudasvā́thā́bhayaṃ kṛiṇuhi viṣváto naḥ || 2 ||

He surpasses all measures in His brightness, and far exceeds Nature's forces; for none may be His equal. He is more vast than heaven and earth together, or the widespread spacious firmament. 3

The ambrosial streams of devotion, daily poured out, enter into the vast and profound resplendent Lord, as rivers flow into the ocean. He is mighty deep and fierce from his inception, and is the protector of the pious worshippers. 4

O resplendent Lord, the heaven and earth bear divine nectar for you, as a mother bears the embryo. O showerer of benefits, the priests pour it out for you and purify it for your acceptance. 5

47

O resplendent self, the showerer of benefits, may you associated with vital breath cherish the spiritual joy offered to you for exhilaration during battles with evil forces. May you be delighted to take in full the wave of this inebriating elixir, for you are lord of spiritual experiences. 1

O brave resplendent self, rejoicing with and accompanied by the group of vital breaths, cherish the spiritual joy, for you are the annihilator of evil forces, and you are the sage. May you subdue our adverse impulses, drive away the malevolent and make us safe on everyside from peril. 2

उत ऋतुभिर्ऋतुपाः पाहि सोममिन्द्र देवेभिः सखिभिः सुतं नः ।
याँ आभजो मरुतो ये त्वान्वहन्वृत्रमदधुस्तुभ्यमोजः ॥३॥
ये त्वाहिहत्ये मघवन्नवर्धन्ये शाम्बरे हरिवो ये गविष्टौ ।
ये त्वा नूनमनुमदन्ति विप्राः पिबेन्द्र सोमं सगणो मरुद्भिः ॥४॥
मरुत्वन्तं वृषभं वावृधानमकवारिं दिव्यं शासमिन्द्रम् ।
विश्वासाहमवसे नूतनायोग्रं सहोदामिह तं हुवेम ॥५॥

utá ṛitúbhir ṛitupāḥ pāhi sómam índra devébhiḥ sákhibhiḥ sutám naḥ | yā́ñ ā́bhajo marúto yé tvā́nv áhan vṛitrám ádadhus túbhyam ójaḥ || 3 || yé tvāhihátye maghavann ávardhan yé ṣāmbaré harivo yé gávishṭau | yé tvā nūnám anumádanti víprāḥ píbendra sómaṃ ságaṇo marúdbhiḥ || 4 || marútvantaṃ vṛishabhám vāvṛidhānám ákavāriṃ divyáṃ ṣāsám índram | viṣvāsáham ávase nū́tanāyográṃ sahodā́m ihá táṃ huvema || 5 ||

(४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ सद्यो ह जातो वृषभः कनीनः प्रभर्तुमावदन्धसः सुतस्य ।
साधोः पिब प्रतिकामं यथा ते रसाशिरः प्रथमं सोम्यस्य ॥१॥
यज्जायथास्तदहरस्य कामेंऽशोः पीयूषमपिबो गिरिष्ठाम् ।
तं ते माता परि योषा जनित्री महः पितुर्दम आसिञ्चदग्रे ॥२॥

48.

Sadyó ha jātó vṛishabháḥ kanī́naḥ prábhartum āvad ándhasaḥ sutásya | sādhóḥ piba pratikāmám yáthā te rásāṣiraḥ prathamáṃ somyásya || 1 || yáj jáyathās tád áhar asya kā́me 'ṇṣóḥ pīyū́sham apibo girishṭhā́m | táṃ te mātā́ pári yóshā jánitrī maháḥ pitúr dáma ā́siñcad ágre || 2 ||

Cherisher of the spiritual bliss on all appropriate occasions, may you, associated with your divine friend, the vital breath accept our devotional love presented by us. These vital principles whose aid you have enjoyed follow you and give you the strength whereby you overcome evil forces. 3

O bounteous resplendent self, may you associated with those vital faculties who assist you to subdue serpentine impulses and help you in the conflict with destructive elements and in the recovery of wisdom, and who, possessed of wisdom contribute verily to your exhilaration, accept our loving devotion. 4

We invoke the resplendent self, the lord of vital elements, the showerer of benefits, to grant us protection. He augmenting in glory overcomes all adversities. He is the celestial ruler and subduer of all evil forces. He is fierce in struggles and bestower of strength. 5

48

May the showerer of rains, who from the very inception becomes the object of affection and protects the offerer of the devotional love. May you, O radiant sun, drink before others at will to your full satisfaction the essence of sweet herbal juices. 1

On the day on which you come to existence, you drink at will the juice of herbal plants growing on mountains,—that juice which your ever-young mother (nature) who bears you, had poured for you in your father's dwelling (in firmament). 2

उपस्थायं मातरमन्नमैट्ट तिग्ममपश्यदभि सोममूधः ।
प्रयावयन्नचरद्गृत्सो अन्यान्महानि चक्रे पुरुधप्रतीकः ॥३॥
उग्रस्तुराषाळभिभूत्योजा यथावशं तन्वं चक्र एषः ।
त्वष्टारमिन्द्रो जनुषाभिभूयामुष्या सोममपिबच्चमूषु ॥४॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥५॥

upa-sthā́ya mātáram ánnam aiṭṭa tigmám apaṣyad abhí sómam ū́dhaḥ | prayāvā́yann acarad grítso anyā́n mahā́ni cakre purudhápratīkaḥ || 3 || ugrás turāshā́ḷ abhíbhūtyojā yathāvaṣám tanvàm cakra eshā́ḥ | tváshṭāram índro janúshābhibhū́yāmúshyā sómam apibac camū́shu || 4 || ṣunáṃ huvema — || 5 ||

(४९) एकोनपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ शंसा महामिन्द्रं यस्मिन्विश्वा आ कृष्टयः सोमपाः काममव्यन् ।
यं सुक्रतुं धिषणे विभ्वतष्टं घनं वृत्राणां जनयन्त देवाः ॥१॥
यं नु नकिः पृतनासु स्वराजं द्विता तरति नृतमं हरिष्ठाम् ।
इनतमः सत्वभिर्यो ह शूषैः पृथुज्रया अमिनादायुर्दस्योः ॥२॥

49.

Ṣáṅsā mahā́m índraṃ yásmin víṣvā́ á kriṣhṭáyaḥ somapā́ḥ kā́mam ávyan | yáṃ sukrátuṃ dhisháṇe vibhvataṣhṭáṃ ghanáṃ vritrā́ṇāṃ janáyanta devā́ḥ || 1 || yáṃ nú nákiḥ prítanāsu svarā́jaṃ dvitā́ tárati nrítamaṃ harishṭhā́m | inátamaḥ sátvabhir yó ha ṣūshaíḥ prithujrā́yā aminād ā́yur dā́syoḥ || 2 ||

Approaching his mother earth, he asked for food and behold the pungent essence of herbal juice upon her bosom (mountains). Wisely he proceeds further dislodging the adversaries of light; and putting forth manifold energies, he performed great deeds. 3

Fierce, rapid in assault and of over-powering strength, he frames his form as he likes. From his very inception he conqueres obstructions, by his inmate vigour and carries off the divine essence and deposited in ladles he drinks it. 4

We call on our bounteous Lord for our protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles, and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 5

49

I glorify the mighty resplendent Lord, in whom all men drinking the essence of bliss, obtain their wishes and whom the powerful heaven and earth delight. He is the doer of great deeds, the dispeller of dark forces fashioned by the all-pervading ignorance. 1

Whom when manifested by His own beams, foremost, and eminent in struggles of life, no one ever surpasses. He breaks evil tendencies in two parts, He is supreme in His own sway, associated by His faithful ones, hastening to fight His foe-withering energies. He destroys the existence of wickedness. 2

सहावा पृत्सु तरणिर्नार्वा व्यानशी रोदसी मेहनावान् ।
भगो न कारे हव्यो मतीनां पितेव चारुः सुहवो वयोधाः ॥३॥
धर्ता दिवो रजसस्पृष्ट ऊर्ध्वो रथो न वायुर्वसुभिर्नियुत्वान् ।
क्षपां वस्ता जनिता सूर्यस्य विभक्ता भागं धिषणेव वाजम् ॥४॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥५॥

sahávā pṛitsú taráṇir nárvā vyānaṣí ,ródasī mehánāvān | bhágo ná kāré hávyo matīnám pitéva cáruḥ suhávo vayodhā́ḥ || 3 || dhartá divó rájasas pṛishṭá ūrdhvó rátho ná vāyúr vásubhir niyútvān | kshapám vastá janitá sū́ryasya víbhaktā bhāgám dhishánেva vájam || 4 || ṣunáṃ huvema — || 5 ||

(५०) पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ इन्द्रः स्वाहा पिबतु यस्य सोम आगत्या तुम्रो वृषभो मरुत्वान् ।
ओरुव्यचाः पृणतामेभिरन्नैरास्य हविस्तन्वः कामसृध्याः ॥१॥
आ ते सपर्यू जवसे युनज्मि ययोरनु प्रदिवः श्रुष्टिमावः ।
इह त्वा धेयुर्हरयः सुशिप्र पिबा त्वस्य सुषुतस्य चारोः ॥२॥

50.

Índraḥ svā́hā pibatu yásya sóma āgátyā túmro vṛishabhó marútvān | óruvyácāḥ pṛiṇatām ebhír ánnair ā́sya havís tanvàḥ kā́mam ṛidhyāḥ || 1 || ā́ te saparyú javáse yunajmi yáyor ánu pradívaḥ ṣrushṭím ā́vaḥ | ihá tvā dheyur hárayaḥ suṣipra píbā tv àsyá súshutasya cā́roḥ || 2 ||

Vigorous, rushing through like a war horse, he encompasses heaven and earth. Whilst He showers blessings in tribulations He is to be invoked at the solemn rites. He is a father to those who adore him; He is handsome, worthy and giver of food. 3

The upholder of heaven and of the firmament, the wind; he is like a chariot ascending the celestial region accompanied by the vital breath. Illumining the nights the preceder of the day, He distributes nourishment and strength. 4

We invoke for our protection the opulent soul who is distinguished guide in our struggles for obtaining material and spiritual wealth. He listens to our praises. He is effective in all our struggles and invincible. 5

50

May the resplendent Lord having come to us accept our auspicious dedication. He is the repeller of adversaries, the showerer of benefits and the Lord of vital principles. May he, the widely pervading one, be pleased with these oblations. May our devotions be adequate to the glory of His cosmic body. 1

I yoke docile horses to your (cosmic) vehicle to bring you here immediately for our quick protection. O handsome Lord, may your energies bring you here and accept these well-prepared devotional melodious prayers. 2

गोभिर्मिमिक्षुं दधिरे सुपारमिन्द्रं ज्यैष्ठ्याय धायसे गृणानाः ।
मन्दानः सोमं पपिवाँ ऋजीषिन्त्समस्मभ्यं पुरुधा गा इषण्य ॥३॥
इमं कामं मन्दया गोभिरश्वैश्चन्द्रवता राधसा पप्रथश्च ।
स्वर्यवो मतिभिस्तुभ्यं विप्रा इन्द्राय वाहः कुशिकासो अक्रन् ॥४॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥५॥

góbhir mimikshúm dadhire supārám índram jyaíshthyāya dháyase griṇānáḥ | mandānáḥ sómam papiváñ ṛijīshin sám asmábhyam purudhá gá ishaṇya || 3 || imám kámam — || 4 || sunám huvema — || 5 ||

(५१) एकपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१–३) प्रथमादितृचस्य जगती, (४–९) चतुर्थ्यादितृचद्वयस्य त्रिष्टुप्, (१०–१२) दशम्यादितृचस्य च गायत्री छन्दांसि ॥

॥१५॥ चर्षणीधृतं मघवानमुक्थ्य१मिन्द्रं गिरो बृहतीरभ्यनूषत ।
वावृधानं पुरुहूतं सुवृक्तिभिरमर्त्यं जरमाणं दिवेदिवे ॥१॥
शतक्रतुमर्णवं शाकिनं नरं गिरो म इन्द्रमुप यन्ति विश्वतः ।
वाजसनिं पूर्भिदं तूर्णिमप्तुरं धामसाचमभिषाचं स्वर्विदम् ॥२॥

51.

Carshaṇīdhrítam maghávānam ukthyàm índram gíro brihatír abhy ànūshata | vāvṛidhānám puruhūtám suvṛiktíbhir ámartyam járamāṇam divé-dive || 1 || satákratum arṇavám sākínam náram gíro ma índram úpa yanti visvátaḥ | vājasánim pūrbhídam tūrṇim aptúram dhāmasácam abhishácam svarvídam || 2 ||

His adorers support the resplendent Lord with wisdom since He is willing to fulfil their aspirations and ready to come to the place of worship for granting wealth and prolonged life. O the best guide, acceptor of devotional love, may you be exhilarated with our devotion and grant us wealth and wisdom in abundance. 3

May you fulfil our desire of wealth with cows, with horses, with shining treasure, and make us renowned. The wise sages offer praise to you, O resplendent Lord, with pious prayers obtaining happiness. 4

We call on our bounteous Lord for our protection. He is a distinguished guide in our struggles, and the supreme provider of food. He is terrible in battles, the destroyer of evil forces and the conqueror of wealth. 5

51

Let abundant praises celebrate resplendent Lord, the sustainer of mankind, the possessor of opulence, the adorable, increasingly prosperous, invoked by all, the immortal, who is daily to be propitiated with sacred hymns. 1

My praises constantly propitiate resplendent Lord, who, associated with vital energies is the object of all our sacred actions, the showerer of blessings, the leader of all, the giver of food, the destroyer of strongholds of evils, the swift, the prompt deliverer of benefits, the distributor of riches, the subduer of wickeds, and the conferrer of bliss. 2

आकरे वसोर्जरिता पनस्यतेऽनेहसः स्तुभ इन्द्रो दुवस्यति ।
विवस्वतः सदन आ हि पिप्रिये सत्रासाहमभिमातिहनं स्तुहि ॥३॥
नृणामु त्वा नृतमं गीर्भिरुक्थैरभि प्र वीरमर्चता सबाधः ।
सं महसे पुरुमायो जिहीते नमो अस्य प्रदिव एक ईशे ॥४॥
पूर्वीरस्य निष्षिधो मर्त्येषु पुरू वसूनि पृथिवी बिभर्ति ।
इन्द्राय द्याव ओषधीरुतापो रयिं रक्षन्ति जीरयो वनानि ॥५॥

ākaré vásor jaritā́ panasyate 'nehása stúbha índro duvasyati | vivásvataḥ sádana ā́ hí pipriyé satrāsā́ham abhimātihánam stuhi || 3 || nṛiṇā́m u tvā nṛ́tamam gīrbhír ukthaír abhí prá vīrám arcatā sabā́dhaḥ | sám sáhase purumāyó jihīte námo asya pradíva éka īṣe || 4 || pūrvī́r asya nishshídho mártyeshu purū́ vásūni pṛithivī́ bibharti | índrāya dyā́va óshadhīr utā́po rayím rakshanti jīráyo vánāni || 5 ||

॥१८॥ तुभ्यं ब्रह्माणि गिर इन्द्र तुभ्यं सत्रा दधिरे हरिवो जुषस्व ।
बोध्यापिरवसो नूतनस्य सखे वसो जरितृभ्यो वयो धाः ॥६॥
इन्द्र मरुत्व इह पाहि सोमं यथा शार्याते अपिबः सुतस्य ।
तव प्रणीती तव शूर शर्मन्ना विवासन्ति कवयः सुयज्ञाः ॥७॥
स वावशान इह पाहि सोमं मरुद्भिरिन्द्र सखिभिः सुतं नः ।
जातं यत्त्वा परि देवा अभूषन्महे भराय पुरुहूत विश्वे ॥८॥

túbhyam bráhmāṇi gíra indra túbhyam satrā́ dadhire harivo jushásva | bodhy āpír ávaso nū́tanasya sákhe vaso jaritṛíbhyo váyo dhāḥ || 6 || índra marutva ihá pāhi sómam yáthā ṣāryāté ápibaḥ sutásya | táva práṇītī táva ṣūra ṣármann ā́ vivāsanti kaváyaḥ suyajñā́ḥ || 7 || sá vāvaṣāná ihá pāhi sómam marúdbhir indra sákhibhiḥ sutám naḥ | jātám yát tvā pári devā́ ábhūshan mahé bhárāya puruhūta víṣve || 8 ||

The resplendent Lord, the dispeller of adversaries, is praised as a mine of wealth. He is propitiated by righteous commendations and is glorified in the homes of dedicated devotees. May you glorify Him who is the conqueror and dispenser of enmities. 3

The priests glorify you, heroic leader of men, with praises and with prayers. The resplendent Lord who is the author of all wonders, exerts himself for manifesting his prowess. Since eternity, He alone is the Lord deserving this worship. 4

Innumerable are His blessings for the benefit of mankind. Many are the treasures that the earth enshrines. Verily with the support of the resplendent Lord, the firmament, the plants, the rivers, men and priests preserve their rich treasures. 5

To you, O resplendent Lord, the pious sages address prayers and praises, and offer worship. Accept them, O Lord of all vital energies. You are bestower of dwellings, friend of men and pervader of the whole universe. May you partake of this new homage and grant abundant wealth to your faithful devotees. 6

Resplendent Lord, associated with vital cosmic principles, accept our devotional love as you always accept the homage of proficient people. Your far-seeing and devout worshippers adore you through their offerings for security. 7

O resplendent Lord, may you, together with your associates, the cosmic vital principles, come to our place of worship and be gratified by the elixir and accept our devotional love offered by us. You are invoked by all and whom all the divine powers adorn as soon as revealed for the great struggle of existence. 8

अप्तूर्ये मरुत आपिरेषोऽमन्दन्निन्द्रमनु दातिवाराः ।
तेभिः साकं पिबतु वृत्रखादः सुतं सोमं दाशुषः स्वे सधस्थे ॥९॥
इदं ह्यन्वोजसा सुतं राधानां पते । पिबा त्वऽस्य गिर्वणः ॥१०॥
यस्ते अनु स्वधामसत्सुते नि यच्छ तन्वम् । स त्वा ममत्तु सोम्यम् ॥११॥
प्र ते अश्नोतु कुक्ष्योः प्रेन्द्र ब्रह्मणा शिरः । प्र बाहू शूर राधसे ॥१२॥

aptū́rye maruta āpír eshó 'mandann índram ánu dátivārāḥ | tébhiḥ sākám pibatu vṛitrakhādáḥ sutám sómam dāśúshaḥ své sadhásthe || 9 || idám hy ánv ójasā sutám rādhānām pate | píbā tv àsyá girvaṇaḥ || 10 || yás te ánu svadhám ásat suté ní yacha tanvàm | sá tvā mamattu somyám || 11 || prá te aśnotu kukshyóḥ préndra bráhmaṇā śíraḥ | prá bāhú śūra rā́dhase || 12 ||

(५२) द्विपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां गायत्री, (५, ७-८) पञ्चम्याः सप्तम्यष्टम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च जगती छन्दांसि ॥

॥१७॥ धानावन्तं करम्भिणमपूपवन्तमुक्थिनम् । इन्द्र प्रातर्जुषस्व नः ॥१॥
पुरोळाशं पचत्यं जुषस्वेन्द्रा गुरस्व च । तुभ्यं हव्यानि सिस्रते ॥२॥
पुरोळाशं च नो घसो जोषयासे गिरश्च नः । वधूयुरिव योषणाम् ॥३॥

52.

Dhānā́vantam karambhíṇam apūpávantam ukthínam | índra prātár jushasva naḥ || 1 || puroḷā́śam pacatyàm jushá-svendrā́ gurasva ca | túbhyam havyā́ni sisrate || 2 || puroḷā́-śam ca no ghásо josháyāse gíraś ca naḥ | vadhūyúr iva yóshaṇām || 3 ||

O vital principles, this resplendent sun is your comrade for sending of the waters. These cloud-bearing winds, the givers of strength, have yielded full co-operation to the sun. May the dispeller of darkness, accept devotional love offered by the worshippers in his own abode. 9

Lord of riches, deserving our praise, this nectar of sweet devotions is prepared for you with deep emotion; may you come to cherish it quickly. 10

May you be exhilarated by this devotional love, that has been poured out as food for you. May it cheer you who loves it. 11

O resplendent Lord, may our devotional love aided by prayer work through both your flanks, and through your arms, So that they distribute wealth. 12

52

Accept, O resplendent Lord, at our morning fire-ritual, this homage of worldly gains consisting of fresh barley, roasted corn, curds, and bread, sanctified by holy prayer. 1

Accept, O Lord, the libations of processed bread and butter; relish them eagerly; these oblations flow freely for you. 2

Relish, O illustrious Lord, our delicious roasted corn and butter. Derive enjoyment from our praises, as a lover from his beloved. 3

पुरोळाशं सनश्रुत प्रातःसावे जुषस्व नः । इन्द्र क्रतुर्हि ते बृहन् ॥४॥
माध्यन्दिनस्य सवनस्य धानाः पुरोळाशमिन्द्र कृष्वेह चारुम् ।
प्र यत्स्तोता जरिता तूर्ण्यर्थो वृषायमाण उप गीर्भिरीट्टे ॥५॥

purolāsam sanasruta prātaḥsāvé jushasva naḥ | índra krátur hí te brihán || 4 || mádhyaṃdinasya sávanasya dhānáḥ purolāsam indra krishvehá cārum | prá yát stotā́ jaritā́ tū́rṇyartho vrishāyámāṇa úpa gīrbhír ī́ṭṭe || 5 ||

॥१८॥ तृतीये धानाः सवने पुरुष्टुत पुरोळाशमाहुतं मामहस्व नः ।
ऋभुमन्तं वाजवन्तं त्वा कवे प्रयस्वन्त उप शिक्षेम धीतिभिः ॥६॥
पूषण्वते ते चकृमा करम्भं हरिवते हर्यश्वाय धानाः ।
अपूपमद्धि सगणो मरुद्भिः सोमं पिब वृत्रहा शूर विद्वान् ॥७॥
प्रति धाना भरत तूयमस्मै पुरोळाशं वीरतमाय नृणाम् ।
दिवेदिवे सदृशीरिन्द्र तुभ्यं वर्धन्तु त्वा सोमपेयाय धृष्णो ॥८॥

tritī́ye dhānā́ḥ sávane purushṭuta purolā́sam ā́hutam māmahasva naḥ | ribhumántaṃ vā́javantaṃ tvā kave práyasvanta úpa sikshema dhītíbhiḥ || 6 || pūshaṇváte te cakrimā karambhā́ṃ hárivate háryasvāya dhānā́ḥ | apūpám addhi ságaṇo marúdbhiḥ sómam piba vritrahā́ sūra vidvā́n || 7 || práti dhānā́ bharata tū́yam asmai purolā́saṃ vīráta-māya nriṇā́m | divé-dive sadrísīr indra túbhyaṃ várdhantu tvā somapéyāya dhrishṇo || 8 ||

O illustrious Lord, renowned eternally, accept our delicious offering, presented at the morning fire-ritual, for great are your deeds. 4

May you partake, O illustrious leader, of the roasted corn and other delicious bread and butter of the mid-day fire-ritual, when your zealous and strong worshipper, hastens to adore you, and celebrates you with hymns. 5

O illustrious leader, glorified by many, accept readily the roasted delicious bread and butter, offered at the third or evening fire-ritual: laden with sanctified viands, we approach with praises to you, O sage Lord, accompanied by the wise and opulent. 6

O Lord, provider of nourishment and possessor of speed, we have prepared for you, the parched grain and curd. O brave, wise and dispeller of evil forces, may you, attended by the group of vital elements, relish our bread and butter, and accept our devotional love. 7

Offer to him quickly priests the fried barley. Offer to the most brave formidable vital elements the bread and butter. May similar offerings, O victorious Lord, presented to you daily, augment your vigour for cherishing the herbal extracts. 8

(५३) त्रिपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-२४) चतुर्विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च इन्द्रापर्वतौ, (२-१४) द्वितीयादित्रयोदशानामिन्द्रः, (१५-१६) पञ्चदशीषोडश्योः ससर्परी वाक्, (१७-२०) सप्तदश्यादिचतसृणां रथाङ्गानि, (२१-२४) एकविंश्यादिचतसृणाञ्चाभिशापो देवताः । (१-९, ११, १४-१५, १७, १९, २१, २३-२४) प्रथमादिनवर्चामेकादशीचतुर्दशीपञ्चदशीसप्तदश्येकोनविंश्येकविंशीत्रयोविंशीचतुर्विंशीनाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१०, १६) दशमीषोडश्योर्जगती, (१२, २०, २२) द्वादशीविंशीद्वाविंशीनामनुष्टुप्, (१३) त्रयोदश्या गायत्री, (१८) अष्टादश्याश्च बृहती छन्दांसि ॥

॥१९॥ इन्द्रापर्वता बृहता रथेन वामीरिष आ वहतं सुवीराः ।
वीतं हव्यान्यध्वरेषु देवा वर्धेथां गीर्भिरिळया मदन्ता ॥१॥
तिष्ठा सु कं मघवन्मा परा गाः सोमस्य नु त्वा सुषुतस्य यक्षि ।
पितुर्न पुत्रः सिचमा रभे त इन्द्र स्वादिष्ठया गिरा शचीवः ॥२॥
शंसावाध्वर्यो प्रति मे गृणीहीन्द्राय वाहः कृणवाव जुष्टम् ।
एदं बर्हिर्यजमानस्य सीदाथा च भूदुक्थमिन्द्राय शस्तम् ॥३॥
जायेदस्तं मघवन्त्सेदु योनिस्तदित्त्वा युक्ता हरयो वहन्तु ।
यदा कदा च सुनवाम सोममग्निष्ट्वा दूतो धन्वात्यच्छ ॥४॥
परा याहि मघवन्ना च याहीन्द्र भ्रातरुभयत्रा ते अर्थम् ।
यत्रा रथस्य बृहतो निधानं विमोचनं वाजिनो रासभस्य ॥५॥

53.

Índrāparvatā bṛihatā́ ráthena vāmī́r ísha ā́ vahataṃ suvī́rāḥ | vītáṃ havyā́ny adhvaréshu devā várdhethāṃ gīrbhī́r íḷayā mádantā || 1 || tíshṭhā sú kam maghavan mā́ párā gāḥ sómasya nú tvā súshutasya yakshi | pitúr ná putráḥ sícam ā́ rabhe ta índra svā́dishṭhayā girā́ ṣacīvaḥ || 2 || ṣáṅsāvādhvaryo práti me gṛiṇīhī́ndrāya vā́haḥ kṛiṇavāva júshṭam | édám barhír yájamānasya sīdáthā ca bhūd ukthám índrāya ṣastám || 3 || jāyéd ástam maghavan séd u yónis tád ít tvā yuktā́ hárayo vahantu | yadā́ kadā́ ca sunávāma sómam agnísh ṭvā dūtó dhanvāty ácha || 4 || párā yāhi maghavann ā́ ca yāhī́ndra bhrātar ubhayátrā te ártham | yátrā ráthasya bṛiható nidhā́nam vimócanam vājíno rā́sabhasya || 5 ||

53

May the Lord of sun and clouds bring here, in a spacious vehicle, delightful food, generative of good progeny. May you, partake of the offerings presented at our sacred worship, and gratified by the sacrificial homage, be elevated by our praises. 1

Stay with us at ease, O bounteous Lord; go not away, for I offer to you the brilliantly composed prayers. O resplendent Lord, I take your refuge singing sweet melodious songs, as the son clinging to his father. 2

O priest, let both of us agree to offer praise; let us address pleasing invocations to the radiant Lord. May you occupy, O Lord, the cushion mat prepared by the institutor of the ceremony; and may our commendations be acceptable to the most honoured one. 3

May man's wife, O bounteous sun be provided with a dwelling, so that she gives birth to your child. Let the horses be harnessed to your car and convey you there. We prepare the herbal juices proper to the season. May the fire-divine come as our messenger before you. 4

O bounteous rays of the sun, may you go away from us or come close to. Both-ways, O protector, there is a benign motive whether you tighten the reigns of the neighing horses yoked to the chariot, or loosen. 5

॥२०॥ अपाः सोममस्तमिन्द्र प्र याहि कल्याणीर्जाया सुरणं गृहे ते ।
यत्रा रथस्य बृहतो निधानं विमोचनं वाजिनो दक्षिणावत् ॥६॥
इमे भोजा अङ्गिरसो विरूपा दिवस्पुत्रासो असुरस्य वीराः ।
विश्वामित्राय ददतो मघानि सहस्रसावे प्र तिरन्त आयुः ॥७॥

ápāḥ sómam ástam indra prá yāhi kalyāṇír jayá surá-ṇam grihé te | yátrā ráthasya briható nidhánam vimóca-nam vājíno dákshiṇāvat || 6 || imé bhojá áñgiraso vírūpā di-vás putráso ásurasya vīráḥ | viṣvámitrāya dádato magháni sahasrasāvé prá tiranta áyuḥ || 7 ||

रूपंरूपं मघवा बोभवीति मायाः कृण्वानस्तन्वं१ परि स्वाम् ।
त्रिर्यद्दिवः परि मुहूर्तमागात्स्वैर्मन्त्रैरनृतुपा ऋतावा ॥८॥
महाँ ऋषिर्देवजा देवजूतोऽस्तभ्नात्सिन्धुमर्णवं नृचक्षाः ।
विश्वामित्रो यदवहत्सुदासमप्रियायत कुशिकेभिरिन्द्रः ॥९॥
हंसा इव कृणुथ श्लोकमद्रिभिर्मदन्तो गीर्भिरध्वरे सुते सचा ।
देवेभिर्विप्रा ऋषयो नृचक्षसो वि पिबध्वं कुशिकाः सोम्यं मधु ॥१०॥

rūpám-rūpam maghávā bobhavīti māyáḥ kriṇvānás tanvàm pári svám | trír yád diváḥ pári muhūrtám ágāt svaír mántrair ánritupā ritávā || 8 || mahán ríshir devajá devájūtó 'stabhnāt síndhum ar-ṇavám nricákshāḥ | viṣvámitro yád ávahat sudásam ápri-yāyata kuṣikébhir índraḥ || 9 || hansá iva kriṇutha ṣlókam ádribhir mádanto gīrbhír adhvaré suté sácā | devébhir vi-prā ríshayo nricakshaso ví pibadhvam kuṣikāḥ somyám mádhu || 10 ||

Having enjoyed the elixir, O Solar rays, turn to your home; an auspicious life abides pleasantly in your dwelling. There if you so choose, you may tighten the reigns of the horses yoked to the chariot or loosen them for refreshment. 6

Bounteous are these rays like lfire—priests, multicoloured and offsprings of cosmic vital energies. They provide hundredfold treasures to the friends of mankind and prolong their life through countless precious rewards. 7

Bounteous sun becomes repeatedly manifest in various forms, creating wonders characteristic to his own and spontaneously accord. He comes in a moment from celestial region to the three daily worships and is the drinker of herbal juices, irrespective of seasons in observance of external laws. 8

The radiant sun is a great sage, generator of all Nature's forces, and associated by them the supervisor of the works of men, and the friend of all. He regulates the flowing rivers, performs sacrificial works for dedicated devotees and favours holy preceptors. 9

O sages and saints, supervisors of the leaders of sacred rites, O the preceptors, when the prayers are recited with intense devotion, like the pressing stone expressing out the sap at the place of worship, then exhilarating Nature's bounties with praises, may you sing sacred hymns aloud like singing swans and together with Nature's bounties, partake in the sparkling glory of lord. 10

॥२१॥ उप प्रेत कुशिकाश्चेतयध्वमश्वं राये प्र मुञ्चता सुदासः ।
राजा वृत्रं जङ्घनत्प्रागपागुदगथा यजाते वर आ पृथिव्याः ॥११॥
य इमे रोदसी उभे अहमिन्द्रमतुष्टवम् ।
विश्वामित्रस्य रक्षति ब्रह्मेदं भारतं जनम् ॥१२॥
विश्वामित्रा अरासत ब्रह्मेन्द्राय वज्रिणे । करदिन्नः सुराधसः ॥१३॥
किं ते कृण्वन्ति कीकटेषु गावो नाशिरं दुह्रे न तपन्ति घर्मम् ।
आ नो भर प्रमगन्दस्य वेदो नैचाशाखं मघवन्रन्धया नः ॥१४॥
ससर्परीरमतिं बाधमाना बृहन्मिमाय जमदग्निदत्ता ।
आ सूर्यस्य दुहिता ततान श्रवो देवेष्वमृतमजुर्यम् ॥१५॥

úpa préta kuṣikāṣ cetáyadhvam áṣvaṃ rāyé prá muñcatā sudā́sah | rā́jā vritrám jaṅghanat prā́g ápāg údag áthā yajāte vára ā́ prithivyā́ḥ || 11 || yá imé ródasī ubhé ahám índram átushṭavam | viṣvā́mitrasya rakshati bráhmedám bhā́rataṃ jánam || 12 || viṣvā́mitrā arāsata bráhméndrāya vajríṇe | kárad ín naḥ surā́dhasaḥ || 13 || kím te krinvanti kī́kaṭeshu gā́vo nā́ṣíraṃ duhré ná tapanti gharmám | ā́ no bhara prámagandasya védo naicāṣākhám maghavan randhayā naḥ || 14 || sasarparī́r ámatim bā́dhamānā brihán mimāya jamádagnidattā | ā́ sū́ryasya duhitā́ tatāna ṣrávo devéshv amrítam ajuryám || 15 ||

॥२२॥ ससर्परीरभरत्तूयमेभ्योऽधि श्रवः पाञ्चजन्यासु कृष्टिषु ।
सा पक्ष्या३ नव्यमायुर्दधाना यां मे पलस्तिजमदग्नयो ददुः ॥१६॥

sasarparī́r abharat tū́yam ebhyó 'dhi ṣrávaḥ pā́ñcajanyāsu krishṭíshu | sá pakshyā̀ návyam ā́yur dádhānā yā́m me palastijamadagnáyo dadúḥ || 16 ||

O preceptors, go close to the steed-like vigorous virtuous man, animate him and provoke him to win rich oblation for the illustrious Lord; for the Lord dispels darkness in the east, in the west and in the north. Therefore, let the faithful devotee worship him in choicest places on the earth. 11

I glorify the resplendent Lord by these two,—heaven and earth, and this prayer of one; who is the friend of all, protects the race of illustrious people. Friends of universe sing the glory of the resplendent Lord, the wielder of punitive justice. May he therefore bestow prosperity upon us. 12

O friends of universe, may you favour us with excellent wealth and may our indomitable soul he endowed with divine wisdom. 13

O bounteous Lord, of what avail are the cattle of infidels to you. Neither they yield milk nor do these faithless persons kindle sacred fire. May you bring wealth of these unbelievers to us and give us possessions of people of low mortality and crush them. 14

The first-born rays of divine light, manifested by the prime source of universal illumination gliding everywhere and dissipating ignorance issue forth like the Dawn, daughter of the sun, and diffuse ambrosial imperishable food amongst Nature's bounties. 15

May she, gliding everywhere, quickly bring us food suited to all the five classes of men; may she, the daughter of the sun appraised by the grey haired men of experience be the bestower of new life. 16

स्थि॒रौ गावौ॑ भवतां वी॒ळुरक्षो॒ मेषा वि व॑र्हि॒ मा यु॒गं वि शा॑रि ।
इन्द्रः॑ पात॒ल्ये॑ ददतां॒ शरी॑तो॒ररि॑ष्टनेमे अ॒भि नः॑ सचस्व ॥१७॥
बलं॑ धेहि त॒नूषु॑ नो॒ बल॑मिन्द्रान॒ळुत्सु॑ नः ।
बलं॑ तो॒काय॒ तन॑याय जी॒वसे॒ त्वं हि ब॑ल॒दा असि॑ ॥१८॥
अ॒भि व्य॑यस्व खदि॒रस्य॒ सार॒मोजो॑ धेहि स्पन्द॒ने शिं॒शपा॑याम् ।
अक्ष॑ वीळो वीळित वी॒ळय॑स्व॒ मा यामा॑द॒स्मादव॑ जीहिपो नः ॥१९॥
अ॒यम॒स्मान्वन॒स्पति॒र्मा च॒ हा मा च॑ रीरिषत् । स्व॒स्त्या गृ॒हेभ्य॒ आव॒सा आ वि॒मोच॑नात् ॥२०॥

sthiraú gā́vau bhavatāṃ vīḷúr áksho méshā́ ví varhi mā́ yugáṃ ví ṣāri | índraḥ pātalyè dadatāṃ ṣárītor árishṭaneme abhí naḥ sacasva || 17 || bálaṃ dhehi tanū́shu no bálam indrānaḷútsu naḥ | bálaṃ tokā́ya tánayāya jīvā́se tvā́ṃ hí baladā́ ási || 18 || abhí vyayasva khadirásya sā́ram ójo dhehi spandané ṣiṅ-ṣápāyām | áksha vīḷo vīḷita vīḷáyasva mā́ yā́mād asmā́d áva jīhipo naḥ || 19 || ayám asmā́n vánaspátir mā́ ca hā́ mā́ ca rīrishat | svasty ā́ grihébhya ā́vasā́ ā́ vimócanāt || 20 ||

॥२३॥ इन्द्रो॒तिभि॑र्बहु॒लाभि॑र्नो अ॒द्य या॑च्छ्रे॒ष्ठाभि॑र्मघवञ्छूर जिन्व ।
यो नो॒ द्वेष्ट्यध॑रः॒ सस्प॑दीष्ट॒ यमु॑ द्वि॒ष्मस्तमु॑ प्रा॒णो ज॑हातु ॥२१॥
प॒र॒शुं चि॒द्वि त॑पति शिम्ब॒लं चि॒द्वि वृ॑श्चति ।
उ॒खा चि॑दिन्द्र॒ येष॑न्ती॒ प्रय॑स्ता॒ फेन॑मस्यति ॥२२॥

índrotíbhir bahulā́bhir no adyá yācchreshṭhā́bhir maghavañ chūra jinva | yó no dvéshṭy ádharaḥ sás padīshṭa yám u dvishmás tám u prāṇó jahātu || 21 || paraṣúṃ cid ví tapati ṣimbaláṃ cid ví vriṣcati | ukhā́ cid indra yéshantī práyastā phénam asyati || 22 ||

May the horse-like rays be steady, the axle strong, the pole faultless, the yoke not rotten; may the resplendent sun preserve the two yoke-pins from decay. May the cosmic chariot of the sun with uninjured fellies, be ready for us. 17

Give strength, O radiant sun, to our bodies; give strength to our sons and grandsons; that they may live long; for you are giver of strength. 18

May you fix firmly the hard position of the Khadir timber, and give solidity to the floor of the car with the teak wood. May the strong axle, fixed by us, be strong. May you throw us not from the chariot of universe whereon we travel. 19

May this Lord of the universe never desert us, nor do us harm. May we travel prosperously towards home till the end of our journey, and then alone the horses be unharnessed. 20

O resplendent Lord, brave and opulent, protect us this day against our foes with many and excellent defences; may the vile wretch who hates us fall before us; may the breath of life depart from him whom we hate. 21

As the tree suffers pain from the axe, as the Simbala flower is easily cut off, as the damaged large boiling vessel leaking scatters foam, so may my enemy perish. 22

न सायकस्य चिकिते जनासो लोधं नयन्ति पशु मन्यमानाः ।
नावाजिनं वाजिना हासयन्ति न गर्दभं पुरो अश्वान्नयन्ति ॥२३॥
इम इन्द्र भरतस्य पुत्रा अपपित्वं चिकितुर्न प्रपित्वम् ।
हिन्वन्त्यश्वमरणं न नित्यं ज्यावाजं परि णयन्त्याजौ ॥२४॥

ná sáyakasya cikite janāso lodhám nayanti páṣu mányamānāḥ | návājinaṃ vājínā hāsayanti ná gardabhám puró áṣvān nayanti || 23 || imá indra bharatásya putrá apapitváṃ cikitur ná prapitvám | hinvánty áṣvam áraṇaṃ ná nítyaṃ jyávājam pári ṇayanty ājaú || 24 ||

(५४) चतुष्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-२२) द्वाविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रो वाच्यो वा प्रजापतिर्ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥

इमं महे विदथ्याय शूषं शश्वत्कृत्व ईड्याय प्र जभ्रुः ।
शृणोतु नो दम्येभिरनीकैः शृणोत्वग्निर्दिव्यैरजस्रः ॥१॥
महि महे दिवे अर्चा पृथिव्यै कामो म इच्छञ्चरति प्रजानन् ।
ययोर्ह स्तोमे विदथेषु देवाः सपर्यवो मादयन्ते सचायोः ॥२॥

54.

Imám mahé vidathyàya ṣūsháṃ ṣáṣvat krítva ídyaya prá jabhruḥ | ṣriṇótu no dámyebhir ánīkaiḥ ṣriṇótv agnír divyaír ájasraḥ || 1 || máhi mahé divé arcā prithivyaí kámo ma icháñ carati prajānán | yáyor ha stóme vidátheshu deváḥ saparyávo madáyante sácāyóḥ || 2 ||

Brave men do not care for the arrow. They carry away the greedy enemy regarding him to be a mere animal. The wise condescend not to turn the foolish into ridicule; they do not lead the ass before the horse. 23

O resplendent Lord, these sons of the patrons understand severance and not the alliance with the enemies. They urge their horses against them as against a constant foe; they bear a stout bow for their destruction in battle. 24

54

They recite repeatedly the gratifying praise to the great fire-divine manifested during the cosmic sacrifice. May he, who is endowed with his own radiance, hear us. May the imperishable fire-divine, endowed with divine radiance, hear us. 1

Knowing their greatness, offer compliments to the vast heaven and to the earth. May my eagerness to felicitate heaven and earth reach them, in whose praise the revered learned people along with their associates in the assemblies, rejoice with a desire of adoration. 2

युवोर्ऋतं रोदसी सत्यमस्तु महे षु णः सुविताय प्र भूतम् ।
इदं दिवे नमो अग्ने पृथिव्यै सपर्यामि प्रयसा यामि रत्नम् ॥३॥
उतो हि वां पूर्व्या आविविद्र ऋतावरी रोदसी सत्यवाचः ।
नरश्चिद्वां समिथे शूरसातौ ववन्दिरे पृथिवि वेविदानाः ॥४॥
को अद्धा वेद क इह प्र वोचद्देवाँ अच्छा पथ्या३ का समेति ।
ददृश्र एषामवमा सदांसि परेषु या गुह्येषु व्रतेषु ॥५॥

yuvór ṛitám rodasī satyám astu mahé shú naḥ suvitáya prá bhūtam | idám divé námo agne pṛithivyaí saparyāmi práyasā yāmi rátnam || 3 || utó hí vām pūrvyā́ āvividrá ṛítavarī rodasī satyavā́caḥ | náraṣ cid vam samithé ṣū́rasātau vavandiré pṛithivi vévidānāḥ || 4 || kó addhā́ veda ká ihá prá vocad devā́ñ ácha pathyā̀ kā́ sám eti | dádṛiṣra eshām avamā́ sádāṅsi páreshu yā́ gúhyeshu vratéshu || 5 ||

॥२५॥ कविर्नृचक्षा अभि षीमचष्ट ऋतस्य योना विघृते मदन्ती ।
नाना चक्राते सदनं यथा वेः समानेन क्रतुना संविदाने ॥६॥
समान्या वियुते दूरेअन्ते ध्रुवे पदे तस्थतुर्जागरूके ।
उत स्वसारा युवती भवन्ती आदु ब्रुवाते मिथुनानि नाम ॥७॥
विश्वेदेते जनिमा सं विविक्तो महो देवान्बिभ्रती न व्यथेते ।
एजद्ध्रुवं पत्यते विश्वमेकं चरत्पतत्रि विषुणं वि जातम् ॥८॥

kavír nṛicákshā abhí shīm acashṭa ṛitásya yónā víghṛite mádantī | nánā cakrāte sádanaṃ yátha veḥ samanéna krátunā saṃvidāné || 6 || samānyā́ víyute dūréante dhruvé padé tasthatur jāgarū́ke | utá svásarā yuvatí bhavantī ā́d u bruvāte mithunáni nā́ma || 7 || víṣvéd eté jánima sáṃ vivikto mahó devā́n bíbhratī ná vyathete | éjad dhruvám patyate víṣvam ékaṃ cárat patatrí víshuṇaṃ ví jātám || 8 ||

Heaven and earth, your laws are ever inviolable. Be propitious to us for the due completion of our benevolent deeds. This adoration is offered to heaven and earth. I adore them with complete dedication. I solicit of them all kinds of precious wealth. 3

O earth and heaven, the sustainer of truth, the ancient preceptors declares of truth have always obtained from them whatever worldy riches they wanted from you. And O earth, men, cognizant of your greatness, pay tributes to you for the sake of gaining victory over the hostile people in the battle. 4

We know what is the truth or who may here declare it ? What is the proper path that leads to the divine forces ? Only their inferior abiding places are perceived, not those which are situated in superior mysterious locations. 5

The far-seeing beholder of mankind (the sun or the Supreme Self), surveys this heaven and earth, rejoicing when deficient in moisture in the womb of the eternal orderliness both concurring in community of function, although they occupy different dwellings like the diversified nests of a bird. 6

Common in function, disjoined, of distant termination, they both remain vigilant in a permanent station; being, as it were, a pair of sisters, and ever young, they therefore address each other by twin appellations. [Dual appellations like urvi and rodasi meaning heaven and earth]. 7

These two keep all born things discrete, and, although comprehending Nature's great bounties, are not distressed: all moving and stationary beings rest upon one base, whether animals, or birds, or creatures of various kinds. 8

सना॑ पुरा॒णमध्ये॑म्या॒रान्म॒हः पि॒तुर्ज॑नि॒तुर्जा॒मि तन्नः॑ ।
दे॒वासो॒ यत्र॑ पनि॒तार॒ एवै॑रु॒रौ प॒थि व्यु॑ते त॒स्थुर॒न्तः ॥९॥
इ॒मं स्तोमं॑ रोदसी॒ प्र ब्र॑वीम्यृदू॒दराः॑ शृणवन्नग्निजि॒ह्वाः ।
मि॒त्रः स॒म्राजो॒ वरु॑णो॒ युवा॑न आ॒दि॒त्यासः॑ क॒वयः॑ पप्रथा॒नाः ॥१०॥

sánā

purāṇám ádhy emy ārā́n maháḥ pitúr janitúr jāmí tán naḥ | devā́so yátra panitā́ra évair uraú pathí vyùte tasthúr antáḥ || 9 || imám stómam rodasī prá bravīmy ṛidūdárāḥ ṣriṇavann agnijihvā́ḥ | mitráḥ samrā́jo váruṇo yúvāna ādityā́saḥ kaváyaḥ paprathānā́ḥ || 10 ||

॥२६॥ हिर॑ण्यपाणिः सवि॒ता सु॒जि॒ह्वस्त्रिरा दि॒वो वि॒दथे॒ पत्य॑मानः ।
दे॒वेषु॑ च सवितः॒ श्लोक॒मश्रे॒राद॒स्मभ्य॒मा सु॑व स॒र्वता॑तिम् ॥११॥
सु॒कृत्सु॑पा॒णिः स्ववाँ॑ ऋ॒तावा॑ दे॒वस्त्वष्टाव॑से॒ तानि॑ नो धात् ।
पू॒षण्व॑न्त ऋभवो मादयध्वमू॒र्ध्वग्रा॑वाणो अध्व॒रम॑तष्ट ॥१२॥
वि॒द्युद्र॑था म॒रुत॑ ऋष्टि॒मन्तो॑ दि॒वो मर्या॑ ऋ॒तजा॑ता अ॒यासः॑ ।
सर॑स्वती शृणवन्य॒ज्ञिया॑सो॒ धाता॑ र॒यिं स॒हवी॑रं तु॒रासः॑ ॥१३॥
विष्णुं॒ स्तोमा॑सः पुरुद॒स्मम॒र्का भग॑स्येव का॒रिणो॒ याम॑नि ग्मन् ।
उ॒रु॒क्र॒मः क॑कु॒हो यस्य॑ पू॒र्वीर्न म॑र्धन्ति यु॒वत॑यो॒ जनि॑त्रीः ॥१४॥

híraṇyapāṇiḥ savitā́ sujihvás trír ā́ divó vidáthe pátyamānaḥ | devéshu ca savitaḥ ṣlókam áṣrer ā́d asmábhyam ā́ suva sarvátātim || 11 || sukṛít supāṇíḥ svávāñ ṛitā́vā devás tváshṭā́vase tā́ni no dhāt | pūshaṇvánta ṛibhavo mādayadhvam ūrdhvágrāvāṇo adhvarám atashṭa || 12 || vidyúdrathā marúta ṛishṭimánto divó máryā ṛitájātā ayā́saḥ | sárasvatī ṣriṇavan yajñíyaso dhā́tā rayím sahávīram turā́saḥ || 13 || víshṇum stómāsaḥ purudasmám arkā́ bhágasyeva kāríṇo yā́mani gman | urukramáḥ kakuhó yásya pūrvír ná mardhanti yuvatáyo jánitrīḥ || 14 ||

I consider at present the eternal and ancient sisterhood to us of yours, our great protectress and progenitrix, within whose vast and separated path your eulogists, the natural forces, travel in their chariots. 9

I repeat this hymn, heaven and earth, to you; and may the disherated and brilliantly eloquent friends, royal and virtuous people dealing with law and order, and enlightened learned youths, most wise and renowned, hear it. 10

The divine light of cosmic intelligence, which has golden radiance and sweet voice, descends from heaven to inspirers thrice at our assemblies. May you accept, O divine light, the praise recited by the eulogers and thereupon fulfil all our aspirations. 11

May the divine architect of creation, the able artificer, the dextrous handed, the possessor of wisdom, the observer of truth, bestow upon us those things which are necessary for our preservation: wise sages, associated with vital elements, make us joyful, as the priests, with their recitations at high pitch, offer devotion. 12

May the cloud-bearing, rapidly-moving winds armed with spear-like lightning, dispellers of obstructive forces, showerers of rain, restless and praiseworthy and accompanied by the divine speech, hear my praise. May you, swift and liberal divine winds bestow upon us prosperity and long life. 13

May our praises and prayers, the causes of good fortune, attain at this worship all-pervading God whose love is the target of all sorts of work and worship: He traverses all regions as if with His big strides. The many blended regions of space, the twin mother of all beings, never disobey His commands. 14

इन्द्रो विश्वैर्वीर्यैः३ पत्यमान उभे आ पप्रौ रोदसी महित्वा ।
पुरंदरो वृत्रहा धृष्णुषेणः संगृभ्या न आ भरा भूरि पश्वः ॥१५॥

índro víṣvair vīryaìḥ pátyamāna ubhé á paprau ródasī mahitvā́ | puraṃdaró vṛitrahā́ dhṛishṇúshenaḥ saṃgṛíbhyā na ā́ bharā bhū́ri paṣváḥ || 15 ||

॥२७॥ नासत्या मे पितरा बन्धुपृच्छा सजात्यमश्विनोश्चारु नाम ।
युवं हि स्थो रयिदौ नो रयीणां दात्रं रक्षेथे अकवैरदब्धा ॥१६॥
महत्तद्वः कवयश्चारु नाम यद्ध देवा भवथ विश्व इन्द्रे ।
सख ऋभुभिः पुरुहूत प्रियेभिरिमां धियं सातये तक्षता नः ॥१७॥
अर्यमा णो अदितिर्यज्ञियासोऽदब्धानि वरुणस्य व्रतानि ।
युयोत नो अनपत्यानि गन्तोः प्रजावान्नः पशुमाँ अस्तु गातुः ॥१८॥
देवानां दूतः पुरुध प्रसूतोऽनागान्नो वोचतु सर्वताता ।
शृणोतु नः पृथिवी द्यौरुतापः सूर्यो नक्षत्रैरुर्व१न्तरिक्षम् ॥१९॥
शृण्वन्तु नो वृषणः पर्वतासो ध्रुवक्षेमास इळया मदन्तः ।
आदित्यैर्नो अदितिः शृणोतु यच्छन्तु नो मरुतः शर्म भद्रम् ॥२०॥

nā́satyā me pitárā bandhupṛíchā sajātyàm aṣvínoṣ cā́ru nā́ma | yuváṃ hí sthó rayidaú no rayīṇā́ṃ dātráṃ rakshethe ákavair ádabdhā || 16 || mahát tád vaḥ kavayaṣ cā́ru nā́ma yád dha devā bhávatha víṣva índre | sákha ṛibhúbhiḥ puruhūta priyébhir imā́ṃ dhíyaṃ sātáye takshata naḥ || 17 || aryamā́ ṇo áditir yajñíyasó 'dabdhāni váruṇasya vratā́ni | yuyóta no anapatyā́ni gántoḥ prajā́van naḥ paṣumā́ñ astu gātúḥ || 18 || devā́nāṃ dūtáḥ purudhá prásūtó 'nāgān no vocatu sarvátātā | ṣṛiṇótu naḥ pṛithiví dyaúr utā́paḥ sū́ryo nákshatrair urv àntárikshaṃ || 19 || ṣṛiṇvántu no vṛíshaṇaḥ párvatāso dhruvákshemāsa íḷayā mádantaḥ | ādityaír no áditiḥ ṣṛiṇotu yáchantu no marútaḥ ṣárma bhadrám || 20 ||

Resplendent sun, invested with all energies, fills both heaven and earth with his greatness: may he, the destroyer of all strongholds of darkness, the dispeller of evils, the leader of victorious forces, gather cattle and bestow them abundantly upon us. 15

O divine pair of twin powers, you are our protectors, vigilant well-wishers of your dear devotees, possessor of your beautiful well-known forms. May you be the liberal donor of riches to us. May you, O irresistible pair of twin divines, protect the presenter of the offerings, with unfailing means. 16

O wise twin divines, great and glorious is your fame which you acquire working under the command of our resplendent Lord. May you; loving Lord, invoked by us, accompanied by wise sages, help us in shaping this euloger for our benefit. 17

May the ordainer, indivisible and adorable God and the unimpeded function of cosmic order protect us. Keep us away from following the path which may be unpropitious to children and may our homes have abundance of progeny and cattle. 18

May the fire divine, the messenger of Nature's bounties manifested in various forms, guide us everywhere along sinless paths. May the Lord of earth and heaven, the cosmic watery space, the sun and the vast firmament with constellations, listen to our prayers. 19

May the divine showerers of benefits, the divine clouds moving in vast firmament, propitiated by our reverential homage, hear us: may the Lord of eternal luminous regions hear us: may the cloud bearing winds grant us prosperity in abundance. 20

सदा सुगः पितुमाँ अस्तु पन्था मध्वा देवा ओषधीः सं पिपृक्त ।
भगो मे अग्ने सख्ये न मृध्या उद्रायो अश्यां सदनं पुरुक्षोः ॥२१॥
स्वदस्व हव्या समिषो दिदीह्यस्मद्र्य१क्सं मिमीहि श्रवांसि ।
विश्वाँ अग्ने पृत्सु ताञ्जेषि शत्रूनहा विश्वा सुमना दीदिही नः ॥२२॥

sádā sugáḥ pitumáñ astu pánthā mádhva deva ósha-dhīḥ sám piprikta | bhágo me agne sakhyé ná mṛidhya úd rāyó aşyam sádanam purukshóḥ || 21 || svádasva havyá sám ísho didīhy asmadryàk sám mimīhi şrávāṅsi | víşvan agne pritsú táñ jeshi şátrūn áhā víşva sumána dīdihi naḥ || 22 ||

(५५) पञ्चपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–२२) द्वाविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रो वाच्यो वा प्रजापतिर्ऋषिः ।

विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२८॥ उषसः पूर्वा अध यद्व्यूषुर्महद्वि जज्ञे अक्षरं पदे गोः ।
व्रता देवानामुप नु प्रभूषन्महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१॥
मो षू णो अत्र जुहुरन्त देवा मा पूर्वे अग्ने पितरः पदज्ञाः ।
पुराण्योः सद्मनोः केतुरन्तर्महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥२॥
वि मे पुरुत्रा पतयन्ति कामाः शम्यच्छा दीद्ये पूर्व्याणि ।
समिद्धे अग्नावृतमिद्वदेम महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥३॥

55.

Ushásaḥ púrvā ádha yád vyūshúr mahád ví jajñe akshá-ram padé góḥ | vratá devánām úpa nú prabhúshan mahád devánām asuratvám ékam || 1 || mó shú ṇo átra juhuranta devá má púrve agne pitáraḥ padajñáḥ | purāṇyóḥ sádma-noḥ ketúr antár ma° || 2 || ví me purutrá patayanti kámāḥ şámy áchā dīdye pūrvyáṇi | sámiddhe agnáv ṛitám íd va-dema ma° || 3 ||

May our path ever be easy to tread and comfortable. May Nature's bounties sprinkle the plants with sweet water. Safe is your friendship, O adorable God, may prosperity never diminish and may I live in a luxurious home with riches and ample food. 21

O divine leader, accept our reverential homage and provide for us adequate food. May you measure out the viands before us. May you guide us to overcome all those who are our enemies in conflict. Favourably inclined towards us, may you lighten up our life, day by day, with loving kindness. 22

55

When the preceding dawns appear, the great imperishable light is engendered in the firmament, in the vast expanse of cosmie ocean. Then the worshipper starts his ceremony of presenting homage to Lord through Nature's bounties. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 1

O adorable god, let not the natural forces, at any time do harm to us. Neither the forces responsible for continuation of progeny nor the sun, the manifester of light existing between two eternal regions of the earth and heaven, do any harm to us. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequlled. 2

My desires fly across to many places. And hence, may I at the solemn place recite ancient hymns: when the fire is kindled, verily, we speak the truth. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 3

समानो राजा विभृतः पुरुत्रा शये शयासु प्रयुतो वनानु ।
अन्या वत्सं भरति क्षेति माता महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥४॥
आक्षित्पूर्वास्वपरा अनूरुत्सद्यो जातासु तरुणीष्वन्तः ।
अन्तर्वतीः सुवते अप्रवीता महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥५॥

samānó rā́jā víbhritaḥ purutrā́ śáye śayā́su práyuto vánánu | anyā́ vatsám bhárati kshéti mātā́ ma⁰ || 4 || ākshít pū́rvāsv áparā anūrút sadyó jātā́su tárunīshv antáḥ | antárvatīḥ suvate ápravītā ma⁰ || 5 ||

॥२९॥ शयुः परस्तादध नु द्विमाताबन्धनश्चरति वत्स एकः ।
मित्रस्य ता वरुणस्य व्रतानि महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥६॥
द्विमाता होता विदथेषु सम्राळन्वग्रं चरति क्षेति बुध्नः ।
प्र रण्यानि रण्यवाचो भरन्ते महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥७॥
शूरस्येव युध्यतो अन्तमस्य प्रतीचीनं ददृशे विश्वमायत् ।
अन्तर्मतिश्चरति निष्षिधं गोर्महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥८॥

śayúḥ parástād ádha nú dvimātā́bandhanáś carati vatsá ékaḥ | mitrásya tá várunasya vratáni ma⁰ || 6 || dvimātā́ hótā vidátheshu samrā́ḷ ánv ágraṃ cárati kshéti budhnáḥ | prá ráṇyāni raṇyavā́co bharante ma⁰ || 7 || śū́rasyeva yúdhyato antamásya pratīcī́naṃ dadṛiśe víśvam āyát | antár matíś carati nishshídhaṃ gór ma⁰ || 8 ||

The glory of the universal sovereign is manifest in many directions. It is dormant in the places of repose and extended to the forests. One mother (heaven) nourishes the child; the other earth, gives him a dwelling. For the God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 4

The divine fire existing in the earliest biokingdom and abiding afterwards in the newer ones, enters into the young maiden groups, as soon as they are produced. Unimpregnated they become pregnant and bear fruit. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 5

The child of two mothers lies far away, but in the morning the single infant proceeds unobstructed through the sky; these are the functions of cosmic light and cosmic plasma. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 6

The child of the two mothers, the invoker of Nature's bounties at the places of work and worship, the universal sovereign, proceeds thenceforward in the sky. He is the root of all, and abides in the houses of the pious. The reciters of pleasant words offer him agreeable praises. For God's glory in nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 7

All creatures, approaching too close to his confines, are beheld with their faces turned away, as an enemy flies from a combatant; obvious to all, he penetrates the obstructing clouds for its disbursement. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 8

नि वेवेति पलितो दूत आस्वन्तर्महांश्चरति रोचनेन ।
वपूंषि बिभ्रदभि नो वि चष्टे महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥९॥
विष्णुर्गोपाः परमं पाति पाथः प्रिया धामान्यमृता दधानः ।
अग्निष्टा विश्वा भुवनानि वेद महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१०॥

veveti palitó dūtá āsv antár mahā́ṅs carati rocanéna | vápūṅshi bíbhrad abhí no ví cashṭe ma⁰ || 9 || víshṇur gopā́ḥ paramám pāti pā́thaḥ priyā́ dhā́māny amṛítā dádhānaḥ | agnísh ṭā́ víṣvā bhúvanāni veda ma⁰ || 10 ||

॥२०॥ नाना चक्राते यम्या३ वपूंषि तयोरन्यद्रोचते कृष्णमन्यत् ।
श्यावी च यदरुषी च स्वसारौ महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥११॥
माता च यत्र दुहिता च धेनू सबर्दुघे धापयेते समीची ।
ऋतस्य ते सदसीळे अन्तर्महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१२॥
अन्यस्या वत्सं रिहती मिमाय कया भुवा नि दधे धेनुरूधः ।
ऋतस्य सा पयसापिन्वतेळा महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१३॥
पद्या वस्ते पुरुरूपा वपूंष्यूर्ध्वा तस्थौ त्र्यविं रेरिहाणा ।
ऋतस्य सद्म वि चरामि विद्वान्महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१४॥

nā́nā cakrāte yamyā̀ vápūṅshi táyor anyád rócate kṛishṇám anyát | ṣyā́vī ca yád árushī ca svásārau ma⁰ || 11 || mātā́ ca yátra duhitā́ ca dhenū́ sabardúghe dhāpáyete samīcī́ | ṛitásya té sádasīḷe antár ma⁰ || 12 || anyásyā vatsáṃ rihatī́ mimāya káyā bhuvā́ ní dadhe dhenúr ū́dhaḥ | ṛitásya sā́ páyasāpinvatéḷā ma⁰ || 13 || pádyā vaste pururū́pā vápūṅshy ūrdhvā́ tasthau tryáviṃ rérihāṇā | ṛitásya sádma ví carāmi vidvā́n ma⁰ || 14 ||

In the biokingdom the eternal messenger of Nature's bounties constantly abides. He is majestic and travels with the radiant sun, through the regions of space. Assuming various forms, he looks complacently upon us. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 9

Pervading and protecting all, possessing grateful and immortal radiance, he preserves the supreme path of the rains, for the divine fire is conscious of all these worlds. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 10

The twin pair of day and night adopts various forms: one of them shines brightly, the other is black; twin sisters are they, one black and the other white. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 11

Where the mother and the daughter, two productive milch-kine, unite, they nourish each other. I worship them both in the firmament, the living place of the clouds. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 12

Licking the calf of the other, one of them lewls aloud: the milch-cow offers her udder for the one that is without moisture (the earth), and she, the earth, is refreshed by the milk of the rain. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 13

The earth wears bodies of many forms. Cherishing the sun, the sustainer of all the three regions, the status of earth goes up very high. Having known the abode of truth (the sun), I offer homage to him. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 14

पदे इव निहिते दस्मे अन्तस्तयोरन्यद्गुह्यमाविरन्यत् ।
सध्रीचीना पथ्या३ सा विषूची महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१५॥

padé iva níhite dasmé antás táyor anyád gúhyam āvír anyát | sadhrī́cīnā́ pathyā̀ sā́ víshūcī ma° || 15 ||

॥२१॥ आ धेनवो धुनयन्तामशिश्वीः सबर्दुघाः शशया अप्रदुग्धाः ।
नव्यानव्या युवतयो भवन्तीर्महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१६॥
यदन्यासु वृषभो रोरवीति सो अन्यस्मिन्यूथे नि दधाति रेतः ।
स हि क्षपावान्त्स भगः स राजा महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१७॥
वीरस्य नु स्वश्व्यं जनासः प्र नु वोचाम विदुरस्य देवाः ।
षोळ्हा युक्ताः पञ्चपञ्चा वहन्ति महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१८॥
देवस्त्वष्टा सविता विश्वरूपः पुपोष प्रजाः पुरुधा जजान ।
इमा च विश्वा भुवनान्यस्य महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥१९॥
मही समैरच्चम्वा समीची उभे ते अस्य वसुना न्यृष्टे ।
शृण्वे वीरो विन्दमानो वसूनि महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥२०॥

ā́ dhenávo dhunayantām áśiśvīḥ sabardúghāḥ śaśayā́ ápradugdhāḥ | návyā-navyā yuvatáyo bhávantīr ma° || 16 || yád anyā́su vṛishabhó róravīti só anyásmin yūthé ní dadhāti rétaḥ | sá hí kshápāvān sá bhágaḥ sá rā́jā ma° || 17 || vīrásya nú svā́śvyam janāsaḥ prá nú vocāma vidúr asya devā́ḥ | shoḷhā́ yuktā́ḥ páñca-pañcā́ vahanti ma° || 18 || devás tvā́shṭā savitā́ viśvárūpaḥ puposha prajā́ḥ purudhā́ jajāna | imā́ ca víśvā bhúvanāny asya ma° || 19 || mahī́ sám airac camvā̀ samīcī́ ubhé té asya vásunā nyṛishṭe | śṛiṇvé vīró vindámāno vásūni ma° || 20 ||

As if in two steps, day and night, descend and are placed in the midst between heaven and earth, one hidden, one manifest: the path of both is common and get leads in two directions. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 15

May the milch-kine without their young abiding in the heaven and though unmilked, yet yielding stream of nectar and ever fresh and youthful, be awakened to perform their functions. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 16

When the showerer roars in other regions, he sends down the rain upon different fields, for he is the victor, the auspicious, the sovereign. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 17

May we, devotees proclaim the might of the powerful soul. The learned men know his prowess. Six and five (sense and action organs inclusive of mind) and another five (vital principles) harnessed in his car, convey him. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 18

The divine architect, the impellar of all, the multiform, has begotten and nourished a numerous progeny, since all these worlds belong to Him. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 19

The resplendent Lord has filled the two regions, heaven and earth, united with life force. They both are penetrated by his lustre. May I, the hero procuring riches listen to the divine voice. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 20

इमां च नः पृथिवीं विश्वधाया उप क्षेति हितमित्रो न राजा ।
पुरःसदः शर्मसदो न वीरा महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥२१॥
निष्षिध्वरीस्त ओषधीरुतापो रयिं त इन्द्र पृथिवी बिभर्ति ।
सखायस्ते वामभाजः स्याम महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥२२॥

imám̩ ca nah̩ pr̩ithivím̩ vis̩vádhāyā úpa ksheti hitámitro ná rájā | purah̩sádah̩ s̩armasádo ná vīrá ma⁰ || 21 || nishshídhvarīs ta óshadhīr utápo rayím̩ ta indra pr̩ithiví bibharti | sákhāyas te vāmabhájah̩ syāma ma⁰ || 22 ||

(५६) षट्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रो वाच्यो वा प्रजापतिर्ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ न ता मिनन्ति मायिनो न धीरा व्रता देवानां प्रथमा ध्रुवाणि ।
न रोदसी अद्रुहा वेद्याभिर्न पर्वता निनमे तस्थिवांसः ॥१॥
षड् भाराँ एको अचरन्बिभर्त्यृतं वर्षिष्ठमुप गाव आगुः ।
तिस्रो महीरुपरास्तस्थुरत्या गुहा द्वे निहिते दर्श्येका ॥२॥
त्रिपाजस्यो वृषभो विश्वरूप उत त्र्युधा पुरुध प्रजावान् ।
त्र्यनीकः पत्यते माहिनावान्त्स रेतोधा वृषभः शश्वतीनाम् ॥३॥

56.

Ná tá minanti māyíno ná dhírā vratá devánām prathamá dhruváni | ná ródasī adrúhā vedyábhir ná párvatā ninámé tasthivánsah̩ || 1 || shád̩ bhārán̐ éko ácaran bibharty r̩itám̩ várshishtham úpa gáva águh̩ | tisró mahír úparās tasthur átyā gúhā dvé níhite dárs̩y éká || 2 || tripājasyó vr̩ishabhó vis̩várūpa utá tryudhá purudhá prajávān | tryanīkáh̩ patyate máhināvān sá retodhá vr̩ishabháh̩ s̩ás̩vatīnām || 3 ||

The resplendent Lord, the sovereign king, the nourisher of all, abides in the firmament, and yet nearest to this earth like a benevolent friend. In His protection heroes rest in safety. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 21

The plants flourish through your blessing; by your order the waters flow; earth bears her treasures for you. May we, your friends, share these blessings. For God's glory in Nature's bounties is great and unequalled. 22

56

Neither men of worldly wisdom nor men of supreme divine intellect can interrupt our Lord's eternal perpetual laws, nor do the heaven and earth, nor anything innocuous interrupt them, nor the mountains standing on the earth with all their propensities can overrule Nature's laws. 1

One stationary sustains six burthens; the radiations proceed through what is ever true and superb. Three revolving spheres travel swiftly, two are concealed from sight and one is apparent. 2

The triple-breasted, the omniform, the three-uddered, the generator of multiform creation, the possessor of magnitude, followed by three hosts, such a bull advances—vigorous impregnator of the perpetual life. 3

अभीक आसां पदवीरबोध्यादित्यानामह्वे चारु नाम ।
आपश्चिदस्मा अरमन्त देवीः पृथग्व्रजन्तीः परि षीमवृञ्जन् ॥४॥
त्री षधस्था सिन्धवस्त्रिः कवीनामुत त्रिमाता विदथेषु सम्राट् ।
ऋतावरीर्योषणास्तिस्रो अप्यास्त्रिरा दिवो विदथे पत्यमानाः ॥५॥

abhíka āsām padavír abodhy ādityánām ahve cáru nắma | ắpaṣ cid asmā aramanta devíḥ príthag vrájantīḥ pári shīm avriñjan || 4 || trí shadhásthā sindhavas tríḥ kavīnắm utá trimātắ vidátheshu samrắṭ | ritắvarīr yóshaṇās tisró ápyās trír ắ divó vidáthe pátyamānāḥ || 5 ||

त्रिरा दिवः सवितर्वार्याणि दिवेदिव आ सुव त्रिर्नो अह्नः ।
त्रिधातु राय आ सुवा वसूनि भग त्रातर्धिषणे सातये धाः ॥६॥
त्रिरा दिवः सविता सोषवीति राजाना मित्रावरुणा सुपाणी ।
आपश्चिदस्य रोदसी चिदुर्वी रत्नं भिक्षन्त सवितुः सवाय ॥७॥
त्रिरुत्तमा दूणशा रोचनानि त्रयो राजन्त्यसुरस्य वीराः ।
ऋतावान इषिरा दूळभासस्त्रिरा दिवो विदथे सन्तु देवाः ॥८॥

trír ắ diváḥ savitar váryāṇi divé-diva ắ suva trír no áhnaḥ | tridhátu rāyá ắ suvā vásūni bhága trātar dhishaṇe sātáye dhāḥ || 6 || trír ắ diváḥ savitá soshavīti rájānā mitrávárunā supāṇí | ắpaṣ cid asya ródasī cid urví rátnam bhikshanta savitúḥ savắya || 7 || trír uttamắ dūṇáṣā rocanáni tráyo rājanty ásurasya vīráḥ | ritávāna ishirá dūḷábhāsas trír ắ divó vidáthe santu deváḥ || 8 ||

The (year, the bull) is awake, with a path in the vicinity of those. I invoke the suns with various beautiful names. The divine waters wandering severally sometimes enclose the solar rays with delightful effects and sometimes they move away from it. 4

O flowing waters, you dwell in three places and three types of Nature's bounties are associated with you. The mother of the three worlds is the sovereign force in cosmic creation. Three females of water, charged with rains, descend from heaven thrice to partake in the solemnity. 5

O divine conscious light, descend from celestial region, may you bestow upon us blessings thrice every day. The gracious sun, the saviour, may you grant us, thrice a day, riches of three elements. May heaven and earth enable us to acquire spiritual and material wealth. 6

May divine conscious light bestow upon us wealth at the three periods of the day, and may cosmic light and cosmic plasma, possessor of glorious and benevolent attributes and may the waters, the vast heaven and earth, solicit precious things from the bounteous, divine light. 7

Three are the excellent impregnable bright realms, three scions of the powerful (sun or year) are shining which are ever true, quick moving, of rare radiance: may the divine powers be present thrice to contribute to the performance of our sacred duties. 8

(५७) सप्तपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२॥ प्र मे विविक्वाँ अविदन्मनीषां धेनुं चरन्तीं प्रयुतामगोपाम् ।
सद्यश्चिद्या दुदुहे भूरि धासेरिन्द्रस्तदग्निः पनितारो अस्याः ॥१॥
इन्द्रः सु पूषा वृषणा सुहस्ता दिवो न प्रीताः शशयं दुदुह्रे ।
विश्वे यदस्यां रणयन्त देवाः प्र वोऽत्र वसवः सुम्नमश्याम् ॥२॥
या जामयो वृष्ण इच्छन्ति शक्तिं नमस्यन्तीर्जानते गर्भमस्मिन् ।
अच्छा पुत्रं धेनवो वावशाना महश्चरन्ति बिभ्रतं वपूंषि ॥३॥

57.

Prá me vivikvā́n̐ avidan manīshā́ṃ dhenúṃ cárantīm práyutām ágopām | sadyáṣ cid yā́ duduhé bhū́ri dhāsér índras tád agníḥ panitā́ro asyāḥ || 1 || índraḥ sú pūshā́ vṛ́shaṇā suhástā divó ná prītā́ḥ ṣaṣayáṃ duduhre | víṣve yád asyāṃ raṇáyanta devā́ḥ prá vó 'tra vasavaḥ sumnám aṣyām || 2 || yā́ jāmáyo vṛ́shṇa ichánti ṣaktíṃ namasyántīr jānate gárbham asmin | áchā putráṃ dhenávo vāvaṣānā́ maháṣ caranti bíbhrataṃ vápūn̐shi || 3 ||

अच्छा विवक्मि रोदसी सुमेके ग्राव्णो युजानो अध्वरे मनीषा ।
इमा उ ते मनवे भूरिवारा ऊर्ध्वा भवन्ति दर्शता यजत्राः ॥४॥
या ते जिह्वा मधुमती सुमेधा अग्ने देवेषूच्यत उरूची ।
तयेह विश्वाँ अवसे यजत्राना सादय पायया चा मधूनि ॥५॥

áchā vivakmi ródasī suméke grā́vṇo yujānó adhvaré manīshā́ | imā́ u te mánave bhū́rivārā ūrdhvā́ bhavanti darṣatā́ yájatrāḥ || 4 || yā́ te jihvā́ mádhumatī sumedhā́ ágne devéshūcyáta urūcī́ | táyehá víṣvān̐ ávase yájatrān ā́ sādaya pāyáyā cā mádhūni || 5 ||

57

My thought with fine discernment has discovered the milch-cow, who wanders free without a herdsman and straightway pours me food in plenty. And hence celestial and terrestrial bounties are her praisers. 1

Cosmic powers of celestial region and cosmic nourisher, the showerers of benefits, and the delightful pair of twin divines, well-disposed towards us, have milked the clouds reposing in heaven. Wherefore, O universal wealthbestowing divine powers existing close to the place of work and worship, may I derive loving kindness from you. 2

The maidens anxious to lend vigour to the partner, go to him with reverence and recognize the germ within him. The cows desirous to reward come to the presence of the calf, invested with many forms. 3

I glorify with praise the beautiful heaven and earth, making all efforts—physical and mental—to express my devotion at the place of worship and work whilst your graceful, adorable and bliss-bestowing glories mount up for the well-being of mankind. 4

O adorable God, with your spreading flames of glory, sweet, intelligent, renowned among Nature's bounties, may you command all physical forces for our protection and let them partake in the sparkling glory of your creation. 5

या ते अग्ने पर्वतस्येव धारासश्चन्ती पीपयद्देव चित्रा ।
तामस्मभ्यं प्रमतिं जातवेदो वसो रास्व सुमतिं विश्वजन्याम् ॥६॥

yá te agne párvatasyeva dhárásaṣcantī pīpáyad deva citrá | tám asmábhyam prámatiṃ jātavedo váso rásva sumatíṃ viṣvájanyām || 6 ||

(५८) अष्टपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ धेनुः प्रत्नस्य काम्यं दुहानान्तः पुत्रश्चरति दक्षिणायाः ।
आ द्योतनिं वहति शुभ्रयामोषसः स्तोमो अश्विनावजीगः ॥१॥
सुयुग्वहन्ति प्रति वामृतेनोर्ध्वा भवन्ति पितरेव मेधाः ।
जरेथामस्मद्वि पणेर्मनीषां युवोरवश्चकृमा यातमर्वाक् ॥२॥
सुयुग्भिरश्वैः सुवृता रथेन दस्राविमं शृणुतं श्लोकमद्रेः ।
किमङ्ग वां प्रत्यवर्तिं गमिष्ठाहुर्विप्रासो अश्विना पुराजाः ॥३॥
आ मन्येथामा गतं कच्चिदेवैर्विश्वे जनासो अश्विना हवन्ते ।
इमा हि वां गोऋजीका मधूनि प्र मित्रासो न ददुरुस्रो अग्रे ॥४॥

58.

Dhenúḥ pratnásya kámyaṃ dúhānántáḥ putráṣ carati dákshiṇāyāḥ | á dyotaníṃ vahati ṣubhráyāmoshása stómo aṣvínāv ajīgaḥ || 1 || suyúg vahanti práti vām ṛiténordhvá bhavanti pitáreva médhāḥ | járethām asmád ví paṇér manīshám yuvór ávaṣ cakṛimá yātam arvák || 2 || suyúgbhir áṣvaiḥ suvṛítā ráthena dásrāv imám ṣṛiṇutaṃ ṣlókam ádreḥ | kím aṅgá vām práty ávartiṃ gámishṭhāhúr víprāso aṣvinā purājáḥ || 3 || á manyethām á gataṃ kác cid évair víṣve jánāso aṣvínā havante | imá hí vāṃ górijīkā mádhūni prá mitráso ná dadúr usró ágre || 4 ||

O all-knowing adorable God, bestower of comforts, may you extend to us that unmatched benevolence which cherishes us like the showers of rain-cloud;—that kindness which is beneficent for all mankind. 6

58

Bounteous dawn, the milch-cow of eternal times, yields the desired milk, and the son of this dawn (the sun) travels within the firmament, she with the cosmic chariot brings refulgence. The praise of dawns awakens the twin divines (cosmic light and life). 1

(O twin-divines)—the well-yoked horses bear you both in your truth-preserving cosmic chariot; the offerings proceed towards you (as children to their parents): discard from us the disposition of the greedy businessman: we have made ready for you our offering: come to our presence. 2

O twin-divines, light and life, the destroyer of darkness, hear the praise of the worshipper while coming to us, as if, mounted on your well-yoked and well-constructed chariot for have not the sages since eternal times declared you to be most ready to come to the aid of the destitute? 3

O twins, light and life, if you regard my prayer, come with your swift beams. All men invoke you. To you they offer the sweet loving expressions (milk with sweets) of devotional prayers, as friends offer to friends. The sun has risen high. 4

तिरः पुरू चिदश्विना रजांस्याङ्गूषो वां मघवाना जनेषु ।
एह यातं पथिभिर्देवयानैर्दस्राविमे वां निधयो मधूनाम् ॥५॥

tiráḥ purū́ cid aṣvinā rájāṅsy āṅgūshó vām maghavānā jáneshu | éhá yātam pathíbhir devayā́nair dásrāv imé vāṃ nidháyo mádhūnām
|| 5 ||

॥४॥ पुराणमोकः सख्यं शिवं वां युवोर्नरा द्रविणं जह्नाव्याम् ।
पुनः कृण्वानाः सख्या शिवानि मध्वा मदेम सह नू समानाः ॥६॥
अश्विना वायुना युवं सुदक्षा नियुद्भिश्च सजोषसा युवाना ।
नासत्या तिरोअह्न्यं जुषाणा सोमं पिबतमस्रिधा सुदानू ॥७॥
अश्विना परि वामिषः पुरूचीरीयुर्गीर्भिर्यतमाना अमृध्राः ।
रथो ह वामृतजा अद्रिजूतः परि द्यावापृथिवी याति सद्यः ॥८॥
अश्विना मधुषुत्तमो युवाकुः सोमस्तं पातमा गतं दुरोणे ।
रथो ह वां भूरि वर्पः करिक्रत्सुतावतो निष्कृतमागमिष्ठः ॥९॥ purāṇám ókaḥ sakhyáṃ ṣiváṃ vāṃ yuvór narā dráviṇaṃ jahnávyām | púnaḥ kṛiṇvānā́ḥ sakhyā́ ṣiyā́ni mádhvā

madema sahá nū́ samānā́ḥ || 6 || áṣvinā vāyúnā yuváṃ su-dakshā niyúdbhiṣ ca sajóshasā yuvānā | nā́satyā tiróahnyaṃ jushāṇā́ sómam pibatam asrídhā sudānū || 7 || áṣvinā pári vām íshaḥ purūcī́r īyúr gīrbhír yátamānā ámṛidhrāḥ | rátho ha vām ṛitajā́ ádrijūtaḥ pári dyā́vāpṛithiví yāti sa-dyáḥ || 8 || áṣvinā madhushúttamo yuvā́kuḥ sómas tám pā-tam ā́ gataṃ duroṇé | rátho ha vām bhū́ri várpaḥ kárikrat
sutā́vato nishkṛitám ā́gamishṭhaḥ || 9 ||

Eclipsing by your splendour many regions, O opulent twin-divines, come here. Sincere devotion awaits you amongst men. Come to the place of worship by the paths traversed by Nature's bounties. O destroyers of darkness, you will find ample nectar of spiritual bliss to greet you here. 5

O leaders of sacred ceremonies, your eternal friendship is desirable and auspicious, your treasure is with austere sages. Renewing that auspicious friendship, may we, your associates, delight you with sweet expressions of devotional prayers. 6

O twin-divines, light and life, endowed with strength, ever young, ever true, munificent, acceptors of homage, may you associated with the divine wind and its waves enjoy the nectar of bliss, together with them, offered at the close of day. 7

O twin-divines, light and life, abundant sacred offerings are presented to you, and blameless worshippers salute you with praises. Your water-shedding cosmic chariot, attracted by the virtuous devotees, in a moment compasses earth and heaven. 8

O twin-divines, the most enjoyable sweet expressions of devotional prayers are composed. Come to our homes to cherish. Your cosmic chariot, repeatedly bestowing wealth, is coming to the appointed place of the offerer of homage. 9

(५९) एकोनषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । मित्रो देवता । (१–५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (६–९) षष्ठ्यादिचतसृणाञ्च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

मित्रो जनान्यातयति ब्रुवाणो मित्रो दाधार पृथिवीमुत द्याम् ।
मित्रः कृष्टीरनिमिषाभि चष्टे मित्राय हव्यं घृतवज्जुहोत ॥१॥
प्र स मित्र मर्तो अस्तु प्रयस्वान्यस्त आदित्य शिक्षति व्रतेन ।
न हन्यते न जीयते त्वोतो नैनमंहो अश्नोत्यन्तितो न दूरात् ॥२॥
अनमीवास इळया मदन्तो मितज्ञवो वरिमन्ना पृथिव्याः ।
आदित्यस्य व्रतमुपक्षियन्तो वयं मित्रस्य सुमतौ स्याम ॥३॥
अयं मित्रो नमस्यः सुशेवो राजा सुक्षत्रो अजनिष्ट वेधाः ।
तस्य वयं सुमतौ यज्ञियस्यापि भद्रे सौमनसे स्याम ॥४॥
महाँ आदित्यो नमसोपसद्यो यातयज्जनो गृणते सुशेवः ।
तस्मा एतत्पन्यतमाय जुष्टमग्नौ मित्राय हविरा जुहोत ॥५॥

59.

Mitró jánān yātayati bruvāṇó mitró dādhāra pṛithivím utá dyā́m | mitráḥ krishṭír ánimishābhí cashṭe mitrā́ya havyám ghṛitávaj juhota || 1 || prá sá mitra márto astu práyasvān yás ta āditya ṣíkshati vraténa | ná hanyate ná jīyate tvóto naínam áṅho aṣnoty ántito ná dūrā́t || 2 || anamīvā́sa íḷayā mádanto mitájñavo várimann ā́ pṛithivyā́ḥ | ādityásya vratám upakshiyánto vayám mitrásya sumataú syāma || 3 || ayám mitró namasyàḥ suṣévo rā́jā sukshatró ajanishṭa vedhā́ḥ | tásya vayám — || 4 || mahā́ñ̐ ādityó námasopasádyo yātayájjano gṛiṇaté suṣévaḥ | tásmā etát pányatamāya júshṭam agnaú mitrā́ya havír ā́ juhota || 5 ||

मित्रस्य चर्षणीधृतोऽवो देवस्य सानसि । द्युम्नं चित्रश्रवस्तमम् ॥६॥
अभि यो महिना दिवं मित्रो बभूव सप्रथाः । अभि श्रवोभिः पृथिवीम् ॥७॥

mitrásya carshaṇīdhṛitó 'vo devásya sānasí | dyumnáṃ citráṣravastamam || 6 || abhí yó mahinā́ dívam mitró babhū́va saprátháḥ | abhí ṣrávobhiḥ pṛithivím || 7 ||

59

The self-radiant of Lord illumination when worshipped invigorates men to exertion. He sustain both terrestrial and celestial regions. He looks upon men with ever vigilant eyes. May you offer to Him your devotion extremely loving like butter. 1

O self-radiant Lord of illumination, O eternally infinite, may that man enjoy abundance who abides by your sacred law. Protected by you, he never dies nor decays; he never falls, from near or far, into the pit of sin. 2

May we be exempt from disease and relish abundant food, rambling free over the wide expanse of the earth. May we ever dwell in the sacred law of the eternal infinite and remain in gracious favour of our radiant Lord. 3

The aborable self-radiant Lord of illumination, the benign creator of the universe, has come with sovereignity over all, and with vigour. May we enjoy the grace of Him, the holy, and rest in His propitious loving kindness. 4

The great Lord, eternal and infinite, the inspirer of men to action, is to be approached with reverence. He is the giver of happiness to him who honours this Lord of illumination and offers homage with zeal and reverence. 5

Glorious wealth and enlightenment and splendour of fame and food are the gifts of the eternally divine radiant Lord of illumination, the sustainer of mankind. 6

The glory of radiant Lord of illumination, spreads far and wide. He pervades vast expanse of firmament by His magnitude as well as surpasses the limits of this vast earth by His gifts of food. 7

मित्राय पञ्च येमिरे जना अभिष्टिशवसे । स देवान्विश्वान्बिभर्ति ॥८॥
मित्रो देवेष्वायुषु जनाय वृक्तबर्हिषे । इष इष्टव्रता अकः ॥९॥

mitráya páñca yemire jánā abhíshṭiṣavase | sá devā́n víṣvān bibharti || 8 || mitró devéshv āyúshu jánāya vṛiktábarhishe | ísha ishṭávratā akaḥ || 9 ||

(६०) षष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामृभवः,
(५-७) पञ्चम्यादितृचस्य च ऋभव इन्द्रश्च देवताः । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ इहेह वो मनसा बन्धुता नर उशिजो जग्मुरभि तानि वेदसा ।
याभिर्मायाभिः प्रतिजूतिवर्पसः सौधन्वना यज्ञियं भागमानश ॥१॥
याभिः शचीभिश्चमसाँ अपिंशत यया धिया गामरिणीत चर्मणः ।
येन हरी मनसा निरतक्षत तेन देवत्वमृभवः समानश ॥२॥
इन्द्रस्य सख्यमृभवः समानशुर्मनोर्नपातो अपसो दधन्विरे ।
सौधन्वनासो अमृतत्वमेरिरे विष्ट्वी शमीभिः सुकृतः सुकृत्यया ॥३॥

60.

Ihéha vo mánasā bandhútā nara uṣíjo jagmur abhí tā́ni védasā | yā́bhir māyā́bhiḥ prátijūtivarpasaḥ saúdhanvanā yajñíyam bhāgám ānaṣá || 1 || yā́bhiḥ ṣácībhis camasā́ñ ápiñṣata yáyā dhiyā́ gā́m ánṇīta cármaṇaḥ | yéna hárī mánasā nirátakshata téna devatvám ṛibhavaḥ sám ānaṣa || 2 || índrasya sakhyám ṛibhávaḥ sám ānaṣur mánor nápāto apáso dadhanvire | saudhanvanáso amṛitatvám érire vishṭví ṣámībhiḥ sukṛítaḥ sukṛityáyā || 3 ||

All the five classes of men solicit favour of the radiant Lord of illumination, for He sustains all Nature's bounties. 8

The radiant Lord of illumination is He who amongst Nature's bounties and men bestows food and other blessings as the rewards of their pious acts on men who make the void of their hearts receptive of the divine life. 9

60

O brave wise men, possessor of effective weapons, manifesters of glory by attacking wicked, here is your hearty and sincere comradeship with commonfolk when by skilful means he obtains the deserving rewards of his noble deeds. 1

With those faculties by which you have broken up the clouds of ignorance, with that intelligence with which you have taken the cow out of her skin (i. e. have decorated the past knowledge with the fresh one), with that will by which you have fabricated the two energies—potential and kinetic, with those means, O wise sages, you have attained divinity. 2

The wise sages, the performers of good works, the descendents of the ancestral man, have attained and sustained love of the resplendent Lord. They, the possessors of effective weapons, and credited for noble works, win immortality. 3

इन्द्रे॑ण याथ स॒रथं॑ सु॒ते सचाँ॒ अथो॒ वशा॑नां भवथा स॒ह श्रि॒या ।
न वः॑ प्रति॒मै सु॑कृ॒तानि॑ वाघतः॒ सौध॑न्वना ऋभवो वी॒र्या॑णि च ॥४॥
इन्द्र॑ ऋभु॒भिर्वाज॑वद्भिः॒ समु॑क्षितं सु॒तं सोम॒मा वृ॑षस्वा॒ गभ॑स्त्योः ।
धि॒येषि॒तो म॑घवन्दा॒शुषो॑ गृ॒हे सौ॑धन्व॒नेभिः॑ स॒ह म॑त्स्वा॒ नृभिः॑ ॥५॥
इन्द्र॑ ऋभु॒मान्वाज॑वान्मत्स्वे॒ह नो॒ऽस्मिन्त्सव॑ने॒ शच्या॑ पुरुष्टुत ।
इ॒मानि॒ तुभ्यं॒ स्वस॑राणि येमिरे व्र॒ता दे॒वानां॒ मनु॑षश्च॒ धर्म॑भिः ॥६॥
इन्द्र॑ ऋभु॒भिर्वा॒जिभि॑र्वा॒जय॑न्नि॒ह स्तोमं॑ जरि॒तुरुप॑ याहि य॒ज्ञिय॑म् ।
श॒तं केते॑भिरिषि॒रेभि॑रा॒यवे॑ स॒हस्र॑णीथो अध्व॒रस्य॒ होम॑नि ॥७॥

índreṇa yātha sarátham suté sácāñ átho váṣānām bhavathā sahá ṣriyā́ | ná vaḥ pratimaí sukṛitā́ni vāghataḥ saúdhanvanā ṛibhavo vīryā̀ṇi ca || 4 || índra ṛibhúbhir vā́javadbhiḥ sámukshitam sutám sómam ā́ vṛishasvā gábhastyoḥ | dhiyéshitó maghavan dāṣúsho gṛihé saudhanvanébhiḥ sahá matsvā nṛíbhiḥ || 5 || índra ṛibhumā́n vā́javān matsvehá no 'smín sávane ṣácyā purushṭuta | imā́ni túbhyam svásarāṇi yemire vratā́ devā́nām mánushaṣ ca dhármabhiḥ || 6 || índra ṛibhúbhir vājíbhir vājáyann ihá stómam jaritúr úpa yāhi yajñíyam | ṣatám kétebhir ishirébhir āyáve sahásraṇītho adhvarásya hómani || 7 ||

(६१) एकषष्टितमं सूक्तम्
(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्र ऋषिः । उषा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ उषो॒ वाजे॑न वाजिनि॒ प्रचे॑ताः॒ स्तोमं॑ जुषस्व गृण॒तो म॑घोनि ।
पु॒राणी॑ देवि युव॒तिः पुर॑न्धि॒रनु॑ व्र॒तं च॑रसि विश्ववारे ॥१॥

61.

Úsho vā́jena vājini prácetā stómam jushasva gṛiṇató maghoni | purāṇī́ devi yuvatíḥ púraṃdhir ánu vratám carasi viṣvavāre || 1 ||

O wise sages, sons of glorious ancestors, bestowers of rewards of pious acts, your good deeds and heroic acts are unparalleled. May you come in the company of the resplendent one to the place of work and worship where the sweet expressions of devotional prayers are being offered. Then gloriously your wishes shall be fulfilled. 4

O resplendent leader, along with the resourceful men of wisdom, accept with both hands our loving devotion. Being exhilarated, O bounteous leader, rejoice with the descendents of possessors of effective weapons in the homes of dedicated devotees. 5

O resplendent leader, adored by all, associated with wise sages and strong men, exult, with brilliance at this place of work and worship. These self-revolving days, as well as eternal laws of Nature and human code of conduct look to your guidance. 6

O resplendent leader come here with resourceful men of wisdom, rewarding the singer's holy praise with prosperity. May you with hundreds of prompt responses come to the sacred place of performances, free from violence, and meant for the welfare of mankind, yielding thousands of blessings. 7

61

Affluent dawns—first rays of divine consciousness, giver of sustenance, possessed of intelligence, be propitiated by the praise of him who lauds and worships you with intense devotion. O divine dawns, you are cherished by all, aged, and still young, are the object of manifold worship; and you move as the law ordains. 1

उषो॑ दे॒व्यम॑र्त्या॒ वि भा॑हि च॒न्द्रर॑था सू॒नृता॑ ई॒रय॑न्ती ।
आ त्वा॑ वहन्तु सु॒यमा॑सो॒ अश्वा॒ हिर॑ण्यवर्णां पृथु॒पाज॑सो॒ ये ॥२॥
उष॑: प्रती॒ची भुव॑नानि॒ विश्वो॒र्ध्वा ति॑ष्ठस्य॒मृत॑स्य के॒तुः ।
स॒मा॒नमर्थं॑ चरणी॒यमा॑ना च॒क्रमि॑व नव्य॒स्या व॑वृत्स्व ॥३॥
अव॒ स्यूमे॑व चिन्व॒ती म॒घोन्यु॒षा या॑ति॒ स्वस॑रस्य॒ पत्नी॑ ।
स्व१॒॑र्जन॑न्ती सु॒भगा॑ सु॒दंसा॒ आन्ता॑द्दि॒वः प॑प्रथ॒ आ पृ॑थि॒व्याः ॥४॥ úsho devy ámartyā ví bhāhi candrára-thā sūnṛítā īráyantī | á tvā vahantu suyámāso áṣvā híraṇ-yavarṇām pṛithupájaso yé || 2 || úshaḥ pratīcí bhúvanāni

víṣvordhvá tishṭhasy amṛítasya ketúḥ | samānám árthaṃ
caraṇīyáṃānā cakrám iva navyasy á vavṛitsva || 3 || áva
syúmeva cinvatí maghóny ushá yāti svásarasya pátnī | svàr jánantī subhágā sudáṅsā ántād diváḥ papratha á pṛithivyáḥ || 4 ||

अच्छा॑ वो दे॒वीमु॒षसं॑ विभा॒तीं प्र वो॑ भरध्वं॒ नम॑सा सुवृ॒क्तिम् ।
ऊ॒र्ध्वं म॑धु॒धा दि॒वि पाजो॑ अश्रे॒त्प्र रो॑च॒ना रु॑रुचे र॒ण्वसं॑दृक् ॥५॥
ऋ॒ताव॑री दि॒वो अ॒र्कैर॑बो॒ध्या रे॒वती॒ रोद॑सी चि॒त्रम॑स्थात् ।
आ॒य॒तीम॑ग्न उ॒षसं॑ विभा॒तीं वा॒मम॑षि॒ द्रवि॑णं॒ भिक्ष॑माणः ॥६॥
ऋ॒तस्य॑ बु॒ध्न उ॒षसा॑मिष॒ण्यन्वृषा॑ म॒ही रोद॑सी॒ आ वि॑वेश ।
म॒ही मि॒त्रस्य॒ वरु॑णस्य मा॒या च॒न्द्रेव॑ भा॒नुं वि द॑धे पुरु॒त्रा ॥७॥ áchā vo devím ushásaṃ vibhātím prá vo bha-radhvaṃ námasā suvṛiktím | ūrdhvám madhudhá diví pájo

aṣret prá rocaná ruruce raṇvásaṃdṛik || 5 || ṛitávarī divó
arkaír abodhy á revátī ródasī citrám asthāt | āyatím agna ushásaṃ vibhātíṃ vāmám eshi drávinam bhíkshamāṇaḥ
|| 6 || ṛitásya budhná ushásām ishaṇyán vríshā mahí ródasī á viveṣa | mahí mitrásya várunasya māyá candréva bhā-
núṃ ví dadhe purutrá || 7 ||

Dawns, you are divine and immortal. May you, mounted on a glowing chariot, shine with radiance, with the eternal laws functioning effectively. May your golden-coloured, well-disciplined steeds, rays of light, spreading radiance on all sides bring you here. 2

O dawns, with your rays spreading over all the regions; you stay on high, as if, the ensign of the immortal sun, ever rolling round and round along the same road and repeatedly coming back ever-new. 3

The auspicious opulent dawns, as if, the bride of the far-penetrating sun, throws away the darkness behind like a garment and proceeds. Diffusing her own lustre and promoting the sacred acts, she spreads out her light from the bounds of earth and heaven. 4

Offer with prostrations, due praise to the divine dawns, shining upon you. Bearing sweetness, she manifests her brightness aloft in the sky. Radiant and lovely, she illuminates the regions. 5

The upholder of eternal order, the dawn, is recognized in the sky by her radianee : bearing the richness of light she has taken a marvellous station in earth and heaven. O enlightened worshipper, soliciting splendid riches, may you proceed to the radiant advancing dawns. 6

The showerer (of rain, the sun), urging on the dawn, at the break of the truthful (day) has pervaded the vast heaven and earth; the mighty dawn reflecting the radiance of cosmic light and cosmic plasma spreads her splendour everywhere in different direction. 7

(६२) द्विषष्टितमं सूक्तम
(१–१८) अष्टादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गाथिनो विश्वामित्रः, (१६–१८) षोडश्यादितृचस्य च जमदग्निर्वा ऋषिः ।
(१–३) प्रथमादितृचस्येन्द्रावरुणौ, (४–६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य बृहस्पतिः, (७–९) सप्तम्यादितृचस्य पूषा,
(१०–१२) दशम्यादितृचस्य सविता, (१३–१५) त्रयोदश्यादितृचस्य सोमः, (१६–१८)
षोडश्यादितृचस्य च मित्रावरुणौ देवताः । (१–३) प्रथमतृचस्य त्रिष्टुप्,
(४–१८) चतुर्थ्यादिपञ्चदशर्चाञ्च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥९॥ इमा उ वां भृमयो मन्यमाना युवावते न तुज्या अभूवन् ।
क्व१ त्यदिन्द्रावरुणा यशो वां येन स्मा सिनं भरथः सखिभ्यः ॥१॥
अयमु वां पुरुतमो रयीयञ्छश्वत्तममवसे जोहवीति ।
सजोषाविन्द्रावरुणा मरुद्भिर्दिवा पृथिव्या शृणुतं हवं मे ॥२॥
अस्मे तदिन्द्रावरुणा वसु ष्यादस्मे रयिर्मरुतः सर्ववीरः ।
अस्मान्वरूत्रीः शरणैरवन्त्वस्मान्होत्रा भारती दक्षिणाभिः ॥३॥
बृहस्पते जुषस्व नो हव्यानि विश्वदेव्य । रास्व रत्नानि दाशुषे ॥४॥
शुचिमर्कैर्बृहस्पतिमध्वरेषु नमस्यत । अनाम्योज आ चके ॥५॥

62.

Imā́ u vām bhrimáyo mányamānā yuvā́vate ná tújyā abhūvan | kvà tyád indrāvarunā yáso vām yéna smā sínam bhárathah sákhibhyah || 1 || ayám u vām purutámo rayīyáñ chasvattamám ávase johavīti | sajóshāv indrāvarunā marúdbhir divā́ prithivyā́ srinutam hávam me || 2 || asmé tád indrāvarunā vásu shyād asmé rayír marutah sárvavīrah | asmā́n várūtrīh saranaír avantv asmā́n hótrā bhā́ratī dákshināabhih || 3 || bríhaspate jushásva no havyā́ni visvadevya | rā́sva rátnāni dāsúshe || 4 || súcim arkaír bríhaspátim adhvaréshu namasyata | ánāmy ója ā́ cake || 5 ||

॥१०॥ वृषभं चर्षणीनां विश्वरूपमदाभ्यम् । बृहस्पतिं वरेण्यम् ॥६॥
इयं ते पूषन्नाघृणे सुष्टुतिर्देव नव्यसी । अस्माभिस्तुभ्यं शस्यते ॥७॥

vrishabhám carshanīnā́m visvárūpam ádābhyam | bríhaspátim várenyam || 6 || iyám te pūshann āghrine sushtutír deva návyasī | asmā́bhis túbhyam sasyate || 7 ||

62

O Lord of the two realms of enlightenment and bliss, may these people who are relying upon you, and wandering about in alarm, sustain no injury from a youthful adversary; for where is that reputation you enjoy on account that you bestow sustenance on your friends ? 1

O Lord of the two realms of enlightenment and bliss, the devotee most diligent in pious rites and desirous of wealth, incessantly invokes you for protection. May you hear my invocation and come accompanied by vital principles along with the bounties on earth and sky. 2

May you grant us, O lord of the two realms of enlightenment and bliss, such wealth as we covet. May you grant us, O vital principles, prosperity and progeny. May Nature's delightful bounties give us comfortable homes. May the faculties of art and culture enrich us with gifts. 3

O Supreme Lord, full of all divine virtues, accept our homage and grant precious treasures to the offerer. 4.

May you pay your respectful regards to the pious and supreme Lord with hymns at the sacred gatherings, I solicit of him that power that none may bend. 5

Honour to the supreme Lord, the showerer of benefits on men, possessor of many forms, irreproachable and most excellent. 6

O Lord-nourisher, the resplendent, we recite this fresh and new laudation to you. 7

तां जुषस्व गिरं मम वाजयन्तीमवा धियम् । वधूयुरिव योषणाम् ॥८॥
यो विश्वाभि विपश्यति भुवना सं च पश्यति । स नः पूषाविता भुवत् ॥९॥
तत्सवितुर्वरेण्यं भर्गो देवस्य धीमहि । धियो यो नः प्रचोदयात् ॥१०॥

tám jushasva gíram máma vājayántīm avā dhíyam | vadhūyúr iva yóshaṇām || 8 || yó víṣvābhí vipáṣyati bhúvanā sáṃ ca páṣyati | sá naḥ pūshávitā́ bhuvat || 9 || tát savitúr váreṇyaṃ bhárgo devásya dhīmahi | dhíyo yó naḥ pracodáyāt || 10 ||

॥२॥ देवस्य सवितुर्वयं वाजयन्तः पुरंध्या । भगस्य रातिमीमहे ॥११॥
देवं नरः सवितारं विप्रा यज्ञैः सुवृक्तिभिः । नमस्यन्ति धियेषिताः ॥१२॥
सोमो जिगाति गातुविद्देवानामेति निष्कृतम् । ऋतस्य योनिमासदम् ॥१३॥
सोमो अस्मभ्यं द्विपदे चतुष्पदे च पशवे । अनमीवा इषस्करत् ॥१४॥
अस्माकमायुर्वर्धयन्नभिमातीः सहमानः । सोमः सधस्थमासदत् ॥१५॥
आ नो मित्रावरुणा घृतैर्गव्यूतिमुक्षतम् । मध्वा रजांसि सुक्रतू ॥१६॥
उरुशंसा नमोवृधा मह्ना दक्षस्य राजथः । द्राघिष्ठाभिः शुचिव्रता ॥१७॥
गृणाना जमदग्निना योनावृतस्य सीदतम् । पातं सोममृतावृधा ॥१८॥

devásya savitúr vayáṃ vājayántaḥ púraṃdhyā | bhágasya rātím īmahe || 11 || deváṃ náraḥ savitā́raṃ víprā yajñaíḥ suvṛiktíbhiḥ | namasyánti dhiyéshitā́ḥ || 12 || sómo jigāti gātuvíd devā́nām eti nishkṛitám | ṛitásya yónim āsádam || 13 || sómo asmábhyaṃ dvipáde cátushpade ca paṣáve | anamīvā́ íshas karat || 14 || asmā́kam ā́yur vardháyann abhímātīḥ sáhamānaḥ | sómaḥ sadhástham ā́sadat || 15 || ā́ no mitrāvaruṇā ghṛitaír gávyūtim ukshatam | mádhvā rájāṅsi sukratū || 16 || uruṣáṅsā namovṛídhā mahnā́ dákshasya rājathaḥ | drā́ghishṭhābhiḥ ṣucivratā || 17 || gṛiṇānā́ jamádagninā yónāv ṛitásya sīdatam | pātáṃ sómam ṛitāvṛidhā || 18 ||

May you be pleased with this praise and be gracious to the earnest thoughts as a devoted bridegroom to his bride. 8

May that provider of food, who sees all the worlds and sees them together at a glance, be our protector. 9

May we imbibe in ourselves the choicest effulgence, of the divine Creator, that he evokes our intellects. 10

Desirous of wealth and wisdom, with earnest understanding, we solicit of the divine creator the gift of affluence. 11

Devout and wise men, urged by the impulses of thoughts, adore the divine creator with dedicated actions and devotional songs. 12

The stream of bliss knowing the right path proceeds to the central seat of divine faculties, the source of truth. 13

May that stream of bliss grant to us and to our biped and quadruped animals, wholesome food. 14

May that stream of bliss, prolonging our lives and overcoming our adversaries, stay at our place of worship. 15

May our Lord, friend and venerable, the performer of good works furnish our cow-stalls with butter and sprinkle worlds with sweetness. 16

The performer of benevolent works, glorified by all, exalted by adoration and celebrated by prolonged praises, may you reign through your majestic might. 17

O the one, exalted by truth, glorified by praises, may you be seated at the altar of truth and enjoy elixir of bliss. 18

NOTES

Book II : Hymns 1—43

Book III : Hymns 1—62

द्वितीयं मण्डलम् : सूक्तानि १—४३

तृतीयं मण्डलम् : सूक्तानि १—६२

NOTES ON BOOK II

Hymn-1

For verse 1, see Nir. VI.I

1. The Nirukta explains the passages thus: O Agni, burning quickly with thy flames, thou art born with bright days. The words asu (आशु) and su (शु) are two synonyms of quick (क्षिप्रनामनी). Ksani (क्षणि), the latter part of (आशु-शु-क्षणि) is derived from √क्षण्, to injure: it quickly injures (or flares up), or procures (सनोति) with its flames Suk (शुक्) is derived from √शुन्, to shine. Or the nominative has been used for the oblative ; this is shown by the context. The former part of आ-शुशुक्षणि, i.e., the letter आ is a preposition, the latter is formed from the desiderative of the causative of √शुच् ; i.e., desirous of kindling quickly. suci (शुचि), glowing, is derived from √शुच्, meaning to glow. The other meaning of suci (pure) is derived from the same root also. "Sin is removed from him",—say the etymologists.

The verse, when applied to the man-discovered fire (agni) means: thou art born, glowing with bright days, from the waters, from within the flintstones (अश्मनः), from the forest trees and the herbs; when spoken of our creator, the Lord, it speaks of the divine glory in mountains, oceans, and forests.

2. The eight words used in this verse hotaram, potaram, ṛtvijam, nestram. prasastram, adhvariyasi, brahma, and gṛhapati, in the ecclesiastical period became eight out of the sixteen priests involved at solemn ceremonies. The sixteen priests enumerated by Kulluka Bhatta in his commentary on Manu VIII.210 are: Group I-hotṛ, adhvaryu, udgatṛ and brahman,—each getting a daksina of twelve cows; Group II—maitravaruna, pratistotṛ, brahmanacchamsi and prastotṛ, each getting a daksina of six cows each; Group III—acchavaka, nestṛ, agnidhra, and pratihartṛ, each getting four cows; Group IV—gravastut, netṛ, potṛ and subrahmanya, each getting three cows; thus in all, sharing one hundred cows.

Hotaram—हूयते दीयते यस्मिंस्तत् (Daya.); होतुः कर्म शस्त्रयाज्यादि लक्षणं यदस्ति तदपि (Sayana).

Ṛtvijam—the karma or duty of a ṛtvik (Daya.), प्राप्तकालमार्त्विज्यं तवैव (Sayana).

Potaram—the sacred, पवित्रम् (Daya.) ; the duty of pota (Sayana).

Nestram—the act of conveying, नयनम् (Daya.) ; the duty of a nesta.

Agnit, the agnidhra (आग्नीध्रश्च—Sayana) ; the one who arouses fire (पावक प्रदीप्तकरः—Daya.).

Prasastram, the duty of maitravaruna (Sayana) ; the general management (प्रशासनम्—Daya.).

Adhvariyasi, the function of one who takes care that injury is done to none (आत्मनोऽध्वरमहिंसामिच्छसि—Daya., also see Nir. I.8 for adhvara—अध्वर्युरध्वरयुः । अध्वरं युनक्ति । ··· अध्वर इति यज्ञनाम । ध्वरतिर्हिंसाकर्म । तत्प्रतिषेधः ।)

Adhvara is a sacrifice, unstinted by an act of injury or violence.

Brahma, also brahmanacchamsi (ब्राह्मणाच्छंसि)—Sayana ; the knower of all the four Vedas (Daya.).

Gṛhapati—the one who performs the duties of a householder (Daya.).

According to Kumarila Bhatta, the sixteen priests are :

(1) अध्वर्यु, प्रतिप्रस्थाता, नेष्टा, उन्नेता ;

(2) ब्रह्मा, ब्राह्मणाच्छंसि, अग्नीध्र, पोता ;

(3) उद्गाता, प्रस्तोता, प्रतिहर्ता, सुब्रह्मण्या ;

(4) होता, मैत्रावरुण, अच्छावाक्, ग्रावष्टुत् ।

6. Asurah, like a cloud (Daya.) ; the expeller of enemies, शत्रूणां निरसिता—Sayana. We have rendered it as inspirer of vital winds (asura=prana); asuh (असुः) is strength also.

11. Ilā satahima—Ila of one hundred winters ; ilā is one worthy of adoration (स्तोतुमर्हा—Daya.) ; ilā=earth (Sayana).

Vṛtraha, destroyer of sins (Sayana); destroyer of clouds, i.e. the sun (Daya.).

14. Corn and grain ripen through the heat of the sun or the fire, and in this sense, the terrestrial fire is also simultaneously invoked in this verse.

Hymn-2

The hymn describes fire or energy as is terrestrially present, and by and by, the description merges into the one, which we may aptly call the cosmic energy, or the Fire-Divine, which more or less is the manifestation of our adorable Lord's tapas, fervour or austerity. The hymn raises the level of the household fire to the ceremonial fire, and thence to the terrestrial and cosmic fires, to the lustre in dawns and in the sun and finally it takes us to Agni, the adorable Lord. This trend of description is universally found in the Ṛgvedic verses.

3. Budhne rajasah, at the root of the world—रजसः रंजनात्मकस्य लोकस्य, बुध्ने मूले—Sayana; Dayananda translates budhne as 'in the mid-space', अन्तरिक्षे and rajasah as in the middle of the world (लोकस्य मध्ये).

4. Candram-iva, like gold; when in neuter, the word candram in Veda means gold (not the moon)—Daya. and Sayana (Nigh. I.2).

8. Raja visam, king of the peoples; master of the visas or people.

10. Panca Kṛstisu, five types of men; kṛsti=culture; according to Aupamanyava and Sayana, people of four varnas and the Nisadas (निषाद).

The Nirukta (III.8) refers to पंचजना मम होत्रं जुषध्वम् (Ṛv. X.53.4); the five tribes are Gandharvas, Pitarah, Devah, Asurah and Raksasas; also Ṛv. VIII. 63.7.

Hymn-3

According to tradition, the devata of the hymn are the Apris, but Dayananda gives Agni as the devata. For the Apri Sukta (आप्रीसूक्त), see I.13; I.142 and I.188.

Agni as personified is described as the Apris. The hymn I.142 is somewhat identical with I.43, with a difference due to change in metre (Gayatri to Anustup) ; the metre of the present hymn is Tristup (and in one verse Jagati).

2. Narasamsah, नराशंस:, worthy of adoration by men; another personification of Agni, the adorable. Tanunpat, the second personification of Agni is omitted in this hymn. The twelve personifications of Agni are, as in I.13—(1) समिद्ध: अग्नि:, (2) तनूनपात (3) नराशंस: (4) इळ: (5) बर्हि:, (6) देवी: द्वार: (7) उषासानक्ता (8) दैव्यौ होतारौ, (9) तिस्रो देव्य:, सरस्वती, इळा and भारती (10) त्वष्टा, (11) वनस्पति: and (12) स्वाहाकृतय:

All but tanunpat are represented in the present hymn also, which is of eleven verses (not twelve). For the details of the twelve Apris, see Nir. VIII. 5-21 (इतीमा आप्री देवता अनुक्रान्ता: । आग्नेया इत्येके).

6. Vavya-iva, like a female weaver (or two female weavers); Dayananda translates as परस्पराधिका नलिकेव, like a weaving tube or shuttle.

7. Daivya hotara, two divine invokers, i.e. the personified fires of earth and the firmament (under the charge of two ministering priests—Sayana). Two adepts, amongst learneds. The pair of acceptor and donor (Daya.).

Sanusu trisu, on three auspicious occasions of worship (morn; midday and evening); or on three high places, bad, medium and good, the three sacred fires—garhapatya, ahavaniya and daksina.

Prthivya nabha, navel of the earth ; may be also the fire-altar, or the householder's home of worship.

10. Havih tridha samaktam—offerings triply anointed : that is with butter, with cooked food, and with medicinal herbal extracts like the Soma juice. The traditionalists refer to three rites, उपस्तरण, अवदान and अभिघारण.

11. Refer to Yv. XVII.88.

Hymn-4

For verse 5, see Nir. VI.17.

2. Dvita adadhuh, two-fold light, i.e. ligh tfrom two sources, one from lightning in the firmament, and the other from culinary fire on earth. Dayananda refers to two types of bhavas : शराग्निभाव and पंचाकलाग्निभाव (only in Hindi commentary, not in the Sanskrit one).

3. Urmyah, nights (Nigh. I.7) either all nights, or even the whole night; usatih, loving or कामयमाना: or कमनीया:, being to be desired.

5. Ramsu, delightful; choicest (रमणीय—Daya.) from √रम्, giving delight (रंसु रमणात्—Nir.VI.17)

Hymn-5

1. Pitṛbhyah utaye, for the protection of men of all ages, particularly elderly persons ; for the preservation of our patrons (Wilson) ; (पितृभ्य: पालकेभ्य: यजमानेभ्य:—Sayana—patron or the institutor of sacrifice; पालकेभ्य: or patron—Daya.).

Hota, होता invoker.

2. Netari, नेतरि the leader; Netṛ is one of the sixteen priests; and so is pota (शोधक: or purifier—Daya.).

Sapta rasmayah, seven rays ; also in rituals, the seven priests engaged in their respective functions.

3. Brahmani, ब्रह्मणि, of the one, well-versed in divine knowledge.

4. Prasasta, प्रशास्ता, the regulator of the sacrifice ; the one who obviate all obstructions to sacrifice.

5. Nestuh, नेष्टु: of a leader (नायकस्य—Daya.) ; the leading fire-divine.

6. Adhvaryuh, अध्वर्यु:, the sacrificer (यज्ञकर्ता—Daya.).

7. Ṛtvijam, ऋत्विजं, a priest in general, working in accordance to seasons or times (See I.1.1). Agni himself is invited, as if, to officiate for himself as the ministering priest.

(In the first seven verses, we have respectively the terms hotṛ, netṛ, brahma, prasastṛ, nestṛ, adhvarya, and ṛtvik—also the names of seven priests (sapta rasmayah of verse 2; or visvebhyah yajatebhyah of verse 8).

Hymn-6

2. Urjah napat, the grandson of vitality or energy; in fact, the lord of vitality (नपात्, यो न पातयति तत् सम्बुद्धो ; the one who prevents from a decline or fall—Daya.; ऊर्जो नपात्, बलस्य नप्त: तस्य नपातयितर्वा—Sayana).

4. See Yv. XII.43; yuyodhi, drive away (वियोज्य—Daya., पृथक् कुरु—Sayana).

6. Itanaya, to the worshipper ; to the one who worships.

Avasyave, to him who wishes his own protection (आत्मनो वो रक्षणमिच्छते—Daya.), to the one who seeks favour.

Hymn-7

1. Bharata (भारत)—descendent of Bharata; (भरता ऋत्विजः, तेषां सम्बन्धी भारत: ;—Sayana) ; guardian or preserver (or custodian of all knowledge —Daya.). It may refer to agni, which is produced by priests by rubbing sticks together—Sayana.

5. Vasabhih (वशाभि:)—barren cows (Sayana) but excellent cows (कमनीयाभिर्गोभि:—Daya.).

Astapadibhih—by octapeds, or eight-footed animals, i.e., cow along with a calf in the womb (Sayana) ; by speech or poem of eight feet; or with eight steps of argument or proof for the ascertainment of truth—Daya.).

Ahutah, invoked (not offered as burnt)—offerings.

Hymn-9

3. उदारिथा=उत्ऽआरिथ (थ has become था).

Hymn-10

4. See Yv. XI.33 with slight variations.

5. See Yv. XI.24. In rituals, the verses 4 and 5 are to be repeated together, but the first half/of the verse 4 is to be repeated with the second half/of the verse 5; and the first half of the verse 5 with the second half of the verse 4. (Katyayana).

Hymn-11

For verse 21, see Nir. I.7

1. श्रुधी=श्रुधि ; 6. स्त वा=स्तव ;
11. पिबापिब=पिबऽपिब ; 18. धिष्वा=धिष्व

3. Rudriyesu stomesu, hymns and prayers commending the vital powers ; also in the praises uttered by the praisers (Wilson). Sayana interprets rudrīyam as pleasure (सुखम्) ; rudrah as worshippers (स्तोतार:) ; रुद्रियं रुद्राणां प्राणानां प्रतिपादनेषु—Daya.

4. Suryena,—We have in verse 6, हरी सूर्यस्य केतू the two horses the signs of the sun; on this basis, Wilson gives the rendering as "the signs (of Indra as) the sun".

Sayana translates : सूर्येण सुष्ठु प्रेरकेण, i.e. by the instigator. Suryana sahyah, with the help of spiritual illumination.

17. Trikadrukesu, through three realms, physical, mental and spiritual (शरीर, मनस् and आत्मा)—Daya. According to Sayana, this denotes three days, or three celebrations of the ceremonial abhiplava, called severally jyotih, gauh and ayuh (त्रिकद्रुकेषु ज्योतिर्गौरायुरित्येतन्नामकेष्वाभिप्लविकेष्वह:सु).

18. Danum aurnavabham, spider-like son of Danu (aurna= spider, abha=resembling) ; spreads web of influence like a spider.

19. Trita, the triple realm,—mental, vital and physical. (To Sayana, it is the name of a Maharsi).

21. See Nir. I.7—May that reward of thine milk every boon to the singer. Boon (वरः), what is to be chosen, जरिता or singer is praiser. Rich reward (दक्षिणा मघोनी), i.e., abounding in wealth. The word magham is a synonym of wealth ; it is derived from √ मंह् meaning to give. Daksina is derived from √ दक्ष् meaning to cause to accomplish; it causes the imperfect to be accomplished, or else, it may be so called from circumambulating. With reference to the quarter, it means the quarter natural to the hand, i.e. the right hand. Daksinah (right) is derived from √दक्ष्, meaning to work strenuously, or from meaning to give. Hastah (hand) is derived from √हन् to strike; it is quick to strike. Fulfil the desires of the worshippers. Do not pass us over; do not give, leaving us aside. Let good fortune be for us. May we speak loudly in our own assembly. Bhaga (good fortune) is derived from √भज्, to distribute. The word bṛhat is a synonym of 'great'; it is grown all round. Having heroes, or having blessed heroes. A hero, he disperses (वि+ईरयति) the enemies or it (वी—र) may be derived from √ वी meaning to go, or from √वीर्, to be powerful, (Nir. I.7).

Hymn-12

For verses 1 and 3, see Nir. X.10 and VIII.2 respectively. See also Av. XX.34 for the whole hymn with an additional verse.

1. We have in Nir. X.10 : Who as soon as he was born became foremost, the wise good, who with his strength, i.e., strong action, subdued, i.e. seized all around ; protected all around, or surpassed (other) gods; at whose power, even heaven and earth trembled on account of the greatness of his might i.e. on account of the mightiness of his power. He, O men, is Indra. Thus the gratification of the seer who had an intuitive insight into reality expresses itself conjoined with a narrative.

There are several legends attached to this hymn. Wilson in his note has narrated three. One of them runs thus : Gṛtsamada, by his devotions, acquired a form as vast as that of Indra, visible at once in heaven, in the firmament and on earth, the two asuras, Dhuni and Chumuri, taking him, therefore, for Indra, were proceeding to attack him, when he arrested their advance by repeating this hymn, intimating that he was not Indra.

The legend thus is based erroneously on basis of the repetition in all verses of this hymn of the ending words (स जनास इन्द्रः, he, men, is Indra).

2. Parvatan prakupitan a ramnat, who tranquilized the incensed mountains, (or agitated senses). According to Sayana, the mountains had wings originally, and hence they used to go hither and thither; Indra cut these wings off, and thus they are now stationery. Pervata= clouds also (Nigh. I.10).

12. Saptarasmih, the seven-rayed, the seven forms of parjanya, rain-cloud (named in the Taittiriya Aranyaka I. 9.4-5).

वराहव: स्वतपसो विद्युन्महसो धूपयः श्वापयो गृहमेधाश्चेत्येते
ये चेमेऽशिमिविद्विषः पर्जन्याः सप्त पृथिवीमभि वर्षन्ति वृष्टिभिः ।

Sapta-sindhun—Seven rivers; according to Sayana, Ganga and others.

Hymn-13

3. The hymn refers to three wise men, with their respectively assigned functions. According to Sayana, these are the three priests, hotṛ, adhvaryu and brahman.

4. Asinvan danstraih pitur atti bhojanam—here asinvan is बध्नन्ति bind (Daya.); Sayana explains it as अमिन्वन् सेतु बन्धनादिकं कर्म कुर्वन् लोकः, doing acts, such as building bridges. Literally the phrase means constructing, eats with his teeth. This may equally refer to fire or to a guest of honour, who relishingly masticates the food offered by the patron (pituh, पालयित्या).

8. Narmaram Sahavasum, cruel man along with his treasure ; नार्मरम्, नृन् मनुष्याम् मारयतीति, the one who kills people, सह=with, वसु=wealth or treasure (वसुना सह वर्तत इति सहवसुः). Sayana regards them as two asuras, about whom nothing further is known.

9. Dabhitaye—for killing (मारणाय—Daya.); for Dabhiti, a Ṛṣi (Sayana).

10. Sad-vistirah—Six expansive objects, heaven, earth, day, night, waters and annuals (plants). ताश्च द्यौश्च पृथिवा चाहश्च रात्रिश्चापश्चौषधय इत्येवं रूपा: (Sayana).

They may equally be six cardinal points or quarters of space—प्राची, दक्षिण, प्रतीची, उदीची, ध्रुव and अर्ध्व.

Panca Sandrsah, five classes of people, of four varnas and fifth, the nisad; or the five organs of Cognition (ये सम्यक् पश्यन्ति ते—Daya.).

11. Jatusthirasya pra vayah sahasvatah—जातु कदाचित् सर्वदा स्थिरस्य सहस्वत: बलवतो यज्ञादे: कर्मण: सम्बन्धि वय: हविर्लक्षणमन्नं प्र विन्दसे इति समन्वय: (Sayana) i.e. thou hast given (प्र for प्रद:) food to the vigorous Jatusthira; and also Indra's being the occasional (jatu) agent in sacrificial offerings (वय:) in relation to constant and essential ceremonies.

12. Paravṛjam prandham sronam—blind and lame, Paravṛja (See Ṛv. I.112.8) in connection with Ṛjrasva and Asvins. Paravṛjam, परागता वृजस्य त्यागकारा यस्मात्तम्—the person who has been deserted—Daya.

Turvitaye—साधनै र्व्याप्तये—or for the one accomplished with measures and assistance—Daya.; see notes on I.36.28; 54.6; 61.11.

Vayyaya—तन्तुसन्तान काय, for the weaver (Daya.). See notes on I.54.6.

Hymn-14

For verses 1 and 11, See Nir. V.I. and III.20 respectively.

1. Amatrebhih sincita madyamandhah—Pour out the intense love of your heart before the Lord. The word andhas is a synonym of food (Nigh.II.7), because it is to be sought. With drinking vessels pour down the exhilarating food. Amatram means a vessel, so called because the householders eat from it (अमजं पात्रम् । अमा अस्मिन्नदन्ति । अमा पुनर्निमितं भवति । पात्रं पानात् । The householders are called अमा, since they are innumerable. A drinking vessel is called पात्र because people drink from it. Darkness is called अन्धस् also, because no attention can be fixed in it or because nothing is visible. (Nir. V.I).

3. Dṛbhikam, terrible (भयकरं—Daya.; सर्वान् विदारयति भियं करोतीति दृभीको नामासुरः—Sayana; an asura).

Balam, strength; an asura—Sayana; the one mighty.

4. Uranam, the one enveloping, आच्छादकम्—Daya.; the name of an asura, Sayana.

Arbudam, a numeral, one hundred million (Daya.); an asura, Sayana (See I.51.6),

5. Svasnam=Su+asnam; good cloud (सुष्ठुमेघं—Daya.; Nigh.I.10); one who eats animals, or one who is all-pervading; an asura—अश्नम्। अश्नाति भक्षयति प्राणिजातमिति । यद् वा अश्नुते स्वतेजसा सर्वं व्याप्नोतीत्यश्नः कश्चिदसुरः । —Sayana.

5-7. For Susnam, see I.54.6; for Pipru, I.51.5; for Namuci, I.53.7; for Sambara I.54.4; for Kutsa, I.33.14; 51.6; 53.10; for Ayu, I.53.10.

5. Rudhikram, one who opposes law and order—यो रुधीनावरकान् क्रामति तम्—Daya.; an asura, Sayana.

6. Varcinah, of the enlightened (प्रदीप्तस्य—Daya.; वर्च दीप्तौ—Sayana; वर्चते दीप्यतेऽसौ वर्चः तेजः पुरीष वा—Unadi IV.190).

Name of an asura also—Sayana, the name derived according to Unadi IV.6—गमेरिनि).

7. Atithigvasya, of those who receive atithis—Daya. It refers to Divodasa according to Sayana.

Viran, the assailants.

Indra is supposed to have destroyed the assailants of Kutsa, Ayu and Atithigva. As three virtues, we have kutsa, generosity; ayu, liveliness and atithigva, hospitality.

Hymn-15

1. Trikadrukesu, see II.11.17 (त्रिभिः कद्रुकैः विकलनैर्युक्तेषु कर्मसु—Daya.)

2. On the basis of this verse, Dayananda concludes that behind the gravitational attraction of heavenly bodies, works the supreme Force of the Creator.

4. There is a legend also, based on this verse. The asuras had besieged and taken the city of a royal sage Dabhiti, but on their retreat they were intercepted and defeated by Indra, who recovered the booty and returned it to the prince.

5. Dhunim, according to Sayana, dhuni is a synonym of Parusni or Iravati river; it shakes or dissipates the sins of worshippers. धुनोति स्तोतॄणां पापानीति धुनि: परुष्णी नदी—Sayana; according to Dayananda, it means चालितम्, the one moving.

6. Sindhum, sea or mighty river, not necessarily Indus (the one moving to the east—प्राञ्चंसन्तं ; it was turned to north—उदङ्.मुखं अकरोत् —Sayana; or to upward direction, ऊर्ध्वं प्राप्नुवन्तं—Daya.

7. The legend says that certain girls made sport of the blind and lame Ṛṣi, who thereupon prayed to Indra, and recovered his sight and the use of his legs. (See II.13.12).

9. Cumurim, the one who makes the face of a thief वक्त्र संयुक्तम् —Daya.).

Dhunim, the one trembling or wavering—(कम्पन्तम्—Daya.). According to Sayana, Cumuri and Dhuni are two asuras. (See also Ṛv. VII.19.4).

Rambhi, one who starts the work (=आरम्भी—Daya.); chamberlain Cit, चित्—Sayana interprets as वेत्रधारी or staffbearer or दौवारिक:, a porter or door keeper.

Hymn-16

For verse 9, see Nir. I.7

4. Vṛsbhana Bhanura, together with the sun; but here in this verse, with compassion and effulgence by the showerer of blessings ; vṛsbhena—वर्षकेण, by the showerer; bhanuna, प्रदीप्त्या—Daya., Sayana translates bhanuna as by effulgent fire (दीप्यमानेनाग्निना सह).

5. This verse exemplifies various modifications of meaning, of which the words vṛsan and vṛsabha are susceptible.

(i) वृष्ण:=वर्षकात् सूर्य्यात्, from the showerer sun, फलस्य वर्षितु:, of the one showerer of fruits of action (Sayana).

(ii) वृषभान्नाय=वृषभमन्नं यस्मात् तस्मै, for the one, source of healthy food —Daya.; बलवर्षकाणि अन्नानि यस्य तथोक्त:, for the one to whom the strength-showering foods belong—Sayana.

(iii) वृषभाय=श्रेष्ठाय, to the most benevolent (Daya.); कामाना वर्षित्र इन्द्राय, to Indra, the showerer of benefits.

(iv) वृषणा=वरौ superior (Daya.) ; सोमरस सेचन समर्थों, the two priests, capable of extracting out (or sprinkling) Soma juice (Sayana).

(v) वृषभास:=वर्षका:, the showerers (Daya.; Sayana).

(vi) वृषणं=बलकरं, to the strength-giving (Daya.); स्वर्गादि फलस्य सेक्तारं, the sprinkler of fruits as svarga and the like. (These terms carry more or less the sense of raining, shedding, showering, sprinkling, or figuratively, bestowing freely or liberally (Wilson).

9. The same as II.12.21 and II.15.10 and as the last verse of several other hymns also, as II.17.9; II.18.9, II.19.9; and II.20.9 (as a sort of burthen of the hymn)

Hymn-17

For verse 9, see Nir. I.7

1. Yad-gotra-gotra for gotrani. meaning clouds, from go=water, and tra, to preserve or contain (गोत्रा मेघान् । गा उदकानि त्रायन्ते रक्षन्तीति गोत्रा मेघा: —Sayana) gotra=मेघ (Night.I.10).

7. Amajuh, living at home (योऽस्मा गृहे जूर्यति तद्वत्—Daya.; यावज्जीवं गृह एव जीर्यन्ती, one who lives at home for the whole life; i.e. a virtuous maiden—Sayana.

Sati, सती, वर्त्तमाना, existing—Daya.; दुहिता daughter,—Sayana. Such a maiden has a claim in father's property. (भाग भजनीयं धन् —claiming of her portion).

Hymn-18

For verse 9, see Nir. I.7

1. Rathah, a sacrifice (besides a chariot or car), derived from √रंह्, to go; and hence also to worship, रथः रंहणाद्रथो यज्ञः (Sayana). Chariot is a vajna figuratively, since in this verse, we have such terms as: योजि (chariot has been harnessed; अयोज्यस्माभिः=Sayana), चतुर्युगः (provided with four yoke, अध्वर्य्वाद्यृत्विगभिप्रायं वा, four priests, adhvaryu etc. engaged—Sayana); त्रिकशः, three whips (तिस्रः कशावाचो मन्द्रमध्यमोत्कृष्टरूपा यस्य तथोक्तः, three types of speech or tones, low, middle and high—Sayana); सप्तरश्मिः, (with seven reins), अश्नुवते व्याप्नुवन्ति कर्माणीति रश्मयवश्छन्दांसि, the seven metres, Gayatri to Jagati—Sayana); दशारित्रः (with ten sides or faces—दश अरित्राणि स्तम्भन साधनानि यस्मिन् सः—Daya.); (अरिभ्य. पापेभ्यस्त्रायन्त इत्यरित्रा ग्रहाः । दश संख्याका ग्रहा यस्य सा तादृशः । चमसाध्वर्यभिप्रायं वा, the ten grahas, the eradicator of sins, or camasa-adhvaryu—Sayana).

2. Prathamam, dvitiyam, trtiyam—first, second and third, Dayananda refers to three types of vehicles, serving on roads, on the surface of water and in space, i. e. chariots, boats and aeroplanes. Sayana refers to morning rites (प्रातः सवने), midday rites (माध्यं दिने सवने) and evening rites (तृतीय सवने).

4. Indra has two horses in particular, but may have four, six, eight or ten even; from their supernatural faculties, they may multiply themselves without limit (विभूति भेदान्नानात्वम् । अतोऽश्वबहुत्वमविरुद्धम्—Sayana). The number goes to thirty, forty, fifty, sixty and seventy in verse 5, eighty, ninety and hundred in verse 6. According to Dayananda, haribhyam means हरणशीलाभ्यां पदार्थाभ्याम् (conveyable commodities), which in a means of transport could, of course, be of any large number. In an army, we can have any number of horses or horse vehicles (even motor-driven transports—see verse 8, which refers to victory—प्राये-प्राये जिगीवांसः स्याम—may we be victorious in every struggle).

8. प्रायेप्राये—in every struggle or battle, प्रकर्षेणेयते गम्यते योद्धृभिरिति प्राय युद्धम्—Sayana). Dayananda translates as कमनीये कमनीये, in attractive.

Hymn-19

For verse 9, see Nir. I.7

7. Asyama tat saptam—may we obtain the seven-type one; or may we have the privilege of your friendship (सख्यम्) : साप्तं सप्तपुरुष संबन्धि साप्तपदीनं सख्यम्—. Sayana(This refers to the Saptapadi ritual of marriage).

Hymn-20

For verse 9, see Nir. I.7

1. Vajayuh, one desirous of carrying food; or one desirous of good speed (यो वाजं वेग कामयते सः—Daya.).

6. Dasasya, of the servant (सेवकस्य—Daya.) To Sayana, Dasa is the name of an asura.

7. Kṛsnayonih dasih—dark clouds of evils. Some render the words as the pregnant wife of the asura Kṛsna (कृष्णयोनीः निकृष्ट जातीः—the one of low caste; दासीः उपक्षिपयित्रीरासुरीः सेना, servile host or army of asuras); alternatively—कृष्णाख्येनासुरेण निषिक्तरेतस्का दासीर्भार्या=Sayana.

For कृष्णगर्भा also see Ṛv. I.10.1 (यः कृष्णगर्भा निरहन् ऋजिश्विना).

Hymn-21

1. Several compounds with jit, literally, conquerer; but the sense of adhipati or lord of or lord over is equally applicable.

विश्वजित्—यो विश्वं जयति ; धनजित्—यो धनेन जयति ;
स्वर्जित्—यः सुखेन जयति ; सत्राजित्— यः सत्येनोत्कर्षति ;
नृजित्—यो नृभिर्जयति ; उर्वराजित्—य उर्वरा सर्वफलपुष्पशस्यादि प्रापिकां जयति ;
अश्वजित्—योऽश्वैर्जयति ; गोजित्—यो गा जयति ;
अब्जित्—योऽप्सु जयति—Daya.

Hymn-22

Three out of the four verses have a common burthen; the verses occur in the Samaveda also, though scattered.

1. Mahisah = great or worshipful. Wilson suggests buffalo also.

Trikadrukesu, Dayananda translates as त्रीणि कद्रुकाण्यह्वानानि येषु तेषु or in the one, who has three ways of expressions. Sayana as the three days rites with the abhiplava ceremony (ज्योतिर्गोरायुरित्येतन्नामकेष्वभिप्लविकेष्वहःसु) See II.11.17.

2. Krivim, nescience; well (कूपं—Daya.) ; name of an asura —Sayana.

4. Nṛto—One that delights or exults; who causes everyone to dance (सर्वेषां नर्तयितः—Daya. also Sayana) ; literally a dancer, or one who exults in battle.

Hymn-23

Bṛahmanaspati, Lord Supreme ;=ब्रह्मणः+पति, Lord of wealth; the great or supreme protector; the protector of the entire world (ब्रह्माण्ड) or of a country or nation; the protector of the Veda or knowledge—Daya. ब्रह्मणस्पते ब्रह्मणोऽन्नस्य परिवृढस्य कर्मणो वा पते पालयितः—the protector of cherisher of food, or of any great or solemn acts of devotion—Sayana.

Bṛhaspati, the great protector ; protector of great ones, the preceptor of truth, the great saviour from sins, the learned, the ruler over a big state, dispeller of thieves and other wickeds—Daya. Usually, there is no essential difference between brahmanaspati and bṛhaspati.

4. Brahmadvisah, those who hate the Veda or God (वेदेश्वर विरोधिनः —Daya.), or those who hate Brahmanas and the Vedic mantras or prayers, ब्राह्मणां मन्त्राणां वा द्वेष्टुः —Sayana.

17. Ṛna-cit, the one who acknowledges a debt; the one who collects debts, य ऋण चिनोति सः—Daya.

Ṛnyat, acquitter of a debt; the one who receives debts—य ऋणं याति प्राप्नोति सः—Daya.; the discharger or remover of the debt which is of the nature of sin, पापरूपस्य ऋणस्य यावयिता पृथक्कर्ता—Sayana.

19. See Yv. XXXIV.58.

Hymn-24

For verses 3 and 4, see Nir. V.16 and X.13 respectively.

3. Vilita—प्रशस्त—Daya.; अव्रदन्त वीळिता, the hard becomes soft ; the words वीळ and वीळ meaning to be hard are joined together with the former (Nir. V.16).

4. All the rays of the sun drank that very stream of water, pervading and flowing downwards, which Brahmanaspati pierced with his might and together they poured an abundant spring rich in water. (Nir. X.13).

5. Bhuvana bhavitva, beautiful regions, भुवनानि भव्यानि (Daya.), of the future waters or rains; भुवनाना भाव्यानां; भुवनानामुदकानां (Sayana) ; भुवनम्=उदकम् (Nigh. I.12, भूतं, भुवनं and भविष्यत्, all the three are synonyms of water).

Vayuna, knowledge (प्रज्ञानानि, Daya.) ; object of prayer (वयुना । ज्ञाननामैतत् । ज्ञानानि मन्त्रविषयाणि—Sayana).

Anyad-anyad caratah—On this, Wilson says: The phraseology is rather obscure, but the meaning is, that, by virtue of prayer and sacrifice, rain is engendered in the sky, which coming down upon the earth, causes fertility, whence food for men or for the sacrifice is provided; which being offered, is again productive of rain, and thus, as the result of prayer, a mutual and spontaneous interchange of benefits between heaven and earth is perpetuated.

6. The whole of this is allegorical, as in similar other places. The cows hidden in the caves are the rains accumulated in the clouds (or the divine wisdom hidden under nescience), which are set free by the oblations in fire (or by the inspired experiences) of which the Angirasas are the first expounders.

7. Nakih so sati—that is not; that fire formerly is not there, but they of their own power, having produced the fire that was not known, threw it there. (स अग्निः पूर्वं तत्र नकिः अस्ति न विद्यते—Sayana. For Angirasas relation with fire, see I.1.6 and I 83.4).

8. Nṛcaksasah karnayonayah—the arrows are oblations and mantras; the first obvious to the sight and the second addressed to the ears of man. Whilst shooting the arrows the string is stretched up to the ears—श्रोत्रेन्द्रियेण ग्राह्या मंत्रभूताः आकर्ष कृष्टा वा बाणाः—Sayana.

Nrcaksasah, worth being seen by human eye, नृभिर्द्रष्टव्याः karnayo-nayah—कर्णं श्रोत्रं योनिर्येषान्ते—Daya.

12. Apah, the vital breaths; all the breathing persons, एतदुपलक्षितानि सर्वाण्यपि भूतानि—Sayana.

Hymn-26

3. Devanam pitaram, the father of the gods (Nature's bounties), the father or teacher of the learned—Daya.; पितरं पालयितारं, protector or cherisher—Sayana.

Hymn-27

For verse 1, see Nir. XII.36

1. Ghrtasnuh, whose surface is brilliant with clarified butter, i.e. emitting butter, or distilling butter (or distributing butter, or dripping butter). I sacrifice oblation with ladle to the Adityas for a long time (in order to live long), or who are kings for a long time. May Mitra, and Aryaman, and Bhaga, and the creator of many births, Daksa, Varuna and Amsa, hear these hymns of ours. Amsa (अंश) is explained by Amsu (अंशु).

The Adityas enumerated in this verse are only five : Mitra, Aryaman, Bhaga, Varuna, and Amsa. The Taittiriya Aranyaka (I.13.3) describes eight : (the three extras are Dhatr, Indra and Vivasvat).

3. Bhuri-aksah, many-eyed ; i.e. the universal penetration of the rays of light; also capable of being seen in many ways, भूरि बहून्यक्षीणि दर्शनानि येषान्ते—Daya.; also very brilliant, बहुतेजस.—Sayana.

Antah pasyanti, behold the innermost; seeing in the innermost conscience आभ्यन्तरे प्रेक्षन्ते—Daya. or behold in the hearts of living beings, अन्तः मध्ये प्राणिनां हृदि प्रेरकतया वर्तमानाः सन्तः—Sayana.

4. Cayamana rnani, the acquitters of our debts; the enhancers of others due enlightenment, (चयमानाः) वर्द्धमानाः (ऋणानि) अन्येभ्यो देयानि विज्ञानानि —Daya.

8. Tisrobhumih, three regions, terrestrial, interspatial, and celestial (त्रीन् लोकान्-भूम्यन्तरिक्षस्वर्गाः—Sayana).

Trin dyun, three luminous or divine ones, body, mind and spirit; or bhuh, bhuvah and svah; or the tripe: fire on the earth, air in space and the sun in heaven.

Trini vrataḥ—the three eternal functions—physical, mental and transcendental; or the morning, midday and evening rites, (त्रीणिव्रता सवनत्रय निष्पाद्यानि; प्रात.सवन, माध्यन्दिन सवन and तृतीय सवन आदित्यानां त्रीणि कर्माणि रसादान-धारणविमर्जन लक्षणानि, i e. absorption, retention and redistribution of dew and rain as the acts of the Adityas—Sayana):

Adityah, sons of Mother Infinity

Aryaman, dwarf stars

Varuna, the sun

Mitra, the giant stars

Ṛta, the Eternal Law

Mahi-mahitvam, excellent and great (महि, महत् प्रभूतम् । महित्वं महत्त्वं यन्महाभाग्यम्—Sayana).

11. Abhayam jyotih, light free from fear, i.e. light of day or the light of knowledge.

15. Ubhau ardhau, both portions of creation, two parts of the world, moveable or immoveable or mortals and immortals (चराचरात्मकौ मर्त्यामर्त्यात्मकौ—Sayana).

Ubha ksayau, two habitations, one's own and the other of the foe (तौ परैरनाक्रान्तं स्वकीय निवासस्थानं, आत्मनापहृतं परकीय निवासस्थानं च—Sayana).

Hymn-28

For verse 4, see Nir. I.7

4. Ṛtam—The word carries several senses—truth or eternal law, sacrifice or water; here it means water, rivers go of Varuna.

Parijman, circum-ambient earth. (परिज्मनि भूम्यां—Sayana; परित: सर्वतो वर्त्तमानायां भूमौ—Daya.).

9. Maham rajan anyakrtena bhojam—O God, may I not be dependent (or enjoying) on the wealth earned by others.

Avyusta innu bhuyasirusas—The persons involved in debt are so overcome with anxiety that they are not conscious of the dawn of day, to them the morning has not dawned, they are dead to the light of day.

10. According to Sayana this entire hymn of eleven verses removes sin and danger, debt and poverty and counteract bad dreams, (ऋणदारिद्र्य दुःस्वप्न नाशनं चेति शुश्रुम).

Hymn-29

6. See Yv. XXXIII.51

Hymn-30

4. Bṛhaspati, is identified with Indra he uses thunderbolt and slays Vṛtra.

6. Kṛnutam-u lokam, literally make the world (i.e. make it free from fear, लोक भयरहित स्थान कुरुतम्—Sayana) make the world worth seeing —द्रष्टुं योग्यम्—Daya.

8. Sandikanam, of Sandika; according to Sayana, they are descendents of Sanda (शण्ड), who with Amarka is the priest of the asuras (Tait.S.VI.4.10.1)—शण्डामर्कावसुर पुरोहितौ. We have translated it as ferocity (वृषभ बलिष्ठम् । शाण्डिकानां शत्रूणां तस्यासवदव भूतानां मध्ये वर्त्तमानम्—Daya.)

Hymn-31

For verse 1, see Nir. V.5

1. Saca=Saha (together)—Nir. V.5

4. Gnabhih, with the wives, perhaps devapatnis, wives of gods, the personified metres of the Veda—छन्दांसि वैग्ना: (Taittiriye).

5. Vayah, food (Sayana) ; charming (कमनीयम्—Daya.).

Trivayah, the one with stages of life, त्रीणि वयांसि यस्य स:—Daya. Three types of offerings to sacrifice—butter, food and herbal extracts (ओषधिपशु सोमात्मकानि—Sayana).

6. Ahirbudhnya, cloud in midspace. (अहि: । व्यापनशीलो मेघ: । बुध्न्य: । बुध्नेऽन्तरिक्षे व्याप्त:—Daya.).

Ekapad, the Sun, the unborn who goes on one foot.

Ṛbhuksah—men of wisdom (मेधावी—Daya.).

Tritah=तीर्णतम:—the most expanded (Sayana) accomplished in three virtues, celebacy, education, and lofty ideas—ब्रह्मचर्याध्ययन विचारेभ्य: —Daya.

Hymn-32

Raka, the full moon, is the devata of two verses, and Sinivali, the new moon, of the other two. The last verse to six female personifications: Gangu, Sinivali, Raka, Sarasvati, Indrani and Varunani.

For verse 4 and 6, see Nir. XI.31 and XI.32

Raka etc.—With excellent praise, I invoke Raka, to whom excellent invocations are addressed, May the blessed one hear us. May she wake up herself. With an unbreakable needle, may she sew the work together, i.e. function of procreation. Suci (शूची), needle, is derived from siv, (सिव्), to sew. May she give us a hero of hundred gifts, worthy of praise, i.e. whose praises should be proclaimed.

"Sinivali (सिनीवाली) and Kuhu (कुहू) are said to be two wives of gods", say the etymologists. "They are the days on which the moon is invisible," say the ritualists. It is known : that which is the earlier day on which the moon is invisible is Sinivali, that which is later is Kuhu (Ait.Br. VII.11.3; Gop. Br. II.1 10).

Sinivali : from sinam (सिनम्) which means food : it makes created beings strong (सिनाति) ; valam (वालम्) means a particular period, and is derived from √वृ, to cover—i.e., rich in food in that period or hairy. Or it is so called because the moon being very minute during this period is to be attended, as it were, with a hair. (Nir.XI.31).

6. O Sinivali, having broad thighs. Stuka (स्तुक), thigh or tuft of hair, is derived from √स्त्य, to be heaped together, means a heap, i e., having a large tuft of hair, or praise. Thou art the sister of gods Svasa (स्वसा sister)=Su+asa (सु+असा), i.e., she who sits (सीदति) among her own people (स्वेषु). Enjoy this oblation, i.e. food, O goddess, grant us offspring.

Kuhu, (कुहू) is derived from √गुह्, to conceal. Or, it is said, where has she been ? Or at what place is she invoked ? Or where does she sacrifice the oblation ? (See Av. VII.47.1,)—Nir. XI 32.

8. Gunguh, the dumb and mute (अव्यक्तोच्चारणा)—Daya. Sayana takes it to be Kuhu (अत्र गुगू शब्देन राकासिनीवाल्यो: साहचर्यात् कुहूरुच्यते, the day of conjunction, when the moon rises invisible; it would seem as if these phases of moon were identifiable with Indrani, or Varunani or both (Wilson).

To us, it appears that the six feminine terms indicate the six phases of moon: Purnima is raka (full moon), Sinivali is amavasya (new moon); gungu is two days after amavasya, the crescent, and Sarasvati is the phase of moon, two days, prior to full moon day. Indrani and Varunani as the two astami (अष्टमी) days one in dark half of the month and the other in bright half of the month (कृष्णपक्ष, शुक्लपक्ष).

Hymn-33

4. Bhesajebhih bhisaktamam, the chief physician amongst physicians; the most competent one among physicians.

5. Rdu+udar (ऋदु+उदर) — According to Nir. VI.4, the word means soma (ऋदूदरः सोमोमृदूदरो मृदुरुदरेष्विति)—its inside is soft; or it is the soft inside of men.

8. Svitice (श्वितीचे), for the one possessing the cover (यः श्वितिमावरण-मञ्चति तस्मै—Daya.); the one who goes to or obtains whiteness, one with the white complexion (श्वैत्यमञ्चते—Sayana).

10. Niska, an ornament (may be necklace) of gold.

13. Manur-avrnita, selected by Manu, a physician (वैद्यक विद्यावित् —Daya.). Wilson says : it alludes, no doubt, to the vegetable seeds which Manu, according to the Mahabharata was directed to take with him into the vessel in which he was preserved at the time of the deluge, (this fact is not mentioned, however, in the Satapathe Brahmana).

14. Compare with Yv. XVI.50.

Hymn-34

1. Ṛjisinah, one with tender temperament (कोमलस्वभावाः—Daya.) ; Sayana derives it from ṛjisa, (ऋजीषा) meaning water; or it may mean, Soma that has lost its strength (ऋजीषमुदकं तद्वन्तः । यद्वा ऋजीषोऽपगतसारः सोमः —Sayana).

2. Pṛsnyah sukra udhani, the pure womb of Pṛsni (Wilson) ; literally, pure udder of Pṛsni, that is, on the elevated places of the earth in the mountains. Sayana refers to an allusion—a legend of the earth's assuming the form of a brindled cow, and Rudra's begetting the Maruts of her in the shape of a bull (but as Wilson says, it is more of a Pauranik than a Vedic legend).

3. Hiranyesipra, the golden helmed; sipra is usually a nose or a lower jaw (हिरण्यमिव शिप्राणि मुखानि येषान्ते—Daya.).

10. Pṛsni, is the firmament, and udhah (ऊधः) or udder is the cloud (Sayana). For Trita, see earlier notes, (I.52.5).

11. Evayavnah, a purely Vedic word; derived from eva, which is to be gone to (एवयावन्: एवं गन्तव्य स्तोत्रं यज्ञं वा गन्तॄन्, Sayana), that is worship or a sacrifice. Also, they who go to divine knowledge (ये एवं विज्ञानं यान्ति, तान्—Daya.).

12. Dasagvah, the priests belonging to the race of Angirasas, conducting the ceremonies lasting for nine or ten days. Here the office is assigned to Maruts (Wilson). See I.114.6. Sayana says: ते मरुतः दशग्वाः। ये दशभिर्मासैः सिद्धिं गता अंगिङ्रसस्तद्रूपा भूत्वाः······आदित्यानामङ्गरिसां च स्वर्गगमनं प्रतिस्पर्धमानानां मध्ये पूर्वमेवाङ्गरिसो यागाननुष्ठाय स्वर्गं प्राप्ताः।

According to Dayananda. Dasagvah are those who accomplish with the aid of ten indriyas (organs of perception and action).

13. Ksonibhih, with melodious lutes. (क्षोणीभिः शब्दकारिभिः वीणाख्यैः वीणाविशेषैः—Sayana). Ksoni=earth (Nigh. I.1).

14. Panca hotṛn, the five chief priests (prana, apana, vyana, samana and udana—the five vital breaths or airs—Daya. and Sayana). According to Sayana, the verse alludes to the practice of Yoga, the five hotṛs, or offerers of the Soma, being the five vital airs, whom Trita, as a Yogi, suppressed and compelled to concentrate themselves in the Cakra (चक्र) or umbilical region for the attainment of superhuman faculties.

Hymn-35

For the verse 10, see Nir. III.16 and X.16.

1. Apam-napat—अपां जलानां। नपात्, न पतति सः—Daya.; see our notes on I.13.2; 14.3; 22.6; the son of the trees, i.e. fuel; the trees themselves are sons of rain or water; and hence fire is the grandson of water. This is also an epithet of the sun.

3. Urvam, submarine fire, समुद्रमध्ये वर्त्तमानं वडवानलम्—Sayana; the destroyer of pains and miseries, दुःखानां हिंसकम्—Daya.

Sayana describes two types of water: one is ekadhanah एकधनाख्या; and the other vasativaryah वस्तीवर्याख्या, which apparently is the juice of Soma. (Yv.VI.23). For its use in the later karma-kanda, see Katyayana VII.10 and VIII.9.

Sucayah apah, pure or shining waters; one present in clouds as lightning, and the other pertaining to submarine fire.

5. Tisro devih, three divine females, Ila, Sarasvati and Bharati.

6. Asvasya atra janim, in him is the birth of the horse. On this is based the much later Pauranic legend alluding to the production of ucchaihsravas (उच्चैःश्रवस्), the horse of Indra, amongst precious things obtained by churning the ocean. Asva=mahat or great (Nigh III.3) Svah, pleasure or सुख (Daya.).

7. Svadha=udaka or water (Nigh. I.12).

12. Bahunam avamaya, for the first or the best of many ; for the younger of many ; for the protection of many; बहूनामवराय रक्षकाय वा —Daya.), i.e. of the gods (cf. अग्निर्वै देवानामवमः—Ait. Br; for the earlier अवमाय आद्याय—Sayana.

13. Anyasya-iva iha tanva vivesa, has entered here, verily, with the body of another. Fire, originally ethereal, has come upon earth as culinary and sacrificial fire.

Hymn-36

The hymn has six verses, associated with six devatas; perhaps each again associated with a month; Indra with madhu, Maruts with madhava, Tvastr with sukra, Agni with suci, Indra again with nabha and Mitra-Varuna with nabhasya (the Vedic names of the Calendar-months). This is, however, conjectural.

1. Avibhih, with sheep; but this indirectly means through woolen filters (अवेर्वालमयेर्दशापवित्रैः—with purifying filters made of the hair of the sheep—Sayana. Dayananda translates the word as रक्षकैः, by the protecting ones.

In this verse, we have the term hotṛ; in verse 2 potṛ, in verse 3, tvastṛ; in verse 4 agnidhra, in verse 5 Brahma, or Brahmana; in verse 6, Prasastṛ.

2. Bharatasya sunavah, sons of Bharata, Rudra is Bharata, —Sayana, but धारकस्य पुत्राः—Daya.

3. See Yv.XXVI.24.

4. Trisu yonisu, in three types of fire altars: garhapatya. ahavaniya and daksina.

Hymn-37

For verse 3, see Nir. VIII.3.

1. Dravinodah, the giver of wealth, यो द्रविणो ददाति तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.; see note on I.15.7. Drink dravinodas, according to the Ṛtu or times. Here the months isa, urja, sahas and tapasya may be added to the list given in Hymn 36.

3. May thy draught animals, i.e. the team which draws (the chariot) with which thou drivest, without suffering any injury become fat. Be firm. Having stirred and having approved, O courageous one, (drink) thou from the nestṛ (cup), placed on the subordinate altar. Dhisnya (धिष्ण्य:) = धिषण्य: i.e. the subordinate altar, (so called) because it is the place of recitation. Dhisana (धिषणा) [means speech (वाक्)] is derived from √धिष्, used in the sense 'to hold'. Or else, it distributes or procures intelligence. He is called the lord of forests (वनस्पति), because he is protector or benefactor of forests. Vanam (वनं) is derived from √वन्, to win, Drink with seasons, i.e. with periods of time. (Nir. VIII.3).

4. Patram dravinodah pibatu dravinodasah, let Dravinodas drink the cup of Dravinodas; (the second dravinodas=ṛtvij, a priest).

Hymn-38

For verse 4, see Nir. IV.11.

1. The verse uses the term Savitṛ for the sun, and simultaneously, it gives the derivation of the term also; Savitṛ (सकलजगदुत्पादक:) from savaya (उत्पादनाय) from √सु, to create or to bring forth (प्रसवाय लोकानाम्—Sayana); tadapa (तदपा), for such is his karma (तदप: कर्म यस्य स:—Daya.).

Devebhyah, to Nature's bounties; to gods; to the worshippers (स्तोतृभ्य:—Sayana); to the sporting souls (क्रीडमानेभ्यो जीवेभ्य:—Daya.).

3. मुचाति, the Vedic usage for मुच्यात् Moki, night (Nigh.I.7).

4. पुन: समव्यह्वितं वयन्ती—Weaving what was spread, she wove again, i.e. she gathered together (Nir. IV.11).

5. Isitam savitra, imparted by Savitṛ; the Agnihotra rite is to be performed at dawn, which may be considered as enjoined or instigated by the rising sun (Wilson) (इष्टं सूर्येण सह—Daya.).

10. Gnaspatih, lord of speech (gnah=ग्ना:=वाच:, Daya., Nigh. I.11); Lord of god's wives (देवपत्नीनां पति:—Sayana).

Hymn-39

1. Brahmana iva, ब्रह्माणा इव—like the two persons knowing the entire Veda (यथा समग्रवेदविदौ—Daya.). On this, Wilson comments : This looks very like a specific denomination, and recognizes the existences of the Brahmana, not merely as the title of an individual superintending priest, but as implying a religious or priestly order or caste.

2. The dual number is the speciality of this verse and several other such verses —वीरा=विक्रातन्कर्माणौ (like two heroes); अजाऽइव=यथाऽजौ (like two goats); यमा=उपरतौ (or यमलौ) (two sporting or twins); मेने=पक्षिण्यौ (two birds) or नार्या इव (two ladies); दम्पती=जायापती इव संगतौ (or husband and wife), and so on.

7. (Ksama=earth, Nigh. I.1).

Ksnotra=whetstone for sharpening knife or sword (तेजस्विकारकेण साधनेन—Daya.).

Sisitam—तीक्ष्णी कुर्याताम् (sharpens—Daya.).

Hymn-40

1. Soma-Pusana, bliss and sustenance, incoming (prana) and outgoing (apana) breath—Daya. The soma may be moon or plant (Wilson). See verse 4.

Amṛtasya nabhim—the source (or navel) of immortality (अमरणस्य हेतुम्, the cause or source of not dying—Sayana).

2. Pakvam amasvantah janad usriyasu—Produced the mature miik in the immature heifers (आमासु तरुणीषु । उस्रियासु गोषु । अन्त: मध्ये अध: प्रदेशे । पक्वं परिपक्वं पय: । जनत् जनयति—Sayana) i.e. produced rain in the newly-risen clouds.

3. Vimanam saptacakram—the seven-wheeled car, the year consisting of seven seasons; the additional thirteenth month regarded as the seven season (सप्तचक्रं सप्ततुं चक्रं । त्रयोदशोमास: सप्तम ऋतु: । "अस्ति त्रयोदशो मास:"—Tait. S. VI.5.3.4), Sayana.

Panca rasmim, five reins; this refers to the solar year, reduced by the amalgamation of the cold and dewy seasons into one to five seasons—Sayana ("द्वादशमासा: पञ्चर्तवो हेमन्तशिशिरयो: समासेन" Ait. Br. I.1. Five pranas, or vital airs (पञ्चप्राणाऽपानव्यानोदानसमाना रश्मय इव यस्मिँस्तम्—Daya.).

4. Soma as a vegetable abides on the earth; in the second, or the firmament, he is represented by the moon.

5. Visvani bhuvana jajana—has generated all beings (or worlds —Daya.). Compare सोम: पवते जनितामतीनाम्—Ṛv. IX.96.5, Soma, the progenitor of wise or pious. Wilson thinks that allusion is intended to the effects of libations offered in sacrifice as productive of rain, and thence of nourishment, upon which existence depends.

Hymn-41

For verses 6,12,20 and 21, see III.13; VI.1; IX.38 and IX.37 respectively.

See the Yajurveda for verses 1 (Yv. XXVII.32), 2 (XXVII.29), 4 (VII.9), 7, 8 and 9 (XX.80—83), 13 (VII. 34)

1. Niyuts, the niyut steeds are the horses of the car of Vayu (Sahasrinahs 1000 in number); Niyutvān, नियम नियुक्त:—Daya.;

2. Sukra, bright or resplendent (Sayana); a graha, a vessel, a ladle or cup of Soma juice (Mahidhara).

6. Aditya danunaspati—Adityas, lords of the act of bestowing, i.e. lord of gifts (दानुनस्पति=दानपति)—Nir. II.13.

8. Parah, far off; antarah, nigh or near (समीपवर्ती—Sayana); in the middle (मध्यस्थ:—Daya.) (पर=असम्बद्ध, unconnected, अन्तर=सम्बद्ध, connected or related—Mahidhara).

12. Asah, means quarters, so called from being situated (a-sad मासदनात्); asah also means intermediate quarters, so called from pervading, √as, √अश्, अभ्यशनात्—Nir. VI.I.

19. Sambhuva, may the two (heaven and earth)—who confer good fortune upon the sacrifice proceed to the altar—According to Sayana, the objects addressed are the two sakatas, carts or barrows, which are employed to bring the fuel or the Soma plants and are placed in front of the hall of sacrifice, north and south of an altar erected outside and which are considered here as the types of Heaven and Earth, who, properly speaking, are the deities of the trica (त्रिच, 19-21), and sakatas are requested, according to Sayana to proceed to the west part of the Southern Vedi or altar, (हविर्धाने अनसी तद्रूपे द्यावापृथिवी वा। प्रेताम् उत्तरवेदे: पश्चिमभागं प्रतिगच्छताम्—Sayana).

Havirdhana, oblation containers (See Yv. V.14-21).

20. Today, may heaven and earth extend further our performance, i.e. this sky-touching sacrifice, to the gods (Nir. IX.38).

21. See Nir. IX.37—Let them (gods) sit in your lap in your bosom (or else, O ye not to be injured). Holy gods, accomplishers of sacrifice; here today, for the drinking of Soma.

Hymn-42

For verse 1, see Nir. IX.4.

1. Crying violently and proclaiming its nativity, it impels speech as a rower a boat, O bird, be highly auspicious. May no apparition whatsoever find thee anywhere.

It cries violently, proclaiming its birth, i.e., its name is onomatopoetric. It propels speech as a rower does a boat. O bird, be highly auspicious, i.e. exceedingly auspicious. Mangalam (auspicious) is derived from √गॄ, meaning to praise. Or else, from √ गॄ, to swallow, i.e. it swallows evil things. Or else the word is ạnga-lam, i.e. having limbs. According to the etymologists, it is derived from √ मज्ज्, i.e.

it submerages sin (मज्जयतिपापकम्). Or else, people say, "let it come to me (from root gam (गम्) with mam (माम्). May no overpowering force find thee on any side. (Nir.IX.4).

In this verse, the name Kapinjala does not occur, but the Anukramanika gives कपिञ्जलरूपीन्द्रो देवता। Kapinjala is ordinarily the Francoline partridge (Wilson).

2. In the region of the pitṛs (पित्र्यामनु प्रदिशं) i.e. in the South.

Hymn-43

2. Brahmaputra, the same as the Brahmanacchansi (ब्राह्मणाच्छंसी), one of the sixteen priests, who recites the mantra that is not to be sung or chanted.

Sakuni, is Kapinjala bird.

3. Karkarih-yatha, like the lute (कर्करिरिव वदसि—Sayana, भृशं कुर्वन् —Daya.).

NOTES ON BOOK III

Hymn-1

For verse 12, see Nir. VI.17.

In this hymn, Agni stands for the terrestrial fire, obtained by attrition, but by and by, as we proceed onwards, it represents the Fire Divine, the cosmic fire, and ultimately the adorable Lord.

For verse 12, see Nir. VI.17.

1. Adrim, a stone, also cloud (Nigh. I.10).

Adrim yunje, I take hold of the stone, or I join the stone, i.e. I toil.

Accha=accha (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः) ।

2. Prancam yajnam cakṛma, made the performance of worship progressively increasing.

Yajnam, company of good people (Daya.).

Namasa, with prayer; with respect and service.

Kavi and gṛtsa, both men of wisdom.

3. Apsu, in ethereal vapours, in waters, in vital airs (जलेषु प्राणेषु वा—Daya.); apasi, in actions (कर्मणि).

Svasṛnam, of sisters.

4. Yahvih, यह्वी from yahu, restless, swift or mighty, strong. In Nigh. II.2, one of the apatya terms, offspring, child (cf Ṛv. VIII.60.13, सहसो यहुः=महसो पुत्र., Sayana).

Yahvah, यह्वः—continuously moving or flowing also=mahat (महत्), यह्वयः महत्यो नद्यः (Sayana); when masculine, means also yajamana, a sacrificer, Unadi I.134; feminine and dual, heaven and earth; plural, then the flowing waters, as in sapta yahvih, seven great rivers. The seven waters are urjasvati, payasvati, tarasvati, sarasvati, harasvati, rodhasvati, and bhasvati (Nigh. I.13). Dayananda translates sapta-yahvih, as the seven prominent or great ladies, (or a lady with seven great characteristics, indicated by the seven terms urjasvati etc.).

For Yahvih, see Ṛv. I.32.12 also.

Seven Yahvih are Nature's seven bounties (same as enumerated).

5. Kavibhih, by men of wisdom and art.

8. Kavya, the art of an artist; the creativity of a man of talents; poetry.

9. Pituh udhah, udders of the creator; udhah means clouds when used figuratively; also night (Nigh. 1.7).

Dharah, currents, flows.

Yahvibhih, by the mighty or great ones; i.e. by Nature's great bounties.

10. Sapatni, the wife whose husband is of similar nature; also the lady who has only one husband (सपत्नी समान एक: सूर्य: पतिर्ययोस्ते—Sayana).

Manusye, for the good of mankind.

Ubha, the two, a pair of husband and wife; the pair of heaven and earth; (द्यावापृथिवी).

11. Jaminam Svasṛnam, the sisters, the enjoying ones; the fingers of a palm.

Apah, waters, or showers of butter enkindling the fire.

12. Yahvah, great; an epithet of agni.

13. Apam, of vital breaths; of waters.

Apam garbham, embryo of waters; the one present in the core of breaths; vapours of the cosmos. (प्राणानां मध्ये व्यापनम्—Daya.).

15. Damyebhih anikaih, with the invincible valours. Anika= army.

17. Damunah rathirah, one possessing invincible chariots or war vehicles.

18. Durone, in the house.

Vidathani Kavyani, all sciences and techniques.

21. Visvamitrebhih, by those persons who are friendly and helpful to all.

23. Puru-damsam, to the one with a variety of actions and attainments; abounding in wonderful and mighty deeds.

Goh sanim ilam, गो: सनिं इलां, the land sustaining cattle; Sanim—विभक्ताम्; goh—वाच: (Daya.); the discriminating speech.

The same verse (इलामग्ने) occurs as the burden of several other hymns of Book III 1,5,6,7,15,22 and 23.

Hymn-2

1. Dvita hotaram, to the twofold functions; perhaps the lighting of the Garhapatya (domestic) and Ahavaniya (sacrificial) fires. (Wilson); hotaram, दातारं (Daya.).

2. Matroh, of mothers (here parents).

5. Vṛkta barhisak, with strewn holy grass, i.e. having practised austerity; by them who have covered the atmosphere with penetrating smoke of the fire sacrifice (barhih=interspace or atmosphere).

8. Purah-hitah, the first sustainer; the foremost benefactor; placed foremost or in front; charged; commissioned; one holding a charge or responsibility, पुरोहित: पुर एनं दधति, domestic chaplain is so called because they place him in front (Nir.II.12).

9. Tisrah, the three lights, (of interspace), terrestrial, electrical and solar—Daya.; or three forms, material, ethereal and celestial (मनोमय, प्राणमय, अन्नमय); the fuel fire established on the earth; the lightning in the interspace, and the solar in heaven.

10. Visam, people; vispatim, protector of the people.

13. Ṛtavanam, the one avowed for the pursuit of truth.

14. Namasa, नमसा, with adoration, respect and prayer.

Hymn-3

For verse 4, see Nir. V. 2.

1. अथा=अथ

2. Dasmah, accomplishing wonderful deeds; the splitter of solid substances (मूर्त्तद्रव्याणामुपक्षयिता—Daya.).

3. Vidathasya, of the physical sciences (पदार्थविज्ञानस्य—Daya.). Vidatha, knowledge, wisdom; knowledge given to others; instruction, direction, rule command; vidatham a-vad, विदथम् आ—√वद् to impart knowledge; also a meeting, assembly (for the observance of festive and religious rites); a council, congregation; also host, army.

Vidatham, विज्ञानकारकमध्ययनाध्यापनं यज्ञं (Daya. I.117.25, the noble work of teaching and acquiring knowledge); विज्ञान स्वरूपक, God, the personified knowledge; (Daya. II.12.15); a war or struggle for righteousness (VI.52.17).

4. Bhandate, praises; applaud; bhandana (applause) is derived from √bhand, √भन्द् to praise (Nir. V. 2).

Dhamabhih, with many names.

Purupriyah kavih, the widely loved ward.

5. Candram, the giver of joy; shining like gold (आनन्दकर देदीप्यमानं सुवर्णमिव वर्त्तमानम्, Daya. also Nigh. I.2).

Candraratham, the joyful chariot; harivratam, the chariot provided with steady horses.

6. Jantubhih, with creatures, including men (jantu=man, Nigh. II.3).

7. Jarasva=jarati, an act of worship (Nigh. III.14) urja= energy, isah=food.

8. Namasa jutibhih, with praises and laudations.

11. Dansanabhyah, by the excellent actions; by the pleasant actions (Daya.).

Dansana, a surprising or wonderful deed, marvellous power or skill (Ṛv. I.166.13).

Hymn-4

1. Samit—that knowledge which really illuminates in all proper aspects; the fuel as of wood (Daya.). सम्यगिध्यते दीप्यतेऽनया सा विद्या; काष्ठादिर्वा; वेद विद्या); also Vasanta or spring season. The words derived from it are Samidham, समिधं, समिधा etc; also समिन्ध, to set fire to, set alight, light up, kindle or ignite; समिध्यते, to be kindled, take fire, or break out into flame; Samidha-kastha, log of wood, Samit-pani, holding fuel or fire-wood in the hands, usually pupils when they approach their preceptors; Samidadhana, the placing on of wood or fuel for the oblation to fire; Samidha, set alight or on fire, lighted, kindled; Samiddha-homa, a libation poured out upon lighted wood; Sam-eddhṛ, one who kindles, kindling.

Suca-suca, होमसाधनेन, by spoon or laddle for pouring oblations (Daya.), like butter into fire, शुचाशुचा अत्यर्थं प्रसर्पकेण ज्योतिषा युक्तस्त्व—Sayana (from √शुच्, to shine; or from isucir, पूति भावे, to purify); with extreme purity and supreme enlightenment.

Note the pairs used in this verse: Samit-Samit, suca-suca, deva-devan, and sakha-sakhin.

2. Ahan-trih, thrice in a day.

Tanunapat, see earlier notes on it.

3. Ilah, the earth (Nigh. I.1).

प्रच्छा = प्रच्छ

Vṛsabham, showerer of benefits, showerer of wisdom (उपदेशवर्षक: —Daya. I.165.7); the excellent one (प्रशस्तम्—Daya.). The term is used as an epithet for the sun, for the supreme Lord; and for the foremost leader in the social structure.

4. Barhih, interspace (antariksa—Daya. also Nigh. I.3).

5. Sapta-hotrani, seven parts of the Havana or fire-ritual: agnyadhana, samidadhana, ajyahuti, jalasincana, svistakṛta-ahuti, havir-ahuti, and purnahuti, i e. (i) kindling the fire, (ii) putting the fuel sticks, (iii) oblations of butter, (iv) sprinkling of water, (v) benedictory oblation, (vi) oblations of havih, i.e. food, sweets, fruits, milk products, and medicinal herbs; (vii) the final and concluding oblations.

Sapta-hotrani, may also mean seven hotṛs or priests; Yajamana, Brahma, Udgata, Hota, Adharyu, Brahma, and the wife of the Yajamana. The seven-hotṛs in our physical body are two eyes, two ears, two nostrils and one mouth.

6. Upaka, present in close proximity (Nigh. II.16).

Mitra, wind (Daya.); Varuna, water or ocean. Indra, fire from friction or electricity; Marut, vital principles.

7. Svadhaya, by water, by food.

Sapta-pṛksasah, सप्त पृक्षास:, the seven related ones; here the seven hotṛs or ministering priests or the sense organs—two eyes, two ears, two nostrils and a mouth, or the five sense organs or sight, hearing, smelling, touch and taste, mind and intellect.

8. Bharati, Sarasvati and Ila, see earlier notes (I.3.10)—Divine culture, divine speech, and divine wisdom. According to Dayananda, Bharati is speech supported by knowledge and good instruction: Ila is pṛthivi, or the mother-land; and Sarasvati, is the divine intellect, with extensive knowledge.

Bharati bharatibhih sajosah, may in our social structure, the speech of one be in concordance with the speech of the other.

Manusyebhih devaih ila, may the thinking of general masses in society be in harmony with the thinking of learneds.

Sarasvati sarasvatebhih—may the learning of one be in consonance with the learning of others.

According to Dayananda again, may the concepts of our people be based on wisdom of learned, may the reputation of people be on sound merits, and may our utterances be based on the utterances of all in one unison.

9. Yukta-grava, the one incorporating the clouds (Daya., grava=cloud, Nigh. I.10); the one who performs yajna or sacred acts of dedication.

Deva-kamah, one cherishing to be a learned.

10. Vanaspate, O Lord of forests; the protector of rays (किरणानां पालकः—Daya.).

वनं=ray (Nigh. I.5).

11. Suputra aditih, the mother blessed with worthy children.

Svaha, excellent food; well-meant speech; with the oblations offered with deepest regards. (शोभनान्नेन सुशिक्षितया वाचा वा—Daya.); also, Hail; dedicatory syllable.

Hymn-5

1. Prthupajah, of mighty or extensive strengths.

Vahnih, the carrier (वोढा) or conveyor; the fire.

2. Predvagnih=pra+it+u+agnih (प्र+इत्+ऊँ इति । अग्नि:) u—an interjection of calling to (vitarke); of compassion; a particle implying promise to protect; a particle used at the beginning of a sentence.

Namasyah, adorable; deserving or paying homage, venerable, humble; other related words are namasah (नमस:), favourable, kind (Unadi III.117); namasana (नमसाना), paying obeisance, worshipping (Av.); namasya (नमस्य), to pay homage or worship, be humble or deferential; namasya (नमस्या), reverence, adoration (X.104.7) cf. to Arabic namaz.

3. Viksu, in the progeny.

4. The verse relates to the qualities of a friend or Mitra; he is purifier like Agni or fire; hota=आदाता=an acceptor; Varunah, venerable or exemplary.

Jatavedah, knower of all that is born or that exists; Lord of universe; also from √विद्, to have, to possess, and thence, having whatever is born or created as his property; all-possessor; or from vid, to know, and hence knowing all created beings; name of fire also.

Parvatanam, of clouds (Nir.X.9; Nigh.I.10); or rocks.

5. Sapta-sirsanam, of the seven-headed one; the one who has seven rays, i.e. the sun. (May also mean Seven-Maruts or seven vital principles, protected by Agni, adorable Lord). The Lord protects all the places on the earth (ripah=earth; Ṛv. X.79.3 also; Nigh.I.1); He protects the regions of the sun, of the interspace with the system of cosmic winds or maruts, and protects the sacrifices (upamadam, the rejoicing ones—upa+madam; also upama+dam (उपमा+दम्) or य उपमां ददाति तम्, one who gives the similies).

6. Nama, नाम, speech or water (Nigh.I.11).

Visvani vayunanividvan, one who having the knowledge of all our actions (वयुना=action; also प्रज्ञा or प्रज्ञानं, intellect or knowledge).

In the Nighantu, vayunam (वयुन) is one of the prasasya (प्रशस्य) synonyms, the praiseworthy ones (III.8); one of the eleven synonyms of prajna (प्रज्ञा), or supreme understanding or intellect (III 9); one of the 84 padas or terms (IV.2).

The term vayunani vidvan (वयुनानि विद्वान्) is commented in the Nirukta (VIII.20) as प्रज्ञानानि प्रजानन, i.e. well-versed in all branches of knowledge. (X.70.10). Vayunani is also deserving or noble actions (प्रशस्तानि कर्माणि, Yv.V.56; प्रशस्यानि कमनीयानि वा कर्माणि, I.92.6.—Daya.). Our Lord is vayunavit, since He alone knows all our actions of merits and demerits (Yv. XXXVII.2).

7. Matara punah punah navyasi kah, provides again and again new glories to both the parents, earth and heaven.

8. Pitroh upasthe agnih urusyat—seated in the midst of the two parents, earth and heaven, may this agni protect us.

Urusyat, behaves in multiple forms आत्मन उरु बँहुरिवाचरति (Daya.) (Also Panini VI.3.133, to protect, secure or defend).

10. यदी=यदि

Nakam, where there is no pain (Panini VI.3.75); the non-existence of pain, i.e. pleasure or happiness (na+a+kam=not+pain); it also means the sun.

Hymn-6

1. Karavah=कारुका:=शिल्पिन:, the accomplishers of arts and crafts (I.11.6; VI.46.1); similar terms are karum (I.102.9)—शिल्पकार्यं कर्त्तारम्, I.31.8; 165.14). Karuh, कारु:, is also the poet or bird who sings poems, I.83.6.

The Nirukta comments on IX.112.3—I am a bard (कारु); my father is a physician, my mother a stone grinder; here karu is a composer of hymns (Nir. VI.6, कर्त्ता स्तोमानम्), karu, according to Dayananda, is a technician or a technologist, a teacher in handicrafts (Yv. XXIX.32).

Ghṛtaci, pertaining to ghṛta or water (ghṛta=water, Nigh.I.12; Nir. VII.24); abounding in ghee or clarified butter; filled with ghee; sprinkling ghee, shining with ghee. Ghṛtaci is also a synonym of night (Nigh.I.7; Av. XIX.48.6).

2. Sapta-jihvah, seven-tongued one; for the seven tongues of flame, see Mundaka I.2.4—काली, कराली, मनोजवा, लोहिता, धूमवर्णा, स्फुलिगिनी, विश्वरुची, the colours of the flame; similarly seven rays of the sun,—seven colours of the visible part of the spectrum—violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red.

यदी=यदि, permissible in the Vedic metres.

3. Manusi visah, human races, mankind.

Devayantih, with a desire to attain divinity or nobility; the one who longs for the enlightened ones (दिव्या गुणा विदुषो वा कामयन्तीः—Daya.).

Prayasvatih, abounding in prayah, or luxuries or delicacies of various sorts (प्रियो बहुविधं तर्पणम्).

4. Sapatni, the lady attached and dedicated to one husband alone.

Urugayasya, praised by many, loved by all, very popular (बहुभिः स्तुतस्य—Daya.).

Dhenu, धेनू, cows (dual).

5. Carsaninam neta, leader of people, leader of masses; of people (मनुष्याणाम्—Daya.).

6. Kesina, the one with tuft of hairs; the one abounding in rays. (बह्वः केशाः किरणाःविद्यन्ते ययोस्तौ—Daya).

Yogyabhih, with earth (Daya.), or joined with cords.

8. Umah, ऊमाः, attractive (कामनीयाः—Daya.).

Asvah, अश्वाः, penetrating rays (व्याप्तिशीलाः किरणाः—Daya.). (Nigh. I.5).

9. Saratham, one with a chariot.

Nanaratham, one with an array of chariots.

Patnivatah-Trimsatam-trin, thirty and three (33). That is, the thirty-three devatas with their respective wives. Nature's bounties along with their beauties (beauties are their wives as if). The thirty-three devas enumerated are eight vasus, eleven rudras, twelve adityas, Prajapati (yajna) and Indra (electricity)—Satapatha Brahmana, (Eight vasus are pṛthivi (earth); jala (water), agni, (fire), vayu (air), and akasa (ether); moon, the Sun, and stars or constellations. The eleven rudras are the eleven pranas or vital breaths; prana, apana, vyana, udana, samana, naga, kurma, kṛkala, devadutta, dhananjaya and the soul. The twelve months of a year are twelve adityas).

10. Ṛtavari, the spiritual currents flowing from the eternal truth (Ṛta); the source from which flow the currents of numerous waters (Daya.).

Ṛtajatasya, of those who are born of eternal truth.

Hymn-7

1. Sitipṛstha, शितिपृष्ठ, white-backed (i.e. with whiteness background; also black-backed (Wilson, also Daya., Yv. 29.58); dhaseh, pertaining to one that holds; here fire.

Sapta-vanih—seven tones; seven flowing rivers (Wilson); speeches coming out of seven doors (Daya.)—guttarales, palatales, linguales, dentales, labiales, nasal, and laryngeal.

2. Ṛtasya Sadasi, in the abode of ever-lasting truth (Daya.); the abode of the water (the firmament—Wilson); dhenavah, speech (Daya.); propitiators (Sayana).

3. Bhavantih, mares; the existing ones (वर्त्तमानाः, Daya.).

Atasasya dhaseh, for the sake of cherishing of the perpetual going (Sayana); (व्याप्तस्य पोषकस्य—Daya.).

5. Sevam, शेवम्, pleasure (Nigh.III.6).

6. Ghosam, speech (Nigh.I.11).

Hymn-8

For verse 1, see Nir. VIII.18.

The deity of this hymn is considered to be the Yupa (यूप) or the traditional sacrificial post, as single or as many (यूपाः for verses 6-10); but according to Dayananda, the deity is visvedevah, for the whole hymn.

1. Vanaspate, Lord of beams, the Sun; also the protector of forests (Daya. since vana=ray, Nigh. I.5); also Brahma, the sun etc. (Daya. Yv.IV.11); vegetation like asvattha is also vanaspati (Daya. Yv.XIII.29).

Adhvare, at the worship, or at a non-violent act of public good. (such as teaching, administration, etc. Daya.).

Daivyena madhuna, with divine melodies, heavenly meath (Griffith), sacred butter (Wilson); sweet temperament (Daya.).

For verse 1, see Nir. VIII.18.

"O Lord of herbs, lovers of the gods anoint you with divine honey in sacrifice. Whether you stand uplifted or whether your abode is in the lap of this mother, here bestow wealth on us." On this the Nirukta comments: "Lovers of the gods anoint you, O Lord of herbs (vanaspate), with divine honey and clarified butter in sacrifice. Whether you stand uplifted, or whether your dwelling place is made in the lap, i.e. bosom, of this mother, you shall give us riches.

"It is Agni," says Sakapuni.

3. Yajnavahase, to one who toils on the soil (toiling on the soil is a public act of selflessness for the production of food).

Hymn-9

For verses 2 and 8, see Nir. IV.14.

1. Apam napatam, imperishable life-force; (प्राणानां मध्ये आत्मत्वे नाशरहिते—Daya.); also fire, the grandson of water (fire wood is the son of water, since vegetation is born of water; fire is the child of wood, since it is obtained out of wood by attrition, and hence fire is the grand-child of waters).

2. Apah, vital regions; also waters.

Vana, वना, cherishable (वनानि याचनीयानि—Daya.).

Yat dure san iha abhavah, and hence though at a distance, is always close to us. (in the case of fire, although not yet kindled, yet as soon as attrition of the touchwood takes place, Agni, the fire, appears)

3. Prapranye yanti paryanya asate, some move forward, whilst the others sit close by. According to Sayana, an allusion is made to the sixteen priests, of whom the adhvaryu and eleven others take an active part in the ritual whilst the udgatṛ and other three are sitting by, engaged in the recital of the prayers and hymns. In fact, the theists, the believers in God, go ahead in their spiritual development, whilst the atheists, unbelievers or infidels lag behind.

5. Sasṛvamsam iva, like the one going; like the one approaching (प्राप्नुवन्तमिव—Daya.); like the fugitive or non-obedient son treated with harshness by his father.

7. Pasavah, cattle or animals, bipeds and quadrupeds.

Apisarvare, in the definite dim darkness of night.

9. Trini sata tri-sahasrani agnim trisatca devah nava—This means three thousand three hundred and thirty (plus three, ca standing for another three), 3330 (or 3333), and further nine (3339 or 3342).

(Hiranyagarbha etc.), For this enumeration, see Bṛhadaranyaka Anandagiri gives the figure 3336; but in the following verses of the Upanisad, only thirty-three have been enumerated—8 vasus+11 rudras+12 adityas+Indra+Prajapati=33. Mahidhara explains part of the increase by multiplying 33 by 10 for the ganas of the deities, making not very correctly 333; and repeating this number twice, once for their multiplication by Brahma, Visnu, and Rudra, again by their Saktis, but these explanations are far from satisfactory.

The Vedic verse, in fact, appears to enumerate 3339 or 3342, but nobody has been so far able to give a satisfactory elucidation of such numerals.

Hymn-10

1. Agni, adorable Lord, resplendent like fire (Daya.).

Adhvara, the non-violent or peaceful yajna, here referring to the loving heart.

2. Agni, the Lord, who burns out the evils, like nescience etc. (Daya.).

Sve dame, in your own way; of your own accord; in our or your own house.

3. Jataveda, the omniscient or knower of all things that are born; also the omnipresent, or the one present in everything that is born (Daya.).

4. Sapta-hotṛ, seven officiating priests; on the human plane, the five vital breaths, mind and intellect (Daya.); in the material universe, they represent the five elementary substances, time and space (pṛthivi, apah, tejas, vayu, akasa, kala and dig).

Hymn-11

1. Vicarsanih, all seeing विशेषेण द्रष्टा; illuminator (,प्रकाशक:,—Daya.);=विश्वचर्षणि: (Sayana); one of the पश्यति कर्मणा:, the seer (Nigh. III.11); also vi+kṛs, vi+kṛsa=vilekhane (Daya.).

2. Dutah, divine carrier of enlightenment across nescience (अविद्याया पारे विद्याया गमयिता—Daya.).

4. Vahnim, carrier of virtues, सद् गुणाना वोढारम् (Daya.); also fire.

Hymn-12

1-9. Indragni, air and electricity (or lightning); one with resplendence and knowledge; the destroyer of evil virtues like lightning and the consumer of evil persons like fire; sun and lightning; the one similar to the sun and lightning; air and fire, army and army chief with characteristic virtues of air and electricity; (Daya.). Also a pair of vijnana and ananda.

Hymn-13

1. Barhih, a very common term in the Vedic terminology, used in numerous connotations. It is a pada-nama in Nigh.V.2; the one in which objects attain growth or development, and hence interspace (Daya. Yv. 2.22; Nigh.I.3); also the well-acquired knowledge (संवर्धितं तेज वा विज्ञानम्; Daya. I.188.4); a comfortable seat, may be of grass (उत्तममासनम्, *Daya.*IV.9.1; a big house or building, Daya I.142.5; a bundle of grown grass, (उपवर्धकोदर्भसमूहः, Daya. Yv. XVIII.21); a good quality oblation (उत्तमं प्रवृद्धं हविः, Daya. VII.7.3); a decent place of meeting (Daya. Yv. 28.4).

Barhistham, the learned persons participating in Yajna or sacred acts (Daya.); it here also denotes, to the utmost power, superlative extent.

Yajistha, best offerer. (अतिशयेन यष्टा—Daya.).

5. Vasyubhih dhitobhih, through his own excellent designs (dhitibhih,—by the sustaining and other characteristics, Daya. 1.22.14); also fingers (Nigh.II.5).

6. Sam saucah, may you augment felicity (or peace and prosperity).

Hymn-16

1. Vṛtrahathanam, वृत्रहथानाम्=वृत्रहतानाम् of the slayers of Vṛtva, the evil forces; i.e. those who repel evils.

Hymn-17

For verse 5, see Nir.V.3.

2. Jatavedah, omnipresent fire or the one present in every born or created object (यो जातेषु पदार्थेष्वभिवाप्य विद्यते सोऽग्निः—Daya. VII.12.2); also used for one who knows all that is born, the omniscient Lord (यो जातान् सर्वान् वेत्ति, जातान् विन्दति वा—Daya. 1.44.1); also used for learned persons (Yv. XXVII.22).

3. Trinyayunsi, three existences, or three forms of manisfestations, the wood-fire, the sun-fire (atomic-fuel), and the metabolic fire. In ceremonies the three existences are due respectively to the burning of wood, butter, and other offerings of cereals, medicinal herbs etc.

Tisrah usasah, the three dawns pertaining to summers, rains and winters.

Hymn-18

2. Vaso, O giver of comforts; giver of dwellings, वसु इति धन नाम, Nigh. II.10, vasu is knowledge, wealth etc. (I.47.6), वसन्ति सुखेन यत्र, तद् विज्ञानम् i.e. vasu is enlightenment, the cause of happiness (Daya.).

3. When applied to the ritual fire, ghṛta is butter, and idhma is wood fuel, and havya is the offerings of cereals and herbs. On the spiritual side, ghṛta is devotion, bhakti or upasana, idhma or fuel is the karma or dedicated actions, and havya is the divine knowledge or jnana.

4. Te tanvam bhuri krtvah, them, who toil to serve you, (repeatedly sprinkle thy substance—Wilson).

Hymn-20

1. Dadhikra, divine gravitational forces; a horse (यो धारकान् क्रामति, तमश्वम्—Daya.; also the fire or electricity or the gravitational force, पृथिव्यादि धारकाणां क्रमितारम्,—i.e. the fire, Daya. VII.42.2); horse, (Nigh. IV.11; Yv. IX.14, Ṛv. IV.40.4).

2. Trivajina, three viands, butter (ajya); fuel (idhma), and Soma and other medicinal herbs (havya); (knowing, going and attaining; ज्ञान, गमन and प्राप्ति, Daya.).

Tri sadhastha, त्रीषधस्था, three abiding places; three altars (धिष्ण्या), आग्नीध्रीय etc. or एकाह, अहीन and सत्र); or three daily sacrifices (प्रातः, माध्य and तृतीय savanas, morning, noon and evening); the three worlds, pṛthivi, antariksa and dyau, earth, interspace and celestial.

Tisrah jihvah, three tongues, three fires—garhapatya, ahavaniya and daksina.

Tisrah tanvah, three forms or three fires termed as pavaka, pavamana and suci (पवमानपावकशुच्यात्मकानि त्रीणि शरीराणि—Sayana).

Hymn-21

For verse 4, see Nir. V.11.

1. Stokanam, of any small portions; (अल्पानां पदार्थानाम्—Daya.): the word stokah has been interpreted by Sayana as बिन्दवः or drops; the hymn according to Sayana is proper to animal sacrifice, pasu-yagam (पशुयागम्).

Medasah, of oily, fatty, viserus, स्निग्धस्य, स्निग्धाः—Daya.

Ghṛtasya, of clas̆sified butter. On the adhyatma paksa (mystic interpretation), the term means love, affection, or devotion.

Yajnam, devotional worship (not animal sacrifice in the traditional sense.); an act of public good (विद्वत्सत्कारसत्सङ्गशुभगुणदानाख्यम्—Daya.).

4. Kavisastah—praised by wise and learned, कविभिर्विद्वद्भिः प्रशंसितः—Daya.

Adriguh, lit. irresistible, means a stanza, so called from being at the head of a cow (गव्यधिकृतत्वात्, i.e. अधि-गुः); or else, it is intended to refer to an injunction, for there is a repetition of words: अध्रिगो शमीध्वं सुशमि शमीध्वं शमीध्वमध्रिगविति, Toil, O irresistible one, toil well, toil, O irresistible one (Ait. Br. II.7.11).

The drops flow for thee, O irresistible and mighty one—तुभ्यं श्चोतन्त्यध्रिगो शचीवः, अधृतगमनकर्मवन्; i e., one whose motion is unrestrained and who is active. Indra is also called adhrigu or irresistible—अध्रिगव ओहमिन्द्राय (I send a gift to the irresistible Indra) Ṛv.I.61.1 (See Nir.V.11).

5. Medah, affection, स्नेहः (Daya.); it is vapa (वपा) or fatty matter that lubricates the abdomen like coagulated butter.

Hymn-22

According to the ritualists, the each verse of this hymn is to be recited separately as the Adhvaryu constructs an altar.

The hymn occurs as Yv. XII.47-51.

1. Sahasrinam vajamatyam na saptim sasavan—enjoying a thousand-fold food like a quick-going horse, (Wilson); to that wind, which moves with speed, and which possesses a force in immense measures; saptim is horse of the name agni (अग्न्याख्यमश्वम् —Daya.). Like a horse that enjoys various properties a battle—सहस्रं नानारूपं तं युद्धं यो भजति स सहस्रितमश्वमिव—Sayana.

Mahidhara gives entirely a different sense.

2. This refers to several forms of existences of agni (i) as the sun in celestial region; (ii) as sacrificial fire on land; (iii) as fire of attrition in wood, and (iv) as submarine fire (in water), and as (v) wind in midspace.

3. Divo arnam, as vapour in heaven; or smoke (दिवः—सूर्य प्रकाशात् । अर्णम्—उदकम्—Daya.).

Dhisnya, prana or the devas presiding over vital airs—प्राणाभिमानिनो देवाः—Sayana, धर्षितुं योग्याः—Daya.

Rocane, in the effulgence of the Sun (सूर्य प्रकाशे—Daya.). According to Sayana, rocana is said to be the region where the fiery radiance burns.

4. Purisyasah—the sustainer, पुरीषेषु पालकेषु पृथिव्यादिषु व्यापकत्वेन भवाः (Daya.); Sayana explains the term पुरीष्य as सिकिता संमिश्रः, mixed with sand; good for animals, पशुभ्योहितः (Mahidhara). According to Nir. II.22, पुरीषं is a synonym of water.

Pravanebhih, by the implements for digging the earth (मृत्-खनन-साधनभूतैरभ्यादिभिः,—Sayana, गमनादिभिः—Daya.).

5. The verse is repeated at III.5.11; 6.11; 7.11; 15.7; 22.5; 23.5 (as the last verse of several of these hymns).

Hymn-23

2. Devasravah, one who listens to the words of advice of wise and learned.

Devavatah, the worthy inspirers (देवो दिव्यो वातः प्रेरको यस्य सः—Daya). According to traditionalists, Devasravasa and Devavata are regarded as the two sons of Bharata who churned Agni or fire out of sticks.

Bharata, भारता—धारक—पोषकौ—Daya.

3. Dasa-ksipah, ten fingers used in attrition process for generating fire.

Matṛsu, मातृषु, in rivers (Daya., मातर इति नदीनाम—Nigh. I.13).

4. Dṛsadvati, Apaya and Sarasvati, It refers to agni that shines on the banks of these three rivers (Sayana). Dṛsadvati, any river which abounds in stones (बहवो दृषदो विद्यन्ते यस्याम्—Daya.) (not a proper noun, but a river in general).

Apayayam, आपयायाम्, प्राणिव्यापिकायाम्, pervading through vital airs —Daya.

Sarasvatyam, विज्ञानवत्यां वाचि, in divine speech of enlightenment —Daya.

Pṛthivya ilayaspade, in an excellent spot of earth (Wilson); in the footmark of the earth in the form of a cow, according to Sayana, i.e. on the northern altar (uttaravedi).

Manuse—मननशीले—Daya.; relating to man, the rational being. Perhaps also on a bank, a place frequented by men.

Hymn-24

1. See also Yv. IX.37.

3. Dyumneva jagṛve—always endowed with his vigilance by own lustre or energy (स्वतेजसा सर्वदा जागरणोपेता—Sayana, यशस्वना धनेन जागरूक —Daya.).

Sunah, son, descendent, also the sun; the destructor of evils or of evil persons (सूनया हिंसया, सूनो दुष्टानां हिंसक:, पुत्र:—Daya.).

Hymn-25

5. Apam durone samidhyase, kindled in the dwelling of the waters, i.e. as lightning in the firmament; in the dwellings of vital airs (अपां प्राणानां मध्ये—Daya.).

Hymn-26

1. Kusikasah, of the family of preceptors or kusika (कुशिक) (उपदेशका:—Daya.).

Anusatyam, अनुषत्यं=अनुसत्यं, observer of truth, to the ritualists, it is not so much of the observance of truth in the abstract, as of keeping faith with the sacrificer, by giving him the desired recompense to which he is justly entitled.

निचाय्या=निचाय्य (संहितायामिति दीर्घ:).

2. Bṛhaspatim, the Lord of the extensive universe (बृहतां पृथिव्यादीनां पालकम्—Daya.); Lord of sacred rites; the Lord of the great sacrifice (बृहतो यज्ञस्य पतिम्—Sayana).

3. Agnigasmi janmana jataveda, I am agni or fire by birth; or else I, Agni, am by birth Jataveda. (Jatavedah, knower of all that is born; also जातवित्, the enlightened—Daya.). Arka=Vajra or lightning (Nigh. II.20).

Ghṛtam me caksuh, clarified butter is my eye. This is a mystical description of the universality of Fire-Divine in the double capacity of the enjoyer and enjoyed, the food and the feeder, and in the three forms of fire, air and the sun, presiding over earth, mid-heaven and heaven; the eye of Agni is the light of all, which light is fed by oblations of butter. Ghṛtam, shining (प्रदीप्तं—Daya.).

Amṛtam me asan, embrosia is my mouth or the reward of pious acts or enjoyment of heaven and the like which is procurable through oblations to fire, as if through his mouth or countenance.

Arkah tri-dhatuh-Arka, is explained by Sayana as जगत्स्रष्टा प्राणा: world-creating vital air, which becoming three-fold is vayu in the firmament, agni on the earth and aditya, as the source of eternal warmth and life.

Sayana explains the passage in another way also: as the eye lights up the world, so ghee thrown upon the fire causes it to burn fiercer and dispense more light: amṛta is explained by prabha, light, light is in my countenance: tridhatu, Sayana refers to the three vital airs, the prana, the apana and the vyana; the identity with the air and the Sun is similarly explained. (See Yv. XVIII.66 for this verse). According to Mahidhara, it is the yajamana, who identifies himself with Agni, saying, I am by birth Agni or Agni-rupa, etc.

8. Tribhih pavitraih, by three purified forms agni, vayu and aditya. To Dayananda, the three are body, speech and mind—शरीर वाङ्मनोभि: ।

Having by self contemplation realized his identity with three manifestations, agni, vayu and aditya, he come to know his identity with the universe, as by the text: आत्मनि विज्ञाते सर्वमिदं विज्ञातं भवति, the self being known, all this (universe) is known.

9. The verse speaks of the great attributes of an enlightened person.

Hymn-27

For verse 7, see Nir. VI.7.

Vajah, spiritual knowledge and the things of the sort (विज्ञानादय: पदार्था:—Daya.); powerful food, energy giving food; Sayana translates vajah as masah (मासा:) or months.

Abhidyavah, brilliant, अभित: प्रकाशमाना:, but also half-months, अर्धमासा: ।

Havismanta, literally, having the havis or the oblation of butter.

Ghṛtacya—या घृतमुदकमञ्चति प्राप्नोति तया रात्या (Daya.); to Sayana, ghṛtaci is gaw but Vajasaneya is quoted to mean sruk, a ladle (Tai. Br.).

3. Dvesansi, animosities and hatreds; also sins (Sayana).

5. Ghṛta-nṛnik, enrobed with butter; the cleanser of butter and water (आज्योदकयोः शोधकः—Daya.).

7. Vidathani, means vedanani (वेदनानि) or knowledge; विध्यानि प्रचोदयन्, —urging forth knowledge (Nir. VI.7).

Mayaya, by wisdom or intelligence (प्रज्ञया)—Daya., by experiences (कर्मविषय ज्ञानं or knowledge of the objects of sacred rites—Sayana).

9. Daksasya pitaram tana, as the parent of the world, daughter or Prajapati Daksa (Sayana); that is, the earth, here identified with the altar, vedirupa: she sustains, धारयति, understood, him. (दक्षस्य=of the clever pupil, चतुरस्य विद्यार्थिनः, पितरं=father or father like guardian, पितृवत्पालकं; तना=by extension, विस्तृतया—Daya.).

Agni, the protector or father of the world, सर्वस्य जगतः पालकं धारयति ।

10. Ila, earth or the altar, प्रशंसितेनोपदेशेन सुसंस्कृतेनाऽन्नादिना वा—Daya. one honoured with food etc.

12. Urjo-napatam, the grandson of energy; the son of the oblation, as blazing when fed by butter and the like. Oblation preceds aditya, and from aditya, agni—a descent like this (बलाद् विनाशरहितम् —Daya.).

Kavikratum, the creation of the wise; a reference to adhvaryu or the priests who make fire by their rubbing the sticks to evolve flame.

15. Vṛsanam vṛsan vṛsanah, the sender of showers. It refers to the proper belief that the offering that is sacrified with fire proceeds entirely to the sun, from the sun is generated rain, and from rain the food; and from thence mankind (Manu III.76).

Hymn-28

For verse 2, see Nir. VI.16.

The hymn, it is so said, refers to the devotional prayers offered five times a day during the ritualistic period with special offerings of purodasa, cakes made of cereal, dressed in butter. The five are:

pratah-savana, tiro-ahnya, madhyandina savana, tṛtiye savana or sayam savana and then the fifth, tiro-ahnya These five terms occur in verses 1, 3-6 (प्रातः सवने, तिरःऽग्रह्न्य, माध्यन्दिने सवने; तृतीय सवने, तिरःऽग्रह्न्यम्) ।

The word तिरःऽग्रह्न्यं means "as the day disappears; this occurs twice, with the rising sun and with the setting sun; i.e. between the morning and midday, and between the midday and the evening (तिरश्चीनेऽह्नि भव साधु वा, तिरः स्वहस्सु साधुम्: born in the first part of the day and hence nice or good.—Daya).

2. Pacatah, पचतः—Commenting on this, Yaska says: पचतिर्नामी भूतः —pacati is used as a noun and we have तं मेदस्तः प्रतिपचताग्रभीष्टां (Maitr. S. IV.13.9; cf मेदस्तः प्रतिपचत, Yv. XXI.60; 28.23.46) meaning accept it cooked from fatty portion. The word may be used in the dual number also. It is well known when it is in the singular; for we have: पुरोला, अग्ने पचतः, which means the cooked oblation of rice, O Agni.

Hymn-29

1. Asti idam adhimanthanam, this, the apparatus of attrition, is ready. The Ṛsi of this verse is Visvamitra, who inspired by this verse, constructed the first attrition apparatus for generating fire. Adhimanthana is the stick, the string and the like placed upon the two pieces of wood to assist in their attrition. (उपरिस्थं मन्थनम्—Daya.).

Prajananam, begetting, denotes a tuft of dry grass used to catch and communicate the flame (प्रकटनम्—Daya.)

3. Idayah putrah, the son of Ida, i.e. the fire of the altar; or the son of speech, as if,—Daya., (इला=वाक्; Nigh. I.11).

4. Idayah-pade nabha pṛthivya adhi—in the middle of the northern altar. See Yv. XXXIV.14 and 15, and also Ait. Br. 1.5 Dayananda in this verse translates ida as earth; and pṛthivyah, as if the mid-space (अन्तरिक्षस्य, नाभा-मध्ये) ।

8. Sva u loke, in thine own sphere; on the centre of the north altar (Sayana); on the hide of the black antelope (Mahidhara) स्वकीये दर्शने, in one's own appearance—Daya.

Yajnam—to Sayana, it means the yajamana, यज्ञस्य कर्त्तारम्, who is to be stationed in the best place or uttame loke; or that which enjoys the fruit of the holy rite; Sukṛtasya yonau, the place of enjoyment of good deeds, सुकृतजन्योपभोगस्य स्थाने—Sayana.

9. Kṛnota dhumam, produce smoke, i.e. produce fire (by metonymy).

10. Te yonih, thy place; it alludes to the arani, the stick of vetasa or asvattha or some other tree (Sayana); household fire or the garhapatya agni—Mahidhara.

11. Tanunapat—He who does not consume the persons of the worshippers; or the grandson of waters, i.e., fire, see earlier notes I.13.2, यस्य तनूर्व्याप्तिर्न पतति—Daya.)

Matarisva, one who breathes, Svasiti, in the material atmosphere (यो वायौ श्वसिति सः).

13. Dasa svasarah, the ten fingers. When the priests and assistants behold the flame break forth, they clap their hands and make sounds of rejoicing like the parents of a new-born son, svasaṛah= fingers (अंगुलि—Nigh. II.5); sister's like fingers (भगिन्य इव वर्त्तमाना अङ्गुलयः —Daya.).

14. Saptahota, the seven vital airs.

The verse deals with the life-fire, which once initiated continues to exist throughout the lifetime. Asura—the life principles.

15. Brahmanah, of Brahma, of the creator Lord.

Kusikasah, those who have attained high elevated positions; highly enlightened ones.

Hymn-30

For verses 5, 8, 10, 17 and 19, see Nir. VI.1. (also VII.6); 1, 2, 3 and 7 respectively.

3. Susiprah, the one with handsome nose or chin (Daya.); (Nir. VI.17); a protection for the head, or helmet (Sayana).

Tarutra—the one that takes across pains and troubles (Daya.); he by whom the gods surpass or defeat the asuras (Sayana).

5. Ime cidindro rodasi etc.—These two regions, i.e. heaven and earth, having a boundary, are so called from being bounded. Rodha*s means a bank (कूल); it restrains the stream.

Kula, (bank) is derived from the root √रुज्, to break by metathesis. Apare, boundless, very extensive. These which thou hast seized are thy great fist, O Lord of Wealth. (Nir. VI.I).

7. Ghṛtaci, the blessed night and the like.

8. Ahastam indra sam pinak kunarum—O Indra, crush the handless, thundering (cloud) i.e. O Indra, having made him handless, crush the cloud that thunders all around (Nir. VI.1). Crush the increasing cloud shedding water (Sayana) (सहदानुमुदकदानोपेतं क्षियन्तमाकाशे निवसन्तं कुणारुं गर्जन्तं वृत्रम्; also सहदानु—दो अवखण्डने; पिणक्—पिष्लृ संचूर्णने—Sayana).

10 Alatṛna, means easy to pierce, i.e. a cloud, Vala (cover) is derived from the root √वृ, to cover. Vraja (enclosure) is so called because it moves in the atmosphere, of go, i.e. of the atmospheric speech. Being afraid, he yielded before slaughter. He made the paths easy to tread for driving the cattle; he made the paths easy to traverse in order to drive forth the cattle. The flowing speeches well protected the widely-invoked one, i.e., waters on account of their flowing, or speeches on account of being uttered. The rainwater is invoked by a large number of people. The verb dham means to go (Nir. VI.2).

12. Haryasva-prasutah—pertaining to water-absorbing rays—हरयो हरणशीलाः, अश्वाः किरणा यस्य तेन प्रसूता जनिताः—Daya.

Sayana translates Haryasva as Indra or he with his tawny horses.

15. Martyasah, men (Daya.); mortal enemies; killers, murderers (Sayana).

17. O Indra, tear up the Raksas with their root, rend them in the middle, shatter them in the front. How far did you entice him ? Throw the burning weapon upon the foe of prayer.

O Indra, tear up the Raksas with their root, Mulam root, is so called from releasing, √मुच्, or from stealing, or from stupefying, √मुह्. Rend them in the middle, shatter them in the front. Agram (front) is so called because it comes nearest (आ-गतम्). How far, i.e. up to what country (Nir. VI.3).

Brahmadvise—Enemy of the Veda or the atheist (यो ब्रह्म परमात्मानं वेदं वा द्वेष्टि तस्मै—Daya.).

19. Urva iva paprathe Kamo asme—our desire spreads like the submarine fire (our in the genitive case—Nir. VI.7).

Hymn-31

For verses 1 and 2, see Nir. III.4 and III.6 respectively.

1. The verse refers to a case where a person has no son, but has a daughter. In a case of such expediency, the daughter's son becomes the legal heir of his grandfather's (mother's father's) property.

Sasad-vahnih, the sonless father (Wilson), the disciplined and wise father.

The husband admits that he (the father) shall obtain a grandson from the daughter, the wise man, honouring the process of the sacred rite. When a father arranges a husband for his daughter, he bears himself with a tranquil mind.

The husband admits the daughter's right to be appointed as a son with regard to the discharge of the duties of offspring. A daughter is so called because it is difficult to arrange for her welfare, or she fares well at a distance; or the word duhita is derived from √दुह्, to milk (दुहिता दुर्हिता । दूरे हिता । दोग्धेर्वा). He has obtained a grandson, i.e. the son of the daughter is the grandson. The wiseman honouring the process of the procreative sacrifice, i e , of the diffusion of the seminal fluid, which is produced from each and every limb, which is engendered from the heart, and which is inserted in the mother, holds that both children (i.e. son and the daughter) have the right to inheritance without any distinction whatsoever. The same view is expressed by the stanza अंगादंगात्सम्भवसि० S.Br. XIV 9.4.8; Br.Up. VI.4 8. (Nir.III.4).

2. Na jamaye riktham araik—If there is a son, the inheritance does not go normally to the daughter.

Yadimataro janayanta vahnim—Here vahnih is male offspring, since he is the vodha or the carrier (or inheritor) of father's property.

The legitimate son did not leave wealth for his sister. He made her the place of depositing the seed of her husband. If the mothers have engendered offspring, one is the performer, and the other is the director of good deeds.

Na jamaye, means not for the sister. Jamih (sister) is so called because others beget, जा, i.e. offspring, on her, or the word may be derived from √जम् meaning to go; she has mostly to go to the husbands family. The legitimate, i.e. one's own son, left, i.e., gave, wealth. He made her the place of depositing the seed of her husband, i.e. the man who accepts her hand. If the mothers have engendered vahni, i.e., a son, and avahni, i.e. a daughter, one of them, i.e. the son, and the heir, becomes the procreator of children, and the other i.e., the daughter, is brought up and given away in marriage to another person. (Nir. III.6)

3. Hari-asvasya—an attribute for the resplendent Lord, in the sense that from Him (as if from the sun) emanate divine radiations.

6. Sarama, sanctified mind or divine wisdom; Indra, the individual soul. Aksaranam imperishable cows of spiritualism; supadi —Sure footed mind.

7. Vipratamah, the most virtuous.

17. Ubhe kṛsne, the two darks, meaning ahoratra, day and night.

21. Durasca visva avṛnod apa svah—he shut the gate upon all; having placed the cattle in the cow-pens, he covered or closed the doors (Sayana).

Hymn-32

1. Indra, throughout the hymn represents the lower self; the hymn refers to the midday worship (madhyandina savana); midday fire-ritual, or even midday meals (Daya.).

2. Gava siram manthinam, sukram—milk or butter milk, to be mixed with Soma, or exhilarating sweet drinks; here they represent love, with purity of heart and mind.

3. Marut, represents vital organs in the human complex where Indra functions as the lower self. Rudra is vital breath (the entire breathing complex).

4. Vṛtra—is evil, the dark overpowering force.

5 Manusvad, like an intelligent being.

Haryasva, lord of tawny steeds, i.e. the lord of sturdy organs.

Apah arna, blending of the waters of firmament with the waters of the earth; in metaphysical sense, it is the blending of spiritual joy with the joy of body.

7. Rodasi, world halves (Griffith); the earth and heaven.

8. Pṛthivi, earth, the physical or corporeal complex; the body; dyau, the heaven, the mental complex; surya, the sun, the source of intelligence; usa; the dawn, the divine inspiration.

12. Vajra, adamant will power; ahi, demoniac impulse.

Hymn-33

For verses 1, 5, 6 and 10, see Nir. IX.39, II.25, II.26, and II.27 respectively.

1. Vipat, a river flowing with a variety of movements and covering a lot of space (या विविध पटति, गच्छति विपाटयति वा मा—Daya.). See also Nir. IX.25; and II.24. The Nirukta refers to a legend, with a mention of Visvamitra (friend of all), the domestic priest of Sudas,

(a bountiful giver), son of Pijavana, one whose speed in enviable, or whose gait is inimitable. Having gathered his wealth, the priest came to the confluence of Sutudru (the Sutlej) and the Vipata (the Bias). Others followed him. Visvamitra implored the rivers to become fordable; he addressed them in the dual, as well as in the plural number. Then follows a dialogue (Nir. II.24).

Like two bright cows, like two licking mothers, Vipas and Sutudri hasten forth eagerly with their waters from the lap of the mountains contending like two mares let loose.

From the lap of the mountains, i.e. from their mountainous abode. Eagerly, i.e. longingly. Like two mares who are released, or who are out of temper. Contending (हासमाने) the verb हास् is used in the sense of emulation—or who are excited. Like two bright beautiful cows, two mothers licking together, Vipas and Sutudri hasten forth with their waters. (Nir. IX.39).

Dayananda derives the word Sutudri thus: शु शीघ्रं तुदति व्यथयति सा, one who gives trouble easily, that river. payasa, with water (Nigh I.12).

5. Ramadhvam me vacase—Stop your courses for a moment, ye great floods, at my friendly bidding. I, the son of Kusika, and desirous of protection, invoke the river with a sublime hymn.—This verse has been commented upon by Yask in the Nirukta (II.25) thus :

Stop from flowing at my friendly bidding, I who prepare Soma for you, Great Flood, rich in water. The word ऋतम् (ṛtam) is a synonym of water, so called because it pervades everything. For a moment, stop your courses, your journeys or your protections. A moment, a recurring unit of time.

Ṛtu (ऋतु) is derived from √ऋ, meaning to go.

Muhuh (मुहु:), again, as if the time was indolent (मूढ:) as long as a moment.

Abhi-ksanam (अभीक्ष्णं)=abhi+ksanam (अभि+क्षणं)—a moment.

Ksana (क्षण, an instant) is derived from √क्षण्, to injure; it is the injured time.

Kalah (काल:), time, is derived from √कल्, meaning to go.

I call upon the river with a great, mighty, sublime, profound panegyric, full of wisdom for protection, Son of Kusika. Kusika was the name of a king. The word Kusika is derived from √कुश्, meaning to cry, or √ कश्, meaning to cause to shine; or he is a good expounder of meaning.

Dayananda derives kusikasya as विद्यानिष्कर्षं प्राप्तस्य, of the one well-versed in fundamentals of knowledge.

6. Indrah asman aradat—For this verse, see Nir. II.26.

Indra, the wielder of the thunderbolt, dug our channels; he smote down Vṛtra, the enclosure of rivers. Savitṛ, the god of beautiful hands, led us hither, at his stimulation, we flow expanded.

Indra, the wielder of the thunderbolt, dug our channels, the verb रद् (rad) means to dig. He smote down Vṛtra, the enclosure of rivers, has been explained. Savitṛ, the god of beautiful hands, i.e. of auspicious hands, led us hither.

Panih (पाणि:, hand) is derived from √पण्, meaning to worship, they worship gods, having folded their hands. At his stimulation, we flow expanded, urvyah (expanded) in derived from √ऊर्णु, to cover. "It is derived from √vṛ, to cover," says Aurnavabha. Having thus answered, the rivers consented in the end.

9. Anasa=शकटेन, by a cart; rathema, by a chariot.

10. A te karo sṛnuvama—This verse has been commented by Yaska, Nir. II.27.

We shall listen to they words, O bard; thou camest from afar with this chariot, bend myself down for thee, as a nursing mother (for her son), as a maiden to embrace her lover.

Hymn-34

For verse 1, see Nir. IV.I.

1. Indra, the lower self; the soul.

Purbhit, the destroyer of strongholds of evil.

Rodasi, earth and heaven; in human body complex, the term represents the realms of body and mind.

Vidad vasuh dayamanah vi satrun, the treasure-knower, slaying his foes. In this it means to slay (Nir. IV.17).

3. Vanesu, in words; in confused human brain.

Dhenah, the cows; the wisdom (both stolen, cf., the allegory of panis etc.).

6. Mayabhih, by intellect, tact or skill (प्रज्ञाभिः—Daya.).

8. Satrasaham, सत्रासाहं, the subduer of evils, or enemies, the conqueror or victorious.

Sasavamsam, svah, apasca, enjoyer of bliss and the fruits of actions.

9. Atyan, अत्यान्, vitality; also horses; surya, divine consciousness, the sun of enlightenment; gam, speech, cow; aryam varnam, the group of virtuous people; dasyun, wickeds.

Hymn-35

2. Sapti, swift-gliding; hari; a pair of horses.

6. Dadhisva imam jathare indum—lit. take this into your belly; an idiom for 'acceptance in full.'

7. Barhih, the sacred grass, the seat; in the present context, it means 'our hearts.'

Sutah somah, the homage, emotional affection; Kṛtah dhanah, the nourishing food; haribhyam, for the two horses, the physical and mental faculties.

8. Here is a reference for the extraction of medicinal elixir from herbs, which needs an expert (नर:), pressing stones (पर्वता:), water (आप:), and is sweetened with milk (गोभि: मधुमन्तम्). Here on the metaphysical plane, the worshipful sentiments are sweetened with intellect, austerity (stones), and pure thoughts.

9. Agneh piba jihvaya, drink with tongue of fire; relish it with burning enthusiasm.

10. Sakra, strong and potent (शक्तिमान्—Daya.).

Adhvaryoh hastat, from the hands of the presenter or the superviser of ceremony; hotuh, of the hotr priest, the giver, the pious devotee.

Hymn-36

For verses 4 and 10, see Nir. VI.23 and VI.7 respectively.

1. Yadamanah—beggars (याचमान:—Daya.); allies or associates; utibhih, protective measures.

4. Mahan amatrah vrjane virapsi-amatrah (अमत्र:) means अमात्र:, without measure, great, or one who is invulnerable. Great without measure, mighty in fortified place. (Nir. VI.23).

Amatrah is learned (ज्ञानवान्)—Daya.

5. Daksina asya purvih, many are his donations; purvih=पूर्णा: or full (Daya.). Daksina is दानानि or donations, or fees or presents to priests and learned people.

10. Asme pra yandhi maghavan rjisin—Extend this to us, O Lord of wealth and wielder of thunderbolt, i.e. to us in the dative sense (अस्मे=अस्मभ्यं)—Nir. VI. & 7.

Siprin, handsome; with handsome nose and chin.

Hymn-37

2. Satakratu, an epithet of Indra; one who performs one hundred yajnas; whose actions are cent per cent selfless and unattached; by whom many great acts are performed—Daya.).

8. Jagṛvim, sleep-dispelling (awakened—जागरूकम्—Daya.; जागरणशीलम्—Sayana). According to Sayana, drinking the Soma is preventive of sleep—पीतः सोमो जागृविः स्वप्ननिवारकः ।

Hymn-38

1. दीधया=दीधय (संहितायामिति दीर्घः)

1. Tasta—A carpenter, one who planes the wood.

Atyah na vaji—As a quick horse.

The institutor of the rite is supposed here to address the officiating priests, urging them to be diligent labourers, like the carpenter or the pack-horse (Wilson). For this verse, see Ait.Br. VI.20 also.

3. Sam matrabhih mamire—They have set limits; with the elements they made determinate divisions of heaven and earth by so much, that is, to a definite limit or extent (मात्राभिः रोदस्यौ इयत्तया परिच्छिन्ने चक्रुः—Sayana; मात्राभिः सूक्ष्माऽवयवैः ममिरे निर्मिमीरन्—Daya.).

6. Gandharvan, according to Sayana, they are the guardians of Soma; according to Dayananda, they are well-trained in speech, or they are the sustainers of the earth: गन्धर्वान्—ये गां सुशिक्षितां वाचं पृथिवीं वा धरन्ति तान् ।

8. Savituh—Savitṛ is Indra according to Sayana; and the sun (Daya.).

9. Visve mayinah, विश्वे मर्वे मायिनः प्रशस्त प्रज्ञाः (maya=wisdom or intelligence). Sayana renders the phrase as all the gods (all those who exercise illusion—i.e. Asuras—(Wilson).

Hymn-39

2. Bhadra vastrani arjuna vasana—In Nigh. III.7, arjuna is the rupa-nama रूपनाम; speech, auspicious and clothed in white raiment; tejansi, splendours, energies. (Sayana).

Pitrya dhih—our ancient and paternal hymn (पितृक्रमागता स्तुतिः —Sayana); dhih=प्रज्ञा, intellect or wisdom—Daya.).

5. Dasabhih dasagvaih, ten month's rites; ten sorts of vital airs (दशभिः दशविधैर्वायुभिः, accompanied with ten sorts of movement (दशग्वैः दशविधागतयो येषान्तैः:—Daya.). See notes on I.62.4.

6. Haste dadhe daksine—he held in his right hand; that is, he delivered the rains from their imprisonment in the clouds of the firmament.

Hymn-40

1. Indra—Sayana gives a number of derivations of this word, based on the Nirukta of Yaska and the Taittiriya Aranyaka: he who sports (रमते) in the Soma juice (इन्दु); or who shows this (इदम्) universe; or he who divides (दृणाति), or gives (ददाति) or takes (दधाति), or causes to worship (दारयति) or possesses (धारयति) spirituous liquor (इरं), or who runs or passes (द्रवति) the Soma juice (इन्दौ); or kindles or animates (इन्धे) living beings, or he who beholds the pure spirit or Brahman which is this (इदम्) universe: the grammarions derive it from इदि, to rule with the affix रन्।

4. Ksayam—Abode (निवासस्थानम्—Daya.).

Hymn-41

For verse 3, see Nir. IV.19.

3. Brahmavahah, the means of attaining wealth (धनप्रापिका—Daya.); bearer of prayers (स्तोत्राणि वहति—Sayana); who bears or receives praises; or who is attained by praise or prayer.

Vihi sura purodasam—O hero, partake of the oblation; (in this) it means to eat (इति खादति कर्मा)—Nir. IV.19.

7. Tvayavah (त्वायवः)=त्वत्कामयमानाः—Daya.; devoted to thee, from त्वम् (thou) with kyac pratyaya, converting it to त्वयुः. Similarly, asmayuh, (अस्मयुः), अस्मान् कामयमानाः, devoted or inclined to us. These are the popular Vedic forms.

Hymn-43

5. Kuvit=api (कुवित्=अपि), verily, surely. Dayananda interprets it as great (महान्तम्).

6. Dvita, twofold; they make all the quarters of the horizon double, so that the sky becomes two-fold : (Sayana—it is obscure).

7. Te syenah, usate—The Aitareya Brahmana refers to a legend (III.13)—the Soma plant grew formerly only in heaven. the Ṛsis and gods considered how it might be brought down to earth, and desired the chandasas, छन्दस्, the metres of the Vedas to bring it (the relation सोम=चन्द्र=छन्दस्), changing themselves to birds (सुपर्णाः), they undertook the office; the only one, who succeeded, however, was Gayatri, in the shape of a hawk (syena), and she was wounded by an arrow shot by one of the Soma-palas (सोमपालाः) or Gandharvas, the guardians of the Soma, thence termed Soma-bhrajas, which cut off a nail of her left foot; the ichor from the wound became the vasa (वसा) or adeps of the burnt offering, (Sayana's details as summarized by wilson).

Hymn-44

The entire hymn seems to expound the beauties of the verb hr (√हृ), to take with different prefixes and suffixes, forming such words as हर्य्यतः, हरिभिः, हरित, हर्यन्, हर्यश्व, हरिधायसं, हरिवर्पसं, हरितोः, हरिः, हरितः, हरि and हर्य्यन्तम् ।

Hari (हरी) and harayah (हरयः) are Indra's horses in dual or plural; haryatah, taking, captivating or desirable; harit, the stone that bruises the Soma plant; also green; haryasva means the one who has the horse called hari; haridhayasam, yellow-rayed; harivarpasam, green-coloured, and so on.

According to Dayananda, हर्यत—कामयमानस्य; हरिभिः—अश्वैरिवसाधनैः; हरणशीलैरश्वैः; हरितम्—अग्न्यादिभिर्वाहितम्; हर्यन्—कामयमानः; हर्यश्व—हर्या—कामयमाना, अश्वा अश्वगामिनोऽग्न्यादयस्तुरङ्गा वा यस्य तत्सम्बुद्धौ; हरिधायस—या हरीन् किरणान् दधाति ताम्;

हरिवर्पसम्—हरयः किरणावर्पसो रूपस्य प्रकाशका यस्यास्ताम्; हरितोः—हरणशीलयोर्गुणयोः; हरिः—हरणशीलो वायुः; हरितः—हरितादिवर्णाः; हरिम्—हरणशीलम् ।

For Pusan discovering the hidden Soma instead of Indra, see I.23.14.

Hymn-45

1. Mayura-romabhih—peacock-haired (मयूराणां लोमानीव लोमानि येषान्ते —Daya.); with hair like feathers of the peacock, (See Yv. XX.53; the verse occurs twice in the Samaveda I.246; V.1068).

Hymn-47

For verse I, see Nir. IV.8.

1. See Yv. VII.38 also; and Nir. IV.8.

Indra, the vṛsabha, accompanied by the Maruts, is for battle. Drink Soma for rapture after food. Pour down the flood of mead into thy belly. From days of yore, thou art the king of Soma-draughts.

Indra, accompanied by the Maruts, i.e. having the Maruts as his companions. Vṛsabha, i.e. one who brings down rain. For battle, for a delightful battle. Drink Soma for rapture, i.e. for a maddening victory, after food, i.e. after meals. Pour down the flood of mead into thy belly, Madhu means Soma, is derived from √मद्, to exhilarate, and is compared with Soma (on account of the analogy of exhilaration). This other (meaning of) madhu (may be wine ?) is derived from the same root also. Thou art the king of Soma-draughts now, as thou went in the former days. (Nir. IV.8).

2. Apa nudasva mṛdhah—Drive away the malevolent; drive away all those who are engaged in battle (i.e enemies); or keep off battles from us, मृधः=सग्रामान्, war. (Daya.). See Yv. VII.37.

Hymn-48

4. Yatha vasam tanvam cakra—he made his form according to his will or obedient to his will रुपंरुप मघवा बोभवीति—Maghavan or Indra is repeatedly of various forms; he can take what form he wills (III.53.8). यथावशम्—वशमनतिक्रम्य वर्तते तत् । तन्वं—शरीरम् । चक्रे—करोति—Daya.

Hymn-49

For verse 2, see Nir. V.9.

1 Vibhva-tastham—made by Lord of the world, विभुना जगदीश्वरेण निर्मितेन—Daya.; जगदधिपतये ब्रह्मणा स्थापितम्—Sayana.

2. Pṛthujrayah = पृथुज्रया: = agile, one whose speed is great (Nir. V.9).

4. The construction is doubtful (Wilson). Indra may be designated as Vayu; Vasus may be Maruts. According to Sayana, Vayu, having the Niyuts for his steeds, moves like a chariot on high, so does Indra, accompanied by the Maruts.

Hymn-50

1. आगत्या=आगत्य (संहितायामिति दीर्घ:) ।

1. Annaih, by food; by oblations.

Havih, devotion; gifts; from hu, √हु to sacrifice, to worship, to honour; derived from hu are huta, offered in fire; burnt, sacrificed; sacrifice to, one to whom an oblation is offered; havana, a fire-receptacle; the sacrificial ladle (SBr.); a hole or pit made in the ground for the sacrificial fire, which is to receive an oblation; the act of offering an oblation with fire; havaniya, to be offered with fire, an oblation; havih in comp. for havis; havih-sala, a room where oblations are prepared; havih-sesa, the remnant of a yajna; havir-ahuti, offering an oblation; havir-gṛha, a house or chamber in which an oblation is offered=yajnasala; havis kṛt, preparing the oblation; havis-patra, a vessel for the oblations.

Indrah, the resplendent Lord; ऐश्वर्यकर्त्ता; one with supreme soverignity (Daya.). Dayananda interprets the entire hymn in the context of the Head of a State or king; to whom food and gifts can be offered, which would be adequate to the wants of his body (havih tanvah kamam ṛddhyah). In case of the Supreme Lord who has no needs of his own nor a corporeal body, the offerings of love and devotion are made, which go to enhance His Glory,—an interpretation from the devotee's point of view.

2. Saparyyu, the serving ones, the docile (सेवकौ—Daya.).

Harayah, horses.

3. Somam, the devotional expressions of love.

4. Kusikasah, the knowers of all disciplines of knowledge (सर्वशास्त्रसिद्धान्त वेत्तारः—Daya.).

Svah-yavah, they who assist in procuring happiness; bestowers of happiness or aspirers of happiness (desirous of heaven). (ये सुखं यावयन्ति मिश्रयन्ति ते—Daya.).

Hymn-51

1. Carsani-dhṛtam, the stay of men (मनुष्याणां धर्त्तारम्—Daya.).

Maghavanam, possessor of opulence (बहुधनयुक्तम्—Daya.).

2. Satakratum, one with infinite wisdom (अमित प्रज्ञम्—Daya.); one with cent per cent selfless actions; the object of many rites (Wilson).

Arnavam, the sender of rain.

Turnim-ap-turam, the prompt dispenser of waters; the inspirer of the vital system (प्राणप्रेरकम्—Daya.).

Svar-vidam, the conferrer of happiness (सुखप्राप्तम्—Daya.).

3. Jarita, enfeebler (of adversaries); the one who praises (स्तोता —Daya.).

Vasoh akare, mine of wealth.

Panasyate, is praised.

Vivasvatah, of the Sun.

Pipriye, is gratified (प्रीणाति—Daya.).

4. Purumayah, author of numerous wonders (यः पुरून् बहून् मिनोति —Daya.); author of many delusions (Wilson).

5. Nissidhah, prohibitions; generosity; helps and assistances.

7. Saryate, शार्यते—from √Sr, श्रृ to injure, to inflict injury; a fighter against evils or evil forces (यः शरीरे हिंसकान् याति प्राप्नोति तस्यास्मिन् व्यवहारे —Daya.) See Saryatam, I.112.17; also Saryata, a brave person (I.51.12; 112.17), Sarya=finger (Nigh. II.5; Saryate, Yv. VII.35).

The verse occurs in Yv. VII.35.

According to traditionalists, शार्यते is besides शार्यात i.e. at the sacrifice offered by Saryata, शार्यात, the son of Saryata शर्यात. (perhaps the same as Saryati, the son of Manu Vaivasvata).

9. The verse very well applies to the sun, (Indra=the sun) who destroys clouds (vṛtra).

Vṛtra-khada, devourer of Vṛtra, or the dispeller of clouds.

In case, Indra is taken to be the resplendent Lord, vṛtra would stand for dark or evil desires.

10. Radhanampate, lord of riches.

Girvanah, entitled to praise; the one may be invoked for the fulfilment of wants and desires (यो गीर्यते याच्यते तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.).

11. The libation or prayer of loving dedication to reach Lord from all sides (metaphorically possessing cosmic body).

Hymn-52

For this verse, see Yv. XX.29.

1. Dhanavantam, the one possessing rice and foodgrains in abundance (cf yavamantam, kusavantam); dhana (धाना) is fried barley or fried rice or any grain fried and reduced to powder.

Karambhinam, groats or coarsely ground oats; also a cake or flour or meal mixed with curds (Daya); a kind of gruel (generally traditionally supposed to be offered to Pusan, as having no teeth to masticate hard food; also see Ṛv. VI.56.1).

Apupavantam, accompanied with wheaten bread; apupa (अपूप) is cake prepared from flour or meal; sweetened soft cakes fried in butter.

Ukthinam, with hymns of praise or the Vedic hymns (ukthani= वेदस्तोत्राणि—Daya.).

Pratah jusasva, enjoy at the breakfast.

2. Purodasa, a mass of ground rice rounded into a kind of cake and offered as an oblation (See Ṛv. VII.78.1); (सुसंस्कारैर्निष्पादितमन्न विशेषम्—Daya.).

3. Vadhuyuriva yosanam, as one fond of women, a libertine, enjoys a youthful female, (यथाऽऽत्मनो वधूमिच्छुः स्वस्त्रियम्—Daya.).

4. Pratah save, at the morning fire-ritual. (Same as pratah-savane).

5. Madhyandinasya savanasya, of the midday fire-ritual.

6. Trtiye savane, at the third or the evening fire-ritual.

Ṛbhumantam, accompanied by ṛbhus, or several men of wisdom (Daya.; ऋभवः=मेधाविनः).

6. Dhitibhih, by fingers; or expressions indicated with fingers, (अंगुलीभिर्निर्दिष्टैर्वचनार्थैः—Daya.).

Vajavantam, with abundant foodgrains (वाजाः सुष्कान्नविशेषा विद्यन्ते यस्य तम्—Daya.).

7. Haryyasvaya, with fast moving horses, or automobiles.

Pusanvate, accompanied with numerous sustainers (or Pusan) (बहवः पूषणः पुष्टिकरा विद्यन्ते यस्य तस्मै—Daya.).

Hymn-53

For verses, see the Nirukta as indicated.

3 (IV.16); 6 (VII. 6); 8 (X. 17); 11 (VII. 2); 14 (VI. 32); and 23 (IV.14).

Dayananda interprets the hymn in reference to king and his army.

1. Indraparvate, head of the royal army, like lightning laden clouds.

3. Samsava adhvaryo pratime etc.—Let us two praise him, O priest ! sing in answer to me; let us compose an agreeable hymn to Indra—Some think it to be a panegyric or invocation; others a recitation on pressing the Soma. It is, however, addressed to Indra. (Nir.IV.16).

4. Jaya, wife; astam=गृहम्, house=house wife (गृहिणी गृहमुच्यते, according to the Smṛti). We have in the Brahmana :

तस्यां पुनर्णवो भूत्वा दशमे मासि जायते।
तज्जाया जाया भवति यदस्यां जायते पुनः ॥

(Again, in her being renewed (as a son), he is born in the tenth month; and a wife, therefore, becomes jaya (जाया), because he is again born in her). We have a similar quotation in Manu. IX.18).

5. Bhratah, O nourisher (पोषक—Sayana; O friend, बन्धो —Daya.).

6. Kalyanih jaya suranam gṛhe te—A beautiful wife and delightful things are in thy house (Nir. VII.6). Yaska quotes this line as an illustration of gods being praised as associated with anthropo-morphic objects.

7. Ime bhoja angiraso virupa—These sacrificers are the bhojas etc. Sayana unnecessarily quotes an incident in which the descendents of Sudas, instituted the sacrifice at which Medhatithi and the rest of the race of Angiras were their yajakas or officiating priests—According to Dayananda, भोजाः—भोक्तारः प्रजापालकः (nourishers of people); अंगिरसः—प्राणा इव बलिष्ठः (strong as vital airs); विरूपाः—विविधरूपाः, विकृतरूपाः (of several forms, or of deformities).

8. Rupam rupam maghava bobhaviti—Maghava assumes every form. Yaska quotes several other passages in its support; विश्वारूपाण्याविशन्, सखा सुशेव, wearing all forms—VII.55.1. शेव=सुख, a synonym of happiness. The word siva (शिव) is also derived from the same root √शिष् (sis); this takes the suffix व (va), which replaces the letter next to the penultimate (i.e. ष्) and optionally takes guna (गुण).

(शिष्+व=शिव+ष् with guna शेव). Thus Siva becomes the deity of all those forms that he longs for—शिवमित्यप्यस्य भवति । यद् यद् रूपं कामयते तत् तद् देवता भवति (Nir. X.17).

9. Devaja—one born out of learned and wise (यो देवेषु विद्वत्सु जातः—Daya.); generator of radiances or energies (तेजसां जनयितृ—Sayana). Deva may mean Nature's bounties.

Devajuta—inspired by Devas or learned people (देवैः प्रेरितः—Daya.); drawn or attracted by those energies (तैस्तेजोभिराकृष्टः—Sayana).

Astabhnat sindhum arnavam—arrested the watery stream (स्तभ्नाति—धरति सिन्धुम्—नदीम्; अर्णवम्—समुद्रम्—Daya.). Sayana alludes to the stopping the current at the confluence of the Vipasa and the Satudri rivers.

11. Upapraita kusikah cetayadhvam—Approach, O Kusikas, be careful—This in the Nirukta, is cited as an illustration of direct praises, whilst the objects of praise are indirectly addressed. (Nir. VII.2).

12. Indram atustavam (इन्द्रमतुष्टवम्=इन्द्रं अतुस्तवम्)—The verb is the third preterite of the causal;—I have caused to be praised; or with a Vedic license, in the present tense—I praise Indra (Sayana). परमात्मानं प्रशंसेयम् May I praise the Lord—Daya.

14. Kim te kṛnvanti kikatesu gavah etc.

What are the cows doing in the country of barbarians (अनार्यदेश-निवासिषु म्लेच्छेषु—Daya.) ? They neither get the milk to mix with Soma, or kindle fire. Bring to us the wealth of usurer. Subdue the low-born to us, O Lord of Wealth.

Kikata (कीकटा) is the name of the country where the non-Aryans dwell (कीकटानाम देशोऽनार्यं निवासः—Nir. VI 32). Non-Aryan tribes are so called because it is said, "What have they done ?" (कीकटाः किं कृताः) or their assumption is that religious rites are useless (किं क्रियाभिरिति प्रेप्सा वा). They neither get the milk to mix with the Soma, nor kindle fire. Bring to us the wealth of the usurer; Maganda (मगन्दः) means a usurer (मगन्दः कुसीदी): he advances with the thought that it will come back to him (माङ्गदो मामागमिष्यतीति च ददाति); his son, i e., born in the family of great usurers is called. Pramaganda (तदपत्यं प्रमगन्दः). Or it means an epicurean who assumes that this is the only world and there is no other (अत्यन्त कुसीदि कुलीनः । प्रमदको वा योऽयमेवास्ति लोको न पर इति प्रेप्सुः). Or it may mean impotent, fond of sexual inter-course; or the one who paralyses himself, i.e. his testicles. He makes his testicles firm as two pins.

Lowborn (नैचा शाखम्-नीचा शाखा शक्तिर्यस्मिंस्तम्—Daya.). born in a low family or whose family is low.

Sakha, (शाखा) is derived from √शक्, to be able. O Lord of Wealth, subdue him to us. The verb रध्यति means to subdue. (Nir. VI. 32).

15. Jamadagni-datta—directly evidenced by eye (चक्षुषा प्रत्यक्षेण दत्ता—Daya.); given by Ṛsis, who maintain a blazing jamat-jvalat, fire, agni; (a plural of jamadagni is mentioned in the next verse).

Suryasya duhita, daughter of the sun, i.e. the dawn (दुहितेव वर्त्तमानोषा—Daya.); it may be also speech or its personification vak-devata.

Sravah, hearing; food (Nigh. II.7).

16. Pancajanyasu—in five days or five vital airs (Daya.).

Kṛstisu—Five classes of people in a society—four varnas and barbarians.

Paksya, daughter of the sun. The sun is known as paksa (पक्ष) —पक्षनिर्वाहकस्य, the distributors of the parts (of the years), i.e. suryasya, of the sun.

Palasti-jamadagnayah—those who have known Agnis like prajapatya (प्राजापत्य); or persons of experience and learning (प्रजमिता विदिता अग्नयः पलस्तयो वयोज्ञानं—वृद्धश्च जमदग्नयो यैस्ते—Daya.).

Ayuh=anna or food (Nigh II.7); or age or life (अन्नं जीवनं वा —Daya.).

17. Gavao (गावौ), from √ गम्, to go, and hence also the horses, who go; two bulls or bullocks (Daya.).

19. Khadirasya Saram—the stiff portion of Khadira wood (Mimosa catechu) of which the bolt of the axle is made, whereas Sinsapa wood (Dalbergiasisu) furnishes the material for the floor. Khadira and Simsapa are the well known timbers.

Vilo vilit vilayasva, O strong one, strongly fixed by us, be strong (might refer to axle of the chariot).

20. Vanaspati, timber of which the car is made, or Lord of the forest.

22. The elliptical construction is elucidated thus by Sayana: As the tree is cut down by the axe, so may the enemy be cut down; as one cuts off without difficulty, the flower of Simbala, so may he be destroyed; as the cauldron (ukha), when struck, and thence leaking (येषन्ती स्रवन्ती) scatters foam or breath from its mouth, so may that hater, struck by the power of my prayer, vomit foam from his mouth.

23. Lodham nayanti pasu manyamanah—Thinking him a beast, they drive the greedy (seer) away. (लोध लुब्धमृषिम्) (Nir. IV.14). Sayana alludes to a legend of Visvamitra, having been seized and bound by the followers of Vasistha.

Sayakasya, of a lot of weapons—शस्त्रसमूहस्य—Daya.; or an arrow; अवसानकारिण. of the finisher or destroyer, i.e. of Visvamitra—Sayana.

Lodham nayanti—they lead the sage, deriving lodha from lub-dham, desirous that his penance might not be frustrated, thinking that the ṛsi silent through his desire, to be an animal, i.e. stupid.

Vajina, by a horse; but dervies the word from √वाच्, speech, with ina affix, and interprets it सर्वज्ञ, all-knowing; the contrary अवाजिना, avajina, means a fool.

24. Bharatasya, of bharata, of the protector of army (सेनाया भर्त्तुरक्षकस्य).

Bharatasya putrah, sons of Bharata; who are regarded as the descendents of Visvamitra, whose enmity, according to Sayana, to the race of Vasistha is alluded here. (Raja Sudas, the disciple of Visvamitra, was the cause of this enmity).—Sayana. The Nirukta does not mention the animosity, which is a Pauramic conjecture.

Hymn-54

For verse 7, see Nir. IV.25.

7. Samanya viyute dura-ante—Viyute means heaven and earth, so called from their remaining apart from each other. "Alike heaven and earth terminating at a distance". Duram (दूर) has been explained by the Nir. III.19. It is a synonym of distant: दूरं कस्मात् । द्रुतं भवति दुरयं वा (It is so called because it is drawn out (√ द्रु, √dru) or it is difficult to be reached (दुर√इ). Other synonyms are आके, पराके, पराचैः, आरे, परावत इति दूरस्य—Nigh. III.26.

Antah (अन्तः) is derived from √ अत्, to go, (Nir. IV.25).

Adu bruvate mithunani nama—address each other by twin appellations. Heaven and earth are designated together by urvi and other duplicate terms.

9. Mahah pituh janituh, protectress and progenitrix.

Jami tan nah—जामि=जामित्वं, भगिनीत्वं, sisterhood, the condition of a relative or sister (पितुः पालकस्य; जनितुः—जनकस्य; जामि—जातम्—Daya.).

Dyau, is usually called father and progenitor. (I.164.33).

10. Paprathanah, proclaiming their own acts (स्वानि स्वानि कर्माणि प्रथयन्तः—Sayana· प्रख्याताः or well known—Daya).

16, 17. Caru nama, that beautiful appellation; agreeable or acceptable act (सुन्दरं नाम—Daya.). (cf. सजात्यं चारु नाम of verse 16) by which the Asvins attained deification (अश्विनौ=सूर्याचन्द्रमसौ—Daya).

20. Dhruva ksemasah, abiding in fixed habitations (निश्चल स्थानाः —Sayana; ध्रुवं निश्चितं i e. definite; क्षेमं रक्षणं, i.e. protection; i e. of definite protections.—Daya.).

Hymn-55

For verse 19, see Nir. X.34.

1. Mahat devanam asuratvam ekam—This is the burthen of all the twenty-two verses of this hymn; Great and unequalled is the might of Nature's bounties (the devas).

Devanam, earth and the like (पृथिव्यादीनाम्—Daya.); asuratvam, the one who pervades through vital airs. (यदसुषु प्राणेषु रमते तत्—Daya.; it means pertaining to strong and powerful (also who or what throws or impels all beings is asura,—अस्यति क्षिपति सर्वान्, Sayana, and hence asuratvam is प्राबल्यम् or ऐश्वर्यम् (Also अस्यति प्रक्षिपति दूरीकरोति सर्वाणि दुःखानि तस्य भावम् —Daya.).

4. Samano raja, the one enlightened (एकः प्रकाशमानः—Daya.; the universal soverign (may be referring to Soma or Agni).

12. Mata, mother; the night; duhita, daughter, the dawn; dhenu (धेनू), the one yielding fluids as from cows.

Ṛtasya, of truth; also of water.

13. Anyasya vatsam rihati mimaya, licking the calf etc; udhah, dawn (उषा); udders; ila, earth (Nigh. I.1).

Ṛtasya sa payasa apinvata ila—the earth without water is sprink led by water of the sun during rains.

14. Tryavim, the one who gives protection to three, the causal form, the modified form and the living (कार्यकारणजीवाख्यानि त्रीणि वस्तूनि यो रक्षति तम्—Daya.); also year and a half old calf (त्र्यविम्—सार्धं सम्वत्सद वयस्को वत्स:—Sayana); the sun of that period; or it may apply to the sun, as the protector (avih) of the three (tri) worlds.

16. Dhenavah, milch-kine; also divine speech.

17. Anyasmin vuthe, upon a different herd; a herd of troop of regions.

18. Sodha, of six forms (षट् प्रकाश:—Daya.) of sense organs (mind+5 sense organs); or the six seasons of a year; panca-panca vahanti, by combining the cold with dewy season, the seasons become five, पञ्च-पञ्च=5 vital airs—Daya.).

19. Devastvasta savita visvarupah—The divine stimulator, multiform Tvastṛ, generated and nourished manifold mankind, all these created beings and the great divinity of the gods are solely his.

On this, Yaska comments: The divine stimulator, omniform Tvasta, nourished mankind by the gift of juice. And he generated them in various ways. All these beings, i.e., waters are his. And for him is the one great divinity of the gods, i.e. the state of being endowed with wisdom or with the bread of life. The word as-u is a synonym of wisdom: (1) it throws out the senseless; and sense is thrown into it (√अस्, to throw); (2) or the word asu+ratva has its first letter (v) elided.

20. Camva=चम्वौ like the army (चमू); or the vast receptacles in which gods and men eat (heaven and earth).—Sayana.

Hymn-56

2. Ekah acaran, the stationary one, the sun.

Tisrah, the three, earth (darsi, visible) and firmament, and heaven (guha or invisible, indiscernible), These are the three revolving spheres.

Sad bharan, six burthens are six seasons (five elements and mahat, cosmic intelligence--Daya.); may be the six cardinal points in space.

3. Tripajasya, the triple-breasted; year personified

		Solar intensity
Tripaja--Summer, rains and winter	physical, mental, and spiritual	Morning, mid-day and evening
Tri-udha—Heaven, firmament and the earth	Causal (karana), subtle (suksma) and gross (sthula)	—
Tri-anikah—the three characteristics (sat, rajas, tamas).	—	—

4. Adityanam, the twelve months are the twelve adityas of the year.

Asmai aramanta devih etc., Now give it delight (during the four months of rain), and now depart from it (during the other eight months, when the rains are more or less dried up).

8. Trih uttama duh-nasa rocanani etc.

The three bright regions are earth, firmament and heaven. The verses 5 and 8 abound with a reference to groups of three. Three regions, three worlds, three devis: Ila, Sarasvati, and Bharati, three elements or riches: cattle, gold and gems, three seasons of the year, agni, vayu and surya and so on.

Hymn-59

For verses 1 and 2, see Nir. X. 22 and II.13 respectively.

1. This verse has been discussed by Yaska (Nir. X.22); Proclaiming, Mitra leads men forth, Mitra supported earth and heaven. Ever watchful, Mitra beheld the tribes. To Mitra, sacrifice the fat oblations.

The word कृष्टय: (Kṛstayah) is a synonym of men, so called because they are active, or because their bodies are long (वि-कृष्ट देहा वा).

2. Pra sa mitra marto etc.—May that mortal, O Mitra, be rich in food, who, O Aditya, abides by thy ordinance. (The Nirukta describes a few of the adityas. Mitra, Varuna, Aryaman, Dakas Bhaga and Amsa,—Nir. II 13).

Hymn-62

For verse 1, see Nir. V.5.

1 Yena sma sinam bharathah sakhibhyah—sinam (सिनम्) means, food (Nigh. II.7): it binds created beings together.

The hymn is divided into six triplets with Indra-Varuna, Bṛhaspati, Pusan, Savitṛ, Soma and Mitra-varuna as devatas.

3, Varutrih—Wives of gods, to be admired by all (Sayana); super-excellent ones (अत्यन्त वरा:—Daya.).

10. The well known Gayatri mantra. Let us adore the supremacy of that divine sun, the god-head, who illuminates all, who recreates all, and from whom all proceed, to whom all must return, whom we invoke to direct our understandings aright in our progress (Sir William Jones).

We meditate on that desirable light of the divine Savitṛ who influences our pious rites (Wilson).

Dhiyah, means कर्माणि; it also means बुद्धि: (buddhih) or under standings.

16. Gavyuti, a distance covering two krosas (about 4 miles) गवां मार्ग, or even the cow-shed, गोनिवासस्थानम् ।

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

with

English Translation

by

Svami Satya Prakash Sarasvati

and

Satyakam Vidyalankar

Volume V, VI

Book IV, Hymns [1—58]

Book V, Hymns [1—87]

पंचमः षष्ठश्च भागः

चतुर्थ मण्डलम्, सूक्तानि [१—५८]

पंचमं मण्डलम्, सूक्तानि [१—८७]

Veda Pratishthana

New Delhi

RGVEDA, Vol. V, VI

Published by the Veda Pratishthana, New Delhi
on behalf of the Narendra Mohan Foundation,
Pusa Road, New Delhi (India)

Transliteration based on the text of Theodor Aufrecht.

SOLE SELLING AGENTS

S. Chand & Company Ltd.

Head Office : Ram Nagar, New Delhi-110055

Show Room : 4/16-B, Asaf Ali Road, New Delhi-110002

Branches :

Mai Hiran Gate, Jullundur-144008

Aminabad Park, Lucknow-226001

Blackie House,
103/5, Walchand Hirachand Marg,
Opp. GPO. Bombay-400001

Khazanchi Road, Patna-800004

Sultan Bazar, Hyderabad-500001

152, Anna Salai, Madras-600002

285/J, Bipin Behari Ganguli Street,
Calcutta-700012

3, Gandhi Sagar East,
Nagpur-440002

KPCC Bldg., Race Course Road,
Bangalore-560009

8-1, Banerjee Road,
Eranakulam North, Cochin-682018

Printed at :
Shiksha Bharati Press, G. T. Road, Shahdara, Delhi

CONTENTS

IN MEMORY OF

VED RATAN MOHAN

Col. Ved Ratan Mohan, M.P. was born at Rawalpindi on July 30, 1920. He graduated from the Punjab University and later took his Master of Commerce Degree from Delhi University.

Shri Ved Ratan Mohan's father Shri N.N. Mohan was a prominent industrialist and a generous philanthropist. Shri Ved Ratan Mohan made his own memorable contribution to the success of the enterprises in which his family was interested. He also took active interest in public life and supported many worthwhile causes.

In 1961, the honorary rank of Captain was conferred on Shri Ved Ratan Mohan; in 1966, he became a Lieutenant Colonel in the Territorial Army; in 1972, the honorary rank of Colonel in the Territorial Army was conferred on him.

He was elected as Deputy Mayor of the Municipal Corporation, in Lucknow. Later he was elected to the office of the Mayor. In 1964, he was nominated as a Member of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council. In 1967, he was awarded Padama Shri. In 1971, he became the recipient of the Padma Bhushan Award. In 1972, he was elected to Rajya Sabha, the Upper House of Indian Parliament, from Uttar Pradesh.

He died on July 28, 1973, deeply mourned and widely lamented.

He had travelled extensively and had a wide range of interests and accomplishments. Photography, painting, music and poetry had a claim on him. Equally, he gave generously of himself to the solution of public problems and to personal hardships of individuals in distress. He was deeply interested in Indian culture and in educational institutions as vehicles of India's cultural renaissance and socio-economic reconstruction. The Vedas and their message energised his inspiration and impelled him to consecrated action for human welfare.

Ved Ratan Mohan

Foreword

by

Dr. L.M. Singhvi
Executive Chairman, Veda Pratisthana.

The Vedas enshrine the cosmic vision and vitality of our ancestors and epitomise a living legacy of divine inspiration, intuition and insight.

The glory of the Vedas is their universal and timeless quality.

The subtle and symbolic invocations of the Sruti and the mystic and melodic music of the celestial hymns have hallowed human consciousness through trackless centuries with a sublime glow.

The Vedas exemplify a carefully nurtured and elaborately systematized oral tradition which is unrivalled in the annals of civilization.

The evocative poetry of joyous and spontaneous affirmation of life and nature, the unravelling explorations of the seers into the terrestrial and transcendental destiny of mankind, the pervasive immanence and the pristine omnipresence of primeval reality and primordial matter, and the wisdom and philosophy of Moral and Social Order in an harmonious equilibrium unfold the luminous realm of the spirit of the Vedas.

The Vedas are unique in their perspective of time and space.

Early in the history of human civilization, the Vedas proclaimed the essential unity of mankind, untrammelled by geographical barriers and tribal parochialism.

The Vedas declared the enduring filial allegiance of Man to Mother Earth: माता भूमि. पुत्रोऽहं पृथिव्याः......अथर्व. 12.1.12.

The Vedas articulated the essential equality and intrinsically equal dignity of men and nations and the need for cooperative effort for common benefit: अज्येष्ठासो अकनिष्ठास एते, सभ्रातरो वावृधुः सौभगाय । ऋक्. 5.60.5.

The Vedas cautioned against recrimination, jealousy and ill-will among the human kindred: मा भ्राता भ्रातर द्विक्षन् मा स्वसारमुत स्वसा......अथर्व. 3.30.3.

The Vedas aimed and aspired for an ambiance of unfailing and ubiquitous friendship:

मित्रस्याहं चक्षुषा सर्वाणि भूतानि समीक्षे ।
मित्रस्य चक्षुषा समीक्षामहे । यजु. 36.18.

The Vedas celebrate the vac whose array of thousand syllables and thousand postures of consciousness manifested in a thousand ways appear as flame-songs of the earth and the empyrean. In their innermost recesses are embedded the eternal and cosmic powers of illumination. The Vedic words rising from the oceanic depths of creative consciousness provide a panoramic vision and a thousand vignettes of that real inner illumination, svar, reached by dhi, the two facets of which are karma (action) and prajna (knowledge). In that realm of invocation and sacrifice, faith (sraddha) converges with reason (tarka); intuition assimilates perception; light combines with vigour; wisdom coalesces with valour; speech and action become one. The science of Vedas seeks that true synthesis of faith and reason, and in that pursuit, its prayer is that we may be blessed with "faith" that has not degenerated into the somnolence of the spirit and that we may be endowed with "reason" that has not, in the words of Gurudeva Tagore, lost "its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit" and which has its habitation in the meandering maze of pointless prolixity:

त्रातारो देवा अधिवोचता नो मा नो निद्रा ईशत मोत जल्पि: ।
वयं सोमस्य विश्वह प्रियास: सुवीरासो विदथमावदेम ।। ऋक्. 8.48.14.

The true Vedic faith does not countenance dogma; the Vedic reason is not a euphemism for sophistry; the Vedic word is not a victim of verbiage. The essential perception of the Vedas is not a prisoner of perversions. The humanism of Vedas is not a hypocrisy and the Vedic teaching of tolerance is not a transient contrivance. The core commitment of Vedas is to truth and dharma, to harmony and happiness, to freedom and justice. The soulful Vedic voyage in ceaseless quest of the experience of inner illumination and with its rich symbolism and manifold meanings is perhaps the oldest and the most magnificent and many-splendoured pilgrimage of the human spirit.

The Vedas gave the Magna Carta of Human Brotherhood and Universal Goodwill and proclaimed a noble prayerful Preamble to the humanitarian Constitution of One World based on friendship, fellow-feeling, freedom and fearlessness in words which are immortal and ever inspiring and which are central to the basic teleology and technology of building impregnable defences of peace in the minds of men. The Vedic seers who viewed the world of perception and the world of thought as a continuum prayed for the composite benediction of hearing noble thoughts and seeing noble deeds: भद्रं कर्णेभि: श्रृणुयाम देवा भद्रं पश्येमाक्षिभिर्यजत्रा: । यजु. 25.21

In that endeavour of building a universe of noble thoughts and noble deeds, the Vedic seers convened a cosmic convocation based on the fundamental human quest for truth and the acceptance of its many facets (एक सद् विप्रा: वहुधा वदन्ति):

ग्रा नो भद्राः क्रतवो यन्तु विश्वतोऽदब्धासो ग्रपरीतास उदि्भदः ।
देवा नो यथा सदमिद् वृधे ग्रसन्नप्रायुवो रक्षितारो दिवे दिवे ॥ ऋक्. 1.89.1.

In the Vedic vision of human society, man in his relaticn to man was not predatory, aggressive and oppressive as in the Hobbesian nightmare which conjured up homo homini lupus. The Vedic ideal was that Man was under an obligation to protect and preserve and to aid and comfort mankind everywhere: पुमान् पुमांसं परिपातु विश्वत: । ऋक्. 6.75.14.

The Vedic philosophy of freedom and fearlessness reached a credal and climactic crescendo in the earthy yet ethereal invocations:

ग्रभयं मित्रादभयमित्रादभयं ज्ञातादभयं परोक्षात् ।
ग्रभयं नक्तमभयं दिवा नः सर्वा ग्राशा मम मित्र भवन्तु ॥ ग्रथर्व. 19.15.7

Equally, the Vedic hymn of togetherness remains a refreshing reminder and a beacon light to the fractured and fragmented world out of whose womb the new world order is struggling to be born:

सङ्गच्छध्वं संवदध्व सं वो मनांसि जानताम् ।
देवा भागं यथा पूर्वे सञ्जानाना उपासते ॥ ऋक्. 10.191.2.

These noble thoughts made the culture of the Vedas the first and foremost foundation of the edifice of universal values: सा प्रथमा संस्कृतिर्विश्ववारा: । यजु. 7.14.

These enduring verities of the Vedas are not a relic of the past, nor are they the exclusive preserve or the sole inheritance of Indians and Indo-Aryans. They belong to the common heritage of humanity and are relevant in our contemporary world and in our age. We owe it to ourselves and to the peoples and the nations of the world to share this precious heritage and to disseminate its message and meaning.

It is the proud privilege of Veda Pratisthana to be the chosen instrument of the monumental project for preparing and presenting a readable and systematic modern translation of all the four Vedas. The Veda Pratisthana has had the credentials and the capacity to attempt this ambitious task because it was founded on the deep understanding and encyclopaedic erudition of Swami Satya Prakashji, an eminent scientist and a distinguished professor before he became a parivrajaka, the firm financial support and the bounteous benefaction of Narendra Mohan Foundation, an eloquent and tangible testament of the Mohan family's liberal and public-spirited disposition, and of the intrepid faith, fortitude, vision and dedication of the late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri.

The munificence of Major Kapil Mohan and his family and their deep devotion to the cause of Vedic learning enabled the Veda Pratisthana to embark on this noble enterprise. It was Major Kapil Mohan's resolve to raise a truly meaningful memorial in the form of a new edition of the Vedas in remembrance of his elder brother, the late Col. Ved Ratan Mohan that led the Narendra Mohan Foundation to offer its generous and unsparing financial assistance for this project. We acknowledge our debt of gratitude to Major Kapil Mohan and to Narendra Mohan Foundation. We also take this opportunity to pay our tribute to the memory of Col. Ved Ratan Mohan whose life was a superb saga of service and an inexhaustible treasury of goodwill.

The late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri was the main architect of Veda Pratisthana. It was to him that we owed the initial organization, the basic conception and the purposeful momentum of the project. Indeed, we are only trying to translate his dream into a reality. An eminent and gifted parliamentarian, whose cascading eloquence, sparkling wit, mature wisdom and intrinsic goodness had a singular charm, Parkash Vir Shastri was an articulate exponent and a selfless missionary of the fundamental values of India's creative and spiritual culture. Spun and woven with the warp and woof of Indian sensitivity and perception, the tapestry of his life and work was as authentic as it was inspiring. He shunned the pettiness and parochialism of politics and strove to reinforce our national life with the tensile strength of our quintessential heritage. He lived and worked for national goals. In national politics he was the ambassador of the larger cultural claims on life. In his tragic and untimely death, Mother India lost an illustrious son who distinguished himself not by the office he held, nor by his wealth or material acquisitions, but by his dedicated and singleminded service to the cause of the nation. In his death, Veda Pratisthana lost its moving spirit, regained mainly because his memory is a motive force. We savour the exhilarating fragrance and see the inspiring and exhorting presence of his personality, pervasive, permeating and perdurable, in the fruition of this project and pay our affectionate homage to his everlasting memory.

Deepavali, 1978.

Preface

The Vedas are the Word of God. At the very beginning of the Creation, man received knowledge of the Vedas. The Ṛgveda is the most ancient of all the holy scriptures in the world.

Knowledge of the Vedas is not intended for a particular race or country. God revealed this knowledge for the greatest good of mankind. This noble objective is reflected in the following words of the Vedic sages :

May all be happy and rid of diseases,
May all have a happy and harmonious life,
May nobody ever be afflicted with suffering.

The Vedas have been translated into several languages. Scholars like Griffith, Wilson and Max Müller have written commentaries on the Vedas in English. But the need for bringing out an unconventional and standard translation of the Vedas has been felt for quite sometime. The task, however, involved dedication, hard work and considerable financial resources.

Col. Ved Ratna Mohan, ex-M.P., was a promising youngman, the scion of a family which had implicit faith in the Vedas. His brilliant career was cut short by untimely death in 1973. His father, late Shri Narendra Mohan, was a leading industrialist of India. Devoted to social service, he took keen interest in the dissemination and distribution of religious literature. He had unshakable faith in God. Daily he would perform yajna and once in a year he would perform this on a big scale when all the mantras of one of the four Vedas would be recited. He had named his eldest son Ved Ratna (Jewel of the Vedas). He had desired the late Ved Ratna to do some service to the Vedas. But fate had willed otherwise. Col. Ved Ratna died before he could fulfil his father's wish.

His younger brother Major Kapil Mohan, who has great reverence for the Vedas like his father, made the noble resolve to get all the four Vedas translated into English and publish them on behalf of the Narendra Mohan Foundation in the sacred memory of his elder brother. This Foundation was endowed by the sons of the late Shri Narendra Mohan, the founder of the Mohan Industries, in accordance with the wishes of their father. A hospital, a college, and several other charitable institutions devoted to public service are being run by the Foundation.

The task of rendering the four Vedas into English was entrusted to the Veda Pratishthana by the Foundation. Dr. Govardhan Lal Dutta, a famous educationist and Head of the Pratishthana, requested the Vedic scholar Svami Satya Prakash Sarasvati to undertake the highly onerous responsibility. Indeed one could think of no other scholar better qualified than Svami Satya Prakashji to accomplish this task. I am happy that Svamiji was kind enough to accede to the request. He is devoting most of his time to the translation work though he is a parivrajaka, a peripatetic monk. In this task, he is collaborating with Pandit Satyakam Vidyalankar.

Thanks are particularly due to Shri Vishwanath for his unstinted cooperation in the excellent printing of this work. No words would be adequate to express my warm appreciation and grateful thanks to Major Kapil Mohan, Svami Satya Prakashji and other colleagues and co-workers of the Veda Pratisthana who have generally helped in the accomplishment of this sacred task.

Our labours would be fully rewarded if through this English translation of the four Vedas, attempted for the first time in India, the divine message enshrined in the Vedas impregnates human consciousness everywhere.

Shravani Poornima,
Vikramiya Samvat 2034,
August 28, 1977.

Prakash Vir Shastri
Secretary, Veda Pratishthana
New Delhi

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

चतुर्थं मण्डलम्

———◆◆◆———

(१) प्रथमं सूक्तम्

(१–२०) विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१, ६–२०) प्रथमर्चः षष्ठ्यादिपञ्चदशानाञ्चाग्निः, (२–५) द्वितीयादिचतसृणाञ्चाग्निर्वरुणो वा देवता । (१) प्रथमर्च अष्टिः, (२) द्वितीयाया अतिजगती, (३) तृतीयाया धृतिः, (४–२०) चतुर्थ्यादिसप्तदशानाञ्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१२॥ त्वां ह्यग्ने सदमित्समन्यवो देवासो देवमरतिं न्येरिर इति क्रत्वा न्येरिरे ।
अमर्त्यं यजत मर्त्येष्वा देवमादेवं जनत प्रचेतसं विश्वमादेवं जनत प्रचेतसम् ॥१॥
स भ्रातरं वरुणमग्न आ ववृत्स्व देवाँ अच्छा सुमती यज्ञवनसं ज्येष्ठं यज्ञवनसम् ।
ऋतावानमादित्यं चर्षणीधृतं राजानं चर्षणीधृतम् ॥२॥

1.

Tvám̩ hy ágne sádam ít samanyávo deváso devám aratím̩ nyerirá íti krátvā nyeriré | ámartyam̩ yajata mártyeshv á devám ádevam̩ janata prácetasam̩ víṣvam ádevam̩ janata prácetasam || 1 || sá bhrátaram̩ várunam agna á vavritsva deváñ áchā sumatí yajñávanasam̩ jyéshtham̩ yajñávanasam| ritávānam ādityám̩ carshaṇīdhrítam̩ rájānam̩ carshaṇīdhrítam || 2 ||

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

BOOK FOUR

1

O swift moving, radiant, universal fire, the cosmic divine powers ever excite you and urge you with their dedication for manifestation. O adorable, immortal and brilliant, they generate you as an immortal force among mortals, as the all-competent; they generate you as the all-competent and omnipresent Nature's bounty. 1

O universal fire-divine, bring your venerable brotherly associate, the water-divine, to the presence of the worshipper. He loves very much to participate in universal cosmic creation, he is true to the established laws, is one of the infinite creative principles, and sustainer, truly a sustainer of men; he is like the sovereign venerated by mankind. 2

सखे सखायमभ्या ववृत्स्वाशुं न चक्रं रथ्येव रंह्यास्मभ्यं दस्म रंह्या ।
अग्ने मृळीकं वरुणे सचा विदो मरुत्सु विश्वभानुषु ।
तोकाय तुजे शुशुचान शं कृध्यस्मभ्यं दस्म शं कृधि ॥३॥
त्वं नो अग्ने वरुणस्य विद्वान्देवस्य हेळोऽव यासिसीष्ठाः ।
यजिष्ठो वह्नितमः शोशुचानो विश्वा द्वेषांसि प्र मुमुग्ध्यस्मत् ॥४॥
स त्वं नो अग्नेऽवमो भवोती नेदिष्ठो अस्या उषसो व्युष्टौ ।
अव यक्ष्व नो वरुणं रराणो वीहि मृळीकं सुहवो न एधि ॥५॥

sákhe sákhāyam abhy á vavritsvāṣúm ná cakrám ráthyeva ráṅhyāsmábhyam dasma ráṅhyā | ágne mriḷīkám váruṇe sácā vido marútsu viṣvábhānushu | tokáya tujé ṣuṣucāna ṣám kridhy asmábhyam dasma ṣám kridhi || 3 || tvám no agne várunasya vidván devásya héḷó 'va yāsisīshṭhāḥ | yájishṭho váhnitamaḥ ṣóṣucāno víṣvā dvéshāṅsi prá mumugdhy asmát || 4 || sá tvám no agne 'vamó bhavotí nédishṭho asyá usháso vyùshṭau | áva yakshva no váruṇam rárāṇo vīhí mriḷīkám suhávo na edhi || 5 ||

॥१३॥ अस्य श्रेष्ठा सुभगस्य संदृग्देवस्य चित्रतमा मर्त्येषु ।
शुचि घृतं न तप्तमघ्न्यायाः स्पार्हा देवस्य मंहनेव धेनोः ॥६॥
त्रिरस्य ता परमा सन्ति सत्या स्पार्हा देवस्य जनिमान्यग्नेः ।
अनन्ते अन्तः परिवीत आगाच्छुचिः शुक्रो अर्यो रोरुचानः ॥७॥
स दूतो विश्वेदभि वष्टि सद्मा होता हिरण्यरथो रंसुजिह्वः ।
रोहिदश्वो वपुष्यो विभावा सदा रण्वः पितुमतीव संसत् ॥८॥

asyá ṣréshṭhā subhágasya saṃdríg devásya citrátamā mártyeshu | ṣúci ghritám ná taptám ághnyāyā spārhá devásya maṅháneva dhenóḥ || 6 || trír asya tá paramá santi satyá spārhá devásya jánimāny agnéḥ | ananté antáḥ párivīta ágāc chúciḥ ṣukró aryó rórucānaḥ || 7 || sá dūtó víṣvéd abhí vashṭi sádmā hótā híraṇyaratho rámsujihvaḥ | rohídaṣvo vapushyò vibhávā sádā raṇváḥ pitumátīva saṃsát || 8 ||

O fire-divine, friendly and beautiful, bring hither your brother, water-divine (cosmic water) just as the two strong horses convey the swift chariot along the road to its goal. Along with cosmic water, receive, O universal fire, the gratifying homage, and also along with the all-illumining divine winds, grant, O fire-divine, happiness to our aspiring children ; grant, O beautiful fire-divine, happiness to ourselves. 3

O all-wise fire-divine, avert from us the wrath of the cosmic waters. You are the best invoker, and the most diligent bearer of oblations, the most resplendent; may you liberate us from all animosities. 4

May you, O light-divine, our preserver, be nearest to us with your protection at the breaking of the dawn. May you, reconcile to us the cosmic waters, and propitiated by our praise, cherish our homage, and be swift to respond to our calls. 5

The glance of this auspicious fire-divine, directed towards men, is most excellent, most wonderful, acceptable to all, as the pure warm butter from the milk of the cow acceptable to the divine powers, and as the gift of a milch-cow to a man. 6

These three (divine fire, divine waters, and divine winds) are the supreme, true, most exalted, and eagerly longed for manifestations of the fire-divine. He is revealed in the boundless region, invested with radiance, pure and bright. 7

He, the messenger, the invoker, riding in a golden chariot, with a tongue of flames, frequents all the chambers of worship, drawn by red horse, like rays; he, the resplendent, is always agreeable and is like a dwelling well-supplied with food. 8

स चेतयन्मनुषो यज्ञबन्धुः प्र तं मह्या रशनया नयन्ति ।
स क्षेत्यस्य दुर्यासु साधन्देवो मर्तस्य सधनित्वमाप ॥९॥
स तू नो अग्निर्नयतु प्रजानन्नच्छा रत्नं देवभक्तं यदस्य ।
धिया यद्विश्वे अमृता अकृण्वन्द्यौष्पिता जनिता सत्यमुक्षन् ॥१०॥

sá cetayan mánusho yajñábandhuḥ prá tám mahyā́ rasanáyā nayanti | sá kshety asya dúryāsu sā́dhan devó mártasya sadhanitvám āpa || 9 || sá tū́ no agnír nayatu prajānánn áchā rátnaṃ devábhaktaṃ yád asya | dhiyā́ yád víṣve amṛ́tā ákṛiṇvan dyaúsh pitā́ janitā́ satyám ukshan || 10 ||

॥१४॥ स जायत प्रथमः पस्त्यासु महो बुध्ने रजसो अस्य योनौ ।
अपादशीर्षा गुहमानो अन्तायोयुवानो वृषभस्य नीळे ॥११॥
प्र शर्ध आर्त प्रथमं विपन्याँ ऋतस्य योना वृषभस्य नीळे ।
स्पार्हो युवा वपुष्यो विभावा सप्त प्रियासोऽजनयन्त वृष्णे ॥१२॥
अस्माकमत्र पितरो मनुष्या अभि प्र सेदुर्ऋतमाशुषाणाः ।
अश्मव्रजाः सुदुघा वव्रे अन्तरुदुस्रा आजन्नुषसो हुवानाः ॥१३॥
ते मर्मृजत ददृवांसो अद्रिं तदेषामन्ये अभितो वि वोचन् ।
पश्वयन्त्रासो अभि कारमर्चन्विदन्त ज्योतिश्चकृपन्त धीभिः ॥१४॥

sá jāyata prathamáḥ pastyā̀su mahó budhné rájaso asyá yónau | apā́d aṣīrshā́ guhámāno ántāyóyuvāno vṛishabhásya nīḷé || 11 || prá ṣárdha ārta prathamáṃ vipanyā́n̐ ṛitásya yónā vṛishabhásya nīḷé | spārhó yúvā vapushyò vibhā́vā saptá priyā́so 'janayanta vṛ́ishṇe || 12 || asmā́kam átra pitáro manushyā̀ abhí prá sedur ṛitám āṣushāṇā́ḥ | áṣmavrajāḥ sudúghā vavré antár úd usrā́ ājann usháso huvānā́ḥ || 13 || té marmṛijata dadṛivā́ṅso ádriṃ tád eshām anyé abhíto ví vocan | paṣváyantrāso abhí kārám arcan vidánta jyótiṣ cakṛipánta dhībhíḥ || 14 ||

As a lover of worship, he knows those people, who bind and take him with the strong cord of praise. He, the divine fire, fulfilling all desires, abides in the homes of mortal devotees and wins a partnership in his possessions. 9

May that fire divine conduct us to that precious treasure, coveted by the devout worshippers. He is the one, whom all the immortals manifest for the performance of sacred rites, of whom heaven is the prime abode and revealer, and on whom the priests sprinkle loving oblations. 10

He is the first in rank and engendered in the habitations; he is revealed at great heaven's base and in this region's bosom. He is without feet, and without head, and conceals his extremities, combining in the lair of the rain-clouds. 11

Glorified by praise, he first rises aloft, defiant, in the womb of cosmic waters, in the lair of the rain-clouds. The seven dear priests (rays) engender the fire-divine, who is the showerer of benefits, desirable, ever-young, beautiful in form and resplendent. 12

In this world, our mortal forefathers, in the course of their search for eternal truth found the universal fire-divine; then calling upon the dawn of wisdom, they extricated the cows of knowledge which remained concealed among rocks in the dark caverns. 13

Rending the rocks they further cleared out the way; others around also reported their findings. Fully prepared for the extrication of the cattle, they sang their songs and found the light and with wisdom they planned out the course of action. 14

ते गव्यता मनसा दृध्रमुब्धं गा येमानं परि षन्तमद्रिम् ।
दृळ्हं नरो वचसा दैव्येन व्रजं गोमन्तमुशिजो वि वव्रुः ॥१५॥

té gavyatá mánasā dridhrám ubdhám gá yemānám pári shántam ádrim | drilhám náro vácasā daívyena vrajám gómantam usíjo ví vavruh || 15 ||

॥१५॥ ते मन्वत प्रथमं नाम धेनोस्त्रिः सप्त मातुः परमाणि विन्दन् ।
तज्जानतीरभ्यनूषत व्रा आविर्भुवदरुणीर्यशसा गोः ॥१६॥
नेशत्तमो दुधितं रोचत द्यौरुद्देव्या उषसो भानुरर्त ।
आ सूर्यो बृहतस्तिष्ठदज्राँ ऋजु मर्तेषु वृजिना च पश्यन् ॥१७॥
आदित्पश्चा बुबुधाना व्यख्यन्नादिद्रत्नं धारयन्त द्युभक्तम् ।
विश्वे विश्वासु दुर्यासु देवा मित्र धिये वरुण सत्यमस्तु ॥१८॥
अच्छा वोचेय शुशुचानमग्निं होतारं विश्वभरसं यजिष्ठम् ।
शुच्यूधो अतृणन्न गवामन्धो न पूतं परिषिक्तमंशोः ॥१९॥
विश्वेषामदितिर्यज्ञियानां विश्वेषामतिथिर्मानुषाणाम् ।
अग्निर्देवानामव आवृणानः सुमृळीको भवतु जातवेदाः ॥२०॥

té manvata prathamám náma dhenós tríh saptá mātúh paramáni vindan | táj jānatír abhy ànūshata vrá āvír bhuvad arunír yasásā góh || 16 || nésat támo dúdhitam rócata dyaúr úd devyá usháso bhānúr arta | á sūryo brihatás tishthad ájrāñ rijú márteshu vrijiná ca pásyan || 17 || ád ít pascá bubudhāná vy àkhyann ád íd rátnam dhārayanta dyúbhaktam | vísve vísvāsu dúryāsu devá mítra dhiyé varuna satyám astu || 18 || áchā voceya susucānám agním hótāram visvábharasam yájishtham | súcy údho atrinan ná gávām ándho ná pūtám párishiktam ansóh || 19 || vísveshām áditir yājñíyānām vísveshām átithir mánushānām | agnír devánām áva āvrinānáh sumrilīkó bhavatu jātávedāh || 20 ||

Devoted to their leader, the fire-divine, these people, with minds intent upon restoring cattle, brokeopen, with divine wisdom, the enclosing obstructions, consisting of solid mountains confining cows, — the stable full of cattle. 15

They first have comprehended the name of the milch-cow (the divine speech). They found the mother's three sets of seven noblest terms (21 metres of the Vedas). Then they glorified the conscious dawns (divine light), and the purple dawn appeared with the radiance of the effulgent sun. 16

The diffused darkness receded; the firmament glowed with radiance, the lustre of the divine dawn arose and then the sun ascended above the wide expanses, beholding deeds of men, good and evil. 17

Thereupon awakening, the enlightened devotees obtain celestial treasures of knowledge, and thereon the universal godly men assemble in the congregation. O Lord of cosmic light and intelligence, may the aspirations and efforts of your worshippers be effective and fruitful. 18

May I now glorify the present radiant fire-divine, the invoker of Nature's bounties, the supporter of the universe, and most adorable, though the udder of the cow has not been milked, nor the sanctified and strained libation drawn up by the sun. 19

The universal fire-divine is the mother of all those divine powers, to whom the worship is offered. May He be dear like a guest to all men. Receiving the offered homage, may He, the knower of all that is born, be gracious to us. 20

(२) द्वितीयं सूक्तम्

(१-२०) विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१६॥ यो मर्त्येष्वमृत ऋतावा देवो देवेष्वरतिर्निधायि ।
होता यजिष्ठो मह्ना शुचध्यै हव्यैरग्निर्मनुष ईरयध्यै ॥१॥
इह त्वं सूनो सहसो नो अद्य जातो जाताँ उभयाँ अन्तरग्ने ।
दूत ईयसे युयुजान ऋष्व ऋजुमुष्कान्वृषणः शुक्रांश्च ॥२॥
अत्या वृधस्नू रोहिता घृतस्नू ऋतस्य मन्ये मनसा जविष्ठा ।
अन्तरीयसे अरुषा युजानो युष्मांश्च देवान्विश आ च मर्तान् ॥३॥

2.

Yó mártyeshv amṛíta ṛitávā devó devéshv aratír nidháyi | hótā yájishṭho mahná ṣucádhyai havyaír agnír mánusha īrayádhyai || 1 || ihá tvám sūno sahaso no adyá jātó jātáñ ubháyāñ antár agne | dūtá īyase yuyujāná ṛishva ṛijumushkán vṛíshaṇaḥ ṣukráñṣ ca || 2 || átyā vṛidhasnū́ róhitā ghṛitásnū ṛitásya manye mánasā jávishṭhā | antár īyase arushā́ yujānó yushmáñṣ ca deván víṣa ā́ ca mártān || 3 ||

अर्यमणं वरुणं मित्रमेषामिन्द्राविष्णू मरुतो अश्विनोत ।
स्वश्वो अग्ने सुरथः सुराधा एदु वह सुहविषे जनाय ॥४॥
गोमाँ अग्नेऽविमाँ अश्वी यज्ञो नृवत्सखा सदमिदप्रमृष्यः ।
इळावाँ एषो असुर प्रजावान्दीर्घो रयिः पृथुबुध्नः सभावान् ॥५॥

aryamáṇaṃ váruṇam mitrám eshām índrāvíshṇū marúto aṣvínotá | svásvo agne suráthaḥ surā́dhā éd u vaha suhavíshe jánāya || 4 || gómāñ agné 'vimāñ aṣví yajñó nṛivátsakhā sádam íd apramṛishyáḥ | íḷāvāñ eshó asura rajávān dīrghó rayíḥ pṛithubudhnáḥ sabhávān || 5 ||

2

He, the fire-divine, has been installed immortal among the mortals, the observer of truth, the invoker of natural powers and triumphant among them, the most diligent. He has been placed upon the altar to brighten the ceremony by his lustre, and for the elevation of mankind through oblations in celestial regions. 1

O divine fire, embodiment of strength, kindled today at this place of worship, and invoker of Nature's bounties, may you fair as an intermediate envoy between both (Nature's forces and men), harnessing your vigorous, robust and resplendent flames. 2

I acknowledge with reverence the reddish, prosperity-bestowing, water-shedding and swifter-than-mind-moving, steeds (radiant beams), of Lord, the Truth. Yoking the brilliant pair, you pass between the celestial divine forces of yours and the human beings. 3

Possessed of brilliant flames, an excellent chariot and abundant nourishment, O fire-divine, may you bring the blessings of the cosmic all-pervading powers of light, life, waters, law and order, winds, twin-divines among these worshippers for the benefit of mankind. 4

O mighty fire-divine, may our benevolent actions, celebrated by your worshipper and instituted by the priests be productive of cows, sheep and horses and remain ever uninterrupted. May it grant wisdom, progeny, long continued and broad-based affluence, and social status. 5

॥१७॥ यस्त इध्मं जभरत्सिष्विदानो मूर्धानं वा ततपते त्वाया ।
भुवस्तस्य स्वतवाँः पायुरग्ने विश्वस्मात्सीमघायत उरुष्य ॥६॥
यस्ते भरादन्नियते चिदन्नं निशिषन्मन्द्रमतिथिमुदीरत् ।
आ देवयुरिनधते दुरोणे तस्मिन्रयिर्ध्रुवो अस्तु दास्वान् ॥७॥
यस्त्वा दोषा य उषसि प्रशंसात्प्रियं वा त्वा कृणवते हविष्मान् ।
अश्वो न स्वे दम आ हेम्यावान्तमंहसः पीपरो दाश्वांसम् ॥८॥
यस्तुभ्यमग्ने अमृताय दाशद्दुवस्त्वे कृणवते यतस्रुक् ।
न स राया शशमानो वि योषन्नैनमंहः परि वरदघायोः ॥९॥
यस्य त्वमग्ने अध्वरं जुजोषो देवो मर्तस्य सुधितं रराणः ।
प्रीतेदसद्धोत्रा सा यविष्ठासाम यस्य विधतो वृधासः ॥१०॥

yás ta idhmám jabhárat sishvidānó mūrdhánam vā tatápate tvāyá | bhúvas tásya svátavāñh pāyúr agne víṣvasmāt sīm aghāyatá urushya || 6 || yás te bhárād ánniyate cid ánnam nisíshan mandrám átithim udírat | á devayúr inádhate duroṇé tásmin rayír dhruvó astu dásvān || 7 || yás tvā doshá yá ushási praṣáṅsāt priyám vā tvā kriṇávate havíshmān | áṣvo ná své dáma á hemyávān tám áṅhasaḥ pīparo dāṣváṅsam || 8 || yás túbhyam agne amrítāya dáṣad dúvas tvé kriṇávate yatásruk | ná sá rāyá ṣaṣamānó vi yoshan naínam áṅhaḥ pári varad aghāyóḥ || 9 || yásya tvám agne adhvarám jújosho devó mártasya súdhitam rárāṇaḥ | prītéd asad dhótrā sá yavishṭhásāma yásya vidható vridhásaḥ || 10 ||

॥१८॥ चित्तिमचित्तिं चिनवद्वि विद्वान्पृष्ठेव वीता वृजिना च मर्तान् ।
राये च नः स्वपत्याय देव दितिं च रास्वादितिमुरुष्य ॥११॥

císttim ácittim cinavad ví vidvān prishṭhéva vītá vrijiná ca mártān | rāyé ca naḥ svapatyáya deva dítim ca rásvâditim urushya || 11 ||

O fire-divine, may you be the munificient recompenser of the person, who, sweating with toil, brings you fuel, and in your service exhausts out himself to full capacity and may you protect him from every one that seeks to do him evil. 6

May the worshipper, who, desirous of food, presents reverential homage and constantly offers sweet devotional prayers to you, and also who welcomes you as a guest and devoutly kindles you in his home, be blessed with a son, firm in devotion and liberal in offerings. 7

May you, fire-divine, as if a horse with golden caparisons rescue from evils the bounteous worshipper, who glorifies you morning and evening, and, presenting homage, does what is acceptable to you in his own home. 8

O immortal fire-divine, let not the one, who is dedicated and serves you with repeated praises and who pours out butter with uplifted ladle, be devoid of wealth and let not the wickedness of a malevolent overwhelm him. 9

O fire-divine, gracious and youngest amongst the divines, may that prayer be agreeable to you, which is uttered by the man, with whose well-conducted worships you are well-pleased, and may we be the promoters of the worshipper when he adores you. 10

The all-wise Lord discriminates between virtue and vice, straight between man and man like the groom distinguishing between sturdy and weak backs of horses. O Lord, enrich us with wealth and virtuous children; may you award us the ephemeral wealth, and also protect the non-ephemeral one. 11

कविं शशासुः कवयोऽदब्धा निधारयन्तो दुर्यास्वायोः ।
अतस्त्वं दृश्याँ अग्न एतान्पड्भिः पश्येरद्भुताँ अर्य एवैः ॥१२॥
त्वमग्ने वाघते सुप्रणीतिः सुतसोमाय विधते यविष्ठ ।
रत्नं भर शशमानाय घृष्वे पृथु श्चन्द्रमवसे चर्षणिप्राः ॥१३॥
अधा ह यद्वयमग्ने त्वाया पड्भिर्हस्तेभिश्चकृमा तनूभिः ।
रथं न क्रन्तो अपसा भुरिजोर्ऋतं येमुः सुध्य आशुषाणाः ॥१४॥
अधा मातुरुषसः सप्त विप्रा जायेमहि प्रथमा वेधसो नॄन् ।
दिवस्पुत्रा अङ्गिरसो भवेमाद्रिं रुजेम धनिनं शुचन्तः ॥१५॥

kavím ṣaṣāsuḥ kaváyó 'dabdhā nidhāráyanto dúryāsv āyóḥ | átas tvám dṛíṣyāñ agna etán paḍbhíḥ paṣyer ádbhutāñ aryá évaiḥ || 12 || tvám agne vāgháte suprániītiḥ sutásomāya vidhaté yavishṭha | rátnam bhara ṣaṣamānáya ghṛishve pṛithú ṣcandrám ávase carshaṇipráḥ || 13 || ádhā ha yád vayám agne tvāyá paḍbhír hástebhiṣ cakṛimá tanúbhiḥ | rátham ná kránto ápasā bhuríjor ṛitám yemuḥ sudhyà āṣushāṇáḥ || 14 || ádhā mātúr ushásaḥ saptá víprā jáyemahi prathamá vedháso nṛ́n | divás putrá áñgiraso bhavemádrim rujema dhanínam ṣucántaḥ || 15 ||

॥१९॥ अधा यथा नः पितरः परासः प्रत्नासो अग्न ऋतमाशुषाणाः ।
शुचीदयन्दीधितिमुक्थशासः क्षामा भिन्दन्तो अरुणीरप व्रन् ॥१६॥
सुकर्माणः सुरुचो देवयन्तोऽयो न देवा जनिमा धमन्तः ।
शुचन्तो अग्निं ववृधन्त इन्द्रमूर्वं गव्यं परिषदन्तो अग्मन् ॥१७॥

ádhā yáthā naḥ pitáraḥ párāsaḥ pratnáso agna ṛitám āṣushāṇáḥ | ṣúcíd ayan dídhitim ukthaṣásaḥ kshámā bhindánto aruṇír ápa vran || 16 || sukármaṇaḥ surúco devayántó 'yo ná devá jánimā dhámantaḥ | ṣucánto agním vavṛidhánta índram ūrvám gávyam parishádanto agman || 17 ||

O fire-divine, the unreviled wise persons always welcome with reverence wise men in their homes. May you also proceed with rapid footsteps to meet and bless these remarkable and marvellous men of wisdom. 12

Resplendent and ever youthful fire-divine, you are the satisfier of the wishes of men, and giver of good guidance to the participants, who serve you with loving devotion. May you bestow joy-yielding and abundant wealth for the preservation of the participant, who praises and worships you with full dedication. 13

O fire-divine, we churn you, the eternal truth, out with hands and feet, and all our members, the pious experts of the technique, exercise their arms in the work of attrition just as those who fabricate laboriously a car. 14

May we, the seven divine sons, first in order, become the wise fire technicians, and engender as if from the dawn the front rank people, and being well-versed, break open rocks. 15

Thus, O adorable Lord, our virtuous and ancient fore-fathers, institutors of holy rites based on immortal truths, attain pure light, and reciting sacred hymns and dispersing gloom make purple dawns manifest. 16

Performers of benevolent works, brilliant and aspirants of divinity, make their life free from impurity, as a smith heats iron. Enkindling the fire-divine, and exalting the resplendent Lord, and wandering about in search, they reach the vast mystic source of wisdom and speech. 17

आ यूथेव क्षुमति पश्वो अख्यद्देवानां यज्जनिमान्त्युग्र ।
मर्तानां चिदुर्वशीरकृप्रन्वृधे चिदर्य उपरस्यायोः ॥१८॥
अकर्म ते स्वपसो अभूम ऋतमवस्रन्नुषसो विभातीः ।
अनूनमग्निं पुरुधा सुश्चन्द्रं देवस्य मर्मृजतश्चारु चक्षुः ॥१९॥
एता ते अग्न उचथानि वेधोऽवोचाम कवये ता जुषस्व ।
उच्छोचस्व कृणुहि वस्यसो नो महो रायः पुरुवार प्र यन्धि ॥२०॥

á yūthéva kshumáti pasvó akhyad devánām yáj jánimánty ugra | mártānām cid urvásīr akripran vridhé cid aryá úparasyāyóḥ || 18 || ákarma te svápaso abhūma ritám avasrann usháso vibhātíḥ | ánūnam agním purudhá̄ suscandrám devásya mármrijatas cá̄ru cákshuḥ || 19 || etá̄ te agna ucáthāni vedhó 'vocāma kaváye tá̄ jushasva | úc chocasva krinuhí vásyaso no mahó rāyáḥ puruvāra prá yandhi || 20 ||

(३) तृतीयं सूक्तम्

(१-१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चोऽग्नी रुद्रो वा.
(२-१६) द्वितीयादिपञ्चदशानाञ्चाग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ आ वो राजानमध्वरस्य रुद्रं होतारं सत्ययजं रोदस्योः ।
अग्निं पुरा तनयित्नोरचित्ताद्धिरण्यरूपमवसे कृणुध्वम् ॥१॥
अयं योनिश्चकृमा यं वयं ते जायेव पत्य उशती सुवासाः ।
अर्वाचीनः परिवीतो नि षीदेमा उ ते स्वपाक प्रतीचीः ॥२॥

3.

Á vo rā́jānam adhvarásya rudrám hótāram satyayájam ródasyoḥ | agním purá̄ tanayitnór acíttād dhíranyarūpam ávase krinudhvam || 1 || ayám yónis cakrimá̄ yám vayám te jāyéva pátya usatí suvásāḥ | arvācīnáḥ párivīto ní shīdemá̄ u te svapāka pratīcíḥ || 2 ||

O the powerful fire-divine, the self proclaims the near presence of the mystic source of wisdom, as the herd of cattle in a food-full pasture, and the enlightened participants then plan out the details of attaining this widely-loved wisdom, and having attained it, the master of the family is rendered competent to provide for the increase of posterity and the support of dependents. 18

We have worked for you, O fire-universal; we have nobly laboured; the bright dawns have shed their lustre upon our worship—adding the beauty to the perfect fire-divine, and God's bounteous eye, the Sun, that shines for ever. 19

O all-wise creator, fire-divine, we have repeated these praises to you; may you accept them. May you blaze aloft; make us epulent; may you, being glorified by all, bestow upon us ample wealth. 20

3

Before the thunder lightning strikes and lays you senseless, O devotees, for your protection, may you kindle fire-divine, who is presiding Lord of worship, the invoker, the afflicter of adversaries, the institutor of sacrificial cosmic order between the earth and heaven, and the one invested with golden colours. 1

This is the altar, which we have decorated for you, as a wife attached to her husband puts on elegant garments. O accomplisher of good works, may you, sit down in our presence, invested with radiance, while these flames incline towards you. 2

आशृण्वते अदृपिताय मन्म नृचक्षसे सुमृळीकाय वेधः ।
देवाय शस्तिममृताय शंस ग्रावेव सोता मधुषुद्यमीळे ॥३॥
त्वं चिन्नः शम्या अग्ने अस्या ऋतस्य बोध्यृतचित्स्वाधीः ।
कदा त उक्था सधमाद्यानि कदा भवन्ति सख्या गृहे ते ॥४॥
कथा ह तद्वरुणाय त्वमग्ने कथा दिवे गर्हसे कन्न आगः ।
कथा मित्राय मीळ्हुषे पृथिव्यै ब्रवः कदर्यम्णे कद्भगाय ॥५॥

āṣriṇvaté ádṛipitāya mánma nṛicákshase sumṛiḷīkā́ya vedhaḥ | devā́ya ṣastím amṛ́tāya ṣaṅsa grā́veva sótā madhushúd yám īḷé || 3 || tvám cin naḥ ṣámyā agne asyā́ ṛitásya bodhy ṛitacit svādhī́ḥ | kadā́ ta ukthā́ sadhamā́dyāni kadā́ bhavanti sakhyā́ gṛihé te || 4 || kathā́ ha tád váruṇāya tvám agne kathā́ divé garhase kán na ā́gaḥ | kathā́ mitrā́ya mīḷhúshe pṛithivyaí brávaḥ kád aryamṇé kád bhágāya || 5 ||

॥२१॥

कद्धिष्ण्यासु वृधसानो अग्ने कद्वाताय प्रतवसे शुभंये ।
परिज्मने नासत्याय क्षे ब्रवः कदग्ने रुद्राय नृघ्ने ॥६॥
कथा महे पुष्टिंभराय पूष्णे कद्रुद्राय सुमखाय हविर्दे ।
कद्विष्णव उरुगायाय रेतो ब्रवः कदग्ने शरवे बृहत्यै ॥७॥
कथा शर्धाय मरुतामृताय कथा सूरे बृहते पृच्छ्यमानः ।
प्रति ब्रवोऽदितये तुराय साधा दिवो जातवेदश्चिकित्वान् ॥८॥

kád dhíshṇyāsu vṛidhasānó agne kád vā́tāya prátavase ṣubhaṃyé | párijmane nā́satyāya kshé brávaḥ kád agne rudrā́ya nṛighné || 6 || kathā́ mahé pushṭimbharā́ya pūshṇé kád rudrā́ya súmakhāya havirdé | kád víshṇava urugāyā́ya réto brávaḥ kád agne ṣárave bṛihatyaí || 7 || kathā́ ṣárdhāya marútām ṛitā́ya kathā́ sūré bṛihaté pṛichyámānaḥ | práti bravó 'ditaye turā́ya sā́dhā divó jātavedaṣ cikitvā́n || 8 ||

Repeat, O priest, the praise, the prayer, to the attentive and affable fire-divine, to the perceiver of mankind, the giver of felicity, to the divine, the immortal; to him the worshipper, while offering homage, like the stone pressing the juice repeatedly sings in a loud voice. 3

May you, fire-divine, the cognizant of truth, the author of good works, be responsive to our adoration. When shall your exhilarating hymns be chanted? When shall our friendship with you be established in our heart and home? 4

O the glorious one like fire, why this complaint to virtuous, and why to the enlightened? What is our offence? Why repeat it to the bountiful friend, to the mother earth, to the ordainers or to the gracious ? 5

Why repeat it when exalted in holy ceremonies ? Why tell it to the mighty, benevolent, circumambient truthful wind ? Why, O the glorious one like fire, to the earth ? Why to the afflicter, destroyer of men ? 6

Why to the great and nutriment-conveying sustainer ? Why to the afflicter, the object of worship and the giver of oblations? Why to the many-hymned protector ? Why tell our sin to the mighty destructive forces ? 7

Why tell it to the veracious vital principles? Why, even when asked, to the mighty sun? Why repeat it to eternity or to the swift wind? May you, cognizant of all that exists fulfil your divine responsibility. 8

ऋतेन ऋतं नियतमीळ आ गोरामा सचा मधुमत्पक्वमग्ने ।
कृष्णा सती रुशता धासिनैषा जामर्येण पयसा पीपाय ॥९॥
ऋतेन हि ष्मा वृषभश्चिदक्तः पुमाँ अग्निः पयसा पृष्ठ्येन ।
अस्पन्दमानो अचरद्वयोधा वृषा शुक्रं दुदुहे पृश्निरूधः ॥१०॥

ṛiténa ṛitáṃ níyatam īḷa ā́ gór āmā́ sácā mádhumat pakvám agne | krishṇā́ satī́ rúṣatā dhāsínaishā́ jā́maryeṇa páyasā pīpāya || 9 || ṛiténa hí shmā vṛishabhás cid aktáḥ púmāṅ agníḥ páyasā pṛishṭhyèna | áspandamāno acarad vayodhā́ vṛíshā ṣukráṃ duduhe pṛíṣnir ū́dhaḥ || 10 ||

॥२२॥ ऋतेनाद्रिं व्यसन्भिदन्तः समङ्गिरसो नवन्त गोभिः ।
शुनं नरः परि षदन्नुषासमाविः स्वरभवज्जाते अग्नौ ॥११॥
ऋतेन देवीरमृता अमृक्ता अर्णोभिरापो मधुमद्भिरग्ने ।
वाजी न सर्गेषु प्रस्तुभानः प्र सदमित्स्रवितवे दधन्युः ॥१२॥
मा कस्य यक्षं सदमिद्धुरो गा मा वेशस्य प्रमिनतो मापेः ।
मा भ्रातुरग्ने अनृजोर्ऋणं वेर्मा सख्युर्दक्षं रिपोर्भुजेम ॥१३॥
रक्षा णो अग्ने तव रक्षणेभी रारक्षाणः सुमख प्रीणानः ।
प्रति ष्फुर वि रुज वीड्वंहो जहि रक्षो महि चिद्वावृधानम् ॥१४॥

ṛiténā́drim vy àsan bhidántaḥ sám áṅgiraso navanta góbhiḥ | ṣunáṃ náraḥ pári shadann ushā́sam āvíḥ svàr abhavaj jāté agnaú || 11 || ṛiténa devī́r amṛítā ámṛiktā árṇobhir ā́po mádhumadbhir agne | vājī́ ná sárgeshu prastubhānáḥ prá sádam ít srávitave dadhanyuḥ || 12 || mā́ kásya yaksháṃ sádam íd dhuró gā mā́ veṣásya praminató mā́péḥ | mā́ bhrā́tur agne ánṛijor ṛiṇáṃ ver mā́ sákhyur dákshaṃ ripór bhujema || 13 || rákshā ṇo agne táva rákshaṇebhī rārakshāṇáḥ sumakha prīṇānáḥ | práti shphura ví ruja vīḍv áṅho jahí ráksho máhi cid vāvṛidhānám || 14 ||

I solicit, O divine fire, the truth of the speech sustained by the natural law itself, though immature she possesses the sweetness of the ripe. Like a cow, black may she be, yet with her bright nutritious milk, she maintains mankind in existence. 9

The powerful fire-divine, the showerer of benefits, is kindled by the genuine sustaining milk; the giver of strength proceeds unswerving from his course, and the sun, the shedder of rain, draws the cosmic vapours from the udder of the firmament. 10

By the force of natural laws, the fire priests, rending the mountain assunder, throw it open, and restore the lost wisdom. The leaders arrive happily at the dawn and soon after the sun manifests as the fire ritual is lighted. 11

By the force of eternal truth, O fire-divine, the divine channels, immortal, unobstructed, continue to flow perpetually with sweet waters, like a horse, that is being urged in his speed. 12

Go not ever, fire-divine, to the invitation of any one who harms us, nor to that of a malevolent neighbour; nor to unworthy kinsman. Accept not the dues from an insincere brother. Let us not rely on the might of a crooked friend or a deceptive foe. 13

O earnestly honoured, fire-divine, ever-guarding, propitiated by our offerings, keep us safe with your protective power; enlighten us and entirely extirpate our sins. May you destroy the wicked when he waxes mighty. 14

एभिर्भव सुमना अग्ने अर्कैरिमान्त्स्पृश मन्मभिः शूर वाजान् ।
उत ब्रह्माण्यङ्गिरो जुषस्व सं ते शस्तिर्देववाता जरेत ॥१५॥
एता विश्वा विदुषे तुभ्यं वेधो नीथान्यग्ने निण्या वचांसि ।
निवचना कवये काव्यान्यशंसिषं मतिभिर्विप्र उक्थैः ॥१६॥

ebhír bhava sumánā agne arkaír imā́n sprisa mánmabhiḥ sūra vā́jān | utá bráhmāṇy aṅgiro jushasva sáṃ te sastír devávātā jareta || 15 || etā́ vísvā vidúshe túbhyaṃ vedho nīthā́ny agne niṇyā́ vácāṅsi | nivácanā kaváye kā́vyāny áṣaṅsisham matíbhir vípra ukthaíḥ || 16 ||

(४) चतुर्थं सूक्तम्

(१–१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । रक्षोहाग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ कृणुष्व पाजः प्रसितिं न पृथ्वीं याहि राजेवामवाँ इभेन ।
तृष्वीमनु प्रसितिं द्रूणानोऽस्तासि विध्य रक्षसस्तपिष्ठैः ॥१॥
तव भ्रमास आशुया पतन्त्यनु स्पृश धृषता शोशुचानः ।
तपूंष्यग्ने जुह्वा पतङ्गानसंदितो वि सृज विष्वगुल्काः ॥२॥
प्रति स्पशो वि सृज तूर्णितमो भवा पायुर्विशो अस्या अदब्धः ।
यो नो दूरे अघशंसो यो अन्त्यग्ने माकिष्टे व्यथिरा दधर्षीत् ॥३॥

4.

Krinushvá pā́jaḥ prásitiṃ ná prithvíṃ yāhí rā́jevā́mavāñ íbhena | trishvī́m ánu prásitiṃ drūṇānó 'stāsi vídhya rakshásas tápishṭhaiḥ || 1 || táva bhramā́sa āṣuyā́ patanty ánu spriṣa dhrishatā́ ṣóṣucānaḥ | tápūṅshy agne juhvā̀ pataṃgā́n ásaṃdito ví srija víshvag ulkā́ḥ || 2 || práti spáṣo ví srija tū́rṇitamo bhávā payúr viṣó asyá ádabdhaḥ | yó no dūré aghásaṅso yó ánty ágne mā́kish ṭe vyáthir ā́ dadharshīt || 3 ||

Be propitiated fire-divine, by these hymns; accept, O brave, the sacred homage, offered with praises; be pleased, O fire flames, by our prayers; may the adoration addressed to Nature's forces exalt you. 15

O fire-divine, the all-wise, acquainted with the agreed upons, to you I address these wise meaningful hymns. I sing to you, O sage, the charming words of wisdom, these ever-to-be racited poems, composed with discretions and praises. 16

4

O adorable Lord, put forth your vigour, as a hunter speeds his capacious snare, and go like a mighty king on his elephant with his attendants. You are the scatterer of dark forces. May you swiftly follow and transfix the miscreants with your dart, that burns most fiercely. 1

O divine fire, your swift and whirling flames move quickly. Glowing in your fury, may you consume (the foe). O fire-divine, (when oblations are) offered by ladle, may you cast scorching flames, and sparks, and fire brands all around you. 2

O fire-divine, may you with your most rapid motion direct your radiant flames all around, and unresisted, become the protector of your people. Let no malevolent miscreant, whether remote or nigh, prevail against us, your worshippers. 3

उदग्ने तिष्ठ प्रत्या तनुष्व न्यमित्राँ ओषतात्तिग्महेते ।
यो नो अरातिं समिधान चक्रे नीचा तं धक्ष्यतसं न शुष्कम् ॥४॥
ऊर्ध्वो भव प्रति विध्याध्यस्मदाविष्कृणुष्व दैव्यान्यग्ने ।
अव स्थिरा तनुहि यातुजूनां जामिमजामिं प्र मृणीहि शत्रून् ॥५॥

úd agne tishṭha práty ā́ tanushva ny àmítrāñ oshatāt tigmahete | yó no ārātiṃ samidhāna cakré nīcā́ tā́ṃ dhakshy atasā́ṃ ná ṣúshkam || 4 || ūrdhvó bhava práti vidhyā́dhy asmád āvísh kṛiṇushva daívyāny agne | áva sthirā́ tanuhi yātujū́nāṃ jāmím ájāmim prá mṛiṇīhi ṣátrūn || 5 ||

॥२४॥ स ते जानाति सुमतिं यविष्ठ य ईवते ब्रह्मणे गातुमैरत् ।
विश्वान्यस्मै सुदिनानि रायो द्युम्नान्यर्यो वि दुरो अभि द्यौत् ॥६॥
सेदग्ने अस्तु सुभगः सुदानुर्यस्त्वा नित्येन हविषा य उक्थैः ।
पिप्रीषति स्व आयुषि दुरोणे विश्वेदस्मै सुदिना सासदिष्टिः ॥७॥
अर्चामि ते सुमतिं घोष्यर्वाक्सं ते वावाता जरतामियं गीः ।
स्वश्वास्त्वा सुरथा मर्जयेमास्मे क्षत्राणि धारयेरनु द्यून् ॥८॥
इह त्वा भूर्या चरेदुप त्मन्दोषावस्तर्दीदिवांसमनु द्यून् ।
क्रीळन्तस्त्वा सुमनसः सपेमाभि द्युम्ना तस्थिवांसो जनानाम् ॥९॥

sá te jānāti sumatíṃ yavishṭha yá ívate bráhmaṇe gātúm aírat | víṣvāny asmai sudínāni rāyó dyumnány aryó ví dúro abhí dyaut || 6 || séd agne astu subhágaḥ sudā́nur yás tvā nítyena havíshā yá ukthaíḥ | píprīshati svá ā́yushi duroṇé víṣvéd asmai sudínā sā́sad ishṭíḥ || 7 || árcāmi te sumatíṃ ghóshy arvā́k sáṃ te vāvā́tā jaratām iyáṃ gī́ḥ | sváṣvās tvā suráthā marjayemāsmé kshatrā́ṇi dhārayer ánu dyū́n || 8 || ihá tvā bhū́ry ā́ cared úpa tmán dóshāvastar dīdivā́ṅsam ánu dyū́n | krīḷantas tvā sumánasaḥ sapemābhí dyumnā́ tasthivā́ṅso jánānām || 9 ||

Rise up, O sharp weaponed divine fire! Spread wide your flames. Entirely consume the miscreants, unfriendly to us. O blazing fire-divine! Burn down that one like a piece of dry wood, who acts as an enemy towards us. 4

Rise up, O divine fire! Chastise those, who overpower us. Manifest your divine energies. Slacken the strong bow-strings (i.e. the threatening weapons) of the malignant foes. Destroy those, who are hostile, whether friend or alien. 5

O ever-young (fire-divine), the one who inspires devotion towards the other, well-versed in divine knowledge experiences your excellent favour. May you bestow upon him all happy days, and magnificence of riches, and as a Lord shine upon his dwelling. 6

O fire-divine, may he who propitiates you with constant oblations and praises be prosperous and liberal giver. May all his days and his sacred acts be blessed by you. 7

I adore your gracious favour, O fire-divine; may this reiterated and resounding hymn convey my love to you; may we be possessed of good horses and good cars, so that we may pay you homage and may you, day by day, provide us with protections. 8

O resplendent fire-divine, may every one of his own accord diligently serve you, day by day, shining evening and morning. So, may we enjoying and sporting, be blessed with your favour, keeping in consonance with the glory of common men. 9

यस्त्वा स्वश्वः सुहिरण्यो अग्न उपयाति वसुमता रथेन ।
तस्य त्राता भवसि तस्य सखा यस्त आतिथ्यमानुषग्जुजोषत् ॥१०॥

yás tvā svásvaḥ suhiraṇyó agna upayā́ti vásumatā ráthena | tásya trātā́ bhavasi tásya sákhā yás ta ātithyám ānushág jújoshat || 10 ||

॥२५॥

महो रुजामि बन्धुता वचोभिस्तन्मा पितुर्गोतमादन्वियाय ।
त्वं नो अस्य वचसश्चिकिद्धि होतर्यविष्ठ सुक्रतो दमूनाः ॥११॥
अस्वप्नजस्तरणयः सुशेवा अतन्द्रासोऽवृका अश्रमिष्ठाः ।
ते पायवः सध्र्यञ्चो निषद्याग्ने तव नः पान्त्वमूर ॥१२॥
ये पायवो मामतेयं ते अग्ने पश्यन्तो अन्धं दुरितादरक्षन् ।
ररक्ष तान्त्सुकृतो विश्ववेदा दिप्सन्त इद्रिपवो नाह देभुः ॥१३॥
त्वया वयं सधन्यस्त्वोतास्तव प्रणीत्यश्याम वाजान् ।
उभा शंसा सूदय सत्यतातेऽनुष्ठुया कृणुह्यह्रयाण ॥१४॥
अया ते अग्ने समिधा विधेम प्रति स्तोमं शस्यमानं गृभाय ।
दहाशसो रक्षसः पाह्यस्मान्द्रुहो निदो मित्रमहो अवद्यात् ॥१५॥

mahó rujāmi bandhútā vácobhis tán mā pitúr gótamād ánv iyāya | tvám̱ no asyá vácasaṣ cikiddhi hótar yavishṭha sukrato dámūnāḥ || 11 || ásvapnajas taráṇayaḥ suṣévā átandrāso 'vṛiká áṣramishṭhāḥ | té pāyávaḥ sadhryàñco nishádyā́gne táva naḥ pāntv amūra || 12 || yé pāyávo māmateyám̱ te agne páṣyanto andhám̱ duritā́d árakshan | raráksha tā́n sukṛíto viṣvávedā dípsanta íd ripávo nā́ha debhuḥ || 13 || tvā́yā vayám̱ sadhanyàs tvótās táva práṇīty aṣyāma vā́jān | ubhá ṣáṅsā sūdaya satyatāte 'nushṭhuyá kṛiṇuhy ahrayāṇa || 14 || ayā́ te agne samídhā vidhema práti stómam̱ ṣasyámānam̱ gṛibhāya | dáhāṣáso rakshásaḥ pāhy àsmán druhó nidó mitramaho avadyā́t || 15 ||

You, O fire-divine, become the protector of him, and his friend who possesses good horse-like vigour and a golden chariot-like wisdom, and approaches you with a chariot laden with treasure of knowledge and who gratifies you by the due performance of hospitality to you. 10

O fire-divine, ever-young and invoker of Nature's bounties, possessed of excellent wisdom, through holy texts received from the ancestory of my most revered preceptor, I demolish the powerful evil forces. May you, be aware of our devotions to you, O humbler of foes. 11

O all-wise fire-divine, may your protecting radiance, unslumbering, alert, propitious, ever-friendly, benignant, unwearied, and co-operating, be enshrined in our hearts and homes, and preserve us. 12

O fire-divine, your on-looking protecting radiance, saves the ignorance born of egoism and misfortune. He, the omniscient one, rewards the righteous acts and then his foes, intending to destroy him, would wrought him no harm. 13

O fire-divine, may we, aided by you, become opulent. May we gain strength and attain abundant food, through your guidance. O ever-truthful, destroy both sorts of calumniators, those who are near, and those who are far off, and in due course fulfil our aspirations. 14

O fire-divine, may we propitiate you, with the fuel of our dedication. May you accept the praise, that is recited by us. May you consume the unfaithful wicked. O Lord, rich in friends, preserve us from the reproach of the oppressor and the reviler. 15

(५) पञ्चमं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । वैश्वानरोऽग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ वैश्वानराय मीळ्हुषे सजोषाः कथा दाशेमाग्नये बृहद्भाः ।
अनूनेन बृहता वक्षथेनोप स्तभायदुपमिन्न रोधः ॥१॥
मा निन्दत य इमां मह्यं रातिं देवो ददौ मर्त्याय स्वधावान् ।
पाकाय गृत्सो अमृतो विचेता वैश्वानरो नृतमो यह्वो अग्निः ॥२॥
साम द्विबर्हा महि तिग्मभृष्टिः सहस्ररेता वृषभस्तुविष्मान् ।
पदं न गोरपगूळ्हं विविद्वानग्निर्मह्यं प्रेदु वोचन्मनीषाम् ॥३॥

5.

Vaiṣvānaráya mīḷhúshe sajóshāḥ kathá dāṣemāgnáye bṛihád bhấḥ | ánūnena bṛihatá vakshát henópa stabhāyad upamín ná ródhaḥ || 1 || mấ nindata yá imấm máhyaṃ rātíṃ devó dadaú mártyāya svadhávān | pákāya gṛítso amṛíto vícetā vaiṣvānaró nṛítamo yahvó agníḥ || 2 || sấma dvibárhā máhi tigmábhṛishṭiḥ sahásraretā vṛishabhás túvishmān | padáṃ ná gór ápagūḷhaṃ vividvấn agnír máhyam préd u vocan manīshấm || 3 ||

प्र ताँ अग्निर्बभसत्तिग्मजम्भस्तपिष्ठेन शोचिषा यः सुराधाः ।
प्र ये मिनन्ति वरुणस्य धाम प्रिया मित्रस्य चेततो ध्रुवाणि ॥४॥
अभ्रातरो न योषणो व्यन्तः पतिरिपो न जनयो दुरेवाः ।
पापासः सन्तो अनृता असत्या इदं पदमजनता गभीरम् ॥५॥

prá tấñ agnír babhasat tigmájambhas tápishṭhena ṣocíshā yáḥ surádhāḥ | prá yé minánti várunasya dhấma priyấ mitrásya cétato dhruváṇi || 4 || abhrātáro ná yóshaṇo vyántaḥ patirípo ná jánayo durévāḥ | pāpásaḥ sánto anṛitấ asatyấ idám padám ajanatā gabhīrám || 5 ||

5

How shall we offer, with one accord, our devotion to the bounteous, extremely radiant, supreme leader who holds the universe with His vast, self-sustained body, as a pillar bears the roof. 1

Do not reproach the fire-divine, who is self-reliant, and who accepting the offerings, bestows prosperity to his mortal worshipper of mature intellect. He is wise, immortal, discriminating, chief conductor, most powerful, and supreme leader. 2

The divine fire, spreads his flames both (in celestial and midspace) regions. He is intensely-matured, full of thousandfold vigour, and strong as bull. He comprehends, by his wisdom, the mysterious sacred hymns, concealed like the foot-steps of missing cow. May he reveal that secret knowledge to me. 3

May the bounteous fire-divine, consume them with his fiercely glowing sharp jaws-like flames, who disregard the commandments and steadfast laws of most venerable and sagacious Lord. 4

Like youthful women, who have no close relatives, or like damsels, who unaccommodating with their husbands, go astray; the wicked persons become sinful, untrue, and unfaithful;—such people give birth to the deep abysmal state of life. 5

॥२॥

इदं मे अग्ने कियते पावकामिनते गुरुं भारं न मन्म ।
बृहद्दधाथ धृषता गभीरं यह्वं पृष्ठं प्रयसा सप्तधातु ॥६॥
तमिन्न्वे३व समना समानमभि क्रत्वा पुनती धीतिरश्याः ।
ससस्य चर्मन्नधि चारु पृश्नेरग्रे रुप आरुपितं जबारु ॥७॥
प्रवाच्यं वचसः किं मे अस्य गुहा हितमुप निणिग्वदन्ति ।
यदुस्रियाणामप वारिव व्रन्पाति प्रियं रुपो अग्रं पदं वेः ॥८॥
इदमु त्यन्महि महामनीकं यदुस्रिया सचत पूर्व्यं गौः ।
ऋतस्य पदे अधि दीद्यानं गुहा रघुष्यद्रघुयद्विवेद ॥९॥
अध द्युतानः पित्रोः सचासामनुत गुह्यं चारु पृश्नेः ।
मातुष्पदे परमे अन्ति षद्गोर्वृष्णः शोचिषः प्रयतस्य जिह्वा ॥१०॥

idám me agne kíyate pāvakáminate gurúm bhārám ná mánma | bṛihád dadhātha dhṛishatá gábhīrám yahvám pṛishṭhám práyasā saptádhātu || 6 || tám ín nv èvá samaná samānám abhí krátvā punatí dhītír aṣyāḥ | sasásya cármann ádhi cáru príṣner ágre rupá árupitam jábāru || 7 || pravácyam vácasaḥ kím me asyá gúhā hitám úpa niṇíg vadanti | yád usríyāṇām ápa vár iva vrán páti priyám rupó ágram padám véḥ || 8 || idám u tyán máhi mahám ánīkam yád usríyā sácata pūrvyám gaúḥ | ṛitásya padé ádhi dídyānam gúhā raghushyád raghuyád viveda || 9 || ádha dyutānáḥ pitróḥ sácāsámanuta gúhyam cáru príṣneḥ | mātúsh padé paramé ánti shád gór vríshṇaḥ ṣocíshaḥ práyatasya jihvá || 10 ||

॥३॥

ऋतं वोचे नमसा पृच्छ्यमानस्तवाशसा जातवेदो यदीदम् ।
त्वमस्य क्षयसि यद्ध विश्वं दिवि यदु द्रविणं यत्पृथिव्याम् ॥११॥

ṛitám voce námasā pṛichyámānas távāṣásā jātavedo yádīdám | tvám asyá kshayasi yád dha víṣvam diví yád u dráviṇam yát pṛithivyám || 11 ||

O purifying fire-divine, feeble and innocent as I am, you have boldly given a heavy burden to me of exceedingly profound, enjoyable, deep, mighty and tangible wealth of seven elements. 6

May our self-purifying, heartfelt praise, suited to his glory, reach rapidly and mount like the sun above the immovable heaven. This the supreme leader, the sun, treats everyone equal, and his swift-moving brilliant orb is stationed on the east of the earth. 7

What can be objectionable about my this utterance? The ancient sages also affirm that the milk which people ought to have obtained with ease like water has been hidden in secret (by the supreme leader), who protects earth's best and well-lived places. 8

I have known the great one's mighty assemblage (i.e. the solar orb) which from an old radiant milk-shedding cow (i.e. the dawn) has followed,—the one (i.e. the solar orb) shining brightly above the waters (i.e. firmament), in secret, swift gliding and swift moving. 9

The great sun, shining amidst the parents (heaven and the earth) drinks the agreeable secretion of clouds in the mid-space. In the similar way, the tongue of the assiduous resplendent and intensely dedicated devotee avails the divine milk quite close from the source. 10

Interrogated, with reverence, I declare the truth, that all this (wisdom etc.) is acquired by your praise, O omniscient Lord. You rule all-over the worldly prosperity. You are the sovereign owner of all the wealth, contained in the celestial and earthly regions. 11

किं नो॑ अ॒स्य द्रवि॑णं॒ कद्ध॒ रत्नं॒ वि नो॑ वोचो जातवेदश्चिकि॒त्वान् ।
गुहाध्व॑नः पर॒मं यन्नो॑ अ॒स्य रेकु॑ प॒दं न नि॑दा॒ना अग॑न्म ॥१२॥
का म॒र्यादा॑ व॒युना॒ कद्ध॑ वा॒मम॒च्छा॑ गमेम र॒घवो॒ न वाज॑म् ।
क॒दा नो॑ दे॒वीर॒मृत॑स्य॒ पत्नीः॒ सूरो॒ वर्णे॑न ततनन्नु॒षासः॑ ॥१३॥
अ॒नि॒रेण॑ वच॑सा फ॒ल्ग्वे॑न प्र॒तीत्ये॑न कृ॒धुना॑तृ॒पासः॑ ।
अधा॒ ते अ॑ग्ने॒ किमि॒हा व॑दन्त्यनायु॒धास॒ आस॑ता सचन्ताम् ॥१४॥
अ॒स्य श्रि॒ये समि॑धा॒नस्य॒ वृष्णो॒ वसो॒रनी॑कं॒ दम॒ आ रु॑रोच ।
रुश॒द्वसा॑नः सु॒दृशी॑करूपः क्षि॒तिर्न रा॒या पु॑रु॒वारो॑ अद्यौत् ॥१५॥

kíṃ no asyá drávinaṃ kád dha rátnaṃ ví no voco jātavedaṣ cikitvā́n | gúhā́dhvanaḥ paramáṃ yán no asyá réku padáṃ ná nidānā́ áganma || 12 || kā́ maryā́dā vayúnā kád dha vāmám áchā gamema raghávo ná vā́jam | kadā́ no devī́r amṛ́tasya pátnīḥ sū́ro várṇena tatanann ushā́saḥ || 13 || aniréṇa vácasā phalgvèna pratī́tyena kṛidhúnātṛipā́saḥ | ádhā té agne kím ihā́ vadanty anāyudhā́sa ā́satā sacantām || 14 || asyá ṣriyé samidhānásya vṛíshṇo vásor ánīkaṃ dáma ā́ ruroca | rúṣad vásānaḥ sudṛíṣīkarūpaḥ kshitír ná rāyā́ puruvā́ro adyaut || 15 ||

(६) षष्ठं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ ऊ॒र्ध्व ऊ॒ षु णो॑ अध्व॒रस्य॑ होत॒रग्ने॒ तिष्ठ॑ दे॒वता॑ता॒ यजी॑यान् ।
त्वं हि विश्व॑म॒भ्यसि॒ मन्म॒ प्र वे॒धस॑श्चित्तिरसि मनी॒षाम् ॥१॥

6.

Ū́rdhvá ū shú ṇo adhvarasya hotar ágne tíshṭha devátātā yájīyān | tvám hí víṣvam abhy ási mánma prá vedhásaṣ cit tirasi manīshā́m || 1 ||

O divine fire, knower of all that is born and exists ! What is the value of this wealth to us, and what is its advantage? Tell us, O omniscient Lord, for you know what is the best secret course for us so that we may follow it unobstructed, as if, it is the direct road. 12

What is the limit ? What are the objects ? Which is the desirable end to which we rush, like swift horses to the battle ? When will the dawns-like divine wisdom, the brilliant inseparable spouse of the immortal sun-like self spread over us the divine splendour. 13

Even ordinary men are not satisfied by unproductive, frivolous, scanty and inconclusive speech. Then O divine fire, wherefore do they address you here ? Let those who have no implements suffer from poverty. 14

The splendour of this kindled one, which is mighty, and giver of dwellings, shines for glory in the hearts and abode of all beings for the prosperity of the institutor of worship. He is clothed in radiance, beautiful in semblance, glorified by all, and shines like the earth with riches. 15

6

O fire-divine, presenter of our worship, you are entitled to our adoration; may you adorn the highest pedestal amidst Nature's bounties. You are cognizant of all our innermost thoughts and inspire the wisdom of intellectuals. 1

अमूरो होता न्यसादि विक्ष्व१ग्निर्मन्द्रो विदथेषु प्रचेताः ।
ऊर्ध्वं भानुं सवितेवाश्रेन्मेतेव धूमं स्तभायदुप द्याम् ॥२॥
यता सुजूर्णी रातिनी घृताची प्रदक्षिणिद्देवतातिमुराणः ।
उदु स्वरुर्नवजा नाक्रः पश्वो अनक्ति सुधितः सुमेकः ॥३॥
स्तीर्णे बर्हिषि समिधाने अग्ना ऊर्ध्वो अध्वर्युर्जुजुषाणो अस्थात् ।
पर्यग्निः पशुपा न होता त्रिविष्ट्येति प्रदिव उराणः ॥४॥
परि त्मना मितद्रुरेति होताग्निर्मन्द्रो मधुवचा ऋतावा ।
द्रवन्त्यस्य वाजिनो न शोका भयन्ते विश्वा भुवना यदभ्राट् ॥५॥

ámūro hótā ny àsādi vikshv àgnír mandró vidátheshu prácetāḥ | ūrdhvám bhānúm savitévāṣren méteva dhūmám stabháyad úpa dyā́m || 2 || yatā́ sujūrṇí rātínī ghṛitā́cī pradakshiṇíd devátātim urāṇáḥ | úd u svárur navajā́ nā́kráḥ paṣvó anakti sudhitaḥ sumékaḥ || 3 || stīrṇé barhíshi samidhāné agnā́ ūrdhvó adhvaryúr jujushāṇó asthāt | páry agníḥ paṣupā́ ná hótā trivishty èti pradíva urāṇáḥ || 4 || pári tmánā mitádrur eti hótāgnír mandró mádhuvacā ṛitā́vā | drávanty asya vājíno ná ṣókā bháyante víṣvā bhúvanā yád ábhrāṭ || 5 ||

॥५॥ भद्रा ते अग्ने स्वनीक संदृग्घोरस्य सतो विषुणस्य चारुः ।
न यत्ते शोचिस्तमसा वरन्त न ध्वस्मानस्तन्वी३ रेप आ धुः ॥६॥
न यस्य सातुर्जनितोरवारि न मातरापितरा नू चिदिष्टौ ।
अधा मित्रो न सुधितः पावको३ऽग्निर्दीदाय मानुषीषु विक्षु ॥७॥

bhadrā́ te agne svanīka saṃdṛíg ghorásya sató víshuṇasya cā́ruḥ | ná yát te ṣocís támasā váranta ná dhvasmā́nas tanvì répa ā́ dhuḥ || 6 || ná yásya sā́tur jánitor ávāri ná mātárāpitárā nū́ cid ishṭaú | ádhā mitró ná súdhitaḥ pāvakò 'gnír dīdāya mā́nushīshu vikshu || 7 ||

The unerring, the sagacious, exhilarating fire-divine, the ministrant priest is enshrined amongst men and in our holy synods. Like the sun, he spreads splendour above, and like a man of authority, spirals the smoke rising up in the sky. 2

The glowing ladle, filled with the butter of devotion, is raised high for offering; invoking Nature's bounties, inspiring the worship, it circumambulates. The newly born sun of wisdom has come up. The fire-divine is shining with his apparently stationary, still moving with speed, beautifully glowing, illuminating and revealing flames. 3

As in the radiant vast firmament, the sun, with his brilliance and activity rises up and circumambulates across the sky, in the similar way, may the priest, the preserver of men and cattle, rise to his task rejoicing, when sacred grass is strewn and fire is kindled of the ritual. 4

The flames of the cosmic fire-divine, cheerful, conveyer, true to natural laws, move periodically of their own accord. The effulgent flames spread around like vigorous courser; all are frightened, when the fire blazes. 5

O bright shining cosmic fire, beautiful and auspicious is your aspect, and you are terrible and wide-spreading. Your splendour is not covered by darkness, and wicked forces leave no stain on your body. 6

The bounteous. purifying cosmic fire shines like a friend in all fields of human activities. He is the progenitor (of mankind), and his benevolence remains unimpeded. Even parents (heaven and earth) are unable to impose restrictions on his aspirations. 7

द्विर्यं पञ्च जीजनन्त्संवसानाः स्वसारो अग्निं मानुषीषु विक्षु ।
उषर्बुधमथर्यो३ न दन्तं शुक्रं स्वासं परशुं न तिग्मम् ॥८॥
तव त्ये अग्ने हरितो घृतस्ना रोहितास ऋज्वञ्चः स्वञ्चः ।
अरुषासो वृषण ऋजुमुष्का आ देवतातिमह्वन्त दस्माः ॥९॥
ये ह त्ये ते सहमाना अयासस्त्वेषासो अग्ने अर्चयश्चरन्ति ।
श्येनासो न दुवसनासो अर्थं तुविष्वणसो मारुतं न शर्धः ॥१०॥
अकारि ब्रह्म समिधान तुभ्यं शंसात्युक्थं यजते व्यू धाः ।
होतारमग्निं मनुषो नि षेदुर्नमस्यन्त उशिजः शंसमायोः ॥११॥

dvír yám páñca jījanan saṃvásānāḥ svásāro agním mánushīshu vikshú | usharbúdham atharyò ná dántam ṣukrám svā́sam paraṣúm ná tigmám || 8 || táva tyé agne haríto ghritasnā́ róhitāsa rijváñcaḥ sváñcaḥ | arushā́so vríshaṇa rijumushkā́ ā́ devátātim ahvanta dasmā́ḥ || 9 || yé ha tyé te sáhamānā ayā́sas tveshā́so agne arcáyaṣ cáranti | ṣyenā́so ná duvasanā́so ártham tuvishvaṇáso mā́rutaṃ ná ṣárdhaḥ || 10 || ákāri bráhma samidhāna túbhyaṃ ṣáṅsāty ukthám yájate vy ū̀ dhāḥ | hótāram agním mánusho ní shedur namasyánta uṣíjaḥ ṣáṅsam āyóḥ || 11 ||

(७) सप्तमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चो जगती, (२-६) द्वितीयादिपञ्चानामनुष्टुप्, (७-११) सप्तम्यादिपञ्चानाञ्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥६॥ अयमिह प्रथमो धायि धातृभिर्होता यजिष्ठो अध्वरेष्वीड्यः ।
यमप्नवानो भृगवो विरुरुचुर्वनेषु चित्रं विभ्वं विशेविशे ॥१॥

7.

Ayám ihá prathamó dhāyi dhātríbhir hótā yájishṭho adhvaréshv ī́ḍyaḥ | yám ápnavāno bhrígavo viruruçúr váneshu citrám vibhvàm viṣé-viṣe || 1 ||

The flames of the inner fire of human body are awakened at dawn and gradually fed on experiences. They are brilliant like a spear's tooth, sharp as an axe, and are engendered by two sets of five sisters (five sense organs and five vitals). 8

These experiences are of multi-forms : some sanctified by love, some straight-going, some well-motivated, others sturdy and vigorous ; some sincere and honest, others graceful; all are summoned to serve the divine complex of human system. 9

These flames of experiences of inner fire are triumphant, wide-spreading, radiant, adorable and go like falcon hastening to their goal, roaring loudly like an army of thundering clouds. 10

O well-kindled inner fire, for you, the prayer has been composed; may the priest propitiate you by his praise, the devotee offer worship, and may you bestow upon us manifold wealth. Men have established the divine fire as the invoker of Nature's bounties, to be adored by mankind. 11

7

This invoker of Nature's bounties, adored in worship, has been assigned a foremost place by the performers of noble deeds. This is the cosmic fire, marvellous in action, and sovereign over all, whom the wise sages, and their descendents harness for domestic purposes and for the benefit of mankind. 1

अग्ने कदा त आनुषग्भुवद्देवस्य चेतनम् ।
अधा हि त्वा जगृभ्रिरे मर्तासो विक्ष्वीड्यम् ॥२॥
ऋतावानं विचेतसं पश्यन्तो द्यामिव स्तृभिः ।
विश्वेषामध्वराणां हस्कर्तारं दमेदमे ॥३॥
आशुं दूतं विवस्वतो विश्वा यश्चर्षणीरभि ।
आ जभ्रुः केतुमायवो भृगवाणं विशेविशे ॥४॥
तमीं होतारमानुषक्चिकित्वांसं नि षेदिरे ।
रण्वं पावकशोचिषं यजिष्ठं सप्त धामभिः ॥५॥

ágne kadá ta ānusháq bhúvad devásya cétanam | ádhā hí tvā jagribhriré mártāso vikshv íḍyam || 2 || ritávānam vícetasam páṣyanto dyám iva stríbhiḥ | víṣveshām adhvarāṇām haskartáram dáme-dame || 3 || āṣúm dūtám vivásvato víṣvā yáṣ carshaṇír abhí | á jabhruḥ ketúm āyávo bhrígavāṇam viṣé-viṣe || 4 || tám īm hótāram ānushák cikitváṅsam ní shedire | raṇvám pāvaká-ṣocisham yájishṭham saptá dhámabhiḥ || 5 ||

॥७॥

तं शश्वतीषु मातृषु वन आ वीतमश्रितम् ।
चित्रं सन्तं गुहा हितं सुवेदं कूचिदर्थिनम् ॥६॥
ससस्य यद्वियुता सस्मिन्नूधन्नृतस्य धामन्रणयन्त देवाः ।
महाँ अग्निर्नमसा रातहव्यो वेरध्वराय सदमिदृतावा ॥७॥
वेरध्वरस्य दूत्यानि विद्वानुभे अन्ता रोदसी संचिकित्वान् ।
दूत ईयसे प्रदिव उराणो विदुष्टरो दिव आरोधनानि ॥८॥

tám ṣaṣvatīshu mātríshu vána á vītám áṣritam | citrám sántam gúhā hitám suvédam kūcidarthínam || 6 || sasásya yád víyutā sásminn ū́dhann ritásya dhā́man raṇáyanta deváḥ | mahā́ṅ agnír námasā rātáhavyo vér adhvarā́ya sádam íd ritā́vā || 7 || vér adhvarásya dūtyā̀ni vidvā́n ubhé antá ródasī saṃcikitvā́n | dūtá īyase pradíva urāṇó vidúshṭaro divá ārodhanā́ni || 8 ||

O fire-cosmic, when shall your glory, as the shining lord, be manifested, since mortal men have accepted you to be adored in their hearts and homes. 2

You are known to be true to natural laws, intelligent, most sapient like the starry heavens, illumining with cheerful rays each solemn activity in every home. 3

Wise men have enshrined you, O cosmic fire, in each and every individual. You are banner and representative of the sun, the source of universal light. 4

The worshippers enshrine him with delight who is the invoker of Nature's bounties, the intelligent, the graceful, purifying and radiant in seven regions. 5

Worshippers enshrine him as he abides in motherly cosmic elements of sky, and in the woods. He is loved, yet unapproachable, wonderful, hidden in a cave, endowed with knowledge, and accepts oblations from all quarters. 6

The enlightened devotees propitiate him every morning at his very source of cosmic water. Great cosmic fire, when served with reverence, accepts oblations readily as if by flying. 7

You, being a knower, are aware of the functions of a messenger; you are widely present in both heaven and earth, and that which lies between them. You go up the ascents of heaven, as you are one among the earliest and an envoy, amplifying and willing. 8

कृष्णं त एम रुशतः पुरो भाश्चरिष्ण्व१र्चिर्वपुषामिदेकम् ।
यदप्रवीता दधते ह गर्भं सद्यश्चिज्जातो भवसीदु दूतः ॥९॥
सद्यो जातस्य ददृशानमोजो यदस्य वातो अनुवाति शोचिः ।
वृणक्ति तिग्मामतसेषु जिह्वां स्थिरा चिदन्ना दयते वि जम्भैः ॥१०॥
तृषु यदन्ना तृषुणा ववक्ष तृषुं दूतं कृणुते यह्वो अग्निः ।
वातस्य मेळिं सचते निजूर्वन्नाशुं न वाजयते हिन्वे अर्वा ॥११॥

krishnám ta éma rúsataḥ puró bhā́ṣ carishṇv àrcír vápushām íd ékam | yád ápravītā dádhate ha gárbhaṃ sadyáṣ cij jātó bhávasíd u dūtáḥ || 9 || sadyó jātásya dádriṣānam ójo yád asya vā́to anuvā́ti ṣocíḥ | vriṇákti tigmā́m ataséshu jihvā́ṃ sthirā́ cid ánnā dayate ví jámbhaiḥ || 10 || trishú yád ánnā trishúṇā vavāksha trishúṃ dūtáṃ kriṇute yahvó agníḥ | vā́tasya meḷíṃ sacate nijū́rvann āṣúṃ ná vājayate hinvé árvā || 11 ||

(८) अष्टमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ दूतं वो विश्ववेदसं हव्यवाहममर्त्यम् । यजिष्ठमृञ्जसे गिरा ॥१॥
स हि वेदा वसुधितिं महाँ आरोधनं दिवः । स देवाँ एह वक्षति ॥२॥
स वेद देव आनमं देवाँ ऋतायते दमे । दाति प्रियाणि चिद्वसु ॥३॥

8.

Dūtáṃ vo viṣvávedasaṃ havyavā́ham ámartyam | yájishṭham riñjase girā́ || 1 || sá hí védā vásudhitim mahā́ň āródhanaṃ diváḥ | sá devā́ň éhá vakshati || 2 || sá veda devá ānámaṃ devā́ň ritāyaté dáme | dā́ti priyā́ṇi cid vásu || 3 ||

O bright Lord, dark is your path, the light is before you, and your moving radiance is the chief of all luminous bodies. When the worshippers take up the germ, you are generated by attrition from sticks and then become indeed the messenger. 9

The light of the speedily generated is apparent, and when the wind fans the fire, he spreads his blazing tongue-like flames amongst the vegetation, and between his grinding jaws consumes at will the standing fuel as his food. 10

When quickly, with rapid radiance, he consumes all forms, the mighty sacred fire makes (himself) the speedy envoy of the worshippers; he follows the rustling of the wind, and as a horse-man drives the swift horse onwards, so the rapid-going fire-divine invigorates and urges his flames. 11

8

I propitiate with praise the omniscient, the bestower of blessings, immortal, the ordainer, the dispeller of gloom. 1

The mighty one knows how to bestow the desired wealth upon the worshipper. He knows the deep recesses of the heavenly world. May He inspire and guide Nature's bounties in this creation. 2

He, the divine, knows how Nature's bounties are to be guided to the sincere worshipper; in His dwelling, He gives them treasures that He loves. 3

स होता सेदु दूत्यं चिकित्वाँ अन्तरीयते । विद्वाँ आरोधनं दिवः ॥४॥
ते स्याम ये अग्नये ददाशुर्हव्यदातिभिः । य ईं पुष्यन्त इन्धते ॥५॥
ते राया ते सुवीर्यैः ससवांसो वि शृण्विरे । ये अग्ना दधिरे दुवः ॥६॥
अस्मे रायो दिवेदिवे सं चरन्तु पुरुस्पृहः । अस्मे वाजास ईरताम् ॥७॥
स विप्रश्चर्षणीनां शवसा मानुषाणाम् । अति क्षिप्रेव विध्यति ॥८॥

sá hótā séd u dūtyàṃ cikitvā́n̐ antár īyate | vidvā́n̐ āródhanaṃ diváḥ || 4 || té syāma yé agnáye dadāṣúr havyádātibhiḥ | yá īm púshyanta indhaté || 5 || té rāyā́ té suvī́ryaiḥ sasavā́ṅso ví ṣriṇvire | yé agnā́ dadhiré dúvaḥ || 6 || asmé rā́yo divé-dive sáṃ carantu puruspṛ́hah | asmé vā́jāsa īratām || 7 || sá vípraṣ carshaṇīnā́ṃ ṣávasā mā́nushāṇām | áti kshipréva vidhyati || 8 ||

(९) नवमं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥९॥ अग्ने मृळ महाँ असि य ईमा देवयुं जनम् । इयेथ बर्हिरासदम् ॥१॥
स मानुषीषु दूळभो विक्षु प्रावीरमर्त्यः । दूतो विश्वेषां भुवत् ॥२॥
स सद्म परि णीयते होता मन्द्रो दिविष्टिषु । उत पोता नि षीदति ॥३॥
उत ग्ना अग्निरध्वर उतो गृहपतिर्दमे । उत ब्रह्मा नि षीदति ॥४॥

9.

Ágne mṛiḷá mahā́n̐ asi yá īm ā́ devayúṃ jánam | iyétha barhír āsádam || 1 || sá mā́nushīshu dūḷábho vikshú prāvír ámartyaḥ | dūtó víṣveshām bhuvat || 2 || sá sádma pári ṇīyate hótā mandró dívishṭishu | utá pótā ní shīdati || 3 || utá gnā́ agnír adhvaré utó gṛihápatir dáme | utá brahmā́ ní shīdati || 4 ||

He is the guide of Nature's bounties, and He knows well the art of dispelling gloom, and knows the deep recesses of heaven. 4

May we be dear to you, like those who propitiate you with devotion and cherish and enkindle you to enhance your glory. 5

They are renowned for wealth and for progeny who serve adorable Lord reverently. 6

My riches, craved by all, come to us day by day, and may abundant strengthening food spring up for us. 7

May the wise adorable Lord entirely obviate and destroy by his swift arrows the evils of farsighted men. 8

9

O adorable Lord, make us happy. Supreme is your power. May you come to the pious devotee and be enshrined in his heart. 1

May that adorable Lord, who is invincible, immortal, pre-eminent among men, become dispeller of distress. 2

His glory is established all around the works to be adored. As a sanctifier He is enshrined in the hearts of men. 3

Adorable Lord is the tune of voice of sacred worship. He is the master in our homes, and sits down as a sovereign supreme.4

वेषि ह्यध्वरीयतामुपवक्ता जनानाम् । हव्या च मानुषाणाम् ॥५॥
वेषीद्वस्य दूत्यं१ यस्य जुजोषो अध्वरम् । हव्यं मर्तस्य वोळ्हवे ॥६॥
अस्माकं जोष्यध्वरमस्माकं यज्ञमङ्गिरः । अस्माकं शृणुधी हवम् ॥७॥
परि ते दूळभो रथोऽस्माँ अश्नोतु विश्वतः । येन रक्षसि दाशुषः ॥८॥

véshi hy àdhvarīyatā́m upavaktā́ jánānām havyā́ ca mā́nushāṇām || 5 || véshīd v asya dūtyàṃ yásya jújosho adhvarám | havyám mártasya vóḷhave || 6 || asmā́kaṃ joshy adhvarám asmā́kaṃ yajñám aṅgiraḥ | asmā́kaṃ ṣriṇudhī hávam || 7 || pári te dūḷábho rátho 'smā́ñ aṣnotu viṣvátaḥ | yéna rákshasi dāṣúshaḥ || 8 ||

(१०) दशमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३) प्रथमतृचस्य पदपङ्क्तिः,
(४, ६, ७) चतुर्थीषष्ठीसप्तमीनामृचां पदपङ्क्तिरुष्णिग्वा, (५) पञ्चम्या महापदपङ्क्तिः,
(८) अष्टम्याश्चोष्णिक् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१०॥ अग्ने तमद्याश्वं न स्तोमैः क्रतुं न भद्रं हृदिस्पृशम् । ऋध्यामा त ओहैः ॥१॥
अधा ह्यग्ने क्रतोर्भद्रस्य दक्षस्य साधोः । रथीरृतस्य बृहतो बभूथ ॥२॥
एभिर्नो अर्कैर्भवा नो अर्वाङ् स्व१र्ण ज्योतिः । अग्ने विश्वेभिः सुमना अनीकैः ॥३॥
आभिष्टे अद्य गीर्भिर्गृणन्तोऽग्ने दाशेम । प्र ते दिवो न स्तनयन्ति शुष्माः ॥४॥

10.

Ágne tám adyā́ṣvaṃ ná stómaiḥ krátuṃ ná bhadrám hṛidispríṣam | ṛidhyā́mā ta óhaiḥ || 1 || ádhā hy àgne krátor bhadrásya dákshasya sādhóḥ | rathī́r ṛitásya bṛiható babhū́tha || 2 || ebhír no arkaír bhávā no arvā́ñ svàr ṇá jyótiḥ | ágne víṣvebhiḥ sumánā ánīkaiḥ || 3 || ābhísh ṭe adyá gīrbhír gṛiṇántó 'gne dā́ṣema | prá te divó ná stanayanti ṣúshmāḥ || 4 ||

You cherish the oblations offered by devotees, who perform sacred benevolent deeds and you lead them on right path. 5

You bless the sacrifices of the devotee who offers you sincere devotion and you dispell his gloom. 6

Be pleased by our dedication, O supreme vital force, give ear to our invocations. 7

May your inviolable chariots, whereby you continue to guard the dedicated, be everywhere around us. 8

10

We exalt and glorify you this day, O adorable Lord, with hymns and benevolent acts. You are swift as a horse, and propitious like a benefactor and full of touching affection. 1

O adorable Lord, you are the chariot-master to guide us along our auspicious, powerful, efficacious, truthful and benevolent paths. 2

O adorable Lord, you are bright as the sun, and well disposed. May you, propitiated by these our hymns, come to meet us, with all your hosts of radiance. 3

Glorifying you, O adorable Lord, today, with these our praises, may we offer you, our dedications. You are brilliant and roaring like a celestial thunder. 4

तव॑ स्वादि॒ष्ठाग्ने॒ संदृ॑ष्टिरि॒दा चि॒दह्न॑ इ॒दा चि॑दु॒क्तोः । श्रि॒ये रु॒क्मो न रो॑चत उपा॒के ॥५॥
घृ॒तं न पू॒तं त॒नूर॑रे॒पाः शुचि॒ हिर॑ण्यम् । तत्ते॑ रु॒क्मो न रो॑चत स्वधावः ॥६॥
कृ॒तं चि॒द्धि ष्मा॒ सने॑मि द्वेषोऽग्न॑ इ॒नोषि॑ मर्ता॑त् । इ॒त्था यज॑मानादृतावः ॥७॥
शि॒वा नः॑ स॒ख्या सन्तु॑ भ्रा॒त्राग्ने॑ दे॒वेषु॑ यु॒ष्मे । सा नो॒ नाभिः॒ सद॑ने॒ सस्मि॒न्नूध॑न् ॥८॥

táva svā́dishṭhā́gne sáṃdṛishṭir idā́ cid áhna idā́ cid aktóḥ | ṣriyé rukmó ná rocata upāké || 5 || ghṛitáṃ ná pūtáṃ tanū́r arepā́ḥ ṣúci híraṇyam | tát te rukmó ná rocata svadhāvaḥ || 6 || kṛitáṃ cid dhí shmā sánemi dvéshó 'gna inóshi mártāt | itthā́ yájamānād ṛitāvaḥ || 7 || ṣivā́ naḥ sakhyā́ sántu bhrātrā́gne devéshu yushmé | sā́ no nā́bhiḥ sádane sásminn ū́dhan || 8 ||

(११) एकादशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ भ॒द्रं ते॑ अग्ने सहसि॒न्ननी॑कमुपा॒क आ रो॑चते॒ सूर्य॑स्य ।
रुश॑द्दृ॒शे द॑दृशे नक्त॒या चि॒दरू॑क्षितं दृ॒श आ रू॒पे अन्न॑म् ॥१॥
वि षा॑ह्यग्ने गृ॒ण॒ते म॑नी॒षां खं वेप॑सा तुविजात॒ स्तवा॑नः ।
विश्वे॑भि॒र्यद्वा॒वनः॑ शुक्र दे॒वैस्तन्नो॑ रास्व सुमहो॒ भूरि॒ मन्म॑ ॥२॥

11.

Bhadráṃ te agne sahasinn ánīkam upākā́ ā́ rocate sū́ryasya | rúṣad dṛiṣé dadṛiṣe naktayā́ cid árūkshitaṃ dṛiṣā́ ā́ rūpé ánnam || 1 || ví shāhy agne gṛiṇaté manīshā́ṃ kháṃ vépasā tuvijāta stávānaḥ | víṣvebhir yád vāvánaḥ ṣukra devaís tán no rāsva sumaho bhū́ri mánma || 2 ||

O adorable Lord, whether by day or by night, your sweet radiance shines like an ornament to grant us glory. 5

O granter of sustenance, your favour is free from fault, like purified butter; your pure lustre shines like gold ornament. 6

O ever-true, adorable Lord, verily you remove from the devoted mortal, whatever hate and mischief, if committed by him in the past. 7

O adorable Lord, may our friendly and fraternal kinship to you and to Nature's bounties, be a blessing to us. May this our bond of kinship be the central focus of our benevolent deeds. 8

11

O powerful fire divine, your auspicious radiance shines upon the proximity of the sun by day; your bright and visible lustre is conspicuous even by night. The food offered to you becomes the part of you while it passes through flames. 1

O adorable, engendered repeatedly, and glorified by worship, set open heaven to him, who offers you adoration. O resplendent, may you bestow upon us that ample and acceptable wealth, which you, along with other Nature's bounties, have given to other worshippers. 2

त्वद॑ग्ने काव्या त्वन्म॑नीषास्त्वदु॒क्था जा॑यन्ते राध्या॑नि ।
त्वदे॑ति द्रवि॑णं वी॒रपे॑शा इ॒त्थाधि॑ये दा॒शुषे॒ मर्त्या॑य ॥३॥
त्वद्वा॒जी वा॑जंभ॒रो विहा॑या अभिष्टि॒कृज्जा॑यते स॒त्यशु॑ष्मः ।
त्वद्र॒यिर्दे॒वजू॑तो मयो॒भुस्त्वदा॒शुर्जू॑जु॒वाँ अ॑ग्ने॒ अर्वा॑ ॥४॥
त्वाम॑ग्ने प्रथ॒मं दे॑व॒यन्तो॑ दे॒वं मर्ता॑ अमृत म॒न्द्रजि॑ह्वम् ।
द्वे॒षो॒यु॒त॒मा वि॑वासन्ति धी॒भिर्दमू॑नसं गृ॒हप॑ति॒मम्मू॑रम् ॥५॥
आ॒रे अ॒स्मदम॑तिमा॒रे अंह॑ आ॒रे विश्वां॑ दुर्म॒तिं यन्नि॒पासि॑ ।
दो॒षा शि॒वः स॑हसः सूनो अग्ने॒ यं दे॒व आ चि॒त्सच॑से स्व॒स्ति ॥६॥

tvád agne kā́vyā tván manīshā́s tvád ukthā́ jāyante rā́dhyāni | tvád eti drávinam vīrápeṣā itthā́dhiye dāṣúshe mártyāya || 3 || tvád vājí vājambharó víhāyā abhishṭikṛíj jāyate satyáṣushmaḥ | tvád rayír devájūto mayobhús tvád āṣúr jūjuvā́ṅ agne árvā || 4 || tvā́m agne prathamám devayánto devám mártā amṛita mandrájihvam | dveshoyútam ā́ vivāsanti dhībhír dámūnasam gṛihápatim ámūram || 5 || āré asmád ámatim āré áṅha āré víṣvām durmatím yán nipā́si | doshā́ ṣiváḥ sahasaḥ sūno agne yám devá ā́ cit sácase svastí || 6 ||

(१२) द्वादशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गोतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ यस्त्वाम॑ग्न इ॒नध॑ते य॒तस्रु॒क्त्रिस्ते॒ अन्नं॑ कृ॒णव॒त्सस्मि॒न्नह॑न् ।
स सु द्यु॒म्नैर॒भ्य॑स्तु प्र॒सक्ष॒त्तव॒ क्रत्वा॑ जातवेदश्चिकि॒त्वान् ॥१॥

12.

Yás tvā́m agna inádhate yatásruk trís te ánnam kṛiṇávat sásminn áhan | sá sú dyumnaír abhy àstu prasákshat táva krátvā jātavedaṣ cikitvā́n || 1 ||

O adorable, from you springs poetic wisdom; from you come effective thoughts and hymns of praise, and from you flow fame and wealth to the man, who worships with sincerity and offers oblations. 3

O adorable Lord, you are vigorous, sustainer of food and power, extensive, fulfiller of aspirations, and possessor of lasting courage. From you springs wealth, which is divine, and source of happiness; also from you comes vigour which is swift and impetuous. 4

O immortal Lord, devout mortals worship you with holy actions, as you are the foremost divine. Your tongue like flames are exhilarating. You are dissipator of sin, the humiliator of evil forces and unerring. You are the Lord of their household. 5

O adorable Lord, the source of strength, since you protect your worshippers, may you remove far from us all iniquity; remove far from us sin, and remove far from us all evil thoughts. Verily blessed is he, whom you brighten even at night, and promote his well-being. 6

12

O omniscient Lord, just as sacrificial fire is kindled by uplifted ladle (full of butter), similarly you are invoked thrice every day by devotional prayers. May your devotee be blessed by you, so that he may excell all others in his attainments. 1

इध्मं यस्ते जभरच्छश्रमाणो महो अग्ने अनीकमा सपर्यन् ।
स इधानः प्रति दोषामुषासं पुष्यन्रयिं सचते घ्नन्नमित्रान् ॥२॥
अग्निरीशे बृहतः क्षत्रियस्याग्निर्वाजस्य परमस्य रायः ।
दधाति रत्नं विधते यविष्ठो व्यानुषङ्मर्त्याय स्वधावान् ॥३॥

idhmáṃ yás te jabhárac chaṣramāṇó mahó agne ánīkam á saparyán | sá idhānáḥ práti doshám ushásam púshyan rayíṃ sacate ghnánn amítrān || 2 || agnír īṣe bṛihatáḥ kshatríyasāgnír vájasya paramásya rāyáḥ | dádhāti rátnaṃ vidhaté yávishṭho vy ànushāṅ mártyāya svadhávān || 3 ||

यच्चिद्धि ते पुरुषत्रा यविष्ठाचित्तिभिश्चकृमा कच्चिदागः ।
कृधी ष्वस्माँ अदितेरनागान्व्येनांसि शिश्रथो विष्वगग्ने ॥४॥
महश्चिदग्न एनसो अभीक ऊर्वाद्देवानामुत मर्त्यानाम् ।
मा ते सखायः सदमिद्रिषाम यच्छा तोकाय तनयाय शं योः ॥५॥
यथा ह त्यद्वसवो गौर्यं चित्पदि षिताममुञ्चता यजत्राः ।
एवो ष्वस्मन्मुञ्चता व्यंहः प्र तार्यग्ने प्रतरं न आयुः ॥६॥

yác cid dhí te purushatrá yavishṭhácittibhiṣ cakṛimá kác cid ágaḥ | kṛidhí shv àsmáň áditer ánāgān vy énāṅsi ṣiṣratho víshvag agne || 4 || maháṣ cid agna énaso abhíka ūrvád devánām utá mártyānām | má te sákhāyaḥ sádam íd rishāma yáchā tokáya tánayāya ṣáṃ yóḥ || 5 || yáthā ha tyád vasavo gauryàṃ cit padí shitám ámuñcatā yajatrāḥ | evó shv àsmán muñcatā vy áṅhaḥ prá tāry agne prataráṃ na áyuḥ || 6 ||

O adorable, mighty and glorious Lord, whosoever serving diligently offers you oblations and who invokes you, just as the sacrificial fire is kindled in the evening and at dawn, may he be prosperous, and may he be able to destroy his enemies, and acquire riches. 2

Adorable Lord is the possessor of sublime strength nourishing food and other riches. He is ever young, ever inspiring and self-sustained. He gives to the mortal devotee precious treasures according to his merit. 3

O adorable, ever young Lord, whatever sin through folly, we, as human beings, have committed against you, make us free from that. In sight of Mother Infinity, O Lord, may you efface entirely our offences. 4

O adorable Lord, we are your devoted friends. Let us not ever suffer harm from any great or comprehensive offence against either Nature's divinities or mankind. May you bestow health and happiness upon our sons and grandsons. 5

O adorable bounteous divines, as you have been always liberating the bonded intellects, the same way set us free entirely from affliction; may our long life be further extended. 6

(१३) त्रयोदशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निर्लिङ्गोक्ता वा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ प्रत्यग्निरुषसामग्रमख्यद्विभातीनां सुमना रत्नधेयम् ।
यातमश्विना सुकृतो दुरोणमुत्सूर्यो ज्योतिषा देव एति ॥१॥
ऊर्ध्वं भानुं सविता देवो अश्रेद्द्रप्सं दविध्वद्गविषो न सत्वा ।
अनु व्रतं वरुणो यन्ति मित्रो यत्सूर्यं दिव्यारोहयन्ति ॥२॥
यं सीमकृण्वन्तमसे विपृचे ध्रुवक्षेमा अनवस्यन्तो अर्थम् ।
तं सूर्यं हरितः सप्त यह्वीः स्पशं विश्वस्य जगतो वहन्ति ॥३॥

13.

Práty agnír ushásām ágram akhyad vibhātīnā́ṃ sumánā ratnadhéyam | yātám aṣvinā sukríto duroṇám út sū́ryo jyótishā devá eti || 1 || ūrdhvám bhānúṃ savitā́ devó aṣred drapsáṃ dávidhvad gavishó ná sátvā | ánu vratáṃ váruṇo yanti mitró yát sū́ryaṃ divy ā́roháyanti || 2 || yáṃ sīm ákriṇvan támase vipríce dhruvákshemā ánavasyanto ártham | táṃ sū́ryaṃ harítaḥ saptá yahvī́ spáṣaṃ víṣvasya jágato vahanti || 3 ||

वहिष्ठेभिर्विहरन्यासि तन्तुमवव्ययन्नसितं देव वस्म ।
दविध्वतो रश्मयः सूर्यस्य चर्मेवावाधुस्तमो अप्स्वन्तः ॥४॥
अनायतो अनिबद्धः कथायं न्यङ्ङुत्तानोऽव पद्यते न ।
कया याति स्वधया को ददर्श दिवः स्कम्भः समृतः पाति नाकम् ॥५॥

váhishṭhebhir viháran yāsi tántum avavyáyann ásitaṃ deva vásma | dávidhvato raṣmáyaḥ sū́ryasya cármevā́vādhus támo apsv àntáḥ || 4 || ánāyato ánibaddhaḥ kathā́yáṃ nyàññ uttānó 'va padyate ná | káyā yāti svadháyā kó dadarṣa divá skambháḥ sámṛitaḥ pāti nákam || 5 ||

13

Benevolent cosmic fire manifests its radiance by bestowing its constant light to the resplendent dawns; proceed, O pair of twin divines (wind and lightning), to the homes of the pious worshippers. The divine sun is rising with his splendour. 1

Like a vigorous bull arden for the cow, the divine sun diffuses his light on high, dispersing the dew. Then cosmic forces, such as cosmic light and plasma, and other divinities hasten to perform their function while the sun is ascending in the sky. 2

Seven great coursers convey the sun, the animator of the whole world. Then cosmic forces, occupants of enduring regions, diligently perform their assigned functions, for driving away darkness from the world. 3

O radiant sun, you proceed with most powerful horses, spreading your web of rays, and cutting down the black mantle of night. The tremulous rays of the sun throw off the darkness, which is spread like a skin over the mid-region. 4

How is it that the unbound and unsupported sun does not fall, although directed downwards ? By which self-sustenance does he moves ? Who has really seen him, who guards the vault of heaven, as if a close-set pillar ? 5

(१४) चतुर्दशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अग्निलिङ्गोक्ता वा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ प्रत्यग्निरुषसो जातवेदा अख्यद्देवो रोचमाना महोभिः ।
आ नासत्योरुगाया रथेनेमं यज्ञमुप नो यातमच्छ ॥१॥
ऊर्ध्वं केतुं सविता देवो अश्रेज्ज्योतिर्विश्वस्मै भुवनाय कृण्वन् ।
आप्रा द्यावापृथिवी अन्तरिक्षं वि सूर्यो रश्मिभिश्चेकितानः ॥२॥

14.

Práty agnír usháso jātávedā ákhyad devó rócamānā máhobhiḥ | á nāsatyorugāyā́ ráthenemáṃ yajñám úpa no yātam ácha || 1 || ūrdhváṃ ketúṃ savitā́ devó aṣrej jyótir víṣvasmai bhúvanāya kriṇván | ā́prā dyā́vāprithiví antárikshaṃ ví sū́ryo raṣmíbhiṣ cékitānaḥ || 2 ||

आवहन्त्यरुणीर्ज्योतिषागान्मही चित्रा रश्मिभिश्चेकिताना ।
प्रबोधयन्ती सुविताय देव्युषा ईयते सुयुजा रथेन ॥३॥
आ वां वहिष्ठा इह ते वहन्तु रथा अश्वास उषसो व्युष्टौ ।
इमे हि वां मधुपेयाय सोमा अस्मिन्यज्ञे वृषणा मादयेथाम् ॥४॥
अनायतो अनिबद्धः कथायं न्यङ्ङुत्तानोऽव पद्यते न ।
कया याति स्वधया को ददर्श दिवः स्कम्भः समृतः पाति नाकम् ॥५॥

āváhanty aruṇír jyótishā́gān mahī́ citrā́ raṣmíbhiṣ cékitānā | prabodháyantī suvitā́ya devy ùshā́ īyate suyújā ráthena || 3 || ā́ vāṃ váhishṭhā ihá té vahantu ráthā áṣvāsa ushā́so vyùshṭau | imé hí vāṃ madhupéyāya sómā asmín yajñé vrishaṇā mādayethām || 4 || ánāyato — || 5 ||

14

The resplendent fire-divine, by whom all is known, manifests dawns, radiant with lustre. Come with your chariot, O widely travelling non-ephimaral twins, to our place of worship. 1

The divine creator displays his banner on high, illuminating the entire creation. Making his presence effective, the sun has filled the firmament, the earth and heaven with his rays. 2

The great and intelligent dawn, variegated with many coloured rays of purple tint, bringing opulence, has come with her lustre. The divine dawn, awaking men, proceeds with her well-harnessed chariot to bestow happiness. 3

May those robust and active horses and chariot bring you (O pair of divines, the morning breeze and morning light) hither, at the breaking of the dawn, and may these morning splendours delight you at our places of work and worship. 4

How is it that the unbound and unsupported sun does not fall, although directed downward ? By which self-sustenance does he move ? Who has really seen him, who guards the vault of heaven, as if a close-set pillar. 5

(१५) पञ्चदशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१-६) प्रथमादिषडृचामग्निः, (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योः साहदेव्यः सोमकः, (९-१०) नवमीदशम्योश्चाश्विनौ देवताः । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ अ॒ग्निर्होता॑ नो अध्व॒रे वा॒जी सन्परि॑ णीयते । दे॒वो दे॒वेषु॑ य॒ज्ञियः॑ ॥१॥
परि॑ त्रिवि॒ष्ट्य॑ध्व॒रं यात्य॒ग्नी र॒थीरि॑व । आ दे॒वेषु॒ प्रयो॒ दध॑त् ॥२॥
परि॒ वाज॑पतिः क॒विर॒ग्निर्ह॒व्यान्य॑क्रमीत् । दध॒द्रत्ना॑नि दा॒शुषे॑ ॥३॥
अ॒यं यः सृञ्ज॑ये पु॒रो दै॑ववा॒ते स॑मि॒ध्यते॑ । द्यु॒माँ अ॑मित्र॒दम्भ॑नः ॥४॥
अस्य॑ घा वी॒र ईव॑तो॒ऽग्नेरी॑शीत॒ मर्त्यः॑ । ति॒ग्मज॑म्भस्य मी॒ळ्हुषः॑ ॥५॥

15.

Agnír hótā no adhvaré vājí sán pári nīyate | devó devéshu yajñíyaḥ || 1 || pári trivishṭy àdhvarám yā́ty agní rathír iva | ā́ devéshu práyo dádhat || 2 || pári vā́japatiḥ kavír agnír havyā́ny akramīt | dádhad rátnāni dāśúshe || 3 || ayám yáḥ sríñjaye puró daivavāté samidhyáte | dyumā́ñ amitradámbhanaḥ || 4 || ásya ghā vīrá ívato 'gnér īśīta mártyaḥ | tigmájambhasya mīḷhúshaḥ || 5 ||

॥१६॥ तमर्व॑न्तं॒ न सा॑न॒सिम॑रु॒षं न दि॒वः शिशु॑म् । म॒र्मृ॒ज्यन्ते॑ दि॒वेदि॑वे ॥६॥
बोध॑द्यन्मा॒ हरि॑भ्यां कुमा॒रः सा॑हदे॒व्यः । अच्छा॒ न हू॒त उद॑रम् ॥७॥
उ॒त त्या य॑ज॒ता हरी॑ कु॒मारा॑त्साहदे॒व्यात् । प्रय॑ता स॒द्य आ द॑दे ॥८॥

tám árvantaṃ ná sānasím arushám ná diváḥ śíśum | marmṛijyánte divé-dive || 6 || bódhad yán mā háribhyāṃ kumāráḥ sāhadevyáḥ | áchā ná hūtá úd aram || 7 || utá tyā́ yajatá hárī kumārā́t sāhadevyā́t | práyatā sadyá ā́ dade || 8 ||

15

The fire of the altar, the herald like a horse, and most illuminating amidst all luminaries is brought to our place of ceremony. 1

The fire is brought to our place of ceremonial altar; thrice a day it carries the essence of the oblation to the environmental Nature's bounties with swiftness of the charioteer. 2

This sage, fire of the altar, the source of strength, encompasses the essences of oblation, giving precious boons to the offerer. 3

This resplendent fire of the altar, the subduer of foes, is kindled in the east as has been always kindled for the victories performed by enlightened devotees. 4

That mortal becomes hero, who strenuously worships this fire of the altar, the possessor of sharp flames and bounteous. 5

They, the devotees, diligently serve him day to day, as they clean a horse. He is liberal and resplendent as the child of heaven. 6

When fire, most youthful among sub-natural forces, along with fast-moving twins (wind and light), assures me its help and summons me, I do not decline. 7

I immediately accept the favour of those two excellent and well-trained twins, the associates of the spiritual fire, most youthful among sub-natural forces. 8

एष वां देवावश्विना कुमारः साहदेव्यः । दीर्घायुरस्तु सोमकः ॥९॥
तं युवं देवावश्विना कुमारं साहदेव्यम् । दीर्घायुषं कृणोतन ॥१०॥

eshá vām devāv aṣvinā kumāráḥ sāhadevyáḥ | dīrghá-yur astu sómakaḥ || 9 || tám yuvám devāv aṣvinā kumārám sāhadevyám | dīrgháyushaṃ kriṇotana || 10 ||

(१६) षोडशं सूक्तम्

(१–२१) एकविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ आ सत्यो यातु मघवाँ ऋजीषी द्रवन्त्वस्य हरय उप नः ।
तस्मा इदन्धः सुषुमा सुदक्षमिहाभिपित्वं करते गृणानः ॥१॥
अव स्य शूराध्वनो नान्तेऽस्मिन्नो अद्य सवने मन्दध्यै ।
शंसात्युक्थमुशनेव वेधाश्चिकितुषे असुर्याय मन्म ॥२॥
कविर्न निण्यं विदथानि साधन्वृषा यत्सेकं विपिपानो अर्चात् ।
दिव इत्था जीजनत्सप्त कारूनह्ना चिच्चक्रुर्वयुना गृणन्तः ॥३॥
स्व१र्यद्वेदि सुदृशीकमर्कैर्महि ज्योती रुरुचुर्यद्ध वस्तोः ।
अन्धा तमांसि दुधिता विचक्षे नृभ्यश्चकार नृतमो अभिष्टौ ॥४॥

16.

Á satyó yātu maghávāñ ṛijīshí drávantv asya háraya úpa naḥ | tásmā íd ándhaḥ sushumā sudáksham ihábhipi-tvám karate griṇānáḥ || 1 || áva sya ṣūrádhvano nánte 'smín no adyá sávane mandádhyai | ṣáṅsāty ukthám uṣáneva ve-dháṣ cikitúshe asuryàya mánma || 2 || kavír ná niṇyám vi-dáthāni sádhan vríshā yát sékaṃ vivipānó árcāt | divá itthá jījanat saptá kārū́n áhnā cic cakrur vayúnā griṇántaḥ || 3 || svàr yád védi sudríṣīkam arkaír máhi jyótī rurucur yád dha vástoḥ | andhā́ támāṅsi dúdhitā vicákshe nríbhyaṣ ca-kāra nrítamo abhíshṭau || 4 ||

O twin-divines, may this spiritual fire, most youthful among sub-natural forces be gladdening and of long durability. 9

O twin-divines, may this spiritual fire, most youthful among sub-natural forces long live. 10

16

O ever true, ever righteous, bounteous Lord, may you come to us. May your blessings hasten to us. To Him we surrender our worldly possessions. When sincerely praised, He fulfils all our aspirations. 1

O brave resplendent Lord, allow us to delight you at the end of this worship. May the worshipper repeat an agreeable prayer, to you, the all-wise, the destroyer of infidels, like the brilliant pious sage. 2

Like a sage, knowing the secret of wisdom, and who performs all sacred ceremonies, the resplendent sun drinking copiously the effused herbal essence, exults in the draughts, and thus generates the seven rays from celestial regions. Then devotees perform their duties in the light of day. 3

When the vast luminous heaven, manifested by the rays of light, is displayed, then homes of men also shine at the break of morning. He, the illustrious leader—the sun, having risen scatters thick gloom, so that men may see clearly. 4

वव॒क्ष इन्द्रो॒ अमि॑तमृजी॒ष्यु॒१॒॑भे आ प॑प्रौ॒ रोद॑सी महि॒त्वा ।
अत॑श्चिदस्य महि॒मा वि रे॑च्य॒भि यो विश्वा॒ भुव॑ना ब॒भूव॑ ॥५॥

vavakshá índro ámitam rijīshy ùbhé ắ paprau ródasī mahitvắ | átaş cid asya mahimắ ví recy abhí yó víşvā bhúvanā babhū́va || 5 ||

॥१८॥ विश्वा॑नि श॒क्रो नर्या॑णि वि॒द्वान॒पो रि॑रेच॒ सखि॑भि॒र्निका॑मैः ।
अश्मा॑नं चि॒द्ये बि॑भि॒दुर्वचो॑भिर्व्र॒जं गोम॑न्तमु॒शिजो॒ वि व॑व्रुः ॥६॥
अ॒पो वृ॒त्रं व॑व्रि॒वांसं॒ परा॑हन्प्राव॑त्ते॒ वज्रं॑ पृथि॒वी सचे॑ताः ।
प्रार्णां॑सि समु॒द्रिया॑ण्यैनोः॒ पति॒र्भव॒ञ्छव॑सा शूर धृष्णो ॥७॥
अ॒पो यदद्रिं॑ पुरुहूत॒ दर्द॑रा॒विर्भु॑वत्स॒रमा॑ पू॒र्व्यं॑ ते॑ ।
स नो॑ ने॒ता वाज॒मा द॑र्षि॒ भूरिं॑ गो॒त्रा रु॒जन्नङ्गि॑रोभिर्गृणा॒नः ॥८॥
अच्छा॑ क॒विं नृ॑मणो गा अ॒भिष्टौ॒ स्व॑र्षाता मघव॒न्नाध॑मानम् ।
ऊ॒तिभि॒स्तमि॑षणो द्यु॒म्नहू॑तौ॒ नि मा॒या॒वा॒नब्र॑ह्मा॒ दस्यु॑रर्त ॥९॥
आ द॑स्यु॒घ्ना मन॑सा या॒ह्यस्तं॒ भुव॑त्ते॒ कुत्सः॑ स॒ख्ये निका॑मः ।
स्वे योनौ॒ नि ष॑दतं॒ सरू॑पा॒ वि वां॑ चिकित्सदृत॒चिद्ध॒ नारी॑ ॥१०॥

víşvāni şakró náryāṇi vidvắn apó rireca sákhibhir níkāmaiḥ | áşmānaṃ cid yé bibhidúr vácobhir vrajáṃ gómantam uşíjo ví vavruḥ || 6 || apó vritrám vavrivāṅsam párāhan prắvat te vájram prithiví sácetāḥ | prắrṇāṅsi samudríyāṇy ainoḥ pátir bhávañ chávasā şūra dhrishṇo || 7 || apó yád ádrim puruhūta dárdar āvír bhuvat sarámā pūrvyáṃ te | sá no netắ vájam ắ darshi bhū́rim gotrắ rujánn áṅgirobhir griṇānáḥ || 8 || áchā kavíṃ nrimaṇo gā abhíshṭau svàrshātā maghavan nắdhamānam | ūtíbhis tám ishaṇo dyumnáhūtau ní māyắvān ábrahmā dásyur arta || 9 || ắ dasyughnắ mánasā yāhy ástam bhúvat te kútsaḥ sakhyé níkāmaḥ | své yónau ní shadataṃ sárūpā ví vāṃ cikitsad ritacíd dha nắrī || 10 ||

Resplendent sun, who relishes the effused saps of plant juices, sustains infinite greatness and with his vastness fills earth and heaven. And beyond this, his majesty extends in magnitude. 5

The radiant sun, knowing all human actions, has let loose the waters, in association with his friends—the cloud bearing winds. They with their loud shouts cleave even the clouds open and desiring to fulfil their work, take over the control of pastures of cattle. 6

Your protecting thunder-bolt destroys the dark clouds, obstructing the flow of waters; the conscious earth co-operates with you. O valiant hero, preserver of the earth, may you through your power. send down the waters of the firmament. 7

Invoked by all, when you divide the obstructing clouds of ignorance sending rain water down, the dawn of wisdom makes her appearance. And you, glorified by fire-priests, the granter of abundant food, shows us favour, breaking open the cluster of clouds. 8

O bounteous Lord, friend of men, the sage, come to the devotee for bestowing wealth, who solicits your aid in contest for sun-light. May you speed him with help in his inspired invokings, and defeat the purposes of guileful wicked outlaws. 9

May you come to us resolving to destroy the outlaws. The wise sage is eager to win your friendship. Now alike in form, you both (wicked and virtuous) sit in the same dwelling. And the lady (the intellect) finds it difficult to have her choice between the two. 10

॥१९॥ यासि॑ कुत्से॑न स॒रथ॑मव॒स्युस्तो॒दो वात॑स्य॒ हर्यो॒रीशा॑नः ।
ऋ॒ज्रा वाजं॒ न गध्यं॒ युयू॑षन्क॒विर्यद॒हन्पार्या॑य॒ भूषा॑त् ॥११॥
कुत्सा॑य॒ शुष्ण॑म॒शुषं॒ नि ब॑र्हीः प्रपि॒त्वे अह्नः॒ कुय॑वं स॒हस्रा॑ ।
स॒द्यो दस्यू॒न्प्र मृ॑ण कु॒त्स्येन॒ प्र सूर॑श्च॒क्रं वृ॑हताद॒भीके॑ ॥१२॥
त्वं पिप्रुं॒ मृग॑यं शूशु॒वांस॑मृ॒जिश्व॑ने वैदथि॒नाय॑ रन्धीः ।
प॒ञ्चा॒श॒त्कृ॒ष्णा नि व॑पः स॒हस्रा॒त्कं न पुरो॑ जरि॒मा वि द॑र्दः ॥१३॥
सूर॑ उपा॒के त॒न्वं१॒॑ दधा॑नो॒ वि यत्ते॒ चेत्य॒मृत॑स्य॒ वर्पः॑ ।
मृ॒गो न ह॒स्ती तवि॑षीमुषा॒णः सिं॒हो न भी॒म आयु॑धानि॒ बिभ्र॑त् ॥१४॥
इन्द्रं॒ कामा॑ वसू॒यन्तो॑ अग्म॒न्त्स्व॑र्मीळ्हे॒ न सव॑ने चका॒नाः ।
श्र॒व॒स्यवः॑ शशमा॒नास॑ उ॒क्थैरोको॒ न र॒ण्वा सु॒दृशी॑व पु॒ष्टिः ॥१५॥

yási kútsena sarátham avasyús todó vátasya háryor íṣānaḥ | ṛjrá vájaṃ ná gádhyaṃ yúyūshan kavír yád áhan páryāya bhúshāt || 11 || kútsāya ṣúshṇam aṣúshaṃ ní barhīḥ prapitvé áhnaḥ kúyavaṃ sahásrā | sadyó dásyūn prá mṛṇa kutsyéna prá súraṣ cakráṃ vṛhatād abhíke || 12 || tvám píprum mṛ́gayaṃ ṣūṣuvánsam ṛjíṣvane vaidathináya randhīḥ | pañcāṣát kṛshṇá ní vapaḥ sahásrātkaṃ ná púro jarimá ví dardaḥ || 13 || súra upāké tanvàṃ dádhāno ví yát te céty amṛ́tasya várpaḥ | mṛgó ná hastí távishīm ushāṇáḥ sinhó ná bhīmá áyudhāni bíbhrat || 14 || índram kámā vasūyánto agman svàrmīḷhe ná sávane cakanáḥ | ṣravasyávaḥ ṣaṣamānása ukthaír óko ná raṇvá sudṛ́ṣīva pushṭíḥ || 15 ||

॥२०॥ तमिद्व॒ इन्द्रं॑ सु॒हवं॑ हुवेम॒ यस्ता च॒कार॒ नर्या॑ पु॒रूणि॑ ।
यो माव॑ते जरि॒त्रे गध्यं॑ चिन्म॒क्षू वाजं॒ भर॑ति स्पा॒र्हरा॑धाः ॥१६॥

tám íd va índraṃ suhávaṃ huvema yás tá cakára náryā purúṇi | yó mávate jaritré gádhyaṃ cin makshú vájam bhárati spārhárādhāḥ || 16 ||

On the day when discriminating mind prepares to cross over the sea of perturbance, you, the destroyer of evil forces, yoke your straight-going powerful wind-like speedy steeds (sense organs) to the chariot (of body) and take the disturbed mind along with you to defend him. 11

For the protection of disturbed discriminating mind, you destroy the powerful devil of pettiness, and in the very start of the day thousands of longings and lingerings and with your adamantine determination, you instantly lay off the rest of the evil tendencies and with the solar wheel, cut them to pieces in the struggle. 12

You subjugate egoistic and extremely violent destructive forces for the sake of righteous and disciplined pious men. You destroy the fifty thousand (innumerable) other dark forces, and, as age consumes garments, you demolish the strongholds of law-breakers. 13

While you set in proximity of the sun, your form, immortal one, seems expanding and you look like a mighty wild elephant; and when you wield your weapon, you are like a terrible lion, capable of consuming the strength of strong foes. 14

In the struggle of life, as if shining in battle, relying upon resplendent Lord for protection, desirous of riches, and food, (the devoted ones) approach Him, for the Lord is the refuge of His worshippers, and is the semblance of the lovely maiden of nutrition. 15

Let us invoke that gracious resplendent Lord, who does so much for the benefit of man; who, bestowing enviable opulence, quickly grants agreeable food to a worshipper like myself. 16

तिग्मा यदन्तरशनिः पताति कस्मिंश्चिच्छूर मुहुके जनानाम् ।
घोरा यदर्य समृतिर्भवात्यध स्मा नस्तन्वो बोधि गोपाः ॥१७॥
भुवोऽविता वामदेवस्य धीनां भुवः सखावृको वाजसातौ ।
त्वामनु प्रमतिमा जगन्मोरुशंसो जरित्रे विश्वध स्याः ॥१८॥
एभिर्नृभिरिन्द्र त्वायुभिष्ट्वा मघवद्भिर्मघवन्विश्व आजौ ।
द्यावो न द्युम्नैरभि सन्तो अर्यः क्षपो मदेम शरदश्च पूर्वीः ॥१९॥

tigmá yád antár aṣániḥ pátāti kásmiñ cic chūra muhuké jánānām | ghorá yád arya sámṛitir bhávāty ádha smā nas tanvò bodhi gopáḥ || 17 || bhúvo 'vitá vāmádevasya dhīnám bhúvaḥ sákhāvṛikó vájasātau | tvám ánu prámatim á jaganmoruṣáṅso jaritré viṣvádha syāḥ || 18 || ebhír nṛíbhir indra tvāyúbhish ṭvā maghávadbhir maghavan víṣva ājaú | dyávo ná dyumnaír abhí sánto aryáḥ kshapó madema ṣarádaṣ ca pūrvíḥ || 19 ||

एवेदिन्द्राय वृषभाय वृष्णे ब्रह्माकर्म भृगवो न रथम् ।
नू चिद्यथा नः सख्या वियोषदसन्न उग्रोऽविता तनूपाः ॥२०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥२१॥

evéd índrāya vṛishabháya vṛíshṇe bráhmākarma bhṛígavo ná rátham | nú cid yáthā naḥ sakhyá viyóshad ásan na ugrò 'vitá tanūpáḥ || 20 || nú shṭutá indra nú gṛiṇāná ísham jaritré nadyò ná pīpeḥ | ákāri te harivo bráhma návyam dhiyá syāma rathyàḥ sadāsáḥ || 21 ||

O resplendent Lord, when in any conflict of men, the calamity like a sharp pointed arrow falls in the midst of them, and when, O Lord, there is a terrible encounter among them, then, may you be the defender of our persons. 17

May you be the preserver of the pious acts of charming intellectuals; may you be an unfailing friend in the battle of their lives. O eminently wise Lord, we come to you; may you be ever benignant to your worshippers, O sustainer of the world. 18

O bounteous resplendent Lord, may we, in every conflict of life, along with those men, who trust in you and offer rich gifts, and those who are abundantly rich, triumph over our adversaries and glorify you many nights and years. 19

Now, just like a genius person constructs his car, in the same manner we fashion our prayers for the vigorous resplendent Lord, the showerer of benefits, so that He may never withdraw from us His friendly favours and may ever remain powerful protector of our persons. 20

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshippers as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital forces, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, the car-bornes, be victors for ever. 21

तिग्मा यदन्तरशनिः पताति कस्मिञ्चिच्छूर मुहुके जनानाम् ।
घोरा यदर्य समृतिर्भवात्यध स्मा नस्तन्वो बोधि गोपाः ॥१७॥
भुवोऽविता वामदेवस्य धीनां भुवः सखावृको वाजसातौ ।
त्वामनु प्रमतिमा जगन्मोरुशंसो जरित्रे विश्वध स्याः ॥१८॥
एभिर्नृभिरिन्द्र त्वायुभिष्ट्वा मघवद्भिर्मघवन्विश्व आजौ ।
द्यावो न द्युम्नैरभि सन्तो अर्यः क्षपो मदेम शरदश्च पूर्वीः ॥१९॥

tigmá yád antár aṣánih pátāti kásmiñ cic chūra muhuké jánānām | ghorá yád arya sámṛitir bhávāty ádha smā nas tanvò bodhi gopáḥ || 17 || bhúvo ’vitá vāmádevasya dhīnám bhúvaḥ sákhāvrikó vájasātau | tvám ánu prámatim á jaganmoruṣáṅso jaritré viṣvádha syāḥ || 18 || ebhír nṛíbhir indra tvāyúbhish ṭvā maghávadbhir maghavan víṣva ājaú | dyávo ná dyumnaír abhí sánto aryáḥ kshapó madema ṣarádaṣ ca pūrvīḥ || 19 ||

एवेदिन्द्राय वृषभाय वृष्णे ब्रह्माकर्म भृगवो न रथम् ।
नू चिद्यथा नः सख्या वियोषदसन्न उग्रोऽविता तनूपाः ॥२०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो३ न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥२१॥

evéd índrāya vṛishabháya vríshṇe bráhmākarma bhṛígavo ná rátham | nú cid yáthā naḥ sakhyá viyóshad ásan na ugrò ’vitá tanūpáḥ || 20 || nú shṭutá indra nú gṛiṇāná ísham jaritré nadyò ná pīpeḥ | ákāri te harivo bráhma návyam dhiyá syāma rathyàḥ sadāsáḥ || 21 ||

O resplendent Lord, when in any conflict of men, the calamity like a sharp pointed arrow falls in the midst of them, and when, O Lord, there is a terrible encounter among them, then, may you be the defender of our persons. 17

May you be the preserver of the pious acts of charming intellectuals; may you be an unfailing friend in the battle of their lives. O eminently wise Lord, we come to you; may you be ever benignant to your worshippers, O sustainer of the world. 18

O bounteous resplendent Lord, may we, in every conflict of life, along with those men, who trust in you and offer rich gifts, and those who are abundantly rich, triumph over our adversaries and glorify you many nights and years. 19

Now, just like a genius person constructs his car, in the same manner we fashion our prayers for the vigorous resplendent Lord, the showerer of benefits, so that He may never withdraw from us His friendly favours and may ever remain powerful protector of our persons. 20

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshippers as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital forces, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, the car-bornes, be victors for ever. 21

(१७) सप्तदशं सूक्तम्

(१-२१) एकविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-१४, १६-२१) प्रथमादिचतुर्दशर्चां षोडश्यादिषण्णाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्चैकपदा विराट् छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ त्वं महाँ इन्द्र तुभ्यं ह क्षा अनु क्षत्रं मंहना मन्यत द्यौः ।
त्वं वृत्रं शवसा जघन्वान्त्सृजः सिन्धूँरहिना जग्रसानान् ॥१॥
तव त्विषो जनिमन्रेजत द्यौ रेजद्भूमिर्भियसा स्वस्य मन्योः ।
ऋघायन्त सुभ्वः पर्वतास आर्दन्धन्वानि सरयन्त आपः ॥२॥
भिनद्गिरिं शवसा वज्रमिष्णन्नाविष्कृण्वानः सहसान ओजः ।
वधीद्वृत्रं वज्रेण मन्दसानः सरन्नापो जवसा हतवृष्णीः ॥३॥

17.

Tvám maháñ indra túbhyam ha kshā́ ánu kshatrám maṅhánā manyata dyaúḥ | tvám vṛitrám ṣávasā jaghanvā́n sṛijáḥ síndhūñr áhinā jagrasānā́n || 1 || táva tvishó jániman rejata dyaú réjad bhū́mir bhiyásā svásya manyóḥ | ṛighāyánta subhvàḥ párvatāsa árdan dhánvāni saráyanta ā́paḥ || 2 || bhinád girím ṣávasā vájram ishṇánn āvishkṛiṇvānáḥ sahasāná ójaḥ | vádhīd vṛitrám vájreṇa mandasānáḥ sárann ā́po jávasā hatávṛishṇīḥ || 3 ||

सुवीरस्ते जनिता मन्यत द्यौरिन्द्रस्य कर्ता स्वपस्तमो भूत् ।
य ईं जजान स्वर्यं सुवज्रमनपच्युतं सदसो न भूम ॥४॥
य एक इच्च्यावयति प्र भूमा राजा कृष्टीनां पुरुहूत इन्द्रः ।
सत्यमेनमनु विश्वे मदन्ति रातिं देवस्य गृणतो मघोनः ॥५॥

suvī́ras te janitā́ manyata dyaúr índrasya kartā́ svápastamo bhūt | yá īṃ jajā́na svar-yàṃ suvájram ánapacyutaṃ sádaso ná bhū́ma || 4 || yá éka ic cyāváyati prá bhū́mā rā́jā kṛishṭīnā́m puruhūtá índraḥ | satyám enam ánu víṣve madanti rātíṃ devásya gṛiṇató ma-ghónaḥ || 5 ||

17

Great are you, O resplendent self, the earthly body and the illuminated mind accept your superiority. You by your vigour destroy evils and set free the streams of noble thoughts from the clutches of dragon of evil desires. 1

On your awakening, the earthly body and mind tremble through fear of your wrath; the mighty mountains of sin get shaky; the stream of free thoughts flow through the aried land (barren mind). 2

The subduer of foes, manifesting his energy and hurling his adamantine will power, shatters the mountain of darkness by his strength; he in exhilaration lays off evil forces with the bolt of his will, and the thoughts, whose obstructor was destroyed, rush forth with rapidity. 3

You are the progenitor of your grandeur like the sun of his own effulgence. May you, resplendent self, be the accomplisher of a most excellent work; you furnish yourself with undecaying adamantine will power for attaining happiness. Indeed you are endowed with supreme greatness. 4

He is sovereign king of men and adored by all, who alone casts down many evils. All godly men, speak high of the munificence of this divine and bounteous self. 5

२२॥ सत्रा सोमा अभवन्नस्य विश्वे सत्रा मदासो बृहतो मदिष्ठाः ।
सत्राभवो वसुपतिर्वसूनां दत्रे विश्वा अधिथा इन्द्र कृष्टीः ॥६॥
त्वमध प्रथमं जायमानोऽमे विश्वा अधिथा इन्द्र कृष्टीः ।
त्वं प्रति प्रवत आशयानमहिं वज्रेण मघवन्वि वृश्चः ॥७॥
सत्राहणं दाधृषिं तुम्रमिन्द्रं महामपारं वृषभं सुवज्रम् ।
हन्ता यो वृत्रं सनितोत वाजं दाता मघानि मघवा सुराधाः ॥८॥
अयं वृतश्चातयते समीचीर्य आजिषु मघवा शृण्व एकः ।
अयं वाजं भरति यं सनोत्यस्य प्रियासः सख्ये स्याम ॥९॥
अयं शृण्वे अध जयन्नुत घ्नन्नयमुत प्र कृणुते युधा गाः ।
यदा सत्यं कृणुते मन्युमिन्द्रो विश्वं दृळ्हं भयत एजदस्मात् ॥१०॥

satrā́ sómā abhavann asya víṣve satrā́ mádāso briható mádishṭhāḥ | satrā́bhavo vásupatir vásūnāṃ dátre víṣvā adhithā indra krishṭī́ḥ || 6 || tvám ádha prathamáṃ jā́yamānó 'me víṣvā adhithā indra krishṭī́ḥ | tvám práti praváta āṣáyānam áhiṃ vájreṇa maghavan ví vṛiṣcaḥ || 7 || satrāháṇaṃ dā́dhṛishiṃ túmram índram mahā́m apārā́ṃ vṛishabháṃ suvájram | hántā yó vṛitrā́ṃ sánitotá vā́jaṃ dā́tā maghā́ni maghávā surā́dhāḥ || 8 || ayā́ṃ vṛ́itaṣ cātayate samīcī́r yá ājíshu maghávā ṣriṇvá ékaḥ | ayā́ṃ vā́jam bharati yáṃ sanóty asyá priyā́saḥ sakhyé syāma || 9 || ayā́ṃ ṣriṇve ádha jáyann utá ghnánn ayā́m utá prá kriṇute yudhā́ gā́ḥ | yadā́ satyā́ṃ kriṇuté manyúm índro víṣvaṃ dṛiḷhā́m bhayata éjad asmāt || 10 ||

॥२३॥ समिन्द्रो गा अजयत्सं हिरण्या समश्विया मघवा यो ह पूर्वीः ।
एभिर्नृभिर्नृतमो अस्य शाकै रायो विभक्ता संभरश्च वस्वः ॥११॥

sám índro gā́ ajayat sáṃ híraṇyā sám aṣviyā́ maghávā yó ha pūrvī́ḥ | ebhír nṛíbhir nṛítamo asya ṣākaí rāyó vibhaktā́ sambharā́ṣ ca vásvaḥ || 11 ||

Truly, he deserves all loving devotion; all these exhilarating experiences are centred in the mighty soul. Indeed you are the Lord of treasures; you support all people devoted to cultivation and reward them with riches. 6

O resplendent self, as soon as you enter body, you strike terror into all the other physical forces; you strike with your adamantine will power, the dragon of sinful mind, who obstructs the flow of divine thoughts. 7

We praise the one who is destroyer of untruth by truth, the courageous, the inspirer, the great, the unbounded, the showerer of benefits, the wielder of the adamantine will power and who is the destroyer of the devil of ignorance, the bestower of food, the giver of wealth, bounteous and the possessor of treasures. 8

This bounteous soul alone enlightens the ignorant, and sustains right type of desires; in the inner struggles he procures nourishment which he provides. May we be held dear in his friendship. 9

This soul is renowned, whether conquering or slaying evils or whether in conflicts, he recovers wisdom. When he shows his wrath, all that is stationary or movable is afraid of him. 10

The resplendent self, the Lord of opulence, completely recovers the cow of wisdom, prosperity, and vitality. With all his vigour, he is the chief leader. Praised by all his worshippers, he distributes riches, still with his treasures full. 11

कियत्स्विदिन्द्रो अध्येति मातुः कियत्पितुर्जनितुर्यो जजान ।
यो अस्य शुष्मं मुहुकैरियर्ति वातो न जूतः स्तनयद्भिरभ्रैः ॥१२॥
क्षियन्तं त्वमक्षियन्तं कृणोतीयर्ति रेणुं मघवा समोहम् ।
विभञ्जनुरशनिमाँ इव द्यौरुत स्तोतारं मघवा वसौ धात् ॥१३॥
अयं चक्रमिषणत्सूर्यस्य न्येतशं रीरमत्ससृमाणम् ।
आ कृष्ण ईं जुहुराणो जिघर्ति त्वचो बुध्ने रजसो अस्य योनौ ॥१४॥
असिक्न्यां यजमानो न होता ॥१५॥

kíyat svid índro ádhy eti mātúḥ kíyat pitúr janitúr yó jajána | yó asya śúshmam muhukaír íyarti váto ná jūtá stanáyadbhir abhraíḥ || 12 || kshiyántam tvam ákshiyantam krinotīyarti reṇúm maghávā samóham | vibhañjanúr aśánimāñ iva dyaúr utá stotáram maghávā vásau dhāt || 13 || ayám cakrám ishaṇat sū́ryasya ny étaśam rīramat sasrimāṇám | ā́ krishṇá īm juhurāṇó jigharti tvacó budhné rájaso asyá yónau || 14 || ásiknyām yájamāno ná hótā || 15 ||

॥२४॥ गव्यन्त इन्द्रं सख्याय विप्रा अश्वायन्तो वृषणं वाजयन्तः ।
जनीयन्तो जनिदामक्षितोतिमा च्यावयामोऽवते न कोशम् ॥१६॥
त्राता नो बोधि ददृशान आपिरभिख्याता मर्डिता सोम्यानाम् ।
सखा पिता पितृतमः पितॄणां कर्तेमु लोकमुशते वयोधाः ॥१७॥
सखीयतामविता बोधि सखा गृणान इन्द्र स्तुवते वयो धाः ।
वयं ह्या ते चकृमा सबाध आभिः शमीभिर्महयन्त इन्द्र ॥१८॥

gavyánta índram sakhyā́ya víprā aśvāyánto vríshaṇam vājáyantaḥ | janīyánto janidā́m ákshitotim ā́ cyāvayāmo 'vaté ná kóśam || 16 || trātā́ no bodhi dádriśāna āpír abhikhyātā́ marḍitā́ somyā́nam | sákhā pitā́ pitrítamaḥ pitrīṇā́m kártem u lokám uśaté vayodhā́ḥ || 17 || sakhīyatā́m avitā́ bodhi sákhā griṇāná indra stuvaté váyo dhāḥ | vayám hy ā́ te cakrimá sabā́dha ābhíḥ śámībhir maháyanta indra || 18 ||

Some portion of his strength, the self derives from mother (physical realm); and from his father (spiritual realm). He, the supreme progenitor, has created the world and animates its vigour repeatedly as the wind is animated by thundering clouds (mental realm). 12

You are the bounteous one, who makes destitute prosperous, who scatters from his worshipper the accumulated dust of sin. He is the destroyer of evils, like the lightning of cloud. He is bounteous, who enriches the devotee. 13

He urges forward the wheel of intellect—the sun, source of illumination, and stops horses of vital senses in inner conflicts. The dark undulating clouds of physical form keep the self, the root of radiance, within the inner-space (between mental and physical realms). 14

Like the worshipper, the householder, at night (rejoicing whilst performing daily duties). 15

May we who are wishing for cows, for horses, for nourishment and for women through his friendship induce the inner self, the showerer of benefits, the giver of wives (or mothers), the unwearied granter of protection, to come down, as a bucket is lowered into a well. 16

May you be our preserver, watching and blessing all and bestowing felicity on those who are worthy and offer libations. May you be a friend, a sire, most fatherly of fathers, giver of food, bestowing heavenly bliss upon him who desires it. 17

O resplendent self, may you regard yourself as a protector of those who seek your friendship. Be a friend deserving of commendation and grant food to him who praises you. Suffering difficulties, we make our supplications to you, glorifying you with these holy hymns. 18

स्तुत इन्द्रो मघवा यद्ध वृत्रा भूरीण्येको अप्रतीनि हन्ति ।
अस्य प्रियो जरिता यस्य शर्मन्नकिर्देवा वारयन्ते न मर्ताः ॥१९॥
एवा न इन्द्रो मघवा विरप्शी करत्सत्या चर्षणीधृदनर्वा ।
त्वं राजा जनुषां धेह्यस्मे अधि श्रवो माहिनं यज्जरित्रे ॥२०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो३ न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥२१॥

stutá índro magháva yád dha vritrá bhū́rīṇy éko apratíni hanti | asyá priyó jaritā́ yásya ṣárman nákir devā́ vārāyante na mártāḥ || 19 || evá na índro maghávā virapṣī kárat satyā́ carshanīdhríd anarvā́ | tvám rā́jā janúshām dhehy asmé ádhi ṣrávo máhinam yáj jaritré || 20 || nū́ shṭutá indra — || 21 ||

(१८) अष्टादशं सूक्तम्

(१–१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१) प्रथमर्च इन्द्रः, (२–३, ४, ८–१३) द्वितीयातृतीययोश्चतुर्थ्याः पूर्वार्धस्याष्टम्यादिषण्णाञ्च गौतमो वामदेव ऋषीः (४, ५–७) चतुर्थ्या उत्तरार्धस्य पञ्चम्यादितृचस्य चादितिर्ऋषिका । (१, ४, ५–७) प्रथमर्चश्चतुर्थ्या उत्तरार्धस्य पञ्चम्यादितृचस्य च वामदेवः, (२–३, ४, ८–१३) द्वितीयातृतीययोश्चतुर्थ्याः पूर्वार्धस्याष्टम्यादिषण्णाञ्चेन्द्रो देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ अयं पन्था अनुवित्तः पुराणो यतो देवा उदजायन्त विश्वे ।
अतश्चिदा जनिषीष्ट प्रवृद्धो मा मातरममुया पत्तवे कः ॥१॥
नाहमतो निरया दुर्गहैतत्तिरश्चता पार्श्वान्निर्गमाणि ।
बहूनि मे अकृता कर्त्वानि युध्यै त्वेन सं त्वेन पृच्छै ॥२॥

18.

Ayám pánthā ánuvittaḥ purāṇó yáto devā́ udájāyanta víṣve | átaṣ cid ā́ janishīshṭa právriddho mā́ mātáram amuyā́ páttave kaḥ || 1 || nā́hám áto nír ayā durgáhaitát tiraṣcátā pārṣvā́n nír gamāṇi | bahū́ni me ákritā kártvāni yúdhyai tvena sám tvena prichai || 2 ||

When the opulent inner self is glorified, he singly destroys many unyielding formidable evils. That worshipper is dear to him, who relies on his protection. Neither Nature's forces nor men can molest him. 19

Only the possessor of manifold power and opulence, the sustainer of men, the irresistible self may truly fulfil our aspirations, as he is the divine ruler of our existence. May he grant abundant wealth and fame which is rightly due to a worshipper. 20

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital forces, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, the car-borne, be victors for ever. 21

18

This hymn deals with the first dawn of creation. Dialogue between Resplendent Lord, the creator, and the soul and the Mother Nature.

(Resplendent Lord) This is the ancient and accepted path, by which all divine luminaries come into existence. So, however mighty he be, let him (bonded individual soul) be born in the same manner; let him not injure, otherwise, the mother (the embryo of his mother). 1

(The individual self speaks) I shall not come forth by this path, for this passage is hard to break; let me come forth obliquely from the side. Many acts unperformed by others are to be accomplished by me; let me contend (in one life) with one opponent. 2

परायतीं मातरमन्वचष्ट न नानु गान्यनु नू गमानि ।
त्वष्टुर्गृहे अपिबत्सोममिन्द्रः शतधन्यं चम्वोः सुतस्य ॥३॥
किं स ऋधक्कृणवद्यं सहस्रं मासो जभार शरदश्च पूर्वीः ।
नही न्वस्य प्रतिमानमस्त्यन्तर्जातेषूत ये जनित्वाः ॥४॥
अवद्यमिव मन्यमाना गुहाकरिन्द्रं माता वीर्येणा न्यृष्टम् ।
अथोदस्थात्स्वयमत्कं वसान आ रोदसी अपृणाज्जायमानः ॥५॥

parāyatím mātáram ánv acashṭa ná nā́nu gāny ánu nū́ gamāni | tváshṭur grihé apibat sómam índraḥ ṣatadhanyàm camvòḥ sutásya || 3 || kím sá ṛídhak kriṇavad yáṃ sahásram māsó jabhā́ra ṣarádaṣ ca pūrvī́ḥ | nahí nv àsya pratimā́nam ásty antár jātéshūtá yé jánitvāḥ || 4 || avadyám iva mányamānā gúhākar índram mātā́ vīryèṇā nyṛ̀shṭam | áthód asthāt svayám átkaṃ vásāna ā́ ródasī apriṇāj jā́yamānaḥ || 5 ||

॥२६॥ एता अर्षन्त्यललाभवन्तीरृतावरीरिव संक्रोशमानाः ।
एता वि पृच्छ किमिदं भनन्ति कमापो अद्रिं परिधिं रुजन्ति ॥६॥
किमु ष्विदस्मै निविदो भनन्तेन्द्रस्यावद्यं दिधिषन्त आपः ।
ममैतान्पुत्रो महता वधेन वृत्रं जघन्वाँ असृजद्वि सिन्धून् ॥७॥
ममच्चन त्वा युवतिः परास ममच्चन त्वा कुषवा जगार ।
ममच्चिदापः शिशवे ममृड्युर्ममच्चिदिन्द्रः सहसोदतिष्ठत् ॥८॥

etā́ arshanty alalābhávantīr ṛitā́varīr iva saṃkróṣamānāḥ | etā́ ví pricha kím idám bhananti kám ā́po ádrim paridhíṃ rujanti || 6 || kím u shvid asmai nivído bhanantén-drasyāvadyáṃ didhishanta ā́paḥ | mámaitā́n putró mahatā́ vadhéna vṛitráṃ jaghanvā́ñ asṛijad ví síndhūn || 7 || mámac caná tvā yuvatíḥ parā́sa mámac caná tvā kushávā jagā́ra | mámac cid ā́paḥ ṣíṣave mamṛiḍyur mámac cid índraḥ sá-hasód atishṭhat || 8 ||

(Soul) It may cause the death of my mother; let me not proceed by the usual way, but proceed quickly, according to my will. In the nearness of creator, he enjoys the exhilaration of life in hundredfold ways. 3

(Mother Nature) What irregular act does he commit, whom, I, his mother, bear him (the impregnated life) for a thousand months and for many years? There is no analogy between him and those who have been or will be born hereafter. 4

Deeming it a strange act, his Mother Nature endowed him (the impregnated life) with extraordinary vigour; therefore, as soon as born, he assumes his vesture and fills both heaven and earth (physical and mental realms). 5

These rivers filled with water, flow whispering, as if, expressing the feeling of joy. Ask them to let you know what the streams of water, have been saying, what rocks they have been encircling and break through, whilst they move forward. 6

What do these prayful whispers speak to us? They speak of the glory of the resplendent Lord.

Resplendent Lord speaks : My son, the sun, destroys obstructing clouds with his mighty thunderbolt and sets those rivers free. 7

Resplendent Lord to the personified new born life : Once the exulting, youthful mother eternity has brought you in existence, while the unfavourable environments have tried to swallow you, but exulting waters provided delight to the infant, and once again the resplendent life has arisen by its innate strength. 8

ममच्चन ते मघवन्व्यंसो निविविध्वाँ अप हनू जघान ।
अधा निविद्ध उत्तरो बभूवाञ्छिरो दासस्य सं पिणग्वधेन ॥९॥
गृष्टिः ससूव स्थविरं तवागामनाधृष्यं वृषभं तुम्रमिन्द्रम् ।
अरीळ्हं वत्सं चरथाय माता स्वयं गातुं तन्व इच्छमानम् ॥१०॥
उत माता महिषमन्ववेनदमी त्वा जहति पुत्र देवाः ।
अथाब्रवीद्वृत्रमिन्द्रो हनिष्यन्त्सखे विष्णो वितरं वि क्रमस्व ॥११॥

mámac caná te maghavan vyàṅso nivividhvā́ṅ ápa hánū jaghána | ádhā níviddha úttaro babhūvā́ñ chíro dāsásya sám piṇak vadhéna || 9 || gṛishṭíḥ sasūva sthávirạm tavāgā́m anādhṛishyáṃ vṛishabháṃ túmram índram | árīḷhaṃ vatsáṃ caráthāya mātā́ svayáṃ gātúṃ tanvà ichámānam || 10 || utá mātā́ mahishám ánv avenad amí tvā jahati putra deváḥ | áthābravīd vṛitrám índro hanishyán sákhe vishṇo vitaráṃ ví kramasva || 11 ||

कस्ते मातरं विधवामचक्रच्छयुं कस्त्वामजिघांसच्चरन्तम् ।
कस्ते देवो अधि मार्डीक आसीद्यत्प्राक्षिणाः पितरं पादगृह्य ॥१२॥
अवर्त्या शुन आन्त्राणि पेचे न देवेषु विविदे मर्डितारम् ।
अपश्यं जायाममहीयमानामधा मे श्येनो मध्वा जभार ॥१३॥

kás te mātáraṃ vidhávām acakrac chayúṃ kás tvā́m ajighāṅsac cárantam | kás te devó ádhi mārḍīká āsīd yát prā́kshiṇāḥ pitáram pādagṛíhya || 12 || ávartyā ṣúna āntrā́ṇi pece ná devéshu vivide marḍitā́ram | ápaṣyaṃ jāyā́m ámahīyamānam ádhā me ṣyenó mádhv ā́ jabhāra || 13 ||

O bounteous life, once the ravaging force again tries to smite upon your face, whereupon, being so smitten, you prove stronger, and crush the head of the ravaging forces, with your adamantine will to survive. 9

As a heifer bears a calf, the eternal Mother Nature bears the organic life, mature (in years), strong, irresistible, vigorous, energetic, invincible, destined to follow his own course and heedful of its own person. 10

Then from the evolved organic life, the Mother enquired: My son, do Nature's forces desert you and try to harm? Then the personified life answering in affirmative further speaks to the omnipresent Father: May you exert your prowess with a desire to destroy demonic obstructing forces. 11

Who has made your Mother Nature a widow? Who has been the person who tried to slay you whilst you were unconscious or in sleep in wakeful state?

O Child, you have neglected your father as if having seized him by foot and not caring for him. Who could have been more gracious to you than He? 12

Finally the self, so lamented, in extreme destitution: What a shame to me that I have committed a hineous crime as if cooking the entrails of a dog (having forgotten my Lord). I could find no comfort among Nature's material forces. Before my own eyes I have seen my wife, the beloved, disrespected. Then the enlightenment, in the form of falcon from heaven, comes down and brings the sweet water. 13

(१९) एकोनविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

एवा त्वामिन्द्र वज्रिन्नत्र विश्वे देवासः सुहवास ऊमाः ।
महामुभे रोदसी वृद्धमृष्वं निरेकमिद्वृणते वृत्रहत्ये ॥१॥
अवासृजन्त जिव्रयो न देवा भुवः सम्राळिन्द्र सत्ययोनिः ।
अहन्नहिं परिशयानमर्णः प्र वर्तनीररदो विश्वधेनाः ॥२॥
अतृप्णुवन्तं वियतमबुध्यमबुध्यमानं सुषुपाणमिन्द्र ।
सप्त प्रति प्रवत आशयानमहिं वज्रेण वि रिणा अपर्वन् ॥३॥

19.

Evá tvám indra vajrinn átra víśve devā́saḥ suhávāsa ū́māḥ | mahā́m ubhé ródasī vriddhám rishvám nír ékam íd vriṇate vritrahátye || 1 || ávāsrijanta jívrayo ná devā́ bhúvaḥ samrā́ḷ indra satyáyoniḥ | áhann áhim pariśáyānam árṇaḥ prá vartanír arado viśvádhenāḥ || 2 || átripṇuvantam víyatam abudhyám ábudhyamānam sushupāṇám indra | saptá práti praváta āśáyānam áhim vájreṇa ví riṇā aparván || 3 ||

अक्षोदयच्छवसा क्षाम बुध्नं वार्ण वातस्तविषीभिरिन्द्रः ।
दृळ्हान्यौभ्नादुशमान ओजोऽवाभिनत्ककुभः पर्वतानाम् ॥४॥
अभि प्र दद्रुर्जनयो न गर्भं रथा इव प्र ययुः साकमद्रयः ।
अतर्पयो विसृत उब्ज ऊर्मीन्त्वं वृताँ अरिणा इन्द्र सिन्धून् ॥५॥

ákshodayac chávasā kshā́ma budhnám vā́r ṇá vā́tas távishībhir índraḥ | driḷhā́ny aubhnād uśámāna ójó 'vābhinat kakúbhaḥ párvatānām || 4 || abhí prá dadrur jánayo ná gárbham ráthā iva prá yayuḥ sākám ádrayaḥ | átarpayo visríta ubjá ūrmī́n tvám vritā́ñ ariṇā indra síndhūn || 5 ||

19

O resplendent self, wielder of the adamantine will-power, all the protecting Nature's forces, who are reverently invoked, and both heaven and the earth (physical and spiritual realms of body) glorify you. You are verily unparalleled, eternal and lofty capable of destroying evil forces. 1

As elders urge their young, so the sense-organs urge you to fight evil forces; then you, O inner-self, become the emblem of truth, the sovereign ruler of the human body, and you lay off the morbid impulses and mark out the courses of all delighting channels of thoughts. 2

In no time, you cut down with your adamantine will-power, the insatiable, hard to awaken, ignorant, unapprehending lazy dragon of evil impulses, who obstructs the free flow of seven prone streams of virtuous thoughts. 3

The inner-self with his strength, awakens, the exhausted nerves of body and mind, in the same manner as wind stirs the water with its fury. Striving with strength, he bursts the solid clouds of ignorance asunder and shatters the high walls of obstructing adversaries. 4

The vital principles hasten to you like mothers to their young; and like chariots who rush (in battle) ; you, O inner-self, refresh the flowing streams of thoughts; and shatter the clouds of ignorance. You set free the obstructed streams of virtuous thoughts. 5

॥२॥ त्वं महीमवनिं विश्वधेनां तुर्वीतये वय्याय क्षरन्तीम् ।
अरमयो नमसैजदर्णः सुतरणाँ अकृणोरिन्द्र सिन्धून् ॥६॥
प्राग्रुवो नभन्वो३ न वक्वा ध्वस्रा अपिन्वद्युवतीरृतज्ञाः ।
धन्वान्यज्राँ अपृणक्तृषाणाँ अधोगिन्द्रः स्तर्यो३ दंसुपत्नीः ॥७॥
पूर्वीरुषसः शरदश्च गूर्ता वृत्रं जघन्वाँ असृजद्वि सिन्धून् ।
परिष्ठिता अतृणद्बद्बधानाः सीरा इन्द्रः स्रवितवे पृथिव्या ॥८॥
वम्रीभिः पुत्रमग्रुवो अदानं निवेशनाद्धरिव आ जभर्थ ।
व्य१न्धो अख्यदहिमाददानो निर्भूदुखच्छित्समरन्त पर्व ॥९॥

tvám mahím avánim visvádhenām turvítaye vayyāya kshárantīm | áramayo námasaíjad árṇaḥ sutaraṇáñ akriṇor indra síndhūn || 6 || prāgrúvo nabhanvò ná vákvā dhvasrá apinvad yuvatír ritajñáḥ | dhánvāny ájrāñ apriṇak trishāṇáñ ádhog índra staryò dáṃsupatnīḥ || 7 || pūrvír ushásaḥ sarádaṣ ca gūrtá vritrám jaghanváñ asrijad ví síndhūn | párishṭhitā atriṇad badbadhānáḥ sīrá índraḥ srávitave prithivyá || 8 || vamríbhiḥ putrám agrúvo adānám nivéṣanād dhariva á jabhartha | vy àndhó akhyad áhim ādadānó nír bhūd ukhachít sám aranta párva || 9 ||

प्र ते पूर्वाणि करणानि विप्राविद्वाँ आह विदुषे करांसि ।
यथायथा वृष्ण्यानि स्वगूर्तापांसि राजन्नर्याविवेषीः ॥१०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो३ न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥११॥

prá te pū́rvāṇi káraṇāni viprāvidváñ āha vidúshe kárāṅsi | yáthā-yathā vríshṇyāni svágūrtápāṅsi rājan náryáviveshīḥ || 10 || nū́ shṭutá — || 11 ||

O inner-self, you, for the benefit of vigorously generous and vigilantly learned devotees, make the physical body cherishing and exuberant with abundant wisdom. You control the violent passions and thus make the rivers of life easy to be crossed. 6

Like the fierceful army marching on, the resplendent self has let youthful channels of thoughts flow forth which are law-abiding, resourceful and the corroders (of their banks). They inundate the dry lands and the thirsty (mind), and milk out the barren intellect, whom the evil thoughts have become the lords of. 7

Through many a morn and many a lovely autumn, having dispelled dark evils of ignorance, he sets free many channels of dawn-like intuitive thoughts, which were swallowed up by dark prejudices. The inner-self releases the imprisoned rivers of thoughts, encompassed (by clouds) to come out in the world. 8

Lord of vital senses, you extricate out the creative ability of man from its source, where it has been devoured by ants of petty impulses. When extricated, though blind, it distinguishes the dragon of sin. The creative ability is fully restored to health like a creature whose broken joints in the ant-hill have been again fully united. 9

O man of wisdom, I have been knowing and praising the deeds you have been performing ever since. They are generative of rain, spontaneous and beneficial to men. 10

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper and give water. O Lord of vital forces, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, the car-borne, be victors for ever. 11

(२०) विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गोतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

आ न इन्द्रो दूरादा न आसादभिष्टिकृदवसे यासदुग्रः ।
ओजिष्ठेभिर्नृपतिर्वज्रबाहुः संगे समत्सु तुर्वणिः पृतन्यून् ॥१॥
आ न इन्द्रो हरिभिर्यात्वच्छार्वाचीनोऽवसे राधसे च ।
तिष्ठाति वज्री मघवा विरप्शीमं यज्ञमनु नो वाजसातौ ॥२॥
इमं यज्ञं त्वमस्माकमिन्द्र पुरो दधत्सनिष्यसि क्रतुं नः ।
श्वघ्नीव वज्रिन्त्सनये धनानां त्वया वयमर्य आजिं जयेम ॥३॥

20.

Á na índro dūrád á na āsád abhishṭikríd ávase yāsad ugráḥ | ójishṭhebhir nṛipátir vájrabāhuḥ saṃgé samátsu turváṇiḥ pṛitanyū́n || 1 || á na índro háribhir yātv áchārvācīnó 'vase rádhase ca | tíshṭhāti vajrí maghávā virapśīmáṃ yajñám ánu no vájasātau || 2 || imám yajñám tvám asmákam indra puró dádhat sanishyasi krátuṃ naḥ | śvaghnīva vajrin sanáye dhánānāṃ tváyā vayám aryá ājíṃ jayema || 3 ||

उशन्नु षु णः सुमना उपाके सोमस्य नु सुषुतस्य स्वधावः ।
पा इन्द्र प्रतिभृतस्य मध्वः समन्धसा ममदः पृष्ठ्येन ॥४॥
वि यो ररप्श ऋषिभिर्नवेभिर्वृक्षो न पक्वः सृण्यो न जेता ।
मर्यो न योषामभि मन्यमानोऽच्छा विवक्मि पुरुहूतमिन्द्रम् ॥५॥

uṣánn u shú ṇaḥ sumánā upāké sómasya nú súshutasya svadhāvaḥ | pá indra prátibhṛitasya mádhvaḥ sám ándhasā mamadaḥ pṛishṭhyèna || 4 || ví yó rarapśá ṛíshibhir návebhir vṛikshó ná pakváḥ sṛiṇyo ná jétā | máryo ná yóshām abhí mányamānó 'chā vivakmi puruhūtám índram || 5 ||

20

May the resplendent self, the fulfiller of aspirations, the Lord of men, equipped with adamantine forces, subduer of his adversaries, small or big, come to us for our protection whether from far or near. 1

May the resplendent self, affectionately inclined to us, equipped with its vital faculties come to us for our protection. He is the possessor of adamantine will-power bounteous and powerful. He remains always with us to help in our benevolent noble deeds. 2

O resplendent self, may you, honouring our benevolent acts, give us strength and fill us full with courage to acquire the benefits. O holder of adamantine will-power, may we remain with you, and like a hunting creature subdue our evils. May we be victorious in our conflicts. 3

O resplendent self, glorious in your own greatness, may you be favourably disposed, and gracious to us. May you relish the ecstasy of spiritual joy and be pleased to accept the sacrificial homage offered by us at the back (i.e. in silence). 4

I, like a lover boosting of his beloved, glorify that resplendent self, adored by all sages, past and present. He is praised like a tree with ripe fruit and like a victor trained and disciplined. 5

॥४॥ गिरिर्न यः स्वतवाँ ऋष्व इन्द्रः सनादेव सहसे जात उग्रः ।
आदर्ता वज्रं स्थविरं न भीम उद्नेव कोशं वसुना न्यृष्टम् ॥६॥
न यस्य वर्ता जनुषा न्वस्ति न राधस आमरीता मघस्य ।
उद्वावृषाणस्तविषीव उग्रास्मभ्यं दद्धि पुरुहूत रायः ॥७॥
ईक्षे रायः क्षयस्य चर्षणीनामुत व्रजमपवर्तासि गोनाम् ।
शिक्षानरः समिथेषु प्रहावान्वस्वो राशिमभिनेतासि भूरिम् ॥८॥

girír ná yáḥ svátavāñ ṛishvá índraḥ sanā́d evá sáhase jātá ugráḥ | ā́dartā vájraṃ sthávirαṃ ná bhīmá udnéva kóśaṃ vásunā nyṛ̀shṭam || 6 || ná yásya vartā́ janúshā nv ásti ná rā́dhasa āmarītā́ maghásya | udvāvṛishāṇás tavishīva ugrāsmábhyaṃ daddhi puruhūta rāyáḥ || 7 || íkshe rāyáḥ kshάyasya carshaṇīnā́m utá vrajám apavartā́si gónām | śikshānaráḥ samithéshu prahā́vān vásvo rāśím abhinetā́si bhū́rim || 8 ||

कया तच्छृण्वे शच्या शचिष्ठो यया कृणोति मुहु का चिदृष्वः ।
पुरु दाशुषे विचयिष्ठो अंहोऽथा दधाति द्रविणं जरित्रे ॥९॥
मा नो मर्धीरा भरा दद्धि तन्नः प्र दाशुषे दातवे भूरि यत्ते ।
नव्ये देष्णे शस्ते अस्मिन्त उक्थे प्र ब्रवाम वयमिन्द्र स्तुवन्तः ॥१०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो३ न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥११॥

káyā tác chṛiṇve śácyā śácishṭho yáyā kṛiṇóti múhu kā́ cid ṛishváḥ | purú dāśúshe vícayishṭho áṅhó 'thā dadhāti dráviṇaṃ jaritré || 9 || mā́ no mardhīr ā́ bharā daddhí tán naḥ prá dāśúshe dā́tave bhū́ri yát te | návye deshṇé śasté asmín ta ukthé prá bravāma vayám indra stuvántaḥ || 10 || nū́ shṭutá — || 11 ||

The vast and self-sustained like a mountain, the radiant and formidable resplendent self, ever ready for conquest, is the wielder of the adamantine will-power, and is charged with splendour, like a jar fully filled with water. 6

Whom, from ancient times there has not been one to oppose, none to curtail the riches of His bounty, and who accomplishes pious works, may that powerful resplendent self, the showerer of benefits, invoked by all, pour forth riches on us. 7

You rule over the riches and the dwellings of men; you are the rescuer of the store of wisdom; you are the giver of instructions, the winner in all conflicts; may you lead us to the heaps of riches. 8

By what great wisdom is He renowned as the wisest? Wherewith does the mighty Lord repeatedly perform great deeds? He is the best comforter of manifold sorrows of the worshipper and bestows wealth upon His adorer. 9

Harm us not, but cherish us, O Lord! May you bestow upon us that abundant wealth which you provide to the dedicated worshipper. Praising you, we extol you at this new, well-awarding and excellent ceremony. 10

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper, as rivers swell high and give water O Lord of vital forces, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, car-borne, be the victors for ever. 11

(२१) एकविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ आ यात्विन्द्रोऽवस उप न इह स्तुतः सधमादस्तु शूरः ।
वावृधानस्तविषीर्यस्य पूर्वीर्द्यौर्न क्षत्रमभिभूति पुष्यात् ॥१॥
तस्येदिह स्तवथ वृष्ण्यानि तुविद्युम्नस्य तुविराधसो नॄन् ।
यस्य क्रतुर्विदथ्यो३ न सम्राट् साह्वान्तरुत्रो अभ्यस्ति कृष्टीः ॥२॥
आ यात्विन्द्रो दिव आ पृथिव्या मक्षू समुद्रादुत वा पुरीषात् ।
स्वर्णरादवसे नो मरुत्वान्परावतो वा सदनादृतस्य ॥३॥

21.

Ā yātv índró 'vasa úpa na ihá stutáḥ sadhamā́d astu śū́raḥ | vāvṛidhānás távishīr yásya pūrvī́r dyaúr ná kshatrám abhíbhūti púshyāt || 1 || tásyéd ihá stavatha vṛ́shṇyāni tuvidyumnásya tuvirā́dhaso nṝ́n | yásya krátur vidathyò ná samrā́ṭ sāhvā́n tárutro abhy ásti kṛishṭī́ḥ || 2 || ā́ yātv índro divá ā́ pṛithivyā́ makshū́ samudrā́d utá vā púrīshāt | svàrṇarād ávase no marútvān parāváto vā sádanād ṛitásya || 3 ||

स्थूरस्य रायो बृहतो य ईशे तमु ष्टवाम विदथेष्विन्द्रम् ।
यो वायुना जयति गोमतीषु प्र धृष्णुया नयति वस्यो अच्छ ॥४॥
उप यो नमो नमसि स्तभायन्नियर्ति वाचं जनयन्यजध्यै ।
ऋञ्जसानः पुरुवार उक्थैरेन्द्रं कृण्वीत सदनेषु होता ॥५॥

sthūrásya rāyó bṛiható yá ī́śe tám u shṭavāma vidátheshv índram | yó vāyúnā jáyati gómatīshu prá dhṛishṇuyā́ náyati vásyo ácha || 4 || úpa yó námo námasi stabhāyánn íyarti vā́caṃ janáyan yájadhyai | ṛiñjasānáḥ puruvā́ra ukthaír éndraṃ kṛiṇvīta sádaneshu hótā || 5 ||

21

May the resplendent self, radiant like sun, intrinsically vigorous, come to us for our protection. May he, being praised, here in this ceremony, enjoy the ecstasy of spiritual joy with us. May he, the possessor of many energies, strengthen his own overpowering force. 1

May you glorify the powerful leader of that renowned and opulent resplendent self, whose victorious and protecting forces rule over men, like a universal sovereign remarkable among mighties. 2

May the resplendent Lord, accompanied by the vital principles, come quickly for our protection, from the sky, from the earth, from the firmament, from the waters, from the blissful regions, and even from the distances far and beyond. 3

In the assembly of pious devotees, we glorify the resplendent Lord who is the sovereign of massive and extensive riches; who by His prowess is victor over hostile/hosts, and who by His munificence brings excellent wealth to the worshippers. 4

Let the priest, with many hymns, invoke that resplendent Lord, who, sustains universe, gives food in return to our offerings, and who, with divine voice, inspires men to worship. He is to be propitiated by praises, and adored by all. 5

धिषा यदि धिषण्यन्तः सरण्यान्सदन्तो अद्रिमौशिजस्य गोहे ।
आ दुरोषाः पास्त्यस्य होता यो नो महान्संवरणेषु वह्निः ॥६॥
सत्रा यदीं भार्वरस्य वृष्णः सिषक्ति शुष्मः स्तुवते भराय ।
गुहा यदीमौशिजस्य गोहे प्र यद्धिये प्रायसे मदाय ॥७॥
वि यद्वरांसि पर्वतस्य वृण्वे पयोभिर्जिन्वे अपां जवांसि ।
विदद्गौरस्य गवयस्य गोहे यदी वाजाय सुध्यो३ वहन्ति ॥८॥

dhishá yádi dhishaṇyántaḥ saraṇyán sádanto ádrim auṣijásya góhe | á duróshāḥ pāstyásya hótā yó no mahán saṃváraṇeshu váhniḥ || 6 || satrá yád īm bhārvarásya vríshṇaḥ síshakti ṣúshma stuvaté bhárāya | gúhā yád īm auṣijásya góhe prá yád dhiyé práyase mádāya || 7 || ví yád várāṅsi párvatasya vriṇvé páyobhir jinvé apáṃ jávāṅsi | vidád gaurásya gavayásya góhe yádī vájāya sudhyò váhanti || 8 ||

भद्रा ते हस्ता सुकृतोत पाणी प्रयन्तारा स्तुवते राध इन्द्र ।
का ते निषत्तिः किमु नो ममत्सि किं नोदुदु हर्षसे दातवा उ ॥९॥
एवा वस्व इन्द्रः सत्यः सम्राड्ढन्ता वृत्रं वरिवः पूरवे कः ।
पुरुष्टुत क्रत्वा नः शग्धि रायो भक्षीय तेऽवसो दैव्यस्य ॥१०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो३ न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥११॥

bhadrá te hástā súkritotá pāṇí prayantárā stuvaté rádha indra | ká te níshattiḥ kím u nó mamatsi kíṃ nód-ud u harshase dátavá u || 9 || evá vásva índraḥ satyáḥ samrāḍ dhántā vritráṃ várivaḥ pūráve kaḥ | púrushṭuta krátvā naḥ ṣagdhi rāyó bhakshīyá té 'vaso daívyasya || 10 || nú shṭutá — || 11 ||

When sitting and pondering in deep devotion in the priest's abode, the grinder of juices plies with his pressing stones, may the Lord, who is superb in contests and whose wrath is formidable, come to aid as the house-lord's priest. 6

True it is, that the power of the sustainer of the world, the showerer of benefits, favourably helps the offerer of praises. It prevails upon the secret thoughts of the sincere seeker, lying hidden in the priests abode, for his accomplishments, desires and delights. 7

When he sets asunder the clouds of ignorance, and amply supplies the rapid flow of thoughts, the wise, leads him on to vigorous search of truth, and he thereupon finds in the hidden corner, the manifested intellect and its counterpart, the subconsciousness. 8

O resplendent Lord, your auspicious arms are accomplishers of noble deeds, and your two hands confer wealth to your worshippers. Why is this delay ? Why do you not invigorate us ? Why are you not delighted for granting us riches ? 9

Thus glorified, the resplendent Lord, the truthful, the master of treasures gives freedom to man by dispelling the devil of ignorance. O Lord adored by all, may you grant us strength for doing noble acts, so that we may enjoy the fruits of your protective divine favour. 10

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital glory, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, car-borne, be victors for ever. 11

(२२) द्वाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ यन्न इन्द्रो जुजुषे यच्च वष्टि तन्नो महान्करति शुष्म्या चित् ।
ब्रह्म स्तोमं मघवा सोममुक्था यो अश्मानं शवसा बिभ्रदेति ॥१॥
वृषा वृषन्धिं चतुरश्रिमस्यन्नुग्रो बाहुभ्यां नृतमः शचीवान् ।
श्रिये परुष्णीमुषमाण ऊर्णां यस्याः पर्वाणि सख्याय विव्ये ॥२॥
यो देवो देवतमो जायमानो महो वाजेभिर्महद्भिश्च शुष्मैः ।
दधानो वज्रं बाह्वोरुशन्तं द्याममेन रेजयत्प्र भूम ॥३॥

22.

Yán na índro jujushé yác ca váshṭi tán no mahā́n karati ṣushmy ā́ cit | bráhma stómam maghávā sómam ukthā́ yó áṣmānam ṣávasā bíbhrad éti || 1 || vṛíshā vṛíshandhiṃ cáturaṣrim ásyann ugró bāhúbhyāṃ nṛítamaḥ ṣácīvān | ṣriyé párushṇīm ushámāṇa ū́rṇāṃ yásyāḥ párvāṇi sakhyā́ya vivyé || 2 || yó devó devátamo jā́yamāno mahó vā́jebhir mahádbhiṣ ca ṣúshmaiḥ | dádhāno vájram bāhvór uṣántaṃ dyā́m ámena rejayat prá bhū́ma || 3 ||

विश्वा रोधांसि प्रवतश्च पूर्वीर्द्यौर्ऋष्वाज्जनिमन्रेजत क्षाः ।
आ मातरा भरति शुष्म्या गोर्नृवत्परिज्मन्नोनुवन्त वाताः ॥४॥
ता तू त इन्द्र महतो महानि विश्वेष्वित्सवनेषु प्रवाच्या ।
यच्छूर धृष्णो धृषता दधृष्वानहिं वज्रेण शवसाविवेषीः ॥५॥

víṣvā ródhāṅsi pravátaṣ ca pūrvír dyaúr ṛishváj jániman rejata kshā́ḥ | ā́ mātárā bhárati ṣushmy ā́ gór nṛivát párijman nonuvanta vā́tāḥ || 4 || tā́ tū́ ta indra maható mahā́ni víṣveshv ít sávaneshu pravā́cyā | yác chūra dhṛishṇo dhṛishatā́ dadhṛishvā́n áhiṃ vájreṇa ṣávasā́viveshīḥ || 5 ||

22

The personality of resplendent great and mighty Lord is manifested along with His punitive justice in His strength. He loves and welcomes our gifts, and desires them to be offered to Him by us. May He, the possessor of opulence, accept our hymns, our praises, our loving devotions and devotional songs. 1

He, the showerer of benefits, the fierce, the foremost, and the brilliant, wields with his power the four-edged justice for granting prosperity. He, dispelling the wickedness of our mind, releases virtues through channels of wisdom and thus inspires us through friendly favours for spiritual progress. 2

He, the divine, most divine as soon as manifested, endowed with glories and great energies, holding, as if, in his arms the adamantine justice makes both heaven and earth oscillate with vigour. 3

As soon as He ordains, all the hills, flooded rivers, heaven and earth start oscillating with vigour. Through His firm determination, the parent-like mighty Lord sustains both heaven and earth. Cosmic winds make loud noise like a crowd of men in mid-region. 4

O resplendent Lord, great are the deeds, to be proclaimed at all our congregations. O brave Lord, the sustainer of universe bearing the adamantine force, you annihilate the dragon of sinful mind. 5

॥८॥

ता तू ते॑ स॒त्या तु॑विनृम्ण॒ विश्वा॒ प्र धे॒नवः॑ सिस्रते॒ वृष्ण॒ ऊध्नः॑ ।
अधा॑ ह॒ त्वद्वृ॑षमणो भिया॒नाः प्र सिन्ध॑वो॒ जव॑सा चक्रमन्त ॥६॥
अत्राह॑ ते हरिव॒स्ता उ॑ दे॒वीरवो॑भिरिन्द्र स्तवन्त॒ स्वसा॑रः ।
यत्सी॒मनु॒ प्र मु॒चो ब॑द्बधा॒ना दी॒र्घामनु॒ प्रसि॑तिं स्यन्द॒यध्यै॑ ॥७॥
पि॒पी॒ळे अं॒शुर्मद्यो॒ न सिन्धु॒रा त्वा॒ शमी॑ शशमा॒नस्य॑ श॒क्तिः ।
अ॒स्म॒द्र्य॑क्छुशुचा॒नस्य॑ यम्या आ॒शुर्न र॒श्मिं तु॒व्योज॑सं॒ गोः ॥८॥

tá tū́ te satyá tuvinrimṇa víṣvā prá dhenávaḥ sisrate vríshṇa ū́dhnaḥ | ádhā ha tvád vrishamaṇo bhiyānáḥ prá síndhavo jávasā cakramanta || 6 || átrâha te harivas tā́ u devī́r ávobhir indra stavanta svásāraḥ | yát sīm ánu prá mucó badbadhānā́ dīrghā́m ánu prásitiṃ syandayádhyai || 7 || pipīḷé aṅṣúr mádyo ná síndhur ā́ tvā ṣámī ṣaṣamanásya ṣaktíḥ | asmadryàk chuṣucānásya yamyā āṣúr ná raṣmíṃ tuvyójasaṃ góḥ || 8 ||

अ॒स्मे वर्षि॑ष्ठा कृणुहि॒ ज्येष्ठा॑ नृ॒म्णानि॑ स॒त्रा स॑हुरे॒ सहां॑सि ।
अ॒स्मभ्यं॑ वृ॒त्रा सु॒हना॑नि रन्धि ज॒हि वध॑र्व॒नुषो॒ मर्त्य॑स्य ॥९॥
अ॒स्माक॒मित्सु शृ॑णुहि॒ त्वमि॑न्द्रा॒स्मभ्यं॑ चि॒त्राँ उप॑ माहि॒ वाजा॑न् ।
अ॒स्मभ्यं॒ विश्वा॑ इषणः॒ पुरं॑धीर॒स्माकं॒ सु म॑घवन्बोधि गो॒दाः ॥१०॥
नू ष्टु॒त इ॑न्द्र॒ नू गृ॑णा॒न इषं॑ जरि॒त्रे न॒द्यो॒३॒॑ न पी॑पेः ।
अका॑रि ते हरिवो॒ ब्रह्म॒ नव्यं॑ धि॒या स्या॑म र॒थ्यः॑ सदा॒साः ॥११॥

asmé várshishṭhā kriṇuhi jyéshṭhā nrimṇáni satrá sahure sáhāṅsi | asmábhyaṃ vritrá suhánāni randhi jahí vádhar vanúsho mártyasya || 9 || asmā́kam ít sú ṣriṇuhi tvám indrāsmábhyaṃ citrā́ṅ úpa māhi vā́jān | asmábhyaṃ víṣvā ishaṇaḥ púraṃdhīr asmā́kaṃ sú maghavan bodhi godā́ḥ || 10 || nū́ shṭutá — || 11 ||

Most powerful Lord, all your accomplishments are verily true. O showerer of benefits, the cows give milk from their udders through your grace. And, O benevolent Lord, the rivers flow with rapidity fearing you at your command. 6

O Lord of speed and vitality, the divine sister-like streams of rivers offer reverence to you for protection, when you set them free to flow, after their having been impeded by the obstructive forces through a long confinement. 7

The exhilarating melodies of devotional songs have been repeatedly sung for you, as if a herb properly crushed beneath stones (for extraction). Now, may the streams of our love flow to you, and so let the expiatory power of the illustrious utterer of praise be directed towards us, as if a horse directed by reins. 8

O victorious Lord, bless us with excellent, superior and overpowering vigour. And may you make evil forces easy to be conquered. May you demolish the weapon of malevolent man. 9

Graciously listen to our praises, O Lord, and bestow upon us many kinds of prosperity and fulfil all our aspirations, and O bounteous, be delighted to grant us wisdom. 10

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper, as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital glory, we continue composing new hymns for you. 11

(२३) त्रयोविंशं सूक्तम्
(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गोतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१-७, ११) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चामेकादश्याश्चेन्द्रः (८-१०) अष्टम्यादितृचस्येन्द्र ऋतं वा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ कथा महामवृधत्कस्य होतुर्यज्ञं जुषाणो अभि सोममूधः ।
पिबन्नुशानो जुषमाणो अन्धो ववक्ष ऋष्वः शुचते धनाय ॥१॥
को अस्य वीरः सधमादमाप समानंश सुमतिभिः को अस्य ।
कदस्य चित्रं चिकिते कदूती वृधे भुवच्छशमानस्य यज्योः ॥२॥
कथा शृणोति हूयमानमिन्द्रः कथा शृण्वन्नवसामस्य वेद ।
का अस्य पूर्वीरुपमातयो ह कथैनमाहुः पपुरिं जरित्रे ॥३॥

23.

Kathā́ mahā́m avṛidhat kásya hótur yajñám jushāṇó abhí sómam ū́dhaḥ | píbann uṣānó jushámāṇo ándho vavakshá ṛishváḥ ṣucaté dhánāya || 1 || kó asya vīráḥ sadhamā́dam āpa sám ānanṣa sumatíbhiḥ kó asya | kád asya citrám cikite kád ūtí vṛidhé bhuvac chaṣamānásya yájyoḥ || 2 || kathā́ ṣṛiṇoti hūyámānam índraḥ kathā́ ṣṛiṇvánn ávasām asya veda | kā́ asya pūrvī́r úpamātayo ha kathaínam āhuḥ pápuriṃ jaritré || 3 ||

कथा सबाधः शशमानो अस्य नशदभि द्रविणं दीध्यानः ।
देवो भुवन्नवेदा म ऋतानां नमो जगृभ्वाँ अभि यज्जुजोषत् ॥४॥
कथा कदस्या उषसो व्युष्टौ देवो मर्तस्य सख्यं जुजोष ।
कथा कदस्य सख्यं सखिभ्यो ये अस्मिन्कामं सुयुजं ततस्रे ॥५॥

kathā́ sabā́dhaḥ ṣaṣamānó asya náṣad abhí dráviṇam dī́dhyānaḥ | devó bhuvan návedā ma ṛitā́nām námo jagṛibhvā́ñ abhí yáj jújoshat || 4 || kathā́ kád asyā́ usháso vyùshṭau devó mártasya sakhyám jujosha | kathā́ kád asya sakhyáṃ sákhibhyo yé asmin kā́maṃ suyújaṃ tatasré || 5 ||

23

In what manner should the devotee extol the mighty resplendent Lord and the sacrifice of which worshipper is favoured by the Lord when propitiated? Rejoicing with our devotional emotions and accepting the homage of the devotee, the mighty Lord bestows brilliant prosperity. 1

Who is that hero, who has enjoyed His fellowship? Who has been a partner in His loving kindness? What do we know of His wondrous acts? How often does He come to enhance the prosperity of the dedicated worshipper? 2

How does the resplendent Lord listen to the invocations of the worshipper? And after hearing, how does He know what one needs for help? What have been His blessings to us since ever? Why is He called the fulfiller of the wishes of His devotee? 3

Is it that in spite of adverse and opposing circumstances, he who glorifies and takes delight in the worship of resplendent Lord, obtains rewards? May the divine Lord appreciate my truthful praises, having received the homage which He loves. 4

When and in what manner, at the break of this dawn, does the divine Lord accept the friendship of a mortal? When and in what manner is His friendship extended to the friends who love Him and entwine in Him their firm affection. 5

॥१०॥ किमाद॑म॒त्रं स॒ख्यं सखि॑भ्यः क॒दा नु ते॑ भ्रा॒त्रं प्र ब्र॑वाम ।
श्रि॒ये सु॒दृशो॒ वपु॑रस्य॒ सर्गाः॒ स्व१॒॑र्ण चि॒त्रत॑ममिष॒ आ गोः ॥६॥
द्रु॒हं जिघां॑सन्ध्व॒रस॑मनि॒न्द्रां तेति॑क्ते ति॒ग्मा तु॒जसे॒ अनी॑का ।
ऋ॒णा चि॒द्यत्र॑ ऋण॒या न॑ उ॒ग्रो दू॒रे अज्ञा॑ता उ॒षसो॑ बबा॒धे ॥७॥
ऋ॒तस्य॒ हि शु॒रुधः॒ सन्ति॑ पू॒र्वीरृ॒तस्य॑ धी॒तिर्वृ॑जि॒नानि॑ हन्ति ।
ऋ॒तस्य॒ श्लोको॑ बधि॒रा त॑तर्द॒ कर्णा॑ बुधा॒नः शु॒चमा॑न आ॒योः ॥८॥

kím ā́d ámatram sakhyám sákhibhyah kadā́ nú te bhrātrám prá bravāma | sriyé sudríso vápur asya sárgāh svàr ṇá citrátamam isha ā́ góḥ || 6 || drúham jíghāṅsan dhvarásam anindrā́m tétikte tigmā́ tujáse ánīkā | riṇā́ cid yátra riṇayā́ na ugró dūré ájñātā usháso babādhé || 7 || ritásya hí surúdhaḥ sánti pūrvī́r ritásya dhītír vrijināni hanti | ritásya slóko badhirā́ tatarda kárṇā budhānáḥ sucámāna āyóḥ || 8 ||

ऋ॒तस्य॑ दृ॒ळ्हा ध॒रुणा॑नि सन्ति पु॒रूणि॑ च॒न्द्रा वपु॑षे॒ वपूं॑षि ।
ऋ॒तेन॑ दी॒र्घमि॑षणन्त॒ पृक्ष॑ ऋ॒तेन॒ गाव॑ ऋ॒तमा वि॑वेशुः ॥९॥
ऋ॒तं येमा॑न ऋ॒तमिद्व॑नोत्यृ॒तस्य॒ शुष्म॑स्तुर॒या उ॑ ग॒व्युः ।
ऋ॒ताय॑ पृ॒थ्वी ब॑हु॒ले ग॑भी॒रे ऋ॒ताय॑ धे॒नू प॑र॒मे दु॑हाते ॥१०॥
नू ष्टु॒त इ॑न्द्र॒ नू गृ॑णा॒न इषं॑ जरि॒त्रे न॒द्यो॒३॒॑ न पीपेः॑ ।
अका॑रि ते हरिवो॒ ब्रह्म॒ नव्यं॑ धि॒या स्या॑म र॒थ्यः॑ सदा॒साः ॥११॥

ritásya drilhā́ dharúṇāni santi purūṇi candrā́ vápushe vápūṅshi | riténa dīrghám ishaṇanta príksha riténa gā́va ritám ā́ viveśuḥ || 9 || ritám yemāná ritám íd vanoty ritásya śúshmas turayā́ u gavyúḥ | ritáya prithví bahulé gabhīré ritáya dhenū́ paramé duhāte || 10 || nū́ shṭutá — || 11 ||

How and in what manner shall we proclaim your affection to your faithful devotees? When may we make known to every one your fraternal regards? The efforts of lustrous Lord are for the happiness of all. The astonishing glory of the Lord, as also of the sun, is manifest in His entire creation from earth (to the heavenly bodies). 6

Resolving to subdue the rebels and rivals, He sharpens His weapon to destroy them. The powerful Lord holds in abeyance for an indefinite period the payment of debts, till the approach of distant dawny mornings. 7

Multifold are the bounties of eternal law since ever. The real understanding of eternal law destroys all iniquities. The intelligent and glowing tribute of eternal law opens even the deaf ears of living beings. 8

Many are the stable, sustaining and delightful forms of the embodied eternal law. The expectant devotees obtain long lasting food through the eternal law. By eternal law our senses are led to eternal truth. 9

The worshipper, abiding by eternal truth, verily enjoys the fruits of truth. Swift moves the might of law and procures benefits. The law is supreme over the wide and profound, from the depth of earth to the vastness of heaven. The cow is milked for the sake of eternal truth. 10

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper, as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital glory, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, car-borne, be victors for ever. 11

(२४) चतुर्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-९, ११) प्रथमादिनवर्चामेकादश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् (१०) दशम्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥११॥ का सुष्टुतिः शवसः सूनुमिन्द्रमर्वाचीनं राधस आ ववर्तत् ।
ददिर्हि वीरो गृणते वसूनि स गोपतिर्निष्षिधां नो जनासः ॥१॥
स वृत्रहत्ये हव्यः स ईड्यः स सुष्टुत इन्द्रः सत्यराधाः ।
स यामन्ना मघवा मर्त्याय ब्रह्मण्यते सुष्वये वरिवो धात् ॥२॥
तमिन्नरो वि ह्वयन्ते समीके रिरिक्वांसस्तन्वः कृण्वत त्राम् ।
मिथो यत्त्यागमुभयासो अग्मन्नरस्तोकस्य तनयस्य सातौ ॥३॥

24.

Ká sushṭutíḥ ṣávasaḥ sūnúm índram arvācīnáṃ rádhasa á vavartat | dadír hí vīró griṇaté vásūni sá gópatir nishshídhāṃ no janāsaḥ || 1 || sá vritrahátye hávyaḥ sá íḍyaḥ sá súshṭuta índraḥ satyárādhāḥ | sá yắmann á maghávā mártyāya brahmaṇyaté súshvaye várivo dhāt || 2 || tám ín náro ví hvayante samīké ririkvánsas tanvàḥ krinvata trám | mithó yắt tyāgám ubháyāso ágman náras tokásya tánayasya sātaú || 3 ||

क्रतूयन्ति क्षितयो योग उग्राशुषाणासो मिथो अर्णसातौ ।
सं यद्विशोऽववृत्रन्त युध्मा आदिन्नेम इन्द्रयन्ते अभीके ॥४॥
आदिद्ध नेम इन्द्रियं यजन्त आदित्पक्तिः पुरोळाशं रिरिच्यात् ।
आदित्सोमो वि पपृच्यादसुष्वीनादिज्जुजोष वृषभं यजध्यै ॥५॥

kratūyánti kshitáyo yóga ugrāṣushāṇáso mithó árṇasātau | sáṃ yád viṣó 'vavritranta yudhmá ád ín néma indrayante abhíke || 4 || ád íd dha néma indriyáṃ yajanta ád ít paktíḥ puroḷáṣaṃ riricyāt | ád ít sómo ví papricyād ásushvīn ád íj jujosha vrishabháṃ yájadhyai || 5 ||

24

What worthy praise may win the favour of the resplendent Lord, the source of strength, so that He may give us riches. O men, He is the supreme hero and the Lord of wisdom. He takes away the benefits from adversaries to give them to those who glorify Him. 1

He, the resplendent Lord, is to be invoked for the destruction of the devil of ignorance. He is to be adored and worshipped. He is the donor of lasting riches. He, the bounteous Lord, gives wealth to the mortal, who offers Him sincere devotion and dedication. 2

Men verily call upon Him in the times of adversities. When the devotees, men and women both, accept Him as their sole preserver, and approach Him, the bountiful Lord, they are blessed with the gift of sons and grandsons. 3

O powerful Lord, men variously put forth their vigour, striving together in the whirl of conflicts. While struggling against each other, they call upon Him for help. 4

Thereupon the offerer verily worships the powerful resplendent Lord and prepares oblation, as if a buttered cake, to offer to Him. Thereupon, the reciter of the devotional prayers turns out the unbelievers. And finally they take delight in worshipping the Lord, showerer of benefits. 5

॥१२॥

कृणोत्यस्मै वरिवो य इत्थेन्द्राय सोममुशते सुनोति ।
सध्रीचीनेन मनसाविवेनं तमित्सखायं कृणुते समत्सु ॥६॥
य इन्द्राय सुनवत्सोममद्य पचात्पक्तीरुत भृज्जाति धानाः ।
प्रति मनायोरुचथानि हर्यन्तस्मिन्दधद्वृषणं शुष्ममिन्द्रः ॥७॥
यदा समर्यं व्यचेदृघावा दीर्घं यदाजिमभ्यख्यदर्यः ।
अचिक्रदद्वृषणं पत्न्यच्छा दुरोण आ निशितं सोमसुद्भिः ॥८॥

krinóty asmai várivo yá itthéndrāya sómam uṣaté sunóti | sadhrīcínena mánasávivenan tám ít sákhāyam krinute samátsu || 6 || yá índrāya sunávat sómam adyá pácāt paktír utá bhrijjáti dhānáḥ | práti manāyór ucáthāni háryan tásmin dadhad vríshaṇam súshmam índraḥ || 7 || yadá samaryám vy áced ríghāvā dīrghám yád ājím abhy ákhyad aryáḥ | ácikradad vríshaṇam pátny áchā duroṇá á níṣitam somasúdbhiḥ || 8 ||

भूयसा वस्नमचरत्कनीयोऽविक्रीतो अकानिषं पुनर्यन् ।
स भूयसा कनीयो नारिरेचीद्दीना दक्षा वि दुहन्ति प्र वाणम् ॥९॥
क इमं दशभिर्ममेन्द्रं क्रीणाति धेनुभिः ।
यदा वृत्राणि जङ्घनदथैनं मे पुनर्ददत् ॥१०॥
नू ष्टुत इन्द्र नू गृणान इषं जरित्रे नद्यो न पीपेः ।
अकारि ते हरिवो ब्रह्म नव्यं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥११॥

bhúyasā vasnám acarat kánīyo 'vikrīto akānisham púnar yán | sá bhúyasā kánīyo nárirecid dīná dákshā ví duhanti prá vāṇám || 9 || ká imám daşábhir mámendram krīṇāti dhenúbhiḥ | yadá vritrāṇi jáṅghanad áthainam me púnar dadat || 10 || ná shṭutá — || 11 ||

Resplendent Lord awards him with blessings, who emotionally worships Him. The Lord, moved by the devotion, makes the devotee an ally in his struggles of life. 6

To one who offers to the resplendent Lord his matured emotions and dedications, just as to a guest are offered refreshing drinks and rich cooked meals along with puffed corns, He, the Lord blesses him with vigour and fulfils his aspirations. 7

When the hero warrior of the cosmic world, destroyer of evils, marks out his opposing forces and when he describes his heroic actions done in the long range planned cosmic creation, the cosmic intelligence as a bride in her own dwelling, encouraged by the tributes offered by devotees, takes delight in the praises 8

A man bids small price (his material gains) for an article of great value (spiritual). Lord, the seller, speaks to the buyer: this is still unpurchased (and you can have it). But He insists to get full price of the article. The purchaser, however, does not raise the offer. The seller sticks to his demand, and the purchaser on to his offer: both look to their own interests whilst milking the udder. 9

Who can purchase the entire spirituality for the humble price of ten cows! When one has destroyed the devil of malice, through the borrowed spirituality, it has to be returned back to the resplendent Lord. 10

O lauded and glorified resplendent Lord, may you grant ample food to your worshipper, as rivers swell high and give water. O Lord of vital glory, we continue composing new hymns for you. May we, car-borne, be victors for ever. 11

(२५) पञ्चविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ को अद्य नर्यो देवकाम उशन्निन्द्रस्य सख्यं जुजोष ।
को वा महेऽवसे पार्याय समिद्धे अग्नौ सुतसोम ईट्टे ॥१॥
को नानाम वचसा सोम्याय मनायुर्वा भवति वस्त उस्राः ।
क इन्द्रस्य युज्यं कः सखित्वं को भ्रात्रं वष्टि कवये क ऊती ॥२॥

25.

Kó adyá náryo devákāma uṣánn índrasya sakhyám jujosha | kó vā mahé 'vase pā́ryāya sámiddhe agnaú sutásoma īṭṭe || 1 || kó nānāma vácasā somyā́ya manāyúr vā bhavati vásta usrā́ḥ | ká índrasya yújyam káḥ sakhitvám kó bhrātrám vashṭi kaváye ká ūtí || 2 ||

को देवानामवो अद्या वृणीते क आदित्याँ अदितिं ज्योतिरीट्टे ।
कस्याश्विनाविन्द्रो अग्निः सुतस्यांशोः पिबन्ति मनसाविवेनम् ॥३॥
तस्मा अग्निर्भारतः शर्म यंसज्ज्योक्पश्यात्सूर्यमुच्चरन्तम् ।
य इन्द्राय सुनवामेत्याह नरे नर्याय नृतमाय नृणाम् ॥४॥
न तं जिनन्ति बहवो न दभ्रा उर्वस्मा अदितिः शर्म यंसत् ।
प्रियः सुकृत्प्रिय इन्द्रे मनायुः प्रियः सुप्रावीः प्रियो अस्य सोमी ॥५॥

kó devā́nām ávo adyā́ vriṇīte ká ādityā́ñ áditim jyótir īṭṭe | kásyāṣvínāv índro agníḥ sutásyāṅsóḥ pibanti mánasā́vivenam || 3 || tásmā agnír bhā́rataḥ ṣárma yaṅsaj jyók paṣyāt sū́ryam uccárantam | yá índrāya sunávāméty ā́ha náre náryāya nrítamāya nriṇā́m || 4 || ná tám jinanti bahávo ná dabhrā́ urv àsmā áditiḥ ṣárma yaṅsat | priyáḥ sukrít priyá índre manāyúḥ priyáḥ suprāvíḥ priyó asya somí || 5 ||

25

Who is he, who, aspiring to be divine, yearns to enjoy the comradeship of resplendent Lord ? Or who with the extracted medicinal herbs and with enkindled fire (intense devotion and enthusiasm) adores Him to win His great and unbounded protection ? 1

Who has with prayer bowed to the Lord, the lover of devotion ? Who is earnestly devoted to Him ? Who is the admirer of the spiritual radiation emanating out of him ? Who seeks His communion ? His friendship ? His fraternity ? Who has recourse to the sage for help ? 2

Who solicits today the protection of Nature's bounties ? Who seeks eternity and the source of eternal light for spiritual enlightenment ? Propitiated by whose praise the pair of twin-divines—mental and spiritual faculties—the soul and the fire of vital forces, willingly accept the love of devotee ? 3

Whosoever says, "let us offer devotional love to the resplendent Lord, the guide of all ceremonies, the friend of man, the chief amongst leaders," to him the radiant, adorable Lord, the bearer of oblations, grants felicity, and he is blessed with long life to behold the rising sun. 4

Neither many collectively nor few individuals can overcome Him. The eternal Lord grants him infinite happiness. Dear to Him is one with noble acts and the one with noble thoughts and dear to Him is one who is particularly enlightened and the one completely dedicated to Him. 5

॥१४॥ सुप्राव्यः प्राशुषाळेष वीरः सुष्वेः पक्तिं कृणुते केवलेन्द्रः ।
नासुष्वेरापिर्न सखा न जामिर्दुष्प्राव्योऽवहन्तेदवाचः ॥६॥
न रेवता पणिना सख्यमिन्द्रोऽसुन्वता सुतपाः सं गृणीते ।
आस्य वेदः खिदति हन्ति नग्नं वि सुष्वये पक्तये केवलो भूत् ॥७॥
इन्द्रं परेऽवरे मध्यमास इन्द्रं यान्तोऽवसितास इन्द्रम् ।
इन्द्रं क्षियन्त उत युध्यमाना इन्द्रं नरो वाजयन्तो हवन्ते ॥८॥

suprāvyaḥ prāṣushā́ḷ eshá vīráḥ sushveḥ paktím kriṇute kévaléndraḥ | nā́sushver āpír ná sákhā ná jāmír dushprāvyò 'vahantéd avācaḥ || 6 || na revatā paṇinā sakhyám índró 'sunvatā sutapā́ḥ saṃ gṛiṇīte | ā́sya védaḥ khidáti hánti nagnáṃ ví súshvaye paktáve kévalo bhūt || 7 || índram páré 'vare madhyamā́sa índraṃ yānto 'vasitāsa índram | índraṃ kshiyánta utá yúdhyamānā índraṃ náro vājayánto havante || 8 ||

(२६) षड्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य गौतमो वामदेव इन्द्रो वा (४-७) चतुर्थ्यादिचतसृणाञ्च गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्येन्द्र आत्मा वा (४-७) चतुर्थ्यादिचतसृणाञ्च श्येनो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ अहं मनुरभवं सूर्यश्चाहं कक्षीवाँ ऋषिरस्मि विप्रः ।
अहं कुत्समार्जुनेयं न्यृञ्जेऽहं कविरुशना पश्यता मा ॥१॥

26

Ahám mánur abhavaṃ súryaș cāhám kakshívā̃ ríshir asmi vípraḥ | ahám kútsam ārjuneyáṃ ny ṛiñje 'háṃ kavír uṣánā páṣyatā mā || 1 ||

This almighty resplendent Lord, the prompt dispeller of darkness, accessible with sincere love, grants maturity to the zealous devotee. (On the contrary) He is neither a brother, nor a kinsman, nor a friend, nor a relation of him who offers no dedication. He is beyond access, and the punisher of him, who pays no tributes. 6

The resplendent Lord, the accepter of loving devotion, keeps no alliance with the one who, though wealthy, is a black marketeer and who shows no devotion. He forfeits his wealth and destroys him when destitute. He is particularly friendly to him, who offers devotion and homage. 7

The resplendent Lord is invoked by the most exalted, the Lord invoked by the most humble, the Lord invoked by the intermediate ones. The moving ones invoke Him and so the stationary. He is invoked by those staying at home, and by fighters in the field. 8

•

26

I, so speaks the Supreme Self, am the prime source of contemplation and divine light. I am the far-seeing sage and centre of cosmic orbit. I am the accomplisher of piercing intellect. I am the poet, the well-wisher of all; so may you all behold me. 1

अहं भूमिमददामार्यायाहं वृष्टिं दाशुषे मर्त्याय ।
अहमपो अनयं वावशाना मम देवासो अनु केतमायन् ॥२॥
अहं पुरो मन्दसानो व्यैरं नव साकं नवतीः शम्बरस्य ।
शततमं वेश्यं सर्वताता दिवोदासमतिथिग्वं यदावम् ॥३॥
प्र सु ष विभ्यो मरुतो विरस्तु प्र श्येनः श्येनेभ्य आशुपत्वा ।
अचक्रया यत्स्वधया सुपर्णो हव्यं भरन्मनवे देवजुष्टम् ॥४॥

aháṃ bhū́mim adadām ā́ryāyāháṃ vṛishṭíṃ dāṣúshe mártyāya | aháṃ apó anayaṃ vāvaṣānā́ máma devā́so ánu kétam āyan || 2 || aháṃ púro mandasānó vy aìraṃ náva sākáṃ navatīḥ ṣámbarasya | ṣatatamáṃ ve-ṣyàṃ sarvátātā dívodāsam atithigváṃ yád ā́vam || 3 || prá sú shá víbhyo maruto vír astu prá ṣyenáḥ ṣyenébhya āṣu-pátvā | acakráyā yát svadháyā suparṇó havyám bháran mánave devájushṭam || 4 ||

भरद्यदि विरतो वेविजानः पथोरुणा मनोजवा असर्जि ।
तूयं ययौ मधुना सोम्येनोत श्रवो विविदे श्येनो अत्र ॥५॥
ऋजीपी श्येनो ददमानो अंशुं परावतः शकुनो मन्द्रं मदम् ।
सोमं भरद्दादृहाणो देवावान्दिवो अमुष्मादुत्तरादादाय ॥६॥
आदाय श्येनो अभरत्सोमं सहस्रं सवाँ अयुतं च साकम् ।
अत्रा पुरंधिरजहादरातीर्मदे सोमस्य मूरा अमूरः ॥७॥

bhárad yádi vír áto vévijānaḥ pathórúṇā mánojavā asarji | tū́yaṃ yayau mádhunā somyé-notá ṣrávo vivide ṣyenó átra || 5 || ṛijīpí ṣyenó dádamāno aṅṣúm parāvátaḥ ṣakunó mandrám mádam | sómam bha-rad dādṛihāṇó devā́vān divó amúshmād úttarād ādā́ya || 6 || ādā́ya ṣyenó abharat sómaṃ sahásraṃ savā́ñ ayútaṃ ca sākám | átrā púraṃdhir ajahād árātīr máde sómasya mūrā́ ámūraḥ || 7 ||

I give the earth to the virtuous men. I shower rain for the benefit of dedicated mortals. I let forth the resonating waters. All Nature's bounties do move with my will. 2

In the perfection of bliss, I send forth showers of ninety and nine (unbound) blessings of rain clouds. I give all round shelter to the followers of path of light. I give hundredfold habitation to the reverential people. 3

This divine bird (the sun), O cosmic vital principles, is pre-eminent over other birds,—may this fleet-winged falcon be supreme of other falcons (ever-moving planets), since he with a wheelless car, strong-pinioned, brings godly bliss to mankind, which henceforth has been dear to Nature's bounties only. 4

When this divine bird (the sun) overpowering physical forces, carries off the divine bliss from here, it flies, swift as thought, along the vast path of the firmament ; it has flown rapidly with the sweet celestial elixir, and this falcon thence acquires glory in this world. 5

This straight-flying bird carries and brings the divine delightful elixir from afar. Having taken it from that lofty heaven, he brings this celestial blessing for humanity. 6

Having taken it, the bird brings the elixir with him to a thousand and ten-thousand sacred places of work and worship, and this being provided, the performer of many selfless deeds, the faultless Sun destroys all evil forces through the ecstasy of that divine elixir. 7

27

As I lay within the womb, I know all the births of these divinities in their order; a hundred fortresses of iron confine me, but as a falcon I come forth with rapid speed. 1

That embryo does not beguile me into perfect delight, and by the powerful vision of divine wisdom, I triumph over it. And being then the impeller of all, the sustainer of many, I destroy adversaries, and expanding, pass beyond the winds of worldly troubles. 2

When the divine falcon roars loudly with exultation, on his descent from celestial region, and the guardians of the elixir perceive that the elixir has been carried away by it, then the archer, pursuing with the speed of thought, and stringing his bow, let fly an arrow against it. 3

The straight-flying falcon carries off the vast and lofty heaven, as the pair of twin divines, carries off the rescuer from the region of Supreme Lord. Then a falling feather, from the body of the divine bird, drops from him, wounded in the conflict. 4

Now after damage, let the bounteous (bird, the soul) drink the pure, nutritious, sacrificial elixir, filled in a bright pitcher, full of divine knowledge and devotion, offered by the pious priests. May he, the hero, drink this sweet spiritual elixir, drink it for his spiritual bliss. 5

(२८) अष्टाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्र इन्द्रासोमौ वा देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ त्वा युजा तव तत्सोम सख्य इन्द्रो अपो मनवे सस्रुतस्कः ।
अहन्नहिमरिणात्सप्त सिन्धूनपावृणोदपिहितेव खानि ॥१॥
त्वा युजा नि खिदत्सूर्यस्येन्द्रश्चक्रं सहसा सद्य इन्दो ।
अधि ष्णुना बृहता वर्तमानं महो द्रुहो अप विश्वायु धायि ॥२॥
अहन्निन्द्रो अदहदग्निरिन्दो पुरा दस्यून्मध्यंदिनादभीके ।
दुर्गे दुरोणे क्रत्वा न यातां पुरू सहस्रा शर्वा नि बर्हीत् ॥३॥

28.

Tvā́ yujā́ táva tát soma sakhyá índro apó mánave sasrútas kaḥ | áhann áhim áriṇāt saptá síndhūn ápāvṛiṇod ápihiteva khā́ni || 1 || tvā́ yujā́ ní khidat sū́ryasyéndraş cakráṃ sáhasā sadyá indo | ádhi shṇúnā bṛihatā́ vártamānam mahó druhó ápa viṣvā́yu dhāyi || 2 || áhann índro ádahad agnír indo purā́ dásyūn madhyáṃdinad abhī́ke | durgé duroṇé krátvā ná yātā́m purū́ sahásrā ṣárvā ní barhīt || 3 ||

विश्वस्मात्सीमधमाँ इन्द्र दस्यून्विशो दासीरकृणोरप्रशस्ताः ।
अबाधेथाममृणतं नि शत्रूनविन्देथामपचितिं वधत्रैः ॥४॥
एवा सत्यं मघवाना युवं तदिन्द्रश्च सोमोर्वमश्व्यं गोः ।
आदर्दृतमपिहितान्यश्ना रिरिचथुः क्षाश्चित्ततृदाना ॥५॥

víṣvasmāt sīm adhamā́ñ indra dásyūn víṣo dā́sīr akṛiṇor apraṣastā́ḥ | ábādhethām ámṛiṇataṃ ní ṣátrūn ávindethām ápacitiṃ vádhatraiḥ || 4 || evā́ satyám maghavanā́ yuvám tad índraṣ ca somorvám áṣvyaṃ góḥ | ádardṛitam ápihitāny áṣnā riricáthuḥ kshā́ṣ cit tatṛidānā́ || 5 ||

28

Through that friendship, O blissful elixir, which unites you with your friend—inner self, he makes the thoughts flow for men; he destroys the devil of ignorance, and sends forth the faculties—seven senses. He opens the hidden divine wisdom. 1

With your alliance, O blissful, the soul quickly takes off by force the wheel of the chariot of the sun, the great oppressor, rolling far above in the high summit of the firmament. 2

The inner self destroys evils, O Lord of bliss, and divine fire consumes them before the noon worship. He casts down many a thousand fortresses of evils, usually difficult to be detected. 3

O resplendent self, you make these devils devoid of all benefits ; you subdue the tendencies of oppression. May you, O soul and Lord of bliss, repel and destroy animosities and accept our homage for this glorious fight. 4

O soul and Lord of bliss, possessor of wealth, destroyer of evils, it is indeed true that you burst open the doors of wisdom and vitality, which lie concealed, and you restore the land, recovered by your strength. 5

(२९) एकोनत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ।

॥१८॥ आ नः स्तुत उप वाजेभिरूती इन्द्र याहि हरिभिर्मन्दसानः ।
तिरश्चिदर्यः सवना पुरूण्याङ्गूषेभिर्गृणानः सत्यराधाः ॥१॥
आ हि ष्मा याति नर्यश्चिकित्वान्हूयमानः सोतृभिरुप यज्ञम् ।
स्वश्वो यो अभीरुर्मन्यमानः सुष्वाणेभिर्मदति सं ह वीरैः ॥२॥
श्रावयेदस्य कर्णा वाजयध्यै जुष्टामनु प्र दिशं मन्दयध्यै ।
उद्वावृषाणो राधसे तुविष्मान्करन्न इन्द्रः सुतीर्थाभयं च ॥३॥

29.

Ā́ na stutá úpa vā́jebhir ūtī́ índra yāhí háribhir mandasānáḥ | tirás cid aryáḥ sávanā purū́ṇy āñgūshébhir griṇānáḥ satyárādhāḥ || 1 || ā́ hí shma yāti náryaç cikitvā́n hūyámānaḥ sotṛíbhir úpa yajñam | svásvo yó ábhīrur mányamānaḥ sushvāṇébhir mádati sám ha vīraiḥ || 2 || srāvāyed asya kárṇā vājayádhyai júshṭām ánu pra díṣam mandayádhyai | udvāvṛishāṇó rádhase túvishmān káran na índraḥ sutīrthā́bhayaṃ ca || 3 ||

अच्छा यो गन्ता नाधमानमूती इत्था विप्रं हवमानं गृणन्तम् ।
उप त्मनि दधानो धुर्याशून्सहस्राणि शतानि वज्रबाहुः ॥४॥
त्वोतासो मघवन्निन्द्र विप्रा वयं ते स्याम सूरयो गृणन्तः ।
भेजानासो बृहद्दिवस्य राय आकाय्यस्य दावने पुरुक्षोः ॥५॥

ácha yó gántā nā́dhamānam ūtī́ itthā́ vípraṃ hávamānam griṇántam | úpa tmáni dádhāno dhury ā̀ṣū́n sahásrāṇi ṣatā́ni vájrabāhuḥ || 4 || tvótāso maghavann indra víprā vayáṃ te syāma sūráyo griṇántaḥ | bhejānā́so bṛiháddivasya rāyá ākāyyàsya dāvane purukshóḥ || 5 ||

29

Revered and lauded with sacred hymns, O resplendent Lord, most virtuous, and embodiment of truth, may you come with the speed of rays, through the ecstasy of your strength, to our places of work and worship, for our protection. 1

May He, the best friend of man, the omniscient, come to the place of worship, invoked by the singers of sacred hymns. He is possessed of vital energies, fearless, honoured by the seekers of spiritual joy. He rejoices the company of heroic forces. 2

May you make his ears listen, that he may be vigorous and show his delight from all sides. May He, the vigorous Lord, pouring forth his bounteous blessings, show us the right path and confer perfect safety, free from danger. 3

That resplendent Lord comes to His implorer, to the sage, who with his songs invites Him. He is armed with the bolt of punitive justice, and possesses hundreds and thousands of swift-going horse-like vital elements in the shafts of His divine chariot. 4

O [illegible] resplendent Lord, may we, the singers, the highly enlightened priests, protected by you, share the riches, sent from lofty heaven, which yield brilliant wealth and abundant food, cherished by all. 5

(३०) त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-२४) चतुर्विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः। (१-८, १२-२४) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां द्वादश्यादित्रयोदशानाञ्चेन्द्रः, (९-११) नवम्यादितृचस्य चेन्द्रोषसौ देवते। (१-७, ९-२३) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चां नवम्यादिपञ्चदशानाञ्च गायत्री, (८, २४) अष्टमीचतुर्विंश्योश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी॥

॥१९॥ नकिरिन्द्र त्वदुत्तरो न ज्यायाँ अस्ति वृत्रहन्। नकिरेवा यथा त्वम्॥१॥
सत्रा ते अनु कृष्टयो विश्वा चक्रेव वावृतुः। सत्रा महाँ असि श्रुतः॥२॥
विश्वे चनेदना त्वा देवास इन्द्र युयुधुः। यदहा नक्तमातिरः॥३॥
यत्रोत बाधितेभ्यश्चक्रं कुत्साय युध्यते। मुषाय इन्द्र सूर्यम्॥४॥
यत्र देवाँ ऋघायतो विश्वाँ अयुध्य एक इत्। त्वमिन्द्र वनूँरहन्॥५॥

30.

Nákir indra tvád úttaro ná jyā́yāñ asti vṛitrahan | ná-kir evā́ yáthā tvám || 1 || satrā́ te ánu krishṭáyo víṣvā ca-kréva vāvṛituḥ | satrā́ mahā́ñ asi ṣrutáḥ || 2 || víṣve canéd anā́ tvā devā́sa indra yuyudhuḥ | yad áhā náktam ā́tiraḥ || 3 || yátrotá bādhitébhyaṣ cakrám kútsāya yúdhyate | mu-shāyá indra sū́ryam || 4 || yátra devā́ñ ṛighāyató víṣvāñ áyudhya éka ít | tvám indra vanū́ñr áhan || 5 ||

॥२०॥ यत्रोत मर्त्याय कमरिणा इन्द्र सूर्यम्। प्रावः शचीभिरेतशम्॥६॥
किमादुतासि वृत्रहन्मघवन्मन्युमत्तमः। अत्राह दानुमातिरः॥७॥
एतद्घेदुत वीर्यमिन्द्र चकर्थ पौंस्यम्।
स्त्रियं यद्दुर्हणायुवं वधीर्दुहितरं दिवः॥८॥
दिवश्चिद्घा दुहितरं महान्महीयमानाम्। उषासमिन्द्र सं पिणक्॥९॥

yátrotá mártyāya kám áriṇā indra sū́ryam | prā́vaḥ ṣá-cībhir étaṣam || 6 || kím ā́d utā́si vṛitrahan mághavan man-yumáttamaḥ | átrā́ha dā́num ā́tiraḥ || 7 || etád ghéd utá vī-ryàm índra cakártha paúṅsyam | stríyam yád durhaṇāyú-vam vádhīr duhitáram diváḥ || 8 || diváṣ cid ghā duhitáram mahā́n mahīyámānām | ushā́sam indra sám piṇak || 9 ||

30

There is no one, O resplendent dispeller of darkness, superior to you; no one better than you; there is no one, verily, such as you are. 1

Verily, men are attached to you, as the wheels to the chariot. In truth, you are great and renowned. 2

Verily, all Nature's forces, associated with you to obtain strength, confront with evil forces, then you destroy the opposing forces by day and by night. 3

In that contest, for the sake of wise sage, and his allies, you raise the wheel of the sun—the source of divine illumination. 4

In that contest indeed you singly fight with all those opposing forces. You strike down the malignant. 5

In that contest, O Lord, you speedily send forth the force of the sun (light-divine) for the sake of a mortal, and protect the diligent and wise man, like a skilled horse, by your divine radiance. 6

O opulent Lord, destroyer of evils, do you not thereupon become most eager, and, in consequence, strike down the evil forces. 7

Inasmuch as O Lord, you display such manly prowess, you smite down such forces, who conceive ill, like the sun wiping off the dawn — the daughter of the sky. 8

O supreme mighty Lord, you wipe off the evil, as the sun wipes off the glorious dawn, the daughter of heaven, whilst lifting herself with pride. 9

अपोषा अनसः सरत्संपिष्टादह बिभ्युषी । नि यत्सीं शिश्नथद्वृषा ॥१०॥

áposhā́ ánasaḥ sarat sáṃpishṭād áha bibhyúshī | ní yát sīṃ śiśnáthad vṛ́ishā || 10 ||

॥२१॥ एतदस्या अनः शये सुसंपिष्टं विपाश्या । ससार सीं परावतः ॥११॥
उत सिन्धुं विबाल्यं वितस्थानामधि क्षमि । परि ष्ठा इन्द्र मायया ॥१२॥
उत शुष्णस्य धृष्णुया प्र मृक्षो अभि वेदनम् । पुरो यदस्य संपिणक् ॥१३॥
उत दासं कौलितरं बृहतः पर्वतादधि । अवाहन्निन्द्र शम्बरम् ॥१४॥
उत दासस्य वर्चिनः सहस्राणि शतावधीः । अधि पञ्च प्रधीँरिव ॥१५॥

etád asyā ánaḥ śaye súsampishṭaṃ vípāśy ā́ | sasā́ra sīṃ parā́vátaḥ || 11 || utá síndhuṃ vibālyàṃ vitasthānā́m ádhi kshámi | pári shṭhā indra māyáyā || 12 || utá śúshṇasya dhṛishṇuyā́ prá mṛiksho abhí védanam | púro yád asya sampiṇák || 13 || utá dāsáṃ kaulitarám bṛihatáḥ párvatād ádhi | ávāhann indra śámbaram || 14 || utá dāsásya varcínaḥ sahásrāṇi śatā́vadhīḥ | ádhi páñca pradhī́ṅr iva || 15 ||

॥२२॥ उत त्यं पुत्रमग्रुवः परावृक्तं शतक्रतुः । उक्थेष्विन्द्र आभजत् ॥१६॥
उत त्या तुर्वशायदू अस्नातारा शचीपतिः । इन्द्रो विद्वाँ अपारयत् ॥१७॥
उत त्या सद्य आर्या सरयोरिन्द्र पारतः । अर्णाचित्ररथावधीः ॥१८॥
अनु द्वा जहिता नयोऽन्धं श्रोणं च वृत्रहन् । न तत्ते सुम्नमष्टवे ॥१९॥

utá tyám putrám agrúvaḥ párāvṛiktaṃ śatákratuḥ | ukthéshv índra ábhajat || 16 || utá tyā́ turváśāyádū asnātā́rā śácīpátiḥ | índro vidvā́ñ apārayat || 17 || utá tyā́ sadyá ā́ryā saráyor indra pārátaḥ | árṇācitrárathāvadhīḥ || 18 || ánu dvā́ jahitā́ nayo 'ndháṃ śroṇáṃ ca vṛitrahan | ná tát te sumnám áshṭave || 19 ||

Like the terrified dawn, the evil force descends from the broken chariot of cosmos, when the showerer of benefits smash it. 10

Then her shattered chariot starts journey on unobstructed paths, and she flies far away. 11

You sustain over-flowing stream of rivers over the land by your contrivance. 12

Valiantly you seize and carry off the wealth of exploiter, amassed by him, and then demolish his strong-holds. 13

Like the sun, may you strike down the dark clouds of evils, the source of all sins, hurling them off from the lofty mountain. 14

You annihilate the hundred, thousand and the five followers of the powerful infidels surrounding him like the fellies round the spokes of the wheel. 15

O resplendent Lord, performer of hundred noble deeds, may you make the descendants of brave leader, participants in singing sacred hymns. 16

The Lord of deeds, the all-wise, bears the stout and hard-working persons, denied of sacred rituals, across their difficulties. 17

You destroy at once those two kinds of people of status who are either money hoarders or are the power-blinds, living across the borders. 18

O destroyer of evils, you restore the two—the blind and the crippled, both abandoned. What more happiness could they have than the one given by you ! 19

शतमश्मन्मयीनां पुरामिन्द्रो व्यास्यत् । दिवोदासाय दाशुषे ॥२०॥

ṣatám aṣmanmáyīnam purám índro vy àsyat | dívodāsāya dāṣúshe || 20 ||

॥२३॥ अस्वापयद्दभीतये सहस्रा त्रिंशतं हथैः । दासानामिन्द्रो मायया ॥२१॥
स घेदुतासि वृत्रहन्त्समान इन्द्र गोपतिः । यस्ता विश्वानि चिच्युषे ॥२२॥
उत नूनं यदिन्द्रियं करिष्या इन्द्र पौंस्यम् । अद्या नकिष्टदा मिनत् ॥२३॥
वामंवामं त आदुरे देवो ददात्वर्यमा ।
वामं पूषा वामं भगो वामं देवः करूळती ॥२४॥

ásvāpayad dabhítaye sahásrā triṅṣátaṃ háthaiḥ | dāsánām índro māyáyā || 21 || sá ghéd utási vṛitrahan samāná indra gópatiḥ | yás tá víṣvāni cicyushé || 22 || utá nūnáṃ yád indriyáṃ karishyá indra paúṅsyam | adyá nákish ṭád á minat || 23 || vāmáṃ-vāmaṃ ta ādure devó dadātv aryamá | vāmám pūshá vāmám bhágo vāmáṃ deváḥ kárūḷatī || 24 ||

(३१) एकत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-२, ४-१५) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थ्यादिद्वादशानाञ्च गायत्री, (३) तृतीयायाश्च पादनिचृच्छन्दसी ॥

॥२४॥ कया नश्चित्र आ भुवदूती सदावृधः सखा । कया शचिष्ठया वृता ॥१॥
कस्त्वा सत्यो मदानां मंहिष्ठो मत्सदन्धसः । दृळ्हा चिदारुजे वसु ॥२॥

31.

Káyā naṣ citrá á bhuvad ūtí sadávṛidhaḥ sákhā | káyā ṣácishṭhayā vṛitá || 1 || kás tvā satyó mádānām máṅhishṭho matsad ándhasaḥ | dṛiḷhá cid ārúje vásu || 2 ||

O resplendent Lord, you overthrow hundred stone-built cities for the benefit of a dedicated and loyal devotee. 20

The Lord put to sleep, by device and violent forces thirty thousand of law-breakers, for the sake of law and order. 21

O destroyer of evils, you are the same to all your worshippers. You are the Lord of wisdom, who cast down all adversaries. 22

Indeed, O Lord, when you are in the best of your vigour, none be there now to resist it. 23

O destroyer of evils, may the divine ordainer, grant us more and more of precious wealth. May the Lord nourisher grant us splendid wealth. May the gracious Lord and lover of craftsmen give all charming things to us. 24

31

By what means may He, who is ever augmenting, wonderful and friendly, come to us, and by what most effective contribution ? 1

What genuine and most earnest devotional offerings—like nourishing food, would inspirit you to win over evil thoughts and procure formidable treasures. 2

अभी षु णः सखीनामविता जरितॄणाम् । शतं भवास्यूतिभिः ॥३॥
अभी न आ ववृत्स्व चक्रं न वृत्तमर्वतः । नियुद्भिश्चर्षणीनाम् ॥४॥
प्रवता हि क्रतूनामा हा पदेव गच्छसि । अभक्षि सूर्ये सचा ॥५॥

abhí shú ṇaḥ sákhīnām avitá jaritṝṇā́m | ṣatám bhavāsy ūtíbhiḥ || 3 || abhí na á vavṛitsva cakrám ná vṛittám árvataḥ | niyúdbhiṣ carshaṇīnā́m || 4 || pravátā hí krátūnām á hā padéva gáchasi | ábhakshi sū́rye sácā || 5 ||

॥२५॥ सं यत्त इन्द्र मन्यवः सं चक्राणि दधन्विरे । अध त्वे अध सूर्ये ॥६॥
उत स्मा हि त्वामाहुरिन्मघवानं शचीपते । दातारमविदीधयुम् ॥७॥
उत स्मा सद्य इत्परि शशमानाय सुन्वते । पुरू चिन्मंहसे वसु ॥८॥
नहि ष्मा ते शतं चन राधो वरन्त आमुरः । न च्यौत्नानि करिष्यतः ॥९॥
अस्माँ अवन्तु ते शतमस्मान्त्सहस्रमूतयः । अस्मान्विश्वा अभिष्टयः ॥१०॥

sáṃ yát ta indra manyávaḥ sáṃ cakrā́ṇi dadhanviré | ádha tvé ádha sū́rye || 6 || utá sma hí tvā́m āhúr in maghávānaṃ ṣacīpate | dā́tāram ávidīdhayum || 7 || utá smā sadyá ít pári ṣaṣamānā́ya sunvaté | purū́ cin maṅhase vásu || 8 || nahí shmā te ṣatáṃ caná rā́dho váranta āmúraḥ | ná cyautnā́ni karishyatáḥ || 9 || asmā́ñ avantu te ṣatám asmā́n sahásram ūtáyaḥ | asmā́n víṣvā abhíshṭayaḥ || 10 ||

॥२६॥ अस्माँ इहा वृणीष्व सख्याय स्वस्तये । महो राये दिवित्मते ॥११॥
अस्माँ अविड्ढि विश्वहेन्द्र राया परीणसा । अस्मान्विश्वाभिरूतिभिः ॥१२॥ अस्मभ्यं ताँ अपा वृधि व्रजाँ अस्तेव गोमतः । नवाभिरिन्द्रोतिभिः ॥१३॥

asmā́ñ ihá vṛiṇīshva sakhyā́ya svastáye | mahó rāyé divítmate || 11 || asmā́ñ aviḍḍhi viṣváhéndra rāyā́ párīṇasā | asmā́n víṣvābhir ūtíbhiḥ || 12 || asmábhyaṃ tā́ñ ápā vṛidhi vrajā́ñ ásteva gómataḥ | návābhir indrotíbhiḥ || 13 ||

May you, the protector of us, your friends and admirers, come to us with a hundred protections. 3

Attracted by the praises of men, may you come speedily to us like a horse-driven, revolving wheel. 4

You swiftly come in a downward direction to sacred places of worship, as if to your own abode. I glorify you along with your divine refulgence. 5

Our adorations, and these sacred ceremonies when addressed to you, first proceed to you, and then to your effulgence. 6

O Lord of all holy acts, men call you bounteous, munificent, and free from all blemishes. 7

And verily, you give promptly abundant wealth to him, who praises you, and offers loving devotion. 8

Adversaries cannot deprive you of hundred-fold opulence, nor resist your great forces when you react. 9

May your hundred and thousand protections preserve us ; may all your desires be our blessings. 10

May you prefer to select us, on this occasion, for your friendship, and our prosperity and for great celestial opulence. 11

Favour us, O resplendent Lord, daily with infinite riches and protection and bless us with all. 12

With fresh protections, O Lord supreme, like an archer, open for us the doors of pastures with grazing cattles. 13

अस्माकं धृष्णुया रथो द्युमाँ इन्द्रानपच्युतः । गव्युरश्वयुरीयते ॥१४॥
अस्माकमुत्तमं कृधि श्रवो देवेषु सूर्य । वर्षिष्ठं द्यामिवोपरि ॥१५॥

asmákam dhrishṇuyá rátho dyumáñ indránapacyutaḥ | gavyúr aṣvayúr īyate || 14 || asmā́kam uttamáṃ kṛidhi ṣrávo devéshu sūrya | várshishṭhaṃ dyám ivopári || 15 ||

(३२) द्वात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–२४) चतुर्विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१–२२) प्रथमादिद्वाविंशत्यृचामिन्द्रः, (२३–२४) त्रयोविंशीचतुर्विंश्योश्चेन्द्रस्याश्वौ देवताः । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥ आ तू न इन्द्र वृत्रहन्नस्माकमर्धमा गहि । महान्महीभिरूतिभिः ॥१॥
भृमिश्चिद्घासि तूतुजिरा चित्र चित्रिणीष्वा । चित्रं कृणोष्यूतये ॥२॥
दभ्रेभिश्चिच्छशीयांसं हंसि व्राधन्तमोजसा । सखिभिर्ये त्वे सचा ॥३॥
वयमिन्द्र त्वे सचा वयं त्वाभि नोनुमः । अस्माँअस्माँ इदुदव ॥४॥
स नश्चित्राभिरद्रिवोऽनवद्याभिरूतिभिः । अनाधृष्टाभिरा गहि ॥५॥

32.

Ā tū́ na indra vṛitrahann asmā́kam ardhám ā́ gahi | mahā́n mahíbhir ūtíbhiḥ || 1 || bhṛ́imiṣ cid ghāsi tū́tujir ā́ citra citríṇīshv ā́ | citráṃ kṛiṇoshy ūtáye || 2 || dabhrébhiṣ cic chāṣīyā́ṅsaṃ háṅsi vrā́dhantam ójasā | sákhibhir yé tvé sácā || 3 || vayám indra tvé sácā vayáṃ tvābhí nonumaḥ | asmā́ñ-asmā́ñ íd úd ava || 4 || sá naṣ citrā́bhir adrivo 'navadyā́bhir ūtíbhiḥ | ánādhṛishṭābhir ā́ gahi || 5 ||

May our victory-chariot, the winner of cows and horses, brilliant and unfailing, O resplendent Lord, proceed everywhere unobstructed. 14

O Lord, may you make our fame exalted among the learned just as the sun places the rain—shedding celestial region over all the lower ones. 15

32

O mighty resplendent Lord, dispeller of darkness, may you come to help us with your mighty protections. 1

You the swift and ever moving, O marvellous Lord, amazing are your deeds, for the protection of those who are engaged in wondrous works. 2

You destroy, by your strength, the fierce and assailing evil forces to help faithful friends, howsoever humble. 3

O resplendent Lord, we are close friends to you, and glorify you with reverence. May you protect us from all sides. 4

O wielder of the punitive justice, may you come to us, with wondrous, irreproachable and irresistible protections. 5

॥२८॥ भूयामो षु त्वावतः सखाय इन्द्र गोमतः । युजो वाजाय घृष्वये ॥६॥
त्वं ह्येक ईशिष इन्द्र वाजस्य गोमतः । स नो यन्धि महीमिषम् ॥७॥
न त्वा वरन्ते अन्यथा यद्दित्ससि स्तुतो मघम् । स्तोतृभ्य इन्द्र गिर्वणः ॥८॥
अभि त्वा गोतमा गिरानूषत प्र दावने । इन्द्र वाजाय घृष्वये ॥९॥
प्र ते वोचाम वीर्या३ या मन्दसान आरुजः । पुरो दासीरभीत्य ॥१०॥

bhūyámo shú tvávataḥ sákhāya indra gómataḥ | yújo vájāya ghṛishvaye || 6 || tvám hy éka íṣisha índra vájasya gómataḥ | sá no yandhi mahī́m ísham || 7 || ná tvā varante anyáthā yád dítsasi stutó magháṃ | stotṛíbhya indra girvaṇaḥ || 8 || abhí tvā gótamā giránushata prá dāváne | índra vájāya ghṛíshvaye || 9 || prá te vocāma vīryā̀ yá mandasāná árujaḥ | púro dásīr abhítya || 10 ||

॥२९॥ ता ते गृणन्ति वेधसो यानि चकर्थ पौंस्या । सुतेष्विन्द्र गिर्वणः ॥११॥
अवीवृधन्त गोतमा इन्द्र त्वे स्तोमवाहसः । ऐषु धा वीरवद्यशः ॥१२॥
यच्चिद्धि शश्वतामसीन्द्र साधारणस्त्वम् । तं त्वा वयं हवामहे ॥१३॥
अर्वाचीनो वसो भवास्मे सु मत्स्वान्धसः । सोमानामिन्द्र सोमपाः ॥१४॥
अस्माकं त्वा मतीनामा स्तोम इन्द्र यच्छतु । अर्वागा वर्तया हरी ॥१५॥

tá te gṛiṇanti vedháso yáni cakártha paúṅsyā | sutéshv indra girvaṇaḥ || 11 || ávīvṛidhanta gótamā índra tvé stómavāhasaḥ | áishu dhā vīrávad yáṣaḥ || 12 || yác cid dhí ṣáṣvatām ásíndra sádhāraṇas tvám | táṃ tvā vayáṃ havāmahe || 13 || arvācīnó vaso bhavāsmé sú matsvándhasaḥ | sómānām indra somapāḥ || 14 || asmákaṃ tvā matīnám á stóma indra yachatu | arvág á vartayā hárī || 15 ||

May we be friends of one like you, O resplendent Lord, the possessor of wisdom, for the sake of abundant wealth and vigour. 6

O resplendent Lord, you alone are the master of our cattle and crop. May you grant us ample food. 7

You decide to bestow wealth to devotees, O resplendent Lord worthy of adoration; none can dare change you from your decision. 8

The most enlightened devotees glorify you with praise, that you may grant ample wealth and vigour. 9

We proclaim your prowess, whereby, through the ecstasy of joy, you proceed to attack the evil-minded and overpower their strong-holds. 10

O resplendent Lord, lauded by sacred hymns, the pious sages celebrate your heroic deeds, performed through the exhilaration of devotional love. 11

The most enlightened sages, offerers of praise, exalt you, O resplendent Lord! may you bestow upon them fame and posterity. 12

Verily your blessings are ever showered on all equally, and hence do we invoke you. 13

O resplendent Lord, the giver of all comforts, accepter of devotional love, be present with us, and be delighted by the sweet melodies of our prayers. 14

O resplendent Lord, may these praises, which we present to you bring you to us. May you turn both of your horses (of chariot) hitherward. 15

पुरोळाशं च नो घसो जोषयासे गिरश्च नः । वधूयुरिव योषणाम् ॥१६॥

purolá-
sam ca no gháso josháyāse gíraṣ ca naḥ | vadhūyúr iva
yóshaṇām || 16 ||

॥२०॥ सहस्रं व्यतीनां युक्तानामिन्द्रमीमहे । शतं सोमस्य खार्यः ॥१७॥
सहस्रा ते शता वयं गवामा च्यावयामसि । अस्मत्रा राध एतु ते ॥१८॥
दश ते कलशानां हिरण्यानामधीमहि । भूरिदा असि वृत्रहन् ॥१९॥
भूरिदा भूरि देहि नो मा दभ्रं भूर्या भर । भूरि घेदिन्द्र दित्ससि ॥२०॥
भूरिदा ह्यसि श्रुतः पुरुत्रा शूर वृत्रहन् । आ नो भजस्व राधसि ॥२१॥
प्र ते बभ्रू विचक्षण शंसामि गोषणो नपात् । माभ्यां गा अनु शिश्रथः ॥२२॥
कनीनकेव विद्रधे नवे द्रुपदे अर्भके । बभ्रू यामेषु शोभेते ॥२३॥
अरं म उस्रयाम्णेऽरमनुस्रयाम्णे । बभ्रू यामेष्वस्रिधा ॥२४॥

sahásram vyátīnām yuktánām índram īmahe | ṣatám só-masya khāryàḥ || 17 || sahásrā te ṣatá vayám gávām á cyāvayāmasi | asmatrá rádha etu te || 18 || dáṣa te kaláṣānām
híraṇyānām adhīmahi | bhūridá asi vṛitrahan || 19 || bhúridā bhúri dehi no má dabhrám bhúry á bhara | bhúri ghéd in-dra ditsasi || 20 || bhūridá hy ási ṣrutáḥ purutrá ṣūra vṛitrahan | á no bhajasva rádhasi || 21 || prá te babhrú vicakshaṇa ṣáṅsāmi goshaṇo napāt | mábhyām gá ánu ṣiṣrathaḥ || 22 || kanīnakéva vidradhé náve drupadé arbhaké |
babhrú yámeshu ṣobhete || 23 || áram ma usráyāmṇé 'ram
ánusrayāmṇe | babhrú yámeshv asrídhā || 24 ||

May you accept our offerings of butter and cakes and be delighted by our praises, as a libertine by the caresses of a woman. 16

We solicit resplendent Lord, for swift moving transport vehicles in response to our hundreds of devotional prayers. 17

We seek to bring down from you, thousands and hundreds of cattles. May your wealth flow to us freely. 18

May we obtain from you, ten pitchers of gold; for you, O dispeller of darkness, are a bountiful giver. 19

A bountiful giver you are, O resplendent Lord; may you give us bountifully, not little, give plenty; for verily you desire to give more and ever more. 20

O brave dispeller of darkness, verily you are renowned among many as a bountiful giver. Make us partner of your treasures. 21

O eternal omniscient protector and sustainer of wisdom, I praise the pair of your horse-like energies. May you not let our cow of mind be frightened with them. 22

Like two puppets, on an arranged new and slender stage, your two faculties—mental and vital—are brilliant at the cosmic sacrifice. 23

Blessed are your brown steeds when they move to the upper solstice, and blessed are they when move to the opposite one; they are innocuous at both the sacrifices. 24

(३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । ऋभवो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ प्र ऋभुभ्यो दूतमिव वाचमिष्य उपस्तिरे श्वैतरीं धेनुमीळे ।
ये वातजूतास्तरणिभिरेवैः परि द्यां सद्यो अपसो बभूवुः ॥१॥
यदारमक्रन्नृभवः पितृभ्यां परिविष्टी वेषणा दंसनाभिः ।
आदिद्देवानामुप सख्यमायन्धीरासः पुष्टिमवहन्मनायै ॥२॥
पुनर्ये चक्रुः पितरा युवाना सना यूपेव जरणा शयाना ।
ते वाजो विभ्वाँ ऋभुरिन्द्रवन्तो मधुप्सरसो नोऽवन्तु यज्ञम् ॥३॥

33.

Prá ribhúbhyo dūtám iva vā́cam ishya upastíre ṣvaíta-rīm dhenúm īḷe | yé vā́tajūtās taráṇibhir évaiḥ pári dyā́m sadyó apáso babhūvúḥ || 1 || yadā́ram ákrann ribhávaḥ pitṛíbhyām pariviṣhṭī́ veshánā daṅsánābhiḥ | ā́d íd devā́nām úpa sakhyám āyan dhī́rāsaḥ pushṭím avahan manā́yai || 2 || púnar yé cakrúḥ pitárā yúvānā sánā yū́peva jaraṇā́ sá-yānā | té vā́jo víbhvāñ ribhúr índravanto madhupsaraso no 'vantu yajñám || 3 ||

यत्संवत्समृभवो गामरक्षन्यत्संवत्समृभवो मा अपिंशन् ।
यत्संवत्समभरन्भासो अस्यास्ताभिः शमीभिरमृतत्वमाशुः ॥४॥
ज्येष्ठ आह चमसा द्वा करेति कनीयान्त्रीन्कृणवामेत्याह ।
कनिष्ठ आह चतुरस्करेति त्वष्ट ऋभवस्तत्पनयद्वचो वः ॥५॥

yát saṃvátsam ribhavo gām árakshan yát saṃvátsam ribhávo mā́ ápiṅṣan | yát saṃvátsam ábharan bhā́so asyā́s tā́bhiḥ ṣámībhir amṛitatvám āṣuḥ || 4 || jyeshṭhá āha camasā́ dvā́ karéti kánīyān trī́n kṛiṇavāmety āha | kanishṭhá āha catúras karéti tváshṭa ribhavas tát panayad váco vaḥ || 5 ||

33

I send my prayer as a messenger to the intellectuals; I solicit of them the words of sacred wisdom, the yielder of untinted truth. These words are swift as the wind, and the inspirers of noble deeds. These words of advice move freely across the dimension of space and time as if borne by rapid waves of the cosmic wind. 1

When the wise sages, by serving their parents with renovated youth, and by other works, achieve enough, they thereupon proceed to the society of the enlightened, and being friendly they bring nourishment to the devout worshipper. 2

May the physically, intellectually and spiritually advanced sages, always dedicated to resplendent Lord, and lovers of sweet spiritual joy, protect our noble deeds. These sages who render service to their decrepid and dropsy parents, who were laying like two dry posts, make them young again for ever. 3

When for a year, the wise sages preserve the barren land, for a year they invest it with fertility; for a year they continue effort to make it fertile; they obtain immortality by their noble deeds. 4

The eldest of the intellectuals said, "The universe is made of two hemispheres". The younger said, "There are three (the upper, the middle, the lower)." The youngest said, "It consists of four quadrants." The creator applauds this version. 5

॥२॥ सत्यमूचुर्नर एवा हि चक्रुरनु स्वधामृभवो जग्मुरेताम् ।
विभ्राजमानांश्चमसाँ अहेवावेनत्त्वष्टा चतुरो ददृश्वान् ॥६॥
द्वादश द्यून्यदगोह्यस्यातिथ्ये रणन्नृभवः ससन्तः ।
सुक्षेत्राकृण्वन्ननयन्त सिन्धून्धन्वातिष्ठन्नोषधीर्निम्नमापः ॥७॥
रथं ये चक्रुः सुवृतं नरेष्ठां ये धेनुं विश्वजुवं विश्वरूपाम् ।
त आ तक्षन्त्वृभवो रयिं नः स्ववसः स्वपसः सुहस्ताः ॥८॥
अपो ह्येषामजुषन्त देवा अभि क्रत्वा मनसा दीध्यानाः ।
वाजो देवानामभवत्सुकर्मेन्द्रस्य ऋभुक्षा वरुणस्य विभ्वा ॥९॥

satyám ūcur nára evā́ hí cakrúr ánu svadhā́m ṛibhávo jagmur etā́m | vibhrā́jamānāṅṣ camasā́ṅ áhevā́venat tváshṭā catúro dadṛisvā́n || 6 || dvā́daṣa dyū́n yád ágohyasyātithyé ráṇann ṛibhávaḥ sasántaḥ | sukshétrākṛiṇvann ánayanta sín-dhūn dhánvātishṭhann óshadhīr nimnám ā́paḥ || 7 || rátham yé cakrū́ḥ suvṛ́tam nareshṭhā́m yé dhenúm viṣvajúvam vi-ṣvárūpām | tá ā́ takshantv ṛibhávo rayím naḥ svávasaḥ svápasaḥ suhástāḥ || 8 || ápo hy èshām ájushanta devā́ abhí krátvā mánasā dī́dhyānāḥ | vā́jo devā́nām abhavat sukár-méndrasya ṛibhukshā́ váruṇasya víbhvā || 9 ||

ये हरी मेधयोक्था मदन्त इन्द्राय चक्रुः सुयुजा ये अश्वा ।
ते रायस्पोषं द्रविणान्यस्मे धत्त ऋभवः क्षेमयन्तो न मित्रम् ॥१०॥
इदाह्नः पीतिमुत वो मदं धुर्न ऋते श्रान्तस्य सख्याय देवाः ।
ते नूनमस्मे ऋभवो वसूनि तृतीये अस्मिन्त्सवने दधात ॥११॥

yé hárī me-dháyokthā́ mádanta índrāya cakrúḥ suyújā yé áṣvā | té rā-yás pósham dráviṇāny asmé dhattá ṛibhavaḥ kshemayánto ná mitrám || 10 || idā́hnaḥ pītím utá vo mádam dhur ná ṛité ṣrāntásya sakhyā́ya devā́ḥ | té nūnám asmé ṛibhavo vásūni tṛitíye asmín sávane dadhāta || 11 ||

The leaders of men speak truth, and so they classify the universe. Thereupon the intellectuals follow their inspired version. The supreme creator, beholding the quadrant classification, radiant as the day, expresses satisfaction. 6

When the intellectuals reposing for twelve days, remain in the close proximity of the unconcealable sun (the truth), they render the fields fertile. Let the rivers flow forth, let plants spring upon the hitherto barren land, and let waters spread over the low places. 7

These experienced intellectuals construct the firm abiding, wheel-conducting car; they rear many breads of milch-cow and are the bestowers of food, the doers of great deeds and dexterous. May they grant us riches. 8

The enlightened men are delighted by the work of sages. The mechanical technicians become favourite of the enlightened ones, electrical of the resplendent ones, and hydrodynamical of the venerable. 9

May these electrical technicians, deserving appreciation, who devise motors of vehicles, and construct for the resplendent the two docile engines (for roadways and waterways), bestow upon us satiety of riches and wealth of cattle, like those who devise prosperity for a friend. 10

The godly persons verily give you the exhilarating appreciation today. Not without toil, the divines get friendly with men. Therefore, O eminent sages, grant us wealth at this third term of worship. 11

(३४) चतुस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः। ऋभवो देवताः। त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः॥

॥३॥ ऋभुर्विभ्वा वाज इन्द्रो नो अच्छेमं यज्ञं रत्नधेयोप यात।
इदा हि वो धिषणा देव्यह्नामधात्पीतिं सं मदा अग्मता वः॥१॥
विदानासो जन्मनो वाजरत्ना उत ऋतुभिर्ऋभवो मादयध्वम्।
सं वो मदा अग्मत सं पुरंधिः सुवीरामस्मे रयिमेरयध्वम्॥२॥
अयं वो यज्ञ ऋभवोऽकारि यमा मनुष्वत्प्रदिवो दधिध्वे।
प्र वोऽच्छा जुजुषाणासो अस्थुरभूत विश्वे अग्रियोत वाजाः॥३॥

34.

Ribhúr víbhvā vā́ja índro no áchemáṃ yajñáṃ ratnadhéyópa yāta | idā́ hí vo dhishánā devy áhnām ádhāt pītíṃ sám mádā agmatā vaḥ || 1 || vidānā́so jánmano vājaratnā utá ṛitúbhir ṛibhavo mādayadhvam | sáṃ vo mádā ágmata sám púraṃdhiḥ suvī́rām asmé rayím érayadhvam || 2 || ayáṃ vo yajñá ṛibhavo 'kāri yám ā́ manushvát pradívo dadhidhvé | prá vó 'chā jujushāṇā́so asthur ábhūta víṣve agriyótá vājāḥ || 3 ||

अभूदु वो विधते रत्नधेयमिदा नरो दाशुषे मर्त्याय।
पिबत वाजा ऋभवो ददे वो महि तृतीयं सवनं मदाय॥४॥
आ वाजा यातोप न ऋभुक्षा महो नरो द्रविणसो गृणानाः।
आ वः पीतयोऽभिपित्वे अह्नामिमा अस्तं नवस्व इव ग्मन्॥५॥

ábhūd u vo vidhaté ratnadhéyam idā́ naro dāṣushe mártyāya | píbata vājā ṛibhavo dadé vo máhi tṛitī́yaṃ sávanam mádāya || 4 || ā́ vājā yātópa na ṛibhukshā mahó naro dráviṇaso gṛiṇānā́ḥ | ā́ vaḥ pītáyo 'bhipitvé áhnām imā́ ástaṃ navasvà iva gman || 5 ||

34

The illustrious technicians, electrical, hydrodynamical and physical, may grace our work and worship, to distribute precious things. These people of genius have toiled hard in their craft, the essence. Their exhilarating experience is collected for you all. 1

O brilliant sages of spiritual and physical realms, wise from the day of birth, may you rejoice together in appropriate seasons. The exhilarating appreciation is offered to you as well as the intellectual offerings. May you confer upon us riches with excellent posterity. 2

O spiritual leaders, this benevolent work is instituted for you. Being eminently resplendent, you have been doing it, like common men. These propitiatory offerings have been placed for you. O masters of physical realm, verily you are foremost leaders of the world. 3

Now, O leaders, this precious treasure is to be granted as gift to the dedicated mortal worshipper, who serves you. O leaders of physical and spiritual realms, this elixir is to gladden you in the third-afternoon—solemn ceremony. 4

O leaders of material and spiritual realm, come to us with the delight of accepting this rich and great offering. These sacred essences proceed to you, as the day is closing, as cows whose calves are newly born, return to their cow-shed. 5

॥४॥ आ नपातः शवसो यातनोपेमं यज्ञं नमसा हूयमानाः ।
सजोषसः सूरयो यस्य च स्थ मध्वः पात रत्नधा इन्द्रवन्तः ॥६॥
सजोषा इन्द्र वरुणेन सोमं सजोषाः पाहि गिर्वणो मरुद्भिः ।
अग्रेपाभिर्ऋतुपाभिः सजोषा ग्नास्पत्नीभी रत्नधाभिः सजोषाः ॥७॥
सजोषस आदित्यैर्मादयध्वं सजोषस ऋभवः पर्वतेभिः ।
सजोषसो दैव्येना सवित्रा सजोषसः सिन्धुभी रत्नधेभिः ॥८॥
ये अश्विना ये पितरा य ऊती धेनुं ततक्षुर्ऋभवो ये अश्वा ।
ये अंसत्रा य ऋधग्रोदसी ये विभ्वो नरः स्वपत्यानि चक्रुः ॥९॥

ā́ napātaḥ ṣavaso yātanópemáṃ yajñáṃ námasā hūyámānāḥ | sajóshasaḥ sūrayo yásya ca sthá mádhvaḥ pāta ratnadhā́ índravantaḥ || 6 || sajoshā indra váruṇena sómaṃ sajóshāḥ pāhi girvaṇo marúdbhiḥ | agrepábhir ṛitupábhiḥ sajóshā gnáspátnībhī ratnadhā́bhiḥ sajóshāḥ || 7 || sajóshasa ādityaír mādayadhvaṃ sajóshasa ṛibhavaḥ párvatebhiḥ | sajóshaso daívyenā savitrā́ sajóshasaḥ síndhubhī ratnadhébhiḥ || 8 || yé aṣvínā yé pitárā yá ūtī́ dhenúṃ tatakshúr ṛibhávo ye áṣvā | yé áṅsatrā yá ṛídhag ródasī yé víbhvo náraḥ svapatyáni cakrúḥ || 9 ||

ये गोमन्तं वाजवन्तं सुवीरं रयिं धत्थ वसुमन्तं पुरुक्षुम् ।
ते अग्रेपा ऋभवो मन्दसाना अस्मे धत्त ये च रातिं गृणन्ति ॥१०॥
नापाभूत न वोऽतीतृषामानिःशस्ता ऋभवो यज्ञे अस्मिन् ।
समिन्द्रेण मदथ सं मरुद्भिः सं राजभी रत्नधेयाय देवाः ॥११॥

yé gómantaṃ vā́javantaṃ suvī́raṃ rayíṃ dhatthá vásumantam purukshúm | té agrepā́ ṛibhavo mandasānā́ asmé dhatta yé ca rātíṃ gṛiṇánti || 10 || nā́pābhūta ná vo 'tītṛishāmánihṣastā ṛibhavo yajñé asmín | sám índreṇa mádatha sáṃ marúdbhiḥ sáṃ rā́jabhī ratnadhéyaya devāḥ || 11 ||

O source of strength, may you come to this worship, invoked with reverence. May you, associated with resplendent self, with whom you are wisely in full accord, drink this precious sweet essence. 6

O spiritual self, may you drink and relish the essence in the company of mental ego. O praised by hymns, drink it in company with vital elements. Drink it with love in company with the fore-most guardians at the ceremonies connected with the seasons. May you drink it in company with rich guardians of wives. 7

O leaders of spiritual realms, be exhilarated, in company with the enlightened, in company with public servants controlling hilly products, ecclesiastical duties, creative arts, river projects, and, mines and minerals. 8

Spiritual leaders, by your assistance, the physicians and surgeons have been able to treat the elders, as well as cattle and kine; and technicians have been able to fabricate motors, engines and armour, and have shown skill as ground and space engineers, they have been notable for their fruitful works. 9

The technicians and architects possess wealth, comprising cattle, food, progeny, dwellings, and abundant sustenance; may you, being the first drinkers of the sacred knowledge when exhilarated grant prosperity to those, who glorify your generosity. 10

O men of experience and wisdom; go not away, let us not leave you; may you be present unreproached at this worship; rejoice along with resplendent leader and with the brave warriors, and with other brilliant dignitories for the distribution of wealth. 11

(३५) पञ्चत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । ऋभवो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ इहोप यात शवसो नपातः सौधन्वना ऋभवो माप भूत ।
अस्मिन्हि वः सवने रत्नधेयं गमन्त्विन्द्रमनु वो मदासः ॥१॥
आगन्नृभूणामिह रत्नधेयमभूत्सोमस्य सुषुतस्य पीतिः ।
सुकृत्यया यत्स्वपस्यया चँ एकं विचक्र चमसं चतुर्धा ॥२॥

35.

Ihópa yāta ṣavaso napātaḥ saúdhanvanā ṛibhavo mápa bhūta | asmín hí vaḥ sávane ratnadhéyaṃ gámantv índram ánu vo mádāsaḥ || 1 || ágann ṛibhūṇáṃ ihá ratnadhéyam ábhūt sómasya súshutasya pītíḥ | sukṛityáyā yát svapasyáyā caṅ ékaṃ vicakrá camasáṃ caturdhá || 2 ||

व्यकृणोत चमसं चतुर्धा सखे वि शिक्षेत्यब्रवीत ।
अथैत वाजा अमृतस्य पन्थां गणं देवानामृभवः सुहस्ताः ॥३॥
किंमयः स्विच्चमस एष आस यं काव्येन चतुरो विचक्र ।
अथा सुनुध्वं सवनं मदाय पात ऋभवो मधुनः सोम्यस्य ॥४॥
शच्याकर्त पितरा युवाना शच्याकर्त चमसं देवपानम् ।
शच्या हरी धनुतरावतष्टेन्द्रवाहावृभवो वाजरत्नाः ॥५॥

vy àkṛiṇota camasáṃ caturdhá sákhe ví ṣikshéty abravīta | áthaita vājā amṛítasya pánthāṃ gaṇáṃ deváṇām ṛibhavaḥ suhastāḥ || 3 || kimmáyaḥ svic camasá eshá āsa yáṃ kávyena catúro vicakrá | áthā sunudhvaṃ sávanam mádāya pātá ṛibhavo mádhunaḥ somyásya || 4 || ṣácyākarta pitárā yúvānā ṣácyākarta camasáṃ devapánam | ṣácyā hárī dhánutarāv atashṭendraváhāv ṛibhavo vājaratnāḥ || 5 ||

35

O men of strength, not allowing themselves to decline, O expert in war-weapons, and persons of experience and wisdom, come to us, please stay not away. May these exhilarating gifts proceed first to the resplendent Lord and then to you, at this sacred ceremony. 1

May the munificence of the men of experience and wisdom come to us on this occasion; they have accepted our well-composed devotional prayers, and they have given to us by their dexterous and excellent work the concept of dividing the globe into four quadrants. (See hymn 33, verse 5). 2

You have outlined the details of dividing the globe into four quadrants and said, O friend, teach the same to others. O physically strong and spiritually elevated, deft-handed men of wisdom, may you accept the concept of four and act accordingly; and thereby attain the realm of immortal enlightened ones. 3

What sort of global ladle was that which by your art and wisdom, you have made four-fold? Now pour forth the elixir of knowledge for exhilaration and inspiration; and, O leaders of experience and wisdom, may this knowledge be for your relish and enjoyment. 4

By your marvellous thinking, you have made the old young; by your marvellous deeds, you have provided the ladle to enlightened ones for drinking. O jewels among men of physicial and spiritual strength: by your marvellous skill, may you fabricate fast moving transports and projects, and bring afflunce and fame. 5

॥६॥ यो वः सुनोत्यभिपित्वे अह्नां तीव्रं वाजासः सवनं मदाय ।
तस्मै रयिमृभवः सर्ववीरमा तक्षत वृषणो मन्दसानाः ॥६॥
प्रातः सुतमपिबो हर्यश्व माध्यन्दिनं सवनं केवलं ते ।
समृभुभिः पिबस्व रत्नधेभिः सखीँर्याँ इन्द्र चकृषे सुकृत्या ॥७॥
ये देवासो अभवता सुकृत्या श्येना इवेदधि दिवि निषेद ।
ते रत्नं धात शवसो नपातः सौधन्वना अभवतामृतासः ॥८॥
यत्तृतीयं सवनं रत्नधेयमकृणुध्वं स्वपस्या सुहस्ताः ।
तदृभवः परिषिक्तं व एतत्सं मदेभिरिन्द्रियेभिः पिबध्वम् ॥९॥

yó vaḥ sunóty abhipitvé áhnām tīvrám vājāsaḥ sávanam mádāya | tásmai rayím ṛibhavaḥ sárvavīram á́ takshata vṛishaṇo mandasānā́ḥ || 6 || prātáḥ sutám apibo haryaṣva mádhyaṃdinaṃ sávanaṃ kévalaṃ te | sám ṛibhúbhiḥ pibasva ratnadhébhiḥ sákhīñr yā́ñ indra cakṛishé sukṛityā́ || 7 || yé devā́so ábhavatā sukṛityā́ ṣyenā́ ivéd ádhi diví nishedá | té rátnaṃ dhāta ṣavaso napātaḥ saúdhanvanā ábhavatāmṛítāsaḥ || 8 || yát tṛitī́yaṃ sávanaṃ ratnadhéyam ákṛiṇudhvaṃ svapasyā́ suhastāḥ | tád ṛibhavaḥ párishiktaṃ va etát sám mádebhir indriyébhiḥ pibadhvam || 9 ||

(३६) षट्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । ऋभवो देवताः । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां जगती, (९) नवम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥७॥ अनश्वो जातो अनभीशुरुक्थ्यो३ रथस्त्रिचक्रः परि वर्तते रजः ।
महत्तद्वो देव्यस्य प्रवाचनं द्यामृभवः पृथिवीं यच्च पुष्यथ ॥१॥

36.

Anaṣvó jātó anabhīṣúr ukthyò ráthas tricakráḥ pári vartate rájaḥ | mahát tád vo devyàsya pravā́canaṃ dyā́m ṛibhavaḥ pṛithivī́ṃ yác ca púshyatha || 1 ||

O mighty leaders of physical and spiritual realm, exhilarated by devotional love, fabricate wealth, and bless him with brave posterity who, for your exultation, offers loving invocations at the close of day. 6

Accept, O resplendent Lord of fast-moving transports, the drinks offered of dawn. Yours and only yours are the noon-day libations. May you relish drinks with the wealth-bestowing men of experience and wisdom whom you have made your friend on their merits. 7

May you, the source of strength, who have gained divinity by good deeds, and soar aloft in the sky like falcons; bestow upon us riches. O accomplishers of the targets, you have become immortals. 8

O dexterous-handed, you have instituted, with best intentions the third evening ceremony, which is the bestower of wealth. This sweet drink is effused and blended for you; drink it with the sense of delight. 9

36

The glorious three-wheeled vehicle without the horse and without reins rolls round the firmament. Great has been that proclamation of your divine power, O men of experience and wisdom, that you control the roadways and space-crafts. 1

रथं ये चक्रुः सुवृतं सुचेतसोऽविह्वरन्तं मनसस्परि ध्यया ।
ताँ ऊ न्व१स्य सवनस्य पीतय आ वो वाजा ऋभवो वेदयामसि ॥२॥
तद्वो वाजा ऋभवः सुप्रवाचनं देवेषु विभ्वो अभवन्महित्वनम् ।
जिव्री यत्सन्ता पितरा सनाजुरा पुनर्युवाना चरथाय तक्षथ ॥३॥
एकं वि चक्र चमसं चतुर्वयं निश्चर्मणो गामरिणीत धीतिभिः ।
अथा देवेष्वमृतत्वमानश श्रुष्टी वाजा ऋभवस्तद्व उक्थ्यम् ॥४॥
ऋभुतो रयिः प्रथमश्रवस्तमो वाजश्रुतासो यमजीजनन्नरः ।
विभ्वतष्टो विदथेषु प्रवाच्यो यं देवासोऽवथा स विचर्षणिः ॥५॥ rátham yé ca-

krúḥ suvrítaṃ sucétasó 'vihvarantam mánasas pári dhyáyā |
tā́ñ ū nv àsyá sávanasya pītáya ā́ vo vājā ribhavo vedayāmasi || 2 || tád vo vājā ribhavaḥ supravācanáṃ devéshu
vibhvo abhavan mahitvanám | jívrī yát sántā pitárā sanājúrā púnar yúvānā caráthāya tákshatha || 3 || ékaṃ ví cakra camasám cáturvayaṃ níṣ cármaṇo gā́m ariṇīta dhītíbhiḥ |
áthā devéshv amṛitatvám ānaṣa ṣrushṭí vājā ribhavas tád va ukthyàm || 4 || ribhutó rayíḥ prathamáṣravastamo vā́jaṣrutāso yám ájījanan náraḥ | vibhvatashṭó vidátheshu pravā́cyo yáṃ devāsó 'vathā sá vícarshaṇiḥ || 5 ||

॥८॥ स वाज्यर्वा स ऋषिर्वचस्यया स शूरो अस्ता पृतनासु दुष्टरः ।
स रायस्पोषं स सुवीर्यं दधे यं वाजो विभ्वाँ ऋभवो यमाविषुः ॥६॥
श्रेष्ठं वः पेशो अधि धायि दर्शतं स्तोमो वाजा ऋभवस्तं जुजुष्टन ।
धीरासो हि ष्ठा कवयो विपश्चितस्तान्व एना ब्रह्मणा वेदयामसि ॥७॥

sá vājy árvā sá ríshir vacasyáyā sá ṣū́ro ástā prítanāsu dushṭáraḥ | sá rāyás pósham sá suvī́ryaṃ dadhe yáṃ vā́jo
víbhvāñ ribhávo yám ā́vishuḥ || 6 || ṣréshṭhaṃ vaḥ péṣo ádhi dhāyi darṣatáṃ stómo vājā ribhavas táṃ jujushṭana | dhī́rāso hí shṭhā́ kaváyo vipaṣcítas tā́n va enā́ bráhmaṇā́ vedayāmasi || 7 ||

We invoke respectfully these pioneers of roadways and space-crafts, to accept our reverential homage. O wise technicians, by your creative ability you design this never-erring, high rolling craft out of your genius workmanship. 2

O leaders of physical, mental and spiritual realms, you have been very well known among the learned, that you can make your aged infirm parents young, so that they are able to walk and work again. 3

You outline the details of the concept of dividing one globe into four quadrants, and by your toil and skill you change the barren crust of the earth to the fertile land, thereby quickly gaining immortal fame among the enlightened. Your great deeds, O leaders of physical, mental and spiritual realms, must be extolled. 4

The food and wealth which have been created by the combined efforts of the pioneers of technology of roadways, waterways and airways has to be appreciated and acknowledged at the public assemblies. 5

He becomes vigorous and skilled in war; he becomes a sage and eloquent, the brave and invincible in battles, and possessed of ample wealth, and he is blessed with excellent posterity; who has the patronage of experts in roadcraft, watercrafts and aircraft. 6

A dignified and highly important position is held by you, this we acknowledge. We know, you are master of wisdom, and therefore, O pioneers of roadways and aircraft, with his prayer, we call on you to come. 7

यूयमस्मभ्यं धिषणाभ्यस्परि विद्वांसो विश्वा नर्याणि भोजना ।
द्युमन्तं वाजं वृषशुष्ममुत्तममा नो रयिमृभवस्तक्षता वयः ॥८॥
इह प्रजामिह रयिं रराणा इह श्रवो वीरवत्तक्षता नः ।
येन वयं चितयेमात्यन्यान्तं वाजं चित्रमृभवो ददा नः ॥९॥

yūyám asmábhyam dhishánābhyas pári vidváṅso víṣvā náryāṇi bhójanā | dyumántaṃ vā́jaṃ vrísha-ṣushmam uttamám ā́ no rayím ṛibhavas takshatā́ váyaḥ || 8 || ihá prajā́m ihá rayíṃ rárāṇā ihá ṣrávo vīrávat takshatā naḥ | yéna vayáṃ citáyemā́ty anyā́n táṃ vā́jaṃ citrám ṛibhavo dadā naḥ || 9 ||

(३७) सप्तत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । ऋभवो देवताः । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां त्रिष्टुप्, (५-८) पञ्चम्यादिचतसृणाञ्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥९॥ उप नो वाजा अध्वरमृभुक्षा देवा यात पथिभिर्देवयानैः ।
यथा यज्ञं मनुषो विक्ष्वा३सु दधिध्वे रण्वाः सुदिनेष्वह्नाम् ॥१॥
ते वो हृदे मनसे सन्तु यज्ञा जुष्टासो अद्य घृतनिर्णिजो गुः ।
प्र वः सुतासो हरयन्त पूर्णाः क्रत्वे दक्षाय हर्षयन्त पीताः ॥२॥

37.

Úpa no vājā adhvarám ṛibhukshā dévā yātá pathíbhir devayā́naiḥ | yáthā yajñám mánusho vikshv ā̀sú dadhidhvé raṇvāḥ sudíneshv áhnām || 1 || té vo hṛidé mánase santu yajñā́ júshṭāso adyá ghṛitánirṇijo guḥ | prá vaḥ sutā́so harayanta pūrṇā́ḥ krátve dákshāya harshayanta pītā́ḥ || 2 ||

O enlightened pioneers of technology having full knowledge of all needs and comforts that are good for men, may you, according to our wishes, fashion powerful and splendid machines, of high standard. 8

Gratified by our worship, now help us to gain heroic progeny, wealth and reputation. Vouchsafe us wealth of splendid sort, O pioneers of crafts, that we may be more renowned than others. 9

37

O pioneers of roadcraft and aircraft, come to aid our benevolent deeds by paths meant for divinities. O gracious pioneers, maintain the tradition of work and worship among mankind for securing prosperity all the days. 1

May these offerings be appealing to your intellect and satisfying to your heart. May the sincere devotion, mixed with love, flow to you; abundant appreciation and rewards may bear you onward to power, and when imbibed, delight you. 2

त्र्युदायं देवहितं यथा वः स्तोमो वाजा ऋभुक्षणो दुदे वः ।
जुह्वे मनुष्वदुपरासु विक्षु युष्मे सचा बृहद्दिवेषु सोमम् ॥३॥
पीवोअश्वाः शुचद्रथा हि भूतायःशिप्रा वाजिनः सुनिष्काः ।
इन्द्रस्य सूनो शवसो नपातोऽनु वश्चेत्यग्रियं मदाय ॥४॥
ऋभुमृभुक्षणो रयिं वाजे वाजिन्तमं युजम् ।
इन्द्रस्वन्तं हवामहे सदासातममश्विनम् ॥५॥

tryudāyám deváhitaṃ yáthā va stómo vājā ṛibhukshaṇo dadé vaḥ | juhvé manushvád úparāsu vikshú yushmé sácā bṛiháddiveshu sómam || 3 || pívoaṣvāḥ ṣucádrathā hí bhūtā́yaḥṣiprā vājinaḥ sunishkā́ḥ | índrasya sūno ṣavaso napātó 'nu vaṣ cety agriyám madāya || 4 || ṛibhúm ṛibhukshaṇo rayíṃ vā́je vājíntamaṃ yújam | índrasvantaṃ havāmahe sadāsā́tamam aṣvínam || 5 ||

॥१०॥

सेदृभवो यमवथ यूयमिन्द्रश्च मर्त्यम् ।
स धीभिरस्तु सनिता मेधसाता सो अर्वता ॥६॥
वि नो वाजा ऋभुक्षणः पथश्चितन यष्टवे ।
अस्मभ्यं सूरयः स्तुता विश्वा आशास्तरीषणि ॥७॥
तं नो वाजा ऋभुक्षण इन्द्र नासत्या रयिम् । समश्वं चर्षणिभ्य आ पुरु शस्त मघत्तये ॥८॥

séd ṛibhavo yám ávatha yūyám índraṣ ca mártyam | sá dhībhír astu sánitā medhásātā só árvatā || 6 || ví no vājā ṛibhukshaṇaḥ patháṣ citana yáshṭave | asmabhyaṃ sūraya stutā́ víṣvā ā́ṣās tarīshā́ṇi || 7 || tā́ṃ no vājā ṛibhukshaṇa índra nā́satyā rayím | sám áṣvaṃ carshaṇíbhya ā́ purú ṣasta maghā́ttaye || 8 ||

O pioneers of roadways and aircraft, your threefold transport is meant for the welfare of the entire people, and hence the appreciation. Therefore, the affectionate honour is offered to you along with meritorious people of other fields, assembled at this solemn function. 3

O pioneers of roadways, possessed of treasures, you have come here on a strong transport, mounted on a brilliant carriage, and having the jaws of iron. O powerful sons of resplendent; grandsons of never-failing strength, this foremost function is organised for your felicitation. 4

O pioneers of aircrafts, we invoke you, the possessor of war vehicles, devised by you as a result of team-work, of a great utility in war time, fast moving, highly-priced, speedy and strong, complex in structure, and provided with sensitive and sensible components. 5

O pioneers of aircraft, may the person, whom you favour with your help be liberal by his acts and possessor of transport equipment, essential for public good. 6

O pioneers of the land and air transport, may you direct us on the way to the battlefield. O wise ones, being glorified by us, may you traverse all the quarters of space. 7

O pioneers of the land and air transport, ever truthful to resplendent leader of the nation, may you join us and lead with all your mobile transport for our prosperity. 8

(३८) अष्टात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो द्यावापृथिव्यौ, (२-१०) द्वितीयादिनवानाञ्च दधिक्रा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ उतो हि वां दात्रा सन्ति पूर्वा या पूरुभ्यस्त्रसदस्युर्नितोशे ।
क्षेत्रासां ददथुरुर्वरासां घनं दस्युभ्यो अभिभूतिमुग्रम् ॥१॥
उत वाजिनं पुरुनिष्षिध्वानं दधिक्रामु ददथुर्विश्वकृष्टिम् ।
ऋजिप्यं श्येनं प्रुषितप्सुमाशुं चर्कृत्यमर्यो नृपतिं न शूरम् ॥२॥
यं सीमनु प्रवतेव द्रवन्तं विश्वः पूरुर्मदति हर्षमाणः ।
पड्भिर्गृध्यन्तं मेधयुं न शूरं रथतुरं वातमिव ध्रजन्तम् ॥३॥

38.

Utó hí vāṃ dātrā́ sánti pū́rvā yā́ pūrúbhyas trasádasyur nitoṣé | kshetrāsā́ṃ dadathur urvarāsā́ṃ ghanáṃ dásyubhyo abhíbhūtim ugrám || 1 || utá vājínam purunishshídhvānaṃ dadhikrā́m u dadathur viṣvákṛishṭim | ṛijipyáṃ ṣyenáṃ prushitápsum āṣúṃ carkṛ́tyam aryó nṛipátiṃ ná ṣū́ram || 2 || yáṃ sīm ánu praváteva drávantaṃ víṣvaḥ pūrúr mádati hárshamāṇaḥ | paḍbhír gṛ́dhyantam medhayúṃ ná ṣū́raṃ rathatúraṃ vā́tam iva dhrájantam || 3 ||

यः स्मारुन्धानो गध्या समत्सु सनुतरश्चरति गोषु गच्छन् ।
आविर्ऋजीको विदथा निचिक्यत्तिरो अरतिं पर्याप आयोः ॥४॥
उत स्मैनं वस्त्रमथिं न तायुमनु क्रोशन्ति क्षितयो भरेषु ।
नीचायमानं जसुरिं न श्येनं श्रवश्चाच्छा पशुमच्च यूथम् ॥५॥

yáḥ smārundhānó gádhyā samátsu sánutaraṣ cárati góshu gáchan | āvír ṛijīko vidáthā nicíkyat tiró aratím páry ā́pa āyóḥ || 4 || utá smainaṃ vastramáthiṃ ná tāyúm ánu kroṣanti kshitáyo bháreshu | nīcā́yamānaṃ jásuriṃ ná ṣyenáṃ ṣrávaṣ cā́chā paṣumác ca yūthám || 5 ||

38

O pioneer of land and air transport, powerful and munificent, terror to the enemics, you have been bestowing such rewards from eraliest times, as belong to you only. You have given formidable and fierce weapons to the speedy vehicle for the destruction of infidels. 1

And you too give swift spacecraft, the repeller of rebels, the defender of all men, the straight-going like eagle, gracefully-moving, the resplendent, the rapid, the destroyer of enemies like a heroic prince. 2

All men praise this spacecraft which rushes everywhere, down a precipice, springs with his feet like a hero eager for war, and whirls like the car and flies like tempest. 3

The spacecraft gains precious gifts in the battles and rushes fast, passing through the regions, whose vigour is manifest in all directions ; and who undoubtedly as we know puts to shame the adversary of the pious man. 4

And men call for the spacecraft in battles, as they shout for thier carrying off a garment, or as a hungry falcon pounces upon his prey ; they call after him as if hastening to obtain food, or they loudly address while calling a herd of cattle. 5

॥१२॥ उत स्मासु प्रथमः सरिष्यन्नि वेवेति श्रेणिभी रथानाम् ।
स्रजं कृण्वानो जन्यो न शुभ्वा रेणुं रेरिहत्किरणं ददश्वान् ॥६॥
उत स्य वाजी सहुरिर्ऋतावा शुश्रूषमाणस्तन्वा समर्ये ।
तुरं यतीषु तुरयन्नृजिप्योऽधि भ्रुवोः किरते रेणुमृञ्जन् ॥७॥
उत स्मास्य तन्यतोरिव द्योर्ऋघायतो अभियुजो भयन्ते ।
यदा सहस्रमभि षीमयोधीद्दुर्वर्तुः स्मा भवति भीम ऋञ्जन् ॥८॥

utá smāsu prathamáḥ sarishyán ní veveti ṣréṇibhī ráthānām | srájam kriṇvānó jányo ná ṣúbhvā reṇúm rérihat kiráṇam dadaṣván || 6 || utá syá vājí sáhurir ritávā ṣúṣrūshamāṇas tanvà samaryé | túram yatíshu turáyann rijipyó 'dhi bhruvóḥ kirate reṇúm riñján || 7 | utá smāsya tanyatór iva dyór righāyató abhiyújo bhayante | yadá sahásram abhí shīm áyodhīd durvártuḥ smā bhavati bhīmá riñján || 8 ||

उत स्मास्य पनयन्ति जना जूतिं कृष्टिप्रो अभिभूतिमाशोः ।
उतैनमाहुः समिथे वियन्तः परा दधिक्रा असरत्सहस्रैः ॥९॥
आ दधिक्राः शवसा पञ्च कृष्टीः सूर्य इव ज्योतिषापस्ततान ।
सहस्रसाः शतसा वाज्यर्वा पृणक्तु मध्वा समिमा वचांसि ॥१०॥

utá smāsya panayanti jánā jūtím krishṭipró abhíbhūtim āṣóḥ | utaínam āhuḥ samithé viyántaḥ párā dadhikrá asarat sahásraiḥ || 9 || ā́ dadhikrā́ḥ ṣávasā páñca krishṭíḥ sū́rya iva jyótishāpás tatāna | sahasrasā́ḥ ṣatasā́ vājy árvā priṇáktu mádhvā sám imā́ vácāṅsi || 10 ||

And the space-craft, willing to come forth first amid these encounters, rushes in various directions with other rows of space chariots ; or like an elegant courser, friendly to man, decorated with a garland, raising the dust and champing the rein that holds him. 6

And it is a mighty space fighter, who keeps enduring in battle, bestowing food, and doing service with his limbs, rushing swiftly upon the quick-moving host of the enemy, going straight onward, and tossing up the dust, throws it above his brows. 7

And at its thunder, like the roar of heaven, the assailants tremble and get alarmed ; for when it fights against embattled thousands on every side, then, rousing his spirit, it is fearful and irresistible. 8

Men praise the overpowering rapidity of this spacecraft, the accomplisher of the aspirations of mankind. Soldiers going to battle, declare that the swift spacecraft has proceeded forward against adversaries laden with thousands of firing units. 9

This speedy spacecraft serves all the five classes of men with vigour, like the sun who shines with radiance over the sky. May it smite to pieces hundreds and thousands of foes, and lead us to sweet rewards. 10

(३९) एकोनचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । दधिक्रा देवता । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (६) षष्ठ्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१३॥ आशुं दधिक्रां तमु नु ष्टवाम दिवस्पृथिव्या उत चर्किराम ।
उच्छन्तीर्मामुषसः सूदयन्त्वति विश्वानि दुरितानि पर्षन् ॥१॥
महश्चर्कर्म्यर्वतः क्रतुप्रा दधिक्राव्णः पुरुवारस्य वृष्णः ।
यं पूरुभ्यो दीदिवांसं नाग्निं ददथुर्मित्रावरुणा ततुरिम् ॥२॥
यो अश्वस्य दधिक्राव्णो अकारीत्समिद्धे अग्ना उषसो व्युष्टौ ।
अनागसं तमदितिः कृणोतु स मित्रेण वरुणेना सजोषाः ॥३॥
दधिक्राव्ण इष ऊर्जो महो यदमन्महि मरुतां नाम भद्रम् ।
स्वस्तये वरुणं मित्रमग्निं हवामह इन्द्रं वज्रबाहुम् ॥४॥
इन्द्रमिवेदुभये वि ह्वयन्त उदीराणा यज्ञमुपप्रयन्तः ।
दधिक्रामु सूदनं मर्त्याय ददथुर्मित्रावरुणा नो अश्वम् ॥५॥
दधिक्राव्णो अकारिषं जिष्णोरश्वस्य वाजिनः ।
सुरभि नो मुखा करत्प्र ण आयूंषि तारिषत् ॥६॥

39.

Āṣúṃ dadhikrā́ṃ tám u nú shṭavāma divás prithivyā́ utá carkirāma | uchántīr mām ushásaḥ sūdayantv áti víṣvāni duritā́ni parshan || 1 || mahás carkarmy árvataḥ kratuprā́ dadhikrā́vṇaḥ puruvā́rasya vṛíshṇaḥ | yám pūrúbhyo dīdivā́ṅsaṃ nā́gníṃ dadáthur mitrāvaruṇā táturim || 2 || yó áṣvasya dadhikrā́vṇo ákārīt sámiddhe agnā́ usháso vyù-shṭau | ánāgasaṃ tám áditiḥ kriṇotu sá mitréṇa váruṇenā sajóshāḥ || 3 || dadhikrā́vṇa ishá ūrjó mahó yád ámanmahi marútāṃ nā́ma bhadrám | svastáye váruṇam mitrám agníṃ hávāmaha índraṃ vájrabāhum || 4 || índram ivéd ubháye vi hvayanta udírāṇā yajñám upaprayántaḥ | dadhikrā́m u sū́danam mártyāya dadā́thur mitrāvaruṇā no áṣvam || 5 || da-dhikrā́vṇo akārishaṃ jishṇór áṣvasya vājínaḥ | surabhí no múkhā karat prá ṇa ā́yūṅshi tārishat || 6 ||

39

Verily we praise that swift flying spacecraft, which scatters the enemies all around on the land in the space. May the ascending dawns inspire me to active work and bear me safely across evils and distresses. 1

I reiterate the admiration of this great spacecraft, the accomplisher of all my assignments, invigorater of my spirit, the liberal, which is lauded by all, and showerer of benefits. The experts of solar and hydroelectric powers have fabricated this fast moving craft, brilliant as fire, for all and sundry. 2

May the supreme authority in association with expert technologists of thermal and hydro-dynamic energy, render it flawless. He releaces this speedy craft for the fast flight at the break of dawn, when the sacred fire is kindled. 3

Whilst we glorify the auspicious name of this great spacecraft, along with vital principles, the givers of sustenance and strength, let us for our welfare invoke also the technologists of hydro-electricity, solar energy and fire, and the bearer of thunder-arms. 4

Those who prepare for battle, and those who proceed to worship, both invoke the spacecraft, as if he is the resplendent sun. The technical experts of water and electricity have given to us this spacecraft which inspires men to vigorous work. 5

I glorify the spacecraft which is rapid like victorious steed. May he give to our faces the fragrance of fame and longevity to our liver. 6

(४०) चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां दधिक्राः,
(५) पञ्चम्याश्च सूर्यो देवते । (१) प्रथमर्चस्त्रिष्टुप्, (२-५) द्वितीयादिचतसृणाञ्च
जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥१४॥ दधिक्राव्ण इदु नु चर्किराम विश्वा इन्मामुषसः सूदयन्तु ।
अपामग्नेरुषसः सूर्यस्य बृहस्पतेराङ्गिरसस्य जिष्णोः ॥१॥
सत्वा भरिषो गविषो दुवन्यसच्छ्रवस्यादिष उषसस्तुरण्यसत् ।
सत्यो द्रवो द्रवरः पतङ्गरो दधिक्रावेषमूर्जं स्वर्जनत् ॥२॥
उत स्मास्य द्रवतस्तुरण्यतः पर्णं न वेरनु वाति प्रगर्धिनः ।
श्येनस्येव ध्रजतो अङ्कसं परि दधिक्राव्णः सहोर्जा तरित्रतः ॥३॥

40.

Dadhikrā́vṇa íd u nú carkirāma víṣvā ín mā́m ushásaḥ sūdayantu | apā́m agnér ushásaḥ sū́ryasya bṛíhaspáter āṅgirasásya jishṇóḥ || 1 || sátvā bharishó gavishó duvanyasác chravasyā́d ishá ushásas turáṇyasát | satyó dravó dravaráḥ pataṃgaró dadhikrā́vésham ū́rjaṃ svàr janat || 2 || utá smāsya drávatas turaṇyatáḥ parṇáṃ ná vér ánu vāti pragardhínaḥ | ṣyenásyeva dhrájato aṅkasám pári dadhikrā́vṇaḥ sahórjā́ táritrataḥ || 3 ||

उत स्य वाजी क्षिपणिं तुरण्यति ग्रीवायां बद्धो अपिकक्ष आसनि ।
क्रतुं दधिक्रा अनु संतवीत्वत्पथामङ्कांस्यन्वापनीफणत् ॥४॥
हंसः शुचिषद्वसुरन्तरिक्षसद्धोता वेदिषदतिथिर्दुरोणसत् ।
नृषद्वरसदृतसद्व्योमसदब्जा गोजा ऋतजा अद्रिजा ऋतम् ॥५॥

utá syá vājī́ kshipaṇíṃ turaṇyati grīvā́yām baddhó apikakshá āsáni | krátuṃ dadhikrā́ ánu saṃtávītvat pathā́m áṅkāṅsy ánv āpánīphaṇat || 4 || haṅsaḥ ṣucishád vásur antarıkshasád dhótā vedishád átithir duroṇasát | nṛishád varasád ṛitasád vyomasád abjá gojá ṛitajá adrijá ṛitám || 5 ||

40

May be repeatedly recite the praise of spacecraft. May all rising dawns inspire me. May we honour the cosmic forces of water, fire, dawn, the sun, the large planet and invincible vital powers. 1

May the spacecraft, which is active, the cherisher, swift, giver of wisdom, needing service and ease, be willing to accept the sacrificial fuel at the break of dawn. May it which is true, the fleet, and moving with fire-flames, bring for us food, strength and happiness. 2

This spacecraft is quick-moving, hastening, eager to arrive at his goal, the transporter and is as swift as hawk. Eyes of men follow it as other birds pursue the flight of a swift bird. 3

And that speedy horse-like craft, bound by his neck, his flanks, and mouth, accelerates his paces for attack. The spacecraft lends new swiftness to his speed to perform his duty and following the windings of the air-routes goes with still greater speed. 4

This spacecraft goes according to schedule, and is bright like the sun in the high effulgent region, and is like a planet in the inter space, and is like an invoker priest of the ceremonial altar, and is like a guest at home. It is like a leader among men, and the dweller in the most excellent orb, balanced in space. It moves without impediment through the clouds, on the land, and amongst the mountains, always abiding by the code of instructions. 5

(४१) एकचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्रावरुणौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

इन्द्रा को वां वरुणा सुम्नमाप स्तोमो हविष्माँ अमृतो न होता ।
यो वां हृदि क्रतुमाँ अस्मदुक्तः पस्पर्शदिन्द्रावरुणा नमस्वान् ॥१॥
इन्द्रा ह यो वरुणा चक्र आपी देवौ मर्तः सख्याय प्रयस्वान् ।
स हन्ति वृत्रा समिथेषु शत्रूनवोभिर्वा महद्भिः स प्र शृण्वे ॥२॥
इन्द्रा ह रत्नं वरुणा धेष्ठेत्था नृभ्यः शशमानेभ्यस्ता ।
यदी सखाया सख्याय सोमैः सुतेभिः सुप्रयसा मादयैते ॥३॥

41.

Indrā kó vām varuṇā sumnám āpa stómo havíshmāñ amríto ná hótā | yó vām hridí krátumāñ asmád uktáḥ paspárṣad indrāvaruṇā námasvān || 1 || índrā ha yó váruṇā cakrá āpí devaú mártaḥ sakhyáya práyasvān | sá hanti vritrá samithéshu ṣátrūn ávobhir vā mahádbhiḥ sá prá ṣrinve || 2 || índrā ha rátnam váruṇā dhéshṭhetthā nríbhyaḥ ṣaṣamānébhyas tā | yádī sákhāyā sakhyáya sómaiḥ sutébhiḥ suprayásā mādáyaite || 3 ||

इन्द्रा युवं वरुणा दिद्युमस्मिन्नोजिष्ठमुग्रा नि वधिष्टं वज्रम् ।
यो नो दुरेवो वृकतिर्दभीतिस्तस्मिन्मिमाथामभिभूत्योजः ॥४॥
इन्द्रा युवं वरुणा भूतमस्या धियः प्रेतारा वृषभेव धेनोः ।
सा नो दुहीयद्यवसेव गत्वी सहस्रधारा पयसा मही गौः ॥५॥

índrā yuvám varuṇā didyúm asminn ójishṭham ugrā ní vadhishṭam vájram | yó no durévo vrikátir dabhítis tásmin mimāthām abhíbhūty ójaḥ || 4 || índrā yuvám varuṇā bhūtám asyá dhiyáḥ pretárā vrishabhéva dhenóḥ | sá no duhīyad yávaseva gatví sahásradhārā páyasā mahí gaúḥ || 5 ||

41

O soul and mind, which laudation of yours may bestow felicity on us, similar to the blessings procured by the immortal invoker by offering oblation during ceremoney. May that praise, which is addressed by us to you both, O soul and mind, sanctified by acts, and prompted by veneration, touch your hearts. 1

O divine soul and mind, the mortal, who is diligent in offering dedication, makes you his ally to gain your friendship, he dispels his own evils and destroys all adverse impulses in the struggle, and through your great favour, he becomes renowned. 2

When as friends, well-honoured with dedication, you are exhilarated by the devotional love expressed through friendship, O soul and mind, you become most liberal givers of treasures to men, who toil to serve you in various ways. 3

O mighty soul and mind, you hurl the strongest flashing bolt of adamantine will power against those adverse impulses, which are difficult to be resisted by us, which are rapacious and malevolent. May you measure on him your over-whelming vigour. 4

O soul and mind, be the inspirer of our faculties, as the bull is of the milch-cows; may they yield us milk, like a great cow, who pouring out her thousand channels of milk, goes forth to pastures. 5

॥१६॥ तोके हिते तनय उर्वरासु सूरो दृशीके वृषणश्च पौंस्ये ।
इन्द्रा नो अत्र वरुणा स्यातामवोभिर्दस्मा परितक्म्यायाम् ॥६॥
युवामिद्ध्यवसे पूर्व्याय परि प्रभूती गविषः स्वापी ।
वृणीमहे सख्याय प्रियाय शूरा मंहिष्ठा पितरेव शंभू ॥७॥
ता वां धियोऽवसे वाजयन्तीराजिं न जग्मुर्युवयूः सुदानू ।
श्रिये न गाव उप सोममस्थुरिन्द्रं गिरो वरुणं मे मनीषाः ॥८॥

toké hité tānaya urvárāsu sū́ro dṛíṣīke vṛíshaṇaṣ ca paúṅsye | índrā no átra váruṇā syātām ávobhir dasmā́ páritakmyāyām || 6 || yuvā́m íd dhy ávase pūrvyā́ya pári prábhūtī gavíshaḥ svāpī | vṛiṇīmáhe sakhyā́ya priyā́ya ṣū́rā máṅhishṭhā pitáreva ṣambhū́ || 7 || tā́ vām dhíyó 'vase vājayántīr ājíṃ ná jagmur yuvayū́ḥ sudānū | ṣriyé ná gā́va úpa sómam asthur índraṃ gíro váruṇam me manīshā́ḥ || 8 ||

इमा इन्द्रं वरुणं मे मनीषा अग्मन्नुप द्रविणमिच्छमानाः ।
उपेमस्थुर्जोष्टार इव वस्वो रघ्वीरिव श्रवसो भिक्षमाणाः ॥९॥
अश्व्यस्य त्मना रथ्यस्य पुष्टेर्नित्यस्य रायः पतयः स्याम ।
ता चक्राणा ऊतिभिर्नव्यसीभिरस्मत्रा रायो नियुतः सचन्ताम् ॥१०॥
आ नो बृहन्ता बृहतीभिरूती इन्द्र यातं वरुण वाजसातौ ।
यद्दिद्यवः पृतनासु प्रक्रीळान्तस्य वां स्याम सनितार आजेः ॥११॥

imā́ índraṃ várunam me manīshā́ ágmann úpa dráviṇam ichámānāḥ | úpem asthur joshṭā́ra iva vásvo raghvī́r iva ṣrávaso bhíkshamāṇāḥ || 9 || áṣvyasya tmánā ráthyasya pushṭér nítyasya rāyáḥ pátayaḥ syāma | tā́ cakrāṇā́ ūtíbhir návyasībhir asmatrā́ rā́yo niyútaḥ sacantām || 10 || ā́ no bṛihantā bṛihatíbhir ūtí índra yātáṃ varuṇa vā́jasātau | yád didyávaḥ pṛítanāsu prakrī́ḷān tásya vāṃ syāma sanitā́ra ājéḥ || 11 ||

May the soul and mind, the overthrowers of foes, be around us with their gracious favours, so that, thereby we may have worthy newly-born children and grown up sons, fertile lands, long life and steer-like virility. 6

Desirous of possessing wisdom, we have recourse to you, O soul and mind for full protection. O adorable heroes, you are powerful and kind as kinsmen. We solicit friendship and affection from you, parents, as if, to us, the givers of happiness. 7

O liberal givers, those praises, soliciting abundant food, have proceeded to both of you for the sake of your protection, as soldiers long for battle, and as the sense organs long for their satisfaction and pleasures. May in the same way, my heartfelt hymns approach soul and mind. 8

These my thoughts proceed to soul and mind, desirous of obtaining wisdom, as treasure-lovers approach rich, or as humble maidens of hermitage go to the opulent householders for the charity of food. 9

May we, of our own right, be the masters of horses, chariots, and other vehicles, and nourishing food and fuel, lasting for long duration. May these two, soul and mind, traversing their own regions, direct their mobile faculties towards us, associating them with ever new aids and protections. 10

O mighty soul and mind, come to us in struggle, with your powerful protections, and may we be triumphant in that inner conflict, through your favour, where the flashing arrows of passions are hurled over all around. 11

(४२) द्विचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य पौरुकुत्स्यस्त्रसदस्युर्ऋषिः । (१-६) प्रथमादिषड्टचामात्मा, (७-१०) सप्तम्यादिचतसृणाञ्चेन्द्रावरुणौ देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१.७॥ मम॑ द्वि॒ता रा॒ष्ट्रं क्ष॒त्रिय॑स्य वि॒श्वायो॒र्विश्वे॑ अ॒मृता॒ यथा॑ नः ।
क्रतुं॑ सचन्ते॒ वरु॑णस्य दे॒वा राजा॑मि कृ॒ष्टेरु॑प॒मस्य॑ व॒व्रेः ॥१॥
अ॒हं राजा॒ वरु॑णो॒ मह्यं॒ तान्य॑सु॒र्या॑णि प्रथ॒मा धा॑रयन्त ।
क्रतुं॑ सचन्ते॒ वरु॑णस्य दे॒वा राजा॑मि कृ॒ष्टेरु॑प॒मस्य॑ व॒व्रेः ॥२॥
अ॒हमिन्द्रो॒ वरु॑ण॒स्ते म॑हि॒त्वोर्वी ग॑भी॒रे रज॑सी सु॒मेके॑ ।
त्वष्टे॑व॒ विश्वा॒ भुव॑नानि वि॒द्वान्त्समै॑रयं॒ रोद॑सी धा॒रय॑ च ॥३॥

42.

Máma dvitā́ rāshṭrám̐ kshatríyasya viṣvā́yor víṣve amṛítā yáthā naḥ | krátum̐ sacante váruṇasya devā́ rā́jāmi kṛishṭér upamásya vavréḥ || 1 || ahám̐ rā́jā váruṇo máhyam̐ tā́ny asuryā̀ṇi prathamā́ dhārayanta | krátum̐ sacante — || 2 || ahám índro váruṇas té mahitvórví gabhīré rájasī suméke | tváshṭeva víṣvā bhúvanāni vidvā́n sám airayam̐ ródasī dhāráyam̐ ca || 3 ||

अ॒हम॒पो अ॑पिन्वमु॒क्षमा॑णा धा॒रय॒ं दि॒वं॒ सद॑न ऋ॒तस्य॑ ।
ऋ॒तेन॑ पु॒त्रो अदि॑तेर्ऋ॒ताव॒ोत त्रि॒धातु॑ प्रथय॒द्वि भूम॑ ॥४॥
मां नर॒ः स्वश्वा॑ वा॒जय॑न्तो॒ मां वृ॒ताः स॒मर॑णे हवन्ते ।
कृ॒णोम्या॒जिं म॒घवा॒हमिन्द्र॒ इय॑र्मि रे॒णुम॒भिभू॑त्योजाः ॥५॥

ahám apó apinvam ukshámāṇā dhārā́yam̐ dívam̐ sádana ṛitásya | ṛiténa putró áditer ṛitā́votá tridhā́tu prathayad ví bhū́ma || 4 || mā́m̐ náraḥ sváṣvā vājáyanto mā́m̐ vṛitā́ḥ samáraṇe havante | kṛiṇómy ājím maghávāhám índra íyarmi reṇúm abhíbhūtyojāḥ || 5 ||

42

All the immortals are mine and so are the people of defence and protection. Two-fold is my empire. The divine powers abide by the order of mine, the venerable Lord; I rule over man and his kith and kin. 1

I am the king, the most venerable. On me are bestowed those principal energies that are destructive of evil forces. The divine powers abide by the order of mine, the venerable Lord. I rule over man and his kith and kin. 2

I am resplendent, I am venerable, I am in my greatness, like the vast, profound, beautiful regions. Being all wise, like supreme architect, I animate all beings. I sustain earth and heaven. 3

I uphold the moisture-shedding cosmic ocean. I uphold the effulgent region in the abode of the eternal order. Being the preserver of eternity, I create the universe according to the eternal laws. And I spread abroad the world in threefold elementary space. 4

The well-equipped and zealous fighters invoke me. Being surrounded they call on me in the conflict and endowed with victorious prowess, I smite the evils into dust in the battle. 5

॥१८॥ अहं ता विश्वा चकरं नकिर्मा दैव्यं सहो वरते अप्रतीतम् ।
यन्मा सोमासो ममदन्यदुक्थोभे भयेते रजसी अपारे ॥६॥
विदुष्टे विश्वा भुवनानि तस्य ता प्र ब्रवीषि वरुणाय वेधः ।
त्वं वृत्राणि शृण्विषे जघन्वान्त्वं वृताँ अरिणा इन्द्र सिन्धून् ॥७॥
अस्माकमत्र पितरस्त आसन्त्सप्त ऋषयो दौर्गहे बध्यमाने ।
त आयजन्त त्रसदस्युमस्या इन्द्रं न वृत्रतुरमर्धदेवम् ॥८॥

ahám tá́ víṣvā cakaram nákir mā daívyam sáho varate ápratītam | yán mā sómāso mamádan yád ukthóbhé bhayete rájasī apāré || 6 || vidúsh ṭe víṣvā bhúvanāni tásya tá́ prá bravīshi váruṇāya vedhaḥ | tvám vṛitrá́ṇi ṣṛiṇvishe jaghanvā́n tvám vṛitā́ñ ariṇā indra síndhūn || 7 || asmā́kam átra pitáras tá āsan saptá ṛíshayo daurgahé badhyámāne | tá ā́yajanta trasádasyum asyā índram ná vṛitratúram ardhadevám || 8 ||

पुरुकुत्सानी हि वामदाशद्धव्येभिरिन्द्रावरुणा नमोभिः ।
अथा राजानं त्रसदस्युमस्या वृत्रहणं ददथुरर्धदेवम् ॥९॥
राया वयं ससवांसो मदेम हव्येन देवा यवसेन गावः ।
तां धेनुमिन्द्रावरुणा युवं नो विश्वाहा धत्तमनपस्फुरन्तीम् ॥१०॥

purukútsānī hí vām ádāṣad dhavyébhir indrāvaruṇā námobhiḥ | áthā rā́jānam trasádasyum asyā vṛitrahánam dadathur ardhadevám || 9 || rāyá́ vayám sasavā́ṅso madema havyéna devá́ yávasena gá́vaḥ | tá́m dhenúm indrāvaruṇā yuvám no viṣvā́hā dhattam ánapasphurantīm || 10 ||

I have done all these deeds; on one resists my divine, unsurpassed vigour. And when the devotional love and sacred songs of my worshippers exhilarate me, then the unbounded heaven and earth, both, are alarmed. 6

All beings recognize your deeds, O venerable Lord. O worshipper, address these sacred hymns to the venerable Lord. O resplendent Lord, you are renowned for destroying evils; you have set the obstructed rivers free to flow. 7

The seven-fold principles were the protectors of this king dom, when the sun was captive in deep dark clouds. They restore for her the queen, the earth and the sun, illuminator of half the earth, the terror to the dark forces. 8

The queen of virtues propitiated you two, the Lord of cosmic light and plasma with oblations and prostrations. They restore for her, the queen, the earth and the sun, the illuminator of half the earth. 9

May we, glorifying you both, be delighted by riches; may the divines be pleased by oblations and may the cows by pastures. May you, the Lord of cosmic light and plasma, daily grant us, the very same cow, free from any imperfection. 10

(४३) त्रिचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सौहोत्रौ पुरुमीळ्हाजमीळ्हावृषी । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१९॥ क उ श्रवत्कतमो यज्ञियानां वन्दारु देवः कतमो जुषाते ।
कस्येमां देवीममृतेषु प्रेष्ठां हृदि श्रेषाम सुष्टुतिं सुहव्याम् ॥१॥
को मृळाति कतम आगमिष्ठो देवानामु कतमः शंभविष्ठः ।
रथं कमाहुर्द्रवदश्वमाशुं यं सूर्यस्य दुहितावृणीत ॥२॥

43.

Ká u ṣravat katamó yajñíyānāṃ vandáru deváḥ katamó jushāte | kásyemáṃ devím amríteshu préshṭhāṃ hṛidí ṣreshāma sushṭutíṃ suhavyám || 1 || kó mṛiḷāti katamá ā́gamishtho devā́nām u katamáḥ ṣámbhavishṭhaḥ | rátham kám āhur dravádaṣvam āṣúṃ yáṃ sū́ryasya duhitā́vṛiṇīta || 2 ||

मक्षू हि ष्मा गच्छथ ईवतो द्यूनिन्द्रो न शक्तिं परितक्म्यायाम् ।
दिव आजाता दिव्या सुपर्णा कया शचीनां भवथः शचिष्ठा ॥३॥
का वां भूदुपमातिः कया न आश्विना गमथो हूयमाना ।
को वां महश्चित्त्यजसो अभीक उरुष्यतं माध्वी दस्रा न ऊती ॥४॥
उरु वां रथः परि नक्षति द्यामा यत्समुद्रादभि वर्तते वाम् ।
मध्वा माध्वी मधु वां प्रुषायन्यत्सीं वां पृक्षो भुरजन्त पक्वाः ॥५॥

makshū́ hí shmā gáchatha ī́vato dyū́n índro ná ṣaktím páritakmyāyām | divá ā́jātā divyá suparṇā́ káyā ṣácīnām bhavathaḥ ṣácishṭhā || 3 || kā́ vām bhūd úpamātiḥ káyā na ā́ṣvinā gamatho hūyámānā | kó vām mahás cit tyájaso abhī́ka urushyátam mādhvī dasrā na ūtī́ || 4 || urú vāṃ ráthaḥ pári nakshati dyā́m ā́ yát samudrā́d abhí vártate vām | mádhvā mādhvī mádhu vām prushāyan yát sīṃ vām príksho bhurájanta pakvā́ḥ || 5 ||

43

Which of these, who deserve honour will listen to our prayers? Which of all divine forces will response to our sacred prayers? On whose heart, dearest among the immortals, may we lay this celestial, splendid, dedicated, affectionate prayer? 1

Who will make us happy? Who will, among divine powers, come promptly to us? Who will bring real joy to us? What chariot do they say is quick and drawn by rapid steeds? Verily, that, which the daughter of the sun, the dawn, selects. 2

By moving, you proceed repidly by day and manifest your power just as the sun manifests its power at the end of night. You are, O twin-divines, descending from heaven, and possessing divine graceful motion. (May we know) by which of your functions, you are most distinguished. 3

O twin-divines, sweet-tempered and foe-destroyers, what could be the fit measure to match your merits? Invoked by what praises do you come to us? Who can bear the attack of your great wrath? O destroyers of evils, lovers of sweetness, may you defend us with your protective measures. 4

Your chariot travels in wide space and round the heaven, till it goes beyond the firmament. Singers of songs are adding sweet melodies to their words of devotional offerings, as if mixing boiled barley with other libations, and sweet herbal juices with milk. 5

सिन्धुर्ह वां रसया सिञ्चदश्वान्घृणा वयोऽरुषासः परि ग्मन् ।
तदू षु वामजिरं चेति यानं येन पती भवथः सूर्यायाः ॥६॥
इहेह यद्वां समना पपृक्षे सेयमस्मे सुमतिर्वाजरत्ना ।
उरुष्यतं जरितारं युवं ह श्रितः कामो नासत्या युवद्रिक् ॥७॥

síndhur ha vāṃ rasáyā siñcad áṣvān ghriṇā́ váyo 'rushā́saḥ pári gman | tád ū shú vām ajirā́ṃ ceti yā́naṃ yéna pátī bhávathaḥ sūryā́yāḥ || 6 || ihéha yád vāṃ samanā́ paprikshé séyám asmé sumatír vā-jaratnā | urushyátaṃ jaritā́raṃ yuvā́ṃ ha ṣritā́ḥ kā́mo nā-satya yuvadrík || 7 ||

(४४) चतुश्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सौहोत्रौ पुरुमीळ्हाजमीळ्हावृषी । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ तं वां रथं वयमद्या हुवेम पृथुज्रयमश्विना संगतिं गोः ।
यः सूर्यां वहति वन्धुरायुर्गिर्वाहसं पुरुतमं वसूयुम् ॥१॥
युवं श्रियमश्विना देवता तां दिवो नपाता वनथः शचीभिः ।
युवोर्वपुरभि पृक्षः सचन्ते वहन्ति यत्ककुहासो रथे वाम् ॥२॥
को वामद्या करते रातहव्य ऊतये वा सुतपेयाय वार्कैः ।
ऋतस्य वा वनुषे पूर्व्याय नमो येमानो अश्विना ववर्तत् ॥३॥

44.

Táṃ vāṃ ráthaṃ vayám adyā́ huvema prithujráyam aṣvinā sáṃgatiṃ góḥ | yáḥ sūryā́ṃ váhati vandhurāyúr gírvāhasam purutámaṃ vasūyúm || 1 || yuváṃ ṣríyam aṣvinā devátā tā́ṃ dívo napātā vanathaḥ ṣácībhiḥ | yuvór vápur abhí príkshaḥ sacante váhanti yát kakuhā́so ráthe vām || 2 || kó vām adyā́ karate rātáhavya ūtáye vā sutapéyāya vārkaíḥ | ritásya vā vanúshe pūrvyā́ya námo yemānó aṣvinā́ vavartat || 3 ||

The radiant rays carry over moisture from flowing waters, just as steeds moving across the river. The radiations pass on like birds, bright with lustre. Well known is that quick-moving chariot, whereby you become lords of the dawns. 6

O twin-divines, both of you are like-minded and rich in treasures. May our earnest praise offered to you be beneficial to us. May you protect your worshipper. O ever-true divines, my aspirations are directed towards you for gratification. 7

44

O twin-divines, today we invoke your rapid chariot, which is far-spreading and the associator of the solar rays. This well-tightened chariot, which is vast, rich in treasure, and laden with prai[illegible] bears the dawn. 1

O twin-divines, sustainers of heaven, you enjoy this glory by your might and power, and by the sacrificial food, which is offered to you; your stately horses (rays) draw you in your chariot. 2

Who is that offerer of oblations; that addresses you today with hymns, for the sake of obtaining protection, and for gaining spiritual joy, or for the eternal fulfilment of the aspiration of worship. Who is the offerer of adoration, that brings you, O twin-divines, to this place of worship. 3

हि॒र॒ण्यये॑न पुरुभू॒ रथे॑ने॒मं य॒ज्ञं ना॑स॒त्योप॑ यातम् ।
पिबा॑थ॒ इन्मधु॑नः सो॒म्यस्य॒ दध॑थो॒ रत्नं॑ विध॒ते जना॑य ॥४॥
आ नो॑ यातं दि॒वो अच्छा॑ पृथि॒व्या हि॑र॒ण्यये॑न सु॒वृता॒ रथे॑न ।
मा वा॑म॒न्ये नि य॑म॒न्देव॒यन्तः॒ सं यद्द॒दे नाभिः॑ पू॒र्व्या वा॑म् ॥५॥
नू नो॑ र॒यिं पु॑रु॒वीरं॑ बृ॒हन्तं॒ दस्रा॒ मिमा॑थामु॒भये॑ष्व॒स्मे ।
नरो॒ यद्वा॑मश्विना॒ स्तोम॒माव॑न्त्स॒धस्तु॑तिमाजमी॒ळ्हासो॑ अग्मन् ॥६॥
इ॒हेह॒ यद्वां॑ सम॒ना प॑पृ॒क्षे सेयम॒स्मे सु॑म॒तिर्वा॑जरत्ना ।
उ॒रु॒ष्यतं॑ जरि॒तारं॑ यु॒वं ह॑ श्रि॒तः कामो॑ नासत्या युव॒द्रिक् ॥७॥

hiranyáyena purubhū́ ráthenemáṃ yajñáṃ nāsatyópa yātam | píbātha ín mádhunaḥ somyásya dádhatho rátnaṃ vidhaté jánāya || 4 || ā́ no yātaṃ divó áchā prithivyā́ hiranyáyena suvṛítā ráthena | mā́ vām anyé ní yaman devayántaḥ sáṃ yád dadé nā́bhiḥ pūrvyā́ vām || 5 || nú no rayím puruvī́ram brihántam dásrā mímāthām ubháyeshv asmé | náro yád vām asvinā stómam ā́van sadhástutim ājamīḷhā́so agman || 6 || ihéha yád vāṃ — || 7 ||

(४५) पञ्चचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । (१-६) प्रथमादिषड्टचां जगती,
(७) सप्तम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ ए॒ष स्य भा॒नुरुदि॑यर्ति यु॒ज्यते॒ रथः॒ परि॑ज्मा दि॒वो अ॒स्य सान॑वि ।
पृ॒क्षासो॑ अस्मिन्मिथु॒ना अधि॒ त्रयो॒ दृति॑स्तु॒रीयो॒ मधु॑नो॒ वि र॑प्शते ॥१॥

45.

Eshá syá bhānúr úd iyarti yujyáte ráthaḥ párijmā divó asyá sánavi | prikshā́so asmin mithunā́ ádhi trayo drítis turíyo mádhuno ví rapṣate || 1 ||

O omnipresent, ever-true twin-divines, come with your golden chariot to this place of worship and participate in the sparkling glory of universe, and give precious treasures to the devotee, who adores you. 4

Come to us, whether from heaven or earth, with your well-constructed golden chariot. Let not other worshippers, aspiring to be divine, detain you. Because here you are bound by earlier bonds of friendship. 5

O destroyers of devils, may you grant us both great opulence, comprising many descendants, since the leaders of the worship have addressed many praises, and worshippers of eternal Lord have joined them in their laudations. 6

O twin-divines, both of you are like-minded and rich in treasures. May our earnest praise offered to you be beneficial to us. May you protect your worshipper. O ever-true divines, our aspirations are directed towards you for gratification. 7

45

Yonder goes up the sun, your chariot, O twin-divines, traversing the regions. It is associated with the divine orb on the summit of the heaven. Within it are the three analogous kinds of food: the wind, the electricity and the water; and the leather-like vessel of the sweet clouds rustling is the fourth one. 1

उद्वां पृक्षासो मधुमन्त ईरते रथा अश्वास उषसो व्युष्टिषु ।
अपोर्णुवन्तस्तम आ परीवृतं स्वर्ण शुक्रं तन्वन्त आ रजः ॥२॥
मध्वः पिबतं मधुपेभिरासभिरुत प्रियं मधुने युञ्जाथां रथम् ।
आ वर्तनिं मधुना जिन्वथस्पथो दृतिं वहेथे मधुमन्तमश्विना ॥३॥
हंसासो ये वां मधुमन्तो अस्रिधो हिरण्यपर्णा उहुव उषर्बुधः ।
उदप्रुतो मन्दिनो मन्दिनिस्पृशो मध्वो न मक्षः सवनानि गच्छथः ॥४॥

úd vām prikshā́so mádhumanta īrate ráthā á́svāsa usháso vyushṭishu | aporṇuvántas táma ā́ párīvritaṃ svàr ṇá ṣukráṃ tanvánta ā́ rájaḥ || 2 || mádhvaḥ pibataṃ madhupébhir āsábhir utá priyám mádhune yuñjathāṃ rátham | ā́ vartaním mádhunā jinvathas pathó dṛítiṃ vahethe mádhumantam aṣvinā || 3 || haṅsā́so yé vām mádhumanto asrídho híraṇyaparṇā uhúva usharbúdhaḥ | udaprúto mandíno mandinispṛíṣo mádhvo ná mákshaḥ sávanāni gachathaḥ || 4 ||

स्वध्वरासो मधुमन्तो अग्नय उस्रा जरन्ते प्रति वस्तोरश्विना ।
यन्निक्तहस्तस्तरणिर्विचक्षणः सोमं सुषाव मधुमन्तमद्रिभिः ॥५॥
आकेनिपासो अहभिर्दविध्वतः स्वर्ण शुक्रं तन्वन्त आ रजः ।
सूरश्चिदश्वान्युयुजान ईयते विश्वाँ अनु स्वधया चेतथस्पथः ॥६॥
प्र वामवोचमश्विना धियंधा रथः स्वश्वो अजरो यो अस्ति ।
येन सद्यः परि रजांसि याथो हविष्मन्तं तरणिं भोजमच्छ ॥७॥

svadhvarā́so mádhumanto agnáya usrā́ jarante práti vástor aṣvínā | yán niktáhastas taráṇir vicakshaṇáḥ sómaṃ susháva mádhumantam ádribhiḥ || 5 || ākenipā́so áhabhir dávidhvataḥ svàr ṇá ṣukráṃ tanvánta ā́ rájaḥ | sū́ras cid á́svān yuyujāná īyate víṣvāñ ánu svadháyā cetathas patháḥ || 6 || prá vām avocam aṣvinā dhiyaṃdhā́ ráthaḥ sváṣvo ajáro yó ásti | yéna sadyáḥ pári rájāṅsi yāthó havíshmantaṃ taráṇim bhojám ácha || 7 ||

Your food-bearing, cloud-laden, well-horsed chariots, appear at the flash of the dawn, scattering the surrounding gloom, like the sun, and spreading bright radiance over the firmament. 2

May you drink the heavenly sweet sap with lips accustomed to drink it; may you harness your beloved chariot for the sweet sap. May you come to the dwelling of the worshipper, and enliven the path with the sacred sap. May you bring, O twin-divines, the leather vessels, filled with the heavenly elixir. 3

May you come to our place of worship, as fleeing insects and birds to honey, with those waves that are swift of speed, gentle, persistent in action, golden-winged, bearers of burdens, early wakers at dawn, dispensers of water, exulting and sipping the heavenly elixir. 4

The foremost requisite of the holy rituals, the sacred fire, the acceptor of sweet libations, praises the associated twin-divines every day, when the prudent priest, the conductor of the ceremony, with clean hands expresses by grinding stones the sweet-flavoured juice of medicinal herbs. 5

The near-advancing rays, dispersing the darkness by the light of day, are over-spreading the firmament with lustre. The sun, harnessing as if the (horses) of his chariot, proceeds on his way. May you investigate the paths on which the sun traverses, offering food libations, as he moves. 6

Celebrating sacred rites, I glorify you, O twin-divines. Your undecaying chariot has excellent horses, wherewith you traverse swiftly through the regions of space. May you abounding in oblations promptly come to our place of worship, confering happiness. 7

(४६) षट्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो वायुः, (२-७) द्वितीयादिषण्णाञ्चेन्द्रवायू देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

२॥ अग्रं पिबा मधूनां सुतं वायो दिविष्टिषु । त्वं हि पूर्वपा असि ॥१॥
शतेना नो अभिष्टिभिर्नियुत्वाँ इन्द्रसारथिः । वायो सुतस्य तृम्पतम् ॥२॥
आ वां सहस्रं हरय इन्द्रवायू अभि प्रयः । वहन्तु सोमपीतये ॥३॥

46.

Ágram pibā mádhūnām sutám vāyo díviṣhṭishu | tvam hí pūrvapā́ ási || 1 || ṣaténa no abhíshṭibhir niyútvāñ índrasārathiḥ | vā́yo sutásya trimpatam || 2 || ā́ vām sahásram háraya índravāyū abhí práyaḥ | váhantu sómapītaye || 3 ||

रथं हिरण्यवन्धुरमिन्द्रवायू स्वध्वरम् । आ हि स्थाथो दिविस्पृशम् ॥४॥
रथेन पृथुपाजसा दाश्वांसमुप गच्छतम् । इन्द्रवायू इहा गतम् ॥५॥
इन्द्रवायू अयं सुतस्तं देवेभिः सजोषसा । पिबतं दाशुषो गृहे ॥६॥
इह प्रयाणमस्तु वामिन्द्रवायू विमोचनम् । इह वां सोमपीतये ॥७॥

rátham híraṇyavandhuram índravāyū svadhvarám | ā́ hí sthā́tho divispríṣam || 4 || ráthena prithupā́jasā dāṣvā́ṅsam úpa gachatam | índravāyū ihā́ gatam || 5 || índravāyū ayám sutás tám devébhiḥ sajóshasā | píbatam dāṣúsho grihé || 6 || ihá prayā́ṇam astu vām índravāyū vimócanam | ihá vām sómapītaye || 7 ||

46

Accept first, O vital breath, the presented offering of the devotional love, at worship that secures happiness, for, you verily are the first acceptor. 1

O vital breath, associated by the subsidiaries, the sense-organs and having the soul as the charioteer, come for the fulfilment of our numerous aspirations. May you and the soul enjoy the worldly pleasures. 2

O soul and vital breath, may the thousands steeds comprising sense perceptions, eager for sustenance bring you to relish exhilarating enjoyments. 3

O soul and vital breath, may you mount the golden-seated chariot, the body, that aids our worship, soaring high to the inner most bliss. 4

O soul and vital breath, while going to the liberal devotee, come here with your very strong chariot of the body. 5

O soul and vital breath, these devotional songs are recited for you. May you, associated with Nature's bounties relish it in the home of the liberal devotee. 6

O soul and vital breath, may hither be the course of your journey. May you let your sense-organs relax here for enjoying the heavenly bliss. 7

(४७) सप्तचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो वायुः, (२-४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य चेन्द्रवायू देवते । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥

वायो शुक्रो अयामि ते मध्वो अग्रं दिविष्टिषु ।
आ याहि सोमपीतये स्पार्हो देव नियुत्वता ॥१॥
इन्द्रश्च वायवेषां सोमानां पीतिमर्हथः ।
युवां हि यन्तीन्दवो निम्नमापो न सध्र्यक् ॥२॥
वायविन्द्रश्च शुष्मिणा सरथं शवसस्पती ।
नियुत्वन्ता न ऊतय आ यातं सोमपीतये ॥३॥
या वां सन्ति पुरुस्पृहो नियुतो दाशुषे नरा ।
अस्मे ता यज्ञवाहसेन्द्रवायू नि यच्छतम् ॥४॥

47.

Vā́yo ṣukró ayāmi te mádhvo ágram dívishṭishu | ā́ yāhi sómapītaye spārhó deva niyútvatā || 1 || índraṣ ca vāyav eshām sómānām pītím arhathaḥ | yuvā́m hí yántíndavo nimnám ā́po ná sadhryàk || 2 || vā́yav índraṣ ca ṣushmíṇā sarátham ṣavasas patī | niyútvantā na ūtáya ā́ yātam sómapītaye || 3 || yā́ vām sánti puruspṛ́ho niyúto dāṣúshe narā asmé tā́ yajñavāhaséndravāyū ní yachatam || 4 ||

(४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । वायुर्देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥

विहि होत्रा अवीता विपो न रायो अर्यः ।
वायवा चन्द्रेण रथेन याहि सुतस्य पीतये ॥१॥

48.

Vihí hótrā ávītā vípo ná rā́yo aryáḥ | vā́yav ā́ candréṇa ráthena yāhí sutásya pītáye || 1 ||

47

O vital breath, purified by holy acts, I bring to you the loving devotion, offered first to you at all worships. O ever-loved divine, come with your susidiaries, the sense perceptions, to enjoy the exhilarating experiences. 1

O soul and vital breath, both of you deserve to relish the devotional elixir. Our devotion flows towards you as drops of water gather to move towards lower levels. 2

O soul and vital breath, lords of strength, vigorous, and drawn by the subsidiaries, the sense-perceptions, may both of you come riding in the same vehicle to accept devotional love for our protection. 3

Leaders of ceremonies, conveyors of sacred homage, O soul and vital breath, may you grant to the dedicated devotees the reputed sense-enjoying faculties, which are blessed by you. 4

48

O vital breath, come like an army chief, the terrifier of evil force. May you enrich the worshipper and come with your refulgent car to enjoy exhilarating experiences. 1

निर्युवाणो अशस्तीर्नियुत्वाँ इन्द्रसारथिः ।
वायवा चन्द्रेण रथेन याहि सुतस्य पीतये ॥२॥
अनु कृष्णे वसुधिती येमाते विश्वपेशसा ।
वायवा चन्द्रेण रथेन याहि सुतस्य पीतये ॥३॥
वहन्तु त्वा मनोयुजो युक्तासो नवतिर्नव ।
वायवा चन्द्रेण रथेन याहि सुतस्य पीतये ॥४॥
वायो शतं हरीणां युवस्व पोष्याणाम् ।
उत वा ते सहस्रिणो रथ आ यातु पाजसा ॥५॥

niryuvāṇó áṣastīr niyútvāñ índrasārathiḥ | vā́yav — || 2 || ánu krishṇé vásudhitī yemáte viṣvápeṣasā | vā́yav — || 3 || váhantu tvā manoyújo yuktā́so navatír náva | vā́yav — || 4 || vā́yo ṣatám hárīṇām yuvásva póshyāṇām | utá vā te sahasríṇo rátha ā́ yātu pā́jasā || 5 ||

(४९) एकोनपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्वस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । इन्द्राबृहस्पती देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ इदं वामास्ये हविः प्रियमिन्द्राबृहस्पती । उक्थं मदश्च शस्यते ॥१॥
अयं वां परि षिच्यते सोम इन्द्राबृहस्पती । चारुर्मदाय पीतये ॥२॥
आ न इन्द्राबृहस्पती गृहमिन्द्रश्च गच्छतम् । सोमपा सोमपीतये ॥३॥

49.

Idáṃ vām āsyè havíḥ priyám indrābrihaspatī | ukthám mádaṣ ca ṣasyate || 1 || ayáṃ vām pári shicyate sóma indrābrihaspatī | cā́rur mádāya pītáye || 2 || ā́ na indrābrihaspatī griháṃ índraṣ ca gachatam | somapā́ sómapītaye || 3 ||

O vital breath, the represser of calumnies, drawn by the subsidiaries, the sense perceptions, and having the soul as your charioteer, come with your refulgent car to enjoy exhilarating experiences. 2

The two attractive sources of sustenance, the universal forms (heaven and earth) wait upon you; come, O vital breath, with your refulgent car to enjoy exhilarating experiences. 3

May the ninety-nine energies, harnessed together, swift as mind, convey you. Come, O vital breath, with your brilliant sense-perceptions to enjoy exhilarating experiences. 4

Harness, O vital breath, one hundred vital energies, or even a thousand, and let your chariot come with rapidity hither. 5

49

O resplendent self and the super-dominating wisdom, I, the ego, present a morsel of melodies into your mouth and offer loving devotion to your heart. 1

This sweet sacred hymn has been expressed, O resplendent self and supreme wisdom, for you for acceptance and exhilaration. 2

O resplendent self and supreme wisdom, relishers of divine pleasure, come to our dwelling (inner cavity) and accept our loving devotion. 3

अस्मे इन्द्राबृहस्पती रयिं धत्तं शतग्विनम् । अश्वावन्तं सहस्रिणम् ॥४॥
इन्द्राबृहस्पती वयं सुते गीर्भिर्हवामहे । अस्य सोमस्य पीतये ॥५॥
सोममिन्द्राबृहस्पती पिबतं दाशुषो गृहे । मादयेथां तदोकसा ॥६॥

asmé indrābrihaspatī rayím dhattam satagvínam | ásvāvantam sahasrínam || 4 || índrābríhaspátī vayám suté gīrbhír havāmahe | asyá sómasya pītáye || 5 || sómam indrābrihaspatī píbatam dāsúsho grihé | mādáyethām tádokasā || 6 ||

(५०) पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः। (१-९) प्रथमादिनवर्चां बृहस्पतिः, (१०-११) दशम्येकादश्योश्चेन्द्राबृहस्पती देवते। (१-९, ११) प्रथमादिनवर्चामेकादश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१०) दशम्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥२६॥ यस्तस्तम्भ सहसा वि ज्मो अन्तान्बृहस्पतिस्त्रिषधस्थो रवेण ।
तं प्रत्नास ऋषयो दीध्यानाः पुरो विप्रा दधिरे मन्द्रजिह्वम् ॥१॥
धुनेतयः सुप्रकेतं मदन्तो बृहस्पते अभि ये नस्ततस्रे ।
पृषन्तं सृप्रमदब्धमूर्वं बृहस्पते रक्षतादस्य योनिम् ॥२॥

50.

Yás tastámbha sáhasā vi jmó ántān bríhaspátis trishadhasthó rávena | tám pratnása ríshayo dídhyānāh puró víprā dadhire mandrájihvam || 1 || dhunétayah supraketám mádanto bríhaspate abhí yé nas tatasré | príshantam sriprám ádabdham ūrvám bríhaspate rákshatād asya yónim || 2 ||

Grant us, O resplendent self and supreme wisdom hundreds of cows (thoughts) and thousands of horses (vital activity). 4

O resplendent self and supreme wisdom, we invoke you with praises to share the effused sap of devotion and enjoy the drink. 5

Cherish, O resplendent self and supreme wisdom, cherish the loving devotion, in the apartment of the donor, and be exhilarated in his abode. 6

50

Amongst the very very old heavenly bodies, stars, planets, the most prominent is the lord of the vast universe (the sun, of the physical region), who has pleasing tongue of flames, who sustains the ends of the earth by his might, and who abides with sovereignity in the three regions of the universe. 1

O Lord of vast universe (universal Lord of spiritual region), may you protect the fruit-yielding, progressive, invincible, great sacred works of your such worshippers, as gladden you by their work, and who are possessed of great wisdom, and glorify you. May you make their adversaries tremble. 2

बृहस्पते या परमा परावदत आ त ऋतस्पृशो नि षेदुः ।
तुभ्यं खाता अवता अद्रिदुग्धा मध्वः श्चोतन्त्यभितो विरप्शम् ॥३॥
बृहस्पतिः प्रथमं जायमानो महो ज्योतिषः परमे व्योमन् ।
सप्तास्यस्तुविजातो रवेण वि सप्तरश्मिरधमत्तमांसि ॥४॥
स सुष्टुभा स ऋक्वता गणेन वलं रुरोज फलिगं रवेण ।
बृहस्पतिरुस्रिया हव्यसूदः कनिक्रदद्वावशतीरुदाजत् ॥५॥

bṛíhaspate yā́ paramā́ parāvád áta ā́ ta ṛitaspṛíso ní sheduḥ | túbhyaṃ khātā́ avatā́ ádridugdhā mádhva ṣcotanty abhíto virapṣám || 3 || bṛíhaspátiḥ prathamáṃ jā́yamāno mahó jyótishaḥ paramé vyòman | saptā́syas tuvijātó rávena ví saptáraṣmir adhamat támāṅsi || 4 || sá sushṭúbhā sá ṛíkvatā gaṇéna valáṃ ruroja phaligáṃ rávena | bṛíhaspátir usríyā havyasū́daḥ kánikradad vā́vaṣatīr úd ājat || 5 ||

॥२७॥

एवा पित्रे विश्वदेवाय वृष्णे यज्ञैर्विधेम नमसा हविर्भिः ।
बृहस्पते सुप्रजा वीरवन्तो वयं स्याम पतयो रयीणाम् ॥६॥
स इद्राजा प्रतिजन्यानि विश्वा शुष्मेण तस्थावभि वीर्येण ।
बृहस्पतिं यः सुभृतं बिभर्ति वल्गूयति वन्दते पूर्वभाजम् ॥७॥
स इत्क्षेति सुधित ओकसि स्वे तस्मा इळा पिन्वते विश्वदानीम् ।
तस्मै विशः स्वयमेवा नमन्ते यस्मिन्ब्रह्मा राजनि पूर्व एति ॥८॥

evā́ pitré viṣvádevāya vṛíshṇe yajñaír vidhema námasā havírbhiḥ | bṛíhaspate suprajā́ vīrávanto vayáṃ syāma pátayo rayīṇā́m || 6 || sá íd rā́jā prátijanyāni víṣvā ṣúshmeṇa tasthāv abhí vīryèṇa | bṛíhaspátiṃ yáḥ súbhṛitam bibhárti valgūyáti vándate pūrvabhā́jam || 7 || sá ít ksheti súdhita ókasi své tásmā íḷā pinvate viṣvadā́nīm | tásmai víṣaḥ svayám evá namante yásmin brahmā́ rā́jani pū́rva éti || 8 ||

O sun, lord of vast universe, these vital rays of yours, coming from a distant region, exist in the eternal order. May these rays relish the exhilarating moisture of all that is on this earth, just as the worshipper enjoys the herbal juice, pressed by the sounding stones during the ceremony and flowing copiously, as if from a deep well. 3

O sun, lord of vast universe, you first appear in the highest region of supreme light with your seven-fold mouth and with noise of thunder ; with seven rays, you blow and disperse the darkness. 4

Aided by the reputed and brilliant troop of the devout sages, he destroys with super-sound the crooked pollution. Then the sun, the lord of vast universe, the bestower of food with super-sound, sets free his rays for the growth of harvest, that supplies the material of oblations. 5

Thus may we offer worship with praises and dedication and with oblation to the paternal universal Lord, the showerer of benefits, and may we, O Lord of Universe, be blessed with excellent and valiant progeny and become proud possessors of rich treasures. 6

Surely that prince overcomes by his strength and prowess all hostile people, who cherishes Supreme Lord liberally by oblations and glorifies and honours him as the foremost sharer of the offering. 7

Verily he dwells in peace and comfort in his own house ; to him the earth bears fruit in all seasons ; to him his subjects willingly pay homage, the prince to whom the Lord supreme first favours with His blessings. 8

अप्रतीतो जयति सं धनानि प्रतिजन्यान्युत या सजन्या ।
अवस्यवे यो वरिवः कृणोति ब्रह्मणे राजा तमवन्ति देवाः ॥९॥
इन्द्रश्च सोमं पिबतं बृहस्पतेऽस्मिन्यज्ञे मन्दसाना वृषण्वसू ।
आ वां विशन्त्विन्दवः स्वाभुवोऽस्मे रयिं सर्ववीरं नि यच्छतम् ॥१०॥
बृहस्पत इन्द्र वर्धतं नः सचा सा वां सुमतिर्भूत्वस्मे ।
अविष्टं धियो जिगृतं पुरंधीर्जजस्तमर्यो वनुषामरातीः ॥११॥

ápratīto jayati sám̐ dhánāni prátijanyāny utá yā́ sájanyā | avasyáve yó várivaḥ kriṇóti brahmáṇe rā́jā tám avanti deváḥ || 9 || índras ca sómam pibatam brihaspate 'smín yajñé mandasānā́ vrishaṇvasū | ā́ vām̐ visantv índavaḥ svābhúvo 'smé rayím̐ sárvavīram̐ ní yachatam || 10 || bŕihaspata indra várdhatam̐ naḥ sácā sā́ vām̐ sumatír bhūtv asmé | avishṭám̐ dhíyo jigritám púram̐dhīr jajastám aryó vanúshām árātīḥ || 11 ||

(५१) एकपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । उषा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥ हरिःॐ ॥

॥१॥ इदमु त्यत्पुरुतमं पुरस्ताज्ज्योतिस्तमसो वयुनावदस्थात् ।
नूनं दिवो दुहितरो विभातीर्गातुं कृणवन्नुषसो जनाय ॥१॥
अस्थुरु चित्रा उषसः पुरस्तान्मिता इव स्वरवोऽध्वरेषु ।
व्यू व्रजस्य तमसो द्वारोच्छन्तीरव्रञ्छुचयः पावकाः ॥२॥

51.

Idám u tyát purutámam purástāj jyótis támaso vayúnāvad asthāt | nūnám̐ divó duhitáro vibhātī́r gātúm̐ kriṇavann usháso jánāya || 1 || ásthur u citrā́ ushásaḥ purástān mitā́ iva sváravo 'dhvaréshu | vy ū̀ vrajásya támaso dvā́rochántīr avrañ chúcayaḥ pāvakā́ḥ || 2 ||

Unopposed, that prince becomes the winner of the treasures of hostile people, and of his own subjects, who bestows riches upon learned men and seeks their protection. All divine powers also offer protection to him. 9

O Supreme Lord, may you and your radiant powers, exulting and showering riches, accept our devotional love at congregation. May you be fully satisfied with our loving regards. May you bestow upon us riches and heroic descendants. 10

O Lord with resplendence and supreme wisdom, may you elevate us : may we be combinedly blessed with both of your these attributes. May you assist our holy thoughts and wake up our spirits. May you weaken the hatred of our adversaries. 11

51

Their widely-spread light is coming up in the east, from out of darkness, inspiring divine wisdom. Verily the brilliant dawns, the daughter of heaven, enlighten the path of action for men. 1

The richly-coloured dawns rise up in the east, like the pillars planted at the place of worship round the altar. Radiant, splendid and purifying are they manifested, opening the portals of the fold of gloom. 2

उच्छन्तीरद्य चितयन्त भोजान्राधोदेयायोषसो मघोनीः ।
अचित्रे अन्तः पणयः ससन्त्वबुध्यमानास्तमसो विमध्ये ॥३॥
कुवित्स देवीः सनयो नवो वा यामो बभूयादुषसो वो अद्य ।
येना नवग्वे अङ्गिरे दशग्वे सप्तास्ये रेवती रेवदूष ॥४॥
यूयं हि देवीर्ऋतयुग्भिरश्वैः परिप्रयाथ भुवनानि सद्यः ।
प्रबोधयन्तीरुषसः ससन्तं द्विपाच्चतुष्पाच्चरथाय जीवम् ॥५॥

uchántīr adyá citayanta bhoján rādhodéyāyosháso maghónīḥ | acitré antáḥ paṇáyaḥ sasantv ábudhyamānās támaso vímadhye || 3 || kuvít sá devīḥ sanáyo návo vā yā́mo babhūyā́d ushaso vo adyá | yénā návagve áṅgire dáṣagve saptásye revatī reván ūshá || 4 || yūyáṃ hí devīr ṛitayúgbhir áṣvaiḥ paripravāthá bhúvanāni sadyáḥ | prabodháyantīr ushasaḥ sasántaṃ dvipā́c cátushpāc caráthāya jīvám || 5 ||

॥२॥ क्व स्विदासां कतमा पुराणी यया विधाना विदधुर्ऋभूणाम् ।
शुभं यच्छुभ्रा उषसश्चरन्ति न वि ज्ञायन्ते सदृशीरजुर्याः ॥६॥
ता घा ता भद्रा उषसः पुरासुरभिष्टिद्युम्ना ऋतजातसत्याः ।
यास्वीजानः शशमान उक्थैः स्तुवञ्छंसन्द्रविणं सद्य आप ॥७॥
ता आ चरन्ति समना पुरस्तात्समानतः समना पप्रथानाः ।
ऋतस्य देवीः सदसो बुधाना गवां न सर्गा उषसो जरन्ते ॥८॥

kvà svid āsām katamā́ purāṇī́ yáyā vidhā́nā vidadhúr ṛibhūṇā́m | ṣúbhaṃ yác chubhrā́ ushásaṣ cáranti ná ví jñāyante sadṛíṣīr ajuryā́ḥ || 6 || tā́ ghā tā́ bhadrā́ ushásaḥ purā́sur abhishṭídyumnā ṛitájātasatyāḥ | yā́sv ījānáḥ ṣaṣamāná ukthaí stuváñ chánsan drávinaṃ sadyá ā́pa || 7 || tā́ ā́ caranti samanā́ purástāt samānátaḥ samanā́ paprathānā́ḥ | ṛitásya devī́ḥ sádaso budhānā́ gávāṃ ná sárgā usháso jarante || 8 ||

The gloom-dispelling, affluent dawns animate the pious worshippers to offer sacrificial treasure. May the churlish traffickers sleep on unawakened in the gloomy depth of darkness. 3

O divine dawns, may your chariot, whether old or new, be frequent at this day's worship, wherewith, O affluent dawns, possessing riches, may you shine upon the singers reciting seven-tones of the fire-priests, presiding over the ceremony lasting nine or ten days. 4

O divine dawns, with speedy rays, harnessed by eternal order, you swiftly travel round the regions of space. May you arouse the sleeping creatures, whether biped (men) or quadraped (cattle), so that they may pursue their assigned duties. 5

Where is that ancient one of those dawns, through whom the works of men of experience and wisdom are accomplished ? As the bright dawns happily proceed onward, they are not known apart, being alike and undecaying. 6

Blessed are those dawns, shining with blessings, furnished with that truth which springs from eternal holy order. With the help of these dawns, the worshipper, adoring with silent praises, and glorifying with hymns, soon obtains riches. 7

Coming from the east, from the same region alike, they spread around in a similar form. These divine dawns, springing from the seat of holy order, shine like radiant rays of the sun. 8

ता इन्न्वे३व स॒मना॑ समा॒नीरमी॑तवर्णा उ॒षस॑श्चरन्ति ।
गूह॑न्ती॒रभ्व॒मसि॑तं॒ रुश॑द्भिः शु॒क्रास्त॒नूभि॒ः शुच॑यो रुचा॒नाः ॥९॥
र॒यिं दि॑वो दुहितरो विभा॒तीः प्र॒जाव॑न्तं यच्छता॒स्मासु॑ देवीः ।
स्यो॒नादा व॑ः प्रति॒बुध्य॑माना॒ः सु॒वीर्य॑स्य॒ पत॑यः स्याम ॥१०॥
तद्वो॑ दिवो दुहितरो विभा॒तीरुप॑ ब्रुव उषसो य॒ज्ञके॑तुः ।
व॒यं स्या॑म य॒शसो॒ जने॑षु॒ तद्द्यौश्च॑ ध॒त्तां पृ॑थि॒वी च॑ दे॒वी ॥११॥

tá ín nv èvá samanā́ samānī́r ámītavarṇā ushásaṣ caranti | gū́hantīr ábhvam ásitam rúṣadbhiḥ ṣukrā́s tanū́bhiḥ ṣúcayo rucānā́ḥ || 9 || rayím divo duhitaro vibhātī́ḥ prajā́vantam yachatāsmā́su devīḥ | syonā́d ā́ vaḥ pratibúdhyamānāḥ suvī́ryasya pátayaḥ syāma || 10 || tád vo divo duhitaro vibhātī́r úpa bruva ushaso yajñáketuḥ | vayám syāma yaṣáso jáneshu tád dyaúṣ ca dhattā́m prithiví ca deví || 11 ||

(५२) द्विपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । उषा देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ प्रति॒ ष्या सू॒नरी॒ जनी॑ व्यु॒च्छन्ती॒ परि॒ स्वसु॑ः । दि॒वो अ॑दर्शि दुहि॒ता ॥१॥
अश्वे॑व चि॒त्रारु॑षी मा॒ता गवा॑मृ॒ताव॑री । सखा॑भूद॒श्विनो॑रु॒षाः ॥२॥
उ॒त सखा॑स्य॒श्विनो॑रु॒त मा॒ता गवा॑मसि । उ॒तोषो॒ वस्व॑ ईशिषे ॥३॥
या॒व॒यद्द्वे॑षसं त्वा चिकि॒त्वित्सू॑नृतावरि । प्रति॒ स्तोमै॑रभुत्स्महि ॥४॥

52.

Práti shyā́ sūnárī jánī vyuchántī pári svásuḥ | divó adarṣi duhitā́ || 1 || áṣveva citrā́rushī mātā́ gávām ritā́varī | sákhābhūd aṣvínor ushā́ḥ || 2 || utá sákhāsy aṣvínor utá mātā́ gávām asi | utósho vásva īṣishe || 3 || yāvayáddveshasam tva cikitvít sūnṛitāvari | práti stómair abhutsmahi || 4 ||

These dawns proceed verily all alike, of similar forms, of infinite colours, pure, bright, illumining, concealing the gigantic might of darkness with the radiant rays. 9

O divine, O heaven's resplendent daughters, bestow upon us wealth, children and grand-children. Awaking us for our benefit, may you bless us to be the masters of heroic vigour. 10

O daughters of heaven, resplendent dawns, I, the institutor of worship, implore you, so that we may be glorious among people, and may heaven and earth and light sustain us. 11

52

The daughter of heaven, the giver of delight, the granter of benefits, is seen shedding radiance upon her sister, the night, ready to depart. 1

The dawn, in colour like a beautiful mare, the radiant mother of the rays of light, the object of worship, is the friend of the twin-divines,—the sun and moon. 2

O dawn, you are the friend of the twin-divines, you are the mother of the rays of light; you rule over riches. 3

With laudations we awaken you, O dawn endowed with the light of truth, driver of animosities, and restorer of consciousness. 4

प्रति भद्रा अदृक्षत गवां सर्गा न रश्मयः । ओषा अप्रा उरु ज्रयः ॥५॥
आपप्रुषी विभावरि व्यावर्ज्योतिषा तमः । उषो अनु स्वधामव ॥६॥
आ द्यां तनोषि रश्मिभिरान्तरिक्षमुरु प्रियम् । उषः शुक्रेण शोचिषा ॥७॥

práti bhadrá adrikshata gávām sárgā ná raṣmáyaḥ | óshá aprā urú jráyaḥ || 5 || āpaprúshī vibhāvari vy ấvar jyótishā támaḥ | úsho ánu svadhấm ava || 6 || ấ dyấm tanoshi raṣmíbhir ấntárikshaṁ urú priyám | úshaḥ ṣukréṇa ṣocíshā || 7 ||

(५३) त्रिपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्
(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । सविता देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ तद्देवस्य सवितुर्वार्यं महद्वृणीमहे असुरस्य प्रचेतसः ।
छर्दिर्येन दाशुषे यच्छति त्मना तन्नो महाँ उदयान्देवो अक्तुभिः ॥१॥
दिवो धर्ता भुवनस्य प्रजापतिः पिशङ्गं द्रापिं प्रति मुञ्चते कविः ।
विचक्षणः प्रथयन्नापृणन्नुर्वजीजनत्सविता सुम्नमुक्थ्यम् ॥२॥
आप्रा रजांसि दिव्यानि पार्थिवा श्लोकं देवः कृणुते स्वाय धर्मणे ।
प्र बाहू अस्राक्सविता सवीमनि निवेशयन्प्रसुवन्नक्तुभिर्जगत् ॥३॥

53.

Tád devásya savitúr vấryam mahád vriṇīmáhe ásurasya prácetasaḥ | chardír yéna dāṣúshe yáchati tmánā tán no mahấṅ úd ayān devó aktúbhiḥ || 1 || divó dhartá bhúvanasya prajápatiḥ piṣáñgam drāpím práti muñcate kavíḥ | vicakshaṇáḥ pratháyann āpriṇánn urv ájījanat savitá sumnám ukthyàm || 2 || ấprā rájāṅsi divyáni pấrthivā ṣlókam deváḥ kriṇute svấya dhármaṇe | prá bāhú asrāk savitá sávīmani niveṣáyan prasuvánn aktúbhir jágat || 3 ||

The auspicious rays are visible, spreading like scattered cows. The dawn has filled the world with her refulgence. 5

O refulgent dawns, filling the world with light, you dispel darkness with your radiance. There after may you protect our grainaries. 6

You overspread, O dawns, the heaven with rays, as well as the vast and loving firmament with pure lustre. 7

53

We, solicit of this divine, powerful and all wise creator, who deserves adoration, and who is master of ample wealth ; wherewith He freely grants His worshipper, offerer of homage, protection of his own accord. May the great Lord grant us such blessings every day. 1

He, the all-wise creator, is the sustainer of heaven, and the protector of the world. He puts on as if an armour of spiritual halo around Him. He discriminates all objects, and filling the world with bliss, disperses great laudable benefits. 2

The divine creator fills with radiance the celestial and terrestrial regions. Shining in His own sovereignity, He puts forth His arms of help for the protection, regulates the world, and animates it with His divine light. 3

अदाभ्यो भुवनानि प्रचाकशद्व्रतानि देवः सविताभि रक्षते ।
प्रास्राग्बाहू भुवनस्य प्रजाभ्यो धृतव्रतो महो अज्मस्य राजति ॥४॥
त्रिरन्तरिक्षं सविता महित्वना त्री रजांसि परिभूस्त्रीणि रोचना ।
तिस्रो दिवः पृथिवीस्तिस्र इन्वति त्रिभिर्व्रतैरभि नो रक्षति त्मना ॥५॥
बृहत्सुम्नः प्रसवीता निवेशनो जगतः स्थातुरुभयस्य यो वशी ।
स नो देवः सविता शर्म यच्छत्वस्मे क्षयाय त्रिवरूथमंहसः ॥६॥
आगन्देव ऋतुभिर्वर्धतु क्षयं दधातु नः सविता सुप्रजामिषम् ।
स नः क्षपाभिरहभिश्च जिन्वतु प्रजावन्तं रयिमस्मे समिन्वतु ॥७॥

ádābhyo bhúvanāni pracā́kaṣad vratā́ni deváḥ savitā́bhí rakshate | prā́srāg bāhū́ bhúvanasya prajā́bhyo dhṛitávrato mahó ájmasya rājati || 4 || trír antáriksham savitā́ mahitvanā́ trí rájāṅsi paribhū́s trī́ṇi rocanā́ | tisró dívaḥ pṛithivī́s tisrá invati tribhír vrataír abhí no rakshati tmánā || 5 || bṛihátsumnaḥ prasavītā́ nivéṣano jágata sthātúr ubháyasya yó vaṣī́ | sá no deváḥ savitā́ ṣárma yachatv asmé kshā́yāya trivárūtham áṅhasaḥ || 6 || ā́gan devá ṛitúbhir várdhatu ksháyam dádhātu naḥ savitā́ suprajā́m ísham | sá naḥ kshapā́bhir áhabhiṣ ca jinvatu prajā́vantam rayím asmé sám invatu || 7 ||

(५४) चतुष्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्वृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । सविता देवता । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां जगती, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥ अभूद्देवः सविता वन्द्यो नु न इदानीमह्न उपवाच्यो नृभिः ।
वि यो रत्ना भजति मानवेभ्यः श्रेष्ठं नो अत्र द्रविणं यथा दधत् ॥१॥

54.

Ábhūd deváḥ savitā́ vándyo nú na idā́nīm áhna upavā́cyo nṛíbhiḥ | ví yó rátnā bhā́jati mānavébhyaḥ sréshṭhaṃ no átra drávinaṃ yáthā dádhat || 1 ||

The divine creater, unhampered in His activities, illumines the regions and protects the righteous men. He extends His arms of help to the people of the earth. Firm in His determinations, He shines over the wide world. 4

The creator, encompassing all the three regions by his magnitude, He pervades the three divisions of the firmament, the three worlds, the three brilliant spheres, the three heavens, and the threefold earth. May He, by His threefold measures, protect us, through His own pleasure. 5

May that divine creator, who is the source of great happiness, the engender of all, comprehender of all, regulator of both the moveable and the stationary, grant us happiness in the three worlds, and enable us to drive away the sins. 6

May the divine creator be with us along with all His seasonal blessing. May He bring prosperity to our homes, and bestow upon us food and noble sons. May He inspire us by nights and by days. May He send us opulence with progeny. 7

54

Now we have the realization of the divine creator. May He be glorified by us and praised by the priests at this ceremony and at the close of the day in order that He apportions precious treasures to humanity. May He bestow upon us, on this occasion, most excellent wealth. 1

देवेभ्यो हि प्रथमं यज्ञियेभ्योऽमृतत्वं सुवसि भागमुत्तमम् ।
आदिद्दामानं सवितर्व्यूर्णुषेऽनूचीना जीविता मानुषेभ्यः ॥२॥
अचित्ती यच्चकृमा दैव्ये जने दीनैर्दक्षैः प्रभूती पूरुषत्वता ।
देवेषु च सवितर्मानुषेषु च त्वं नो अत्र सुवतादनागसः ॥३॥
न प्रमिये सवितुर्दैव्यस्य तद्यथा विश्वं भुवनं धारयिष्यति ।
यत्पृथिव्या वरिमन्ना स्वङ्गुरिर्वर्ष्मन्दिवः सुवति सत्यमस्य तत् ॥४॥

devébhyo hí prathamám yajñíyebhyo 'mritatvám suvási bhāgám uttamám | ắd íd dāmắnam savitar vy ùrnushe 'nūcīnắ jīvitắ mắnushebhyah || 2 || ácittī yác cakrimắ daívye jáne dīnaír dákshaih prábhūtī pūrushatvátā | devéshu ca savitar mắnusheshu ca tvám no átra suvatād ánāgasah || 3 || ná pramíye savitúr daívyasya tád yáthā víṣvam bhúvanam dhārayishyáti | yát prithivyắ várimann ắ svañgurír várshman diváh suváti satyám asya tát || 4 ||

इन्द्रज्येष्ठान्बृहद्भ्यः पर्वतेभ्यः क्षयाँ एभ्यः सुवसि पस्त्यावतः ।
यथायथा पतयन्तो वियेमिर एवैव तस्थुः सवितः सवाय ते ॥५॥
ये ते त्रिरहन्त्सवितः सवासो दिवेदिवे सौभगमासुवन्ति ।
इन्द्रो द्यावापृथिवी सिन्धुरद्भिरादित्यैर्नो अदितिः शर्म यंसत् ॥६॥

índrajyeshṭhān brihádbhyah párvatebhyah ksháyāñ ebhyah suvasi pastyằvatah | yáthā-yathā patáyanto viyemirá evaívá tasthuh savitah savắya te || 5 || yé te trír áhan savitah savắso divé-dive saúbhagam āsuvánti | índro dyắvāprithiví síndhur adbhír ādityaír no ádith ṣárma yaṅsat || 6 ||

O creator, you grant the best gift of immortality to the enlightened and dedicated men of the first category. To the liberal givers, you open the portals of light and to the common men, you award the continuous cycle of existence. 2

If O creator, through ignorance, infirmities or omissions on our part, we have committed offence against your divine laws, or against learned elites or common men, may you on this occasion absolve us from the guilt and be compassionate 3

None can ever obstruct the acts of the divine creator, He sustains the whole world, and the print (the divine art) of His finger is widely visible over the extent of earth ; and the magnitude of the heaven verily is the truth, that is His. 4

You raise your worshippers to the highest level, just as the sun is elevated above the vast clouds. For them you provide dwelling places, filled with habitations. And the more they rise in their levels, the more you are retained in their hearts, and the more they are in possession of your love, the more they obey your command. 5

O creator, may the sun, the heaven and earth, the ocean full of waters, and infinity (time and space) and its divisions, be the cause of happiness for such worshippers, as offer prayers and devotional homages to you day by day, thrice a day. 6

(५५) पञ्चपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१–७) प्रथमादि-सप्तर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (८–१०) अष्टम्यादितृचस्य च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥६॥ को वस्त्राता वसवः को वरूता द्यावाभूमी अदिते त्रासीथां नः ।
सहीयसो वरुण मित्र मर्तात्को वोऽध्वरे वरिवो धाति देवाः ॥१॥
प्र ये धामानि पूर्व्याण्यर्चान्वि यदुच्छान्वियोतारो अमूराः ।
विधातारो वि ते दधुरजस्रा ऋतधीतयो रुरुचन्त दस्माः ॥२॥
प्र पस्त्यामदितिं सिन्धुमर्कैः स्वस्तिमीळे सख्याय देवीम् ।
उभे यथा नो अहनी निपात उषासानक्ता करतामदब्धे ॥३॥

55.

Kó vas trātā́ vasavaḥ kó varūtā́ dyā́vābhūmī adite trā́sīthām naḥ | sáhīyaso varuṇa mitra mártāt kó vo 'dhvaré várivo dhāti devāḥ || 1 || prá yé dhā́māni pūrvyā́ṇy árcān ví yád uchā́n viyotā́ro ámūrāḥ | vidhātā́ro ví té dadhur ájasrā ṛitádhītayo rurucanta dasmā́ḥ || 2 || prá pastyā̀m áditim síndhum arkaíḥ svastím īḷe sakhyā́ya devī́m | ubhé yáthā no áhanī nipā́ta ushā́sānáktā karatām ádabdhe || 3 ||

व्यर्यमा वरुणश्चेति पन्थामिषस्पतिः सुवितं गातुमग्निः ।
इन्द्राविष्णू नृवदु षु स्तवाना शर्म नो यन्तममवद्वरूथम् ॥४॥
आ पर्वतस्य मरुतामवांसि देवस्य त्रातुरव्रि भगस्य ।
पात्पतिर्जन्यादंहसो नो मित्रो मित्रियादुत न उरुष्येत् ॥५॥

vy àryamā́ váruṇaṣ ceti pánthām ishás pátiḥ suvitáṃ gātúm agníḥ | índrāvishṇū nṛivád u shú stávānā ṣárma no yantam ámavad várūtham || 4 || ā́ párvatasya marútām ávāṅsi devásya trātúr avri bhágasya | pā́t pátir jányād áṅhaso no mitró mitríyād utá na urushyet || 5 ||

55

Who, of you, O providers of riches, is our saviour ? Who is our protector ? O heaven and earth, and eternity, may you preserve us. O sun and ocean, may you protect us from the strong foe. O divines, among you, who confers rewards for our sacred deeds ? 1

The divine powers grant rewards of previous lives, dispel darkness, distinguish virtue from vice, and are infallible. They are eternal distributors of rewards, granters of what is desvied, the upholders of eternal truths and they shine brilliantly. 2

I implore Nature's bounties, such as mother-infinity, and the ocean, and the divine source of bliss for friendship. I praise you, both day and night, that you may protect us unimpeded. O night and morning, may you fulfil our wishes. 3

O ordainer and most virtuous, guide us along the path of worship. May the illustrious leader, the Lord of food, show us the way to happiness. O resplendent and protector, being glorified, bestow upon us aspired prosperity comprehending descendants and household comforts. 4

I have recourse to the protection of mountains, the cloud-bearing winds, and Nature's splendour. May the oceans preserve us from human wretchedness, and may the sun save us with a friendly regard. 5

॥७॥ नू रोदसी अहिना बुध्न्येन स्तुवीत देवी अप्येभिरिष्टैः ।
समुद्रं न संचरणे सनिष्यवो घर्मस्वरसो नद्यो३ अप व्रन् ॥६॥
देवैर्नो देव्यदितिर्नि पातु देवस्त्राता त्रायतामप्रयुच्छन् ।
नहि मित्रस्य वरुणस्य धासिमर्हामसि प्रमियं सान्वग्नेः ॥७॥
अग्निरीशे वसव्यस्याग्निर्महः सौभगस्य । तान्यस्मभ्यं रासते ॥८॥
उषो मघोन्या वह सूनृते वार्या पुरु । अस्मभ्यं वाजिनीवति ॥९॥
तत्सु नः सविता भगो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । इन्द्रो नो राधसा गमत् ॥१०॥

nú rodasī áhinā budhnyèna stuvītá devī ápyebhir ishṭaíḥ | samudrám ná samcárane sanishyávo gharmásvaraso nadyò ápa vran || 6 || devaír no devy áditir ní pātu devás trātá trāyatām áprayuchan | nahí mitrásya várunasya dhāsim árhāmasi pramíyam sánv agnéḥ || 7 || agnír īse vasavyàsyāgnír maháḥ saúbhagasya | tány asmábhyam rāsate || 8 || úsho maghony á vaha súnrite várya purú | asmábhyam vājinīvati || 9 || tát sú naḥ savitá bhágo váruno mitró aryamá | índro no rádhasá gamat || 10 ||

(५६) षट्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्
(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । द्यावापृथिव्यौ देवते । (१–४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां त्रिष्टुप्, (५–७) पञ्चम्यादितृचस्य च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥८॥ मही द्यावापृथिवी इह ज्येष्ठे रुचा भवतां शुचयद्भिरर्कैः ।
यत्सीं वरिष्ठे बृहती विमिन्वन्रुवद्धोक्षा पप्रथानेभिरेवैः ॥१॥
देवी देवेभिर्यजते यजत्रैरमिनती तस्थतुरुक्षमाणे ।
ऋतावरी अद्रुहा देवपुत्रे यज्ञस्य नेत्री शुचयद्भिरर्कैः ॥२॥

56.

Mahí dyávāprithiví ihá jyéshṭhe rucá bhavatām sucáyadbhir arkaíḥ | yát sīm várishṭhe brihatí viminván ruvád dhokshá paprathānébhir évaiḥ || 1 || deví devébhir yajaté yájatrair áminatī tasthatur ukshámāne | ritávarī adrúhā deváputre yajñásya netrí sucáyadbhir arkaíḥ || 2 ||

O divine heaven and earth, I praise you, together with clouds and lightning, for those things that are desired. Desirous of acquiring riches, I praise the ocean, in which the boiling cauldron-like sounding rivers whilst traversing disappear. 6

May the divine eternity, with the divine powers, preserve us ; may the saviour Lord protect us with unceasing care. We dare not withhold the lofty powers of Nature's bounties like the sun, ocean, and fire. 7

The fire-divine is sovereign lord of treasures. He is the lord of prosperity. May he bestow these gifts on us. 8

O opulent dawn, the inspirer of aesthatic truths, food-abounding, bestow upon us ample riches. 9

May Lord, the creator, gracious, most virtuous, friendly law-abiding, and resplendent come to us, and grant prosperity. 10

56

May the vast and most excellent heaven and earth, honoured by sacred hymns, become the field of dedicated work and worship. In the space between the two mighty regions, the rapid winds, loudly roaring, as if bearing the divine messages of Lord, are fast-moving. 1

May the divine, adorable, benevolent, fertilizing, truthful, unoppressive heaven and earth, the leaders of cosmic sacrifice, whose children are Nature's bounties, become the place of work and worship and associated with other adorable powers be honoured by our brilliant compositions. 2

स इत्स्वपा भुवनेष्वास य इमे द्यावापृथिवी जजान ।
उर्वी गभीरे रजसी सुमेके अवंशे धीरः शच्या समैरत् ॥३॥
नू रोदसी बृहद्भिर्नो वरूथैः पत्नीवद्भिरिषयन्ती सजोषाः ।
उरूची विश्वे यजते नि पातं धिया स्याम रथ्यः सदासाः ॥४॥

sá ít svápā bhúvaneshv āsa yá imé dyā́vāpṛithivī́ jajā́na | urvī́ gabhīré rájasī suméke avaṅsé dhī́raḥ sácyā sám airat || 3 || nū́ rodasī bṛihádbhir no várūthaiḥ pátnīvadbhir isháyantī sajóshāḥ | urūcī́ vísve yajaté ní pātaṃ dhiyā́ syāma rathyàḥ sadāsā́ḥ || 4 ||

प्र वां महि द्यवी अभ्युपस्तुतिं भरामहे । शुची उप प्रशस्तये ॥५॥
पुनाने तन्वा मिथः स्वेन दक्षेण राजथः । ऊह्याथे सनादृतम् ॥६॥
मही मित्रस्य साधथस्तरन्ती पिप्रती ऋतम् । परि यज्ञं नि षेदथुः ॥७॥

prá vāṃ máhi dyávī abhy úpastutim bharāmahe | súcī úpa prásastaye || 5 || punāné tanvā̀ mitháḥ svéna dákshena rājathaḥ | ūhyā́the sanā́d ṛitám || 6 || mahī́ mitrásya sādhathas tárantī pípratī ṛitám | pári yajñám ní shedathuḥ || 7 ||

(५७) सप्तपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य क्षेत्रपतिः (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचः शुनः, (५, ८) पञ्चम्यष्टम्योः शुनासीरौ, (६-७) षष्ठीसप्तम्योश्च सीता देवताः । (१, ४, ६-७) प्रथमाचतुर्थीषष्ठीसप्तमीनामृचामनुष्टुप्, (२-३, ८) द्वितीयातृतीयाष्टमीनां त्रिष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च पुर उष्णिक् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१॥ क्षेत्रस्य पतिना वयं हितेनेव जयामसि । गामश्वं पोषयित्न्वा स नो मृळातीदृशे ॥१॥

57.

Kshétrasya pátinā vayáṃ hiténeva jayāmasi | gā́m ásvam poshayitnv ā́ sá no mṛiḷātīdṛíse || 1 ||

Verily He, the supreme Lord, is the master accomplisher of good work in two regions, heaven and earth, generated by him in interspace, and He with His determined purposefulness and austeric action gives an impulse to the two spacious and deep well-fashioned realms, which remain firm, apparently unsupported. 3

May heaven and earth, vast, equally respected by all, universally adorable provide us food and grant us spacious apartments, inhabited by house ladies. And may we for the performance of our noble duties be possessed of chariots and helping hands. 4

We offer earnest praise to both of you, O resplendent heaven and earth. We approach you to offer adoration with pure heart. 5

You physically sanctify each other, and shine by your own power and thus you function according to eternal laws. 6

O mighty heaven and earth, you fulfil the aspirations of your friends; distributing food and giving sustenance; may your blessing be always with us in our dedicated task. 7

May we be victorious, with the aid of the master of agricultural field, our well-wisher. May he bestow upon us cattle, horses, and nourishment, and by such gifts may he make us happy. 1

क्षेत्रस्य पते मधुमन्तमूर्मिं धेनुरिव पयो अस्मासु धुक्ष्व ।
मधुश्चुतं घृतमिव सुपूतमृतस्य नः पतयो मृळयन्तु ॥२॥
मधुमतीरोषधीर्द्याव आपो मधुमन्नो भवत्वन्तरिक्षम् ।
क्षेत्रस्य पतिर्मधुमान्नो अस्त्वरिष्यन्तो अन्वेनं चरेम ॥३॥

kshétrasya pate mádhumantam ūrmím̩ dhenúr iva páyo asmásu dhukshva | madhuṣcútam̩ ghritám iva súpūtam ṛitásya naḥ pátayo mṛiḷayantu || 2 || mádhumatīr óshadhīr dyáva ápo mádhuman no bhavatv antáriksham | kshétrasya pátir mádhumān no astv árishyanto ánv enam̩ carema || 3 ||

शुनं वाहाः शुनं नरः शुनं कृषतु लाङ्गलम् ।
शुनं वरत्रा बध्यन्तां शुनमष्ट्रामुदिङ्गय ॥४॥
शुनासीराविमां वाचं जुषेथां यद्दिवि चक्रथुः पयः ।
तेनेमामुप सिञ्चतम् ॥५॥
अर्वाची सुभगे भव सीते वन्दामहे त्वा ।
यथा नः सुभगाससि यथा नः सुफलाससि ॥६॥
इन्द्रः सीतां नि गृह्णातु तां पूषानु यच्छतु ।
सा नः पयस्वती दुहामुत्तरामुत्तरां समाम् ॥७॥
शुनं नः फाला वि कृषन्तु भूमिं शुनं कीनाशा अभि यन्तु वाहैः ।
शुनं पर्जन्यो मधुना पयोभिः शुनासीरा शुनमस्मासु धत्तम् ॥८॥

ṣunám̩ vāháḥ ṣunám̩ náraḥ ṣunám̩ krishatu lā́ṅgalam | ṣunám̩ varatrā́ badhyantām̩ ṣunám áshṭrām úd iṅgaya || 4 || ṣúnāsīrāv imā́m̩ vácam̩ jushethām̩ yád diví cakráthuḥ páyaḥ | ténemā́m úpa siñcatam || 5 || arvā́cī subhage bhava síte vándāmahe tvā | yáthā naḥ subhágā́sasi yáthā naḥ suphálā́sasi || 6 || índraḥ sítām̩ ní gṛihṇātu tā́m pūshā́nu yachatu | sā́ naḥ páyasvatī duhām úttarām-uttarām̩ sámām || 7 || ṣunám̩ naḥ phā́lā ví krishantu bhū́mim̩ ṣunám̩ kīnā́ṣā abhí yantu vāhaíḥ | ṣunám̩ parjányo mádhunā páyobhiḥ ṣúnāsīrā ṣunám̩ asmásu dhattam || 8 ||

O landlord, bestow upon us sweet abundant water, as the milch-cow yields her milk, sweet as the drops of honey and pure as butter, and may the lords of water (irrigation chief) make us happy. 2

May the herbs of the field be sweet for us ; may the heavens, the waters, the firmament be kind to us ; may the landlord be gracious to us. May we be able to obey his inspiration without obstruction. 3

May the oxen draw happily ; may the men labour happily; may the plough furrow happily ; may the traces bind happily ; and may we wield the good happily. 4

O landlords and farmers, may you be pleased by our request, and consequently, may you irrigate land with water, which has origin in the clouds of heaven. 5

O charming furrow (deeply drawn by the plough), may you be well drawn. We glorify you, so that you may be propitious to us, and yield abundant food. 6

May the sun be gracious to the ploughed furrow ; may nourishing rain guide her. May, she, the furrow, well-stored with water, yield food, year after year. 7

May the ploughshares break up our land happily ; may the ploughman go happily with the oxen ; may the clouds water the earth with sweet showers happily. May the landlords and farmers grant prosperity to us. 8

(५८) अष्टपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गौतमो वामदेव ऋषिः। अग्निः सूर्यो वाऽऽपो वा गावो वा घृतं वा देवता। (१-१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (११) एकादश्याश्च जगती छन्दसी॥

॥१०॥ समुद्रादूर्मिर्मधुमाँ उदारदुपांशुना सममृतत्वमानट्।
घृतस्य नाम गुह्यं यदस्ति जिह्वा देवानाममृतस्य नाभिः॥१॥
वयं नाम प्र ब्रवामा घृतस्यास्मिन्यज्ञे धारयामा नमोभिः।
उप ब्रह्मा शृणवच्छस्यमानं चतुःशृङ्गोऽवमीद्गौर एतत्॥२॥
चत्वारि शृङ्गा त्रयो अस्य पादा द्वे शीर्षे सप्त हस्तासो अस्य।
त्रिधा बद्धो वृषभो रोरवीति महो देवो मर्त्याँ आ विवेश॥३॥

58.

Samudrád ūrmír mádhumāñ úd arad úpāṅsúnā sám amṛitatvám ānaṭ | ghṛitásya nā́ma gúhyam yád ásti jihvā́ devā́nām amṛ́tasya nā́bhiḥ || 1 || vayám nā́ma prá bravāmā ghṛitásyāsmín yajñé dhārayāmā námobhiḥ | úpa brahmā́ ṣṛiṇavac chasyámānam cátuḥṣṛiṅgo 'vamīd gauṛá etát || 2 || catvā́ri ṣṛ́iṅgā tráyo asya pā́dā dvé ṣīrshé saptá hástāso asya | trídhā baddhó vṛishabhó roravīti mahó devó mártyāñ ā́ viveṣa || 3 ||

त्रिधा हितं पणिभिर्गुह्यमानं गवि देवासो घृतमन्वविन्दन्।
इन्द्र एकं सूर्य एकं जजान वेनादेकं स्वधया निष्टतक्षुः॥४॥
एता अर्षन्ति हृद्यात्समुद्राच्छतव्रजा रिपुणा नावचक्षे।
घृतस्य धारा अभि चाकशीमि हिरण्ययो वेतसो मध्य आसाम्॥५॥

trídhā hitám paṇíbhir guhyámānam gávi devā́so ghṛitám ánv avindan | índra ékam sū́rya ékam jajā́na venā́d ékam svadhā́yā nísh ṭatakshuḥ || 4 || etā́ arshanti hṛ́dyāt samudrā́c chatávrajā ripúṇā nā́vacákshe | ghṛitásya dhā́rā abhí cākaṣīmi hiraṇyáyo vetasó mádhya āsām || 5 ||

58

The waves of sweet water spring forth from the ocean ; by the solar rays, the water is carried to celestial region. That which is the secret name of mystic butter is the tongue of Nature and the navel of ambrosia. 1

We celebrate the name of this mystic butter at our worship ; we offer it with adoration. May the supreme preceptor, the knower of the four-horned Vedas, the Divine Word, listen to this adoration. 2

Four are his horns, three are his feet, his heads are two, his hands are seven ; this triple-bound showerer of benefits roars aloud. That mighty divine is enshrined in the hearts of all mortals. 3

The enlightened one discover the mystic butter, concealed by rivals in threefold forms, as if in the mystic cow. The resplendent self generates one portion out of it, radiant mental faculty sets free the second one and the vital breathing system fabricates out the third one, each with his own genius. 4

In countless channels these showers flow down from the heart of celestial interspace, unrestricted by the dark clouds. I look upon these showers of mystic spiritual rays descending, and behold the mystic golden reed in the mid of them. 5

॥११॥ सम्यक्स्रवन्ति सरितो न धेना अन्तर्हृदा मनसा पूयमानाः ।
एते अर्षन्त्यूर्मयो घृतस्य मृगा इव क्षिपणोरीषमाणाः ॥६॥
सिन्धोरिव प्राध्वने शूघनासो वातप्रमियः पतयन्ति यह्वाः ।
घृतस्य धारा अरुषो न वाजी काष्ठा भिन्दन्नूर्मिभिः पिन्वमानः ॥७॥
अभि प्रवन्त समनेव योषाः कल्याण्यः स्मयमानासो अग्निम् ।
घृतस्य धाराः समिधो नसन्त ता जुषाणो हर्यति जातवेदाः ॥८॥

samyák sravanti sarito ná dhénā antár hridā́ mánasā pūyámānāḥ | eté arshanty ūrmáyo ghritásya mrigā́ iva kshipanór ī́shamāṇāḥ || 6 || síndhor iva prādhvané ṣūghanáso vā́tapramiyaḥ patayanti yahvā́ḥ | ghritásya dhā́rā arushó ná vājī́ kā́shṭhā bhindánn ūrmíbhiḥ pínvamānaḥ || 7 || abhí pravanta sámaneva yóshāḥ kalyāṇyàḥ smáyamānāso agním | ghritásya dhā́rāḥ samídho nasanta tā́ jushāṇó haryati jātávedāḥ || 8 ||

कन्या इव वहतुमेतवा उ अञ्ज्यञ्जाना अभि चाकशीमि ।
यत्र सोमः सूयते यत्र यज्ञो घृतस्य धारा अभि तत्पवन्ते ॥९॥
अभ्यर्षत सुष्टुतिं गव्यमाजिमस्मासु भद्रा द्रविणानि धत्त ।
इमं यज्ञं नयत देवता नो घृतस्य धारा मधुमत्पवन्ते ॥१०॥
धामन्ते विश्वं भुवनमधि श्रितमन्तः समुद्रे हृद्यन्तरायुषि ।
अपामनीके समिथे य आभृतस्तमश्याम मधुमन्तं त ऊर्मिम् ॥११॥

kanyā̀ iva vahatúm étavá u añjy àñjānā́ abhí cākaṣimi | yatra sómaḥ sūyáte yátra yajñó ghritásya dhā́rā abhí tát pavante || 9 || abhy àrshata sushṭutíṃ gávyam ājím asmásu bhadrā́ drávināni dhatta | imáṃ yajñáṃ nayata devátā no ghritásya dhā́rā mádhumat pavante || 10 || dhā́man te víṣvam bhúvanam ádhi ṣritám antáḥ samudré hridy àntár ā́yushi | apā́m ánīke samithé yá ā́bhritas tám aṣyama mádhumantaṃ ta ūrmím || 11 ||

The flow uninterruptedly like pleasing rivers, purified by the mind, seated in the heart; these streams of mystic butter descend upon the fire, like wild beasts that fly from the hunter. 6

The streams of this mystic butter, swifter than the wind, and rapid as the waters of a river, flow down a declivity. Bursting through the fences, and hurrying on with their waves, they flow-down like high-spirited steed. 7

The streams of this mystic butter, incline to spiritual fire, as devoted wives loving and smiling to husbands. They feed the flame of mystic fire like fuel, and the omniscient Lord joyfully receives them. 8

I contemplate these streams of mystic butter, as they flow from where the exhilarating experiences come forth, and where the noble works are solemnized. They flow as a bride, decorating herself with ornaments, whilst going to the bridegroom. 9

May the priests address sacred prayers in the well-known divine language. May they bestow upon us auspicious riches. May they convey our worship to the divine powers, whereat the streams of mystic butter descend with sweetness. 10

O adorable Lord, the whole world finds an asylum in your effulgence, whether it be in the interspace, in the emotional heart, in the vital breath, in ocean, in army or warfare. May we receive those sweetly flavoured waves of bliss which proceed from you and end in you. 11

ऋग्वेद संहिता

पञ्चम मण्डलम्

---

(१) प्रथमं सूक्तम

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयौ बुधगविष्ठिरावृषी । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥ विश्वेश्वराय नमः ॐ ॥

॥१२॥ अबोध्यग्निः समिधा जनानां प्रति धेनुमिवायतीमुषासम् ।
यह्वा इव प्र वयामुज्जिहानाः प्र भानवः सिस्रते नाकमच्छ ॥१॥
अबोधि होता यजथाय देवानूर्ध्वो अग्निः सुमनाः प्रातरस्थात् ।
समिद्धस्य रुशददर्शि पाजो महान्देवस्तमसो निरमोचि ॥२॥

1

Ábodhy agníḥ samídhā jánānām práti dhenúm ivāyatím ushásam | yahvā́ iva prá vayā́m ujjíhānāḥ prá bhānávaḥ sisrate nā́kam ácha || 1 || ábodhi hótā yajáthāya devā́n ūrdhvó agníḥ sumánāḥ prātár asthāt | sámiddhasya rúṣad adarṣi pā́jo mahā́n devás támaso nír amoci || 2 ||

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

BOOK FIVE

1

At the approach of dawns, who come like cows, the sacred fire is kindled by fuel offered by men. Its radiant mighty flames rise up like stately trees throwing aloft their branches towards heaven. 1

The cosmic fire, the bestower of blessings is awakened to invoke cosmic forces. Every morning the gracious fire, the sun, rises up. When kindled, his brilliant vigour is manifested, and the great enlightened one is released from the darkness. 2

यदीं गणस्य रशनामजीगः शुचिरङ्क्ते शुचिभिर्गोभिरग्निः ।
आद्दक्षिणा युज्यते वाजयन्त्युत्तानामूर्ध्वो अधयज्जुहूभिः ॥३॥
अग्निमच्छा देवयतां मनांसि चक्षूंषीव सूर्ये सं चरन्ति ।
यदीं सुवाते उषसा विरूपे श्वेतो वाजी जायते अग्रे अह्नाम् ॥४॥
जनिष्ट हि जेन्यो अग्रे अह्नां हितो हितेष्वरुषो वनेषु ।
दमेदमे सप्त रत्ना दधानोऽग्निर्होता नि षसादा यजीयान् ॥५॥
अग्निर्होता न्यसीदद्यजीयानुपस्थे मातुः सुरभा उ लोके ।
युवा कविः पुरुनिष्ठ ऋतावा धर्ता कृष्टीनामुत मध्य इद्धः ॥६॥

yád īṃ gaṇásya raṣanā́m ájīgaḥ ṣúcir aṅkte ṣúcibhir góbhir agníḥ | ā́d dákshiṇā yujyate vājayánty uttānā́m ūrdhvó adhayaj juhū́bhiḥ || 3 || agním áchā devayatā́m mánāṅsi cákshūṅshīva sū́rye sáṃ caranti | yád īṃ súvāte ushásā vírūpe ṣvetó vājí jāyate ágre áhnām || 4 || jánishṭa hí jényo ágre áhnāṃ hitó hitéshv arushó váneshu | dáme-dame saptá rátnā dádhāno 'gnír hótā ní shasādā yájīyān || 5 || agnír hótā ny àsīdad yájīyān upásthe mātúḥ surabhā́ u loké | yúvā kavíḥ purunishṭhá ṛitā́vā dhartā́ kṛishṭīnā́m utá mádhya iddháḥ || 6 ||

॥१३॥ प्र णु त्यं विप्रमध्वरेषु साधुमग्निं होतारमीळते नमोभिः ।
आ यस्ततान रोदसी ऋतेन नित्यं मृजन्ति वाजिनं घृतेन ॥७॥
मार्जाल्यो मृज्यते स्वे दमूनाः कविप्रशस्तो अतिथिः शिवो नः ।
सहस्रशृङ्गो वृषभस्तदोजा विश्वाँ अग्ने सहसा प्रास्यन्यान् ॥८॥

prá ṇú tyáṃ vípram adhvaréshu sādhúm agníṃ hótāram īḷate námobhiḥ | ā́ yás tatána ródasī ṛiténa nítyam mṛijanti vājínaṃ ghṛiténa || 7 || mārjālyò mṛijyate své dámūnāḥ kavipraṣastó átithiḥ ṣivó naḥ | sahásraṣṛiṅgo vṛishabhás tádojā víṣvāñ agne sáhasā prásy anyā́n || 8 ||

The radiant universal fire makes all manifest with his brilliant rays, when he seizes upon the confining girdle of the entire world. Thereupon the precious strength-giving oblation is offered to the flames, that spread out, and roaring aloft, consume it as if with tongue. 3

The spirits of the pious turn together to the fire-divine, as the eyes of men towards the Sun. When the multiform heaven and earth bring him forth along with dawn, he is born at the day break, as a strong white courser. 4

The noble one is kindled at day's beginning and deposited red in colour amid well-laid wood. And so the adorable fire, the invoker, is established in every house, displaying his seven gems-like flames. 5

The adorable fire divine, the invoker, is established in a fragrant place in the bosom of his mother earth. He is ever young, wise follower of eternal truth, pre-eminent over all, and kindled among people, whom he sustains. 6

On sacred ceremonial occasions all glorify that divine fire with hymns of reverence who is holy, intelligent, and the bestower of food and who spreads out both worlds by eternal law and charges them with rain. 7

Entitled to worship, he is worshipped in his own abode. He is humble-minded, eminent amongst sages, our auspicious guest, the thousand rayed, the showerer of benefits, of well known might, may you O fire divine, surpass all others in strength. 8

प्र सद्यो अग्ने अत्येष्यन्यानाविर्यस्मै चारुतमो बभूथ ।
ईळेन्यो वपुष्यो विभावा प्रियो विशामतिथिर्मानुषीणाम् ॥९॥
तुभ्यं भरन्ति क्षितयो यविष्ठ बलिमग्ने अन्तित ओत दूरात् ।
आ भन्दिष्ठस्य सुमतिं चिकिद्धि बृहत्ते अग्ने महि शर्म भद्रम् ॥१०॥
आद्य रथं भानुमो भानुमन्तमग्ने तिष्ठ यजतेभिः समन्तम् ।
विद्वान्पथीनामुर्वन्तरिक्षमेह देवान्हविरद्याय वक्षि ॥११॥
अवोचाम कवये मेध्याय वचो वन्दारु वृषभाय वृष्णे ।
गविष्ठिरो नमसा स्तोममग्नौ दिवीव रुक्ममुरुव्यञ्चमश्रेत् ॥१२॥

prá sadyó agne áty eshy anyā́n āvír yásmai cā́rutamo babhū́tha | īḷényo vapushyò vibhā́vā priyó viṣā́m átithir mā́nushīṇām || 9 || túbhyam bharanti kshitáyo yavishṭha balím agne ántita ótá dūrā́t | ā́ bhándishṭhasya sumatím cikiddhi bṛihát te agne máhi ṣárma bhadrám || 10 || ádyá rátham bhānumo bhānumántam ágne tíshṭha yajatébhiḥ sámantam | vidvā́n pathīnā́m urv àntáriksham éhá devā́n havirádyāya vakshi || 11 || ávocāma kaváye médhyāya váco vandā́ru vṛishabhā́ya vṛíshṇe | gávishṭhiro námasā stómam agnaú divīva rukmám uruvyáñcam aṣret || 12 ||

(२) द्वितीयं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१, ३-८, १०-१२) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयादिषण्णां दशम्यादितृचस्य चात्रेयः कुमारो जानो वृशो वा, उभौ वा, (२, ९) द्वितीयानवम्योश्च जानो वृश ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-११) प्रथमाद्येकादशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (१२) द्वादश्याश्च शक्वरी छन्दसी ॥

॥१४॥ कुमारं माता युवतिः समुब्धं गुहा बिभर्ति न ददाति पित्रे ।
अनीकमस्य न मिनज्जनासः पुरः पश्यन्ति निहितमरतौ ॥१॥

2.

Kumārám mātā́ yuvatíḥ sámubdhaṃ gúhā bibharti ná dadāti pitré | ánīkam asya na mináj jánāsaḥ puráḥ paṣyanti níhitam aratau || 1 ||

O divine fire, you quickly pass over all others, for him, to whom you appear most lovely. You are wonderously fair, adorable, effulgent, the guest of men, and loved by all people. 9

To you, O most youthful Lord, men bring their tributes from near and far. May you accept the prayer of him, who extols you most; for, the felicity, which you confer, O divine fire, is great, vast and auspicious. 10

Ascend today, radiant divine fire, on your resplendent, well-conducted chariot, together with the adorable Nature's forces. May you, knowing the paths across spacious firmament, bring hither divine forces to enjoy and share in our offerings. 11

To him the wise, the adorable, strong, and the showerer of benefits, we sing forth our song of praise, and present homage. Steady and disciplined sages offer with reverence this praise to the fire divine, like the gold-like shining sun, raised high to the sky. 12

2

The young mother cherishes her mutilated boy in secret, and gives him not up to the father (worshipper) ; but when he gets up the people see his unfading countenance before them. (Young mother is the lower piece of wood, and the boy is latent fire). 1

कमेतं त्वं युवते कुमारं पेषी बिभर्षि महिषी जजान ।
पूर्वीर्हि गर्भः शरदो ववर्धापश्यं जातं यदसूत माता ॥२॥
हिरण्यदन्तं शुचिवर्णमारात्क्षेत्रादपश्यमायुधा मिमानम् ।
ददानो अस्मा अमृतं विपृक्वत्किं मामनिन्द्राः कृणवन्ननुक्थाः ॥३॥
क्षेत्रादपश्यं सनुतश्चरन्तं सुमद्यूथं न पुरु शोभमानम् ।
न ता अगृभ्रन्नजनिष्ट हि षः पलिक्नीरिद्युवतयो भवन्ति ॥४॥

kám etáṃ tváṃ yuvate kumārám péshī bibharshi máhishī jajāna | pūrvī́r hí gárbhaḥ ṣarádo vavárdhā́paṣyaṃ jātáṃ yád ásūta mātā́ || 2 || híraṇyadantaṃ ṣúcivarṇam ārā́t kshétrād apaṣyam ā́yudhā mímānam | dadānó asmā amṛ́taṃ vipṛ́kvat kím mā́m anindrā́ḥ kṛiṇavann anukthā́ḥ || 3 || kshétrād apaṣyaṃ sanutáṣ cárantaṃ sumád yūthám ná purú ṣóbhamānam | ná tā́ agṛibhrann ájanishṭa hí sháḥ páliknīr íd yuvatáyo bhavanti || 4 ||

के मे मर्यकं वि यवन्त गोभिर्न येषां गोपा अरणश्चिदास ।
य ईं जगृभुरव ते सृजन्त्वाजाति पश्व उप नश्चिकित्वान् ॥५॥
वसां राजानं वसतिं जनानामरातयो नि दधुर्मर्त्येषु ।
ब्रह्माण्यत्रेरव तं सृजन्तु निन्दितारो निन्द्यासो भवन्तु ॥६॥

ké me maryakáṃ ví yavanta góbhir ná yéshāṃ gopā́ áraṇaṣ cid ā́sa | yá īṃ jagṛibhúr áva té sṛijantv ā́jāti paṣvá úpa naṣ cikitvā́n || 5 || vasā́ṃ rā́jānaṃ vasatíṃ jánānām árātayo ní dadhur mártyeshu | bráhmāṇy átrer áva tám sṛijantu ninditā́ro níndyāso bhavantu || 6 ||

O youthful one, what boy is this whom you carry ? The mighty queen has given him birth. The unborn has grown through many autumns. I see him born as the mother bears him. 2

I see him from a close distance, the golden-toothed, bright-coloured, hurling his weapons from his own place. At what time, shall I offer to him unadulterated ambrosia. How can now the Godless and hymnless people harm me ? 3

I see him (the fire) passing secretly from place to place, like a herd of cattle, and shining brightly of his own accord. The people do not arrest his growth, but again he has been born, and now the flames which had become grey-haired are once more young. 4

Who disunited my people from cattle ? Is there not for them an invincible protector ? May they free them, whosoever of having seized them upon. May he, the observant bring back the herd to us. 5

Enemies have secretly kidnapped this sovereign king of people, the refuge of men. May the prayers of the fearless sage set him free. May those who revile be reviled. 6

॥१५॥ शुनश्चिच्छेपं निदितं सहस्राद्यूपादमुञ्चो अशमिष्ट हि षः ।
एवास्मदग्ने वि मुमुग्धि पाशान्होतश्चिकित्व इह तू निषद्य ॥७॥
हृणीयमानो अप हि मदैयेः प्र मे देवानां व्रतपा उवाच ।
इन्द्रो विद्वाँ अनु हि त्वा चचक्ष तेनाहमग्ने अनुशिष्ट आगाम् ॥८॥
वि ज्योतिषा बृहता भात्यग्निराविर्विश्वानि कृणुते महित्वा ।
प्रादेवीर्मायाः सहते दुरेवाः शिशीते शृङ्गे रक्षसे विनिक्षे ॥९॥
उत स्वानासो दिवि षन्त्वग्नेस्तिग्मायुधा रक्षसे हन्तवा उ ।
मदे चिदस्य प्र रुजन्ति भामा न वरन्ते परिबाधो अदेवीः ॥१०॥

ṣúnaṣ eic chépam níditam sahásrād yū́pād amuñco áṣamishṭa hí sháḥ | evā́smád agne ví mumugdhi pā́ṣān hótaṣ cikitva ihá tū́ nishádya || 7 || hriṇīyámāṇo ápa hí mád aíyeḥ prá me devā́nām vratapā́ uvāca | índro vidvā́ñ ánu hí tvā cacáksha ténāhám agne ánuṣishṭa ā́gām || 8 || ví jyótishā bribatā́ bhāty agnír āvír víṣvāni krinute mahitvā́ | prā́devīr māyā́ḥ sahate durévāḥ ṣíṣīte ṣríñge rákshase viníkshe || 9 || utá svānā́so diví shantv agnés tigmā́yudhā rákshase hántavā́ u | máde cid asya prá rujanti bhā́mā ná varante paribā́dho ádevīḥ || 10 ||

एतं ते स्तोमं तुविजात विप्रो रथं न धीरः स्वपा अतक्षम् ।
यदीदग्ने प्रति त्वं देव हर्याः स्वर्वतीरप एना जयेम ॥११॥
तुविग्रीवो वृषभो वावृधानोऽशत्र्वर्यः समजाति वेदः ।
इतीममग्निममृता अवोचन्बर्हिष्मते मनवे शर्म यंसद्धविष्मते मनवे शर्म यंसत् ॥१२॥

etám te stómam tuvijāta vípro rátham ná dhīraḥ svápā atakshaṃ | yádíd agne práti tvám deva háryāḥ svàrvatīr apá enā jayema || 11 || tuvigrívo vrishabhó vāvridhānò 'ṣatrv àryáḥ sám ajāti védaḥ | ítīmám agním amrítā avocan barhíshmate mánave ṣárma yaṅsad dhavíshmate mánave ṣárma yaṅsat || 12 ||

O adorable God, may you liberate the most wise sage bound with his worries, for thousands of actions, he prays with fervour. So, may you, O most intelligent and invoker Lord, listen to our prayer, and free us from all bonds that bind us. 7

O adorable Lord, you have gone away from me, as if in anger. The protector of truth, the resplendent self has told me this : "Follow Truth". Having been so advised, may I follow the instruction. 8

The glory of adorable God shines with great and varied radiance, and by His greatness, He makes all things Manifest. He overcomes godless malignant delusions and sharpens His measures for the destruction of the violent infidels. 9

May you roaring flames, O adorable Lord, be manifest in the sky as sharp weapons, to destroy infidels. In His exhilaration may His shining splendour inflict destruction. The godless hands try to bind him from all sides but do not succeed. 10

As a skilled craftsman makes a car, I, a devout worshipper, have composed this hymn for you, O mighty one. If, O divine adorable Lord, ever glorious, you approve of it, then may [illegible] obtain abundant heavenly bliss. 11

May He, the strong-necked, the showerer of benefits, ever increasing, mighty Lord, gather the riches of the evil-minded men, without opposition. The immortals have spoken thus to Lord, "Be pleased to bestow happiness on the man who is dedicated ; happiness to the man who is prosperous". 12

(३) तृतीयं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो वसुश्रुत ऋषिः । (१-२, ४-१२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचो- श्चतुर्थ्यादिनवानाञ्चाग्निः, (३) तृतीयायाश्च मरुद्रुद्रविष्णवो देवताः । (१) प्रथमर्चो विराट्, (२-१२) द्वितीयाद्येकादशानाञ्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१६॥ त्वमग्ने वरुणो जायसे यत्त्वं मित्रो भवसि यत्समिद्धः ।
त्वे विश्वे सहसस्पुत्र देवास्त्वमिन्द्रो दाशुषे मर्त्याय ॥१॥
त्वमर्यमा भवसि यत्कनीनां नाम स्वधावन्गुह्यं बिभर्षि ।
अञ्जन्ति मित्रं सुधितं न गोभिर्यद्दम्पती समनसा कृणोषि ॥२॥
तव श्रिये मरुतो मर्जयन्त रुद्र यत्ते जनिम चारु चित्रम् ।
पदं यद्विष्णोरुपमं निधायि तेन पासि गुह्यं नाम गोनाम् ॥३॥
तव श्रिया सुदृशो देव देवाः पुरू दधाना अमृतं सपन्त ।
होतारमग्निं मनुषो नि षेदुर्दशस्यन्त उशिजः शंसमायोः ॥४॥

3.

Tvám agne váruṇo jāyase yát tvám mitró bhavasi yát sámiddhaḥ | tvé víṣve sahasas putra devā́s tvám índro dāṣúshe mártyāya || 1 || tvám aryamā́ bhavasi yát kanī́nāṃ nā́ma svadhāvan gúhyam bibharshi | añjánti mitráṃ súdhitaṃ ná góbhir yád dámpatī sámanasā kriṇóshi || 2 || táva ṣriyé marúto marjayanta rúdra yát te jánima cā́ru citrám | padáṃ yád víshṇor upamáṃ nidhā́yi téna pāsi gúhyaṃ nā́ma gónām || 3 || táva ṣriyā́ sudríṣo deva devā́ḥ purū́ dádhānā amrítaṃ sapanta | hótāram agním mánusho ní shedur daṣasyánta uṣíjaḥ ṣáṅsam āyóḥ || 4 ||

न त्वद्धोता पूर्वो अग्ने यजीयान्न काव्यैः परो अस्ति स्वधावः ।
विशश्च यस्या अतिथिर्भवासि स यज्ञेन वनवद्देव मर्तान् ॥५॥

ná tvád dhótā pū́rvo agne yájīyān ná kā́vyaiḥ paró asti svadhāvaḥ | viṣáṣ ca yásyā átithir bhávāsi sá yajñéna vanavad deva mártān || 5 ||

3

O adorable God, when your glory is revealed, you become venerable to all, and when enkindled, your glory shines like the Sun. In you, O source of strength, all the powers of Nature's forces are centred. You are like a bounteous king to men, who offer sincere devotion to you. 1

O self-sustained fire-divine, you bear mysterious name, you become upholder of law in relation to maidens. They anoint you, like a welcomed friend, with milk and butter, when you make husband and wife of one mind. 2

For your glory, the cloudbearing winds sweep the firmament. O Lord of cosmic vitality, your manifestation is charming and wonderful. Since the pervading lord has placed cosmic waters at the high place, you uphold the mysterious name. 3

O adorable Lord, Nature's forces are lovely. Through your glory and by their liberal gifts they gain immortality. Men desirous of long life, adore the fire-divine, the conveyor of offerings by homage and prayers. 4

There has been no granter of rewards, more venerable than you, O adorable God, nor shall there be one worthier of invocations through hymns of praises. The man, within whose house you live as guest, shall surely obtain prosperity and progeny through his noble deeds. 5

व॒यम॑ग्ने वनुयाम॒ त्वोता॑ वसू॒यवो॑ ह॒विषा॒ बुध्य॑मानाः ।
व॒यं स॑म॒र्ये वि॒दथे॒ष्वह्नां॑ व॒यं रा॒या स॑हसस्पुत्र॒ मर्ता॑न् ॥६॥

vayám agne vanuyāma tvótā vasūyávo havíshā búdhyamānāḥ | vayáṃ samaryé vidátheshv áhnāṃ vayáṃ rāyá sahasas putra mártān || 6 ||

॥१७॥ यो न॒ आगो॑ अ॒भ्येनो॒ भर॒त्यधी॒दघ॑म॒घशं॑से दधात ।
ज॒ही चि॑कित्वो अ॒भिश॑स्तिमे॒तामग्ने॒ यो नो॑ म॒र्चय॑ति द्व॒येन॑ ॥७॥
त्वाम॒स्या व्यु॑षि देव॒ पूर्वे॑ दू॒तं कृ॑ण्वा॒ना अ॑यजन्त ह॒व्यैः ।
सं॒स्थे यद॑ग्न॒ ईय॑से रयी॒णां दे॒वो मर्तै॒र्वसु॑भिरि॒ध्यमा॑नः ॥८॥
अव॑ स्पृधि पि॒तरं॒ योधि॑ वि॒द्वान्पु॒त्रो यस्ते॑ सहसः सून ऊ॒हे ।
क॒दा चि॑कित्वो अ॒भि च॑क्षसे॒ नोऽग्ने॑ क॒दाँ ऋ॑त॒चिद्या॑तयासे ॥९॥
भूरि॒ नाम॒ वन्द॑मानो दधाति पि॒ता व॑सो॒ यदि॒ तज्जो॒षया॑से ।
कु॒विद्दे॒वस्य॒ सह॑सा चका॒नः सु॒म्नम॒ग्निर्व॑नते वावृ॒धा॒नः ॥१०॥
त्वम॒ङ्ग ज॑रि॒तारं॑ यविष्ठ॒ विश्वा॒न्यग्ने॑ दुरि॒ताति॑ पर्षि ।
स्ते॒ना अ॑दृश्रन्रि॒पवो॒ जना॒सोऽज्ञा॑तकेता वृजि॒ना अ॑भूवन् ॥११॥

yó na ágo abhy éno bhárāty ádhíd aghám aghásaṅse dadhāta | jahí cikitvo abhíṣastim etám ágne yó no marcáyati dvayéna || 7 || tvám asyá vyúshi deva pū́rve dūtáṃ kriṇvāná ayajanta havyaíḥ | saṃsthé yád agna íyase rayīṇáṃ devó mártair vásubhir idhyámānaḥ || 8 || áva spridhi pitáraṃ yódhi vidván putró yás te sahasaḥ sūna ūhé | kadá cikitvo abhí cakshase nó 'gne kadáñ ritacíd yātayāse || 9 || bhū́ri náma vándamāno dadhāti pitá vaso yádi táj josháyāse | kuvíd devásya sáhasā cakānáḥ sumnám agnír vanate vāvridhānáḥ || 10 || tvám aṅgá jaritáraṃ yavishṭha víṣvāny agne duritáti parshi | stená adriṣran ripávo jánāsó 'jñātaketā vrijiná abhūvan || 11 ||

O adorable God, may we, the aspirants of wealth, aided by you, be safe under your protection ; may we acquire riches, through our devotion, be victorious in our struggles, and be successful in our worship every day; and may we, O source of strength, obtain prosperous sons and grandsons. 6

May adorable Lord inflict evil upon the evil-plotter, who commits sin or wickedness against us. May the sagacious Lord destroy the calumniator, who injures us with double-dealing. 7

At the dawn's flushing, O adorable Lord, people from the earliest times have been serving you with offerings, accepting you as the envoy of Nature's bounties. You, O bright shining fire-divine enkindled by the mortal devotees, please go to places of worship, the places where the wealth is stored. 8

May you carry him across the troubles, O Lord, the source of strength, who offers to you reverence, like a wise son to his father. O sagacious Lord, when will you look upon us ? When will you, O Lord, ordainer of eternal law, direct us to noble path ? 9

Glorifying you, he addresses you with many a name, when you, O Lord, the bestower of dwellings, as father are pleased to accept this. Verily the Lord, proud of His strength and splendour, bestows happiness upon His true devotee. 10

Most youthful adorable God, verily you bear your adorer safely beyond all his troubles. We now know our thieves and hostile people. We have, however, to guard against those who have gone underground. 11

इमे यामासस्त्वद्रिगभूवन्वसवे वा तदिदागो अवाचि ।
नाहायमग्निरभिशस्तये नो न रीषते वावृधानः परा दात् ॥१२॥

imé yā́māsas tvadríg abhūvan vásave vā tád íd ā́go avāci | nā́hāyám agnír abhíśastaye no ná ríshate vāvṛidhānáḥ párā dāt || 12 ||

(४) चतुर्थं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो वसुश्रुत ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१८॥ त्वामग्ने वसुपतिं वसूनामभि प्र मन्दे अध्वरेषु राजन् ।
त्वया वाजं वाजयन्तो जयेमाभि ष्याम पृत्सुतीर्मर्त्यानाम् ॥१॥
हव्यवाळग्निरजरः पिता नो विभुर्विभावा सुदृशीको अस्मे ।
सुगार्हपत्याः समिषो दिदीह्यस्मद्र्य१क्सं मिमीहि श्रवांसि ॥२॥
विशां कविं विश्पतिं मानुषीणां शुचिं पावकं घृतपृष्ठमग्निम् ।
नि होतारं विश्वविदं दधिध्वे स देवेषु वनते वार्याणि ॥३॥
जुषस्वाग्न इळया सजोषा यतमानो रश्मिभिः सूर्यस्य ।
जुषस्व नः समिधं जातवेद आ च देवान्हविरद्याय वक्षि ॥४॥

4.

Tvā́m agne vásupatiṃ vásūnām abhí prá mande adhvaréshu rājan | tváyā vā́jaṃ vājayánto jayemābhí shyāma pritsutī́r mártyānām || 1 || havyavā́ḷ agnír ajáraḥ pitā́ no vibhúr vibhā́vā sudṛíṣīko asmé | sugārhapatyā́ḥ sám ísho didīhy asmadryàk sám mimīhi ṣrávāṅsi || 2 || viṣā́ṃ kavíṃ viṣpátim mā́nushīṇāṃ ṣúcim pāvakáṃ ghṛitápṛishṭham agním ní hótāraṃ viṣvavídaṃ dadhidhve sá devéshu vanate vā́ryāṇi || 3 || jushásvāgna íḷayā sajóshā yátamāno raṣmíbhiḥ sū́ryasya | jushásva naḥ samídhaṃ jātaveda ā́ ca devā́n havirádyāya vakshi || 4 ||

These eulogies have been directed towards you, and we have also confessed our crimes, O Lord, the giver of dwellings. May the adorable Lord, well-pleased by our praises, never yield us to the maligner or the malevolent. 12

4

O adorable Lord, sovereign king of wealth and treasures, I glorify you whilst busy at the selfless noble deeds. May we obtain the strength we long for, through you ; and through you, may we overcome the fierce attacks of the forces of wicked persons. 1

The eternal adorable Lord, the bearer of oblations, is our protector. He is all-pervading, resplendent, and pleasing in appearance. May He supply us plenty of food, in return of our well-maintained household fire and measure out to us abundant food and fame. 2

O men enshrine the cosmic fire in your hearts, as Lord of the Society of human beings, the pure, the purifying, balmed with water or butter and invoker of divine powers. He bestows upon His learned worshippers the choicest gifts. 3

O cosmic fire, competing with solar rays may you relish our offerings, and in this let your effulgence also participate. May you enjoy, O universally present fire, this fuel of ours, and bring here other Nature's bounties also to have their share. 4

जुष्टो दमूना अतिथिर्दुरोण इमं नो यज्ञमुप याहि विद्वान् ।
विश्वा अग्ने अभियुजो विहत्या शत्रूयतामा भरा भोजनानि ॥५॥

júshṭo dámūnā átithir duroṇá imám no yajñám úpa yāhi vidvā́n | víṣvā agne abhiyújo vihátyā ṣatrūyatā́m ā́ bharā bhójanāni || 5 ||

॥१९॥ वधेन दस्युं प्र हि चातयस्व वयः कृण्वानस्तन्वे३ स्वायै ।
पिपर्षि यत्सहसस्पुत्र देवान्त्सो अग्ने पाहि नृतम वाजे अस्मान् ॥६॥
वयं ते अग्न उक्थैर्विधेम वयं हव्यैः पावक भद्रशोचे ।
अस्मे रयिं विश्ववारं समिन्वास्मे विश्वानि द्रविणानि धेहि ॥७॥

vadhéna dásyum prá hí cātáyasva váyaḥ kriṇvānás tanvè svā́yai | píparshi yát sahasas putra devā́n só agne pāhi nritama vā́je asmā́n || 6 || vayáṃ te agna ukthaír vidhema vayáṃ havyaíḥ pāvaka bhadraṣoce | asmé rayíṃ viṣvávāraṃ sám invāsmé víṣvāni drávinạ̄ni dhehi || 7 ||

अस्माकमग्ने अध्वरं जुषस्व सहसः सूनो त्रिषधस्थ हव्यम् ।
वयं देवेषु सुकृतः स्याम शर्मणा नस्त्रिवरूथेन पाहि ॥८॥
विश्वानि नो दुर्गहा जातवेदः सिन्धुं न नावा दुरितानि पर्षि ।
अग्ने अत्रिवन्नमसा गृणानो३ऽस्माकं बोध्यविता तनूनाम् ॥९॥

asmā́kam agne adhvaráṃ jushasva sáhasaḥ sūno trishadhastha havyám | vayáṃ devéshu sukrítaḥ syāma ṣármaṇā nas trivárūthena pāhi || 8 || víṣvāni no durgáhā jātavedaḥ síndhuṃ ná nāvā́ duritā́ti parshi | ágne atriván námasā grinānò 'smā́kam bodhy avitā́ tanū́nām || 9 ||

O adorable Lord, you are loving, generous and honoured as respectable guest in our homes. May you come to bless our fire-ritual. May you having scattered all our adversaries, bring to us the possessions of our foe-men. 5

O adorable Lord, may you demolish, with your weapon, the wicked, appropriating possessions for the benefit of such persons, as belong to you. O source of strength, chief of leaders, inasmuch as you satisfy Nature's bounties, so may you, protect us in our struggles. 6

O Lord of auspicious lustre, and purifier, we adore you, with our hymns and offerings. May you bestow upon us all desired riches ; bestow upon us all sorts of treasures. 7

O source of strength, dweller in three regions, accept our devotion and offerings. May we be regarded among learned as the doers of good. May you protect us with triply-guarding shelter. 8

May you bear us, O omniscient Lord, over all unsurmountable woes and evils, as on a boat across a river. O Lord, we, like any other person liberated glorify you with reverence. You very well known that you alone are the guardian of our person. 9

यस्त्वा हृदा कीरिणा मन्यमानोऽमर्त्यं मर्त्यो जोहवीमि ।
जातवेदो यशो अस्मासु धेहि प्रजाभिरग्ने अमृतत्वमश्याम् ॥१०॥
यस्मै त्वं सुकृते जातवेद उ लोकमग्ने कृणवः स्योनम् ।
अश्विनं स पुत्रिणं वीरवन्तं गोमन्तं रयिं नशते स्वस्ति ॥११॥

yás tvā hridā́ kīríṇā mányamānó 'martyam mártyo jóhavīmi | jā́tavedo yáṣo asmā́su dhehi prajā́bhir agne amritatvám aṣyām || 10 || yá-smai tvám sukríte jātaveda u lokám agne krinávah syo-nám | aṣvínam sá putríṇam vīrávantam gómantam rayím naṣate svastí || 11 ||

(५) पञ्चमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो वसुश्रुत ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च इध्मः समिद्धो वाग्निः. (२) द्वितीयाया नराशंसः. (३) तृतीयाया इळः. (४) चतुर्थ्या बर्हिः. (५) पञ्चम्या देवीर्द्वारः. (६) षष्ठ्या उषासानक्ता. (७) सप्तम्या दैव्यौ होतारौ प्रचेतसौ. (८) अष्टम्यास्तिस्रो देव्यः सरस्वतीळाभारत्यः. (९) नवम्यास्त्वष्टा (१०) दशम्या वनस्पतिः (११) एकादश्याश्च स्वाहाकृतयो देवताः । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

२०॥ सुसमिद्धाय शोचिषे घृतं तीव्रं जुहोतन । अग्नये जातवेदसे ॥१॥
नराशंसः सुषूदतीमं यज्ञमदाभ्यः । कविर्हि मधुहस्त्यः ॥२॥
ईळितो अग्न आ वहेन्द्रं चित्रमिह प्रियम् । सुखै रथेभिरूतये ॥३॥
ऊर्णम्रदा वि प्रथस्वाभ्यर्का अनूषत । भवा नः शुभ्र सातये ॥४॥
देवीर्द्वारो वि श्रयध्वं सुप्रायणा न ऊतये । प्रप्र यज्ञं पृणीतन ॥५॥

5.

Súsamiddhāya ṣocíshe ghritám tīvrám juhotana | agnáye jātávedase || 1 || nárāṣáñsah sushūdatīmám yajñám ádā-bhyah | kavír hí mádhuhastyah || 2 || īlitó agna á vahén-dram citrám ihá priyám | sukhaí ráthebhir ūtáye || 3 || ū́r-ṇamradā ví prathasvābhy àrkā́ anūshata | bhávā nah ṣu-bhra sātáye || 4 || dévīr dvāro ví ṣrayadhvam suprāyaṇā́ na ūtáye | prá-pra yajñám priṇītana || 5 ||

Though mortal, I earnestly invoke you, O immortal Lord, praising you with a devoted heart. O omniscient Lord, may you vouchsafe me, fame and repute, and may I obtain immortality through the continuance of my posterity. 10

O omniscient adorable God, upon whatsoever performer of noble acts, you cast a favourable regard, he enjoys welfare and wealth, and becomes the possessor of horses, brave sons, cows and cattle. 11

5

Offer hot and clarified butter to the well-kindled shining omnipresent fire-divine. 1

Ever-praised by men, the fire-divine inspires sacred acts, He is wise, uninjurable, and sweet-handed. 2

Adored, O fire-divine, bring hither the splendid and friendly sun, with his easy-going chariot for our protection. 3

May you spread your grassy seats soft as a sooly blanket, and sing holy hymns. May the splendrous Lord grant rewards to us. 4

O divine doors, be easy of access for our protection ; may our sacred worship be a success. 5

॥२१॥ सुप्रतीके वयोवृधा यह्वी ऋतस्य मातरा । दोषामुषासमीमहे ॥६॥
वातस्य पत्मन्नीळिता दैव्या होतारा मनुषः । इमं नो यज्ञमा गतम् ॥७॥
इळा सरस्वती मही तिस्रो देवीर्मयोभुवः । बर्हिः सीदन्त्वस्रिधः ॥८॥
शिवस्त्वष्टरिहा गहि विभुः पोष उत त्मना । यज्ञेयज्ञे न उदव ॥९॥
यत्र वेत्थ वनस्पते देवानां गुह्या नामानि । तत्र हव्यानि गामय ॥१०॥
स्वाहाग्नये वरुणाय स्वाहेन्द्राय मरुद्भ्यः । स्वाहा देवेभ्यो हविः ॥११॥

suprátīke vayovṛ́dhā yahvī́ ṛtásya mātárā | doshā́m ushā́sam īmahe || 6 || vā́tasya pátmann īḷitā́ daívyā hótārā mánushaḥ | imám no yajñám ā́ gatam || 7 || íḷā sárasvatī — || 8 || ṣivás tvashṭar ihā́ gahi vibhúḥ pósha utá tmánā | yajñé-yajñe na úd ava || 9 || yátra véttha vanaspate devā́nāṃ gúhyā nā́māni | tátra havyā́ni gāmaya || 10 || svā́hāgnáye várunāya svā́héndrāya marúdbhyaḥ | svā́hā devébhyo havíḥ || 11 ||

(६) षष्ठ सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो वसुश्रुत ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । पङ्क्तिश्छन्दः ॥

॥२२॥ अग्निं तं मन्ये यो वसुरस्तं यं यन्ति धेनवः ।
अस्तमर्वन्त आशवोऽस्तं नित्यासो वाजिन इषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥१॥

6.

Agním tám manye yó vásur ástaṃ yáṃ yánti dhenávaḥ | ástam árvanta āṣávó 'staṃ nítyāso vājína íshaṃ stotṛ́bhya ā́ bhara || 1 ||

We supplicate the evening and dawn who are lovely, givers of longevity, mighty and the abiders of eternal laws. 6

Glorified may you, O divine invokers of Nature's bounties come with the speed of wind to bless the sacred worship of this man, the institutor. 7

May the divine spirit of wisdom, speech and prosperity, the benevolent sources of happiness, perpetually have the proper seat within our hearts. 8

O benevolent and plentiful architect of universe, being propitious, come of your own accord, and help us in our every sacred act. 9

Wherever you know, O Lord of vegetation, the secret forms of Nature's bounties to be, thither may you send our offerings. 10

Hail to the adorable, hail to the venerable, and hail to the resplendent Lord ; hail to the vital principles and hail with oblations to other Nature's bounties. 11

6

I glorify that adorable Lord, who provides habitation ; gives shelter to the milch-kine, and to the fleet-foot coursers. The constant offerers of homage also seek him. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 1

सो अग्निर्यो वसुर्गृणे सं यमायन्ति धेनवः ।
समर्वन्तो रघुद्रुवः सं सुजातासः सूरय इषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥२॥
अग्निर्हि वाजिनं विशे ददाति विश्वचर्षणिः ।
अग्नी राये स्वाभुवं स प्रीतो याति वार्यमिषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥३॥
आ ते अग्न इधीमहि द्युमन्तं देवाजरम् ।
यद्ध स्या ते पनीयसी समिद्दीदयति द्यवीषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥४॥
आ ते अग्न ऋचा हविः शुक्रस्य शोचिषस्पते ।
सुश्चन्द्र दस्म विश्पते हव्यवाट् तुभ्यं हूयत इषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥५॥

só agnír yó vásur griṇé sáṃ yám āyánti dhenávaḥ | sám árvanto raghudrúvaḥ sáṃ sujātā́saḥ sūráya ísham — || 2 || agnír hí vājínam viṣé dádāti viṣvácarshaṇiḥ | agní rāyé svābhúvaṃ sá prītó yāti vā́ryam ísham — || 3 || ā́ te agna idhīmahi dyumántaṃ devājáram | yád dha syā́ te pánīyasī samíd dīdáyati dyávísham — || 4 || ā́ te agna ricā́ havíḥ ṣúkrasya ṣocishas pate | súṣcandra dásma víṣpate hávyavāṭ túbhyaṃ hūyata ísham — || 5 ||

॥२३॥ प्रो त्ये अग्नयोऽग्निषु विश्वं पुष्यन्ति वार्यम् ।
ते हिन्विरे त इन्विरे त इषण्यन्त्यानुषगिषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥६॥
तव त्ये अग्ने अर्चयो महि व्राधन्त वाजिनः ।
ये पत्वभिः शफानां व्रजा भुरन्त गोनामिषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥७॥

pró tyé agnáyo 'gníshu víṣvam pushyanti vā́ryam | té hinvire tá invire tá ishaṇyanty ānushág ísham — || 6 || táva tyé agne arcáyo máhi vrādhanta vājínaḥ | yé pátvabhiḥ ṣaphā́nāṃ vrajā́ bhuránta gónām ísham — || 7 ||

He is the adorable Lord praised as the giver of dwellings to whom the milch-kine, the short-paced horse and devout worshippers of high descent come. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 2

Adorable God, the observer of all mankind, gives energised food to the man who worships Him. When pleased, He bestows to the aspirants that wealth, which is precious on its own. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 3

O adorable Lord, we kindle your light, bright and undiminishing, so that its blazes keep shining deep in our hearts. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 4

O adorable God, Lord of bright light, bestower of bliss, splendrous, protector of men, the accepter of devotions, to you the worship is offered with the sacred hymns. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 5

These divine flames, enshrined in the worshipful hearts, cherish everything that is precious. They give delight, spread wide within, and perpetually crave for fresh feed. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 6

O adorable Lord, when nourished, these flames of devotion, spread out with the swift speed of horses, and reach the centre, the seat of wisdom and knowledge. May you grant, O Lord, nourishment to those, who adore you. 7

नवा नो अग्न आ भर स्तोतृभ्यः सुक्षितीरिषः ।
ते स्याम य आनृचुस्त्वादूतासो दमेदम इषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥८॥
उभे सुश्चन्द्र सर्पिषो दर्वी श्रीणीष आसनि ।
उतो न उत्पुपूर्या उक्थेषु शवसस्पत इषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥९॥
एवाँ अग्निमजुर्यमुर्गीर्भिर्यज्ञेभिरानुषक् ।
दधदस्मे सुवीर्यमुत त्यदाश्वश्व्यमिषं स्तोतृभ्य आ भर ॥१०॥

návā no agna á bhara stotṛíbhyaḥ sukshitír íshaḥ | té syáma yá ānṛicús tvā́dūtāso dáme-dama ísham — || 8 || ubhé suṣcandra sarpísho dárvī ṣrīṇīsha āsáni | utó na út pupūryā ukthéshu ṣavasas pata ísham — || 9 || evā́ṅ agním ajuryamur gīrbhír yajñébhir ānushák | dádhad asmé suvíryam utá tyád āṣváṣvyam ísham — || 10 ||

(७) सप्तम सूक्तम

(१–१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय इष ऋषि । अग्निर्देवता । (१–९) प्रथमादिनवर्चामनुष्टुप्, (१०) दशम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥२४॥ सखायः सं वः सम्यञ्चमिषं स्तोमं चाग्नये ।
वर्षिष्ठाय क्षितीनामूर्जो नप्त्रे सहस्वते ॥१॥
कुत्रा चिद्यस्य समृतौ रण्वा नरो नृषदने ।
अर्हन्तश्चिद्यमिन्धते संजनयन्ति जन्तवः ॥२॥

7.

Sákhāyaḥ sáṃ vaḥ samyáñcam ísham stómaṃ cāgnáye | várshishṭhāya kshitīnā́m ūrjó náptre sáhasvate || 1 || kútrā cid yásya sámṛitau raṇvā́ náro nṛishádane | árhantaṣ cid yám indhaté saṃjanáyanti jantávaḥ || 2 ||

O adorable Lord, grant fresh food, and happy homes to those who praise you. For us who worship you, you are envoy in every house. May you grant, O Lord, nourishment to those, who adore you. 8

O adorable, the Lord of strength, and bestower of bliss, in order that you fulfil our aspirations, may you accept our devotion as the fire receiving in its mouth the oblations of butter, two ladles full at our solemn rites. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 9

Thus, O adorable Lord, we duly serve you with praises and with offerings successively. So, may you give us what we crave,—lot of brave sons, and wealth of fleet steeds. May you, O Lord, grant nourishment to those, who adore you. 10

7

Friends, offer best homage and praise to the fire-divine, the most liberal benefactor of men, and the powerful son of strength. 1

Where is that cosmic fire in whose presence men rejoice, while offering homage in congregational halls, whom worthy devotees enkindle, and all living beings generate. 2

सं यदिषो वनामहे सं हव्या मानुषाणाम् ।
उत द्युम्नस्य शवस ऋतस्य रश्मिमा ददे ॥३॥
स स्मा कृणोति केतुमा नक्तं चिद्दूर आ सते ।
पावको यद्वनस्पतीन्प्र स्मा मिनात्यजरः ॥४॥
अव स्म यस्य वेषणे स्वेदं पथिषु जुह्वति ।
अभीमह स्वजेन्यं भूमा पृष्ठेव रुरुहुः ॥५॥

sáṃ yád ishó vánāmahe sáṃ havyá mánushāṇām | utá dyumnásya ṣávasa ṛitásya raṣmím á dade || 3 || sá smā kṛiṇoti ketúm á náktaṃ cid dūrá á saté | pāvakó yád vánaspátīn prá smā mináty ajáraḥ || 4 || áva sma yásya véshaṇe svédam pathíshu júhvati | abhīm áha svájenyam bhū́mā pṛishṭhéva ruruhuḥ || 5 ||

॥२५॥

यं मर्त्यः पुरुस्पृहं विदद्विश्वस्य धायसे ।
प्र स्वादनं पितूनामस्ततातिं चिदायवे ॥६॥
स हि ष्मा धन्वाक्षितं दाता न दात्या पशुः ।
हिरिश्मश्रुः शुचिदन्नृभुरनिभृष्टतविषिः ॥७॥
शुचिः ष्म यस्मा अत्रिवत्प्र स्वधितीव रीयते ।
सुषूरसूत माता क्राणा यदानशे भगम् ॥८॥
आ यस्ते सर्पिरासुतेऽग्ने शमस्ति धायसे ।
ऐषु द्युम्नमुत श्रव आ चित्तं मर्त्येषु धाः ॥९॥

yám mártyaḥ puruspṛíhaṃ vidád víṣvasya dháyase | prá svádanam pitūnám ástatātiṃ cid āyáve || 6 || sá hí shmā dhánvákshitaṃ dátā ná dáty á paṣúḥ | híriṣmaṣruḥ ṣúcidann ṛibhúr ánibhṛishṭatavishiḥ || 7 || ṣúciḥ shma yásmā atrivát prá svádhitīva ríyate | sushū́r asūta mātá krāṇá yád ānaṣé bhágam || 8 || á yás te sarpirāsuté 'gne ṣám ásti dháyase | aíshu dyumnám utá ṣráva á cittám mártyeshu dhāḥ || 9 ||

When we present to him devotional homage, and when he accepts the offerings of men, then by the strength of his divine splendour, he assumes the radiance of eternal truth. 3

Verily he gives a signal during the darkness of night to one, who is far off, when he, the purifier, the undecaying, consumes the forest tree. 4

At whose worship the devotees pour the dripping butter upon the ritual fire, and streams mount along the flames, as if ones own son riding upon the back of his father. 5

Him whom, the desired of many, the devout man recognizes as the sustainer of all, the giver of flavour to food and the provider of home to every living man. 6

He, who is vast and possessor of irresistible strength, crops the dry ground strewn with grass and wood, like a herd, while grazing ; he, as if, with a golden beard, and shining teeth. 7

Bright as an axe is he, to whom the mortal sage, exempt from the three types of pains, offers worship ; he, whom his prolific mother, the fire-stick, has given birth to. The benefactor fire then receives the offerings. 8

O adorable Lord, the accepter of homage, like the fire accepting butter, the upholder of all, be delighted by our praise. May you bestow upon the worshippers fame, food and intelligence. 9

इति चिन्मन्युमध्रिजस्त्वादातमा पशुं ददे ।
आदग्ने अपृणतोऽत्रिः सासह्याद्दस्यूनिषः सासह्यान्नॄन् ॥१०॥

íti cin manyúm adhríjas tvádātam á́ paṣúṃ dade | ád agne ápriṇató 'triḥ sāsahyād dásyūn isháḥ sāsahyān nṛ́n || 10 ||

(८) अष्टमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय इष ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ त्वामग्न ऋतायवः समीधिरे प्रत्नं प्रत्नास ऊतये सहस्कृत ।
पुरुश्चन्द्रं यजतं विश्वधायसं दमूनसं गृहपतिं वरेण्यम् ॥१॥
त्वामग्ने अतिथिं पूर्व्यं विशः शोचिष्केशं गृहपतिं नि षेदिरे ।
बृहत्केतुं पुरुरूपं धनस्पृतं सुशर्माणं स्ववसं जरद्विषम् ॥२॥
त्वामग्ने मानुषीरीळते विशो होत्राविदं विविचिं रत्नधातमम् ।
गुहा सन्तं सुभग विश्वदर्शतं तुविष्वणसं सुयजं घृतश्रियम् ॥३॥

8.

Tvám agna ṛitāyávaḥ sám īdhire pratnám pratnása ūtáye sahaskṛita | puruṣcandráṃ yajatáṃ viṣvádhāyasaṃ dámūnasaṃ gṛihápatiṃ várenyam || 1 || tvám agne átithim pūrvyáṃ víṣaḥ ṣocíshkeṣaṃ gṛihápatiṃ ní shedire | bṛihát-ketum pururūpaṃ dhanaspṛítaṃ suṣármāṇaṃ svávasaṃ ja-radvísham || 2 || tvám agne mánushīr īḷate víṣo hotrāvídaṃ vívicim ratnadhátamam | gúhā sántaṃ subhaga viṣvádarṣa-taṃ tuvishvaṇásaṃ suyájaṃ ghṛitaṣríyam || 3 ||

O adorable Lord, may he, the triply liberated sage, take all the gifts of cattle and wealth, offered to you, and with that aid subdue the hostile men. 10

8

O adorable Lord, you are inspirer of strength. From the earliest times, ancient devotees, the lovers of truth, have been enkindling your love in their hearts for their preservation. You are eternal, bliss-bestower, adorable, nourisher of universe, liberal giver, lord of the home holder, and venerable. 1

O adorable Lord, men enshrine you in their hearts, as their dear ancient guest, and master of their homes. You are brilliant like the blazing flame of fire, highly enlightened, and multiform. You are dispenser of wealth, bestower of happiness, kind protector and destroyer of decay and rot. 2

Human beings glorify you, O gracious adorable Lord, the appreciator of offerings, the discriminator between virtue and vice and the most liberal giver of precious things. You the auspicious, stay concealed in the innermost cavity and yet at times visible to all, and your loud voice is heard by them. You just as fire with butter, are honoured by holy hymns and glorified by loving devotion. 3

त्वामग्ने धर्णसिं विश्वधा वयं गीर्भिर्गृणन्तो नमसोप सेदिम ।
स नो जुषस्व समिधानो अङ्गिरो देवो मर्तस्य यशसा सुदीतिभिः ॥४॥
त्वमग्ने पुरुरूपो विशेविशे वयो दधासि प्रत्नथा पुरुष्टुत ।
पुरूण्यन्ना सहसा वि राजसि त्विषिः सा ते तित्विषाणस्य नाधृषे ॥५॥
त्वामग्ने समिधानं यविष्ठ्य देवा दूतं चक्रिरे हव्यवाहनम् ।
उरुज्रयसं घृतयोनिमाहुतं त्वेषं चक्षुर्दधिरे चोदयन्मति ॥६॥
त्वामग्ने प्रदिव आहुतं घृतैः सुम्नायवः सुषमिधा समीधिरे ।
स वावृधान ओषधीभिरुक्षितोऽभि ज्रयांसि पार्थिवा वि तिष्ठसे ॥७॥

tvā́m agne dharṇasíṃ viśvádhā vayáṃ gīrbhír gṛiṇánto námasópa sedima | sá no jushasva samidhānó aṅgiro devó mártasya yaśása sudītíbhiḥ || 4 || tvám agne pururū́po viśé-viśe váyo dadhāsi pratnáthā purushṭuta | purū́ṇy ánnā sáhasā ví rājasi tvíshiḥ sā́ te titvishāṇásya nádhṛíshe || 5 || tvā́m agne samidhānáṃ yavishṭhya devā́ dūtáṃ cakrire havyavā́hanam | urujráyasaṃ ghṛitáyonim ā́hutaṃ tveshā́ṃ cákshur dadhire codayánmati || 6 || tvā́m agne pradíva ā́hutaṃ ghṛitaíḥ sumnāyávaḥ sushamídhā sám idhire | sá vāvṛidhāná óshadhībhir ukshitò 'bhí jráyāṅsi pā́rthivā ví tishṭhase || 7 ||

(९) नवमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो गय ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-४, ६) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां षष्ठ्याश्चानुष्टुप्
(५, ७) पञ्चमीसप्तम्योश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥१॥ त्वामग्ने हविष्मन्तो देवं मर्तास ईळते ।
मन्ये त्वा जातवेदसं स हव्या वक्ष्यानुषक् ॥१॥

9.

Tvám agne havíshmanto devám mártāsa īḷate | mánye tva jātávedasaṃ sá havyá vakshy ānushák || 1 ||

We are drawn near you, O all-sustaining adorable God, adoring you in many ways, singing songs and with reverence. May you, O self-illumined Lord, when enkindled like fire, be propitious to us and with your radiance make us glorious. 4

O adorable Lord, multiform, you grant nourishment to each and every mortal. You by your might, are sovereign over all sorts of nourishing food. Your splendour, when blazing brightly, is unrivalled. 5

O adorable God, ever young, when you are pleased, Nature's bounties are inspired by you and take you as the bearer of homage. Your glory is wide-reaching. Your love to the devotee when invoked, is enkindled as fire with butter. The men inspired by their understanding accept you as the brilliant eye of the universe. 6

From the earliest times, men seeking joy have been kindling you with earnest invocations and devotion, just as fire with fuel and butter. Again, just as sprinkled with butter and fed with plants, the fire spreads all over the layers of land, similarly, you, by the devotion, enlighten the entire life of the worshipper. 7

9

Mortal men with reverential homage, glorify you, O fire-divine. I adore you, O Lord, cognizant of all that is born, so that you may please convey my offerings to Nature's forces. 1

अग्निर्होता दास्वतः क्षयस्य वृक्तबर्हिषः ।
सं यज्ञासश्चरन्ति यं सं वाजासः श्रवस्यवः ॥२॥
उत स्म यं शिशुं यथा नवं जनिष्टारणी ।
धर्तारं मानुषीणां विशामग्निं स्वध्वरम् ॥३॥
उत स्म दुर्गृभीयसे पुत्रो न ह्वार्याणाम् ।
पुरू यो दग्धासि वनाग्ने पशुर्न यवसे ॥४॥
अध स्म यस्यार्चयः सम्यक्संयन्ति धूमिनः ।
यदीमह त्रितो दिव्युप ध्मातेव धमति शिशीते ध्मातरी यथा ॥५॥

agnír hótā dāsvataḥ ksháyasya vriktábarhishaḥ | sáṃ yajñāsaṣ cáranti yáṃ sáṃ vā́jāsaḥ ṣravasyávaḥ || 2 || utá sma yáṃ ṣíṣuṃ yathā návaṃ jánishṭāráṇī | dhartā́ram mā́nushīṇāṃ viṣā́m agníṃ svadhvarám || 3 || utá sma durgṛibhīyase putró ná hvāryā́ṇām | purū́ yó dágdhási vánā́gne paṣúr ná yávase || 4 || ádha sma yásyārcáyaḥ samyák saṃyánti dhūmínaḥ | yád īm áha tritó divy úpa dhmā́teva dhámati ṣíṣīte dhmātárī yathā || 5 ||

तवाहमग्न ऊतिभिर्मित्रस्य च प्रशस्तिभिः ।
द्वेषोयुतो न दुरिता तुर्याम मर्त्यानाम् ॥६॥
तं नो अग्ने अभी नरो रयिं सहस्व आ भर ।
स क्षेपयत्स पोषयद्भुवद्वाजस्य सातय उतैधि पृत्सु नो वृधे ॥७॥

távāhám agna ūtíbhir mitrásya ca práṣastibhiḥ | dveshoyúto ná duritā́ turyā́ma mártyānām || 6 || táṃ no agne abhí náro rayíṃ sahasva ā́ bhara | sá kshepayat sá poshayad bhúvad vā́jasya sātáya utaídhi pṛitsú no vṛidhé || 7 ||

Adorable Lord evokes Nature's bounties to proceed to the home of that person who liberally gives and whose heart is free of impurities ; and further, in whom congregate all sacrifices, securing food and fame. 2

It (the attrition fire) is the one which the two wooden sticks have engendered, like a new-born infant. This has become the supportor of men, and therefore, it fully deserves our adoration for peaceful purposes. 3

It is very hard to harness this fire, like the taming of the offsprings of wriggling snakes. O terrestrial fire, you have the capacity of burning forests as an animal consuming fodder. 4

The fire emits forth the smoke and the flames intensely collect and then diffuse to the three regions. The fire inflates in the firmament like the blower of a bellows and then sharpens its flames as the fire blazing from the blast of the blower. 5

O fire may we through your friendly and protective aids, and by our praises of you, subdue the wickedness of mortal men, and destroy the malignant. 6

O powerful fire, upon us, the institutors of holy acts, please bestow affluence. May this fire lay off our foes, and protect and nourish us and help in procuring energised food. May it be with us in our struggles for success. 7

(१०) दशमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो गय ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३, ५-६) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चमी षष्ठ्योर्ऋचोश्चानुष्टुप् (४, ७) चतुर्थीसप्तम्योश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ अग्न ओजिष्ठमा भर द्युम्नमस्मभ्यमध्रिगो ।
प्र नो राया परीणसा रत्सि वाजाय पन्थाम् ॥१॥
त्वं नो अग्ने अद्भुत क्रत्वा दक्षस्य मंहना ।
त्वे असुर्यमारुहत्क्राणा मित्रो न यज्ञियः ॥२॥
त्वं नो अग्न एषां गयं पुष्टिं च वर्धय ।
ये स्तोमेभिः प्र सूरयो नरो मघान्यानशुः ॥३॥
ये अग्ने चन्द्र ते गिरः शुम्भन्त्यश्वराधसः ।
शुष्मेभिः शुष्मिणो नरो दिवश्चिद्येषां बृहत्सुकीर्तिर्बोधति त्मना ॥४॥
तव त्ये अग्ने अर्चयो भ्राजन्तो यन्ति धृष्णुया ।
परिज्मानो न विद्युतः स्वानो रथो न वाजयुः ॥५॥
नू नो अग्न ऊतये सबाधसश्च रातये ।
अस्माकासश्च सूरयो विश्वा आशास्तरीषणि ॥६॥
त्वं नो अग्ने अङ्गिरः स्तुतः स्तवान आ भर ।
होतर्विभ्वासहं रयिं स्तोतृभ्यः स्तवसे च न उतैधि पृत्सु नो वृधे ॥७॥

10.

Agna ójishṭham ā́ bhara dyumnám asmábhyam adhrigo | prá no rāyā́ párīṇasā rátsi vā́jāya pánthām || 1 || tvám̐ no agne adbhuta krátvā dákshasya maṅhánā | tvé asuryàm ā́ruhat krāṇā́ mitró ná yajñíyaḥ || 2 || tvám̐ no agna eshām̐ gáyam pushṭím̐ ca vardhaya | yé stómebhiḥ prá sūráyo náro maghány ānaśúḥ || 3 || yé agne candra te gíraḥ śumbhánty áśvarādhasaḥ | śúshmebhiḥ śushmíṇo náro diváś cid yéshām bṛihát sukīrtír bódhati tmánā || 4 || táva tyé agne arcáyo bhrā́janto yanti dhṛishṇuyā́ | párijmāno ná vidyútaḥ svānó rátho ná vājayúḥ || 5 || nū́ no agna ūtáye sabā́dhasaś ca rātáye | asmā́kāsaś ca sūráyo víśvā ā́śās tarīsháṇi || 6 || tvám̐ no agne aṅgira stutá stávāna ā́ bhara | hótar vibhvāsáham̐ rayím̐ stotṛíbhya stávase ca na utaídhi pṛitsú no vṛidhé || 7 ||

10

O adorable Lord of irresistible powers, bring to us most powerful and resistless splendour, may you invest us with over-flowing store of wealth, and mark out for us the paths to spiritual enlightenment. 1

O marvellous adorable Lord, gratified by our noble acts, invest in us greatness of vigour. In you abides the strength, necessary to destroy wickedness and evils. You, the O embodiment of holiness, are actively engaged like the radiant sun. 2

O adorable Lord, increase means of sustenance and house and home of ours who are wise and have acquired prosperity through the chanting of vedic hymns. 3

O blissful supreme Lord, those who glorify you with hymns, obtain richness of vitality and are invigorated with the foe-destroying energies. Their fame reaches the height of firmament. This they gain by your own accord (i.e. by your favour). 4

O adorable Lord, these your bright and fierce flames of glory spread all over like the lightnings flashing around and are like a rattling car forcibly procuring foodgrains. 5

Now O adorable Lord, come swiftly for our protection, and for bestowing riches to the needy and oppressed. And may all the aspirations of our enlightened ones be fulfilled. 6

O adorable Lord, dear as our life, glorified in the past, glorified at present, invoker of Nature's forces, bring unto us riches enabling us to overcome the mighty. May you give to your praisers ability to extol you, and be near us for success in struggles. 7

(११) एकादशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सुतम्भर ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ जनस्य गोपा अजनिष्ट जागृविरग्निः सुदक्षः सुविताय नव्यसे ।
घृतप्रतीको बृहता दिविस्पृशा द्युमद्वि भाति भरतेभ्यः शुचिः ॥१॥
यज्ञस्य केतुं प्रथमं पुरोहितमग्निं नरस्त्रिषधस्थे समीधिरे ।
इन्द्रेण देवैः सरथं स बर्हिषि सीदन्नि होता यजथाय सुक्रतुः ॥२॥
असंमृष्टो जायसे मात्रोः शुचिर्मन्द्रः कविरुदतिष्ठो विवस्वतः ।
घृतेन त्वावर्धयन्नग्न आहुत धूमस्ते केतुरभवद्दिवि श्रितः ॥३॥

11.

Jánasya gopá ajanishṭa jágrivir agníḥ sudákshaḥ suvitáya návyase | ghritápratīko brihatá divisprísā dyumád ví bhāti bharatébhyaḥ súciḥ || 1 || yajñásya ketúm prathamám puróhitam agním náras trishadhasthé sám īdhire | índreṇa devaíḥ saráthaṃ sá barhíshi sídan ní hótā yajáthāya sukrátuḥ || 2 || ásammrishṭo jāyase mātróḥ súcir mandráḥ kavír úd atishṭho vivásvataḥ | ghriténa tvāvardhayann agna āhuta dhūmás te ketúr abhavad diví sritáḥ || 3 ||

अग्निर्नो यज्ञमुप वेतु साधुयाग्निं नरो वि भरन्ते गृहेगृहे ।
अग्निर्दूतो अभवद्धव्यवाहनोऽग्निं वृणाना वृणते कविक्रतुम् ॥४॥
तुभ्येदमग्ने मधुमत्तमं वचस्तुभ्यं मनीषा इयमस्तु शं हृदे ।
त्वां गिरः सिन्धुमिवावनीर्महीरा पृणन्ति शवसा वर्धयन्ति च ॥५॥

agnír no yajñám úpa vetu sādhuyágníṃ náro ví bharante grihé-grihe | agnír dūtó abhavad dhavyavāhano 'gníṃ vriṇāná vriṇate kavíkratum || 4 || túbhyedám agne mádhumattamaṃ vácas túbhyam manīshá iyám astu sáṃ hridé | tváṃ gíraḥ síndhum ivāvánīr mahír á priṇanti sávasā vardháyanti ca || 5 ||

11

The glory of the powerful adorable Lord, the protector of man, ever vigilant, is revealed again and again for the fresh prosperity of the world. Whilst pleased with devotion, his intense radiance appears to the devotee as if touching lofty heavens and His glory shines brilliantly for the liberal benefactors. 1

Men, engaged in meditation first kindle the glory of adorable Lord in all the three realms ; physical, vital and mental. The meditating mind, the divine light, the self and the inner organs of cognition, all the four are channelized into one direction, as if riding in one and the same car. He, the one engaged in meditation, sets in the comfortable posture for the transcendental concentration. 2

O adorable Lord, may your glory be manifested in our innermost consciousness, just as the fire (of attrition) is generated unobstructed of the two mothers, and when fed with butter and offerings, it gives out smoke, spreading abroad in the sky, like the banner of your glory. 3

May fire divine, the fulfiller of our aspirations, come to the holy place our work and worship. Devotees cherish the fire-divine in every dwelling which is the bearer of oblations, and becomes an envoy, the bearer of our gifts. Wise men adore the fire-divine as the accomplisher of benevolent works. 4

O adorable Lord, to you, this sweetest prayer is addressed. May this praise, product of my thought, be dear to your heart. May my pious hymns fill you, and make you, for us, yet more mighty in strength, as large rivers replenish the sea. 5

त्वामग्ने अङ्गिरसो गुहा हितमन्वविन्दञ्छिश्रियाणं वनेवने ।
स जायसे मथ्यमानः सहो महत्त्वामाहुः सहसस्पुत्रमङ्गिरः ॥६॥

tvām agne áṅgiraso gúhā hitám ánv avindañ chiśriyāṇáṃ váne -vane | sá jāyase mathyámānaḥ sáho mahát tvām ahuḥ sáhasas putrám aṅgiraḥ || 6 ||

(१२) द्वादशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सुतम्भर ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥
प्राग्नये बृहते यज्ञियाय ऋतस्य वृष्णे असुराय मन्म ।
घृतं न यज्ञ आस्ये३ सुपूतं गिरं भरे वृषभाय प्रतीचीम् ॥१॥
ऋतं चिकित्व ऋतमिच्चिकिद्ध्यृतस्य धारा अनु तृन्धि पूर्वीः ।
नाहं यातुं सहसा न द्वयेन ऋतं सपाम्यरुषस्य वृष्णः ॥२॥
कया नो अग्न ऋतयन्नृतेन भुवो नवेदा उचथस्य नव्यः ।
वेदा मे देव ऋतुपा ऋतूनां नाहं पतिं सनितुरस्य रायः ॥३॥
के ते अग्ने रिपवे बन्धनासः के पायवः सनिषन्त द्युमन्तः ।
के धासिमग्ने अनृतस्य पान्ति क आसतो वचसः सन्ति गोपाः ॥४॥

12.

Prágnáye brihaté yajñíyāya ṛitásya vríshṇe ásurāya mánma | ghṛitáṃ ná yajñá āsyè súpūtaṃ gíram bhare vṛishabhā́ya pratīcím || 1 || ṛitáṃ cikitva ṛitám íc cikiddhy ṛitásya dhā́rā ánu tṛindhi pūrvī́ḥ | nāhám yātúm sáhasā ná dvayéna ṛitáṃ sapāmy arushásya vríshṇaḥ || 2 || káyā no agna ṛitáyann ṛiténa bhúvo návedā ucáthasya návyaḥ | védā me devá ṛitupā́ ṛitūnā́ṃ nāhám pátiṃ sanitúr asyá rāyáḥ || 3 || ké te agne ripáve bándhanāsaḥ ké pāyávaḥ sanishanta dyumántaḥ | ké dhāsím agne ánṛitasya pānti ká ásato vácasaḥ santi gopā́ḥ || 4 ||

O adorable Lord, earnest seekers discover your knowledge, which remains hidden in mystery, like flames taking refuge from wood to wood. Similar to fire by attrition, your glory is manifested by hard toil and great endurance. Therefore devotees call you, O dearest Lord, the source of strength. 6

12

Like well-purified butter poured into the mouth of ritual fire, I offer the usual sincere and thoughtful praise to the adorable Lord, the supreme, the venerable, the guide of eternal truth, the vigorous, the showerer of benefits. 1

O adorable Lord, best knowing the purpose of our truthful prayers, may you listen to our words and thereon send forth full streams of eternal order. I do not use my might for the purposes of violence, and for duplicity in matters of truth and untruth. I faithfully follow the Lord of the eternal law. 2

O adorable Lord, bestower of blessings, by what eternal law will you be giving recognition to our adoration ? May you, O guardian of the laws be pleased to know my purpose. I know not the Lord, who has been distributing riches among us. 3

O adorable Lord, who among us are the subduers of adversaries ? Who among us are the protectors, and distributors of splendid wealth ? Who among us, are the defenders of falsehood and who are the encouragers of evil deeds ? 4

सखायस्ते विषुणा अग्न एते शिवासः सन्तो अशिवा अभूवन् ।
अधूर्षत स्वयमेते वचोभिर्ऋजूयते वृजिनानि ब्रुवन्तः ॥५॥
यस्ते अग्ने नमसा यज्ञमीट्ट ऋतं स पात्यरुषस्य वृष्णः ।
तस्य क्षयः पृथुरा साधुरेतु प्रसर्स्राणस्य नहुषस्य शेषः ॥६॥

sákhāyas te víshuṇā agna eté ṣivā́saḥ sánto áṣivā abhūvan | ádhūrshata svayám eté vácobhir ṛijūyaté vṛijināni bruvántaḥ || 5 || yás te agne námasā yajñám íṭṭa ṛitáṃ sá pāty arushásya vṛíshṇaḥ | tásya ksháyaḥ pṛithúr ā́ sādhúr etu prasársrāṇasya náhushasya ṣéshaḥ || 6 ||

(१३) त्रयोदश सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय सुतम्भर ऋषि । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्द ॥

अर्चन्तस्त्वा हवामहेऽर्चन्तः समिधीमहि । अग्ने अर्चन्त ऊतये ॥१॥
अग्नेः स्तोम मनामहे सिध्रमद्य दिविस्पृशः । देवस्य द्रविणस्यवः ॥२॥
अग्निर्जुषत नो गिरो होता यो मानुषेष्वा । स यक्षद्दैव्यं जनम् ॥३॥
त्वमग्ने सप्रथा असि जुष्टो होता वरेण्यः । त्वया यज्ञं वि तन्वते ॥४॥

13.

Árcantas tvā havāmahé 'rcantaḥ sám idhīmahi | ágne árcanta ūtáye || 1 || agné stómam manāmahe sidhrám adyá divispṛíṣaḥ | devásya draviṇasyávaḥ || 2 || agnír jushata no gíro hótā yó mánusheshv ā́ | sá yakshad daívyaṃ jánam || 3 || tvám agne saprátha asi júshṭo hótā váreṇyaḥ | tváyā yajñáṃ ví tanvate || 4 ||

These widely-dispersed friends of yours, O adorable Lord have been unhappy (whilst abandoning your worship) but are now again enjoying (on renewal of their devotion). May they who utter wicked words against the righteous, suffer by their own words and perish. 5

O resplendent, adorable Lord, the showerer of blessings, may his home be wide and prosperous, who performs your worship with reverence, and lives true to the law eternal. And may the noble aspirations of men, who diligently worship you be fulfilled. 6

13

O adorable Lord, with songs of praise we invoke you ; with invocations we enkindle your glory ; we invoke you for help. 1

Aspiring to be rich, we recite today the effectual praise of adorable Lord, whose radiance touches the luminous heaven. 2

May the adorable Lord, inspirer of Nature's bounties seated in the innerconscience of men, take delight in our praises and honour the wishes of enlightened persons. 3

O adorable Lord, you are the supreme reliance, most venerable, bounteous, and most gracious. Verily it is through you that the sacred works flourish to glory. 4

त्वामग्ने वाजसातमं विप्रा वर्धन्ति सुष्टुतम । स नो रास्व सुवीर्यम ॥५॥
अग्ने नेमिरराँ इव देवाँस्त्वं परिभूरसि । आ राधश्चित्रमृञ्जसे ॥६॥

tvā́m agne vājasā́tamaṃ víprā vardhanti súshṭutam | sá no rāsva suvī́ryam || 5 || ágne nemír arā́ṅ iva devā́ṅs tvám paribhū́r asi | ā́ rádhas citrám ṛiñjase || 6 ||

(१४) चतुर्दशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय सुतम्भर ऋषि । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ अग्निं स्तोमेन बोधय समिधानो अमर्त्यम । हव्या देवेषु नो दधत ॥१॥
तमध्वरेष्वीळते देवं मर्ता अमर्त्यम । यजिष्ठं मानुषे जने ॥२॥
तं हि शश्वन्त ईळते स्रुचा देवं घृतश्चुता । अग्निं हव्याय वोळ्हवे ॥३॥
अग्निर्जातो अरोचत घ्नन्दस्यूञ्ज्योतिषा तमः । अविन्दद्गा अपः स्वः ॥४॥
अग्निमीळेन्यं कविं घृतपृष्ठं सपर्यत । वेतु मे शृणवद्धवम् ॥५॥
अग्निं घृतेन वावृधुः स्तोमेभिर्विश्वचर्षणिम । स्वाधीभिर्वचस्युभिः ॥६॥

14.

Agníṃ stómena bodhaya samidhānó ámartyam | havyā́ devéshu no dadhat || 1 || tám adhvaréshv īḷate devám mártā ámartyam | yájishṭham mánushe jáne || 2 || tám hí ṣáṣvanta īḷate srucā́ devám ghṛitaṣcútā | agníṃ havyā́ya vóḷhave || 3 || agnír jātó arocata ghnán dásyūñ jyótishā támaḥ | ávindad gā́ apáḥ sváḥ || 4 || agním īḷényaṃ kavíṃ ghṛitá-prishṭhaṃ saparyata | vétu me ṣriṇávad dhávam || 5 || agníṃ ghṛiténa vāvṛidhu stómebhir viṣvácarshaṇim | svādhī́bhir vacasyúbhiḥ || 6 ||

Wise worshippers exalt you with praises, O adorable Lord, you are bountiful giver of strength. May you bestow upon us excellent vitality and virility. 5

O adorable Lord, you encompass Nature's forces, as the felly rings the spokes, may you bestow manifold wealth upon us. 6

14

May you arouse the grace of immortal Lord with your prayers ; so that, when pleased, may He, like the flame of fire, bear our homage to Nature's bounties. 1

Mortals extol this immortal, divine supreme, at high solemnities, most adorable among mankind. 2

All glorify the spiritual fire pouring out love from their heart as if butter to fire with sacrificial ladle. They glorify the spiritual fire, so that it conveys their homage to Nature's forces. 3

The spiritual fire as soon as manifested, blazes brightly, destroying the wicked and dispersing the darkness by its lustre. It restores wisdom, action and happiness. 4

May you honour the spiritual fire, the source of wisdom, whose summit blazes with love. May it respond to my invocation. 5

They exalt the spiritual fire, the universal illuminator of the inner realm with intense devotions and hymns of praise singularly meditative and eloquent. 6

(१५) पञ्चदशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो धरुण ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ प्र वेधसे कवये वेद्याय गिरं भरे यशसे पूर्व्याय ।
घृतप्रसत्तो असुरः सुशेवो रायो धर्ता धरुणो वस्वो अग्निः ॥१॥
ऋतेन ऋतं धरुणं धारयन्त यज्ञस्य शाके परमे व्योमन् ।
दिवो धर्मन्धरुणे सेदुषो नॄञ्जातैरजाताँ अभि ये ननक्षुः ॥२॥
अंहोयुवस्तन्वस्तन्वते वि वयो महद्दुष्टरं पूर्व्याय ।
स संवतो नवजातस्तुतुर्यात्सिंहं न क्रुद्धमभितः परि ष्ठुः ॥३॥

15.

Prá vedháse kaváye védyāya gíram bhare yaṣáse pūrvyā́ya | ghṛitáprasatto ásuraḥ suṣévo rāyó dhartā́ dharúṇo vásvo agníḥ || 1 || ṛiténa ṛitám dharúṇam dhārayanta yajñásya ṣākė́ paramé vyòman | divó dhárman dharúṇe sedúsho nṛīñ jātaír ájātāñ abhí yé nanakshúḥ || 2 || aṅhoyúvas tanvàs tanvate ví váyo mahád dushṭáram pūrvyā́ya | sá saṃváto návajātas tuturyāt siṅháṃ ná kruddhám abhítaḥ pári shṭhuḥ || 3 ||

मातेव यद्भरसे पप्रथानो जनंजनं धायसे चक्षसे च ।
वयोवयो जरसे यद्दधानः परि त्मना विषुरूपो जिगासि ॥४॥
वाजो नु ते शवसस्पात्वन्तमुरुं दोघं धरुणं देव रायः ।
पदं न तायुर्गुहा दधानो महो राये चितयन्नत्रिमस्पः ॥५॥

mātéva yád bhárase paprathānó jánaṃ-janaṃ dhā́yase cákshase ca | váyo-vayo jarase yád dádhānaḥ pári tmánā víshurūpo jigāsi || 4 || vā́jo nú te ṣávasas pātv ántam urúṃ dógham dharúṇam deva rāyáḥ | padáṃ ná tāyúr gúhā dádhāno mahó rayé citáyann átrim aspaḥ || 5 ||

15

Devotion live alone pleases our adorable Lord. He is strong, blissful, the possessor of riches, the acceptor of homage and the bestower of habitations. To such a far-seeing, renowned, eternal, glorious, all-wise Lord, the praise I offer. 1

They, who, with the help of mortal priests, gain favour of the immortal leading divine powers, the firm sustainers of the loftiest heaven, by sacred prayers, enshrine in their hearts the Lord of universal fire, who is upholder of all noble deeds, and embodiment of truth. 2

They, who present to the eternal universal fire, the sacred oblations, unattainable by others, their minds and bodies become free from sin and disease. May the Lord, newly-revealed and realized help him to conquer his adversaries, gathered around him, like an angry lion. 3

While pervading everywhere, you support all men like a mother, and being adored for sustaining and imparting knowledge, you mature every kind of food, then, O universal fire, assuming many forms, you comprise all beings in yourself. 4

O divine universal fire, may the sacrificial food, the vast yielder of benefits to men, the sustainer of riches, support the utmost of your vigour ; and may you, like a thief, who keeps his refuge secret, help the sage, exempt from three types of miseries to obtain true wisdom and affluence. 5

(१६) षोडशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः पूरुर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामनुष्टुप् ,
(५) पञ्चम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥८॥

बृहद्वयो हि भानवेऽर्चा देवायाग्नये ।
यं मित्रं न प्रशस्तिभिर्मर्तासो दधिरे पुरः ॥१॥
स हि द्युभिर्जनानां होता दक्षस्य बाह्वोः ।
वि हव्यमग्निरानुषग्भगो न वारमृण्वति ॥२॥
अस्य स्तोमे मघोनः सख्ये वृद्धशोचिषः ।
विश्वा यस्मिन्तुविष्वणि समर्ये शुष्ममादधुः ॥३॥

16

Brihád váyo hí bhānávé 'rcā deváyāgnáye | yám mitrám ná práṣastibhir mártāso dadhiré puráḥ || 1 || sá hí dyúbhir jánānāṃ hótā dákshasya bāhvóḥ | ví havyám agnír ānushág bhágo ná váram riṇvati || 2 || asyá stóme maghónaḥ sakhyé vriddháṣocishaḥ | víṣvā yásmin tuvishváṇi sám aryé ṣúshmam ādadhúḥ || 3 ||

अधा ह्यग्न एषां सुवीर्यस्य मंहना ।
तमिद्यह्वं न रोदसी परि श्रवो बभूवतुः ॥४॥
नू न एहि वार्यमग्ने गृणान आ भर ।
ये वयं ये च सूरयः स्वस्ति धामहे सचोतैधि पृत्सु नो वृधे ॥५॥

ádhā hy àgna eshāṃ suvíryasya maṅhánā | tám íd yahváṃ ná ródasī pári ṣrávo babhūvatuḥ || 4 || nú na éhi váryam ágne griṇāná á bhara | yé vayaṃ yé ca sūráyaḥ svastí dhámahe sácotaídhi pritsú no vridhé || 5 ||

16

Sing abundant devotional praises to the divine and radiant adorable God, whom men, by laudations, assign the foremost place, as given to a friend. 1

That adorable Lord, by the strength and splendour, becomes the ministrant priest of men, who conveys their homage straight to Nature's bounties, and like a gracious friend distributes desirable wealth. 2

May we surrender ourselves to Lord just as persons surrender their strength to the loud-sounding and all-ruling fire. May we the devotees through our love and praise of the rich and extremely radiant Lord, obtain all sorts of prosperity. 3

O adorable Lord, may you be disposed for bestowing excellent strength on these worshippers. In your brilliance, you surpass the glory of heaven and, earth, and even the mighty sun. 4

Glorified by us, O adorable Lord, come quickly, and bring to us precious wealth ; we who are your worshippers, we who are your adorers, offer you welcome, and these devotional oblations. May you be favourable to us, and near to us in the struggles for our victory. 5

(१७) सप्तदशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः पूरुर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामनुष्टुप् . (५) पञ्चम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥९॥

आ यज्ञैर्देव मर्त्य इत्था तव्यांसमूतये ।
अग्निं कृते स्वध्वरे पूरुरीळीतावसे ॥१॥
अस्य हि स्वयशस्तर आसा विधर्मन्मन्यसे ।
तं नाकं चित्रशोचिषं मन्द्रं परो मनीषया ॥२॥
अस्य वासा उ अर्चिषा य आयुक्त तुजा गिरा ।
दिवो न यस्य रेतसा बृहच्छोचन्त्यर्चयः ॥३॥

17.

Á yajñaír deva mártya itthá távyāṅsam ūtáye | agníṃ krité svadhvaré pūrúr īḷītávase || 1 || ásya hí sváyaṣastara āsá vidharman mányase | táṃ nákaṃ citráṣocisham mandrám paró manīsháyā || 2 || asyá vásá u arcíshā yá áyukta tujá girá | divó ná yásya rétasā brihác chócanty arcáyaḥ || 3 ||

अस्य क्रत्वा विचेतसो दस्मस्य वसु रथ आ ।
अधा विश्वासु हव्योऽग्निर्विक्षु प्र शस्यते ॥४॥
नू न इद्धि वार्यमासा सचन्त सूरयः ।
ऊर्जो नपादभिष्टये पाहि शग्धि स्वस्तय उतैधि पृत्सु नो वृधे ॥५॥

asyá krátvā vícetaso dasmásya vásu rátha á | ádhā víṣvāsu hávyo 'gnír vikshú prá ṣasyate || 4 || nú na íd dhí váryam āsá sacanta sūráyaḥ | úrjo napād abhíshṭaye pāhí ṣagdhí svastáya utaídhi — || 5 ||

17

The enlightened man for his help, calls upon the radiant adorable Lord, with sacred worship. He invokes Him for preservation, whenever a sacred work is solemnized. 1

O performer of sacred works, being renowned, may you praise, by your well-conceived words, that adorable Lord, who is possessed of wonderful splendour, is exempt from pain, is venerable, and is supreme, beyond the conception of man. 2

Verily, men gain glory through Him, whose glory is increased by powerful praise, whose various beams of splendour flash on high as though they spring from heavenly seed. 3

Wise devotees obtain prosperity and high nobility through the worship of omniscient Lord, who is full of splendour. Adorable Lord is invoked and glorified by all people. 4

O adorable Lord, may you give us such precious wealth, as is obtained by a devout worshipper, by singing songs of praise. O source of strength, be gracious to us to fulfil our aspirations, and protect us for our welfare. May you bear in our struggles for our prosperity. 5

(१८) अष्टादशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मृक्तवाहा आत्रेयो द्वित ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामनुष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥१०॥

प्रातरग्निः पुरुप्रियो विशः स्तवेतातिथिः ।
विश्वानि यो अमर्त्यो हव्या मर्तेषु रण्यति ॥१॥
द्विताय मृक्तवाहसे स्वस्य दक्षस्य मंहना ।
इन्दुं स धत्त आनुषक्स्तोता चित्ते अमर्त्य ॥२॥
तं वो दीर्घायुशोचिषं गिरा हुवे मघोनाम् ।
अरिष्टो येषां रथो व्यश्वदावन्नीयते ॥३॥

18.

Prātár agníḥ purupriyó viśá stavetâtithiḥ | víśvāni yó ámartyo havyá márteshu ráṇyati || 1 || dvitáya mṛiktávāhase svásya dákshasya maṅhánā | índuṃ śá dhatta ānushák stotá cit te amartya || 2 || táṃ vo dīrgháyuṣocishaṃ girá huve maghónām | árishṭo yéshām rátho vy àṣvadāvann íyate || 3 ||

चित्रा वा येषु दीधितिरासन्नुक्था पान्ति ये ।
स्तीर्णं बर्हिः स्वर्णरे श्रवांसि दधिरे परि ॥४॥
ये मे पञ्चाशतं ददुरश्वानां सधस्तुति ।
द्युमदग्ने महि श्रवो बृहत्कृधि मघोनां नृवदमृत नृणाम् ॥५॥

citrá vā yéshu dídhitir āsánn ukthá pánti yé | stīrṇám barhíḥ svàrṇare ṣrávāṅsi dadhire pári || 4 || yé me pañcā-ṣátaṃ dadúr áṣvānāṃ sadhástuti | dyumád agne máhi ṣrávo bṛihát kṛidhi maghónāṃ nṛivád amṛita nṛiṇám || 5 ||

18

Let the immortal, adorable Lord, who delights in all devotional offerings of mortals, be glorified. May He, the beloved guest of all, be present at dawn. 1

O immortal, be willing to grant a part of your own strength to the seeker, endowed with two-fold qualities—material and spiritual, to the worshipper, who offers devotion with pure heart, for he is your diligent praiser, and offers devotional love increasingly. 2

O glorious bestower of vigour and long life, I invoke you with praises, so that your chariot of virtuous attributes, proceeds unimpeded. 3

Those, among whom there are varied ways of thoughts and practices, who perpetuate the sanctity of hymns by their recital, and who make all preparations for performing sacred worship, may they deck themselves with high fame. 4

O immortal Lord, bestow ample, and abundant food, and many helpful dependants upon those noble men, who at the synod present me fifty (numberless) fast moving vehicles.

(१९) एकोनविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो वव्रिर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोर्गायत्री, (३-४) तृतीयाचतुर्थ्योरनुष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च विराड्रूपा छन्दांसि ॥

॥११॥ अभ्यवस्थाः प्र जायन्ते प्र वव्रेर्वव्रिश्चिकेत । उपस्थे मातुर्वि चष्टे ॥१॥
जुहुरे वि चितयन्तोऽनिमिषं नृम्णं पान्ति । आ दृळ्हां पुरं विविशुः ॥२॥
आ श्वैत्रेयस्य जन्तवो द्युमद्वर्धन्त कृष्टयः ।
निष्कग्रीवो बृहदुक्थ एना मध्वा न वाजयुः ॥३॥
प्रियं दुग्धं न काम्यमजामि जाम्योः सचा ।
घर्मो न वाजजठरोऽदब्धः शश्वतो दभः ॥४॥
क्रीळन्नो रश्म आ भुवः सं भस्मना वायुना वेविदानः ।
ता अस्य सन्धृषजो न तिग्माः सुसंशिता वक्ष्यो वक्षणेस्थाः ॥५॥

19.

Abhy àvasthāḥ prá jāyante prá vavrér vavríṣ ciketa | upásthe mātúr ví cashṭe || 1 || juhuré ví citáyantó 'nimisham nṛimṇám pānti | ā́ drilhā́m púram viviṣuḥ || 2 || ā́ ṣvaitreyásya jantávo dyumád vardhanta krishṭáyaḥ | nishkágrīvo brihádukthа enā́ mádhvā ná vājayúḥ || 3 || priyám dugdhám ná kā́myam ájāmi jāmyóḥ sácā | gharmó ná vā́jajaṭharó 'dabdhaḥ ṣáṣvato dábhaḥ || 4 || krīlan no raṣma ā́ bhuvaḥ sám bhásmanā vāyúnā vévidānaḥ | tā́ asya san dhrishájo ná tigmā́ḥ súsaṃṣitā vakshyò vakshaṇesthā́ḥ || 5 ||

(२०) विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयाः प्रयस्वन्त ऋषयः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्यानुष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥१२॥ यमग्ने वाजसातम त्वं चिन्मन्यसे रयिम् ।
तं नो गीर्भिः श्रवाय्यं देवत्रा पनया युजम् ॥१॥

20.

Yám agne vājasātama tvám cin mányase rayím | tám no gīrbhíḥ ṣravā́yyaṃ devatrā́ panayā yújam || 1 ||

19

Invisible accepter, as Lord Himself is, He looks and cognizes our devotional homage, just as fire in the lap of its mother, accepting oblations and assuming various forms or manifestation. 1

They, who know your power, invoke you incessantly and guard and nourish your glory •by homage. They even enter the impregnable city and stay fortified. 2

Living men of riches, bearing gold chain round their collars, earnest in praise, desirous of nourishment, augment your glorious vigour by their sweet adorations. 3

May adorable five-divine with His two associates, light in heaven and soil on the earth, hear our faultless praise, which is as palatable as milk. He is like a caldron, filled with nourishment and remains unconquered while conquering His foes. 4

O radiant adorable Lord, encouraged by the wind and sporting among the ashes come to us. And may the fierce fiery flames, destructive of foes, be gentle to this, your, worshipper. 5

20

O adorable Lord, bounteous, giver of strength, may you convey our homage to Nature's bounties, of which you approve, and which deserve to be commended by our praises. 1

ये अग्ने नेरयन्ति ते वृद्धा उग्रस्य शवसः ।
अप द्वेषो अप ह्वरोऽन्यव्रतस्य सश्चिरे ॥२॥
होतारं त्वा वृणीमहेऽग्ने दक्षस्य साधनम् ।
यज्ञेषु पूर्व्यं गिरा प्रयस्वन्तो हवामहे ॥३॥
इत्था यथा त ऊतये सहसावन्दिवेदिवे ।
राय ऋताय सुक्रतो गोभिः ष्याम सधमादो वीरैः स्याम सधमादः ॥४॥

yé agne néráyanti te vriddhá ugrásya ṣávasaḥ | ápa dvésho ápa hváro 'nyávratasya saṣcire || 2 || hótāraṃ tvā vriṇīmahé 'gne dákshasya sádhanam | yajñéshu pūrvyáṃ girá práyasvanto havāmahe || 3 || itthá yáthā ta ūtáye sáhasāvan divé-dive | rāyá ritáya sukrato góbhiḥ shyāma sadhamádo vīraíḥ syāma sadhamádaḥ || 4 ||

(२१) एकविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सस ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्यानुष्टुप्
(४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥१३॥ मनुष्वत्त्वा नि धीमहि मनुष्वत्समिधीमहि । अग्ने मनुष्वदङ्गिरो देवान्देवयते यज ॥१॥
त्वं हि मानुषे जनेऽग्ने सुप्रीत इध्यसे । स्रुचस्त्वा यन्त्यानुषक्सुजात सर्पिरासुते ॥२॥
त्वां विश्वे सजोषसो देवासो दूतमक्रत । सपर्यन्तस्त्वा कवे यज्ञेषु देवमीळते ॥३॥

21.

Manushvát tvā ní dhīmahi manushvát sám idhīmahi | ágne manushvád aṅgiro deván devayaté yaja || 1 || tváṃ hí mánushe jáné 'gne súprīta idhyáse | srúcas tvā yanty ānushák sújāta sárpirāsute || 2 || tváṃ víṣve sajóshaso deváso dūtám akrata | saparyántas tvā kave yajñéshu devám īḷate || 3 ||

May those prosperous men, who do not offer homage to you, become destitute of great strength and wealth, and may the followers of paths, other those of the virtuous incur your disfavour and punishment. 2

We, the indefatigable toilers, greet you, the invoker of the Nature's bounties, and the giver of skill and strength. We adore you, foremost at holy ceremonies with praise. 3

O possessor of strength and wisdom, day by day make us such, that we may enjoy your protection; and may we be happily enioying riches earned through righteous means. May we be also the possessors of wealth, cattle and brave children. 4

21

O adorable Lord, like wise sages, we meditate upon your glory ; like wise men, we kindle your glory. O dear Lord, may you like an intelligent person, bless those who aspire to be divine. 1

When you are pleased, O adorable Lord, your glory gladly shines upon the human race. Devotional sweet songs, like ladles full with butter for well-born fire, are constantly offered to you. 2

O far-seeing sage, all the divinities, of one accord, have established you as their envoy. The pious sages whilst engaged in selfless noble works adore you as a Lord. 3

देवं वो देवयज्ययाग्निमीळीत मर्त्यः ।
समिद्धः शुक्र दीदिह्यृतस्य योनिमासदः ससस्य योनिमासदः ॥४॥

devám̐ vo devayajyáyāgním īḷīta mártyaḥ | sámiddhaḥ ṣukra dīdihy ṛitásya yónim ā́sadaḥ sasásya yónim ā́sadaḥ || 4 ||

(२२) द्वाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो विश्वसामा ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्यानुष्टुप्

(४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

प्र विश्वसामन्नत्रिवदर्चा पावकशोचिषे । यो अध्वरेष्वीड्यो होता मन्द्रतमो विशि ॥१॥
न्यग्निं जातवेदसं दधाता देवमृत्विजम् । प्र यज्ञ एत्वानुषगद्या देवव्यचस्तमः ॥२॥
चिकित्विन्मनसं त्वा देवं मर्तास ऊतये । वरेण्यस्य तेऽवस इयानासो अमन्महि ॥३॥
अग्ने चिकिद्ध्यस्य न इदं वचः सहस्य ।
तं त्वा सुशिप्र दम्पते स्तोमैर्वर्धन्त्यत्रयो गीर्भिः शुम्भन्त्यत्रयः ॥४॥

22.

Prá viṣvasamann atrivád árcā pāvakáṣocishe | yó adhvaréshv ídyo hótā mandrátamo viṣí || 1 || ny àgním jātávedasaṃ dádhātā devám ṛitvíjam | prá yajñá etv ānushág adyā́ devávyacastamaḥ || 2 || cikitvínmanasaṃ tvā devám mártāsa ūtáye | várenyasya té 'vasa iyānā́so amanmahi || 3 || ágne cikiddhy àsyá na idáṃ vácaḥ sahasya | táṃ tvā suṣipra dampate stómair vardhanty átrayo gīrbhíḥ ṣumbhanty átrayaḥ || 4 ||

O brilliant Lord, men adore you, to convey his homage to Nature's bounties. May you, the radiant one, blaze, like fire when kindled. May you preside over the cosmic causation ; may you preside over the creation. 4

22

O universally acclaimed chanters of sweet symphonies, like a sage, detached from three types of bondage, may you sing praises to adorable Lord, who is the dispenser of purifying light, who must be glorified at all noble performances, who is a liberal giver, and provider of happiness among mankind. 1

Enshrine divine adorable Lord, the conductor of the seasonal sacrifices, in your hearts, through the grace of whom all that exists is known. Let the sacrifice proceed today to all Nature's bounties. 2

All mortals come to you for help, O adorable Lord of supreme intelligence. Seeking protection we always crave for your superb favour and as such we sing praises to you, the most excellent. 3

O adorable God, source of strength, may you recognize the words of our laudation. O charming master of all homes, all persons detached from the three types of pains (physical, mental and spiritual) exalt you such as you are, by their praises, and person free from three blemishes, passion, anger and greed embellish by their hymns. 4

(२३) त्रयोविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो विश्वचर्षणिर्द्युम्न ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्यानुष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥१५॥ अग्ने सहन्तमा भर द्युम्नस्य प्रासहा रयिम् ।
विश्वा यश्चर्षणीरभ्याऽसा वाजेषु सासहत् ॥१॥
तमग्ने पृतनाषहं रयिं सहस्व आ भर ।
त्वं हि सत्यो अद्भुतो दाता वाजस्य गोमतः ॥२॥
विश्वे हि त्वा सजोषसो जनासो वृक्तबर्हिषः ।
होतारं सद्मसु प्रियं व्यन्ति वार्या पुरु ॥३॥
स हि ष्मा विश्वचर्षणिरभिमाति सहो दधे ।
अग्न एषु क्षयेष्वा रेवन्नः शुक्र दीदिहि द्युमत्पावक दीदिहि ॥४॥

23.

Ágne sáhantam ấ bhara dyumnásya prāsáhā rayím | víṣvā yáṣ carshaṇír abhy ầsấ vấjeshu sāsáhat || 1 || tám agne pṛitanāsháhaṃ rayíṃ sahasva ấ bhara | tváṃ hí satyó ádbhuto dātấ vấjasya gómataḥ || 2 || víṣve hí tvā sajóshaso jánāso vṛiktábarhishaḥ | hótāraṃ sádmasu priyáṃ vyánti vấryā purú || 3 || sá hí shmā viṣvácarshaṇir abhímāti sáho dadhé | ágna eshú kshấyeshv ấ reván naḥ ṣukra dīdihi dyumát pāvaka dīdihi || 4 ||

(२४) चतुर्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बन्धुः सुबन्धुः श्रुतबन्धुर्विप्रबन्धुश्च गौपायना लौपायना वा ऋषयः । अग्निर्देवता । द्विपदा विराट् छन्दः ॥

॥१६॥ अग्ने त्वं नो अन्तम उत त्राता शिवो भवा वरूथ्यः । १
वसुरग्निर्वसुश्रवा अच्छा नक्षि द्युमत्तमं रयिं दाः ॥१॥ २

24.

Ágne tváṃ no ántama utá trātấ ṣivó bhavā varūthyàḥ | vásur agnír vásuṣravā ácchā nakshi dyumáttamaṃ rayíṃ dāḥ || 2 ||

23

O adorable Lord, bestow victory-giving wealth and strength, upon each and every illustrious person, to subdue all his adversaries in struggle through your aid. 1

O supreme adorable Lord, grant us the wealth that vanquishes adversaries in struggle. You are true and wonderful, and the giver of prosperity of wealth and cattle. 2

All men, with pure hearts, and of one accord invoke you, the bounteous and dear, in the worship halls for the choicest wealth. 3

May the all-seeing Lord grant us strength to subdue evil forces. O radiant Lord, shine forth bright in our habitations for prosperity, O purifier, shine splendidly. 4

24

O adorable Lord, be our nearest friend, a protector, benefactor and a gracious friend. 1

O adorable Lord, giver of dwellings and dispenser of food, be near us and bestow upon us wealth, splendidly renowned. 2

स नो बोधि श्रुधी हवमुरुष्या णो अघायतः समस्मात् । 3
तं त्वा शोचिष्ठ दीदिवः सुम्नाय नूनमीमहे सखिभ्यः ॥२॥ ८

sá no bodhi srudhī́ hávam urushyā́ ṇo aghāyatáḥ samasmāt | táṃ tvā ṣocishṭha dīdivaḥ sumnā́ya nūnám īmahe sákhibhyaḥ || 4 ||

(२५) पञ्चविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेया वसूयव ऋषयः । अग्निर्देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥

अच्छा वो अग्निमवसे देवं गासि स नो वसुः ।
रासत्पुत्र ऋषूणामृतावा पर्षति द्विषः ॥१॥
स हि सत्यो यं पूर्वे चिद्देवासश्चिद्यमीधिरे ।
होतारं मन्द्रजिह्वमित्सुदीतिभिर्विभावसुम् ॥२॥
स नो धीती वरिष्ठया श्रेष्ठया च सुमत्या ।
अग्ने रायो दिदीहि नः सुवृक्तिभिर्वरेण्य ॥३॥
अग्निर्देवेषु राजत्यग्निर्मर्तेष्वाविशन् ।
अग्निर्नो हव्यवाहनोऽग्निं धीभिः सपर्यत ॥४॥
अग्निस्तुविश्रवस्तमं तुविब्रह्माणमुत्तमम् ।
अतूर्तं श्रावयत्पतिं पुत्रं ददाति दाशुषे ॥५॥

25.

Ácha vo agním ávase devám gāsi sá no vásuḥ | rásat putrá ṛishūṇā́m ṛitā́vā parshati dvisháḥ || 1 || sá hí satyó yám pū́rve cid devā́sas cid yám īdhiré | hótāram mandrájihvam ít sudītíbhir vibhā́vasum || 2 || sá no dhītī́ várishṭhayā ṣréshṭhayā ca sumatyā́ | ágne rāyó didīhi naḥ suvṛiktíbhir vareṇya || 3 || agnír devéshu rājaty agnír márteshv āviṣán | agnír no havyavā́hano 'gníṃ dhībhíḥ saparyata || 4 || agnís tuvíṣravastamaṃ tuvíbrahmāṇam uttamám | atū́rtaṃ ṣrāvayátpatim putráṃ dadāti dāṣúshe || 5 ||

So, please do understand us, and hear our invocation; may you keep us far from malevolent people. 3

O most bright and resplendent, adorable Lord, we earnestly solicit you for the happiness of ourselves and our friends. 4

25

Pray to divine adorable Lord for protection ; may He, the granter of comforts, confer prosperity. May His ever-true glory, revealed by seers and descendents, save us from adversities. 1

The ancient sages revealed the glory of this bounteous, bright-tongued, radiant Lord. Nature's bounties also manifest it. Verily He is radiant with holy splendour. 2

O adorable Lord, worthy to be propitiated by praises, may you with your wisdom, that surpasses all and with most excellent gracious will, confer prosperity on us. 3

Adorable God, like the sacrificial fire, shines amongst Nature's bounties, and is present amongst mortals alike. The Lord is the bearer of our oblations. May all glorify Him with praises. 4

O adorable Lord, bestow upon the donor of the oblation a son, abounding in nourishment, abounding in deep devotion, excellent, and invincible, a son that brings glory to his sire. 5

॥१८॥

अग्निर्ददाति सत्पतिं सासाह यो युधा नृभिः ।
अग्निरत्यं रघुष्यदं जेतारमपराजितम् ॥६॥
यद्वाहिष्ठं तदग्नये बृहदर्च विभावसो ।
महिषीव त्वद्रयिस्त्वद्वाजा उदीरते ॥७॥
तव द्युमन्तो अर्चयो ग्रावेवोच्यते बृहत् ।
उतो ते तन्यतुर्यथा स्वानो अर्त त्मना दिवः ॥८॥
एवाँ अग्निं वसूयवः सहसानं ववन्दिम ।
स नो विश्वा अति द्विषः पर्षन्नावेव सुक्रतुः ॥९॥

agnír dadāti sátpatim sāsā́ha yó yudhā́ nṛíbhiḥ | agnír átyam raghushyádam jétāram áparājitam || 6 || yád vā́hishṭham tád agnáye bṛihád arca vibhāvaso | máhishīva tvád rayís tvád vā́jā úd īrate || 7 || táva dyumánto arcáyo grā́vevocyate bṛihát | utó te tanyatúr yathā svānó arta tmánā diváḥ || 8 || evā́ñ agním vasūyávaḥ sahasānám vavandima | sá no víṣvā áti dvíshaḥ párshan nāvéva sukrátuḥ || 9 ||

(२६) षड्विंश सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेया वसूयव ऋषयः । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चामग्निः (९) नवम्याश्च लिङ्गोक्ता देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१९॥

अग्ने पावक रोचिषा मन्द्रया देव जिह्वया । आ देवान्वक्षि यक्षि च ॥१॥
तं त्वा घृतस्नवीमहे चित्रभानो स्वर्दृशम् । देवाँ आ वीतये वह ॥२॥
वीतिहोत्रं त्वा कवे द्युमन्तं समिधीमहि । अग्ने बृहन्तमध्वरे ॥३॥

26.

Ágne pāvaka rocíshā mandráyā deva jihváyā | ā́ devā́n vakshi yákshi ca || 1 || tám tvā ghṛitasnav īmahe cítrabhāno svardṛíṣam | devā́ñ ā́ vītáye vaha || 2 || vītíhotram tvā kave dyumántam sám idhīmahi | ágne bṛihántam adhvaré || 3 ||

Adorable Lord, may you bestow a son, the protector of the good, who, with his followers, conquers in battles; may he be in possession of high-speed war-transport that keeps conquering and is never conquered. 6

The praise, which best conveys our veneration, is due to adorable Lord alone. Affluent in splendour, O Lord, may you grant us prosperity since from your grace proceed vast riches and ample food and strength. 7

O adorable Lord, resplendent are the rays of your light, and loud is your voice like the roar of clouds. Your voice spontaneously resounds like the thunder in the sky. 8

Thus we, seeking wealth and wisdom, glorify the supreme adorable Lord. May He, the most wise, carry us over all our adversities, as a boat crosses a river. 9

26

O fire-divine, holy and illustrious, may you with your radiant and pleasing tongue-like flames bring here to us the benefits of Nature's bounties and honour them. 1

Fed upon, as if, with sacred butter, bright with variegated radiance, we solicit you, (O fire-divine), radiant like the sun, to bring here Nature's bounties to partake of divine glory (in the creation). 2

At this worship-hall, we kindle you, O sage (the Fire-divine) brilliant and vast whose food is, as if, the cosmic oblations. 3

अग्ने विश्वेभिरा गहि देवेभिर्हव्यदातये । होतारं त्वा वृणीमहे ॥४॥
यजमानाय सुन्वत आग्ने सुवीर्यं वह । देवैरा सत्सि बर्हिषि ॥५॥

ágne víṣvebhir á́ gahi devébhir havyádātaye | hótāram tvā vriṇīmahe || 4 || yájamānāya sunvatá ágne suvī́ryam vaha | devaír á́ satsi barhíshi || 5 ||

॥२०॥ समिधानः सहस्रजिदग्ने धर्माणि पुष्यसि । देवानां दूत उक्थ्यः ॥६॥
न्य१ग्निं जातवेदसं होत्रवाहं यविष्ठ्यम् । दधाता देवमृत्विजम् ॥७॥
प्र यज्ञ एत्वानुषगद्या देवव्यचस्तमः । स्तृणीत बर्हिरासदे ॥८॥
एदं मरुतो अश्विना मित्रः सीदन्तु वरुणः । देवासः सर्वया विशा ॥९॥

samidhānáḥ sahasrajid ágne dhármāṇi pushyasi | devá́nām dūtá ukthyàḥ || 6 || ny àgním jātávedasam hotraváham yávishṭhyam | dádhāta devám ritvíjam || 7 || prá yajñá etv ānushág adyá́ devávyacastamaḥ | striṇītá barhír āsáde || 8 || édám marúto aṣvínā mitráḥ sīdantu váruṇaḥ | devásaḥ sárvayā viṣá́ || 9 ||

(२७) सप्तविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य त्रैवृष्णस्त्र्यरुणः, पौरुकुत्स्यस्त्रसदस्युर्भारतोऽश्वमेधश्च राजानो ऽत्रिर्वा ऋषिः
(१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चामग्निः, (६) षष्ठ्याश्चेन्द्राग्नी देवते । (१-३) प्रथमतृचस्य त्रिष्टुप्
(४-६) द्वितीयतृचस्य चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ अनस्वन्ता सत्पतिर्मामहे मे गावा चेतिष्ठो असुरो मघोनः ।
त्रैवृष्णो अग्ने दशभिः सहस्रैर्वैश्वानर त्र्यरुणश्चिकेत ॥१॥

27.

Ánasvantā sátpatir māmahe me gá́vā cétishṭho ásuro maghónaḥ | traivrishṇó agne daṣábhiḥ sahásrair vaíṣvānara tryàruṇaṣ ciketa || 1 ||

Come, O fire divine, with Nature's bounties, to the donor of the oblation. We choose you as our invoking priest. 4

O fire-divine, bring excellent vigour to the institutor of the rite, who pours out the libation. May you stay here, with Nature's bounties, in the sacrificial assembly, as if, and participate. 5

Victor over thousands, you when kindled, favour our holy laws. You, (the fire-divine) are the honoured messenger of Nature's bounties. 6

May you enshrine this fire-divine, who is the bearer of our sacred oblations, most youthful, brilliant, and the ministrant invoker. 7

May the homage, most solemnly offered by the devout, duly proceed today to Nature's bounties. Spread, you all, your pure heart to greet them and welcome. 8

So, may all the divine persons, teachers and preception, friends venerable and righteous, and their people come and be seated here to participate in the sacred work and worship. 9

27

O leader of people, protector of the virtuous, vigilant, powerful, opulent, popular amongst the three classes, intellectuals, fighters and rich, endowed with three impulses, physical, mental and spiritual, we know you bestow upon us immense treasures (the thousands and so) of wisdom and speedy transport. 1

यो मे शता च विंशतिं च गोनां हरी च युक्ता सुधुरा ददाति ।
वैश्वानर सुष्टुतो वावृधानोऽग्ने यच्छ त्र्यरुणाय शर्म ॥२॥
एवा ते अग्ने सुमतिं चकानो नविष्ठाय नवमं त्रसदस्युः ।
यो मे गिरस्तुविजातस्य पूर्वीर्युक्तेनाभि त्र्यरुणो गृणाति ॥३॥

yó me ṣatá ca viṅṣatím ca gónām hárī ca yuktā́ sudhúrā dádāti | vaíṣvānara súshṭuto vāvridhānó 'gne yácha tryàruṇāya ṣárma || 2 || evā́ te agne sumatím cakānó návishṭhāya navamám trasádasyuḥ | yó me gíras tuvijātásya pūrvī́r yukténābhí tryàruṇo griṇā́ti || 3 ||

यो म इति प्रवोचत्यश्वमेधाय सूरये ।
दददृचा सनिं यते ददन्मेधामृतायते ॥४॥
यस्य मा परुषाः शतमुद्धर्षयन्त्युक्षणः ।
अश्वमेधस्य दानाः सोमा इव त्र्याशिरः ॥५॥
इन्द्राग्नी शतदाव्न्यश्वमेधे सुवीर्यम् ।
क्षत्रं धारयतं बृहद्दिवि सूर्यमिवाजरम् ॥६॥

yó ma íti pravócaty áṣvamedhāya sūráye | dádad ricā́ saním yaté dádan medhā́m ritāyaté || 4 || yásya mā parusháḥ ṣatám uddharsháyanty ukshánaḥ | áṣvamedhasya dā́nāḥ sómā iva tryā̀ṣiraḥ || 5 || índrāgnī ṣatadā́vny áṣvamedhe suvī́ryam | kshatrám dhārayatam bṛihád diví sū́ryam ivājáram || 6 ||

O leader of people, praised and exalted by us, may you bestow happiness upon citizens endowed with three impulses. You give them hundres of golden treasures, dozens of cattle, and two horses driven chariots with excellent axles. 2

O leader of people, every wise person, endowed with three sorts of impulses, physical, mental and spiritual, invokes you and craves for your favour, every time anew. Likewise, the disciplinary force, which keeps wicked under fear and control also invokes you with attentive spirit, and eulogises. 3

When a wise man prays with hymns, asking wealth for national service, then may you, O adorable Lord, grant riches to that earnestly devoted man. May you give right understanding to him, who obeys eternal laws. 4

This is the sacred national service, where plans for triple development of agriculture, industry and defence (triple elixing) are offered, and hundreds of robust oxen are donated. May this offering yield delight to my nation. 5

O resplendent Lord and divine powers, bestow upon the munificient performers of this sacrificial act, infinite wealth, with excellent posterity, undecaying as the sun in heaven. 6

(२८) अष्टाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्डृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयी विश्ववारा ऋषिका । अग्निर्देवता । (१, ३) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयायाश्च त्रिष्टुप् (२) द्वितीयाया जगती (४) चतुर्थ्या अनुष्टुप् (५-६) पञ्चमीषष्ठ्योश्च गायत्री छन्दांसि ॥

॥२२॥ समिद्धो अग्निर्दिवि शोचिरश्रेत्प्रत्यङ्ङुषसमुर्विया वि भाति ।
एति प्राची विश्ववारा नमोभिर्देवाँ ईळाना हविषा घृताची ॥१॥
समिध्यमानो अमृतस्य राजसि हविष्कृण्वन्तं सचसे स्वस्तये ।
विश्वं स धत्ते द्रविणं यमिन्वस्यातिथ्यमग्ने नि च धत्त इत्पुरः ॥२॥
अग्ने शर्ध महते सौभगाय तव द्युम्नान्युत्तमानि सन्तु ।
सं जास्पत्यं सुयममा कृणुष्व शत्रूयतामभि तिष्ठा महांसि ॥३॥

28.

Sámiddho agnír diví socír asret pratyáñn ushásam urviyá ví bhāti | éti prácī visvávārā námobhir deváñ íḷānā havíshā ghritácī || 1 || samidhyámāno amrítasya rājasi havísh krinvántam sacase svastáye | visvam sá dhatte drávinam yám ínvasy ātithyám agne ní ca dhatta ít puráḥ || 2 || ágne sárdha mahaté saúbhagāya táva dyumnány uttamáni santu | sám jāspatyám suyámam á krinushva satrūyatám abhí tishthā máhāṅsi || 3 ||

समिद्धस्य प्रमहसोऽग्ने वन्दे तव श्रियम् ।
वृषभो द्युम्नवाँ असि समध्वरेष्विध्यसे ॥४॥
समिद्धो अग्न आहुत देवान्यक्षि स्वध्वर । त्वं हि हव्यवाळसि ॥५॥
आ जुहोता दुवस्यताग्निं प्रयत्यध्वरे । वृणीध्वं हव्यवाहनम् ॥६॥

sámiddhasya prámahasó 'gne vánde táva sríyam | vrishabhó dyumnávāñ asi sám adhvaréshv idhyase || 4 || sámiddho agna āhuta deváñ yakshi svadhvara | tvám hí havyavāḷ ási || 5 || á juhotā duvasyátagním prayaty àdhvaré | vriṇīdhvám havyaváhanam || 6 ||

28

Glory of adorable Lord, when enkindled, spreads lustre through the firmament, and shines widely turning unto the universal light of divine intelligence. Eastward the ladle, as if, of knowledge proceeds, that repels all sins and worries and honours Nature's bounties with homage and oblation. 1

O adorable Lord, whilst your glory enkindled, you become the king of immortals. You take full care of the offerer of the oblation for his welfare. He whom you favour, acquires universal wealth ; he sets before you, O lord, the gifts that guests may claim. 2

May you repress, O fire divine, our foes to ensure our great prosperity. May your effulgent splendour be excellent. May you preserve in concord the relation of man and wife, and may you overpower the energies of our adversaries. 3

O adorable Lord, I praise your glory, kindled and vigorouly blazing. You are the affluent showerer of benefits. Your glory is well lighted at all sacred performances. 4

O adorable Lord, invoked, and your glory kindled, inspire Nature's forces to come to assist us in our holy acts, for you are the bearer of our homage. 5

May you offer worship and adoration to adorable Lord, when the sacred sacrifice is solemnized. May you offer devotion to the bearer of the oblation to Nature's bounties. 6

(२९) एकोनत्रिंश सूक्तम्

(१–१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शाक्त्यो गौरिवीतिर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता तत्रापि (९) नवम्या ऋचः प्रथमपादस्योशना वा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥
त्र्यर्यमा मनुषो देवताता त्री रोचना दिव्या धारयन्त ।
अर्चन्ति त्वा मरुतः पूतदक्षास्त्वमेषामृषिरिन्द्रासि धीरः ॥१॥
अनु यदीं मरुतो मन्दसानमार्चन्निन्द्रं पपिवांसं सुतस्य ।
आदत्त वज्रमभि यदहिं हन्नपो यह्वीरसृजत्सर्तवा उ ॥२॥
उत ब्रह्माणो मरुतो मे अस्येन्द्रः सोमस्य सुषुतस्य पेयाः ।
तद्धि हव्यं मनुषे गा अविन्ददहन्नहिं पपिवाँ इन्द्रो अस्य ॥३॥

29.

Try àryamā́ mánusho devátātā trī rocanā́ divyā́ dhārayanta | árcanti tvā marútaḥ pūtádakshās tvám eshām ríshir indrāsi dhī́raḥ || 1 || ánu yád īm marúto mandasānám ā́rcann índram papivā́ṅsam sutásya | ádatta vájram abhí yád áhim hánn apó yahvī́r asrijat sártavā́ u || 2 || utá brahmāṇo maruto me asyéndraḥ sómasya súshutasya peyāḥ | tád dhí havyám mánushe gā́ ávindad áhann áhim papivā́ñ índro asya || 3 ||

आद्रोदसी वितरं वि ष्कभायत्संविव्यानश्चिद्भियसे मृगं कः ।
जिगर्तिमिन्द्रो अपजर्गुराणः प्रति श्वसन्तमव दानवं हन् ॥४॥
अध क्रत्वा मघवन्तुभ्यं देवा अनु विश्वे अददुः सोमपेयम् ।
यत्सूर्यस्य हरितः पतन्तीः पुरः सतीरुपरा एतशे कः ॥५॥

ā́d ródasī vitarám ví shkabhāyat saṃvivyānáṣ cid bhiyáse mrigáṃ kaḥ | jígartim índro apajárgurāṇaḥ práti ṣvasántam áva dānaváṃ han || 4 || ádha krátvā maghavan túbhyaṃ devā́ anu víṣve adaduḥ somapéyam | yát sū́ryasya harítaḥ pátantīḥ puráḥ satī́r úparā étaṣe káḥ || 5 ||

29

In the admiration of Nature's forces by men, there are three lustrous faculties—(mind, intellect, spirit) and three worldly lights—(fire, lightning in midspace and the sun in heaven) that sustain the universe. O resplendent self, the vital principles, pure and strong adore you, for you are their sapient guide. 1

When, through the ecstasy of well-earned spiritual joy, the resplendent self upholds the bolt of determination, He destroys the devil of ignorance and sets the abundant thoughts free to flow. 2

And O mighty vital principles, O soul, may you both relish this well-earned spiritual joy. For the joy thus offered, helps to gain wealth and wisdom for the offerer, and thus the innerself, having experienced this joy, can conquer serpentine devil of ignorance. 3

Thereupon He sunders and firmly fixes body and mind, and, resolutely advancing, He strikes the evil mind with terror ; and then stripping off his covering, he destroys the devil, endeavouring to hide, and panting with fear. 4

When, O resplendent self, you retard the advancing rays of the Sun within, for the illumination of mind, then, for this favour of yours, all the sense-organs, one by one, pay loving homage to you. 5

॥२४॥ नव यदस्य नवतिं च भोगान्त्साकं वज्रेण मघवा विवृश्चत ।
अर्चन्तीन्द्रं मरुतः सधस्थे त्रैष्टुभेन वचसा बाधत द्याम ॥६॥
सखा सख्ये अपचत्तूयमग्निरस्य क्रत्वा महिषा त्री शतानि ।
त्री साकमिन्द्रो मनुषः सरांसि सुतं पिबद्वृत्रहत्याय सोमम ॥७॥
त्री यच्छता महिषाणामघो मास्त्री सरांसि मघवा सोम्यापाः ।
कारं न विश्वे अह्वन्त देवा भरमिन्द्राय यदहिं जघान ॥८॥

náva yád asya navatím ca bhogán sākám vájreṇa maghávā vivṛiṣcát | árcantíndram marútaḥ sadhásthe traíshṭubhena vácasā bādhata dyám || 6 || sákhā sákhye apacat tū́yam agnír asyá krátvā mahishā́ trí ṣatā́ni | trí sākám índro mánushaḥ sárāṅsi sutám pibad vṛitrahátyāya sómam || 7 || trí yác chatā́ mahishā́ṇām ágho mā́s trí sárāṅsi maghávā somyā́pāḥ | kārám ná víṣve ahvanta devā́ bháram índrāya yád áhiṃ jaghā́na || 8 ||

उशना यत्सहस्यैरयातं गृहमिन्द्र जूजुवानेभिरश्वैः ।
वन्वानो अत्र सरथं ययाथ कुत्सेन देवैरवनोर्ह शुष्णम ॥९॥
प्रान्यच्चक्रमवृहः सूर्यस्य कुत्सायान्यद्वरिवो यातवेऽकः ।
अनासो दस्यूंरमृणो वधेन नि दुर्योण आवृणङ्मृध्रवाचः ॥१०॥

uṣanā́ yát sahasyaìr áyātaṃ gṛihám indra jūjuvānébhir áṣvaiḥ | vanvānó átra sarátham yayātha kútsena devaír ávanor ha ṣúshṇam || 9 || prā́nyác cakrám avṛihaḥ sū́ryasya kútsāyānyád várivo yā́tave 'kaḥ | anā́so dásyūṅr amṛiṇo vadhéna ní duryoṇá āvṛiṇaṅ mṛidhrávācaḥ || 10 ||

When mighty self, in one stroke, with his determination, destroys ninety and nine strongholds of vices, obstructing light of knowledge, the vital principles, dwelling in the same body, glorify soul with melodious hymns of TRISTUBH (a metre of 44 syllables). 6

As a friend to another friend, the cosmic fire ripens the sap of three hundred fields and forests of people, and the Sun works for the destruction of widespread darkness over the three regions, celestial, interspatial and terrestrial. 7

When the cosmic fire has ripened the sap of three hundred fields and forests, and the Sun has been able to destroy the darkness spread over the three regions, all Nature's bounties express their gratitude to the Sun and offered the homage, for he has been of a great service in the struggle. 8

When, the self and the accompanying intellect, with vital and quickly-effective energies, proceed to the innermost of the wise person, the foes, are destroyed and then you, the Self, and the wise person, work in coordination, as if both sitting on the same chariot, thus the Self destroys the sinful impulses. 9

One car-wheel of the Sun, you roll forward, another you set free to move for the wise seeker, where-with He may acquire wealth and wisdom. With the bolt of determination you have confounded the noseless (shameless, or viceless) wicked impulse and the other speech-bereft foes in the struggle. 10

॥२५॥ स्तोमा॑सस्त्वा गौरिवी॒तेर॑वर्धन्नर॑न्धयो वैदथि॒नाय॒ पिप्रु॑म् ।
आ त्वामृ॒जिश्वा॑ स॒ख्याय॑ चक्रे॒ पच॑न्प॒क्तीरपि॑बः॒ सोम॑मस्य ॥११॥
नव॑ग्वासः सु॒तसो॑मास॒ इन्द्रं॒ दश॑ग्वासो अ॒भ्य॑र्चन्त्य॒र्कैः ।
गव्यं॑ चिदू॒र्वम॑पि॒धान॑वन्तं॒ तं चि॒न्नरः॑ शशमा॒ना अप॑ व्रन् ॥१२॥
क॒थो नु ते॒ परि॑ चराणि वि॒द्वान्वी॒र्या॑ मघव॒न्या च॒कर्थ॑ ।
या चो॒ नु नव्या॑ कृ॒णवः॑ शविष्ठ॒ प्रेदु॒ ता ते॑ वि॒दथे॑षु ब्रवाम ॥१३॥

stómāsas tvā gaúrivīter avardhann árandhayo vaidathináya píprum | á̄ tvám ṛijíṣvā sakhyáya cakre pácan paktír ápibaḥ sómam asya || 11 || návagvāsaḥ sutásomāsa índram dáṣagvāso abhy àrcanty arkaíḥ | gávyam cid ūrvám apidhánavantam tám cin náraḥ ṣaṣamānā́ ápa vran || 12 || kathó nú te pári carāṇi vidvā́n vīryā̀ maghavann yā́ cakártha | yā́ co nú návyā kriṇávaḥ ṣavishṭha préd u tā́ te vidátheshu bravāma || 13 ||

ए॒ता विश्वा॑ चकृ॒वाँ इ॑न्द्र॒ भूर्यप॑रीतो ज॒नुषा॑ वी॒र्ये॑ण ।
या चि॒न्नु व॑ज्रिन्कृ॒णवो॑ दधृ॒ष्वान्न ते॑ व॒र्ता तवि॑ष्या अस्ति॒ तस्याः॑ ॥१४॥
इन्द्र॒ ब्रह्म॑ क्रि॒यमा॑णा जुषस्व॒ या ते॑ शविष्ठ॒ नव्या॒ अक॑र्म ।
वस्त्रे॑व भ॒द्रा सुकृ॑ता वसू॒यू रथं॒ न धीरः॒ स्वपा॑ अतक्षम ॥१५॥

etā́ víṣvā cakrivā́ṅ indra bhū́ry áparīto janúshā vīryèṇa | yā́ cin nú vajrin kriṇávo dadhrishvā́n ná te vartā́ távishyā asti tásyāḥ || 14 || índra bráhma kriyámāṇā jushasva yā́ te ṣavishṭha návyā akarma | vástreva bhadrā́ súkṛitā vasūyū́ rátham ná dhíraḥ svápā atakshama || 15 ||

May the praises of preceptors exalt you. You humble down the egoistic tendency of the intellectual snobs. An honest and strong forward devotee, sincerely ever active craves always for your friendship and you gladly accept his loyalty and affection. 11

The seekers, who have brought their nine (i.e. five vital breaths and four psychic powers—mind, consciousness, intellect and ego) under discipline and their ten (five organs of sensation and five of action) under control are entitled to adore the resplendent self with hymns. Such vigilant seekers, glorifying him, set open the door of the cave of wisdom, otherwise firmly closed and fastened. 12

How shall I serve you, O bounteous, mighty soul, knowing full well, what brave deeds you have been accomplishing. O most mighty Soul, we will also celebrate, at our sacred synods, the fresh deeds that you would do. 13

O resplendent Self, all these unique deeds you have been doing from of old by your innate energy O wielder of the bolt of determination, the subduer of evils, you always accomplish whatever you undertake. None is there to hinder your prowess. 14

O most mighty Soul, may you be pleased to accept the prayers which are now offered, and accept the new praises, which we utter. Firm, performing pious acts, and desirous of wealth and wisdom, I have composed these acceptable chants and verses, just as a craftsman carefully designs a car and as a dress-maker makes charming garments. 15

(३०) त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो बभ्रुर्ऋषिः । (१-११) प्रथमाद्येकादशर्चामिन्द्र, (१२-१५) द्वादश्यादिचतसृणाञ्च ऋणञ्चयेन्द्रौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ क्व१ स्य वीरः को अपश्यदिन्द्रं सुखरथमीयमानं हरिभ्याम् ।
यो राया वज्री सुतसोममिच्छन्तदोको गन्ता पुरुहूत ऊती ॥१॥
अवाचचक्षं पदमस्य सस्वरुग्रं निधातुरन्वायमिच्छन् ।
अपृच्छमन्याँ उत ते म आहुरिन्द्रं नरो बुबुधाना अशेम ॥२॥
प्र नु वयं सुते या ते कृतानीन्द्र ब्रवाम यानि नो जुजोषः ।
वेददविद्वाञ्छृणवच्च विद्वान्वहतेऽयं मघवा सर्वसेनः ॥३॥

30.

Kvà syá vīráḥ kó apaṣyad índram sukháratham íyamānam háribhyām | yó rāyā́ vajrī́ sutásomam ichán tád óko gántā puruhūtá ūtī́ || 1 || ávācacaksham padám asya sasvár ugrám nidhātúr ánv āyam ichán | ápricham anyā́ñ utá té ma āhur índram náro bubudhāná aṣema || 2 || prá nú vayám suté yā́ te kritā́nīndra brávāma yā́ni no jújoshaḥ | védad ávidvāñ chriṇávac ca vidvā́n váhate 'yám maghávā sárvasenaḥ || 3 ||

स्थिरं मनश्चकृषे जात इन्द्र वेषीदेको युधये भूयसश्चित् ।
अश्मानं चिच्छवसा दिद्युतो वि विदो गवामूर्वमुस्रियाणाम् ॥४॥
परो यत्त्वं परम आजनिष्ठाः परावति श्रुत्यं नाम बिभ्रत् ।
अतश्चिदिन्द्रादभयन्त देवा विश्वा अपो अजयद्दासपत्नीः ॥५॥

sthirám mánaṣ cakrishe jātá índra véshíd éko yudháye bhū́yasaṣ cit | áṣmānam cic chávasā didyuto ví vidó gávām ūrvám usríyāṇām || 4 || paró yát tvám paramá ājánishṭhāḥ parāváti ṣrútyam nā́ma bíbhrat | átaṣ cid índrād abhayanta devā́ víṣvā apó ajayad dāsápatnīḥ || 5 ||

30

Where is that hero ? Who has seen the resplendent, seated in his light-rolling chariot, yoked with his horses. He being powerful as lightning, is invoked by all. Desirous of honour, he goes to the dwelling of his admirers to offer him protection. 1

I have discovered his secret and strong place, where he dwells. I have sought the place of that Self-sustainer ; I have inquired from others ; and they the leaders, the seekers of wisdom, say, let us proceed to find the resplendent. 2

When we offer homage we celebrate, O resplendent, your mighty deeds, which you have performed for our sake. Let him, who is ignorant, acquire knowledge of these, and let him, who is acquainted with them, make them known. Hither comes the Resplendent with all his associates. 3

As soon as manifest O resplendent, you make your mind resolved. You go alone to contend against numerous adversaries. You rend asunder the rock of ignorance by your strength, and you restore the lost wisdom. 4

From the time when O super-most and supreme, you take birth, bearing a name widely renowned in for off regions, since then, even Nature's forces have been in dread of you, O resplendent. You subjugate all the streams of thoughts, which serve the impulses of evil mind. 5

॥२७॥ तुभ्येदेते मरुतः सुशेवा अर्चन्त्यर्कं सुन्वन्त्यन्धः ।
अहिमोहानमप आशयानं प्र मायाभिर्मायिनं सक्षदिन्द्रः ॥६॥
वि षू मृधो जनुषा दानमिन्वन्नहन्गवा मघवन्त्संचकानः ।
अत्रा दासस्य नमुचेः शिरो यदवर्तयो मनवे गातुमिच्छन् ॥७॥
युजं हि मामकृथा आदिदिन्द्र शिरो दासस्य नमुचेर्मथायन् ।
अश्मानं चित्स्वर्यं१ वर्तमानं प्र चक्रियेव रोदसी मरुद्भ्यः ॥८॥

túbhyéd eté marútaḥ suṣévā árcanty arkám sunvánty ándhaḥ | áhim ohānám apá āṣáyānam prá māyábhir māyínam sakshad índraḥ || 6 || ví shú mrídho janúshā dấnam ínvann áhan gávā maghavan saṃcakānáḥ | átrā dāsásya námuceḥ ṣíro yád ávartayo mánave gātúm ichán || 7 || yújam hí mám ákrithā ád íd indra ṣíro dāsásya námucer mathāyán | áṣmānam cit svaryàm vártamānam prá cakríyeva ródasī marúdbhyaḥ || 8 ||

स्त्रियो हि दास आयुधानि चक्रे किं मा करन्नबला अस्य सेनाः ।
अन्तर्ह्यख्यदुभे अस्य धेने अथोप प्रैद्युधये दस्युमिन्द्रः ॥९॥
समत्र गावोऽभितोऽनवन्तेहेह वत्सैर्वियुता यदासन् ।
सं ता इन्द्रो असृजदस्य शाकैर्यदीं सोमासः सुषुता अमन्दन् ॥१०॥

stríyo hí dāsá ấyudhāni cakré kím mā karann abalá asya sénāḥ | antár hy ákhyad ubhé asya dhéne áthópa praíd yudháye dásyum índraḥ || 9 || sám átra gávo 'bhíto 'navantehéha vatsaír víyutā yád ấsan | sáṃ tá índro asrijad asya ṣākaír yád īṃ sómāsaḥ súshutā ámandan || 10 ||

These blissful vital principles sing their songs of praise and pour out devotional love to you. The resplendent with wondrous devices, overcomes guileful lurker who arrests the flow of pious thoughts. 6

O bounteous glorified by us, you assail the antagonist, with the power of lightning. You, seeking man's prosperity, crush those who have been hostile to you since your birth, and you strike the head of ever-clinging evils. 7

O resplendent, pounding the head of the ever-clinging evil, which was sounding and rolling like a cloud, you make me your associate. Then body and mind have been caused by the vital principles to revolve like a wheel. 8

The ever-clinging slave (i.e. the temptations) makes women as his weapons. (On this the resplendent thinks thus:) What will his feminine corps do unto me ? The resplendent makes two of the ladies as captive, and goes forth to combat against the slave. 9

When the sacred sources of wisdom were separated from their seekers of wisdom, as calves from cows, they wondered about hither and thither ; but when the well-placed devotional love makes the resplendent full of joy, he with helpers, i.e. vital breaths reunited them. 10

॥२८॥ यदीं सोमा बभ्रुधूता अमन्दन्नरोरवीद्वृषभः सादनेषु ।
पुरंदरः पपिवाँ इन्द्रो अस्य पुनर्गवामददादुस्रियाणाम् ॥११॥
भद्रमिदं रुशमा अग्ने अक्रन्गवां चत्वारि ददतः सहस्रा ।
ऋणंचयस्य प्रयता मघानि प्रत्यग्रभीष्म नृतमस्य नृणाम् ॥१२॥
सुपेशसं माव सृजन्त्यस्तं गवां सहस्रै रुशमासो अग्ने ।
तीव्रा इन्द्रममन्दुः सुतासोऽक्तोर्व्युष्टौ परितक्म्यायाः ॥१३॥

yád īṃ sómā babhrúdhūtā ámandann ároravīd vṛisha-bháḥ sádaneshu | puraṃdaráḥ papiváñ índro asya púnar gávām adadād usríyāṇām || 11 || bhadrám idáṃ ruṣámā agne akran gávāṃ catvári dádataḥ sahásrā | ṛiṇaṃcayásya práyatā magháni práty agrabhīshma nṛítamasya nṛiṇám || 12 || supéṣasam máva sṛijanty ástaṃ gávāṃ sahásrai ru-ṣámāso agne | tīvrá índram amamanduḥ sutáso 'któr vyù-shṭau páritakmyāyāḥ || 13 ||

औच्छत्सा रात्री परितक्म्या याँ ऋणंचये राजनि रुशमानाम् ।
अत्यो न वाजी रघुरज्यमानो बभ्रुश्चत्वार्यसनत्सहस्रा ॥१४॥
चतुःसहस्रं गव्यस्य पश्वः प्रत्यग्रभीष्म रुशमेष्वग्ने ।
घर्मश्चित्तप्तः प्रवृजे य आसीदयस्मयस्तम्वादाम विप्राः ॥१५॥

aúchat sá rátrī páritakmyā yáñ ṛiṇaṃcayé rájani ruṣámāṇām | átyo ná vājī́ raghúr ajyá-māno babhrúṣ catváry asanat sahásrā || 14 || cátuḥsahasraṃ gávyasya paṣváḥ práty agrabhīshma ruṣámeshv agne | gharmáṣ cit taptáḥ pravṛíje yá ásīd ayasmáyas tám v ádāma víprāḥ || 15 ||

When the loving devotion, offered by the men of mature wisdom, exhilarates the resplendent, he, the showerer of benefits, roars aloud in the struggle. So, the resplendent, the destroyer of cities, strong-holds of evils, through ecstasy of joy, restores to him his wisdom—the milk-yielding cattle, as if. 11

O adorable, the brilliant sages, giving me wisdom by four thousand hymns, have done well. We accept this wealth of wisdom, which, the liberator from debts, the leader of leaders, freely offer. 12

O adorable, brilliant sages, present to me a beautiful abode, with thousands of wise sayings. This big offering makes the Soul joyful, and then the darkness of night, the course of which was coming to an end, changes to morning. 13

The gloom-investing night ends at the appearance of liberator of debts, and changes into morning. King of the brilliant wise men, himself, O man of mature wisdom, urges onward and goes like a fleet courser, and obtains four thousand—a treasure of sacred wisdom. 14

We have accepted, O brilliant Lord the (four thousand cattle) treasure of wisdom from the brilliant enlightened sages and we receive the mental caldron the glowing offered in the solemn sacrifice. 15

(३१) एकत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय अवस्युर्ऋषिः । (१–७, ८, १०–१३) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चामष्टम्याः प्रथमद्वितीयपादयोर्दशम्यादिचतसृणाश्चेन्द्रः, (८) अष्टम्यास्तृतीयपादस्येन्द्रः कुत्सो वा चतुर्थपादस्येन्द्र उशना वा, (९) नवम्याश्चेन्द्राकुत्सौ देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२९॥ इन्द्रो रथाय प्रवतं कृणोति यमध्यस्थान्मघवा वाजयन्तम् ।
यूथेव पश्वो व्युनोति गोपा अरिष्टो याति प्रथमः सिषासन् ॥१॥
आ प्र द्रव हरिवो मा वि वेनः पिशङ्गराते अभि नः सचस्व ।
नहि त्वदिन्द्र वस्यो अन्यदस्त्यमेनाँश्चिज्जनिवतश्चकर्थ ॥२॥
उद्यत्सहः सहस आजनिष्ट देदिष्ट इन्द्र इन्द्रियाणि विश्वा ।
प्राचोदयत्सुदुघा वव्रे अन्तर्वि ज्योतिषा संववृत्वत्तमोऽवः ॥३॥

31.

Índro ráthāya pravátam krinoti yám adhyásthān maghávā vājayántam | yūthéva paṣvó vy ùnoti gopá árishṭo yāti prathamáḥ síshāsan || 1 || ấ prá drava harivo mấ ví venaḥ píṣañgarāte abhí naḥ sacasva | nahí tvád indra vásyo anyád ásty amenấṅṣ cij jánivataṣ cakartha || 2 || úd yát sáhaḥ sáhasa ấjanishṭa dédishṭa índra indriyấṇi víṣvā | prácodayat sudúghā vavré antár ví jyótishā saṃvavṛitvát támo 'vaḥ || 3 ||

अनवस्ते रथमश्वाय तक्षन्त्वष्टा वज्रं पुरुहूत द्युमन्तम् ।
ब्रह्माण इन्द्रं महयन्तो अर्कैरवर्धयन्नहये हन्तवा उ ॥४॥
वृष्णे यत्ते वृषणो अर्कमर्चानिन्द्र ग्रावाणो अदितिः सजोषाः ।
अनश्वासो ये पवयोऽरथा इन्द्रेषिता अभ्यवर्तन्त दस्यून् ॥५॥

ánavas te rátham áṣvāya takshan tváshṭā vájram puruhūta dyumántam | brahmáṇa índram maháyanto arkaír ávardhayann áhaye hántavá u || 4 || vríshṇe yát te vríshaṇo arkám árcān índra grávāṇo áditiḥ sajóshāḥ | anaṣváso yé paváyo 'rathá índreshitā abhy ávartanta dásyūn || 5 ||

31

The bounteous resplendent, the possessor of opulence, drives with a considerable speed the chariot, on which he sits. He, the foremost, proceeds unimpeded, with an intention of granting wealth and wisdom, and thus leads and commands as a herdsman drives the herds of cattle. 1

Hasten to us, O Lord of speed ; be not indifferent to us. O distributor of splendid wealth, befriend us. For there is nothing else that is better than you. You have been giving life-partner to the unmarried ones. 2

When out of strength arises strength, that conquers darkness, the resplendent grants all sorts of power to the worshipper. He restores the source of wisdom from the interior of obstructing walls, and dissipates the enveloping darkness with light. 3

O resplendent, dear to all, the divine artisans fabricate your chariot, and yoke to it the befitting horses. The ammunition technician has designed your radiant thunder-weapons. The venerable priests, have blessed the resplendent with hymns, and have encouraged him for the destruction of the dragon. 4

When the vital faculties, without steed or chariot, inspired by the resplendent overcome the devils of ignorance, they sing their praises to you, O resplendent and they were filled with ecstasy, as the showerer of benefits, the clouds in the midspace. 5

॥३०॥ प्र ते पूर्वाणि करणानि वोचं प्र नूतना मघवन्या चकर्थ ।
शक्तीवो यद्विभरा रोदसी उभे जयन्नपो मनवे दानुचित्राः ॥६॥
तदिन्नु ते करणं दस्म विप्राहिं यद्घ्नन्नोजो अत्रामिमीथाः ।
शुष्णस्य चित्परि माया अगृभ्णाः प्रपित्वं यन्नप दस्यूँरसेधः ॥७॥
त्वमपो यदवे तुर्वशायारमयः सुदुघाः पार इन्द्र ।
उग्रमयातमवहो ह कुत्सं सं ह यद्वामुशनारन्त देवाः ॥८॥

prá te pū́rvāni káraṇāni vocam prá nū́tanā maghavan yā́ cakártha | ṣáktīvo yád vibhárā ródasī ubhé jáyann apó mánave danucitrāḥ || 6 || tád ín nú te káraṇam dasma viprāhim yád ghnánn ójo átrā́mimīthāḥ | ṣúshṇasya cit pári māyā́ agṛibhṇāḥ prapitvám yánn ápa dásyūñr asedhaḥ || 7 || tvám apó yádave turváṣāyā́ramayaḥ sudúghāḥ pārá indra | ugrám ayātam ávaho ha kútsam sám ha yád vām uṣánā́ranta devā́ḥ || 8 ||

इन्द्राकुत्सा वहमाना रथेना वामत्या अपि कर्णे वहन्तु ।
निः षीमद्भ्यो धमथो निः षधस्थान्मघोनो हृदो वरथस्तमांसि ॥९॥
वातस्य युक्तान्त्सुयुजश्चिदश्वान्कविश्चिदेषो अजगन्नवस्युः ।
विश्वे ते अत्र मरुतः सखाय इन्द्र ब्रह्माणि तविषीमवर्धन् ॥१०॥

índrākutsā váhamānā ráthenā vām átyā ápi kárṇe vahantu | níḥ shīm adbhyó dhámatho níḥ shadhásthān maghóno hṛidó varathas támāṅsi || 9 || vā́tasya yuktā́n suyújaṣ cid áṣvān kavíṣ cid eshó ajagann avasyúḥ | víṣve te átra marútaḥ sákhāya índra bráhmāṇi távishīm avardhan || 10 ||

I celebrate, O powerful resplendent your old achievements, and those which you have newly attained. O wielder of the will-power, subjugating both mind and body, you have distributed the wonderfully bountiful enjoyments to man. 6

Handsome and sagacious resplendent, this is your achievement. Just as the Sun to clouds, having slain evil, you have here displayed your vigour. You arrest and slay the devices of sinful tendency. During the struggle you get victory over the indisciplined. 7

You, resplendent, even from afar render the rushing thoughts agreeable to hard-working and strong men. You two, the resplendent and intellect, assail the fierce petty tendencies, and you convey the pious man of intelligence to his dwelling. Therefore, men of genius and the divines honour you both. 8

May your speedy senses bring you both, O resplendent and intellect, to the struggle riding in one chariot. You expel sin from thoughts, from his proper abode, and chase away the darkness of ignorance from the heart of the affluent adorer. 9

The sage gets control over senses. Swift as wind, just as a horseman over his docile horses. Here are the vital faculties, your dear companions, whose prayers augment your vigour. 10

॥३१॥ सूरश्चिद्रथं परितक्म्यायां पूर्वं करदुपरं जूजुवांसम् ।
भरच्चक्रमेतशः सं रिणाति पुरो दधत्सनिष्यति क्रतुं नः ॥११॥
आयं जना अभिचक्षे जगामेन्द्रः सखायं सुतसोममिच्छन् ।
वदन्ग्रावाव वेदिं भ्रियाते यस्य जीरमध्वर्यवश्चरन्ति ॥१२॥
ये चाकनन्त चाकनन्त नू ते मर्ता अमृत मो ते अंह आरन् ।
वावन्धि यज्यूँरुत तेषु धेह्योजो जनेषु येषु ते स्याम ॥१३॥

sū́ras cid ráthaṃ páritakmyāyām pū́rvaṃ karad úparaṃ jūjuvā́ṅsam | bhárac cakrám étasaḥ sáṃ riṇāti puró dádhat sanishyati krátuṃ naḥ || 11 || ā́yáṃ janā abhicákshe jagāméndraḥ sákhāyaṃ sutásomam ichán | vádan grā́vā́va védim bhriyāte yásya jīrám adhvaryávas cáranti || 12 || yé cākánanta cākánanta nū́ té mártā amrita mó té áṅha ā́ran | vāvandhí yájyūṅr utá téshu dhehy ójo jáneshu yéshu te syā́ma || 13 ||

(३२) द्वात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो गातुर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३२॥ अदर्दरुत्समसृजो वि खानि त्वमर्णवान्बद्बधानाँ अरम्णाः ।
महान्तमिन्द्र पर्वतं वि यद्वः सृजो वि धारा अव दानवं हन् ॥१॥
त्वमुत्साँ ऋतुभिर्बद्बधानाँ अरंह ऊधः पर्वतस्य वज्रिन् ।
अहिं चिदुग्र प्रयुतं शयानं जघन्वाँ इन्द्र तविषीमधत्थाः ॥२॥

32.

Ádardar útsam ásrijo ví khā́ni tvám arṇavā́n badbadhānā́ṅ aramṇāḥ | mahā́ntam indra párvataṃ ví yád váḥ srijó ví dhā́rā áva dānaváṃ han || 1 || tvám útsāṅ ritúbhir badbadhānā́ṅ áraṅha ū́dhaḥ párvatasya vajrin | áhiṃ cid ugra práyutaṃ ṣáyānaṃ jaghanvā́ṅ indra távishīm adhatthāḥ || 2 ||

He, the resplendent in the struggle, arrests even the rapid chariot of the Sun. Further he upholds the wheel of the moving universe and setting it eastward, he inspires us for active life. 11

O resplendent, men come to see you, just as they go to see a friend who has expressed devotional love. Let the creaking stones, mental and physical faculties be laid upon the altar and let the priests hasten to turn it quickly. 12

O immortal, let not the mortals, who are wishing and anxiously wishing for you, fall into disgrace and evil. May you be pleased with the pious and their sacrifice, and grant spiritual light to those men amongst whom we live, and who are particularly yours. 13

32

You, resplendent self, cleave the dark forces asunder. You set free the fountains of knowledge, you libeiate the obstructed streams. You open the vast cloud of darkness, and give vent to the showers of blessings, having destroyed wickedness. 1

You. O possessor of strong will-power, set free in their seasons the obstructed clouds of dark thoughts. You let flow the fountain of virtues O mighty soul, destroying the powerful serpentine evil, that lies, extended in the deep sub-conscious mind, and thus you show your vigour. 2

त्यस्य चिन्महतो निर्मृगस्य वधर्जघान तविषीभिरिन्द्रः ।
य एक इदप्रतिर्मन्यमान आदस्मादन्यो अजनिष्ट तव्यान् ॥३॥
त्यं चिदेषां स्वधया मदन्तं मिहो नपातं सुवृधं तमोगाम् ।
वृषप्रभर्मा दानवस्य भामं वज्रेण वज्री नि जघान शुष्णम् ॥४॥
त्यं चिदस्य क्रतुभिर्निषत्तममर्मणो विददिदस्य मर्म ।
यदीं सुक्षत्र प्रभृता मदस्य युयुत्सन्तं तमसि हर्म्ये धाः ॥५॥
त्यं चिदित्था कत्पयं शयानमसूर्ये तमसि वावृधानम् ।
तं चिन्मन्दानो वृषभः सुतस्योच्चैरिन्द्रो अपगूर्या जघान ॥६॥

tyásya cin maható nír mrigásya vádhar jaghāna távishībhir índraḥ | yá éka íd apratír mányamāna ā́d asmād anyó ajanishṭa távyān || 3 || tyáṃ cid eshāṃ svadháyā mádantam mihó nápātaṃ suvṛídhaṃ tamogā́m | vṛíshaprabharmā dānavásya bhámaṃ vájreṇa vajrí ní jaghāna śúshṇam || 4 || tyáṃ cid asya krátubhir níshattam amarmáṇo vidád íd asya márma | yád īṃ sukshatra prábhṛitā mádasya yúyutsantaṃ támasi harmyé dhā́ḥ || 5 || tyáṃ cid itthā́ katpayáṃ śáyānam asūryé támasi vāvṛidhānám | táṃ cin mandānó vṛishabháḥ sutásyoccaír índro apagúryā jaghāna || 6 ||

उद्यदिन्द्रो महते दानवाय वधर्यमिष्ट सहो अप्रतीतम् ।
यदीं वज्रस्य प्रभृतौ ददाभ विश्वस्य जन्तोरधमं चकार ॥७॥
त्यं चिदर्णं मधुपं शयानमसिन्वं वव्रं मह्याददुग्रः ।
अपादमत्रं महता वधेन नि दुर्योण आवृणङ्मृध्रवाचम् ॥८॥

úd yád índro mahaté dānavā́ya vádhar yámishṭa sáho ápratītam | yád īṃ vájrasya prábhṛitau dadā́bha víśvasya jantór adhamáṃ cakāra || 7 || tyáṃ cid árṇam madhupáṃ śáyānam asinváṃ vavráṃ máhy ā́dad ugráḥ | apā́dam atrám mahatā́ vadhéna ní duryoṇá āvṛiṇaṅ mṛidhrávācam || 8 ||

The inner self, by his prowess, annihilates the weapon even of that mighty beast, from whom another yet more powerful, conceiving himself one and unmatched, is generated. 3

The wielder of the bolt of determination, the clearer of the evil-intentions, smiles with his bolt and destroys the wrath fire of the wicked, the mighty exploiter and his waring strength, couched in darkness, who has been exhilarating himself with the food of these living creatures. 4

(O resplendent Soul), you discover the secret vital part of the vicious wicked, who thinks himself invulnerable, when, O powerful protector in the exhilaration of the spiritual joy, you detect him preparing for a struggle in his dark abode. 5

The soul, the showerer of blessings, exhilarated through the ecstasy of spiritual joy, uplifting his thunderbolt destroys him, who swells there huge in dimensions, sleeping and thriving in sunless darkness. 6

When resplendent self uplifts irresistible will-power against the mighty devil, and when he subdues him with his bolt of determination, he makes him lowest of all living creatures. 7

The mighty self seizes upon that restless flood of wicked-forces, an insatiable devil drinker of the sweet liquor, enveloper (of the world), and then with his great weapon, in his dwelling, crushes him, who is footless, measureless, and evil-speaking ogre. 8

को अस्य शुष्मं तविषीं वरात एको धना भरते अप्रतीतः ।
इमे चिदस्य ज्रयसो नु देवी इन्द्रस्यौजसो भियसा जिहाते ॥९॥
न्यस्मै देवी स्वधितिर्जिहीत इन्द्राय गातुरुशतीव येमे ।
सं यदोजो युवते विश्वमाभिरनु स्वधाव्ने क्षितयो नमन्त ॥१०॥
एकं नु त्वा सत्पतिं पाञ्चजन्यं जातं शृणोमि यशसं जनेषु ।
तं मे जगृभ्र आशसो नविष्ठं दोषा वस्तोर्हवमानास इन्द्रम् ॥११॥
एवा हि त्वामृतुथा यातयन्तं मघा विप्रेभ्यो ददतं शृणोमि ।
किं ते ब्रह्माणो गृहते सखायो ये त्वाया निदधुः काममिन्द्र ॥१२॥

kó asya ṣúshmam̱ távishīm̱ varāta éko dhánā bharate ápratītaḥ | imé cid asya jráyaso nú deví índrasyaújaso bhiyásā jihāte || 9 || ny àsmai deví svádhitir jihīta índrāya gātúr uṣatíva yeme | sám̱ yád ójo yuváte víṣvam ābhir ánu svadhāvne kshitáyo namanta || 10 || ékam̱ nú tvā sátpatim pāñcajanyam̱ jātám̱ ṣriṇomi yaṣásam̱ jáneshu | tám me jagribhra āṣáso návishṭham̱ doshā́ vástor hávamānāsa índram || 11 || evā́ hí tvā́m rituthā́ yātáyantam maghā́ víprebhyo dádatam̱ ṣriṇómi | kím̱ te brahmā́ṇo grihate sákhāyo yé tvāyā́ nidadhúḥ kā́mam indra || 12 ||

(३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यः संवरण ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ महि महे तवसे दीध्ये नॄनिन्द्रायेत्था तवसे अतव्यान् ।
यो अस्मै सुमतिं वाजसातौ स्तुतो जने समर्यश्चिकेत ॥१॥

33.

Máhi mahé taváse dīdhye nrī́n índrāyetthā́ taváse átavyān | yó asmai sumatím̱ vā́jasātau stutó jáne samaryàṣ cikéta || 1 ||

Who may arrest his strength or resist his vigour ? Verily alone and irresistible, He bears off all the riches. Even these two (physical and mental faculties), through the fear retire and submit to the supremacy of the fast-approaching Soul. 9

Even the divine, and self-sustaining powers of intellect and mind bow before the potent self, and the body resigns to the Soul like a loving wife. As he shares his vigour with all of them, men straightaway offer reverence to him. 10

Verily, I hear that you from the very birth are supreme Lord, the protector of the good, and friendly to the five people, the five senses. May all, representing their wishes and uttering praises propitiate the resplendent self—evening and morning. 11

So, too, I hear of you that you favour and readily enrich the learned from season to season on their approach. But what do your loyal friends and those who rest their hopes in you receive, O Soul ? 12

33

Feeble as I am, I offer praise to the great and vigorous resplendent Lord for granting strength to all these people. He, with his band, shows favour to these brave people, interested in struggle against evils. 1

स त्वं न इन्द्र धियसानो अर्कैर्हरीणां वृषन्योक्त्रमश्रेः ।
या इत्था मघवन्ननु जोषं वक्षो अभि प्रार्यः सक्षि जनान् ॥२॥
न ते त इन्द्राभ्य१स्मदृष्वायुक्तासो अब्रह्मता यदसन् ।
तिष्ठा रथमधि तं वज्रहस्ता रश्मिं देव यमसे स्वश्वः ॥३॥
पुरू यत्त इन्द्र सन्त्युक्था गवे चकर्थोर्वरासु युध्यन् ।
ततक्षे सूर्याय चिदोकसि स्वे वृषा समत्सु दासस्य नाम चित् ॥४॥
वयं ते त इन्द्र ये च नरः शर्धो जज्ञाना याताश्च रथाः ।
आस्माञ्जगम्यादहिशुष्म सत्वा भगो न हव्यः प्रभृथेषु चारुः ॥५॥

sá tvám̥ na indra dhiyasānó arkaír hárīṇām̥ vṛishan yóktram aṣreḥ | yā́ itthā́ maghavann ánu jósham̥ vákshо abhí prā́ryáḥ sakshi jánān || 2 || ná té ta indrābhy àsmád ṛishváyuktāso abrahmátā yád ásan | tíshṭhā rátham ádhi tám̥ vajrahastā́ raṣmím̥ deva yamase sváṣvaḥ || 3 || purū́ yát ta indra sánty ukthā́ gáve cakárthorvárāsu yúdhyan | tatakshé sū́ryāya cid ókasi své vṛíshā samátsu dāsásya nā́ma cit || 4 || vayám̥ té ta indra yé ca náraḥ ṣárdho jajñāná yātā́ṣ ca ráthāḥ | ā́smāñ jagamyād ahiṣushma sátvā bhágo ná hávyaḥ prabhṛithéshu cā́ruḥ || 5 ||

पपृक्षेण्यमिन्द्र त्वे ह्योजो नृम्णानि च नृतमानो अमर्तः ।
स न एनीं वसवानो रयिं दाः प्रार्यः स्तुषे तुविमघस्य दानम् ॥६॥
एवा न इन्द्रोतिभिरव पाहि गृणतः शूर कारून् ।
उत त्वचं ददतो वाजसातौ पिप्रीहि मध्वः सुषुतस्य चारोः ॥७॥

papṛikshéṇyam indra tvé hy ójo nṛimṇáni ca nṛitámāno ámartaḥ | sá na énīm̥ vasavāno rayím̥ dāḥ prā́ryá stushe tuvimaghásya dánam || 6 || evā́ na indrotíbhir ava pāhí gṛiṇatáḥ ṣūra kārū́n | utá tvácam̥ dádato vā́jasātau piprīhí mádhvaḥ súshutasya cā́roḥ || 7 ||

O resplendent Lord, showerer of blessings, you are delighted when adored through sacred hymns. May you be pleased to fasten the traces of horses and drive hither to assist us in a victory over your hostile people. 2

O resplendent Lord, those persons do not deserve your favour, who differing from us, have no faith in you through their ignorance. O the wielder of admantine will-power, ascend this chariot, and hold the reins, O Lord, of your noble horses. 3

In as much as, O resplendent these praises are offered to you, may you make our fields fertile with a free supply of unobstructed water of wisdom. You are radiant like the sun and in your own dwelling, may you destroy the name of the darkness of nescience, the devil slave in battle. 4

O resplendent self, we are yours, and yours are they, who are the leaders, confident of their strength, and whose energy is directed to you. O resplendent, capable of destroying the evil darkness, splendid in struggles, and easy to be invoked, may you, come to us and likewise come with all your riches. 5

O resplendent Lord, glorious is your strength ; you are immortal, and enwrap the world with light. May you give us splendid riches. I shall always greatly praise the munificence of the opulent Lord (as you are). 6

Thus favour us, O resplendent Lord, with your succour and protect the singers who chant your praises. May you be friendly to those who offer fully-dedicated love of ecstasy that yields a defensive covering in struggles. 7

उत त्ये मा पौरुकुत्स्यस्य सूरेस्त्रसदस्योर्हिरणिनो रराणाः ।
वहन्तु मा दश श्येतासो अस्य गैरिक्षितस्य क्रतुभिर्नु सश्चे ॥८॥
उत त्ये मा मारुताश्वस्य शोणाः क्रत्वामघासो विदथस्य रातौ ।
सहस्रा मे च्यवतानो ददान आनूकमर्यो वपुषे नार्चत् ॥९॥
उत त्ये मा ध्वन्यस्य जुष्टा लक्ष्मण्यस्य सुरुचो यतानाः ।
मह्ना रायः संवरणस्य ऋषेर्व्रजं न गावः प्रयता अपि ग्मन् ॥१०॥

utá tyé mā paurukutsyásya sūrés trasádasyor hiraṇíno rárāṇāḥ | váhantu mā dáṣa ṣyétāso asya gairikshitásya krátubhir nú saṣce || 8 || utá tyé mā mārutáṣvasya ṣóṇāḥ krátvāmaghāso vidáthasya rātaú | sahásrā me cyávatāno dádāna ānūkám aryó vápushe nárcat || 9 || utá tyé mā dhvanyàsya júshṭā lakshmaṇyàsya surúco yátānāḥ | mahnā́ rāyáḥ saṃváraṇasya ṛ́isher vrajáṃ ná gā́vaḥ práyatā ápi gman || 10 ||

(३४) चतुस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यः संवरण ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां जगती (९) नवम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ अजातशत्रुमजरा स्वर्वत्यनु स्वधामिता दस्ममीयते ।
सुनोतन पचत ब्रह्मवाहसे पुरुष्टुताय प्रतरं दधातन ॥१॥
आ यः सोमेन जठरमपिप्रतामन्दत मघवा मध्वो अन्धसः ।
यदीं मृगाय हन्तवे महावधः सहस्रभृष्टिमुशना वधं यमत् ॥२॥

34.

Ájātaṣatrum ajárā svàrvaty ánu svadhā́mitā dasmám īyate | sunótana pácata bráhmavāhase purushṭutā́ya prataráṃ dadhātana || 1 || ā́ yáḥ sómena jaṭháram ápipratámandata maghávā mádhvo ándhasaḥ | yád īm mṛigā́ya hántave mahávadhaḥ sahásrabhṛishṭim uṣánā vadhám yámat || 2 ||

May those ten (five sense organs and five vital breaths) resplendent in their brightness, the gift of those whom the devils fear, exceedingly brilliant and wise, occupying highest places, carry me for the fulfilment of my assigned duties. 8

And may we also be the possessors of powerful, well-actioned, swift transport vehicles, yoked with wind-like horses, and constructed in well-reputed workshops, and may we also receive the gift of thousands of treasures from generous sources, and further may we get ample dresses and decorations for our fighting soldiers. 9

Or, may the bright and dynamic steeds (transport motors) be bestowed upon me by experts and from the concerns well-known for their supreme quality ; and may we be the possessors of riches endowed with generosity. And may all these proceed to reliable experts, like cows to their stalls. 10

34

The undecaying, heavenly, unlimited offering goes to the one (resplendent) who is not born and who is the performer of wondrous deeds. Therefore press-out (the medicinal herbs), prepare, cook and dress, and offer oblation to him, who is the acceptor of prayer, and who is glorified by many. 1

The bounteous, who fills his heart with spiritual bliss, and is exhilarated by experiencing the sweet celestial elixir, lifts up his mighty thousand-fold adamantine will-power, desiring to lay down the monstrous of wickedness. 2

यो अस्मै घ्रंस उत वा य ऊधनि सोमं सुनोति भवति द्युमाँ अह ।
अपाप शक्रस्ततनुष्टिमूहति तनूशुभ्रं मघवा यः कवासखः ॥३॥
यस्यावधीत्पितरं यस्य मातरं यस्य शक्रो भ्रातरं नात ईषते ।
वेतीद्वस्य प्रयता यतंकरो न किल्बिषादीषते वस्व आकरः ॥४॥
न पञ्चभिर्दशभिर्वष्ट्यारभं नासुन्वता सचते पुष्यता चन ।
जिनाति वेदमुया हन्ति वा धुनिरा देवयुं भजति गोमति व्रजे ॥५॥

yó asmai ghraṅsá utá vā yá ū́dhani sómam sunóti bhávati dyumā́ṅ áha | ápāpa ṣakrás tatanúshṭim ūhati tanū́ṣubhram maghávā yáḥ kavāsakháḥ || 3 || yásyā́vadhīt pitáram yásya mātáram yásya ṣakró bhrā́taram nā́ta īshate | vétī́d v asya práyatā yataṃkaró ná kílbishād īshate vásva ākaráḥ || 4 || ná pañcábhir daṣábhir vashṭy ārábham nā́sunvatā sacate púshyatā caná | jináti véd amuyā́ hánti vā dhúnir ā́ devayúm bhajati gómati vrajé || 5 ||

¹४॥ वित्वक्षणः समृतौ चक्रमासजोऽसुन्वतो विषुणः सुन्वतो वृधः ।
इन्द्रो विश्वस्य दमिता विभीषणो यथावशं नयति दासमार्यः ॥६॥
समीं पणेरजति भोजनं मुषे वि दाशुषे भजति सूनरं वसु ।
दुर्गे चन ध्रियते विश्व आ पुरु जनो यो अस्य तविषीमचुक्रुधत ॥७॥
सं यज्जनौ सुधनौ विश्वशर्धसाववेदिन्द्रो मघवा गोषु शुभ्रिषु ।
युजं ह्यन्यमकृत प्रवेपन्युदीं गव्यं सृजते सत्वभिर्धुनिः ॥८॥

vitvákshaṇaḥ sámṛitau cakramāsajó 'sunvato víshuṇaḥ sunvató vṛidháḥ | índro víṣvasya damitā́ vibhī́shaṇo yathāvaṣáṃ nayati dā́sam ā́ryaḥ || 6 || sám īm paṇér ajati bhójanam mushé ví dāṣúshe bhajati sūnáraṃ vásu | durgé caná dhriyate víṣva ā́ purú jáno yó asya távishīm ácukrudhat || 7 || sáṃ yáj jánau sudhánau viṣváṣardhasāv áved índro maghávā góshu ṣubhríshu | yújaṃ hy ànyám ákṛita pravepany úd īm gávyaṃ sṛijate sátvabhir dhúniḥ || 8 ||

Illustrious is the man who expresses devotional love to that bounteous, by day or by night. The supra-powerful Lord is the friend of sages, but He disregards the man, who suffers from vanity and family snobs. 3

The supra-powerful Lord does not necessarily disfavour the one, whose father, mother, or brother he has punished (for justifiable reasons) and is willing to accept his devotions and offerings. He is the upholder (of justice). The Lord, the bestower of riches, does not subscribe to the sins. 4

He places no impediments in the normal functions of the five sense organs or ten vital breaths. He does not associate with the man who performs not the benevolent acts, though prospering well. The terrifier of foes, however, punishes or destroys the wicked. But, to the virtuous, he gives a cattle-farm in reward. 5

Exceedingly strong in struggles, he accelerates the wheels of his chariot, and turns away from him who offers no prayer. He, however, augments him who prays. The resplendent Lord is the subduer of all, and formidable, and He keeps the undisciplines under His full control. 6

He proceeds to confiscate the wealth of the avaricious and bestows precious riches to His faithful devotee. A man, who provokes the mighty to indignation, dares not stand secure even in his wide stronghold. 7

When the resplendent Lord, the opulent, discriminates between two wealthy persons fighting amongst themselves over the precious knowledge, he chooses one of them on merits, and frightens the other one. He takes the meritorious one as his close ally, and associated with the vital faculties, bestows wisdom upon him. 8

सहस्रसामाग्निवेशिं गृणीषे शत्रिमग्न उपमां केतुमर्यः ।
तस्मा आपः संयतः पीपयन्त तस्मिन्क्षत्रममवत्त्वेषमस्तु ॥९॥

sahasrasā́m ā́gniveśiṃ griṇīshe śátrim agna upamā́ṃ ketúm aryáḥ | tásmā ápaḥ saṃyátaḥ pīpayanta tásmin kshatram ámavat tveshám astu || 9 ||

(३५) पञ्चत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरस प्रभूवसुर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-७) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चामनुष्टुप्, (८) अष्टम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥

यस्ते साधिष्ठोऽवस इन्द्र क्रतुष्टमा भर ।
अस्मभ्यं चर्षणीसहं सस्निं वाजेषु दुष्टरम् ॥१॥
यदिन्द्र ते चतस्रो यच्छूर सन्ति तिस्रः ।
यद्वा पञ्च क्षितीनामवस्तत्सु न आ भर ॥२॥
आ तेऽवो वरेण्यं वृषन्तमस्य हूमहे ।
वृषजूतिर्हि जज्ञिष आभूभिरिन्द्र तुर्वणिः ॥३॥
वृषा ह्यसि राधसे जज्ञिषे वृष्णि ते शवः ।
स्वक्षत्रं ते धृषन्मनः सत्राहमिन्द्र पौंस्यम् ॥४॥
त्वं तमिन्द्र मर्त्यममित्रयन्तमद्रिवः ।
सर्वरथा शतक्रतो नि याहि शवसस्पते ॥५॥

35.

Yás te sā́dhishṭhó 'vasa índra krátush ṭám ā́ bhara | asmábhyaṃ carshaṇīsáhaṃ sásniṃ vā́jeshu dushṭáram || 1 || yád indra te cátasro yác chūra sánti tisráḥ | yád vā páñca kshitīnā́m ávas tát sú na ā́ bhara || 2 || ā́ té 'vo váreṇyaṃ vṛíshantamasya hūmahe | vṛíshajūtir hí jajñishá ābhū́bhir indra turváṇiḥ || 3 || vṛíshā hy ási rā́dhase jajñishé vṛíshṇi te śávaḥ | svákshatraṃ te dhṛishán mánaḥ satrāhám indra paúṅsyam || 4 || tváṃ tám indra mártyam amitrayántam adrivaḥ | sarvarathā́ śatakrato ní yāhi śavasas pate || 5 ||

O adorable Lord, I praise the one who is the dispeller of distress, energy-personified, and dynamic, the bestower of thousands (of blessings) and beyond comparison. May the streams of cherished desires of the devotee be acceptable to the Lord. May the devotee be favoured with wealth, strength and glory. 9

35

O resplendent Lord. may you grant for our protection that of your holy and effectual power, which conquers men for us, which is invincible in life-struggles. 1

Whatever aids, O resplendent Lord, are yours, whether four (physical, vital, mental and spiritual) or three (physical, mental and spiritual), or those accorded to the five classes of men, bring them quickly all that help to us. 2

We invoke for the choicest and mightiest help of yours, O the most liberal showerer of blessings. As soon as manifest you are quick in showering of benefits, and destroying evils. May you associated with the vital principles, grant us protection. 3

You are the showerer of boons, and as such as soon as manifest, you bestow riches. Your strength is the fulfiller of aspirations. Your self-invigorated mind is firm in determination, and your manly vigour subdues multitudes. 4

O resplendent Lord, performer of hundreds of selfless deeds, wielder of the punitive justice, may you, with your all-pervading chariot's force, proceed against the mortal, who entertains hostility towards you. 5

॥६॥

त्वामिद्वृत्रहन्तम जनासो वृक्तबर्हिषः ।
उग्रं पूर्वीषु पूर्व्यं हवन्ते वाजसातये ॥६॥
अस्माकमिन्द्र दुष्टरं पुरोयावानमाजिषु ।
सयावानं धनेधने वाजयन्तमवा रथम् ॥७॥
अस्माकमिन्द्रेहि नो रथमवा पुरंध्या ।
वयं शविष्ठ वार्यं दिवि श्रवो दधीमहि दिवि स्तोमं मनामहे ॥८॥

tvā́m íd vṛitrahantama jánāso vṛiktábarhishaḥ | ugrám pūrvíshu pūrvyáṃ hávante vā́jasātaye || 6 || asmā́kam indra dushṭáram puroyā́vānam ājíshu | sayā́vānaṃ dháne-dhane vājayántam avā rátham || 7 || asmā́kam indréhi no rátham avā púraṃdhyā | vayáṃ ṣavishṭha vā́ryam diví ṣrávo dadhīmahi diví stómam manāmahe || 8 ||

३६ षट्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः प्रभूवसुर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । १-२, ४-६ प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचो-श्चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, ३ तृतीयायाश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥७॥

स आ गमदिन्द्रो यो वसूनां चिकेतद्दातुं दामनो रयीणाम् ।
धन्वचरो न वंसगस्तृषाणश्चकमानः पिबतु दुग्धमंशुम् ॥१॥
आ ते हनू हरिवः शूर शिप्रे रुहत्सोमो न पर्वतस्य पृष्ठे ।
अनु त्वा राजन्नर्वतो न हिन्वन्गीर्भिर्मदेम पुरुहूत विश्वे ॥२॥

36.

Sá á gamad índro yó vásūnāṃ cíketad dā́tuṃ dā́mano rayīṇā́m | dhanvacaró ná váṅsagas tṛishāṇáṣ cakamānáḥ pibatu dugdhám aṅṣúm || 1 || ā́ te hánū harivaḥ ṣūra ṣípre rúhat sómo ná párvatasya pṛishṭhé | ánu tvā rājann árvato ná hinván gīrbhír madema puruhūta víṣve || 2 ||

O, the mightiest destroyer of evils, fierce and foremost among many, men with humility and purity of heart invoke you for aid in life-struggles. 6

Defend, O resplendent Lord, our life-chariot, that proceeds foremost in struggles, followed by attendants, and eagerly striving for repeated gains. 7

May you come to us, O resplendent Lord, and defend our life-chariot by your divine intelligence. May we, O mightiest one, offer oblations at the break of day, and chant prayers at dawn. 8

36

May the resplendent Lord, who knows how to distribute riches from His store of treasure, come to us. May He, the bestower of riches, come as a thirsty bird who roams in the midspace and eagerly relish the elixir of our offered devotional love. 1

O Lord of vitality and vigour, may the elixir of our devotion rise to your sweet lips, as if a herbal creeper to the summit of a mountain. May we, O king, invoked by all, give pleasure to you with our hymns, as to horses with fodder. 2

चक्रं न वृत्तं पुरुहूत वेपते मनो भिया मे अमतेरिदद्रिवः ।
रथादधि त्वा जरिता सदावृध कुविन्नु स्तोषन्मघवन्पुरूवसुः ॥३॥
एष ग्रावेव जरिता त इन्द्रेयर्ति वाचं बृहदाशुषाणः ।
प्र सव्येन मघवन्यंसि रायः प्र दक्षिणिद्धरिवो मा वि वेनः ॥४॥
वृषा त्वा वृषणं वर्धतु द्यौर्वृषा वृषभ्यां वहसे हरिभ्याम् ।
स नो वृषा वृषरथः सुशिप्र वृषक्रतो वृषा वज्रिन्भरे धाः ॥५॥
यो रोहितौ वाजिनौ वाजिनीवान्त्रिभिः शतैः सचमानावदिष्ट ।
यूने समस्मै क्षितयो नमन्तां श्रुतरथाय मरुतो दुवोया ॥६॥

cakráṃ ná vṛittám puruhūta vepate máno bhiyā́ me ámater íd adrivaḥ | ráthād ádhi tvā jaritā́ sadāvṛidha kuvín nú stoshan maghavan purūvásuḥ || 3 || eshá grā́veva jaritā́ ta indréyarti vā́cam bṛihád āṣushāṇáḥ | prá savyéna maghavan yáṅsi rāyáḥ prá dakshiṇíd dharivo mā́ ví venaḥ || 4 || vṛ́ishā tvā vṛ́ishaṇaṃ vardhatu dyaúr vṛ́ishā vṛ́ishabhyām vahase háribhyām | sá no vṛ́ishā vṛisharathaḥ suṣipra vṛ́ishakrato vṛ́ishā vajrin bháre dhāḥ || 5 || yó róhitau vājínau vājínīvān tribhíḥ ṣataíḥ sácamānāv ádishṭa | yū́ne sám asmai kshitáyo namantāṃ ṣrutárathāya maruto duvoyā́ || 6 ||

(३७) सप्तत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

सं भानुना यतते सूर्यस्याजुह्वानो घृतपृष्ठः स्वञ्चाः ।
तस्मा अमृध्रा उषसो व्युच्छान्य इन्द्राय सुनवामेत्याह ॥१॥

37.

Sám bhānúnā yatate sū́ryasyājúhvāno ghṛitápṛishṭhaḥ sváñcaḥ | tásmā ámṛidhrā usháso vy ùchān yá índrāya sunávāmety ā́ha || 1 ||

O wielder of the punitive justice, invoked by all, my mind trembles through dread of poverty, like a whirling wheel. O ever prosperous, bounteous Lord, may your affluent worshipper praise you promptly and abundantly, merged in devotion as if with you in your chariot. 3

O resplendent Lord, like the press stone, your devotee offers laudations to you. With your left hand, O bounteous Lord, you bestow riches, and so with your right too; be not reluctant. 4

May the effective eulogium melt you, O showerer of blessings. Your radiance is borne by actinic rays. So, O showerer of blessings, splendid in form, wielder of the punitive justice, with mighty chariot, may you defend us in struggles. 5

O cosmic vital forces, may all men bow down in obedience to that young possessor of well-known chariots, who rich in steeds gives me two dark red horses (the colourful dawn and dusk) together with three hundred and more cattle (the days of the year). 6

37

Bedewed with clarified butter and worshipped earnestly, the swift flames vies with the splendour of the sun. May the dawns rise without cessation for him who says, "let us offer devotional love to the resplendent Lord." 1

समिद्धाग्निर्वनवत्स्तीर्णबर्हिर्युक्तग्रावा सुतसोमो जराते ।
ग्रावाणो यस्येषिरं वदन्त्ययदध्वर्युर्हविषाव सिन्धुम् ॥२॥
वधूरियं पतिमिच्छन्त्येति य ईं वहाते महिषीमिषिराम् ।
आस्य श्रवस्याद्रथ आ च घोषात्पुरू सहस्रा परि वर्तयाते ॥३॥
न स राजा व्यथते यस्मिन्निन्द्रस्तीव्रं सोमं पिबति गोसखायम् ।
आ सत्वनैरजति हन्ति वृत्रं क्षेति क्षितीः सुभगो नाम पुष्यन् ॥४॥
पुष्यात्क्षेमे अभि योगे भवात्युभे वृतौ संयती सं जयाति ।
प्रियः सूर्ये प्रियो अग्ना भवाति य इन्द्राय सुतसोमो ददाशत् ॥५॥

sámiddhāgnir vanavat stīrṇábarhir yuktágravā sutásomo jarate | grávāṇo yásyeshirám vádanty áyad adhvaryúr havíshāva síndhum || 2 || vadhū́r iyám pátim ichánty eti yá īm váhāte máhishīm ishirám | ā́sya ṣravasyād rátha ā́ ca ghoshāt purū́ sahásrā pári vartayāte || 3 || ná sá rā́jā vyathate yásminn índras tīvrám sómam píbati gósakhāyam | ā́ satvanaír ájati hánti vṛitrám kshéti kshitīḥ subhágo nā́ma púshyan || 4 || púshyāt kshéme abhí yóge bhavāty ubhé vṛítau saṃyatī sáṃ jayāti | priyáḥ sū́rye priyó agnā́ bhavāti yá índrāya sutásomo dā́dāṣat || 5 ||

(३८) अष्टात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

उरोष्ट इन्द्र राधसो विभ्वी रातिः शतक्रतो ।
अधा नो विश्वचर्षणे द्युम्ना सुक्षत्र मंहय ॥१॥

38

Urósh ṭa indra rā́dhaso vibhvī́ rātíḥ ṣatakrato | ádhā no viṣvacarshaṇe dyumnā́ sukshatra maṅhaya || 1 ||

With kindled inner fire and heart trimmed like strewn grass, let the devotee worship and pour forth the devotions as if the juice effused from the press-stones. And may the priest chant praises, like the press-stones uttering sounds, and enjoy with his oblations as a swimmer going to a sea. 2

When the soul loves his charming wife, the wisdom, the lady fond of husband comes to the ceremony. May his car seek fame, thunder loudly, and its wheel make thousands of revolutions. 3

That prince suffers no evil in whose realm, the resplendent Lord accepts earnest devotional prayers, profusely mixed with love. Attended by faithful followers, he moves in all directions. He destroys his enemy and cherishing that name of the resplendent Lord, he guards his people. 4

He, who sings devotional prayers, composed for the praise of the resplendent Lord, attains ability to win riches and preserve. He is victorious in the struggles, present or future. Dear shall he be to the Sun, and dear to fire his devotional expressions, he offers homage to the resplendent. 5

38

O resplendent Lord, performer of hundreds of benevolent deeds, liberal is your munificience and extensive your bounty. So, O observer of all, and benevolent guardian, may you grant us opulence by your grace and glory. 1

यदीमिन्द्र श्रवाय्यमिषं शविष्ठ दधिषे ।
पप्रथे दीर्घश्रुत्तमं हिरण्यवर्ण दुष्टरम् ॥२॥
शुष्मासो ये ते अद्रिवो मेहना केतसापः ।
उभा देवावभिष्टये दिवश्च ग्मश्च राजथः ॥३॥
उतो नो अस्य कस्य चिद्दक्षस्य तव वृत्रहन् ।
अस्मभ्यं नृम्णमा भरास्मभ्यं नृमणस्यसे ॥४॥
नू त आभिरभिष्टिभिस्तव शर्मञ्छतक्रतो ।
इन्द्र स्याम सुगोपाः शूर स्याम सुगोपाः ॥५॥

yád īm indra ṣravā́yyam ísham ṣavishṭha dadhishé | paprathé dīrghaṣrúttamam híraṇyavarṇa dushṭáram || 2 || ṣúshmāso yé te adrivo mehánā ketasā́paḥ | ubhā́ devā́v abhíshṭaye diváṣ ca gmáṣ ca rājathaḥ || 3 || utó no asyá kásya cid dákshasya táva vṛitrahan | asmábhyam nṛimṇám ā́ bharāsmábhyam nṛimaṇasyase || 4 || nū́ ta ābhír abhíshṭibhis táva ṣárman̄ chatakrato | índra syā́ma sugopā́ḥ ṣū́ra syā́ma sugopā́ḥ || 5 ||

(३९) एकोनचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्
(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामनुष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥१०॥ यदिन्द्र चित्र मेहनास्ति त्वादातमद्रिवः ।
राधस्तन्नो विदद्वस उभयाहस्त्या भर ॥१॥

39.

Yád indra citra mehánāsti tvā́dātam adrivaḥ | rā́dhas tán no vidadvasa ubhayāhasty ā́ bhara || 1 ||

O mighty resplendent Lord, golden hued, you are the possessor of widely-famed abundance, and yet it is, as extensiyely known, very hard to obtain. 2

O wielder of the adamantine justice, these powers, who readily obey you, are very generous, extensive and strong. You and your powers, both divinities, at their pleasure dominate over heaven and earth. 3

O destroyer of evils, may you bring to us the wealth and heroic strength with the aid of power that you possess. May you bless us with wealth, as you are keen to make us wealthy. 4

With these aids of yours, may we, O doer of the selfless acts, live under your protection ; may we, O resplendent, be safe and may we, O hero, be well secured. 5

39

O wondrous resplendent Lord, wielder of the adamantine justice, master of precious treasures, what wealth is meant to be showered to us, that bounty, may you, filling both your hands, bring to us. 1

यन्मन्यसे वरेण्यमिन्द्र द्युक्षं तदा भर ।
विद्याम तस्य ते वयमकूपारस्य दावने ॥२॥
यत्ते दित्सु प्रराध्यं मनो अस्ति श्रुतं बृहत् ।
तेन दृळ्हा चिदद्रिव आ वाजं दर्षि सातये ॥३॥
मंहिष्ठं वो मघोनां राजानं चर्षणीनाम् ।
इन्द्रमुप प्रशस्तये पूर्वीभिर्जुजुषे गिरः ॥४॥
अस्मा इत्काव्यं वच उक्थमिन्द्राय शंस्यम् ।
तस्मा उ ब्रह्मवाहसे गिरो वर्धन्त्यत्रयो गिरः शुम्भन्त्यत्रयः ॥५॥

yán mányase várenyam índra dyukshám tád á́ bhara | vidyā́ma tásya te vayám ákūpārasya dāváne || 2 || yát te ditsú prarā́dhyam máno ásti srutám brihát | téna drilhā́ cid adriva ā́ vā́jam darshi sātáye || 3 || máṅhishtham vo maghónām rā́jānam carshanīnā́m | índram úpa prásastaye pūrvī́bhir jujushe gíraḥ || 4 || ásmā ít kā́vyam váca ukthám índrāya sáṅsyam | tásmā u bráhmavāhase gíro vardhanty átrayo gíraḥ sumbhanty átrayaḥ || 5 ||

(४०) चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । (१–४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामिन्द्रः, (५) पञ्चम्याः सूर्यः, (६–९) षष्ठ्यादिचतसृणाञ्चात्रिर्देवताः । (१–३) प्रथमादितृचस्योष्णिक्, (४,६–८) चतुर्थ्याः षष्ठ्यादितृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, (५, ९) पञ्चमीनवम्योश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥११॥ आ याह्यद्रिभिः सुतं सोमं सोमपते पिब । वृषन्निन्द्र वृषभिर्वृत्रहन्तम ॥१॥
वृषा ग्रावा वृषा मदो वृषा सोमो अयं सुतः । वृषन्निन्द्र वृषभिर्वृत्रहन्तम ॥२॥

40.

Á yā́hy ádribhiḥ sutám sómam somapate piba | vríshann indra vríshabhir vritrahantama || 1 || vríshā grā́vā vríshā mádo vríshā sómo ayám sutáḥ | vríshann indra — || 2 ||

May you, O resplendent Lord, grant us whatever you deem worth the wish and blessed. May we continue to be your in your boundless munificence. 2

O wielder of justice, since your generous and praise-worthy liberality is far-renowned, may you with that lofty spirit break open the stronghold of adversaries, and distribute substantial food to the deserving. 3

In the praise of the resplendent Lord, people chant ancient hymns and please Him, who is extremely rich among opulents and sovereign king among men. 4

To that resplendent Lord, must be sung the poems and hymns of praise. The sages, free from three folds of miseries, glorify Him with their hymns. He is the acceptor of praises. The three-fold free sages augment His glory through praises. 5

40

Come to cherish our devotional love, which has been effused out with sincerity and integrity as the invigorating extracts from herbs by pressing stones. O showerer, the resplendent Lord, the destroyer of evils come with the showerers (the vital faculties). 1

Showerer is the cloud, showerer is the spiritual delight, showerer is the effused herbal juice. O showerer, the resplendent Lord, the destroyer of evils, come with the showerers (the vital faculties). 2

वृषा त्वा वृषणं हुवे वज्रिञ्चित्राभिरूतिभिः । वृषन्निन्द्र वृषभिर्वृत्रहन्तम ॥३॥
ऋजीषी वज्री वृषभस्तुराषाट्छुष्मी राजा वृत्रहा सोमपावा ।
युक्त्वा हरिभ्यामुप यासदर्वाङ्माध्यंदिने सवने मत्सदिन्द्रः ॥४॥
यत्त्वा सूर्य स्वर्भानुस्तमसाविध्यदासुरः ।
अक्षेत्रविद्यथा मुग्धो भुवनान्यदीधयुः ॥५॥

vṛ́shā tvā vṛ́shaṇaṃ huve vájriñ citrā́bhir ūtíbhiḥ | vṛ́shann indra — || 3 || ṛijīshī́ vajrī́ vṛishabhás turāshā́ṭ chushmī́ rā́jā vṛitrahā́ somapā́vā | yuktvā́ háribhyām úpa yāsad arvā́ñ mā́dhyaṃdine sávane matsad índraḥ || 4 || yát tvā sūrya svàrbhānus támasā́vidhyad āsuráḥ | ákshetravid yáthā mugdhó bhúvanāny adīdhayuḥ || 5 ||

॥१२॥ स्वर्भानोरध यदिन्द्र माया अवो दिवो वर्तमाना अवाहन् ।
गूळ्हं सूर्यं तमसापव्रतेन तुरीयेण ब्रह्मणाविन्ददत्रिः ॥६॥
मा मामिमं तव सन्तमत्र इरस्या द्रुग्धो भियसा नि गारीत् ।
त्वं मित्रो असि सत्यराधास्तौ मेहावतं वरुणश्च राजा ॥७॥
ग्राव्णो ब्रह्मा युयुजानः सपर्यन् कीरिणा देवान्नमसोपशिक्षन् ।
अत्रिः सूर्यस्य दिवि चक्षुराधात्स्वर्भानोरप माया अघुक्षत् ॥८॥
यं वै सूर्यं स्वर्भानुस्तमसाविध्यदासुरः । अत्रयस्तमन्वविन्दन्नह्यन्ये अशक्नुवन् ॥९॥

svàrbhāno ádha yád indra māyā́ avó divó vártamānā avā́han | gūḷháṃ sū́ryaṃ támasā́pavratena turī́yeṇa bráhmaṇāvindad átriḥ || 6 || mā́ mā́m imáṃ táva sántam atra irasyā́ drugdhó bhiyásā ní gārīt | tvám mitró asi satyárādhās taú mehā́vataṃ váruṇaś ca rā́jā || 7 || grā́vṇo brahmā́ yuyujānáḥ saparyán kīríṇā devā́n námasopaśíkshan | átriḥ sū́ryasya diví cákshur ā́dhāt svàrbhānor ápa māyā́ aghukshat || 8 || yáṃ vaí sū́ryaṃ svàrbhānus támasā́vidhyad āsuráḥ | átrayas tám ánv avindan nahy ànyé áśaknuvan || 9 ||

As strong, I invoke you, O strong the wielder of adamantine justice, for your marvellous protective means. O showerer, the resplendent Lord, destroyer of evils come with the showerer (the vital faculties). 3

May the acceptor of simple and sincere homage, the wielder of punitive justice, the showerer of benefits, the queller of the mighty (foes), the powerful the monarch, the dispeller of darkness, the acceptor of devotional love, speedily as if mounted on courser, come down to us. May the resplendent Lord be exhilarated at the mid-day worship. 4

When, O sun, the mighty devil, the nescience, eclipses you with darkness, all creatures look bewildered like one who knows not the place where he actually is. 5

When, O Sun, you dissipate those illusions of the eclipsing nescience which are spread below the sky, then the three fold free sage, by his fourth vision (the innate instinct, beyond the physical mental and intellectual) discovers the sun concealed by the darkness impeding his functions. 6

Let not the violator, with his dread, through anger swallow me up, for I (the sun) am your true friend, O three fold free sage. May you and the brilliant venerable divine, both protect me. 7

Then the wise three fold free sage, collecting the material for sacred worship, and propitiating divine powers with praise, and adoring them with reverence, places the eye of the sun in the sky and causes the delusion of the nescience to vanish. 8

The sun, whom the demon envelops with darkness, the three fold fire, sages subsequently recover not but them is able to make his release effective. 9

(४१) एकचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-२०) विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१-१५, १८-१९) प्रथमादिपञ्चदशर्चामष्टादश्येकोनविंश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१६-१७) षोडशीसप्तदश्योरतिजगती, (२०) विंश्याश्चैकपदा विराट् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१३॥ को नु वां मित्रावरुणावृतायन्दिवो वा महः पार्थिवस्य वा दे ।
ऋतस्य वा सदसि त्रासीथां नो यज्ञायते वा पशुषो न वाजान् ॥१॥
ते नो मित्रो वरुणो अर्यमायुरिन्द्र ऋभुक्षा मरुतो जुषन्त ।
नमोभिर्वा ये दधते सुवृक्तिं स्तोमं रुद्राय मीळ्हुषे सजोषाः ॥२॥
आ वां येष्ठाश्विना हुवध्यै वातस्य पत्मन्रथ्यस्य पुष्टौ ।
उत वा दिवो असुराय मन्म प्रान्धांसीव यज्यवे भरध्वम् ॥३॥

41.

Kó nú vām mitrāvaruṇāv ṛitāyán divó vā maháḥ pắrthivasya vā dé | ṛitásya vā sádasi trắsīthāṃ no yajñāyaté vā paṣushó ná vắjān || 1 || té no mitró váruṇo aryamắyúr índra ṛibhukshấ marúto jushanta | námobhir vā yé dádhate suvṛiktíṃ stómaṃ rudrắya mīḷhúshe sajóshāḥ || 2 || ấ vāṃ yéshṭhāṣvinā huvádhyai vắtasya pátman ráthyasya pushṭaú | utá vā divó ásurāya mánma prắndhāṅsīva yájyave bharadhvam || 3 ||

प्र सक्षणो दिव्यः कण्वहोता त्रितो दिवः सजोषा वातो अग्निः ।
पूषा भगः प्रभृथे विश्वभोजा आजिं न जग्मुराश्वश्वतमाः ॥४॥
प्र वो रयिं युक्ताश्वं भरध्वं राय एषेऽवसे दधीत धीः ।
सुशेव एवैरौशिजस्य होता ये व एवा मरुतस्तुराणाम् ॥५॥

prá sakshấṇo divyáḥ kánvahotā trító diváḥ sajóshā vắto agníḥ | pūshắ bhágaḥ prabhṛithé viṣvá-bhojā ājíṃ ná jagmur āṣvàṣvatamāḥ || 4 || prá vo rayíṃ yuktấṣvam bharadhvaṃ rāyá éshé 'vase dadhīta dhíḥ | suṣéva évair auṣijásya hótā yé va évā marutas turắṇām || 5 ||

41

O Lord of light and bliss, who is truly devoted to you? May you, whether abiding in the region of heaven, or of the vast earth, or of the firmament, protect us, and give us physical strength and vitality. 1

May these divinities,—the cosmic bounties—like the divine light, cosmic plasma, eternal order, the parameter of time, the spirituality, the soul force and the cosmic vital principles be gracious to us. And in the same way, the other ones of one mind with benevolent cosmic vitality accept our hymns, adorations and laudations. 2

I invoke you, the pair of twin divines, the restrainers of desire, for the acceleration of your chariot with the swiftness of wind. We offer praise to the worshipful celestial ordainer as it were a libation. 3

May the divine accepter of worship come speedily to the sacrifice as the fleetest courses rushes to the battle. In this sacrifice may the wisest participate as priest; and the triple bounty, the fire on the earth, the air in midspace, and the Sun in the heaven may also come in concurrence (with our Lord). May the other bounties of grace and sustenance, the protectors of the universe also come. 4

O vital principles, may you bring wealth, comprising horses. Let wise men acquire and preserve riches. May the ministrant priest, the disciple of brilliant sage, be made happy by those swift-going horses, which are rapid in motion. 5

॥१४॥ प्र वो वायुं रथयुजं कृणुध्वं प्र देवं विप्रं पनितारमर्कैः ।
इषुध्यव ऋतसापः पुरंधीर्वस्वीर्नो अत्र पत्नीरा धिये धुः ॥६॥
उप व एषे वन्द्येभिः शूषैः प्र यह्वी दिवश्चितयद्भिरर्कैः ।
उषासानक्ता विदुषीव विश्वमा हा वहतो मर्त्याय यज्ञम् ॥७॥
अभि वो अर्चे पोष्यावतो नॄन्वास्तोष्पतिं त्वष्टारं रराणः ।
धन्या सजोषा धिषणा नमोभिर्वनस्पतीँरोषधी राय एषे ॥८॥
तुजे नस्तने पर्वताः सन्तु स्वैतवो ये वसवो न वीराः ।
पनित आप्त्यो यजतः सदा नो वर्धान्नः शंसं नर्यो अभिष्टौ ॥९॥
वृष्णो अस्तोषि भूम्यस्य गर्भं त्रितो नपातमपां सुवृक्ति ।
गृणीते अग्निरेतरी न शूषैः शोचिष्केशो नि रिणाति वना ॥१०॥

prá vo vāyúṃ rathayújaṃ kriṇudhvam prá deváṃ vípram panitā́ram arkaíḥ | ishudhyáva ṛitasā́paḥ púraṃdhīr vásvīr no átra pátnīr ā́ dhiyé dhuḥ || 6 || úpa va éshe vándyebhiḥ ṣūshaíḥ prá yahvī́ divā́ṣ citáyadbhir arkaíḥ | ushā́sānáktā vidúshīva víṣvam ā́ hā vahato mártyāya yajñám || 7 || abhí vo arce poshyā́vato nṛī́n vā́stosh pátiṃ tváshṭāraṃ rárāṇaḥ | dhányā sajóshā dhishā́ṇā námobhir vánaspátīñr óshadhī rāyá éshe || 8 || tujé nas táne párvatāḥ santu svaítavo yé vásavo ná vīrā́ḥ | panitá āptyó yajatáḥ sádā no várdhān naḥ ṣáṅsaṃ náryo abhíshṭau || 9 || vríshṇo astoshi bhūmyásya gárbhaṃ tritó nápātam apā́ṃ suvṛiktí | gṛiṇīté agnír etárī ná ṣūshaíḥ ṣocíshkeṣo ní riṇāti vánā || 10 ||

॥१५॥ कथा महे रुद्रियाय ब्रवाम कद्राये चिकितुषे भगाय ।
आप ओषधीरुत नोऽवन्तु द्यौर्वना गिरयो वृक्षकेशाः ॥११॥

kathā́ mahé rudríyāya bravāma kád rāyé cikitúshe bhágāya | ā́pa óshadhīr utá no 'vantu dyaúr vánā giráyo vṛikshákeṣāḥ || 11 ||

May you, by your prayers, bring him, the air-divine, here who is the fulfiller of desires, and adorable ; and let him yoke the chariot. May the tender lovely and excellent copartners, as if wives, also come hither to inspire us with wisdom. 6

O mighty divine day and night, to you and to the other adorables, I present homage with prayers, delighting and explicit. May you, like two learned lady-sages, inspire mortals for accomplishing noble deeds. 7

We extol, with offerings the architect of creation, the nourisher of men, and the Lord of homes. We glorify with obeisance the goddess of speech, bestower of opulence, and also those who share opulence, the Lord of the forest, and the herbs, with the expectation that we may obtain riches. 8

May the clouds, the establishers of the world, like heroes, free moving, liberally shower their bounties on us. May the persons of authority and reliance, who are ever friendly to men, and whom we all respect, grant us fame and prosperity. 9

I glorify with unqualified praise the lightning in the clouds, the embryo of the earth-fertilizing rain, the off-spring of the waters. He, who is threefold, who with might neighs loudly like a charger, when flashing through clouds with fiery hairs and withering rays, he (the lightning) consumes the forests. 10

How shall we speak to the mighty posterity of the Lord of cosmic vitality, or to the all-knowing gracious Lord, for the sake of obtaining riches. May the waters, plants, the heaven, the woods, and the mountains, whose tresses are trees, preserve us. 11

शृणोतु न ऊर्जां पतिर्गिरः स नभस्तरीयाँ इषिरः परिज्मा ।
शृण्वन्त्वापः पुरो न शुभ्राः परि स्रुचो बबृहाणस्याद्रेः ॥१२॥
विदा चिन्नु महान्तो ये व एवा ब्रवाम दस्मा वार्यं दधानाः ।
वयश्चन सुभ्व आव यन्ति क्षुभा मर्तमनुयतं वधस्नैः ॥१३॥
आ दैव्यानि पार्थिवानि जन्मापश्चाच्छा सुमखाय वोचम् ।
वर्धन्तां द्यावो गिरश्चन्द्राग्रा उदा वर्धन्तामभिषाता अर्णाः ॥१४॥
पदेपदे मे जरिमा नि धायि वरूत्री वा शक्रा या पायुभिश्च ।
सिषक्तु माता मही रसा नः स्मत्सूरिभिरृजुहस्त ऋजुवनिः ॥१५॥

sriṇótu na ūrjā́ṃ pátir gíraḥ sá nábhas tárīyāñ ishiráḥ párijmā | sriṇvántv ā́paḥ púro ná subhrā́ḥ pári srúco babrihāṇásyā́dreḥ || 12 || vidā́ cin nu mahā́nto yé va évā brávāma dasma vā́ryaṃ dádhānāḥ | váyas caná subhvà ā́va yanti kshubhā́ mártaṃ ánuyataṃ vadhasnaíḥ || 13 || ā́ daívyāni pā́rthivāni jánmāpás cā́chā súmakhāya vocam | várdhantāṃ dyā́vo gíras candrā́grā udā́ vardhantām abhíshātā árṇāḥ || 14 || padé-pade me jarimā́ ní dhāyi várūtrī vā sakrā́ yā́ pāyúbhis ca | síshaktu mātā́ mahī́ rasā́ naḥ smát sūríbhir rijuhásta rijuvániḥ || 15 ||

कथा दाशेम नमसा सुदानूनेवया मरुतो अच्छोक्तौ प्रश्रवसो मरुतो अच्छोक्तौ ।
मा नोऽहिर्बुध्न्यो रिषे धादस्माकं भूदुपमातिवनिः ॥१६॥
इति चिन्नु प्रजायै पशुमत्यै देवासो वनते मर्त्यो व आ देवासो वनते मर्त्यो वः ।
अत्रा शिवां तन्वो धासिमस्या जरां चिन्मे निरृतिर्जग्रसीत ॥१७॥

kathā́ dāsema námasā sudā́nūn evayā́ marúto áchoktau prásravaso marúto áchoktau | mā́ nó 'hir budhnyò rishé dhād asmā́kam bhūd upamātivániḥ || 16 || íti cin nú prajā́yai pasumátyai dévāso vánate mártyo va ā́ devāso vanate mártyo vaḥ | átrā sivā́ṃ tanvò dhasím asyā́ jarā́ṃ cin me nírritir jagrasīta || 17 ||

May the Lord of vitality, who traverses through cloudy heaven, the circumambrient listen to our prayers. And may the crystal clear waters, bright like marble cities, hear us, as they flow round the towering mountains. 12

O mighty cloud bearing winds, we know your ways. O charming ones, we, furnished with choicest offerings, sing your glory. May they, well disposed, come down to us, destroying with their weapons, the agitated mortals, who try to oppose them. 13

I offer adoration to the cloud bearing winds, of celestial and terrestrial origin, deserving sacred worship, in order to obtain the waters. May my joy—bestowing noble aspirations prosper, and so my songs. May our cherished rivers be full of waters. 14

My praise has been continually offered to each one. May the strong force, with her powers of perservation protect us. May the great venerable mother-earth, adored by enlightened straight-handed, possessor of benevolent treasures, confer precious things to us. 15

How may we present offerings to the liberal ones with reverence ? How to adore the vital principles with present praises in a fitting manner ? The vital ones are universally recognized as worthy of our invocations. May not the cloud ever contrive for our harm. May he be the destroyer of our adversaries. 16

The mortal devotee worships you, O divine powers, at all times for the increase of progeny and prosperity. Verily, the mortal devotee wins you O divine powers. Here and now, they sustain my body with salutary food. May my mother-earth keep off my old age. 17

तां वो देवाः सुमतिमूर्जयन्तीमिषमश्याम वसवः शसा गोः ।
सा नः सुदानुर्मृळयन्ती देवी प्रति द्रवन्ती सुविताय गम्याः ॥१८॥
अभि न इळा यूथस्य माता स्मन्नदीभिरुर्वशी वा गृणातु ।
उर्वशी वा बृहद्दिवा गृणानाभ्यूर्ण्वाना प्रभृथस्यायोः ॥१९॥
सिषक्तु न ऊर्जव्यस्य पुष्टेः ॥२०॥

tā́m vo devāḥ sumatím ūrjáyantīm ísham aṣyāma vasavaḥ ṣásā góḥ | sá naḥ sudánur mṛiḷáyantī deví práti drávantī suvitáya gamyāḥ || 18 || abhí na íḷā yūthásya mātá smán nadíbhir urváṣī vā gṛiṇātu | urváṣī vā bṛihaddivá gṛiṇānábhyūrṇvāná prabhṛithásyāyóḥ || 19 || síshaktu na ūrjavyàsya pushṭéḥ || 20 ||

(४२) द्विचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१८) अष्टादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । (१-१०, १२-१८) प्रथमादिदशर्चां द्वादश्यादिसप्तानाञ्च विश्वे देवाः, (११) एकादश्याश्च रुद्रो देवताः । (१-१६, १८) प्रथमादिषोडशर्चामष्टादश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१७) सप्तदश्याश्चैकपदा विराट् छन्दसी ॥

॥१७॥ प्र शंतमा वरुणं दीधिती गीर्मित्रं भगमदितिं नूनमश्याः
पृषद्योनिः पञ्चहोता शृणोत्वतूर्तपन्था असुरो मयोभुः ॥१॥
प्रति मे स्तोममदितिर्जगृभ्यात्सूनुं न माता हृद्यं सुशेवम् ।
ब्रह्म प्रियं देवहितं यदस्त्यहं मित्रे वरुणे यन्मयोभु ॥२॥

42.

Prá ṣáṃtamā váruṇaṃ dídhitī gír mitrám bhágam áditim nunám aṣyāḥ | príshadyoniḥ páñcahotā ṣriṇotv átūrtapanthā ásuro mayobhúḥ || 1 || práti me stómam áditir jagṛibhyāt sūnúṃ ná mātá hṛídyaṃ suṣévam | bráhma priyáṃ deváhitaṃ yád ásty ahám mitré váruṇe yán mayobhú || 2 ||

O divine providers of riches, may we obtain from the mother-earth (and also the cow), invigorating and mind-sustaining food. May that liberal and gracious goddess, come speeding near us for our well-being. 18

May the goddess earth, the mother of herds of cattle, and the damsel of lightning with all streams of flashes be favourable to us. May the bright shining damsel of lightning come to us, accepting our devotion, to invest us, the worshippers, with light. 19

May the divine powers listen to our prayers for life and energy. 20

42

May our most sweetest song, with the deep devotion, successfully reach the virtuous, friendly, gracious, and eternal Lord. May the ministrant of the five vital airs, hear us, who pervades the dappled cosmos, and who is unimpeded and the bestower of life and happiness. 1

May the infinite and indivisible Lord accept my affectionate and delightful praise, as a mother welcomes her son. I address this inspired, bliss-giving prayer to the virtuous and friendly Lord, which he surely would love to accept. 2

उदीरय कवितमं कवीनामुनत्तैनमभि मध्वा घृतेन ।
स नो वसूनि प्रयता हितानि चन्द्राणि देवः सविता सुवाति ॥३॥
समिन्द्र णो मनसा नेषि गोभिः सं सूरिभिर्हरिवः सं स्वस्ति ।
सं ब्रह्मणा देवहितं यदस्ति सं देवानां सुमत्या यज्ञियानाम् ॥४॥
देवो भगः सविता रायो अंश इन्द्रो वृत्रस्य संजितो धनानाम् ।
ऋभुक्षा वाज उत वा पुरंधिरवन्तु नो अमृतासस्तुरासः ॥५॥

úd īraya kavítamaṃ kavīnā́ṃ unáttainaṃ abhí mádhvā ghriténa | sá no vásūni práyatā hitā́ni candrā́ṇi deváḥ savitā́ suvāti || 3 || sám indra ṇo mánasā neshi góbhiḥ sáṃ sūríbhir harivaḥ sám svastí | sám bráhmaṇā deváhitaṃ yád ásti sáṃ devā́nāṃ sumatyā́ yajñíyānām || 4 || devó bhágaḥ savitā́ rāyó áṅśa índro vritrásya saṃjíto dhánānām | ribhukshā́ vā́ja utá vā púraṃdhir ávantu no amrítāsas turā́saḥ || 5 ||

॥१८॥

मरुत्वतो अप्रतीतस्य जिष्णोरजूर्यतः प्र ब्रवामा कृतानि ।
न ते पूर्वे मघवन्नापरासो न वीर्यं नूतनः कश्चनाप ॥६॥
उप स्तुहि प्रथमं रत्नधेयं बृहस्पतिं सनितारं धनानाम् ।
यः शंसते स्तुवते शंभविष्ठः पुरूवसुरागमज्जोहुवानम् ॥७॥
तवोतिभिः सचमाना अरिष्टा बृहस्पते मघवानः सुवीराः ।
ये अश्वदा उत वा सन्ति गोदा ये वस्त्रदाः सुभगास्तेषु रायः ॥८॥

marútvato ápratītasya jishṇór ájūryataḥ prá bravāmā kritā́ni | ná te pū́rve maghavan nā́parāso ná vīryàṃ nū́tanaḥ káṣ canā́pa || 6 || úpa stuhi prathamáṃ ratnadhéyaṃ bríhaspátiṃ sanitā́raṃ dhánānām | yáḥ ṣáṅsate stuvaté ṣámbhavishṭhaḥ purūvásur āgámaj jóhuvānam || 7 || távotíbhiḥ sácamānā árishṭā bríhaspate maghávānaḥ suvī́rāḥ | yé aṣvadā́ utá vā sánti godā́ yé vastradā́ḥ subhágās téshu rā́yaḥ || 8 ||

Inspirit him, the sagest of the sages, imbue him with the sweet devotion, and may the divine creator provide us with abundance, all attainables, benevolences, and gold and silver. 3

With a willing mind, may the resplendent Lord grant us wisdom and wealth ; may the Lord of light, associate us with pious men of learning, with prosperity, with sacrificial food, and that which is acceptable to Nature's bounties and with the favour of the adorable godly men. 4

May the divine, gracious, creator, the Lord of wealth, the resplendent self, the winner of the strength of evils and also from amongst us the enlightened sages, persons strong and healthy, and distinguished intellectuals, as well as the people of immortal fame, hasten to bless our sacred performances, and protect us from calamities. 5

Let us celebrate the deeds of Lord of vital principle, beyond visibility and cognition, victorious and undecaying. Neither the ancients, O bounteous Lord, nor their successors have attained your prowess, nor any present one would attain it. 6

May you glorify the supreme Lord of universe, the first donor of precious treasure, the distributor of riches, the bestower of happiness, the burthen of every recitation and chants, and who comes ladden with ample wealth to His invoker. 7

O Supreme Lord of universe, tended with your protections, men are unharmed by foes, and become opulent and blessed with descendants. The wealth of those only is blessed and meaningful who are the liberal givers of horses, of cows and of garments. 8

विसर्माणं कृणुहि वित्तमेषां ये भुञ्जते अपृणन्तो न उक्थैः ।
अपव्रतान्प्रसवे वावृधानान्ब्रह्मद्विषः सूर्याद्यावयस्व ॥९॥
य ओहते रक्षसो देववीतावचक्रेभिस्तं मरुतो नि यात ।
यो वः शमीं शशमानस्य निन्दात्तुच्छ्यान्कामान्करते सिष्विदानः ॥१०॥

visarmāṇam krinubi vittám eshām yé bhuñjáte ápriṇanto na ukthaíḥ | ápavratān prasavé vāvṛidhānā́n brahmadvíshaḥ sū́ryād yāvayasva || 9 || yá óhate raksháso devávītāv acakrébhis tám maruto ní yāta | yó vaḥ ṣámīṃ ṣaṣamānásya níndāt tuchyā́n kā́mān karate sishvidānáḥ || 10 ||

॥१९॥

तमु ष्टुहि यः स्विषुः सुधन्वा यो विश्वस्य क्षयति भेषजस्य ।
यक्ष्वा महे सौमनसाय रुद्रं नमोभिर्देवमसुरं दुवस्य ॥११॥
दमूनसो अपसो ये सुहस्ता वृष्णः पत्नीर्नद्यो विभ्वतष्टाः ।
सरस्वती बृहद्दिवोत राका दशस्यन्तीर्वरिवस्यन्तु शुभ्राः ॥१२॥
प्र सू महे सुशरणाय मेधां गिरं भरे नव्यसीं जायमानाम् ।
य आहना दुहितुर्वक्षणासु रूपा मिनानो अकृणोदिदं नः ॥१३॥

tám u shṭuhi yáḥ svishúḥ sudhánvā yó víṣvasya ksháyati bheshajásya | yákshvā mahé saumanasā́ya rudrám námobhir devám ásuraṃ duvasya || 11 || dámūnaso apáso yé suhástā vríshṇaḥ pátnīr nadyò vibhvatashṭā́ḥ | sárasvatī bṛihaddivótá rākā́ daṣasyántīr varivasyantu ṣubhrā́ḥ || 12 || prá sū́ mahé suṣaraṇā́ya medhā́ṃ gíram bhare návyasīṃ jā́yamānām | yá āhanā́ duhitúr vakshánāsu rūpā́ minānó ákṛiṇod idáṃ naḥ || 13 ||

Take away the riches from them, who even on asking do not partake their wealth to the needy, and continue to enjoy their riches alone. May you keep them far from the sunshine, who do not perform benevolent deeds, and who, though prospering in their vocation are averse to devotion. 9

O Lord of vitality, may you send them into darkness, with wheelless chariots, who invite undesirable elements to the sacred performances of the virtuous ; and who revile those who offer prayers and belittle the wishes of those who toil to serve you. 10

May you praise him who has the sure arrow, and the strong bow, who is the Lord of every balm that heals. May you worship the Lord of cosmic vitality for a comprehensive and sound understanding, and adore the powerful divinity with salutations. 11

May we have the assistance from and good-will of generous people, persons of activity, skilled artisans, ladies of high status, and the like ; and may we derive advantage from the streams or water ways, carved out by marine engineers. May we have the blessings from the divine goddess of learning, the highly enlightened, possessing the grace of full moon night, bestowers of boons and aspirations. 12

I offer devoutly, this freshly inspired song to the great and sure protector, the showerer, who makes for us this all. In fond love for His daughter, the earth, He (the resplendent Lord) has provided this water for our use to the rivers of varied dimensions and forms. 13

प्र सुष्टुतिः स्तनयन्तं रुवन्तमिळस्पतिं जरितर्नूनमश्याः ।
यो अब्दिमाँ उदनिमाँ इयर्ति प्र विद्युता रोदसी उक्षमाणः ॥१४॥
एष स्तोमो मारुतं शर्धो अच्छा रुद्रस्य सूनूँर्युवन्यूँरुदश्याः ।
कामो राये हवते मा स्वस्त्युप स्तुहि पृषदश्वाँ अयासः ॥१५॥
प्रैष स्तोमः पृथिवीमन्तरिक्षं वनस्पतीँरोषधी राये अश्याः ।
देवोदेवः सुहवो भूतु मह्यं मा नो माता पृथिवी दुर्मतौ धात् ॥१६॥
उरौ देवा अनिबाधे स्याम । ॥१७॥
समश्विनोरवसा नूतनेन मयोभुवा सुप्रणीती गमेम ।
आ नो रयिं वहतमोत वीराना विश्वान्यमृता सौभगानि ॥१८॥ prá sushṭutí stanáyantam ruvántam iḷás pátim jaritar nūnám aṣyāḥ | yó abdimāñ udanimāñ íyarti prá vidyútā ródasī ukshámāṇaḥ || 14 || eshá stómo mā́rutam ṣárdho áchā rudrásya sūnū́ñr yuvanyū́ñr úd aṣyāḥ | kā́mo rāyé havate mā svasty úpa stuhi príshadaṣvāñ ayā́saḥ || 15 || praíshá stómaḥ pṛithivī́m antáriksham vánaspátīñr óshadhī rāyé aṣyāḥ | devó-devaḥ suhávo bhūtu máhyam mā́ no mātā́ pṛithiví durmataú dhāt || 16 || uraú devā anibādhé syāma || 17 || sám aṣvínor ávasā nū́tanena mayobhúvā supráṇītī gamema | ā́ no rayím vahatam ótá vīrā́n ā́ víṣvāny amṛitā saúbhagāni || 18 ||

(४३) त्रिचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१७) सप्तदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवता । (१-१५, १७) प्रथमादि पञ्चदशर्चा सप्तदश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१६) षोडश्याश्चैकपदा विराट् छन्दसी ॥

॥२०॥ आ धेनवः पयसा तूर्ण्यर्था अमर्धन्तीरुप नो यन्तु मध्वा ।
महो राये बृहतीः सप्त विप्रो मयोभुवो जरिता जोहवीति ॥१॥

43.

Ā́ dhenávaḥ páyasā tū́rṇyarthā ámardhantīr úpa no yantu mádhvā | mahó rāyé bṛihatī́ḥ saptá vípro mayobhúvo jaritā́ johavīti || 1 ||

May your pious praise, Oh worshipper, assuredly reach the thundering, roaring Lord of the earth, who proceeds, illuminating the heaven and earth with his lightning and impelling the clouds distributes the rain. 14

May this hymn reach up to the mighty clould-bearing wind, the youthful offspring of cosmic vitality. My intent desires incite me to earn riches for the good of all. May every one glorify them who go to their sacred assignment speedily as if mounted on spotted steeds. 15

May our invocations reach the divine bounties on earth and in the mid-region and the forest trees, the plants, for the sake of riches. May each individual divine bounty be easily invoked by me. May not the mother earth be unfavourably disposed to me. 16

O divines, may we ever enjoy great and uninterrupted bliss. 17

May we obtain the very fresh favour of the twin divines (bounties on the earth and in the heaven) and gain their unprecedented, joy-conferring and well-guided protection. May the immortals grant us riches, brave youths and all round prosperity. 18

43

May the harmless speech, in different metres, like milch-cows, who hasten to their destination come to us, with their sweetness. The wise worshipper invokes the seven-metred divine speech vast and joy-diffusing for gaining ample riches. 1

आ सुष्टुती नमसा वर्तयध्यै द्यावा वाजाय पृथिवी अमृध्रे ।
पिता माता मधुवचाः सुहस्ता भरेभरे नो यशसावविष्टाम् ॥२॥
अध्वर्यवश्चकृवांसो मधूनि प्र वायवे भरत चारु शुक्रम् ।
होतेव नः प्रथमः पाह्यस्य देव मध्वो ररिमा ते मदाय ॥३॥
दश क्षिपो युञ्जते बाहू अद्रिं सोमस्य या शमितारा सुहस्ता ।
मध्वो रसं सुगभस्तिर्गिरिष्ठां चनिश्चदद्दुदुहे शुक्रमंशुः ॥४॥
असावि ते जुजुषाणाय सोमः क्रत्वे दक्षाय बृहते मदाय ।
हरी रथे सुधुरा योगे अर्वागिन्द्र प्रिया कृणुहि हूयमानः ॥५॥

á sushṭutí námasā vartayádhyai dyā́vā vā́jāya pṛithivī́ ámṛidhre | pitā́ mātā́ mádhuvacāḥ suhástā bháre-bhare no yaṣásāv avishṭām || 2 || ádhvaryavaṣ cakṛivā́ṅso mádhūni prá vāyáve bharata cā́ru ṣukrám | hóteva naḥ prathamáḥ pāhy asyá déva mádhvo rarimā́ te mádāya || 3 || dáṣa kshípo yuñjate bāhū́ ádriṃ sómasya yā́ ṣamitā́rā suhástā | mádhvo rásaṃ sugábhastir girishṭhā́ṃ cániṣcadad duduhe ṣukrám aṅṣúḥ || 4 || ásāvi te jujushā́ṇāya sómaḥ krátve dákshāya bṛihaté mádāya | hárī ráthe sudhúrā yóge arvā́g índra priyā́ kṛiṇuhi hūyámānaḥ || 5 ||

२२ आ नो महीमरमतिं सजोषा ग्नां देवीं नमसा रातहव्याम् ।
मधोर्मदाय बृहतीमृतज्ञामाग्ने वह पथिभिर्देवयानैः ॥६॥
अञ्जन्ति यं प्रथयन्तो न विप्रा वपावन्तं नाग्निना तपन्तः ।
पितुर्न पुत्र उपसि प्रेष्ठ आ घर्मो अग्निमृतयन्नसादि ॥७॥

á no mahím arámatiṃ sajóshā gnā́ṃ devīṃ námasā rātáhavyām | mádhor mádāya bṛihatím ṛitajñā́m ā́gne vaha pathíbhir devayā́naiḥ || 6 || añjánti yáṃ pratháyanto ná víprā vapā́vantaṃ nā́gninā tápantaḥ | pitúr ná putrá upási préshṭha ā́ gharmó agním ṛitáyann asādi || 7 ||

With pious praise, and reverence, I invoke exhaustless heaven and earth. May the father (heaven) and mother (earth), both sweet in speech, loving in treatment, and well-reputed protect us in every struggle. 2

Priests, who are composing sweet tunes, first offer to the wind-divine, the delightful and brilliant sweet drink. May you, like an invoker, O priestly wind-divine, be the first to accept this sweet offering, which we are presenting to you for your exhilaration. 3

The ten expressers of the juice (the ten fingers of both the hands) and the two arms of the worker, are actively engaged in effusing out the juice from the medicinal herbs, with the help of pressing stones. The exulting expert worker toils on the assignment, big as a mountain, and finally for the spiritual joy he is able to press out the sweet extracts. 4

The devotional love (like the extract of herbs) has been effused, O resplendent Lord, for your delight and for impelling your strength in action, and for your great exhilaration ; therefore, O resplendent Lord, when invoked by us, put your two dear, docile, well-trained horses in your chariot, with fire axle. 5

O fire divine, being well pleased with us, bring to us, by paths frequented by the divine powers, the divine queen of knowledge, who is mighty and omnipresent, to whom oblations are offered with reverence, and who is vast and cognizant of sacred worship, to partake of the exhilaration of the sweet devotion. 6

A priest offers butter to the fire, in the same way as wise men nourish the seed and extend the realm of knowledge. The sacred caldron when placed on fire of the altar looks as if the son sitting on his father's lap. 7

अच्छा मही बृहती शंतमा गीर्दूतो न गन्त्वश्विना हुवध्यै ।
मयोभुवा सरथा यातमर्वाग्गन्तं निधिं धुरमाणिर्न नाभिम् ॥८॥
प्र तव्यसो नमउक्तिं तुरस्याहं पूष्ण उत वायोरदिक्षि ।
या राधसा चोदितारा मतीनां या वाजस्य द्रविणोदा उत त्मन् ॥९॥
आ नामभिर्मरुतो वक्षि विश्वाना रूपेभिर्जातवेदो हुवानः ।
यज्ञं गिरो जरितुः सुष्टुतिं च विश्वे गन्त मरुतो विश्व ऊती ॥१०॥

ácha mahí brihatí sáṃtamā gír dūtó ná gantv asvínā huvádhyai | mayobhúvā saráthā yātam arvāg gantáṃ nidhíṃ dhúram āṇír ná nā́bhim ||8|| prá távyaso námaüktiṃ turásyāhám pūshṇá utá vāyór adikshi | yā́ rā́dhasā coditā́rā matīnā́ṃ yā́ vā́jasya draviṇodā́ utá tmán || 9 || ā́ nā́mabhir marúto vakshi vísvān ā́ rūpébhir jātavedo huvānáḥ | yajñáṃ gíro jaritúḥ sushṭutíṃ ca vísve ganta maruto vísva ūtí || 10 ||

॥२२॥ आ नो दिवो बृहतः पर्वतादा सरस्वती यजता गन्तु यज्ञम् ।
हवं देवी जुजुषाणा घृताची शग्मां नो वाचमुशती शृणोतु ॥११॥
आ वेधसं नीलपृष्ठं बृहन्तं बृहस्पतिं सदने सादयध्वम् ।
सादद्योनिं दम आ दीदिवांसं हिरण्यवर्णमरुषं सपेम ॥१२॥
आ धर्णसिर्बृहद्दिवो रराणो विश्वेभिर्गन्त्वोमभिर्हुवानः ।
ग्ना वसान ओषधीरमृध्रस्त्रिधातुशृङ्गो वृषभो वयोधाः ॥१३॥

ā́ no divó brihatáḥ párvatād ā́ sárasvatī yajatā́ gantu yajñám | hávaṃ deví jujushāṇā́ ghritā́cī sagmā́ṃ no vā́cam usatí sriṇotu || 11 || ā́ vedhásaṃ nílaprishṭham brihántam bríhaspátiṃ sádane sādayadhvam | sādádyonim dáma ā́ dīdivā́ṅsaṃ híraṇyavarṇam arusháṃ sapema ||12|| ā́ dharṇasír brihá̱ddivo rárāṇo vísvebhir gantv ómabhir huvānáḥ | gnā́ vásāna óshadhīr ámridhras tridhátusriṅgo vrishabhó vayodhā́ḥ ||13||

May this adoring, earnest and gratifying praise go like a messenger to summon the twin divines hither. Come O twin divines, givers of happiness, riding in one chariot. May you come down to the cherished loving devotion, as the bolt to the axle of the wagon. 8

I offer adoration with reverence to the nourishing bounty and victorious wind-divine, who both are inspirers of wise thoughts and granters of strength and of food, and also both of them are distributors of riches. 9

O omniscient Lord, invoked by us all, may you bring here vital principles, under their several names and forms. May you, O vital faculties, come with all your protecting impulses to bless our benevolent deeds, the prayers, and the adoration of the worshipper. 10

May the radiant divine speech come to bless our benevolent works from heavenly regions and cloudy-realms. May she, glittering with glory, and appreciating our offerings, eagerly hear our melodious songs. 11

May you enshrine in your hearts the Supreme Lord of universe, the creator, whose dark-blue sky is the back. Let us serve this Lord, seated in the inner chamber of our body and shining everywhere. He is golden-hued, and resplendent. 12

May the sustainer of all, (the fire divine), greatly radiant, the delighter, come with all his protecting faculties, when invoked. He is clothed with flames and with plants, and is invincible. His horns, as if flames, are of three colours (white, red and black), and is the showerer of blessings and the bestower of life. 13

मातुष्पदे परमे शुक्र आयोर्विपन्यवो रास्पिरासो अग्मन् ।
सुशेव्यं नमसा रातहव्याः शिशुं मृजन्त्यायवो न वासे ॥१४॥
बृहद्वयो बृहते तुभ्यमग्ने धियाजुरो मिथुनासः सचन्त ।
देवोदेवः सुहवो भूतु मह्यं मा नो माता पृथिवी दुर्मतौ धात् ॥१५॥
उरौ देवा अनिबाधे स्याम ॥१६॥
समश्विनोरवसा नूतनेन मयोभुवा सुप्रणीती गमेम ।
आ नो रयिं वहतमोत वीराना विश्वान्यमृता सौभगानि ॥१७॥

mātúsh padé paramé ṣukrá āyór vipanyávo rāspiráso agman | suṣévyam námasā rātáhavyāḥ ṣíṣum mṛi-janty āyávo ná vāsé || 14 || bṛihád váyo bṛihaté túbhyam agne dhiyājúro mithunásaḥ sacanta | devó-devaḥ suhávo bhūtu máhyam mā́ no mātā́ pṛithivī́ durmataú dhāt || 15 || uraú devā — || 16 || sám aṣvínor ávasā — || 17 ||

(४४) चतुश्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काश्यपोऽवत्सारो लिङ्गोक्ताश्च ऋषयः । विश्वे देवा देवताः ।
(१–१३) प्रथमादित्रयोदशर्चां जगती, (१४–१५) चतुर्दशीपञ्चदश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२३॥ तं प्रत्नथा पूर्वथा विश्वथेमथा ज्येष्ठतातिं बर्हिषदं स्वर्विदम् ।
प्रतीचीनं वृजनं दोहसे गिराशुं जयन्तमनु यासु वर्धसे ॥१॥

44.

Tám pratnáthā pūrváthā víṣváthemáthā jyeshṭhátātim barhishádaṃ svarvídam | pratīcīnáṃ vṛijánaṃ dohase girā́-ṣúṃ jáyantam ánu yā́su várdhase || 1 ||

The priests, equipped with all the accessories of the fire ritual have come to the bright and most excellent place of the mother earth. As men clean and wash and then deck and decorate the infant child, similarly the priests foster and take care of the new born auspicious fire with reverence. 14

Married pairs (husband and wife) getting old in their devotion, jointly offer abundant sacred oblations to you, O fire divine. May the most divine among all divine powers, be invoked by me, and may the mother earth keep no ill-thoughts for me. 15

O divine powers, may we ever dwell in your uninterrupted bliss. 16

May we obtain the very fresh favour of twin divines and gain their unprecedented joy-conferring and well-guided protection. May the immortals grant riches, sons and grandsons and all round prosperity. 17

44

As ancient sages, our predecessors, and all sages of the present generation have been drawing strength by prayers of the resplendent Lord, so, may you also draw power, from Him who is the oldest and best of the divine powers. Enshrine to Him in your pure hearts, who is the bestower of bliss, and is swift and victorious. May you extol to Him by such prayers. 1

श्रिये मुदृशीरुपरस्य याः स्वर्विरोचमानः ककुभामचोदते ।
मुगोपा असि न दभाय मुक्रतो परो मायाभिर्ऋत आस नाम ते ॥२॥
अत्यं हविः मचते मच्च धातु चारिष्टगातुः म होता महोभरिः ।
प्रमस्त्राणो अनु वर्हिर्वृषा शिशुर्मध्ये युवाजरो विस्रुहा हितः ॥३॥
प्र व एते सुयुजो यामन्निष्टये नीचीरमुष्मै यम्य ऋतावृधः ।
सुयन्तुभिः मर्वशामैरभीशुभिः क्रिविर्नामानि प्रवणे मुषायति ॥४॥
संजर्भुराणस्तरुभिः सुतेगृभं वयाकिनं चित्तगर्भासु मुस्वरुः ।
धारवाकेष्वृजुगाथ शोभसे वर्धस्व पत्नीरभि जीवो अध्वरे ॥५॥

ṣriyé sudṛíṣīr úparasya yā́ḥ svàr virócamānaḥ kakúbhām aeodáte | sugopā́ asi ná dábhāya sukrato paró māyā́bhir ṛitá āsa nā́ma te || 2 || átyaṃ havíḥ sacate sáe ca dhā́tu eā́rishṭagātuḥ sá hótā sahobhá́riḥ | prasársrāṇo ánu barhír vṛíshā ṣíṣur mádhye yúvājáro visrúhā hitáḥ || 3 || prá va eté suyújo yā́mann ishṭáye nīcīr amúshmai yamyà ṛitāvṛídhaḥ | suyántubhiḥ sarvaṣāsaír abhī́ṣubhiḥ krívir nā́māni pravaṇé mushāyati || 4 || saṃjárbhurāṇas tárubhiḥ sutegṛíbhaṃ vayākínaṃ cittágarbhāsu susváruḥ | dhāravākéshv ṛijugātha ṣobhase várdhasva pátnīr abhí jīvó adhvaré || 5 ||

॥२४॥ यादृगेव ददृशे तादृगुच्यते सं छायया दधिरे सिध्रयाप्स्वा ।
महीमस्मभ्यमुरुषामुरु ज्रयो बृहत्सुवीरमनपच्युतं सहः ॥६॥

yādṛíg evá dádṛiṣe tādṛíg ucyate sáṃ chāyáyā dadhire sidhráyāpsv ā́ | mahī́m asmábhyam urushā́m urú jráyo bṛihát suvī́ram ánapacyutaṃ sáhaḥ || 6 ||

Being self-radiant, your glory spreads through the regions and through the beautiful waters of unyielding clouds for the good of mankind. O performer of good deeds, the preserver of men, you are in no way to cause injury to creatures. You excel all wisdom. Your name abides in truth. 2

He, the fire-divine, is associated with the perpetual offerings, and is the sustainer of all. Nothing restricts him, the showerer, in his way whilst gliding to the place of ceremony. He is an infant, later on ever-young, exempt from decay and rests in the midst of plants. 3

These well-combined rays of the Sun, are descending with intent to proceed to the place of the fire ritual amplifying the gains in the interests of the worshipper. Operating with these swift-moving all-regulating rays, he takes up waters flowing in low places (to heights to form clouds). 4

Object of honest eulogium, enkindled with fire-sticks, accepting devotional prayers animated by the heartfelt love, and giver of life, it shines among the inner chambers of the enlightened worshippers, and upholders of the sacred words. May you increase your protecting flames, the consorts in the sacred fire-ritual. 5

Like as it is beheld, so it is described to be. It, with its extensive splendour in the waters, makes earth yield us room enough and amply wide. May it grant us great vigour undecaying energy, and invincible strength, together with brave progeny. 6

वेत्यग्रुर्जनिवान्वा अति स्पृधः समर्यता मनसा सूर्यः कविः ।
घ्रंसं रक्षन्तं परि विश्वतो गयमस्माकं शर्म वनवत्स्वावसुः ॥७॥
ज्यायांसमस्य यतुनस्य केतुन ऋषिस्वरं चरति यासु नाम ते ।
यादृश्मिन्धायि तमपस्यया विदद्य उ स्वयं वहते सो अरं करत् ॥८॥
समुद्रमासामव तस्थे अग्रिमा न रिष्यति सवनं यस्मिन्नायता ।
अत्रा न हार्दि क्रवणस्य रेजते यत्रा मतिर्विद्यते पूतबन्धनी ॥९॥
स हि क्षत्रस्य मनसस्य चित्तिभिरेवावदस्य यजतस्य सध्रेः ।
अवत्सारस्य स्पृणवाम रण्वभिः शविष्ठं वाजं विदुषा चिदर्ध्यम् ॥१०॥

véty ágrur jánivān vā́ áti spṛídhaḥ samaryatā́ mánasā sū́ryaḥ kavíḥ | ghraṅsáṃ rákshantam pári viṣváto gáyam asmā́kaṃ ṣárma vanavat svā́vasuḥ || 7 || jyā́yāṅsam asyá yatúnasya ketúna ṛishisvaráṃ carati yā́su nā́ma te | yādṛíṣmin dhā́yi tám apasyáyā vidad yá u svayáṃ váhate só áraṃ karat || 8 || samudrám āsā́m áva tasthe agrimā́ ná rishyati sávanaṃ yásminn ā́yatā | átrā ná hā́rdi kravaṇásya rejate yátrā matír vidyáte pūtabándhanī || 9 || sá hí kshatrásya manasásya cíttibhir evāvadásya yajatásya sádhreḥ | avatsārásya spṛiṇavāma ráṇvabhiḥ ṣávishṭhaṃ vā́jaṃ vidúshā cid árdhyam || 10 ||

॥२५॥ श्येन आसामदितिः कक्ष्यो मदो विश्ववारस्य यजतस्य मायिनः ।
समन्यमन्यमर्थयन्त्येतवे विदुर्विषाणं परिपानमन्ति ते ॥११॥

ṣyená āsā́m áditiḥ kakshyò mádo viṣvávārasya yajatásya māyínaḥ | sám anyám-anyam arthayanty étave vidúr vishā́ṇam paripā́nam ánti té || 11 ||

The creator is the foremost poet of vision, radiant like the sun, she advances with his superior conscient power. He is ever intent or combat with his adversaries in advancement. May we adore the all round illuminator of bright heavens and may he secure our entire felicity, and grant us a sheltering home, that wards fierce heat of the day off on every side. 7

Your name, sung by seers in the hymns, goes to the superior one with this swift-moving banner like luminous flame. By devotion, he wins the blessing, where on his heart is set. He, who himself stirs and strives acquires abundant riches. 8

The chief and best of these our praises proceed to the ocean—like sun ; that worship does not fail where in these sacred hymns are extended. There the heart's desire of the worshipper remains not unfulfilled where the mind is pure. 9

He verily is to be glorified. Let us with pleasant thoughts of such high values of life as the spirit of voluntary assistance, good-will, security, reverence, co-existence and safety, strive to win the super strength to be shared by everyone, wise and sensible. 10

The bird, the son of Infinity is the master of this elixir, the spiritual joy. It fills the heart with ecstasy, and as such everyone craves to have this universally covetable reverential and inspiring elixir, and all urge one another to enjoy. Everyone finds in this wonderful elixir this invigorating blissful drink. 11

सदापृणो यजतो वि द्विषो वधीद्बाहुवृक्तः श्रुतवित्तर्यो वः सचा ।
उभा स वरा प्रत्येति भाति च यदीं गणं भजते सुप्रयावभिः ॥१२॥
सुतंभरो यजमानस्य सत्पतिर्विश्वासामूधः स धियामुदञ्चनः ।
भरद्धेनू रसवच्छिश्रिये पयोऽनुब्रुवाणो अध्येति न स्वपन् ॥१३॥
यो जागार तमृचः कामयन्ते यो जागार तमु सामानि यन्ति ।
यो जागार तमयं सोम आह तवाहमस्मि सख्ये न्योकाः ॥१४॥
अग्निर्जागार तमृचः कामयन्तेऽग्निर्जागार तमु सामानि यन्ति ।
अग्निर्जागार तमयं सोम आह तवाहमस्मि सख्ये न्योकाः ॥१५॥

sadāprinó yajató ví dvísho vadhīd bāhuvriktáḥ srutavít táryo vaḥ sácā | ubhā́ sá várā práty eti bhā́ti ca yád īṃ gaṇám bhájate suprayā́vabhiḥ || 12 || sutambharó yájamānasya sátpatir víṣvāsām ū́dhaḥ sá dhiyā́m udáñcanaḥ | bhárad dhenū́ rásavac chiṣriye páyo 'nubruvāṇó ádhy eti ná svapán || 13 || yó jāgā́ra tám ṛ́caḥ kāmayante yó jāgā́ra tám u sā́māni yanti | yó jāgā́ra tám ayáṃ sóma āha távāhám asmi sakhyé nyòkāḥ || 14 || agnír jāgāra tám ṛ́caḥ kāmayante 'gnír jāgāra tám u sā́māni yanti | agnír jāgāra tám ayáṃ sóma āha távāhám asmi sakhyé nyòkāḥ || 15 ||

(४५) पञ्चचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सदापृण ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ विदा दिवो विष्यन्नद्रिमुक्थैरायत्या उषसो अर्चिनो गुः ।
अपावृत व्रजिनीरुत्स्वर्गाद्वि दुरो मानुषीर्देव आवः ॥१॥

45.

Vidā́ divó vishyánn ádrim ukthaír āyatyá usháso arcíno guḥ | ápāvṛita vrajínīr út svàr gād ví dúro mā́nushīr devá āvaḥ || 1 ||

A devotee in the company of such cirtuous ones as are ever rich in wealth, pious worshippers, destroyer of the crooked by strong hands, fully-learned and skilful, would always destroy his enemies. Such a person would surely gain his wishes in both worlds, and would shine brightly. 12

He becomes the defender of the sons of the pious institutor of ceremony, a benevolent guardian and uplifter of all holy thoughts, the milch-cows (scriptures) offer sweet wisdom, which is distributed all over. But only he knows this who learns and speaks the holy texts, not he who sleeps. 13

The Rk hymns love him who wakes and watches ; the Saman tunes also bless him, who is ever vigilant. The loving Lord also addresses thus to the man, who is vigilant, "I am yours, my dwelling in your friendship". 14

The Rk hymns love the one enlightened, who ever wakes and watches. The Saman tunes also bless the one enlightened who is ever vigilant. and to that enlightened one the loving Lord also addresses thus : "I am yours ; my dwelling in your friendship." 15

45

The self of the realized devotee recovers the lost wisdom, praying and hurling his bolt of determination from the innermost realm. The rays of the approaching dawn are spread around the divine source of light, scattering the clustered gloom, has risen and set open the doors of knowledge of men. 1

वि सूर्यो अमतिं न श्रियं सादोर्वाद्गवां माता जानती गात् ।
धन्वर्णसो नद्यः खादोअर्णाः स्थूणेव सुमिता दृंहत द्यौः ॥२॥
अस्मा उक्थाय पर्वतस्य गर्भो महीनां जनुषे पूर्व्याय ।
वि पर्वतो जिहीत साधत द्यौराविवासन्तो दसयन्त भूम ॥३॥
सूक्तेभिर्वो वचोभिर्देवजुष्टैरिन्द्रा न्वग्नी अवसे हुवध्यै ।
उक्थेभिर्हि ष्मा कवयः सुयज्ञा आविवासन्तो मरुतो यजन्ति ॥४॥
एतो न्वद्य सुध्यो भवाम प्र दुच्छुना मिनवामा वरीयः ।
आरे द्वेषांसि सनुतर्दधामायाम प्राञ्चो यजमानमच्छ ॥५॥

ví sū́ryo amátim ná ṣríyam sād órvā́d gávām mātā́ jānatí gāt | dhánvarṇaso nadyàḥ khā́doarṇā sthū́ṇeva súmitā driṅhata dyaúḥ || 2 || asmā́ ukthā́ya párvatasya gárbho mahī́nām janúshe pūrvyā́ya | ví párvato jíhīta sā́dhata dyaúr āvívāsanto dasayanta bhū́ma || 3 || sūktébhir vo vácobhir devájushṭair índrā nv àgnī́ ávase huvádhyai | ukthébhir hí shmā kaváyaḥ suyajñā́ āvívāsanto marúto yájanti || 4 || éto nv àdyá sudhyò bhávāma prá duchúnā minavāmā várīyaḥ | āré dvéshāṅsi sanutár dadhāmā́yāma prā́ñco yájamānam ácha || 5 ||

एता धियं कृणवामा सखायोऽप या माताँ ऋणुत व्रजं गोः ।
यया मनुर्विशिशिप्रं जिगाय यया वणिग्वङ्कुरापा पुरीषम् ॥६॥
अनूनोदत्र हस्तयतो अद्रिरार्चन्येन दश मासो नवग्वाः ।
ऋतं यती सरमा गा अविन्दद्विश्वानि सत्याङ्गिराश्चकार ॥७॥

étā dhíyam krinávāmā sakhāyó 'pa yā́ mātā́ṅ riṇutá vrajám góḥ | yáyā mánur viṣiṣiprám jigā́ya yáyā vaṇíg vaṅkúr ā́pā púrīsham || 6 || ánūnod átra hástayato ádrir ā́rcan yéna dáṣa māsó návagvāḥ | ritám yatī́ sarámā gā́ avindad víṣvāni satyā́ṅgirāṣ cakāra || 7 ||

The sun of enlightenment spreads his light as splendour personified. Dawn, the mother of the light, knowing his approach, comes from the spacious firmament. The rivers with running waters flow, breaking down their banks. The heaven is stable like a firm-set pillar. 2

These traditional hymns cause the burthen of the cloud to descend to fertilize the fields. The sky performs its assigned duty (and pours down the rain). The assiduous farmers tire themselves out with more work. 3

O resplendent and adorable Lord, I invoke you for my protection with God-pleasing and well composed words to obtain your favour. Preceptors excelling in academic pursuits and assiduous men also adore you with reverence. 4

Come today quickly ; may our thoughts be holy. May we cast away mis-fortune far from us. May we then keep them at distance, who hate us and hasten to meet the institutor of the sacred works. 5

Come friends, let us strive to attain that solemn purpose, wherewith the gate of (the stolen) mother-cow (the divine wisdom) could be thrown open, wherewith man could overcome evil-desires attractive in appearance and wherewith the wandering merchant could obtain his wealth. 6

At this place of work and worship, the preparation is set in motion by the hands of the priests for singing praises, whereby the progressive ministrants celebrate the ten-months worship. And when the divine intuition comes straight and discovers the wisdom, fire-priests render all the worship effective. 7

विश्वे अस्या व्युषि माहिनायाः सं यद्गोभिरङ्गिरसो नवन्त ।
उत्सं आसां परमे सधस्थ ऋतस्य पथा सरमा विदद्गाः ॥८॥
आ सूर्यो यातु सप्ताश्वः क्षेत्रं यदस्योर्विया दीर्घयाथे ।
रघुः श्येनः पतयदन्धो अच्छा युवा कविर्दीदयद्गोषु गच्छन् ॥९॥
आ सूर्यो अरुहच्छुक्रमर्णोऽयुक्त यद्धरितो वीतपृष्ठाः ।
उद्ना न नावमनयन्त धीरा आशृण्वतीरापो अर्वागतिष्ठन् ॥१०॥
धियं वो अप्सु दधिषे स्वर्षां ययातरन्दश मासो नवग्वाः ।
अया धिया स्याम देवगोपा अया धिया तुतुर्यामात्यंहः ॥११॥

víṣve asyā́ vyúshi máhināyāḥ sáṃ yád góbhir áṅgiraso návanta | útsa āsām paramé sadhástha ṛitásya pathā́ sarámā vidad gā́ḥ || 8 || ā́ sū́ryo yātu saptā́ṣvaḥ kshétraṃ yád asyorviyā́ dīrghayāthé | raghúḥ ṣyenáḥ patayad ándho áchā yúvā kavír dīdayad góshu gáchan || 9 || ā́ sū́ryo aruhac chukrám árṇó ’yukta yád dharíto vītápṛishṭhāḥ | udnā́ ná nā́vam anayanta dhī́rā āṣṛiṇvatī́r ā́po arvā́g atishṭhan || 10 || dhíyaṃ vo apsú dadhishe svarshā́ṃ yáyā́taran dáṣa māsó návagvāḥ | ayā́ dhiyā́ syāma devágopā ayā́ dhiyā́ tuturyāmā́ty áṅhaḥ || 11 ||

(४६) षट्चत्वारिंश सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय प्रतिक्षत्र ऋषिः । (१-६) प्रथमादिषडृचां विश्वे देवाः, (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योश्च देवपत्न्यो देवताः । (१, ३-७) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयादिपञ्चानाञ्च जगती, (२, ८) द्वितीयाष्टम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२८॥ हयो न विद्वाँ अयुजि स्वयं धुरि तां वहामि प्रतरणीमवस्युवम् ।
नास्या वश्मि विमुचं नावृतं पुनर्विद्वान्पथः पुरएत ऋजु नेषति ॥१॥

46.

Háyo ná vidvā́ñ ayuji svayáṃ dhurí tā́ṃ vahāmi pratáraṇīm avasyúvam | nā́syā vaṣmi vimúcaṃ nā́vṛítam púnar vidvā́n patháḥ puraetā́ ṛijú neshati || 1 ||

When the fire-priests on the opening of this adorable dawn, could recover the lost cattle (the lost wisdom) they milched the cows and distributed the milk (the spiritual joy) to the august assembly, for intuitive instinct could find wisdom by the path of truth. 8

May the sun (the self) the Lord of seven steeds (sense organs), arrive, for he has a distant goal to reach by a tedious journey. Fleet as a hawk, he pounces upon the offered sacrificial food, ever young and far-seeing, he shines, moving amidst rays of light. 9

The sun has ascended above the shining ocean, as soon as he yokes his bright-backed steeds. The wise sage draws him, like a ship, across the ocean. The rain waters, hearing his commands, have come down. 10

I offer to you, for the sake of rain, an all-bestowing worship, whereby the progressive ministrants have completed the ten-months rite. May we, by this worship, invoke Nature's bounties to guard us against ills. May we, by this worship, pass safe beyond affliction and sin. 11

46

The enlightened person of his own accord, attaches himself to his assigned task, like a trained horse to a chariot. I also bear that task which is transcendent and preservative. I seek for no release, neither see way of turning back therefrom. May he, who knows the way, conduct me by the right path. 1

अग्न इन्द्र वरुण मित्र देवाः शर्धः प्र यन्त मारुतोत विष्णो ।
उभा नासत्या रुद्रो अध ग्नाः पूषा भगः सरस्वती जुषन्त ॥२॥
इन्द्राग्नी मित्रावरुणादितिं स्वः पृथिवीं द्यां मरुतः पर्वताँ अपः ।
हुवे विष्णुं पूषणं ब्रह्मणस्पतिं भगं नु शंसं सवितारमूतये ॥३॥
उत नो विष्णुरुत वातो अस्रिधो द्रविणोदा उत सोमो मयस्करत् ।
उत ऋभव उत राये नो अश्विनोत त्वष्टोत विभ्वानु मंसते ॥४॥
उत त्यन्नो मारुतं शर्ध आ गमद्दिविक्षयं यजतं बर्हिरासदे ।
बृहस्पतिः शर्म पूषोत नो यमद्वरूथ्यं वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा ॥५॥

ágna índra váruṇa mítra dévāḥ ṣárdhaḥ prá yanta mấrutotá vishṇo | ubhấ nấsatyā rudró ádha gnấḥ pūshấ bhágaḥ sárasvatī jushanta || 2 || indrāgnī́ mitrávárunáditiṃ svàḥ pṛithivī́ṃ dyấm marútaḥ párvatāñ̐ apáḥ | huvé víshṇuṃ pūsháṇam bráhmaṇas pátim bhágaṃ nú ṣáṅsaṃ savitấram ūtáye || 3 || utá no víshṇur utá vấto asrídho draviṇodấ utá sómo máyas karat | utá ṛibháva utá rāyé no aṣvínotá tváshṭotá víbhvấnu maṅsate || 4 || utá tyán no mấrutaṃ ṣárdha ấ gamad divikshayáṃ yajatám barhír āsáde | bṛíhaspátiḥ ṣárma pūshótá no yamad varū́thyàṃ váruṇo mitró aryamấ || 5 ||

उत त्ये नः पर्वतासः सुशस्तयः सुदीतयो नद्यस्त्रामणे भुवन् ।
भगो विभक्ता शवसावसा गमदुरुव्यचा अदितिः श्रोतु मे हवम् ॥६॥
देवानां पत्नीरुशतीरवन्तु नः प्रावन्तु नस्तुजये वाजसातये ।
याः पार्थिवासो या अपामपि व्रते ता नो देवीः सुहवाः शर्म यच्छत ॥७॥

utá tyé naḥ párvatāsaḥ suṣastáyaḥ sudītáyo nadyàs trấmaṇe bhuvan | bhágo vibhaktấ ṣávasávasấ gamad uruvyácā áditiḥ ṣrotu me hávam || 6 || devấnām pátnīr uṣatī́r avantu naḥ prấvantu nas tujáye vấjasātaye | yấḥ pấrthivāso yấ apấm ápi vraté tấ no devīḥ suhavấḥ ṣárma yachata || 7 ||

May you the cosmic divine powers, such as the lightning, the vapours, the vital principles, the pervading ethereal element and the sun confer strength upon us. May the twin-divines (dawn and dusk) cosmic vitality, the speech, the nourishments, the gracious elements, and the divine enlightenment be blessings to us. 2

I invoke for protection the nature's bounties like lightning and fire, light and plasma, the mother infinity, the heaven, the earth, the vital principles, the clouds, the waters, the air-divine, the nourisher, as well as, above all, the Supreme Lord of the universe, the creator. 3

May all pervading Lord and lord of the divine wind who harms non give us felicity. May the blissful Lord, the bestower of riches give us joy. May the spiritual preceptors, the pair of physicians and surgeons, the architects and other intellectuals, be favourably disposed to our aspirations. 4

And may the adorable celestial company of the vital principles, grace our assembly devoted to sacred work, and may the Supreme Lord, provider of nourishment, the venerable, friendly and the maintainer of law and order guard and grant shelter to us. 5

And may the glorious mountains, the beneficent rivers, keep us safe from harm. May the gracious, the apportioner of wealth, come with abundance and protection. May this wide-pervading infinity hear my invocation. 6

May Nature's motherly bounties, help us of their own accord. May they so protect us, that we obtain vigorous children and abundant food. O mothers, the goddesses, whether terrestrial, or those in charge of the waters in the firmament, may you on our earnest invocation bestow upon us felicity. 7

उत ग्ना व्यन्तु देवपत्नीरिन्द्राण्य१ग्नाय्यश्विनी राट् ।
आ रोदसी वरुणानी शृणोतु व्यन्तु देवीर्य ऋतुर्जनीनाम् ॥८॥ utá gnā́

vyantu devápatnīr indrāṇy àgnā́yy aṣvínī rā́ṭ | ā́ ródasī varuṇānī́ ṣriṇotu vyántu devī́r yá ṛitúr jánīnām || 8 ||

(४७) सप्तचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तचत्वारिंशस्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय प्रतिरथ ऋषि । विश्वे देवा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्द ।

॥१॥ प्रयुञ्जती दिव एति ब्रुवाणा मही माता दुहितुर्बोधयन्ती ।
आविवासन्ती युवतिर्मनीषा पितृभ्य आ सदने जोहुवाना ॥१॥
अजिरासस्तदप ईयमाना आतस्थिवांसो अमृतस्य नाभिम् ।
अनन्तास उरवो विश्वतः सीं परि द्यावापृथिवी यन्ति पन्थाः ॥२॥
उक्षा समुद्रो अरुषः सुपर्णः पूर्वस्य योनिं पितुरा विवेश ।
मध्ये दिवो निहितः पृश्निरश्मा वि चक्रमे रजसस्पात्यन्तौ ॥३॥
चत्वार ईं बिभ्रति क्षेमयन्तो दश गर्भं चरसे धापयन्ते ।
त्रिधातवः परमा अस्य गावो दिवश्चरन्ति परि सद्यो अन्तान् ॥४॥

47.

Prayuñjatī́ divá eti bruvāṇā́ mahī́ mātā́ duhitúr bodháyantī | āvívāsantī yuvatír manīshā́ pitṛíbhya ā́ sádane jóhuvānā || 1 || ajirā́sas tádapa ī́yamānā ātasthivā́ṅso amṛítasya nā́bhim | anantā́sa urávo viṣvátaḥ sīm pári dyā́vāpṛithivī́ yanti pánthāḥ || 2 || ukshā́ samudró arusháḥ suparṇáḥ pū́rvasya yónim pitúr ā́ viveṣa | mádhye divó nī́hitaḥ pṛíṣnir áṣmā ví cakrame rájasas pāty ántau || 3 || catvā́ra īm bibhrati kshemayánto dáṣa gárbhaṃ carā́se dhāpayante | tridhā́tavaḥ paramā́ asya gā́vo divás caranti pári sadyó ántān || 4 ||

And may Nature's motherly bounties accept the offering. May mother-lightning, mother-fire, mother-pair of healing bounties, mother-pair of earth and heaven and queen of waters, each of them hear our prayers. May the mothers-divine partake of our homage. May the motherly time-parameter, manifested in the sequence of seasons also accept our invocations. 8

47

Urging men to their labours, the adorable dawn, a great mother, comes from the heaven, she is the awakener of her daughter-earth; and is pious, ever young and glorified. She comes, when invoked, to the chamber of worship, with the protecting divine powers.

The rays of light, extending round, fulfilling their task of bringing on the day, abiding in contact with the orb of the immortal sun, unlimited and diffusive, spread everywhere through heaven and earth. 2

The showerer of rain, the shedder of dew, the radiant and the one of splendid wings,—such as the sun, has entered the region of the paternal east. The many-tinted and pervading luminary proceeds to both extremities of the firmament, and guards the two limits. 3

The four directions bear him up and seek their own welfare. The ten regions of space invigorate this babe to travel his daily course. His three-fold elementary rays swiftly traverse round the boundaries of the sky. 4

इदं वपुर्निवचनं जनासश्चरन्ति यन्नद्यस्तस्थुरापः ।
द्वे यदीं बिभृतो मातुरन्ये इहेह जाते यम्या३ सबन्धू ॥५॥
वि तन्वते धियो अस्मा अपांसि वस्त्रा पुत्राय मातरो वयन्ति ।
उपप्रक्षे वृषणो मोदमाना दिवस्पथा वध्वो यन्त्यच्छ ॥६॥
तदस्तु मित्रावरुणा तदग्ने शं योरस्मभ्यमिदमस्तु शस्तम् ।
अशीमहि गाधमुत प्रतिष्ठां नमो दिवे बृहते सादनाय ॥७॥

idáṃ vápur nivácanaṃ janāsaṣ cáranti yán nadyàs tasthúr ā́paḥ | dvé yád īm bibhritó mātúr anyé ihéha jāté yamyā̀ sábandhū || 5 || ví tanvate dhíyo asma ápāṅsi vástrā putrā́ya mātáro vayanti | upaprakshé vríshaṇo módamanā divás pathā́ vadhvò yanty ácha || 6 || tád astu mitrāvaruṇā tád agne ṣáṃ yór asmábhyam idám astu ṣastám | aṣīmáhi gādhám utá pratishṭhā́ṃ námo divé brihaté sádanāya || 7 ||

(४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय प्रतिभानुर्ऋषि । विश्वे देवा देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२॥ कदु प्रियाय धाम्ने मनामहे स्वक्षत्राय स्वयशसे महे वयम् ।
आमेन्यस्य रजसो यदभ्र आँ अपो वृणाना वितनोति मायिनी ॥१॥
ता अत्नत वयुनं वीरवक्षणं समान्या वृतया विश्वमा रजः ।
अपो अपाचीरपरा अपेजते प्र पूर्वाभिस्तिरते देवयुर्जनः ॥२॥

48.

Kád u priyā́ya dhā́mne manāmahe svákshatrāya sváyaṣase mahé vayám | āmenyásya rájaso yád abhrá ā́ñ apó vriṇāná vitanóti māyínī || 1 || tā́ atnata vayúnaṃ vīrávakshaṇaṃ samānyā́ vritáyā víṣvam ā́ rájaḥ | ápo ápācīr áparā ápejate prá pū́rvābhis tirate devayúr jánaḥ || 2 ||

O men, indescribable is the mystic knowledge: who can say from whence the rivers flow, and where the waters dwell; how the visible two (day and night), associated and closely united, support the mother (i.e. the mother of the sun), who herself is invisible ? 5

For him worshippers lengthen praises and works of adoration, and for him mothers (cosmos) sew garments of rays. Rejoicing in the contact of their impregnation, the rays, the consorts, of the sun, come to our presence, by the path of the sky, to meet him. 6

May this our praise, O Lord of light and bliss, be appreciated by you. May it, O adorable Lord, be valued by you, as the means of health and happiness to us. May we then obtain depth (of life) and stability. We offer reverence to the vast celestial region. 7

48

How and when shall we offer adoration to the great resplendent dear to all, self-renowned, self-sovereign, and who, as the master of cosmic intelligence, investing heavens, spreads the waters above the clouds over the immeasurable firmament. 1

These dawns diffuse the consciousness, that gives strength to pious men and overspread the whole world with uniform light. The devout man does not worry about the dawns which have disappeared and those which are yet to come, but he lengthens the field of action with those that are before him. 2

आ ग्रावभिरहन्येभिरक्तुभिर्वरिष्ठं वज्रमा जिघर्ति मायिनि ।
शतं वा यस्य प्रचरन्त्स्वे दमे संवर्तयन्तो वि च वर्तयन्नहा ॥३॥
तामस्य रीतिं परशोरिव प्रत्यनीकमख्यं भुजे अस्य वर्पसः ।
सचा यदि पितुमन्तमिव क्षयं रत्नं दधाति भरहूतये विशे ॥४॥
स जिह्वया चतुरनीक ऋञ्जते चारु वसानो वरुणो यतन्नरिम् ।
न तस्य विद्म पुरुषत्वता वयं यतो भगः सविता दाति वार्यम् ॥५॥

á grávabhir ahanyèbhir aktúbhir várishṭhaṃ vájram á jigharti māyíni | ṣatáṃ vā yásya pracáran své dáme saṃvartáyanto ví ca vartayann áhā || 3 || tám asya rītím paraṣór iva práty ánīkam akhyam bhujé asya várpasaḥ | sácā yádi pitumántam iva ksháyaṃ rátnaṃ dádhāti bhárahūtaye viṣé || 4 || sá jihváyā cáturanīka ṛiñjate cáru vásāno váruṇo yátann arím | ná tásya vidma purushatvátā vayáṃ yáto bhágaḥ savitá dáti váryam || 5 ||

(४९) एकोनपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय प्रतिप्रभ ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ देवं वो अद्य सवितारमेषे भगं च रत्नं विभजन्तमायोः ।
आ वां नरा पुरुभुजा ववृत्यां दिवेदिवे चिदश्विना सखीयन् ॥१॥
प्रति प्रयाणमसुरस्य विद्वान्त्सूक्तैर्देवं सवितारं दुवस्य ।
उप ब्रुवीत नमसा विजानञ्ज्येष्ठं च रत्नं विभजन्तमायोः ॥२॥

49.

Deváṃ vo adyá savitáram éshe bhágaṃ ca rátnaṃ vibhájantam āyóḥ | á vāṃ narā purubhujā vavṛityāṃ divédive cid aṣvina sakhīyán || 1 || práti prayáṇam ásurasya vidván sūktaír deváṃ savitáraṃ duvasya | úpa bruvīta námasā vijānáñ jyéshṭhaṃ ca rátnaṃ vibhájantam āyóḥ || 2 ||

The resplendent sun, whose hundred rays attend in his own abode, drives the days afar and brings the revolving days back again. Animated by the libations offered by day and by night, the sun sharpens his vast bolt of rays against the beguiler, the cloudy darkness. 3

I know the form of that fire-divine which is like an axe's edge. His resplendent form is designed for the welfare of mankind. To the man, who invokes him in struggle, he gives such opulence, as is like a dwelling place, full of precious treasure. 4

Blazing with his fiery tongue in the four quarters, and wearing beautiful lustre, the venerable proceeds onwards, dispelling darkness. With our human limitations, we would never know the omnipotency of the gracious supreme creator, whereby He bestows his blessings. 5

49

Today, I approach the divine gracious creator, who allots the gracious treasure amongst men. O the fast moving twins, the leading divines, conferrers of all enjoyable things, seeking your friendship, I call on you every day. 1

Knowing fully well the approach of the expeller (of darkness), i.e. the time of sunrise may you worship the divine creator with holy hyms and praises. Let him, who rightly knows, speak with reverence to him who distributes precious treasures amongst men. 2

अदत्रया दयते वार्याणि पूषा भगो अदितिर्वस्त उस्रः ।
इन्द्रो विष्णुर्वरुणो मित्रो अग्निरहानि भद्रा जनयन्त दस्माः ॥३॥
तन्नो अनर्वा सविता वरूथं तत्सिन्धव इषयन्तो अनु ग्मन् ।
उप यद्वोचे अध्वरस्य होता रायः स्याम पतयो वाजरत्नाः ॥४॥
प्र ये वसुभ्य ईवदा नमो दुर्ये मित्रे वरुणे सूक्तवाचः ।
अवैत्वभ्वं कृणुता वरीयो दिवस्पृथिव्योरवसा मदेम ॥५॥

adatrayā́ dayate vā́ryāṇi pūshā́ bhágo áditir vásta usráḥ | índro víshṇur váruṇo mitró agnír áhāni bhadrā́ janayanta dasmā́ḥ || 3 || tán no anarvā́ savitā́ várūthaṃ tát síndhava isháyanto ánu gman | úpa yád vóce adhvarásya hótā rāyáḥ syāma pátayo vā́jaratnāḥ || 4 || prá yé vásubhya ī́vad ā́ námo dúr yé mitré váruṇe sūktávācaḥ | ávaitv ábhvaṃ kṛiṇutā́ várīyo divásprithivyór ávasā madema || 5 ||

(५०) पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः स्वस्त्यात्रेय ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवता । (१–४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामनुष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥४॥

विश्वो देवस्य नेतुर्मर्तो वुरीत सख्यम् ।
विश्वो राय इषुध्यति द्युम्नं वृणीत पुष्यसे ॥१॥
ते ते देव नेतर्ये चेमाँ अनुशसे ।
ते राया ते ह्याऽऽपृचे सचेमहि सचथ्यैः ॥२॥
अतो न आ नॄनतिथीनतः पत्नीर्दशस्यत ।
आरे विश्वं पथेष्ठां द्विषो युयोतु यूयुविः ॥३॥

50.

Víṣvo devásya netúr márto vurīta sakhyám | víṣvo rāyá ishudhyati dyumnáṃ vriṇīta pushyáse || 1 || té te deva netar yé cemā́n anuṣáse | té rāyā́ té hy ā̀príce sácemahi sacathyaìḥ || 2 || áto na ā́ nrī́n átithīn átaḥ pátnīr daṣasyata | ā́ré víṣvam patheshṭhā́ṃ dvishó yuyotu yū́yuviḥ || 3 ||

The nourisher, the gracious, the infinite Lord, whose garb is splendour, bestows the excellent viands. Lord, the resplendent, the omnipresent, the venerable, the friendly, and adorable gives birth to auspicious days. 3

May the invincible creator grant us the covetable wealth, and may the flowing rivers hasten to convey it to us, for which I, the ministering priest of worship, repeat pious praises. Affluent in food, may we be the lords of wealth and rich treasures. 4

May ample wealth be granted to those, who present homage to the Lord of wealth and comforts, and to those, who have repeated praises to the Lord of light and bliss. O divines grant them uninterrupted happiness. May we all rejoice through the grace of heaven and earth. 5

50

Let every man solicit the friendship of the divine leader. Each one seeks glory and obtains affluence through his grace. 1

O divine leader, those who serve you are yours and the others too who serve the divine powers. We are sure both of them would be blessed with opulence and may the aspirations of all of us be fulfilled. 2

Therefore, serve the leaders of our sacred works, like guests, and also honour their wives. May the divine discriminator drive to a distance every adversary, and all who block our way. 3

यत्र वह्निरभिहितो दुद्रवद्द्रोण्यः पशुः ।
नृमणा वीरपस्त्योऽर्णा धीरेव सनिता ॥४॥
एष ते देव नेता रथस्पतिः शं रयिः ।
शं राये शं स्वस्तय इषःस्तुतो मनामहे देवस्तुतो मनामहे ॥५॥

yátra vahnir abhíhito dudrávad drónyaḥ paśúḥ | nṛimáṇā vīrápastyó 'rṇā dhíreva sánitā || 4 || eshá te deva netā ráthaspátiḥ śáṃ rayíḥ | śáṃ rāyé śáṃ svastáya ishastúto manāmahe devastúto manāmahe || 5 ||

(५१) एकपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः स्वस्त्यात्रेय ऋषिः । (१-३, ८-१५) प्रथमादितृचस्याष्टम्याद्यष्टर्चाश्च विश्वे देवाः, (४, ६-७) चतुर्थ्याः षष्ठीसप्तम्योश्चेन्द्रवायू, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च वायुर्देवताः । (१-४) प्रथमादिचतुरृचां गायत्री, (५-१०) पञ्चम्यादिषण्णामुष्णिक्, (११-१३) एकादश्यादितृचस्य जगती त्रिष्टुब् वा (१४-१५) चतुर्दशीपञ्चदश्योश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

अग्ने सुतस्य पीतये विश्वैरूमेभिरा गहि । देवेभिर्हव्यदातये ॥१॥
ऋतधीतय आ गत सत्यधर्माणो अध्वरम् । अग्नेः पिबत जिह्वया ॥२॥
विप्रेभिर्विप्र सन्त्य प्रातर्यावभिरा गहि । देवेभिः सोमपीतये ॥३॥
अयं सोमश्चमू सुतोऽमत्रे परि षिच्यते । प्रिय इन्द्राय वायवे ॥४॥
वायवा याहि वीतये जुषाणो हव्यदातये । पिबा सुतस्यान्धसो अभि प्रयः ॥५॥

51.

Ágne sutásya pītáye víśvair ū́mebhir ā́ gahi | devébhir havyádātaye || 1 || ṛ́tadhītaya ā́ gata sátyadharmāṇo adhvarám | agnéḥ pibata jihváyā || 2 || víprebhir vipra santya prātaryā́vabhir ā́ gahi | devébhiḥ sómapītaye || 3 || ayáṃ sómaś camū́ sutó 'matre pári shicyate | priyá índrāya vāyáve || 4 || vā́yav ā́ yāhi vītáye jushāṇó havyádātaye | píbā sutásyándhaso abhí práyaḥ || 5 ||

Where fire is set and swiftly runs the cow's milk and butter, placed in the vessel, there the Lord, friendly to men, like the benevolent household wife, gives special opulence of dwellings and children. 4

O Lord, the divine leader, may your protecting chariot, laden with riches, be blessed to us,—blessed to us for wealth and well. We glorify him for well-being, peace and prosperity. We, the devout worshippers, adore him. 5

51

Come, O adorable Lord, with all your divine protecting measures, to accept our devotional love and to grant blessings. 1

Come to our sacred work and worship, O possessors of divine wisdom, and performers of righteous deeds. May you relish our love, as the ritual fire consumes oblation with tongue like flames. 2

O wise and ever gracious Lord, come to accept our devotional love with those wise and virtuous divine forces, who move from the early morning. 3

This loving devotion is expressed as if effused into the ladles and poured forth into the vase of heart, acceptable to resplendent Lord of cosmic vitality. 4

Come, O Lord of vitality, propitious to the offerer of homage, to accept our devotional love, as one drinks the extracts of foods and relishing herbs. 5

॥६॥ इन्द्रश्च वायवेषां सुतानां पीतिमर्हथः । ताञ्जुषेथामरेपसावभि प्रयः ॥६॥
सुता इन्द्राय वायवे सोमासो दध्याशिरः । निम्नं न यन्ति सिन्धवोऽभि प्रयः ॥७॥
सजूर्विश्वेभिर्देवेभिरश्विभ्यामुषसा सजूः । आ याह्यग्ने अत्रिवत्सुते रण ॥८॥

índras ca vāyav eshām sutánām pītím arhathaḥ | táñ jushethām arepásāv abhí práyaḥ || 6 || sutá índrāya vāyáve sómāso dádhyāṣiraḥ | nimnám ná yanti síndhavo 'bhí práyaḥ || 7 || sajúr víṣvebhir devébhir aṣvíbhyām ushásā sajúḥ | á yāhy agne atrivát sutè raṇa || 8 ||

सजूर्मित्रावरुणाभ्यां सजूः सोमेन विष्णुना । आ याह्यग्ने अत्रिवत्सुते रण ॥९॥
सजूरादित्यैर्वसुभिः सजूरिन्द्रेण वायुना । आ याह्यग्ने अत्रिवत्सुते रण ॥१०॥

sajúr mitrávárunābhyām sajúḥ sómena víshṇunā | á yāhy — || 9 || sajúr ādityaír vásubhiḥ sajúr índreṇa vāyúnā | á yāhy — || 10 ||

॥३॥ स्वस्ति नो मिमीतामश्विना भगः स्वस्ति देव्यदितिरनर्वणः ।
स्वस्ति पूषा असुरो दधातु नः स्वस्ति द्यावापृथिवी सुचेतुना ॥११॥
स्वस्तये वायुमुप ब्रवामहे सोमं स्वस्ति भुवनस्य यस्पतिः ।
बृहस्पतिं सर्वगणं स्वस्तये स्वस्तय आदित्यासो भवन्तु नः ॥१२॥

svastí no mimītām aṣvínā bhágaḥ svastí devy áditir anarváṇaḥ | svastí pūshá ásuro dadhātu naḥ svastí dyávāprithiví sucetúnā || 11 || svastáye vāyúm úpa bravāmahai sómam svastí bhúvanasya yás pátiḥ | bríhaspátim sárvagaṇam svastáye svastáya ādityáso bhavantu naḥ || 12 ||

You are, O resplendent Lord and Lord of vitality, ever worthy of accepting our drinks of devotional love. May you with all kindness cherish them fully, and accept the pleasant offerings also. 6

The devotional prayers, expressed with love and earnestness are poured out as if plant juices mixed with milk creams, to resplendent Lord, the Lord of vitality. May the sacrificial viands proceed to you as rivers flow to a lower level. 7

Accompanied by all the divine powers and accompanied by the twin divines, and by dawns, O adorable Lord, come and cherish our dedications and appreciations, like three fold free sage. 8

Associaied with cosmic light and plasma, also with the sun and moon, may you come, and cherish our dedications, O divine fire, like the three-fold-free sage. 9

Accompanied by the element of eternity and comforts, also accompanied by the elements of resplendence and of vitality, may you come and cherish our dedications, O fire divine, like the three fold free sage. 10

May the pair of twin-divines, the gracious Lord and the divine eternity, contribute to our prosperity. May the irresistible sun, the scatterer of light and the dispenser of darkness, bestow upon us prosperity. May the most vital heaven and earth vouch safe us happiness. 11

We glorify Lord of vitality for prosperity—Lord of bliss for prosperity, who is the protector of world. We praise the Supreme Lord, associated with all divine powers. May the radiant rays of all the suns and luminaries bring us health and happiness. 12

विश्वे देवा नो अद्या स्वस्तये वैश्वानरो वसुरग्निः स्वस्तये ।
देवा अवन्त्वृभवः स्वस्तये स्वस्ति नो रुद्रः पात्वंहसः ॥१३॥
स्वस्ति मित्रावरुणा स्वस्ति पथ्ये रेवति ।
स्वस्ति न इन्द्रश्चाग्निश्च स्वस्ति नो अदिते कृधि ॥१४॥
स्वस्ति पन्थामनु चरेम सूर्याचन्द्रमसाविव ।
पुनर्ददताघ्नता जानता सं गमेमहि ॥१५॥

víșve devá no adyá svastáye vaișvānaró vásur agníḥ svastáye | devá avantv ṛibhávaḥ svastáye svastí no rudráḥ pātv áṅhasaḥ || 13 || svastí mitrāvaruṇā svastí pathye revati | svastí na índraș cāgníș ca svastí no adite kṛidhi || 14 || svastí pánthām ánu carema sūryācandramásāv iva | púnar dádatághnatā jānatá sám gamemahi || 15 ||

(५२) द्विपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१७) सप्तदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवताः । (१-५, ७-१५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां सप्तम्यादिनवानाञ्चानुष्टुप्, (६, १६-१७) षष्ठ्याः षोडशी-सप्तदश्योश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥८॥

प्र श्यावाश्व धृष्णुयार्चा मरुद्भिर्ऋक्वभिः ।
ये अद्रोघमनुष्वधं श्रवो मदन्ति यज्ञियाः ॥१॥
ते हि स्थिरस्य शवसः सखायः सन्ति धृष्णुया ।
ते यामन्ना धृषद्विनस्त्मना पान्ति शश्वतः ॥२॥

52.

Prá șyāvāșva dhṛishṇuyárcā marúdbhir ṛíkvabhiḥ | yé adrohám anushvadhám șrávo mádanti yajñíyāḥ || 1 || té hí sthirásya șávasaḥ sákhāyaḥ sánti dhṛishṇuyá | té yámann á dhṛishadvínas tmánā pānti șáșvataḥ || 2 ||

May all the divine powers be with us today for our prosperity. May the divine fire, the benefactor of all men, and giver of dwellings, be with us, for our prosperity. May the divine wise sages protect us for our prosperity. May the fear of the Lord of terror keep us off from crimes and calamity. 13

May the Lord of light and bliss grant us prosperity. May the guiding spirit of firmament and the goddess of riches, grant us prosperity. May the adorable and resplendent Lord prosper us. And O the spirit of indivisible fullness bestow prosperity upon us. 14

May we ever pursue our path of prosperity like the sun and moon; may we move in full cooperation in mutual give and take, without causing injury to each other, and in the mutual right understanding. 15

52

O divine winds, moving speedily along the brown clouds as if riding on such horses, and associated with the praise-deserving vital principles, sing boldly the glory of those who are holy on their own accounts and who enjoy their reputation, free from guile. 1

For, in their boldness, they are the firm friends of steady and sure vigour. They are, in their course, resolute and guard innumerable men with willingness and pleasure. 2

ते स्यन्द्रासो नोक्षणोऽति ष्कन्दन्ति शर्वरीः ।
मरुतामधा महो दिवि क्षमा च मन्महे ॥३॥
मरुत्सु वो दधीमहि स्तोमं यज्ञं च धृष्णुया ।
विश्वे ये मानुषा युगा पान्ति मर्त्यं रिषः ॥४॥
अर्हन्तो ये सुदानवो नरो असामिशवसः ।
प्र यज्ञं यज्ञियेभ्यो दिवो अर्चा मरुद्भ्यः ॥५॥

té syandrā́so nókshaṇó 'ti shkandanti ṣárvarīḥ | marútām ádhā máho diví kshamā́ ca manmahe || 3 || marútsu vo dadhīmahi stómam yajñám ca dhrishṇuyā́ | víṣve yé mā́nushā yugā́ pā́nti mártyam risháḥ || 4 || árhanto yé sudā́navo náro ásāmiṣavasaḥ | prá yajñám yajñíyebhyo divó arcā marúdbhyaḥ || 5 ||

॥१॥ आ रुक्मैरा युधा नर ऋष्वा ऋष्टीरसृक्षत ।
अन्वेनाँ अह विद्युतो मरुतो जज्झतीरिव भानुरर्त त्मना दिवः ॥६॥
ये वावृधन्त पार्थिवा य उरावन्तरिक्ष आ ।
वृजने वा नदीनां सधस्थे वा महो दिवः ॥७॥
शर्धो मारुतमुच्छंस सत्यशवसमृभ्वसम् ।
उत स्म ते शुभे नरः प्र स्यन्द्रा युजत त्मना ॥८॥
उत स्म ते परुष्ण्यामूर्णा वसत शुन्ध्यवः ।
उत पव्या रथानामद्रिं भिन्दन्त्योजसा ॥९॥

ā́ rukmaír ā́ yudhā́ nára rishvā́ rishṭír asrikshata | ánv enā́ñ áha vidyúto marúto jájhjhatīr iva bhānúr arta tmánā diváḥ || 6 || yé vāvridhánta pā́rthivā yá urā́v antáriksha ā́ | vrijáne vā nadī́nām sadhásthe vā mahó diváḥ || 7 || ṣárdho mā́rutam úc chaṅsa satyáṣavasam ríbhvasam | utá sma té ṣubhé náraḥ prá syandrā́ yujata tmánā || 8 || utá sma té párushṇyām ū́rṇā vasata ṣundhyávaḥ | utá pavyā́ ráthānām ádrim bhindanty ójasā || 9 ||

Gliding along, and shedding moisture, they pass through the nights; therefore we now celebrate the might of these cloud bearing winds, manifested in both heaven and earth. 3

Let us earnestly offer praise and worship to the cloud-bearing winds, who through all ages of mankind have been protecting the mortal worshipper against calamities. 4

May you offer reverence to the adorable cloud bearing winds, who come from heaven, and are worthy of worship, who are munificent leaders, and possessors of unequalled strength. 5

The leaders (of rains) and the mighty divine winds, shine like soldier hurling javelins of gleaming gold. Following these divines winds, proceeds the lightning roaring from the sky, a splendour which spontaneously breaks forth. 6

The cloud-bearing winds who are close to the earth, are augmented, so are those who are in the vast firmament. They too wax who proceed along the rivers, and so those winds who move in the vast midspace. 7

Glorify the truth-invigorated and infinite strength of the cloud-bearing winds, for they, the leaders of the rains, gliding along, are working voluntarily for our good. 8

Whether they abide on the cumulus clouds, along with a river, or, purifying all, they clothe themselves with light, or whether they cleave the rock asunder with strength by the wheels of their chariots. 9

आपथयो विपथयोऽन्तस्पथा अनुपथाः । एतेभिर्मह्यं नामभिर्यज्ञं विष्टार ओहते ॥१०॥

ápathayo vípathayó 'ntaspathā ánupathāḥ | etébhir máhyam nắmabhir yajñám vishṭārá ohate || 10 ||

॥१०॥

अधा नरो न्योहतेऽधा नियुत ओहते ।
अधा पारावता इति चित्रा रूपाणि दर्श्या ॥११॥
छन्दःस्तुभः कुभन्यव उत्समा कीरिणो नृतुः ।
ते मे के चिन्न तायव ऊमा आसन्दृशि त्विषे ॥१२॥
य ऋष्वा ऋष्टिविद्युतः कवयः सन्ति वेधसः ।
तमृषे मारुतं गणं नमस्या रमया गिरा ॥१३॥
अच्छ ऋषे मारुतं गणं दाना मित्रं न योषणा ।
दिवो वा धृष्णव ओजसा स्तुता धीभिरिषण्यत ॥१४॥
नू मन्वान एषां देवाँ अच्छा न वक्षणा ।
दाना सचेत सूरिभिर्यामश्रुतेभिरञ्जिभिः ॥१५॥

ádhā náro ny òhaté 'dhā niyúta ohate | ádhā pā́rāvatā íti citrā́ rūpā́ṇi dárṣyā || 11 || chandastúbhaḥ kubhanyáva útsam ā́ kīríṇo nṛituḥ | té me ké cin ná tāyáva ū́mā āsan dṛiṣí tvishé || 12 || yá ṛishvā́ ṛishṭívidyutaḥ kaváyaḥ sánti vedhásaḥ | tám ṛishe mā́rutaṃ gaṇáṃ namasyā́ ramáyā girā́ || 13 || ácha ṛishe mā́rutaṃ gaṇáṃ dānā́ mitráṃ ná yoshā́ṇā | divó vā dhṛishṇava ójasā stutā́ dhībhír ishaṇyata || 14 || nū́ manvāná eshāṃ devā́ñ áchā ná vakshā́ṇā | dānā́ saceta sūríbhir yā́maṣrutebhir añjíbhiḥ || 15 ||

Whether, following the paths that lead to us, or that spread diversely, or those that sink into the hollows (of the mountains) or those that extend smoothly, they, however scattered, tend well the cosmic sacrifice for my benefit. 10

These leaders of the rains uphold the world, at one time blending together, whilst the other time remaining aloof, they are manifest in varied forms. 11

Singing hymns, seeking water, dancing and praising, they provide water as if from a well. Some of them move in secret like thieves, but only to help us, and some are splendid to behold. 12

Glorify, O sage, with grateful songs, the group of these clouds, who are bright with lightning lances, who are melodious like poets, and full of wisdom. 13

Approach, O sage, with offerings and with praise, the group of the clouds, as a maid goes to her friend. May you, O clouds, hasten here from heaven, bold in your strength, and glorified by our hymns. 14

Glorifying them promptly, may you go to them, who are like an escort of Nature's bounties. They are characterized by their wisdom, by their velocity, and by the generosity of distributing rewards. 15

प्र ये मे बन्ध्वेषे गां वोचन्त सूरयः पृश्निं वोचन्त मातरम् ।
अधा पितरमिष्मिणं रुद्रं वोचन्त शिक्वसः ॥१६॥
सप्त मे सप्त शाकिन एकमेका शता ददुः ।
यमुनायामधि श्रुतमुद्राधो गव्यं मृजे नि राधो अश्व्यं मृजे ॥१७॥

prá yé me bandhveshé gắm vócanta sūráyaḥ príṣnim vocanta mātáram | ádhā pitáram ishmíṇam rudrám vocanta ṣíkvasaḥ || 16 || saptá me sapta sākína ékam-ekā ṣatā́ daduḥ | yamúnāyām ádhi ṣrutám ud rā́dho gávyam mṛije ní rā́dho áṣvyam mṛije || 17 ||

(५३) त्रिपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवताः । (१, ५, १०–११, १५) प्रथमा-पञ्चमीदशम्येकादशीपञ्चदशीनामृचां ककुभ् . (२) द्वितीयाया बृहती. (३) तृतीयाया अनुष्टुप् . (४) चतुर्थ्याः पुर उष्णिक्. (६–७, ९, १३–१४, १६) षष्ठीसप्तमीनवमीत्रयोदशीचतुर्दशी-षोडशीनां सतोबृहती. (८, १२) अष्टमीद्वादश्योश्च गायत्री छन्दांसि ॥

॥११॥ को वेद जानमेषां को वा पुरा सुम्नेष्वास मरुताम् । यद्युयुज्रे किलास्यः ॥१॥
ऐतान्रथेषु तस्थुषः कः शुश्राव कथा ययुः ।
कस्मै सस्रुः सुदासे अन्वापय इळाभिर्वृष्टयः सह ॥२॥
ते म आहुर्य आययुरुप द्युभिर्विभिर्मदे ।
नरो मर्या अरेपस इमान्पश्यन्निति ष्टुहि ॥३॥

53.

Kó veda jā́nam eshām kó vā purā́ sumnéshv āsa marútām | yád yuyujré kilāsvàḥ || 1 || aítā́n rátheshu tasthúshaḥ káḥ ṣuṣrāva kathā́ yayuḥ | kásmai sasruḥ sudā́se ánv āpáya íḷābhir vṛishṭáyaḥ sahá || 2 || té ma āhur yá āyayúr úpa dyúbhir víbhir máde | nā́ro máryā arepása imā́n páṣyann íti shṭuhi || 3 ||

To me, inquiring of their kin, the sage—clouds have given an answer. They declare the earth to be their mother. And the same mighty ones declare the food-bestowing cosmic vitality to be their father. 16

May the seven times, seven all-potent clouds, aggregated as a single troop, bestow upon me hundred gifts. May I possess wealth of cows, renowned upon the banks of confluent channels. May I possess wealth of horses. 17

53

Who knows the birth of these cloud-bearing winds? Who has formerly been participant of the enjoyments of them, and when are the deer-like spotted waves yoked to their chariots? 1

When standing in their cars, who has heard them tell the way whither to go? Who is the liberal worshipper to whom their kindred rains descend with manifold food? 2

To me have they spoken whilst having come with radiance to cherish noble deeds. O leaders and heroes, free from blemishes or stain, whenever you behold them, admire and appreciate. 3

ये अञ्जिषु ये वाशीषु स्वभानवः स्रक्षु रुक्मेषु खादिषु । श्राया रथेषु धन्वसु ॥४॥
युष्माकं स्मा रथाँ अनु मुदे दधे मरुतो जीरदानवः । वृष्टी द्यावो यतीरिव ॥५॥

yé añjíshu yé vấṣīshu svábhānavaḥ srakshú rukméshu khādíshu | ṣrāyấ rátheshu dhánvasu || 4 || yushmấkaṃ smā ráthāñ ánu mudé dadhe maruto jīradānavaḥ | vṛishṭí dyấvo yatír iva || 5 ||

॥१२॥

आ यं नरः सुदानवो ददाशुषे दिवः कोशमचुच्यवुः ।
वि पर्जन्यं सृजन्ति रोदसी अनु धन्वना यन्ति वृष्टयः ॥६॥
ततृदानाः सिन्धवः क्षोदसा रजः प्र सस्रुर्धेनवो यथा ।
स्यन्ना अश्वा इवाध्वनो विमोचने वि यद्वर्तन्त एन्यः ॥७॥
आ यात मरुतो दिव आन्तरिक्षादमादुत । मावं स्थात परावतः ॥८॥
मा वो रसानितभा कुभा क्रुमुर्मा वः सिन्धुर्नि रीरमत् ।
मा वः परि ष्ठात्सरयुः पुरीषिण्यस्मे इत्सुम्नमस्तु वः ॥९॥
तं वः शर्धं रथानां त्वेषं गणं मारुतं नव्यसीनाम् । अनु प्र यन्ति वृष्टयः ॥१०॥

ấ yáṃ náraḥ sudánavo dadāṣúshe diváḥ kóṣam ácucyavuḥ | ví parjányaṃ sṛijanti ródasī ánu dhánvanā yanti vṛishṭáyaḥ || 6 || tatṛidānấḥ síndhavaḥ kshódasā rájaḥ prá sasrur dhenávo yathā | syannấ ásvā ivấdhvano vimócane ví yád vártanta enyàḥ || 7 || ấ yāta maruto divá ấntárikshād amấd utá | mấva sthāta parāvátaḥ || 8 || mấ vo rasấnitabhā kúbhā krúmur mấ vaḥ síndhur ní rīramat | mấ vaḥ pári shṭhāt saráyuḥ purīshíṇy asmé ít sumnám astu vaḥ || 9 || táṃ vaḥ ṣárdhaṃ ráthānāṃ tveshám gaṇám mấrutaṃ návyasīnām | ánu prá yanti vṛishṭáyaḥ || 10 ||

They the self-luminous, whilst arrayed in chariots, are decorated with ornaments, swords, and bows, breast-plates, bracelets, and wreaths. 4

I look upon your chariots, O munificent cloud-bearing wind with delight, like wandering lights in the rains. 5

These munificent heroes bring the heaven's treasury as if down to the earth for the benefit of the worshipper. They set the rain cloud free to stream through both the worlds and desert spots are flooded with rains. 6

The bursting torrents (from the clouds) overspread the firmament with water, as milch cows yield milk and just as swift horses hasten to their journey's resting place, the glittering brooks run in various directions. 7

Come, O cloud bearing winds, from heaven, from mid-air, or from near at hand. Tarry not far away from us. 8

Let not the dust nuclei, nor the indefinite variation of heat and light, neither the motion of the earth, nor the wide-roving ocean hold you back. Let not the fully flowing river oppose you on your way. May the happiness of yours be ours. 9

My appreciations of the brilliant group of cloud-bearing winds, who have the strength of the latest chariots, and whose appearance is followed by good rains. 10

शर्धंशर्धं व एषां व्रातंव्रातं गणंगणं सुशस्तिभिः । अनु क्रामेम धीतिभिः ॥११॥
कस्मा अद्य सुजाताय रातहव्याय प्र ययुः । एना यामेन मरुतः ॥१२॥
येन तोकाय तनयाय धान्यं१ बीजं वहध्वे अक्षितम् ।
अस्मभ्यं तद्धत्तन यद्व ईमहे राधो विश्वायु सौभगम् ॥१३॥

ṣárdhaṃ-ṣardhaṃ va eshāṃ vrātaṃ-vrātaṃ gaṇáṃ-gaṇaṃ suṣastíbhiḥ | ánu krāmema dhītíbhiḥ || 11 || kásmā adyá sújātāya rātáhavyāya prá yayuḥ | enā́ yā́mena marútaḥ || 12 || yéna tokā́ya tánayāya' dhānyàm bī́jaṃ váhadhve ákshitam | asmábhyaṃ tád dhattana yád va ī́mahe rā́dho viṣvā́yu saúbhagam || 13 ||

अतीयाम निदस्तिरः स्वस्तिभिर्हित्वावद्यमरातीः ।
वृष्ट्वी शं योरापं उस्रि भेषजं स्याम मरुतः सह ॥१४॥
सुदेवः समहासति सुवीरो नरो मरुतः स मर्त्यः । यं त्रायध्वे स्याम ते ॥१५॥
स्तुहि भोजान्स्तुवतो अस्य यामनि रणन्गावो न यवसे ।
यतः पूर्वाँ इव सखीँरनु ह्वय गिरा गृणीहि कामिनः ॥१६॥

átīyāma nidás tiráḥ svastíbhir hitvā́vadyám árātīḥ | vrishṭvī́ ṣáṃ yór ā́pa usrí bheshajáṃ syā́ma marutaḥ sahá || 14 || sudeváḥ samahāsati suvī́ro naro marutaḥ sá mártyaḥ | yáṃ trā́yadhve syā́ma té || 15 || stuhí bhojā́n stuvató asya yā́mani ráṇan gā́vo ná yávase | yatáḥ pū́rvāñ iva sákhīñr ánu hvaya girā́ gṛiṇīhi kāmínaḥ || 16 ||

With praises and holy hymns, may we follow and greet your moving army unit by unit, troop by troop and band by band. 11

To what nobly-born and oblation-giving worshipper are the clouds proceeding on this course today. 12

With the same grace that you bestow imperishable grain-seed upon the sons or grandsons, may you bestow it upon us, that for we implore of you the life-sustaining auspicious bliss. 13

O cloud-bearing winds, may we overcome our crooked and reviling adversaries, dispelling evils, with goodwill. And may we through rain be blessed with unmixed happiness, water, cattle, and curative herbs. 14

O leading cloud-bearing winds, verily that mortal shall be favoured by the divine powers, and blessed with progeny, whom you protect. May we also be graced with that blessing. 15

Praise the givers of enjoyment, at the holy place of worshipper, for they delight in pious praise just as cows enjoy the barley-husk. So let them come close to you, as if your old friends; praise them with songs, as they love adoration. 16

(५४) चतुष्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवताः । (१-१३, १५) प्रथमादित्रयोदशर्चां पञ्चदश्याश्च जगती, (१४) चतुर्दश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१४॥ प्र शर्धाय मारुताय स्वभानव इमां वाचमनजा पर्वतच्युते ।
घर्मस्तुभे दिव आ पृष्ठयज्वने द्युम्नश्रवसे महि नृम्णमर्चत ॥१॥
प्र वो मरुतस्तविषा उदन्यवो वयोवृधो अश्वयुजः परिज्रयः ।
सं विद्युता दधति वाशति त्रितः स्वरन्त्यापोऽवना परिज्रयः ॥२॥
विद्युन्महसो नरो अश्मदिद्यवो वातत्विषो मरुतः पर्वतच्युतः ।
अब्दया चिन्मुहुरा ह्रादुनीवृतः स्तनयदमा रभसा उदोजसः ॥३॥

54.

Prá ṣárdhāya mā́rutāya svábhānava imā́ṃ vā́cam anajā parvatacyúte | gharmastúbhe divá ā́ prishṭhayájvane dyumnáṣravase máhi nrimṇám arcata || 1 || prá vo marutas tavishā́ udanyávo vayovrídho aṣvayújaḥ párijrayaḥ | sáṃ vidyútā dádhati vā́ṣati tritáḥ sváranty ā́po 'vánā párijrayaḥ || 2 || vidyúnmahaso náro áṣmadidyavo vā́tatvisho marútaḥ parvatacyútaḥ | abdayā́ cin múhur ā́ hrādunīvríta stanáyadamā rabhasā́ údojasaḥ || 3 ||

व्यक्तून्रुद्रा व्यहानि शिक्वसो व्यन्तरिक्षं वि रजांसि धूतयः ।
वि यदज्राँ अजथ नाव ईं यथा वि दुर्गाणि मरुतो नाह रिष्यथ ॥४॥
तद्वीर्यं वो मरुतो महित्वनं दीर्घं ततान सूर्यो न योजनम् ।
एता न यामे अगृभीतशोचिषोऽनश्वदां यन्न्ययातना गिरिम् ॥५॥

vy àktū́n rudrā vy áhāni ṣikvaso vy àntárikshaṃ ví rájāṅsi dhūtayaḥ | ví yád ájrāñ ájatha nā́va īṃ yathā ví durgā́ṇi maruto nā́ha rishyatha || 4 || tád vīryàṃ vo maruto mahitvanáṃ dīrgháṃ tatāna sū́ryo ná yójanaṃ | étā ná yā́me ágribhītaṣocishó 'naṣvadāṃ yán ny áyātanā girím || 5 ||

54

Offer praise to the group of the cloud-bearing winds, who are self-irradiating, who can cast the mountains down. May you present liberal oblations to the illustrious divine winds, who absorb the heat; to those who come from the sky, for sacred acts; and to the givers of abundant food. 1

O cloud-bearing winds, your troops are rich in water; they are strengtheners of life, and are your strong bonds; they shed water and augment food, and are harnessed with steads (waves) that wander far and spread everywhere. Combined with lightning, the triple-group (of wind, cloud and lightning) roars aloud, and the circumambient waters fall upon the earth. 2

The clouds appear gleaning with lightning; they are leaders (of rain) armed with adamantine weapons, blazing with the wind and are the over-throwers of mountains; they further are the repeated distributors of water and wielders of the thunder-bolt. Roaring in concert, they send rain, and are of exceeding strength. 3

O powerful cosmic winds, you terribly upset nights and days, you violently shake the firmament and the worlds. You toss the clouds like ships on the sea and you throw down the strongholds of enemy. But, O vital principles you even then do no harm. 4

Your glory, O cloud-winds, is spread far and wide like the sun extending his radiance. Even without hopes, you travel fast on your courses with unbounded lustre, you cleave those clouds which withhold water. 5

॥१५॥ अभ्राजि शर्धो मरुतो यदर्णसं मोषथा वृक्षं कपनेव वेधसः ।
अध स्मा नो अरमतिं सजोषसश्चक्षुरिव यन्तमनु नेषथा सुगम् ॥६॥
न स जीयते मरुतो न हन्यते न स्रेधति न व्यथते न रिष्यति ।
नास्य राय उप दस्यन्ति नोतय ऋषिं वा यं राजानं वा सुषूदथ ॥७॥

ábhrāji ṣárdho maruto yád arṇasám móshathā vṛikshám kapanéva vedhasaḥ | ádha smā no arámatiṃ sajoshasaṣ cákshur iva yántam ánu neshathā sugám || 6 || ná sá jīyate maruto ná hanyate ná sredhati ná vyathate ná rishyati | nā́sya rā́ya úpa dasyanti nótáya ṛíshiṃ vā yáṃ rā́jānaṃ vā súshūdatha || 7 ||

नियुत्वन्तो ग्रामजितो यथा नरोऽर्यमणो न मरुतः कबन्धिनः ।
पिन्वन्त्युत्सं यदिनासो अस्वरन्व्युन्दन्ति पृथिवीं मध्वो अन्धसा ॥८॥
प्रवत्वतीयं पृथिवी मरुद्भ्यः प्रवत्वती द्यौर्भवति प्रयद्भ्यः ।
प्रवत्वतीः पथ्या अन्तरिक्ष्याः प्रवत्वन्तः पर्वता जीरदानवः ॥९॥
यन्मरुतः सभरसः स्वर्णरः सूर्य उदिते मदथा दिवो नरः ।
न वोऽश्वाः श्रथयन्ताह सिस्रतः सद्यो अस्याध्वनः पारमश्नुथ ॥१०॥

niyútvanto grāmajíto yáthā náro 'ryamáṇo ná marútaḥ kabandhínaḥ | pínvanty útsaṃ yád inā́so ásvaran vy ùndanti pṛithivím mádhvo ándhasā || 8 || pravátvatīyám pṛithiví marúdbhyaḥ pravátvatī dyaúr bhavati prayádbhyaḥ | pravátvatīḥ pathyā̀ antárikshyāḥ pravátvantaḥ párvatā jīrádānavaḥ || 9 || yán marutaḥ sabharasaḥ svarṇaraḥ sū́rya údite mádathā divo naraḥ | ná vó 'ṣvāḥ ṣrathayantáha sísrataḥ sadyó asyā́dhvanaḥ pārám aṣnutha || 10 ||

O cloud-bearing winds, dispensers of rain, your strength is manifested, when, you shake the water-laden clouds, and make them loose the shower. Conjointly propitiated, may you conduct us by an easy path leading to prosperity, as the eye guides the way. 6

The sage, or the sovereign, whom you, O divine wind, direct, is never overcome nor slain. He does not perish, nor suffers pain, nor undergoes injury, nor are his riches or his safety imperilled. 7

These lords of speedy waves, over-comers of multitudes, leaders (of rites), radiant as the ordainers, are the dispensers of water. These loud-sounding sovereign lords fill the clouds, and moisten the earth with sweet watery sustenance. 8

This earth becomes widely extended for the cloud-bearing winds, the heaven becomes spacious for the spreading clouds. The paths of the mid-space become wide extended to provide way to their course. The expanding clouds quickly bestow (their gifts). 9

O clouds of combined strength, leaders and divine guides to the goal of happiness, you are delighted, when the sun has risen up. Then may your rapid waves know no relaxation, but quickly reach the limits of this road. 10

॥२६॥ अंसेषु व ऋष्टयः पत्सु खादयो वक्षःसु रुक्मा मरुतो रथे शुभः ।
अग्निभ्राजसो विद्युतो गभस्त्योः शिप्राः शीर्षसु वितता हिरण्ययीः ॥११॥
तं नाकमर्यो अगृभीतशोचिषं रुशत्पिप्पलं मरुतो वि धूनुथ ।
समच्यन्त वृजनातित्विषन्त यत्स्वरन्ति घोषं विततमृतायवः ॥१२॥
युष्मादत्तस्य मरुतो विचेतसो रायः स्याम रथ्यो३ वयस्वतः ।
न यो युच्छति तिष्यो३ यथा दिवो३ऽस्मे रारन्त मरुतः सहस्रिणम् ॥१३॥

áṅseshu va ṛishṭáyaḥ patsú khādáyo vákshassu rukmā́ maruto ráthe ṣúbhaḥ | agníbhrājaso vidyúto gábhastyoḥ ṣíprāḥ ṣīrshásu vítatā hiraṇyáyīḥ || 11 || táṃ nā́kam aryó ágṛibhītaṣocishaṃ rúṣat píppalam maruto ví dhūnutha | sám acyanta vṛijánātitvishanta yát sváranti ghóshaṃ vítatam ṛitāyávaḥ || 12 || yushmā́dattasya maruto vicetaso rāyáḥ syāma rathyò váyasvataḥ | ná yó yúchati tishyò yáthā divò 'smé rāranta marutaḥ sahasríṇam || 13 ||

यूयं रयिं मरुतः स्पार्हवीरं यूयमृषिमवथ सामविप्रम् ।
यूयमर्वन्तं भरताय वाजं यूयं धत्थ राजानं श्रुष्टिमन्तम् ॥१४॥
तद्वो यामि द्रविणं सद्यऊतयो येना स्व१र्ण ततनाम नॄँरभि ।
इदं सु मे मरुतो हर्यता वचो यस्य तरेम तरसा शतं हिमाः ॥१५॥

yūyáṃ rayím maruta spārhávīraṃ yūyám ṛíshim avatha sā́mavipram | yūyám árvantam bharatā́ya vā́jaṃ yūyáṃ dhattha rā́jānaṃ ṣrushṭimántam || 14 || tád vo yāmi dráviṇaṃ sadyaūtayo yénā svàr ṇá tatánāma nṝ́ñr abhí | idáṃ sú me maruto haryatā váco yásya tárema tárasā ṣatáṃ hímāḥ || 15 ||

Lances gleam, O clouds, upon your shoulders, anklets on your feet, golden chains are on your breasts, and purity shines in your chariots, lightnings blazing with fire glow in your hands, and golden tiaras are laid upon your heads. 11

O clouds, when moving, you shake the vault of splendid heaven beyond conception, and stir the bright water. When you combine your energies and shine brilliantly, and when purposing to send forth the rain you utter aloud shout. 12

O most wise cloud-bearing winds, may we, be the drivers of the car of riches, full of life, that have been bestowed by you. Let that wealth in thousands dwell with us, which never vanishes like the sun or the tisya constellation (eighth lunar mansion) in the sky. 13

You bestow, O clouds, wealth and enviable posterity; you offer protection to the Seer, learned in the chanting of verses. You grant vitality and nutrition to the enlightened priests; you provide prosperity to a prince even. 14

Therefore do I solicit wealth of you, from those who are prompt to grant protection, whereby we may multiply our descendants, as the sun spreads wide his rays. Be propitiated O divine clouds, and accept graciously this hymn of mine, so that by the efficacy whereof, may we pass over hundred winters. 15

(५५) पञ्चपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवता । (१-९) प्रथमादिनवर्चां जगती, (१०) दशम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१७॥ प्रयज्यवो मरुतो भ्राजदृष्टयो बृहद्वयो दधिरे रुक्मवक्षसः ।
ईयन्ते अश्वैः सुयमेभिराशुभिः शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥१॥
स्वयं दधिध्वे तविषीं यथा विद बृहन्महान्त उर्विया वि राजथ ।
उतान्तरिक्षं ममिरे व्योजसा शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥२॥
साकं जाताः सुभ्वः साकमुक्षिताः श्रिये चिदा प्रतरं वावृधुर्नरः ।
विरोकिणः सूर्यस्येव रश्मयः शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥३॥

55.

Práyajyavo marúto bhrā́jadṛishṭayo bṛihád vā́yo dadhire rukmávakshasaḥ | ī́yante áṣvaiḥ suyámebhir āṣúbhiḥ ṣúbham yātā́m ánu ráthā avṛitsata || 1 || svayáṃ dadhidhve távishīṃ yáthā vidá bṛihán mahānta urviyā́ ví rājatha | utántárikshaṃ mamire vy ójasā ṣúbhaṃ yātā́m — || 2 || sākáṃ jātā́ḥ subhvàḥ sākám ukshitā́ḥ ṣriyé cid ā́ pratarā́ṃ vāvṛidhur náraḥ | virokíṇaḥ sū́ryasyeva raṣmáyaḥ ṣúbhaṃ yātā́m — || 3 ||

आभूषेण्यं वो मरुतो महित्वनं दिदृक्षेण्यं सूर्यस्येव चक्षणम् ।
उतो अस्माँ अमृतत्वे दधातन शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥४॥
उदीरयथा मरुतः समुद्रतो यूयं वृष्टिं वर्षयथा पुरीषिणः ।
न वो दस्रा उप दस्यन्ति धेनवः शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥५॥

· ābhūshéṇyaṃ vo maruto mahitvanáṃ didṛikshéṇyaṃ sū́ryasyeva cákshaṇam | utó asmā́ñ amṛitatvé dadhātana ṣúbhaṃ yātā́m — || 4 || úd īrayathā marutaḥ samudrató yūyáṃ vṛishṭíṃ varshayathā purīshiṇaḥ | ná vo dasrā úpa dasyanti dhenávaḥ ṣúbhaṃ yātā́m — || 5 ||

55

The adorable cloud-bearing winds, armed with bright lances and with their breasts adorned with gold rushing onwards hold vigorous existence. They move on swift, well-controlled horses. May their chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 1

O clouds, you yourself maintain vigour according to your judgment. You shine most widely and majestically. You pervade the mid-air with your power. May their chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 2

These simultaneously formed mighty clouds, co-dispensers of moisture, grow to great majesty. They are leaders, and resplendent, as the rays of the sun. May their chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 3

Your mightiness, O clouds, deserves to be adorned. A visit to you is worthy to be longed for, for your beauty is like the orb of the sun. So, lead us with your aid to immortality. May their chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 4

O cloud-bearing winds, you uplift waters from the ocean and charged with moisture, you shower down the rain. O destroyers of foes, your milch kine are never dry. May their chariots incessantly move onward, when they proceed for our welfare. 5

॥१८॥ यदश्वान्धूर्षु पृषतीरयुग्ध्वं हिरण्ययान्प्रत्यत्काँ अमुग्ध्वम् ।
विश्वा इत्स्पृधो मरुतो व्यस्यथ शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥६॥
न पर्वता न नद्यो वरन्त वो यत्राचिध्वं मरुतो गच्छथेदु तत् ।
उत द्यावापृथिवी याथना परि शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥७॥
यत्पूर्व्यं मरुतो यच्च नूतनं यदुद्यते वसवो यच्च शस्यते ।
विश्वस्य तस्य भवथा नवेदसः शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥८॥

yád áṣvān dhūrshú príshatīr áyugdhvam hiraṇyáyān práty átkāñ ámugdhvam | víṣvā ít sprídho maruto vy àsyatha ṣúbham yātám — || 6 || ná párvatā ná nadyò varanta vo yátrácidhvam maruto gáchathéd u tát | utá dyávāprithiví yāthanā pári ṣúbham yātám — || 7 || yát pūrvyám maruto yác ca nūtanam yád udyáte vasavo yác ca ṣasyáte | víṣvasya tásya bhavathā návedasaḥ ṣúbham yātám — || 8 ||

मृळत नो मरुतो मा वधिष्टनास्मभ्यं शर्म बहुलं वि यन्तन ।
अधि स्तोत्रस्य सख्यस्य गातन शुभं यातामनु रथा अवृत्सत ॥९॥
यूयमस्मान्नयत वस्यो अच्छा निरंहतिभ्यो मरुतो गृणानाः ।
जुषध्वं नो हव्यदातिं यजत्रा वयं स्याम पतयो रयीणाम् ॥१०॥

mriḷáta no maruto má vadhishṭanāsmábhyam ṣárma bahulám ví yantana | ádhi stotrásya sakhyásya gātana ṣúbham yātám — || 9 || yūyám asmán nayata vásyo áchā nír aṅhatíbhyo maruto griṇānáḥ | jushádhvam no havyádātim yajatrā vayám syāma pátayo rayīṇám || 10 ||

When you yoke your spotted draught-animals (or tracting motors) to the poles of your chariots, you put your golden mantles on, O cloud-bearing winds, you disperse all hostile elements. May their chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 6

Let not the mountains, let not the rivers keep you back; whither you resolve to go, O clouds, thither you proceed, and compass heaven and earth. May their chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 7

O cloud-bearing winds, whatever is old, whatever is of recent time, whatever is recited, O Lords of comforts, whatever prayer is repeated, may you take cognizant of all that. May the chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 8

Be gracious unto us, O cloud-bearing winds; harm us not, extend unto us uninterrupted happiness. May you pay due regards unto our friendship and our praise. May the chariots incessantly move onward when they proceed for our welfare. 9

May you, O cloud-bearing winds, propitiated by our praise, lead us to opulence. May you extricate us from sin. Accept, O adorable clouds, our offered oblation. And may we be the possessors of abundant riches. 10

(५६) षट्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवताः । (१-२, ४-६, ८-९) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्याष्टमीनवम्योश्च बृहती, (३, ७) तृतीयासप्तम्योश्च सतोबृहती छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥

अग्ने शर्धन्तमा गणं पिष्टं रुक्मेभिरञ्जिभिः ।
विशो अद्य मरुतामव ह्वये दिवश्चिद्रोचनादधि ॥१॥
यथा चिन्मन्यसे हृदा तदिन्मे जग्मुराशसः ।
ये ते नेदिष्ठं हवनान्यागमन्तान्वर्ध भीमसंदृशः ॥२॥

56.

Ágne ṣárdhantam ā́ gaṇám pishṭám rukmébhir añjíbhiḥ | víṣo adyá marútām áva hvaye diváṣ cid rocanā́d ádhi || 1 || yáthā cin mányase hṛidā́ tád ín me jagmur āṣásaḥ | yé te nédishṭhaṃ hávanāny āgáman tā́n vardha bhīmásaṃdṛiṣaḥ || 2 ||

मीळ्हुष्मतीव पृथिवी पराहता मदन्त्येत्यस्मदा ।
ऋक्षो न वो मरुतः शिमीवाँ अमो दुध्रो गौरिव भीमयुः ॥३॥
नि ये रिणन्त्योजसा वृथा गावो न दुर्धुरः ।
अश्मानं चित्स्वर्यं पर्वतं गिरिं प्र च्यावयन्ति यामभिः ॥४॥
उत्तिष्ठ नूनमेषां स्तोमैः समुक्षितानाम् ।
मरुतां पुरुतममपूर्व्यं गवां सर्गमिव ह्वये ॥५॥

mīḻhúshmatīva pṛithivī́ párāhatā mádanty ety asmád ā́ | ṛíksho ná vo marutaḥ ṣímīvāñ ámo dudhró gaúr iva bhīmayúḥ || 3 || ní yé riṇánty ójasā vṛíthā gā́vo ná durdhúraḥ | áṣmānaṃ cit svaryàm párvataṃ girím prá cyāvayanti yā́mabhiḥ || 4 || út tishṭha nūnám eshāṃ stómaiḥ sámukshitānām | marútām purutámam ápūrvyaṃ gávāṃ sárgam iva hvaye || 5 ||

56

O adorable God, I invoke the victorious group of divine impulses decorated with brilliant enlightenment, to descend today from the luminous realm of innermost consciousness. 1

In whatever manner you honour them in your heart, may they come to me as benefactors. May you strengthen those impulses, frustrating and fierce in the first appearance, who most promptly come to your invocations. 2

As persons on this earth ruled by powerful Lord, have recourse to him when oppressed, so comes the host of divine impulses clouds exulting to us. O impulses, your group, active as fire, is as difficult to be resisted as a formidable bull. 3

These, the divine impulses, who with mighty prowess over-throw evil ideas, like bulls difficult to be restrained, cause even the heavenly stone to shake,—may you shake the rocky mountains as these (impulses) rush on with speed. 4

Rise up, O divine impulses. Verily, by my praises, I invoke the mighty and unpreceded troop of these exalted group of impulses, strong like a herd of kine. 5

॥२०॥ युङ्ग्ध्वं ह्यरुषी रथे युङ्ग्ध्वं रथेषु रोहितः ।
युङ्ग्ध्वं हरी अजिरा धुरि वोळ्हवे वहिष्ठा धुरि वोळ्हवे ॥६॥
उत स्य वाज्यरुषस्तुविष्वणिरिह स्म धायि दर्शतः ।
मा वो यामेषु मरुतश्चिरं करत्प्र तं रथेषु चोदत ॥७॥
रथं नु मारुतं वयं श्रवस्युमा हुवामहे ।
आ यस्मिन्तस्थौ सुरणानि बिभ्रती सचा मरुत्सु रोदसी ॥८॥
तं वः शर्धं रथेशुभं त्वेषं पनस्युमा हुवे ।
यस्मिन्सुजाता सुभगा महीयते सचा मरुत्सु मीळ्हुषी ॥९॥

yuñgdhvám̱ hy árushī ráthe yuñgdhvám̱ rátheshu rohítaḥ | yuñgdhvám̱ hárī ajirá dhurí vólhave váhishṭhā dhurí vólhave || 6 || utá syá vājy àrushás tuvishváṇir ihá sma dhāyi darṣatáḥ | mā́ vo yā́meshu marutaṣ cirám̱ karat prá tám̱ rátheshu codata || 7 || rátham̱ nú mā́rutam̱ vayám̱ ṣravasyúm ā́ huvāmahe | ā́ yásmin tasthaú suráṇāni bíbhratī sácā marútsu rodasí || 8 || tám̱ vaḥ ṣárdham̱ rathesúbham̱ tveshám̱ panasyúm ā́ huve | yásmin sújātā subhágā mahīyáte sácā marútsu mīlhushī́ || 9 ||

(५७) सप्तपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवता । (१-६) प्रथमादिषडृचां जगती (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ आ रुद्रास इन्द्रवन्तः सजोषसो हिरण्यरथाः सुविताय गन्तन ।
इयं वो अस्मत्प्रति हर्यते मतिस्तृष्णजे न दिव उत्सा उदन्यवे ॥१॥

57.

Ā́ rudrāsa índravantaḥ sajóshaso híraṇyarathāḥ suvitáya gantana | iyám̱ vo asmát práti haryate matís tṛishṇáje ná divá útsā udanyáve || 1 ||

Yoke the bright horses (pure and soothing motivations) to your chariot, yoke the red horses (active and pleasing motivations) to your chariot, yoke the swift pair of horses to bear the burthen; the strong bearing to bear the burthen. 6

And let not that horse bright-shining, loud-neighing, of graceful form, who has been yoked, delay you, O divine impulses, on your journey, may you urge him on in the chariot. 7

We invoke the glorious chariot, in which the supracons-cious and outer most realms of human complex are mounted along with the divine impulses, bearing the delightful bliss. 8

I invoke that brilliant troop of yours in the chairot, adorable and graceful, amidst which the auspicious bliss-bestowing goddess of divine origin, is invoked with the divine impulses. 9

57

Of one accord, with the resplendent sun, O cosmic vital principles, come borne on your golden chariot, for our prosperity. This praise is addressed to you, as unto one who is thirsty for water of heavenly springs. 1

वाशीमन्त ऋष्टिमन्तो मनीषिणः सुधन्वान इषुमन्तो निषङ्गिणः ।
स्वश्वाः स्थ सुरथाः पृश्निमातरः स्वायुधा मरुतो याथना शुभम् ॥२॥
धूनुथ द्यां पर्वतान्दाशुषे वसु नि वो वना जिहते यामनो भिया ।
कोपयथ पृथिवीं पृश्निमातरः शुभे यदुग्राः पृषतीरयुग्ध्वम् ॥३॥
वातत्विषो मरुतो वर्षनिर्णिजो यमा इव सुसदृशः सुपेशसः ।
पिशङ्गाश्वा अरुणाश्वा अरेपसः प्रत्वक्षसो महिना द्यौरिवोरवः ॥४॥
पुरुद्रप्सा अञ्जिमन्तः सुदानवस्त्वेषसंदृशो अनवभ्रराधसः ।
सुजातासो जनुषा रुक्मवक्षसो दिवो अर्का अमृतं नाम भेजिरे ॥५॥

vā́sīmanta rishṭimánto manīshíṇaḥ sudhánvāna íshumanto nishaṅgíṇaḥ | svásvā stha suráthāḥ prisnimātaraḥ svāyudhā́ maruto yāthanā súbham || 2 || dhūnuthá dyā́m párvatān dāsúshe vásu ní vo vánā jihate yā́mano bhiyā́ | kopáyatha prithivī́m prisnimātaraḥ subhé yád ugrāḥ príshatīr áyugdhvam || 3 || vā́tatvisho marúto varshánirṇijo yamā́ iva súsadrisaḥ supésasaḥ | pisáñgāsvā aruṇā́svā arepásaḥ prátvakshaso mahinā́ dyaúr ivoróvaḥ || 4 || purudrapsā́ añjimántaḥ sudā́navas tveshásaṃdriso anavabhrárādhasaḥ | sujātā́so janúshā rukmávakshaso divó arkā́ amrítaṃ nā́ma bhejire || 5 ||

॥२२॥ ऋष्टयो वो मरुतो अंसयोरधि सह ओजो बाह्वोर्वो बलं हितम् ।
नृम्णा शीर्षस्वायुधा रथेषु वो विश्वा वः श्रीरधि तनूषु पिपिशे ॥६॥
गोमदश्वावद्रथवत्सुवीरं चन्द्रवद्राधो मरुतो ददा नः ।
प्रशस्तिं नः कृणुत रुद्रियासो भक्षीय वोऽवसो दैव्यस्य ॥७॥

rishṭáyo vo maruto áṅsayor ádhi sáha ójo bāhvór vo bálaṃ hitám | nrimṇā́ sīrshásv ā́yudhā rátheshu vo vísvā vaḥ srī́r ádhi tanū́shu pipise || 6 || gómad ásvāvad ráthavat suvī́raṃ candrávad rā́dho maruto dadā naḥ | prásastiṃ naḥ krinuta rudriyāso bhakshīyá vó 'vaso daívyasya || 7 ||

O cloud-bearing winds, full of wisdom, armed with swords, with lances, with bows, with arrows, with quivers, you are well mounted and have handsome chariots: O sons of mid-air, you are well armed, come for our good. 2

You agitate the clouds in the sky. You give wealth to the donor of oblations. Through the fear of your approach the forests bow down. O sons of mid-air, you make earth tremble, when, for the purpose of sending water, you, fierce clouds, yoke your colourful chariots. 3

The cloud-bearing winds are brilliantly radiant and wrapped in their robes of rain water. They are charming like noble twins and of graceful form. They are masters of tawny and of ruddy horses, devoid of guile, destroyers of foes and vast in magnitude as the sky. 4

They (the cloud-bearing winds) are shedders of abundant showers, wearers of ornaments, munificent, of brilliant aspect, yielders of inexhaustible wealth, noble by birth, are adorned with gold upon their breast, singers of the sky, entitled to adoration, they enjoy their immortal fame. 5

Lances rest, O cloud-bearing winds, upon your shoulders. Strength of foe-destroying power rests in your arms and golden turbans are on your head. Your weapons are placed in your chariots and all glorious majesty is moulded on your bodies. 6

O cloud-bearing winds, bestow upon us affluence in cattle and steeds, in cars, treasure, and male descendants. O sons of cosmic principles, grant us high distinction. May I ever enjoy your divine favour and protection. 7

हये नरो मरुतो मृळता नस्तुवीमघासो अमृता ऋतज्ञाः ।
सत्यश्रुतः कवयो युवानो बृहद्गिरयो बृहदुक्षमाणाः ॥८॥

hayé náro máruto mriḷátā nas túvīmaghāso ámritā rítajñāḥ | sátyaṣrutaḥ kávayo yúvāno bríhadgirayo brihád ukshámāṇāḥ || 8 ||

(५८) अष्टपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ तमु नूनं तविषीमन्तमेषां स्तुषे गणं मारुतं नव्यसीनाम् ।
य आश्वश्वा अमवद्वहन्त उतेशिरे अमृतस्य स्वराजः ॥१॥
त्वेषं गणं तवसं खादिहस्तं धुनिव्रतं मायिनं दातिवारम् ।
मयोभुवो ये अमिता महित्वा वन्दस्व विप्र तुविराधसो नॄन् ॥२॥
आ वो यन्तूदवाहासो अद्य वृष्टिं ये विश्वे मरुतो जुनन्ति ।
अयं यो अग्निर्मरुतः समिद्ध एतं जुषध्वं कवयो युवानः ॥३॥
यूयं राजानमिर्यं जनाय विभ्वतष्टं जनयथा यजत्राः ।
युष्मदेति मुष्टिहा बाहुजूतो युष्मत्सदश्वो मरुतः सुवीरः ॥४॥

58.

Tám u nūnáṃ távishīmantam eshāṃ stushé gaṇám mārutaṃ návyasīnām | yá āṣvàṣvā ámavad váhanta utéṣire amrítasya svarā́jaḥ || 1 || tveshám gaṇáṃ tavásaṃ khā́dihastaṃ dhúnivratam māyínaṃ dā́tivāram | mayobhúvo yé ámitā mahitvā́ vándasva vipra tuvirā́dhaso nrī́n || 2 || ā́ vo yantūdavāhā́so adyá vrishṭíṃ yé víṣve marúto junánti | ayáṃ yó agnír marutaḥ sámiddha etáṃ jushadhvaṃ kavayo yuvānaḥ || 3 || yūyáṃ rā́jānam íryaṃ jánāya vibhvatashṭáṃ janayathā yajatrā́ḥ | yushmád eti mushṭihā́ bāhújūto yushmád sádasvo marutaḥ suvī́raḥ || 4 ||

O cloud-bearing winds, leaders of ceremonies, be propitious to us. You are infinitely opulent, immortal, be gracious to us. You are rich in treasures, renowned for truth, wise and young. You are greatly glorified and worshipped with copious oblations. 8

58

I glorify today that self-brilliant group of the adorable cosmic cloud-bearing winds, lords of swift moving forces, who pass along in strength, who are self-radiant, and maintain control over ambrosial rains. 1

O devotee, glorify extremely brilliant and powerful troop of clouds, decorated with hand-bracelets, and which is agitator and wise; whose individuals are conferers of wealth, bestowers of felicity, and whose greatness is unbounded. May you glorify these leaders. 2

May the universal divine winds, who impell the rain, come to you, today laden with water. They are very wise and ever-young. This fire, rain-bearing clouds, is newly-kindled; may it find favour with you. 3

O benevolent divine winds, with your blessings a son is born to the man, who would be a ruler and over-comer of adversaries or who would be skilled architect. From your blessings, comes a valiant descendant, strong-fisted (a boxer), mighty-armed; and by your grace, he becomes a possessor of excellent horses. 4

अरा इवेदचरमा अहेव प्रप्र जायन्ते अकवा महोभिः ।
पृश्नेः पुत्रा उपमासो रभिष्ठाः स्वया मत्या मरुतः सं मिमिक्षुः ॥५॥
यत्प्रायासिष्ट पृषतीभिरश्वैर्वीळुपविभिर्मरुतो रथेभिः ।
क्षोदन्त आपो रिणते वनान्यवोस्रियो वृषभः क्रन्दतु द्यौः ॥६॥
प्रथिष्ट यामन्पृथिवी चिदेषां भर्तेव गर्भं स्वमिच्छवो धुः ।
वातान्ह्यश्वान्धुर्यायुयुज्रे वर्षं स्वेदं चक्रिरे रुद्रियासः ॥७॥
हये नरो मरुतो मृळता नस्तुवीमघासो अमृता ऋतज्ञाः ।
सत्यश्रुतः कवयो युवानो बृहद्गिरयो बृहदुक्षमाणाः ॥८॥

arấ ivéd ácaramā áheva prá-pra jāyante ákavā máhobhiḥ | príṣneḥ putrấ upamấso rábhishṭhāḥ sváyā matyấ marútaḥ sám mimikshuḥ || 5 || yát prấyāsishṭa príshatībhir áṣvair vīḷupavíbhir maruto ráthebhiḥ | kshódanta ấpo riṇaté vánāny ávosríyo vṛishabháḥ krandatu dyaúḥ || 6 || práthishṭa yấman pṛithiví cid eshām bhárteva gárbhaṃ svám íc chávo dhuḥ | vấtān hy áṣvān dhury ấyuyujré varsháṃ svédaṃ cakrire rudríyāsaḥ || 7 || hayé náro máruto — || 8 ||

(५९) एकोनषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतो देवता । (१-७) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चां जगती (८) अष्टम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२४॥ प्र वः स्पळक्रन्त्सुविताय दावनेऽर्चा दिवे प्र पृथिव्या ऋतं भरे ।
उक्षन्ते अश्वान्तरुषन्त आ रजोऽनु स्वं भानुं श्रथयन्ते अर्णवैः ॥१॥

59.

Prá va spáḷ akran suvitấya dāváné 'rcā divé prá pṛithivyấ ṛitám bhare | ukshánte áṣvān tárushanta ấ rájó 'nu svám bhānúm ṣrathayante arṇavaíḥ || 1 ||

Like the spokes of a wheel, none of you are inferior to the rest, but equal in measure as days. These sons of mid-air are born off all alike. None is inferior in splendour, and all are rapid in speed; these divine winds pour rain of their own free will. 5

O divine winds, when you come with stout-axled cars drawn by coloured horses, the waters are disturbed, the forests are shattered; let the sky the showerer of rain thunder and pierced by the solar rays, may it send his roar downward. 6

On their approach the earth becomes capable of fertility, and they deposit water in her as their germ, as the husband generates the embryo of the child. They harness their vital horses' fleet as the wind. The clouds are offsprings of cosmic vita principles whose sweat becomes the rain. 7

O divine winds, the leading heroes, be gracious to us. You are infinitely opulent, immortal, law-abiding, renowned for truth, youthful poets, greatly glorified, and worshipped with profuse adorations. 8

59

The priest glorifies you, O divine winds, for the good of the donor of the oblation. May he offer worship to the shining midspace and to the earth. They (the cloud-bearing winds) scatter the rapid rain and traverse the firmament. They extend far and wide their radiance up to the sea. 1

अमादेषां भियसा भूमिरेजति नौर्न पूर्णा क्षरति व्यथिर्यती ।
दूरेदृशो ये चितयन्त एमभिरन्तर्महे विदथे येतिरे नरः ॥२॥
गवामिव श्रियसे शृङ्गमुत्तमं सूर्यो न चक्षू रजसो विसर्जने ।
अत्या इव सुभ्वश्चारवः स्थन मर्या इव श्रियसे चेतथा नरः ॥३॥
को वो महान्ति महतामुदश्नवत्कस्काव्या मरुतः को ह पौंस्या ।
यूयं ह भूमिं किरणं न रेजथ प्र यद्भरध्वे सुविताय दावने ॥४॥

ámād eshām bhiyásā bhū́mir ejati naúr ná pūrṇā́ ksharati vyáthir yatī́ | dūredṛ́ṣo yé citáyanta émabhir antár mahé vidáthe yetire nárah || 2 || gávām iva ṣriyáse ṣṛ́ṅgam uttamám sū́ryo ná cákshū rájaso visárjane | átyā iva subhvàṣ cárava sthana máryā iva ṣriyáse cetathā narah || 3 || kó vo mahā́nti mahatā́m úd aṣnavat kás kā́vyā marutaḥ kó ha paúṅsyā | yūyám ha bhū́mim kiráṇam ná rejatha prá yád bháradhve suvitā́ya dāváne || 4 ||

अश्वा इवेदरुषासः सबन्धवः शूरा इव प्रयुधः प्रोत युयुधुः ।
मर्या इव सुवृधो वावृधुर्नरः सूर्यस्य चक्षुः प्र मिनन्ति वृष्टिभिः ॥५॥
ते अज्येष्ठा अकनिष्ठास उद्भिदोऽमध्यमासो महसा वि वावृधुः ।
सुजातासो जनुषा पृश्निमातरो दिवो मर्या आ नो अच्छा जिगातन ॥६॥
वयो न ये श्रेणीः पप्तुरोजसान्तान्दिवो बृहतः सानुनस्परि ।
अश्वास एषामुभये यथा विदुः प्र पर्वतस्य नभनूँरचुच्यवुः ॥७॥

áṣvā ivéd arushā́sah sábandhavaḥ ṣū́rā iva prayúdhaḥ prótá yuyudhuḥ | máryā iva suvṛ́dho vāvṛdhur náraḥ sū́ryasya cákshuḥ prá minanti vṛishṭíbhiḥ || 5 || té ajyeshṭhā́ ákanishṭhāsa udbhídó 'madhyamāso máhasā ví vāvṛdhuḥ | sujātā́so janúshā pṛ́ṣnimātaro divó máryā ā́ no áchā jigātana || 6 || váyo ná yé ṣréṇīḥ paptúr ójasā́ntān divó bṛihatáḥ sā́nunas pári | áṣvāsa eshām ubháye yáthā vidúḥ prá párvatasya nabhanū́ṅr acucyavuḥ || 7 ||

The earth shakes and reels in terror at their onward rush as a crowded boat goes quivering. Visible from afar, they are recognized by their movements. The divine winds, heroes, pass between heaven and earth to the place of work and worship. 2

You bear, for your decoration, an excellent (diadem) like the horn of cattle. And like the sun. the eye (of day), dispell darkness. You are diligent, graceful, and rapid as horses, and you are conscious to earn glory like mortals. 3

O mighty divine winds, who may exalt the great mighty excellencies of you? Who may (offer you fitting) praises? Who may glorify your manly deeds? For, you verily make the earth tremble like a ray of light, when you confer the gift of rain for fertility. 4

Resplendent as steeds of one kindred, they engage in combat like valiant champions. Like prosperous men, they, the leaders, augment in strength and cover the eye of the sun with their showers. 5

None of them are older, not one the younger than the others, the destroyers of foes, none hold a middle rank, but all excell in glory. Noble by birth, having mid-space for your mother, may you, O divine wind, come from heaven to our presence, and be gracious to mankind. 6

Like birds of air, they flow with might in rows from heaven's high ridges to the borders of the sky. Their motivations cause the waters of the cloud to descend, as both mortals know. 7

मिमातु द्यौरदितिर्वीतये नः सं दानुचित्रा उषसो यतन्ताम् ।
आचुच्यवुर्दिव्यं कोशमेत ऋषे रुद्रस्य मरुतो गृणानाः ॥८॥

mí-
mātu dyaur áditir vītáye naḥ sám dánucitrā usháso yatantām | ắcucyavur divyám kóśam etá ṛíshe rudrásya marúto gṛiṇānáḥ || 8 ||

(६०) षष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । मरुतोऽग्नामरुतौ वा देवते । (१-६) प्रथमादिषडृचामस्य त्रिष्टुप् (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योर्ऋचोश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥२५॥ ईळे अग्निं स्ववसं नमोभिरिह प्रसत्तो वि चयत्कृतं नः ।
रथैरिव प्र भरे वाजयद्भिः प्रदक्षिणिन्मरुतां स्तोममृध्याम् ॥१॥
आ ये तस्थुः पृषतीषु श्रुतासु सुखेषु रुद्रा मरुतो रथेषु ।
वना चिदुग्रा जिहते नि वो भिया पृथिवी चिद्रेजते पर्वतश्चित् ॥२॥
पर्वतश्चिन्महि वृद्धो बिभाय दिवश्चित्सानु रेजत स्वने वः ।
यत्क्रीळथ मरुत ऋष्टिमन्त आप इव सध्र्यञ्चो धवध्वे ॥३॥

60.

Íle agním svavasam namobhír iha prasattó ví cayat kṛitám naḥ | ráthair iva prá bhare vājayádbhiḥ pradakshiṇín marútām stómam ṛidhyam || 1 || á yé tasthúḥ príshatīshu srutásu sukheshu rudra marúto rátheshu | váná cid ugrā jihate ní vo bhiyá pṛithiví cid rejate párvataṣ cit || 2 || párvataṣ cin máhi vṛiddhó bibhāya diváṣ cit sắnu rejata svané vaḥ | yát krílatha maruta ṛishṭimánta ápa iva sadhryàñco dhavadhve || 3 ||

May the heaven and the earth yield rain for our sustenance; may the wonderfully bounties dawns toil for us glittering with moisture. May these sons of cosmic vitals, lauded by sages, send down the heavenly treasure. 8

60

I praise with reverence the gracious adorable Lord with hymns. May he, propitiated on this occasion, approve of our acts. May I be full of riches like a chariot full of precious treasures. May I divinely blessed exalt vital principles and thereby become prosperous. 1

O fierce divine winds, offsprings of cosmic vitality, (when you come) mounted, on aura of waves, drawn by speedy currents to the woods bow down in terror, and the earth, even the mountains, tremble. 2

The mountain, though vast and lofty, is alarmed at your roaring, and the summit of the firmament trembles, when, lance-armed cloud-bearing winds move sportingly. You rush along together like the waters. 3

वरा इवेद्रैवतासो हिरण्यैरभि स्वधाभिस्तन्वः पिपिश्रे ।
श्रिये श्रेयांसस्तवसो रथेषु सत्रा महांसि चक्रिरे तनूषु ॥४॥
अज्येष्ठासो अकनिष्ठास एते सं भ्रातरो वावृधुः सौभगाय ।
युवा पिता स्वपा रुद्र एषां सुदुघा पृश्निः सुदिना मरुद्भ्यः ॥५॥
यदुत्तमे मरुतो मध्यमे वा यद्वावमे सुभगासो दिवि ष्ठ ।
अतो नो रुद्रा उत वा न्वस्याग्ने वित्ताद्धविषो यद्यजाम ॥६॥

varā́ ivéd raivatā́so híraṇyair abhí svadhā́bhis tanvàḥ pipiṣre | ṣriyé ṣréyāṅsas taváso rátheshu satrā́ máhāṅsi cakrire tanū́shu || 4 || ajyeshṭhā́so ákanishṭhāsa eté sám bhrā́taro vāvṛidhuḥ saúbhagāya | yúvā pitā́ svápā rudrá eshāṃ sudúghā pṛíṣniḥ sudínā marúdbhyaḥ || 5 || yád uttamé maruto madhyamé vā yád vāvamé subhagāso diví shṭhá | áto no rudrā utá vā nv àsyā́gne vittā́d dhavísho yád yájāma || 6 ||

अग्निश्च यन्मरुतो विश्ववेदसो दिवो वहध्व उत्तरादधि ष्णुभिः ।
ते मन्दसाना धुनयो रिशादसो वामं धत्त यजमानाय सुन्वते ॥७॥
अग्ने मरुद्भिः शुभयद्भिर्ऋक्वभिः सोमं पिब मन्दसानो गणश्रिभिः ।
पावकेभिर्विश्वमिन्वेभिरायुभिर्वैश्वानर प्रदिवा केतुना सजूः ॥८॥

agníṣ ca yán maruto viṣvavedaso divó váhadhva úttarād ádhi shṇúbhiḥ | té mandasānā́ dhúnayo riṣā́daso vāmáṃ dhatta yájamānāya sunvaté || 7 || ágne marúdbhiḥ ṣubháyadbhir ṛíkvabhiḥ sómam piba mandasānó gaṇaṣríbhiḥ | pāvakébhir viṣvaminvébhir āyúbhir vaíṣvānara pradívā ketúnā sajū́ḥ || 8 ||

Like wealthy bridegrooms, who have decorated their persons with glittering golden ornaments, the noble and powerful cloud-bearing winds, seated together in their speedy chariots, set their splendours on their forms for ever. 4

Like brothers, of whom no one is elder, no one younger, they grow up together for their mutual prosperity. Their father, the cosmic vitality, is ever-youthful, doer of good deeds, and their mother, the midspace, who is easy to be milked, make their days favourable for their growth. 5

Auspicious cloud-bearing winds, may you come to us, whether you abide in the upper, the middle, or the lower heaven. O cosmic vital principles, come to us from thence; and O fire-divine, accept our homage offered to you today. 6

O divine winds, lords of all, since you and fire-divine abide above the summits of the upper region of the sky, may you, who cause your enemies to tremble, and who rejoice in destroying the adverse elements be pleased to bestow prosperity upon the dedicated workers and devotees. 7

Associated with cloud-bearing winds, gleaming, singing and gathering in groups, whilst purifying and animating the universe, O fire-divine, the universal leaders, the possessor of banner-like bright flames, may you accept our devotional love, with delight. 8

(६१) एकषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१९) एकोनविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः। (१-४, ११-१६) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचा-मेकादश्यादिषण्णाञ्च मरुतः, (५-८) पञ्चम्यादिचतसृणां तरन्तमहिषी शशीयसी, (९) नवम्या वैददश्विः पुरुमीळ्हः, (१०) दशम्या वैददश्विस्तरन्तः, (१७-१९) सप्तदश्यादि-तृचस्य च दार्भ्यो रथवीतिर्देवताः। (१-४, ६-८, १०-१९) प्रथमादि-चतुर्ऋचां षष्ठ्यादितृचस्य दशम्यादिदशानाञ्च गायत्री, (५) पञ्चम्या अनुष्टुप्, (९) नवम्याश्च सतोबृहती छन्दांसि॥

॥२६॥ के ष्ठा नरः श्रेष्ठतमा य एकएक आयय। परमस्याः परावतः ॥१॥
क्व वोऽश्वाः क्वाभीशवः कथं शेक कथा यय। पृष्ठे सदो नसोर्यमः ॥२॥
जघने चोद एषां वि सक्थानि नरो यमुः। पुत्रकृथे न जनयः ॥३॥
परा वीरास एतन मर्यासो भद्रजानयः। अग्नितपो यथासथ ॥४॥
सनत्साश्व्यं पशुमुत गव्यं शतावयम्।
श्यावाश्वस्तुताय या दोर्वीरायोपबर्बृहत् ॥५॥

61.

Ké shṭhā naraḥ ṣréshṭhatamā yá éka-eka āyayá | paramásyāḥ parāvátaḥ || 1 || kvà vó 'ṣvāḥ kvā̀bhíṣavaḥ kathám̐ ṣeka kathā́ yaya | prishṭhé sádo nasór yámaḥ || 2 || jagháne códa eshām̐ ví sakthā́ni náro yamuḥ | putrakṛithé ná jánayaḥ || 3 || párā vīrāsa etana máryāso bhádrajānayaḥ | agnitápo yáthā́satha || 4 || sánat sā́ṣvyam paṣúm utá gávyam̐ ṣatā́vayam | ṣyāvā́ṣvastutāya yā́ dór vīrā́yopabárbṛihat || 5 ||

॥२७॥ उत त्वा स्त्री शशीयसी पुंसो भवति वस्यसी। अदेवत्रादराधसः ॥६॥
वि या जानाति जसुरिं वि तृष्यन्तं वि कामिनम्। देवत्रा कृणुते मनः ॥७॥
उत घा नेमो अस्तुतः पुमाँ इति ब्रुवे पणिः। स वैरदेय इत्समः ॥८॥

utá tvā strí ṣáṣīyasī puṅsó bhavati vásyasī | ádevatrād arādhásaḥ || 6 || ví yā́ jānā́ti jásurim̐ ví tríshyantam̐ ví kāmínam | devatrā́ kṛiṇuté mánaḥ || 7 || utá ghā némo ástutaḥ púmāñ íti bruve paṇíḥ | sá vaíradeya ít samáḥ || 8 ||

61

Who are you, O most excellent leaders, that come one by one from a region exceedingly remote ? 1

Where are your horses ? Where are the reins ? What is your capability ? Where are you going ? Do you have the saddle on your back and the rein in your nostrils ? 2

The whip is laid upon their flanks. The rider forces them to spread their thighs apart, like women in bringing forth children. 3

O heroes, blazing, as if, with fire, since you are friendly to men and of noble birth, may you proceed far and wide on your mission. 4

She, (the Mother Nature), stretches her arms round the hero, who is accomplished with brown speedy horses and she, the same one, gives in wealth and vigour, and hundreds of cattles. 5

An accomplisher of praiseworthy deeds, may she be a woman, is more excellant than a man, who reverences not the God and does not offer wealth in charity. 6

For she discerns one who is weak and worn, one who thirsts and is in want and she sets her mind towards God. 7

And I proclaim that the man, her other half, the greedy, is not worthy of commendation until he also becomes equally liberal in munificient donations. 8

उत मेऽरपद्युवतिर्ममन्दुषी प्रति श्यावाय वर्तनिम् ।
वि रोहिता पुरुमीळ्हाय येमतुर्विप्राय दीर्घयशसे ॥९॥
यो मे धेनूनां शतं वैददश्विर्यथा ददत् । तरन्त इव मंहना ॥१०॥

utá me 'rapad yuvatír mamandúshī práti ṣyāvā́ya vartaním | ví róhitā purumī̆ḷhā́ya yematur víprāya dīrgháyaṣase || 9 || yó me dhenūnā́ṃ ṣatáṃ vaídadaṣvir yáthā dádat | tarantá iva maṅhánā || 10 ||

॥२८॥ य ईं वहन्त आशुभिः पिबन्तो मदिरं मधु । अत्र श्रवांसि दधिरे ॥११॥
येषां श्रियाधि रोदसी विभ्राजन्ते रथेष्वा । दिवि रुक्म इवोपरि ॥१२॥
युवा स मारुतो गणस्त्वेषरथो अनेद्यः । शुभंयावाप्रतिष्कुतः ॥१३॥
को वेद नूनमेषां यत्रा मदन्ति धूतयः । ऋतजाता अरेपसः ॥१४॥
यूयं मर्तं विपन्यवः प्रणेतारं इत्था धिया । श्रोतारो यामहूतिषु ॥१५॥

yá īṃ váhanta āṣúbhiḥ píbanto madirám mádhu | átra ṣrávāṅsi dadhire || 11 || yéshāṃ ṣriyā́dhi ródasī vibhrájante rátheshv ā́ | diví rukmá ivopári || 12 || yúvā sá mā́ruto gaṇás tvesháratho ánedyaḥ | ṣubhaṃyā́vā́pratishkutaḥ || 13 || kó veda nūnám eshāṃ yátrā mádanti dhū́tayaḥ | ṛitájātā arepásaḥ || 14 || yūyám mártaṃ vipanyavaḥ praṇetā́ra itthā́ dhiyā́ | ṣrótāro yā́mahūtishu || 15 ||

॥२९॥ ते नो वसूनि काम्या पुरुश्चन्द्रा रिशादसः । आ यज्ञियासो ववृत्तन ॥१६॥
एतं मे स्तोममूर्म्ये दार्भ्याय परा वह । गिरो देवि रथीरिव ॥१७॥

té no vásūni kā́myā puruṣcandrā́ riṣādasaḥ | ā́ yajñiyāso vavṛittana || 16 || etám me stómam ūrmye dārbhyā́ya párā vaha | gíro devi rathī́r iva || 17 ||

Young and affable, she divulges the path to me, the possessor of brown speedy horses and the two ruddy horses bear me to the widely reputed sage, who is valiant and renowned. 9

He (the widely reputed sage) the knower of the cosmic mystery, gives me hundreds of treasures, and like a swimmer, takes me across by his spacious boat. 10

These cloud-bearing winds are brought hither by swift horses like waves. They, drinking the inebriating elixir, attain high glory here. 11

They, by whose glory heaven and earth are over-spread, shine splendid in their aura of chariots like the radiant sun in the heaven above. 12

That band of cloud-bearing winds is ever young, riding in bright chariots, irreproachable, auspicious, supra-mobile and unobstructed and steady. 13

Who knows of a certainty where these intimidators of their foes live and rejoice ? They are born of the eternal law and are exempt from defects. 14

You are admirable guides to happiness of the man, who propitiates you by his pious deeds. You are quick in response to him, who cries for help. 15

You are destroyers of the malevolent, and are worshipful and abounding in bright wealth. May you bestow upon us the riches that we crave. 16

O goddess, the night, may you convey my praises to divine cloudy winds, who shower water as a charioteer conveys the contents of his vehicle to his destination. 17

उत मे वोचतादिति सुतसोमे रथवीतौ । न कामो अप वेति मे ॥१८॥
एष क्षेति रथवीतिर्मघवा गोमतीरनु । पर्वतेष्वपश्रितः ॥१९॥

utá me vocatād íti sutásome ráthavītau | ná kā́mo ápa veti me || 18 || eshá ksheti ráthavītir maghávā gómatīr ánu | párvateshv ápaṣri-taḥ || 19 ||

(६२) द्विषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय श्रुतविदृषि । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३२॥ ऋतेन ऋतमपिहितं ध्रुवं वां सूर्यस्य यत्र विमुचन्त्यश्वान् ।
दश शता सह तस्थुस्तदेकं देवानां श्रेष्ठं वपुषामपश्यम् ॥१॥
तत्सु वां मित्रावरुणा महित्वमीर्मा तस्थुषीरहभिर्दुदुह्रे ।
विश्वाः पिन्वथः स्वसरस्य धेना अनु वामेकः पविरा ववर्त ॥२॥
अधारयतं पृथिवीमुत द्यां मित्रराजाना वरुणा महोभिः ।
वर्धयतमोषधीः पिन्वतं गा अव वृष्टिं सृजतं जीरदानू ॥३॥

62.

Ṛiténa ṛitám ápihitam dhruvám vām sū́ryasya yátra vimucánty áṣvān | dáṣa ṣatā́ sahá tasthus tád ékam devā́nām ṣréshṭham vápushām apaṣyam || 1 || tát sú vām mitrā-varuṇā mahitvám īrmā́ tasthúshīr áhabhir duduhre | víṣvāḥ pinvathaḥ svásarasya dhénā ánu vām ékaḥ pavír ā́ vavarta || 2 || ádhārayatam pṛithivī́m utá dyā́m mítrarājānā varuṇā máhobhiḥ | vardháyatam óshadhīḥ pínvatam gā́ áva vṛi-shṭím sṛijatam jīradānū || 3 ||

And when the devotional affection is presented, say on my behalf to the chariot-moving ones (cloud-winds) that my loving regards remain the same. 18

This opulent charioteer cloud still dwells upon the banks of the flooded river, and on the skirts of mountains far away. 19

62

I have beheld the stationary eternal orb of yours, the Sun, (the source eternal of cosmic energy and cosmic plasma), concealed by cosmic vapours; wherefrom the rays are released. A thousand rays abide together here. This is the most excellent of the embodied forms of Nature's bounties. 1

Exceeding is that your greatness, O Lord of cosmic energy and Lord of cosmic plasma, whereby the felly of the chariot of one amongst you two, the ever revolving, has, through (succeeding) days, milked forth the stationary waters. The felly of the other enables the chariot to go round perpetually. Thus both of you augment all the world-illumining rays of the self-revolving sun. 2

O splendorous Lord of light and Lord of plasma, by your energies, you uphold earth and heaven. O prompt benefactors, you cause the plants to flourish and give nourishment to the cattle. May you send down the rain. 3

आ वामश्वासः सुयुजो वहन्तु यतरश्मय उप यन्त्वर्वाक् ।
घृतस्य निर्णिगनु वर्तते वामुप सिन्धवः प्रदिवि क्षरन्ति ॥४॥
अनु श्रुताममतिं वर्धदुर्वीं बर्हिरिव यजुषा रक्षमाणा ।
नमस्वन्ता धृतदक्षाधि गर्ते मित्रासाथे वरुणेळास्वन्तः ॥५॥

á vām ásvāsaḥ suyújo vahantu yatárasmaya úpa yantv arvák | ghritásya nirnig ánu vartate vām úpa síndhavaḥ pradívi ksharanti || 4 || ánu srutám amátim várdhad urvím barhír iva yájushā rákshamāṇā | námasvantā dhritadakshádhi gárte mítrásāthe varuṇélāsv antáḥ || 5 ||

॥३१॥

अक्रविहस्ता सुकृते परस्पा यं त्रासाथे वरुणेळास्वन्तः ।
राजाना क्षत्रमहृणीयमाना सहस्रस्थूणं बिभृथः सह द्वौ ॥६॥
हिरण्यनिर्णिगयो अस्य स्थूणा वि भ्राजते दिव्यश्वाजनीव ।
भद्रे क्षेत्रे निमिता तिल्विले वा सनेम मध्वो अधिगर्त्यस्य ॥७॥
हिरण्यरूपमुषसो व्युष्टावयःस्थूणमुदिता सूर्यस्य ।
आ रोहथो वरुण मित्र गर्तमतश्चक्षाथे अदितिं दितिं च ॥८॥
यद्बंहिष्ठं नातिविधे सुदानू अच्छिद्रं शर्म भुवनस्य गोपा ।
तेन नो मित्रावरुणावविष्टं सिषासन्तो जिगीवांसः स्याम ॥९॥

ákravihastā sukríte paraspá yám trásāthe varuṇéḷāsv antáḥ | rájānā kshatrám áhriṇīyamānā sahásrasthūṇam bibhrithaḥ sahá dvaú || 6 || híraṇyanirṇig áyo asya sthúṇā ví bhrājate divy àsvájanīva | bhadré kshétre nímitā tílvile vā sanéma mádhvo ádhigartyasya || 7 || híraṇyarūpam usháso vyùshṭāv áyasthūṇam úditā sūryasya | á rohatho varuṇa mitra gártam átaṣ cakshāthe áditim dítim ca || 8 || yád báṅhishṭham nátivídhe sudānū áchidram ṣárma bhuvanasya gopā | téna no mitrāvaruṇāv avishṭam síshāsanto jigīváṅsaḥ syāma || 9 ||

May your well-harnessed horses bear you both hither, and with well-guided reins come down. The embodied form of water,—the clouds, follow you and the rivers flow to us as ever. 4

O Lord of light and plasma, with all your power and glory, you go on augmenting your reputation more and more, and you give protection to earth, just as the sacrifices are protected with veneration in verses. Abound in food and viands, may you ascend your chariots in the midst of the places of work and worship. 5

You are open-handed and benignant to the performer of pious acts. You protect him in all benevolent works. You two (Lord of energy and plasma), who are sovereigns, and free from wrath, uphold together a dominion based on thousand pillars. 6

Their chariot is adorned with gold; its pillars are of iron, and it glitters in heaven like lightning. The sacrificial altar has been established in an auspicious place along with all devotional requisites. May we share the meath that loads the car-seat. 7

At the break of dawn, at the rising of the sun, O Lord of light and Lord of plasma, ascend your golden-bodied, iron-pillared car, and thence behold the earth and its inhabitants. 8

O munificent Lord of light and Lord of plasma, protectors of the universe, it is up to you to grant us unobstructed and perfect felicity. May you, therefore, bless us with that felicity; may we be prosperous and ever confident of victory. 9

(६३) त्रिषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयोऽर्चनाना ऋषिः। मित्रावरुणौ देवते। जगती छन्दः॥

॥१॥ ऋतस्य गोपावधि तिष्ठथो रथं सत्यधर्माणा परमे व्योमनि।
यमत्र मित्रावरुणावथो युवं तस्मै वृष्टिर्मधुमत्पिन्वते दिवः ॥१॥
सम्राजावस्य भुवनस्य राजथो मित्रावरुणा विदथे स्वर्दृशा।
वृष्टिं वां राधो अमृतत्वमीमहे द्यावापृथिवी वि चरन्ति तन्यवः ॥२॥
सम्राजा उग्रा वृषभा दिवस्पती पृथिव्या मित्रावरुणा विचर्षणी।
चित्रेभिरभ्रैरुप तिष्ठथो रवं द्यां वर्षयथो असुरस्य मायया ॥३॥
माया वां मित्रावरुणा दिवि श्रिता सूर्यो ज्योतिश्चरति चित्रमायुधम्।
तमभ्रेण वृष्ट्या गूहथो दिवि पर्जन्य द्रप्सा मधुमन्त ईरते ॥४॥
रथं युञ्जते मरुतः शुभे सुखं शूरो न मित्रावरुणा गविष्टिषु।
रजांसि चित्रा वि चरन्ति तन्यवो दिवः सम्राजा पयसा न उक्षतम् ॥५॥
वाचं सु मित्रावरुणाविरावतीं पर्जन्यश्चित्रां वदति त्विषीमतीम्।
अभ्रा वसत मरुतः सु मायया द्यां वर्षयतमरुणामरेपसम् ॥६॥

63.

Ṛítasya gopāv ádhi tishṭhatho rátham sátyadharmāṇā paramé vyòmani | yám átra mitrāvaruṇávatho yuvám tásmai vṛishṭír mádhumat pinvate diváḥ || 1 || samrā́jāv asyá bhúvanasya rājatho mítrāvaruṇā vidáthe svardṛíśā | vṛishṭím vām rā́dho amṛitatvám īmahe dyā́vāpṛithiví ví caranti tanyávaḥ || 2 || samrā́jā ugrā́ vṛishabhā́ divás pátī pṛithivyā́ mitrā́váruṇā vícarshaṇī | citrébhir abhraír úpa tishṭhatho rávam dyā́m varshayatho ásurasya māyáyā || 3 || māyā́ vām mitrāvaruṇā diví śritā́ sū́ryo jyótiś carati citrám ā́yudham | tám abhréṇa vṛishṭyā́ gūhatho diví párjanya drapsā́ mádhumanta īrate || 4 || rátham yuñjate marútaḥ śubhé sukhám śū́ro ná mitrāvaruṇā gávishṭishu | rájāṅsi citrā́ ví caranti tanyávo diváḥ samrājā páyasā na ukshatam || 5 || vā́cam sú mitrāvaruṇāv írāvatīm parjányaś citrā́m vadati tvíshīmatīm | abhrā́ vasata marútaḥ sú māyáyā dyā́m varshayatam aruṇā́m arepásam || 6 ||

63

O guardians of eternal truth, and observers of truth, you stand firm in the lofty heaven. O Lord of light and Lord of bliss, whom you protect, to him the cloud sends down its sweet showers from the sky. 1

O Lord of light and bliss, imperial rulers of this world, your glory shines at the place of sacred dedication. You are the beholders of heaven. We ask of you the wealth of rain and immortality. Your radiations traverse all the realms of earth and heaven. 2

O Lord of light and bliss, imperial and mighty showerers, Lords of heaven and earth, beholders of the universe, you approach with variegated clouds to hear the sound of your praises, and cause the sky to send down rains by your well-planned mystic power. 3

O Lord of light and bliss, your device is manifested in heaven, when the sun, your wonderful weapon, moves in the firmament; him you invest in the sky with cloud and rain; and then O clouds, the sweet rain falls. 4

The cloud-bearing winds harness their easy-going chariot, O Lord of light and bliss, for the emission of water, as a hero harnesses his war-car. The fellies of their chariot traverse different spheres of sky to distribute the rain. May you, therefore, O supreme rulers, shed upon us water from heaven. 5

O Lord of light and bliss, the cloud, through your will, roars in mighty and wonderful voice, indicative of radiance, and announcing abundant food; the cloud-bearing winds thoroughly invest the clouds with their well-planned devices and along with them, you two cause the purple and spotless sky to send down rain. 6

धर्मणा मित्रावरुणा विपश्चिता व्रता रक्षेथे असुरस्य मायया ।
ऋतेन विश्वं भुवनं वि राजथः सूर्यमा धत्थो दिवि चित्र्यं रथम् ॥७॥

dhármaṇā mitrāvaruṇā vipaṣcitā vratá rakshethe ásurasya māyáyā | ṛiténa víṣvam bhúvanaṃ ví rājathaḥ sū́ryam ā́ dhattho diví cítryaṃ rátham || 7 ||

(६४) चतुःषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयोऽर्चनाना ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । (१-६) प्रथमादिषड्‌ृचामनुष्टुप्,
(७) सप्तम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥२॥ वरुणं वो रिशादसमृचा मित्रं हवामहे । परि व्रजेव बाह्वोर्जगन्वांसा स्वर्णरम् ॥१॥
ता बाहवा सुचेतुना प्र यन्तमस्मा अर्चते । शेवं हि जार्यं वां विश्वासु क्षासु जोगुवे ॥२॥
यन्नूनमश्यां गतिं मित्रस्य यायां पथा । अस्य प्रियस्य शर्मण्यहिंसानस्य सश्चिरे ॥३॥
युवाभ्यां मित्रावरुणोपमं धेयामृचा । यद्ध क्षये मघोनां स्तोतॄणां च स्पूर्धसे ॥४॥
आ नो मित्र सुदीतिभिर्वरुणश्च सधस्थ आ । स्वे क्षये मघोनां सखीनां च वृधसे ॥५॥

64.

Váruṇaṃ vo riṣā́dasam ṛicā́ mitráṃ havāmahe | pári vrajéva bāhvór jaganvā́ṅsā svàrṇaram || 1 || tā́ bāhávā sucetúnā prá yantam asmā árcate | ṣévam hí jāryàṃ vāṃ víṣvāsu kshā́su jóguve || 2 || yán nūnám aṣyā́ṃ gátim mitrásya yāyām pathā́ | ásya priyásya ṣármaṇy áhiṅsānasya saṣcire || 3 || yuvā́bhyām mitrāvaruṇopamáṃ dheyām ṛicā́ | yád dha ksh//áye maghónāṃ stotṝṇā́ṃ ca spūrdhā́se || 4 || ā́ no mitra sudītíbhir váruṇaṣ ca sadhástha ā́ | své kshá́ye maghónāṃ sákhīnāṃ ca vṛidhā́se || 5 ||

O Sapient Lord of light and bliss, by your law, you afford protection to your sacred determinations, and with the help of vital devices, and law and order you illumine the entire universe, you as well sustain the refulgent vehicle, in the sky. 7

64

We invoke you, O Lord of light and bliss, the dispeller of darkness, with this hymn, you encompass round the entire realm of light, as if with penfold of your arms. 1

May you stretch out your arms with loving kindness unto this man who adores you. I shall also be singing forth your glory and liberality in all lands. 2

That I may now move in the right direction, may I proceed by the path shown by the Lord, the divine friend of all; for every one gets protection under the charge of this affectionate friend who harms us not. 3

May I, through my devotion, obtain from you, O Lord of light and bliss, such enviable wealth, that is found in the homes of rich and devout people. 4

Come, O Lord of light; Come O Lord of bliss, with your fair splendour to our assembly, and augment the prosperity of the affluent devotee and of those who are your friends in their respective spheres. 5

युवं नो येषु वरुण क्षत्रं बृहच्च बिभृथः । उरु णो वाजसातये कृतं राये स्वस्तये ॥६॥
उच्छन्त्यां मे यजता देवक्षत्रे रुशद्गवि ।
सुतं सोमं न हस्तिभिरा पड्भिर्धावतं नरा बिभ्रतावर्चनानसम् ॥७॥

yuvám no yéshu varuṇa kshatrám bṛihác ca bibhṛitháḥ | urú ṇo vā́jasātaye kṛitáṃ rāyé svastáye || 6 || ucchántyām me yajatā́ devákshatre rúṣadgavi | sutáṃ sómaṃ ná hastíbhir ā́ paḍbhír dhāvataṃ narā bíbhratāv arcanā́nasam || 7 ||

(६५) पञ्चषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्ृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो रातहव्य ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चामनुष्टुप्, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ यश्चिकेत स सुक्रतुर्देवत्रा स ब्रवीतु नः । वरुणो यस्य दर्शतो मित्रो वा वनते गिरः ॥१॥
ता हि श्रेष्ठवर्चसा राजाना दीर्घश्रुत्तमा । ता सत्पती ऋतावृध ऋतावाना जनेजने ॥२॥
ता वामियानोऽवसे पूर्वा उप ब्रुवे सचा । स्वश्वासः सु चेतुना वाजाँ अभि प्र दावने ॥३॥
मित्रो अंहोश्चिदादुरु क्षयाय गातुं वनते । मित्रस्य हि प्रतूर्वतः सुमतिरस्ति विधतः ॥४॥

65.

Yáṣ cikéta sá sukrátur devatrā́ sá bravītu naḥ | váruṇo yásya darṣató mitró vā vánate gíraḥ || 1 || tā́ hí ṣréshṭhavarcasā rā́jānā dīrghaṣrúttamā | tā́ sátpatī ṛitāvṛídha ṛitā́vānā jáne-jane || 2 || tā́ vām iyānó 'vase pū́rvā úpa bruve sácā | sváṣvāsaḥ sú cetúnā vā́jāñ abhí prá dāváne || 3 || mitró aṅhóṣ cid ā́d urú ksháyāya gātúṃ vanate | mitrásya hí pratū́rvataḥ sumatír ásti vidhatáḥ || 4 ||

O Lord of light and bliss, may you bring us strength and abundant food in response of our those praises, which we offer. May you be largely bountiful to us in strength, prosperity, and well-being. 6

When morning flashes, may you, O holy ones, hasten to come at the realm, where bright rays shine, propitious to worshipper. May you come with your speedy legs here to my place of divine worship, where devotional love is being expressed. 7

65

He who knows Him is really the performer of noble deeds. Let him communicate that knowledge to us in the assembly of learned people. His praise songs alone are accepted by Lord of bliss and Lord of light. 1

The twin-Lord (the Lord of light and bliss) is verily excelling in radiance, the royal-pair, who hears (our prayers) from greatest distances Lord of the virtuous, strengthener of eternal laws and preserver of truth in each individual man. 2

O eternal twin-divine, approaching you, I invoke you together for protection. Possessed of good speed, we call on you to give us strength. 3

Lord of light grants occasions and assistance for improvement to the sinful even. For verily he, who performs worship and struggles with ignorance, obtains favour from this Lord of light. 4

वयं मित्रस्यावसि स्याम सप्रथस्तमे । अनेहसस्त्वोतयः सत्रा वरुणशेषसः ॥५॥
युवं मित्रेमं जनं यतथः सं च नयथः ।
मा मघोनः परि ख्यतं मो अस्माकमृषीणां गोपीथे न उरुष्यतम् ॥६॥

vayám mitrásyā́vasi syā́ma saprā́thastame | anehā́sas tvótayaḥ satrā́ váruṇaśeshasaḥ || 5 || yuvám mitremám jánam yátathaḥ sám ca nayathaḥ | mā́ maghónaḥ pári khyatam mó asmā́kam ṛíshīṇām gopīthé na urushyatam || 6 ||

(६६) षट्षष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्‌चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो रातहव्य ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ आ चिकितान सुक्रतू देवौ मर्त रिशादसा । वरुणाय ऋतपेशसे दधीत प्रयसे महे ॥१॥
ता हि क्षत्रमविह्रुतं सम्यगसुर्य१माशाते । अध व्रतेव मानुषं स्व१र्ण धायि दर्शतम् ॥२॥
ता वामेषे रथानामुर्वीं गव्यूतिमेषाम् । रातहव्यस्य सुष्टुतिं दधृक्स्तोमैर्मनामहे ॥३॥
अधा हि काव्या युवं दक्षस्य पूर्भिरद्भुता । नि केतुना जनानां चिकेथे पूतदक्षसा ॥४॥

66.

Ā́ cikitāna sukrátū devaú marta riśā́dasā | váruṇāya ṛitápeśase dadhītá práyase mahé || 1 || tā́ hí kshatrám ávihrutam samyág asuryàm ā́śāte | ádha vratéva mā́nusham svàr ṇá dhāyi darśatám || 2 || tā́ vām éshe ráthānām urvím gávyūtim eshām | rātáhavyasya sushṭutim dadhṛík stómair manāmahe || 3 || ádhā hí kā́vyā yuvám dákshasya pūrbhír adbhutā | ní ketúnā jánānām cikéthe pūtadakshasā || 4 ||

May we ever remain under the blissful Lord's shelter that extends to utmost distance. May we, the sons of blissful Lord, ever remain unmenaced and be guarded by your care. 5

May you, O Lord of light and bliss, urge this man on and to one end direct his ways of life. Deny us not when we are rich, and those of us who are the sons of seers. May you protect us in the presenting of the homage. 6

66

O wise sage, adore this twin-Lord, the performer of noble deeds and the destroyer of foes. May you offer homage to the mighty Lord of bliss, the same as the Lord of light for his delight. 1

For the twin-Lord possesses irresistible evil-subduing strength, in full perfection, and therefore the holy worship, the fire-altar, has been established among men and has been made beautiful as the sun in the sky. 2

We glorify you the twin-Lord (of light and bliss), that your chariots may travel to long distances in front of ours, blessing the pious prayers of the offerer of homage through his hymns. 3

Now, O adorable and wonderful twin-Lord, propitiated by the former praises of your worshipper, O possessor of pure vigour, approve the praises of these devotees with favour. 4

तदृतं पृथिवि बृहच्छ्रवएष ऋषीणाम् । ज्रयसानावरं पृथ्वति क्षरन्ति यामभिः ॥५॥
आ यद्वामीयचक्षसा मित्र वयं च सूरयः । व्यचिष्ठे बहुपाय्ये यतेमहि स्वराज्ये ॥६॥

tád ṛitám pṛithivi bṛihác chravaëshá ríshīṇām | jrayasānáv áram pṛithv áti ksharanti yā́mabhiḥ || 5 || ā́ yád vām īyacakshasā mítra vayáṃ ca sūráyaḥ | vyáćishṭhe bahupā́yye yátemahi svarā́jye || 6 ||

(६७) सप्तषष्टितमं सूक्तम्
(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो यजत ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ बळित्था देव निष्कृतमादित्या यजतं बृहत् । वरुण मित्रार्यमन्वर्षिष्ठं क्षत्रमाशाथे ॥१॥
आ यद्योनिं हिरण्ययं वरुण मित्र सदथः । धर्तारा चर्षणीनां यन्तं सुम्नं रिशादसा ॥२॥
विश्वे हि विश्ववेदसो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । व्रता पदेव सश्चिरे पान्ति मर्त्यं रिषः ॥३॥
ते हि सत्या ऋतस्पृश ऋतावानो जनेजने । सुनीथासः सुदानवोंऽहोश्चिदुरुचक्रयः ॥४॥
को नु वां मित्रास्तुतो वरुणो वा तनूनाम् । तत्सु वामेषते मतिरत्रिभ्य एषते मतिः ॥५॥

67.

Báḷ itthā́ deva nishkṛitám ā́dityā yajatám bṛihát | váruṇa mítrāryaman várshishṭhaṃ kshatrám āṣāthe || 1 || ā́ yád yónim hiraṇyáyaṃ váruṇa mítra sádathaḥ | dhartā́rā carshaṇīnā́ṃ yantáṃ sumnáṃ riṣādasā || 2 || víṣve hí viṣvá-vedaso váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | vratā́ padéva saṣcire pā́nti mártyaṃ rishā́ḥ || 3 || té hí satyā́ ṛitaspṛ́íṣa ṛitā́vāno jáne-jane | sunīthā́saḥ sudā́navo 'ṅhóṣ cid urucákrayaḥ || 4 || kó nú vām mitrā́stuto váruṇo vā tanū́nām | tát sú vām éshate matír átribhya éshate matíḥ || 5 ||

O earth, this is a sublime law that you reward the sages, who toil for fame. The wide-spreading twin-divine powers are here. They come with ample and over-flowing water. 5

We and the devout invoke you, O far-seeing Lord of light and bliss, we strive to reach the realm you rule, which is spacious and well-protected. 6

67

O divine forces of infinity, light, sun, ocean and law, it is true that you have obtained super-most, adorable, vast and exceeding strength, set apart for you. 1

When, O twin-Lord of light and bliss, supporter of men, destroyer of evils, you are in your brilliant causal form, you bring perfect happiness. 2

The triple-Lord, of the functions of enlightenment, of bliss and of the maintenance of universal order is possessed of omniscience. He supervises all our sacred activities, as if functioning in His diverse offices and protects the worshipper from the malignant. 3

Verily, He in his triple functions is an embodiment of truth, ordainer of law and order, protector of holy rites among men. He is leader, liberal donor, and deliverer from distress. 4

In which function of yours, O twin-Lord of light and bliss, your merit not our praise. Therefore our thoughts always tend towards you,—the thoughts of even the sages, above three-fold miseries. 5

(६८) अष्टषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो यजत ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ प्र वो॑ मि॒त्राय॑ गायत॒ वरु॑णाय वि॒पा गि॒रा । महि॑क्षत्रावृ॒तं बृ॒हत् ॥१॥
स॒म्राजा॒ या घृ॒तयो॑नी मि॒त्रश्चो॒भा वरु॑णश्च । दे॒वा दे॒वेषु॑ प्रश॒स्ता ॥२॥
ता नः॑ शक्तं॒ पार्थि॑वस्य म॒हो रा॒यो दि॒व्यस्य॑ । महि॑ वां क्ष॒त्रं दे॒वेषु॑ ॥३॥
ऋ॒तमृ॒तेन॒ सप॑न्तेषि॒रं दक्ष॑माशाते । अ॒द्रुहा॑ दे॒वौ व॑र्धेते ॥४॥
वृ॒ष्टिद्या॑वा री॒त्या॑पेष॒स्पती॒ दानु॑मत्याः । बृ॒हन्तं॒ गर्त॑माशाते ॥५॥

68.

Prá vo mitrā́ya gāyata váruṇāya vipā́ girā́ | máhikshatrāv ṛitám bṛihát || 1 || samrā́jā yā́ ghṛitáyonī mitrás cobhā́ váruṇas ca | devā́ devéshu prasastā́ || 2 || tā́ naḥ saktam pā́rthivasya mahó rāyó divyásya | máhi vāṃ kshatrám devéshu || 3 || ṛitám ṛiténa sápanteshirám dáksham āsāte | adrúhā devaú vardhete || 4 || vṛishṭídyāvā rītyā̀peshás pátī dā́numatyāḥ | bṛihántaṃ gártam āsāte || 5 ||

(६९) एकोनसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय उरुचक्रिर्ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ त्री रो॑च॒ना व॑रुण॒ त्रीँरु॒त द्यून्त्रीणि॑ मित्र धारयथो॒ रजां॑सि ।
वा॒वृ॒धा॒ना॒व॒मतिं॑ क्ष॒त्रि॒यस्यानु॑ व्र॒तं रक्ष॑माणावजु॒र्यम् ॥१॥
इरा॑वतीर्वरुण धे॒नवो॑ वां॒ मधु॑मद्वां॒ सिन्ध॑वो मित्र दुह्रे ।
त्रय॑स्तस्थुर्वृष॒भास॑स्तिसृ॒णां धि॒षणा॑नां रेतो॒धा वि द्यु॒मन्तः॑ ॥२॥

69.

Trí rocanā́ varuṇa trī́ṃr utá dyū́n trī́ṇi mitra dhārayatho rájāṅsi | vāvṛidhānā́v amátiṃ kshatríyasyā́nu vratáṃ rákshamāṇāv ajuryám || 1 || írāvatīr varuṇa dhenávo vāṃ mádhumad vāṃ síndhavo mitra duhre | tráyas tasthur vṛishabhā́sas tisṛiṇā́ṃ dhishánānāṃ retodhā́ ví dyumántaḥ || 2 ||

68

Sing loud an inspired song to the twin-Lord of light and bliss. O mighty Lord, you are Truth, you are Great. 1

The twin-Lord of light and bliss, is a sovereign ruler, original source of water, and eminently divine among Nature's forces. 2

He, the twin-Lord is able to grant us great terrestrial and celestial riches. Great is your might, O Lord, among Nature's bounties. 3

Carefully tending eternal truth with truth, He attains His vigorous might. The twin-Lord enhances His power, devoid of guile. 4

With raining sky and streaming rivers, the twin-Lord of sustenance, and granter of gifts, occupies His sovereign position. 5

69

O Lord of light and bliss, you uphold the three realms of light, the three heavens, the three regions of the earth, augmenting the force of the vigorous resplendent sun and guarding the order that lasts for ever. 1

O Lord of light and bliss, the cows are full of milk through your command; the rivers yield sweet water through your will, and there through you stand in the three world-spheres, three showerers, potent with genial moisture and splendid in their brightness. 2

प्रातर्देवीमदितिं जोहवीमि मध्यन्दिन उदिता सूर्यस्य ।
राये मित्रावरुणा सर्वतातेळे तोकाय तनयाय शं योः ॥३॥
या धर्तारा रजसो रोचनस्योतादित्या दिव्या पार्थिवस्य ।
न वां देवा अमृता आ मिनन्ति व्रतानि मित्रावरुणा ध्रुवाणि ॥४॥

prātár devī́m áditiṃ johavīmi madhyáṃdina úditā sū́ryasya | rāyé mitrāvaruṇā sarvátātéḷe tokā́ya tánayāya śáṃ yóḥ || 3 || yā́ dhartā́rā rájaso rocanásyotādityā́ divyā́ pā́rthivasya | ná vāṃ devā́ amṛ́tā ā́ minanti vratā́ni mitrā-varuṇā dhruvā́ṇi || 4 ||

(७०) सप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय उरुचक्रिर्ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ पुरूरुणा चिद्ध्यस्त्यवो नूनं वां वरुण । मित्र वंसि वां सुमतिम् ॥१॥
ता वां सम्यगद्रुह्वाणेषमश्याम धायसे । वयं ते रुद्रा स्याम ॥२॥
पातं नो रुद्रा पायुभिरुत त्रायेथां सुत्रात्रा । तुर्याम दस्यून्तनूभिः ॥३॥
मा कस्याद्भुतक्रतू यक्षं भुजेमा तनूभिः । मा शेषसा मा तनसा ॥४॥

70.

Purūrúṇā cid dhy ásty ávo nūnáṃ vāṃ varuṇa | mítra váṅsi vāṃ sumatím || 1 || tā́ vāṃ samyág adruhvāṇéshham asyāma dhā́yase | vayáṃ té rudrā syāma || 2 || pātáṃ no rudrā pāyúbhir utá trāyethāṃ sutrātrā́ | turyā́ma dásyūn tanū́bhiḥ || 3 || mā́ kásyādbhutakratū yakshám bhujemā ta-nū́bhiḥ | mā́ śéshasā mā́ tánasā || 4 ||

I invoke the divine and bright infinite at dawn, and at mid-day, when the sun is high. I worship you, O Lord of light and bliss, at all seasons, for the sake of riches, progeny, prosperity and happiness. 3

I worship you, the luminous twin-divine, upholder of the celestial and terrestrial world, and the immortal Lord of light and bliss, who never impairs his everlasting statutes. 4

70

O Lord of light and bliss, your protection extends far and wide. May I obtain your kind favour. 1

O benignant twin-Lord, may we obtain food from you for our sustenance. May we ever remain in your grace, O cosmic vital powers. 2

Protect us with your protections, preserve us with kind preservation. May we with our physical strength overcome the wicked. 3

O the twin-Lord, the worker of wondrous deeds, let us not depend upon the charity of any one else; may we, our sons and grandsons, all rely on our own efforts. 4

(७१) एकसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो बाहुवृक्त ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ आ नो गन्तं रिशादसा वरुण मित्र बर्हणा । उपेमं चारुमध्वरम् ॥१॥
विश्वस्य हि प्रचेतसा वरुण मित्र राजथः । ईशाना पिप्यतं धियः ॥२॥
उप नः सुतमा गतं वरुण मित्र दाशुषः । अस्य सोमस्य पीतये ॥३॥

71.

Á no gantam riṣādasā váruṇa mítra barháṇā | úpemám cā́rum adhvarám || 1 || víṣvasya hí pracetasā váruṇa mítra rā́jathaḥ | īṣāná pipyatam dhíyaḥ || 2 || upá naḥ sutám á́ gatam váruṇa mítra dāṣúshaḥ | asya sómasya pītáye || 3 ||

(७२) द्विसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयो बाहुवृक्त ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ आ मित्रे वरुणे वयं गीर्भिर्जुहुमो अत्रिवत् । नि बर्हिषि सदतं सोमपीतये ॥१॥
व्रतेन स्थो ध्रुवक्षेमा धर्मणा यातयज्जना । नि बर्हिषि सदतं सोमपीतये ॥२॥
मित्रश्च नो वरुणश्च जुषेतां यज्ञमिष्टये । नि बर्हिषि सदतां सोमपीतये ॥३॥

72.

Á mitré váruṇe vayám gīrbhír juhumo atrivát | ní barhíshi sadatam sómapītaye || 1 || vraténa stho dhruvákshemā dhármaṇā yātayájjanā | ni barhíshi — || 2 || mitrás ca no váruṇaṣ ca jushétam yajñám ishṭáye | ní barhíshi sadatām sómapītaye || 3 ||

71

O twin-Lord of light and bliss, scatterer of foes, destroyer of enemies, come to this our accessible sacrifice. 1

Sagacious twin-Lord of light and bliss, you reion over all; may you bestow fulness, O Lord, to our intellects. 2

Come, O Lord of light and bliss, to our effused libation, to cherish devotional love of the offerer. 3

72

We invoke Lord of light and bliss with hymns, like our threefold-free sages. May you enshrine our heart and accept our devotional love. 1

O inspirer of people, you are steady in your undertakings. May you enshrine our heart and accept our devotional love. 2

May Lord of light and bliss, accept and bless our worship for the fulfilment of our wishes, and enshrine our hearts and accept our devotional love. 3

[अथ षष्ठोऽनुवाकः ॥]

(७३) त्रिसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः पौर ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ यदद्य स्थः परावति यदर्वावत्यश्विना । यद्वा पुरू पुरुभुजा यदन्तरिक्ष आ गतम् ॥१॥
इह त्या पुरुभूतमा पुरू दंसांसि बिभ्रता । वरस्या याम्यध्रिगू हुवे तुविष्टमा भुजे ॥२॥
ईर्मान्यद्वपुषे वपुश्चक्रं रथस्य येमथुः । पर्यन्या नाहुषा युगा मह्ना रजांसि दीयथः ॥३॥
तदू षु वामेना कृतं विश्वा यद्वामनु ष्टवे । नाना जातावरेपसा समस्मे बन्धुमेयथुः ॥४॥
आ यद्वां सूर्या रथं तिष्ठद्रघुष्यदं सदा । परि वामरुषा वयो घृणा वरन्त आतपः ॥५॥

73

Yád adyá sthấḥ parāváti yád arvāváty aṣvinā | yád vā purū́ purubhujā yád antáriksha ā́ gatam || 1 || ihá tyā́ purubhū́tamā purū́ dáṅsāṅsi bíbhratā | varasyā́ yāmy ádhrigū huvé tuvíshṭamā bhujé || 2 || īrmā́nyad vápushe vápuṣ cakrám ráthasya yemathuḥ | páry anyā́ nā́hushā yugā́ mahnā́ rájāṅsi dīyathaḥ || 3 || tád ū shú vām enā́ kṛitáṃ víṣvā yád vām ánu shṭáve | nā́nā jātā́v arepásā sám asmé bándhum éyathuḥ || 4 || ā́ yád vāṃ sūryā́ ráthaṃ tíshṭhad raghushyádaṃ sádā | pári vām arushā́ váyo ghṛiṇā́ varanta ātápaḥ || 5 ||

॥१२॥ युवोरत्रिश्चिकेतति नरा सुम्नेन चेतसा ।
घर्मं यद्वामरेपसं नासत्यास्ना भुरण्यति ॥६॥
उग्रो वां ककुहो ययिः शृण्वे यामेषु संतनिः ।
यद्वां दंसोभिरश्विनात्रिर्नराववर्तति ॥७॥

yuvór átriṣ ciketati nárā sumnéna cétasā | gharmáṃ yád vām arepásaṃ nā́satyāsnā́ bhuraṇyáti || 6 || ugró vāṃ kakuhó yayíḥ ṣṛiṇvé yā́meshu saṃtaníḥ | yád vāṃ dáṅsobhir aṣvinā́trir narāvavártati || 7 ||

73

Whether, O twin-divines, sustainers of many, you are at present far remote or near at hand, or whether you are (roaming) in many places, or are in mid-air, may you please come here. 1

I invoke you for protection, hither, O widely-spread out ones, accomplisher of many great acts, most excellent, irresistible; and the mightiest. 2

You have fixed one luminious wheel of your car, the sun, for illumination while with the other you revolve in the spheres to regulate the time measure, for reckoning the age of men. 3

O the universally accepted twins, may my praise, recited to extol you be agreeable as offered. And may you, who are severally born, and are spotless show brotherly spirit to us. 4

When dawn, the daughter of the sun, ascends your rapidly-moving vehicle, then bright-waving, red-bird-like resplendent rays encompass you. 5

The three-fold free sage extols your benevolence with delightful attitude, O ever-true leaders, since through his praise of you, he fully comprehends the meaningfulness of the innocuous nature of this heat. 6

Your strong, lofty, swift and ever-progressing beams are ever since renowned to help us in all our benevolent works. O twin-divines, the best guides you ever rescue the three-fold free person by your acts. 7

मध्व ऊ षु मधूयुवा रुद्रा सिषक्ति पिप्युषी ।
यत्समुद्राति पर्षथः पक्वाः पृक्षो भरन्त वाम् ॥८॥
सत्यमिद्वा उ अश्विना युवामाहुर्मयोभुवा ।
ता यामन्यामहूतमा यामन्ना मृळयत्तमा ॥९॥
इमा ब्रह्माणि वर्धनाश्विभ्यां सन्तु शंतमा ।
या तक्षाम रथाँ इवावोचाम बृहन्नमः ॥१०॥

mádhva ū shú madhūyuvā rúdrā síshakti pipyúshī | yát samudráti párshathaḥ pakváḥ príksho bharanta vām || 8 || satyám íd vá u aṣvinā yuvám āhur mayobhúvā | tá yáman yāmahútamā yámann á mṛiḷayáttamā || 9 || imá bráhmāṇi várdhanāṣvíbhyāṃ santu ṣáṃtamā | yá tákshāma ráthāñ ivávocāma bṛihán námaḥ || 10 ||

(७४) चतुःसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः पौर ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥

कुष्ठो देवावश्विनाद्या दिवो मनावसू ।
तच्छ्रवथो वृषण्वसू अत्रिर्वामा विवासति ॥१॥
कुह त्या कुह नु श्रुता दिवि देवा नासत्या ।
कस्मिन्ना यतथो जने को वां नदीनां सचा ॥२॥

74.

Kúshṭho devāv aṣvinādyá divó manāvasū | tác chravatho vṛishaṇvasū átrir vām á vivāsati || 1 || kúha tyá kúha nú ṣrutá diví devá násatyā | kásminn á yatatho jáne kó vāṃ nadínāṃ sácā || 2 ||

O cosmic vital principles, lovers of dedicated devotion our exhilarating sweet prayers wait on you, when you traverse the limits of the firmament, and our prepared viands of the sacrifice support you. 8

O twin-divines, truly they call you the bestowers of happiness. May you be, when earnestly invoked, most prompt to hear and be gracious at our sacrifice. 9

May these praises exalting the twin-divines, be most pleasing to them. These praises are fashioned by us like a designed vehicle and we recite them aloud with fervent adoration. 10

74

O kind hearted twin-divines, who have today come from heaven upon the earth. O liberal showerers, the fully-detached sage invites you to come; may you listen to him. 1

Where is the pair of reputed divine, ever-true ones (the twin-divines)? Where are they heard of in heaven? To what worshipper do you strive to come? Who of your suppliants is with you? 2

कं या॑थः॒ कं ह॑ गच्छथः॒ कमच्छा॑ युञ्जाथे॒ रथ॑म् ।
कस्य॒ ब्रह्मा॑णि रण्यथो व॒यं वा॑मुश्मसी॒ष्टये॑ ॥३॥
पौ॒रं चि॒द्ध्यु॑द॒प्रुतं॒ पौर॑ पौ॒राय॒ जिन्व॑थः ।
यदीं॑ गृभी॒तता॑तये सिं॒हमि॑व द्रु॒हस्प॒दे ॥४॥
प्र च्यवा॑नाज्जुजु॒रुषो॑ व॒व्रिमत्कं॒ न मु॑ञ्चथः ।
युवा॒ यदी॑ कृ॒थः पुन॒रा काम॑मृण्वे व॒ध्वः॑ ॥५॥

káṃ yāthaḥ káṃ ha gachathaḥ kám áchā yuñjāthe rátham | kásya bráhmāṇi raṇyatho vayáṃ vām uṣmasīshṭáye || 3 || paurám cid dhy ùdaprútam paúra paurā́ya jínvathaḥ | yád īṃ gribhītátātaye siṅhám iva druhás padé || 4 || prá cyávānāj jujurúsho vavrím átkaṃ ná muñcathaḥ | yúva yádī krithāḥ púnar ā́ kā́mam riṇve vadhvàḥ || 5 ||

॥१४॥

अस्ति॒ हि वा॑मि॒ह स्तो॒ता स्मसि॑ वां सं॒दृशि॑ श्रि॒ये ।
नू श्रु॒तं म॒ आ ग॑त॒मवो॑भिर्वाजिनीवसू ॥६॥
को वा॑म॒द्य पु॑रू॒णामा व॑व्ने॒ मर्त्या॑नाम् ।
को विप्रो॑ विप्रवाहसा॒ को य॒ज्ञैर्वा॑जिनीवसू ॥७॥
आ वां॒ रथो॒ रथा॑नां॒ येष्ठो॑ यात्वश्विना ।
पु॒रू चि॑दस्म॒युस्ति॒र आ॑ङ्गू॒षो मर्त्ये॒ष्वा ॥८॥

ásti hí vām ihá stotá smási vāṃ saṃdríṣi ṣriyé | nū́ ṣrutám ma ā́ gatam ávobhir vājinīvasū || 6 || kó vām adyá purūṇā́m ā́ vavne mártyānām | kó vípro vipravāhasā kó yajñaír vājinīvasū || 7 || ā́ vāṃ rátho ráthānāṃ yéshṭho yātv aṣvinā | purū́ cid asmayús tirá āṅgūshó mártyeshv ā́ || 8 ||

Whom do you visit? Whom do you approach? To go to whom do you harness your car? By whose prayers are you pleased? We are anxious for your arrival. 3

O twin-divines, the citizen, may you send to the city-seers, the clouds, fully-loaded with water. May you drive them to him who is engaged in sacred acts, as hunters chase a lion in a forest. 4

You the twin-surgeons and physicians, are capable of stripping off like a cuirass the aged skins from the worn-out bodies of a decrepit devotee and rejuvenating him to attractive features alluring to ladies. 5

Here is the devotee, who glorifies you both. May we ever remain in your presence to attain prosperity, O rich in food and wealth. May you hear our prayers and come hither with your protections. 6

O twin-divines, affluent in food, and adored by enlightened, who among many mortals, has been wise to propitiate you the best? Who offers reverence to you with full faith and who propitiates you by sacrifice. 7

May your swift vehicle come hither well-disposed to us, O twin-divines the discomfiter of numerous adversaries and glorified among men. 8

शम् ऊ षु वां मधूयुवास्माकमस्तु चर्कृतिः ।
अर्वाचीना विचेतसा विभिः श्येनेव दीयतम् ॥९॥
अश्विना यद्ध कर्हि चिच्छुश्रूयातमिमं हवम् ।
वस्वीरू षु वां भुजः पृञ्चन्ति सु वां पृचः ॥१०॥

ṣám ū shú vām madhūyuvàsmā́kam astu carkṛitíḥ | arvācīnā́ vicetasā víbhiḥ ṣyenéva dīyatam || 9 || áṣvinā yád dha kárhi cic chuṣrūyā́tam imám hávam | vásvīr ū shú vām bhújaḥ pṛiñcánti sú vām pṛícaḥ || 10 ||

(७५) पञ्चसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयोऽवस्युर्ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । पङ्क्तिश्छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ प्रति प्रियतमं रथं वृषणं वसुवाहनम् ।
स्तोता वामश्विनावृषिः स्तोमेन प्रति भूषति माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥१॥
अत्यायातमश्विना तिरो विश्वा अहं सना ।
दस्रा हिरण्यवर्तनी सुषुम्ना सिन्धुवाहसा माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥२॥
आ नो रत्नानि बिभ्रतावश्विना गच्छतं युवम् ।
रुद्रा हिरण्यवर्तनी जुषाणा वाजिनीवसू माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥३॥
सुष्टुभो वां वृषण्वसू रथे वाणीच्याहिता ।
उत वां ककुहो मृगः पृक्षः कृणोति वापुषो माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥४॥

75.

Práti priyátamam rátham vríshaṇam vasuvā́hanam | stotā́ vām aṣvināv ṛíshi stómena práti bhūshati mā́dhvī máma ṣrutam hávam || 1 || atyā́yātam aṣvinā tiró víṣvā ahám sánā | dásra híraṇyavartanī súshumnā síndhuvāhasā mā́dhvī máma — || 2 || ā́ no rátnāni bíbhratāv áṣvinā gáchatam yuvám | rúdrā híraṇyavartanī jūshāṇā́ vājinīvasū mā́dhvī máma — || 3 || sushṭúbho vām vṛishaṇvasū ráthe vā́ṇīcy ā́hitā | utá vām kakuhó mṛigáḥ pṛíkshaḥ kṛiṇoti vāpushó mā́dhvī máma — || 4 ||

May our repeated adoration of you two, O lovers of homage, be conducive to us and bring happiness. May you, exceeding in wisdom, descend hitherward with fast moving wings, swift as a falcon. 9

O twin-divines, wherever you may be, hear this invocation. The excellent sacrificial offerings, mixed and prepared are for you. 10

75

The sage, your worshipper, graces with praises your beloved chariot, which is the showerer of benefits, and granter of wealth. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 1

Passing by others, come, O twin-divines, hither, so that I may ever overcome all obstructions. O destroyers of adversaries, possessors of golden chariot, distributors of wealth, and propellers of rivers, O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 2

O terrible twin-divines, possessors of golden chariot, rich in store of wealth, may you come to us rejoicing and bringing precious treasures. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 3

O showerers of wealth, the praise of your worshipper is addressed to your chariot. This sincere devoted distinguished seeker, of good physique, offers sacrificial food to you as well. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 4

बोधिन्मनसा रथ्येषिरा हवनश्रुता ।
विभिश्च्यवानमश्विना नि याथो अद्वयाविनं माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥५॥

bodhínmanasā rathyèshirá havanaṣrútā | víbhiṣ cyávānam aṣvinā ní yātho ádvayāvinam mádhvī máma — || 5 ||

॥१६॥ आ वां नरा मनोयुजोऽश्वासः प्रुषितप्सवः ।
वयो वहन्तु पीतये सह सुम्नेभिरश्विना माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥६॥
अश्विनावेह गच्छतं नासत्या मा वि वेनतम् ।
तिरश्चिदर्यया परि वर्तिर्यातमदाभ्या माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥७॥

ấ vām̐ narā manoyújó 'ṣvāsaḥ prushitápsavaḥ | váyo vahantu pītáye sahá sumnébhir aṣvinā mádhvī máma — || 6 || áṣvināv éhá gachatam nāsatyā mā́ ví venatam | tiráṣ cid aryayá pári vartír yātam adābhyā mádhvī máma — || 7 ||

अस्मिन्यज्ञे अदाभ्या जरितारं शुभस्पती ।
अवस्युमश्विना युवं गृणन्तमुप भूषथो माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥८॥
अभूदुषा रुशत्पशुराग्निरधाय्यृत्वियः ।
अयोजि वां वृषण्वसू रथो दस्रावमर्त्यो माध्वी मम श्रुतं हवम् ॥९॥

asmín yajñé adābhyā jaritáram ṣubhas patī | avasyúm aṣvinā yuvám gṛiṇántam úpa bhūshatho mádhvī máma — || 8 || ábhūd ushá rúṣatpaṣur ágnír adhāyy ṛitvíyaḥ | áyoji vām vṛishaṇvasū rátho dasrāv ámartyo mádhvī máma — || 9 ||

O twin-divines, swift-moving, watchful in spirit, listeners to invocations, may you, borne in cars, hasten with your steeds to the single-purposed inquisitive seer. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 5

O twin-divines, leaders, may your horses, harnessed at will, of wondrous beauty, and of rapid course, bring you hither with good gifts to accept devotional love. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 6

O ever-true, invincible, twin-divines, lovers of sweetness, come here, be not unpropitious. May you come from hidden regions to the place of worship. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 7

O invincible twin-divines, inspirers of benevolent deeds and thoughts, may you come and stand at this sacrifice, by the side of the singer, who longs for his protection, and lauds you both. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 8

The dawn has come, the fire ritual of the season, blazing with the oblation, has been placed upon the altar. O showerers of wealth and subduers of foes, your immortal chariot has been harnessed. O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation. 9

(७६) षट्सप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ आ भात्यग्निरुषसामनीकमुद्विप्राणां देवया वाचो अस्थुः ।
अर्वाञ्चा नूनं रथ्येह यातं पीपिवांसमश्विना घर्ममच्छ ॥१॥
न संस्कृतं प्र मिमीतो गमिष्ठान्ति नूनमश्विनोपस्तुतेह ।
दिवाभिपित्वेऽवसागमिष्ठा प्रत्यवर्तिं दाशुषे शम्भविष्ठा ॥२॥
उता यातं संगवे प्रातरह्नो मध्यंदिन उदिता सूर्यस्य ।
दिवा नक्तमवसा शंतमेन नेदानीं पीतिरश्विना ततान ॥३॥

76.

Ā bhāty agnír ushásām ánīkam úd víprāṇāṃ devayā́ vā́co asthuḥ | arvā́ñcā nūnáṃ rathyehá yātam pīpivā́ṅsam aṣvinā gharmám ácha || 1 || ná saṃskṛitám prá minīto gá-mishṭhā́nti nūnám aṣvínópastutehá | dívābhipitvé 'vasā́ga-mishṭhā práty ávartiṃ dāṣúshe ṣámbhavishṭhā || 2 || utá yātaṃ saṃgavé prātár áhno madhyáṃdina úditā sū́ryasya | dívā náktam ávasā ṣáṃtamena nédā́nīm pītír aṣvínā́ tatāna || 3 ||

इदं हि वां प्रदिवि स्थानमोक इमे गृहा अश्विनेदं दुरोणम् ।
आ नो दिवो बृहतः पर्वतादाद्भ्यो यातमिषमूर्जं वहन्ता ॥४॥
समश्विनोरवसा नूतनेन मयोभुवा सुप्रणीती गमेम ।
आ नो रयिं वहतमोत वीराना विश्वान्यमृता सौभगानि ॥५॥

idáṃ hí vām pradívi sthánam óka imé gṛihā́ aṣvine-dáṃ duroṇám | ā́ no divó bṛihatáḥ párvatād ā́dbhyó yātam ísham ū́rjaṃ váhantā || 4 || sám aṣvínor — || 5 ||

76

The fire-divine (or the sun) lights up the face of the dawns. The devout singers have started chanting pious their sacred hymns. Therefore, O twin-divines, Lords of the chariot, descending, come hither to bless and in our full-fledged sacrifice. 1

They harm not our well-accomplished sacrifice. O twin-divines, may you now come most quickly, and be glorified on this occasion. May you be present at the opening of the day, and at its close and provide protections against destitution. May you be prompt to bestow happiness upon the donor of the offering. 2

Whether you come at the milking time of the cattle, at the dawn of day, or at noon, when the sun is high, or by day or by night, come with felicitous protection. The recitation not only now, the twin-divines have always been welcome to the draught of devotional offers. 3

This home, O twin-divines, is your ancient abode; these are your mansions, this has been your dwelling. May you come from the vast firmament, overspread by clouds loaded with water, bringing to us food and strength. 4

May we be united with the twin-divines by their heartening protection, which is the source of happiness and guide to progress. May you bestow upon us, O immortals, wealth, posterity, and all auspicious things. 5

(७७) सप्तसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१८॥ प्रातर्यावाणा प्रथमा यजध्वं पुरा गृध्रादररुषः पिबातः ।
प्रातर्हि यज्ञमश्विना दधाते प्र शंसन्ति कवयः पूर्वभाजः ॥१॥
प्रातर्यजध्वमश्विना हिनोत न सायमस्ति देवया अजुष्टम् ।
उतान्यो अस्मद्यजते वि चावः पूर्वःपूर्वो यजमानो वनीयान् ॥२॥
हिरण्यत्वङ्मधुवर्णो घृतस्नुः पृक्षो वहन्ना रथो वर्तते वाम् ।
मनोजवा अश्विना वातरंहा येनातियाथो दुरितानि विश्वा ॥३॥

77.

Prātaryávāṇā prathamā́ yajadhvam purā́ gṛ́dhrād árarushaḥ pibātaḥ | prātár hí yajñám aṣvínā dadhāte prá ṣaṅsanti kaváyaḥ pūrvabhā́jaḥ || 1 || prātár yajadhvam aṣvínā hinota ná sāyám asti devayā́ ájushṭam | utā́nyó asmád yajate ví cā́vaḥ pū́rvaḥ-pūrvo yájamāno vánīyān || 2 || híraṇyatvaṅ mádhuvarṇo ghṛtásnuḥ pṛ́ksho váhann ā́ rátho vartate vām | mánojavā aṣvinā vā́taraṅhā yénātiyāthó duritā́ni víṣvā || 3 ||

यो भूयिष्ठं नासत्याभ्यां विवेष चनिष्ठं पित्वो ररते विभागे ।
स तोकमस्य पीपरच्छमीभिरनूर्ध्वभासः सदमित्तुतुर्यात् ॥४॥
समश्विनोरवसा नूतनेन मयोभुवा सुप्रणीती गमेम ।
आ नो रयिं वहतमोत वीराना विश्वान्यमृता सौभगानि ॥५॥

yó bhū́yishṭhaṃ nā́satyābhyāṃ vivésha cánishṭham pitvó rárate vibhāgé | sá tokám asya pīparac chámībhir ánūrdhvabhāsaḥ sádam ít tuturyāt || 4 || sám aṣvínor — || 5 ||

77

Adore the two (the twin-divines), the first to come at early dawn. Let them relish the drink before the other greedy withholders get it, for the twin-divines verily claim the morning homage. The ancient sages extol them before the break of day. 1

Adore the twin-divines, at early dawn and offer them these oblations; the evening is not the time for adoring these divines, it is unacceptable to them. Beside ourselves, if another propitiates them, the worshipper, who is foremost would be most highly favoured. 2

O twin-divines, plated with gold, honey-tinted, water-shedding, laden with food, quick in speed as thought, rapid as the tempest, such a chariot of yours approaches wherewith you travel over all obstacles and obstructions. 3

He, who serves most often the ever-true twin-divines, gives to them the sweetest food at the offerings, and supplements all this with his dedicated works, secures, by his such actions, the welfare of his son, and he always has the advantage over them who enkindle no sacred fires. 4

May we be united with the twin-divines, and be blessed by their special protection, which is the source of happiness and the guide to progress. May you bestow upon us, O immortals, wealth and all auspicious things. 5

(७८) अष्टसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सप्तवध्रिर्ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्योष्णिक्, (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचस्त्रिष्टुप्, (५-९) पञ्चम्यादिपञ्चानाञ्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१९॥ अश्विनावेह गच्छतं नासत्या मा वि वेनतम् । हंसाविव पततमा सुताँ उप ॥१॥
अश्विना हरिणाविव गौराविवानु यवसम् । हंसाविव पततमा सुताँ उप ॥२॥
अश्विना वाजिनीवसू जुषेथां यज्ञमिष्टये । हंसाविव पततमा सुताँ उप ॥३॥
अत्रिर्यद्वामवरोहन्नृबीसमजोहवीन्नाधमानेव योषा ।
श्येनस्य चिज्जवसा नूतनेनागच्छतमश्विना शंतमेन ॥४॥

78.

Áṣvināv éhá gachatam̱ násatyā mā́ ví venatam | haṅsā́v iva patatam ā́ sutā́ñ úpa || 1 || áṣvinā hariṇā́v iva gaurā́v ivā́nu yávasam | haṅsā́v iva — || 2 || áṣvinā vājinīvasū jushéthām̱ yajñám ishṭáye | haṅsā́v iva — || 3 || átrir yád vām avaróhann ṛibísam ájohavīn nā́dhamāneva yóshā | ṣyenásya cij jávasā nū́tanenā́gachatam aṣvinā ṣám̱tamena || 4 ||

॥२०॥ वि जिहीष्व वनस्पते योनिः सूष्यन्त्या इव ।
श्रुतं मे अश्विना हवं सप्तवध्रिं च मुञ्चतम् ॥५॥
भीताय नाधमानाय ऋषये सप्तवध्रये ।
मायाभिरश्विना युवं वृक्षं सं च वि चाचथः ॥६॥
यथा वातः पुष्करिणीं समिङ्गयति सर्वतः ।
एवा ते गर्भ एजतु निरैतु दशमास्यः ॥७॥

ví jihīshva vanaspate yóniḥ sū́shyantyā iva | ṣrutám me aṣvinā hávam̱ saptávadhrim̱ ca muñcatam || 5 || bhītā́ya nā́dhamānāya ṛíshaye saptávadhraye | māyā́bhir aṣvinā yuvám̱ vṛikshám̱ sám̱ ca ví cācathaḥ || 6 || yáthā vā́taḥ pushkaríṇīm̱ samiñgáyati sarvátaḥ | evā́ te gárbha ejatu niraítu dáṣamāsyaḥ || 7 ||

78

O twin-divines, come hither to us. O ever-true, be not ill-disposed. Descend like a pair of swans to cherish our devotional love. 1

Like a pair of deer, O twin-divines, like a pair of wild cattle on fresh pasture, like a pair of swans, descend to cherish our devotional love. 2

O twin-divines, rich in nourishment, may you associate with us in our benevolent deeds for prosperity. May you descend like a pair of swans to cherish our devotional love. 3

When a sagacious person, escaping by your assistance from the dark cavern of Nescience, entreats you, like a wailing woman, you come to him with the most fresh and auspicious rapidity of the falcon. 4

Open, O Lord of plants, like the womb of a parturient female, and O twin-divines, hear my invocation, and release the person from the clutches of sinful impulses of seven organs (five sense organs and mind and intellect). 5

O twin-divines, by your devices rent up the tree of darkness and shatter for the liberation of the terrified, imploring seer, who is in the gripe of sinful impulses of seven organs. 6

As the wind ruffles the pool of lotus on every side, so may your womb be stimulated, and the conception of ten months come forth. 7

यथा वातो यथा वनं यथा समुद्र एजति ।
एवा त्वं दशमास्य सहावेहि जरायुणा ॥८॥
दश मासाञ्छशयानः कुमारो अधि मातरि ।
निरैतु जीवो अक्षतो जीवो जीवन्त्या अधि ॥९॥

yáthā vā́to yáthā vánam yáthā sam udrá éjati | evá tvám daṣamāsya sahā́vehi jaráyuṇā || 8 || dáṣa mā́sāñ chaṣayānáḥ kumāró ádhi mātári | niraítu jīvó ákshato jīvó jívantyā ádhi || 9 ||

(७९.) एकोनाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सत्यश्रवा ऋषिः । उषा देवता । पङ्क्तिश्छन्दः ॥

॥२१॥ महे नो अद्य बोधयोषो राये दिवित्मती ।
यथा चिन्नो अबोधयः सत्यश्रवसि वाय्ये सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥१॥
या सुनीथे शौचद्रथे व्यौच्छो दुहितर्दिवः ।
सा व्युच्छ सहीयसि सत्यश्रवसि वाय्ये सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥२॥
सा नो अद्याभरद्वसुर्व्युच्छा दुहितर्दिवः ।
यो व्यौच्छः सहीयसि सत्यश्रवसि वाय्ये सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥३॥
अभि ये त्वा विभावरि स्तोमैर्गृणन्ति वह्नयः ।
मघैर्मघोनि सुश्रियो दामन्वन्तः सुरातयः सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥४॥

79.

Mahé no adyá bodhayósho rāyé divítmatī | yáthā cin no ábodhayaḥ satyáṣravasi vāyyé sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 1 || yā́ sunīthé ṣaucadrathé vy aúcho duhitar divaḥ | sā́ vy ùcha sáhīyasi satyáṣravasi v. s. á. || 2 || sā́ no adyā́bharád-vasur vy ùchā duhitar divaḥ | yó vy aúchaḥ sáhīyasi satyáṣravasi — || 3 || abhí yé tvā vibhāvari stómair gṛiṇánti váhnayaḥ | maghaír maghoni suṣríyo dā́manvantaḥ surātáyaḥ sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 4 ||

As the wind, as the wood, as the ocean are agitated, so also may you, a gestation of ten months, invested with the uterine membrance, descend. 8

May the child, who has reposed for ten months in the bosom of his mother, come forth, alive, unharmed, living, form a living parent. 9

79

O radiant dawn, awaken us today for ample riches in like manner, as you have awakened us in days of old, O dawn, nobly born and one sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, may you be kind to people, who are seekers of truth and weavers of knowledge. 1

O dear daughter of heaven, who awakens men treading on right path and who are pure-hearted, nobly-born, and one sincerely praised for the gift of vigour. May you be kind to people, who are seekers of truth and weavers of knowledge. 2

O daughter of heaven, bestower of opulence, awaken us today, O nobly-born and one sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, may you be kind to people who are seekers of truth and weavers of knowledge. 3

O bounteous dawn, bestower of wealth, nobly-born goddess, and one sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, those devotees, who offer homage and praise you with sacred hymns, become prosperous with affluence. 4

यच्चिद्धि ते गणा इमे छदयन्ति मघत्तये ।
परि चिद्वष्टयो दधुर्ददतो राधो अह्रयं सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥५॥

yác cid dhí te gaṇá imé chadáyanti maghÁttaye | pári cid váshṭayo dadhur dádato rá́dho áhrayam sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 5 ||

॥२२॥

ऐषु धा वीरवद्यश उषो मघोनि सूरिषु ।
ये नो राधांस्यह्रया मघवानो अरासत सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥६॥
तेभ्यो द्युम्नं बृहद्यश उषो मघोन्या वह ।
ये नो राधांस्यश्व्या गव्या भजन्त सूरयः सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥७॥
उत नो गोमतीरिष आ वहा दुहितर्दिवः ।
साकं सूर्यस्य रश्मिभिः शुक्रैः शोचद्भिरर्चिभिः सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥८॥

aíshu dhā vīrávad yáṣa úsho maghoni sūríshu | yé no rádhāṅsy áhrayā maghávāno árāsata sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 6 || tébhyo dyumnám bṛihád yáṣa úsho maghony á́ vaha | yé no rádhāṅsy áṣvyā gavyá́ bhájanta sūráyaḥ sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 7 || utá no gómatīr ísha á́ vahā duhitar divaḥ | sākáṃ sú́ryasya raṣmíbhiḥ ṣukraíḥ ṣócadbhir arcíbhiḥ sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 8 ||

व्युच्छा दुहितर्दिवो मा चिरं तनुथा अपः ।
नेत्त्वा स्तेनं यथा रिपुं तपाति सूरो अर्चिषा सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥९॥
एतावद्वेदुषस्त्वं भूयो वा दातुमर्हसि ।
या स्तोतृभ्यो विभावर्युच्छन्ती न प्रमीयसे सुजाते अश्वसूनृते ॥१०॥

vy ùchā duhitar divo má́ ciráṃ tanuthā ápaḥ | nét tvā stenáṃ yáthā ripúṃ tápāti sú́ro arcíshā sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 9 || etá́vad véd ushas tvám bhú́yo vā dátum arhasi | yá́ stotṛíbhyo vibhāvary uchántī ná pramíyase sújāte áṣvasūnṛite || 10 ||

O nobly-born goddess, and one sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, those worshippers, who applaud you for wealth, obtain ever-lasting riches, and liberally give it to others. 5

O affluent, nobly-born goddess, and one sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, bestow upon these devout adorers food and posterity, so that, they, the opulent, may without hesitation give liberally their ever lasting riches to us. 6

O affluent dawn, nobly-born, and sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, bring wealth and abundant food to those, who are liberal givers, and bestow upon us riches of horses and cattle. 7

O daughter of heaven, nobly-born, and sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, bring us food and cattle, and come along with the pure, shining, and refulgent rays of the sun. 8

O dawn, the daughter of heaven, nobly-born, and sincerely praised for the gift of vigour, may you shine forth; please delay not our sacred rite, and let not the sun with fervent heat scorch you as one punishes a thief, or subdues an enemy. 9

O dawn, nobly-born and praised for the gift of vigour, you give whatever indeed has been solicited, and even more. You are radiant one always dawning upon your admirers and have never been cruel to them. 10

(८०) अशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः सत्यश्रवा ऋषिः । उषा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ द्युतद्यामानं बृहतीमृतेन ऋतावरीमरुणप्सुं विभातीम् ।
देवीमुषसं स्वरावहन्तीं प्रति विप्रासो मतिभिर्जरन्ते ॥१॥
एषा जनं दर्शता बोधयन्ती सुगान्पथः कृण्वती यात्यग्रे ।
बृहद्रथा बृहती विश्वमिन्वोषा ज्योतिर्यच्छत्यग्रे अह्नाम् ॥२॥
एषा गोभिररुणेभिर्युजानास्रेधन्ती रयिमप्रायु चक्रे ।
पथो रदन्ती सुविताय देवी पुरुष्टुता विश्ववारा वि भाति ॥३॥
एषा व्येनी भवति द्विबर्हा आविष्कृण्वाना तन्वं पुरस्तात् ।
ऋतस्य पन्थामन्वेति साधु प्रजानतीव न दिशो मिनाति ॥४॥
एषा शुभ्रा न तन्वो विदानोर्ध्वेव स्नाती दृशये नो अस्थात् ।
अप द्वेषो बाधमाना तमांस्युषा दिवो दुहिता ज्योतिषागात् ॥५॥
एषा प्रतीची दुहिता दिवो नॄन्योषेव भद्रा नि रिणीते अप्सः ।
व्यूर्ण्वती दाशुषे वार्याणि पुनर्ज्योतिर्युवतिः पूर्वथाकः ॥६॥

80.

Dyutádyāmānam bṛihatím ṛiténa ṛitávarīm aruṇápsuṃ vibhātím | devím ushásaṃ svàr āváhantīm práti vípräso matíbhir jarante || 1 || eshá jánaṃ darṣatá bodháyantī sugán patháḥ kṛiṇvatí yāty ágre | bṛihadrathá bṛihatí viṣvaminvóshá jyótir yachaty ágre áhnām || 2 || eshá góbhir aruṇébhir yujānásredhantī rayím áprāyu cakre | pathó rádantī suvitáya deví purushṭutá viṣvávārā ví bhāti || 3 || eshá vyènī bhavati dvibárhā āvishkṛiṇvāná tanvàm purástāt | ṛitásya pánthām ánv eti sādhú prajānatíva ná díṣo mināti || 4 || eshá ṣubhrá ná tanvò vidānórdhvéva snātí dṛiṣáye no asthāt | ápa dvésho bádhamānā támāṅsy ushá divó duhitá jyótishágāt || 5 || eshá pratīcí duhitá divó nṝín yósheva bhadrá ní riṇīte ápsaḥ | vyūrṇvatí dāṣúshe váryāṇi púnar jyótir yuvatíḥ pūrváthākaḥ || 6 ||

80

Wise devotees welcome with hymns the divine dawn, who brings sun-light. She is sublime and follows with earnest truthfulness the eternal order. She illuminates all the parameters of space and time, whilst she is tinted with purple-pink and is refulgent. 1

The lovely dawn awakens men, and precedes the sun, making the pathways easy to be travelled. Riding in a spacious chariot, vastly expanding everywhere, she diffuses splendour at the day's beginning. 2

Harnessing the red rays to her car, unwearied, she brings perpetual riches. Praised by all and cherished by everyone, she shines, manifesting the paths that lead to happiness. 3

Lucidly white, she occupies two regions (the upper and the middle firmament), and displays her form from the east. She closely follows the path assigned by Nature's order, and with her perfect awareness, she never fails in appearing in the right quarters. 4

Exhibiting her person like a well-attired damsel, she stands before our eyes, inclining like a woman just out of the bath. Dispersing the dark glooms, the dawn, the daughter of heaven comes to us with radiance. 5

The daughter of heaven, the dawn, tending to the west, puts forth her beauty like a well-dressed woman, bestowing precious treasures upon the offerer of adoration. She, ever youthful, brings back the light as she has been doing for all times. 6

(८१) एकाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । सविता देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ युञ्जते मन उत युञ्जते धियो विप्रा विप्रस्य बृहतो विपश्चितः ।
वि होत्रा दधे वयुनाविदेक इन्मही देवस्य सवितुः परिष्टुतिः ॥१॥
विश्वा रूपाणि प्रति मुञ्चते कविः प्रासावीद्भद्रं द्विपदे चतुष्पदे ।
वि नाकमख्यत्सविता वरेण्योऽनु प्रयाणमुषसो वि राजति ॥२॥
यस्य प्रयाणमन्वन्य इद्ययुर्देवा देवस्य महिमानमोजसा ।
यः पार्थिवानि विममे स एतशो रजांसि देवः सविता महित्वना ॥३॥

81.

Yuñjáte mána utá yuñjate dhíyo víprā víprasya bṛi-ható vipaṣcítaḥ | ví hótrā dadhe vayunāvíd éka ín mahí devásya savitúḥ párishṭutiḥ || 1 || víṣvā rūpáṇi práti muñ-cate kavíḥ prásāvīd bhadráṃ dvipáde cátushpade | ví ná-kam akhyat savitá váreṇyó 'nu prayáṇam usháso ví rājati || 2 || yásya prayáṇam ánv anyá íd yayúr devá devásya mahimánam ójasā | yáḥ párthivāni vimamé sá étaṣo rájāṅsi deváḥ savitá mahitvaná || 3 ||

उत यासि सवितस्त्रीणि रोचनोत सूर्यस्य रश्मिभिः समुच्यसि ।
उत रात्रीमुभयतः परीयस उत मित्रो भवसि देव धर्मभिः ॥४॥
उतेशिषे प्रसवस्य त्वमेक इदुत पूषा भवसि देव यामभिः ।
उतेदं विश्वं भुवनं वि राजसि श्यावाश्वस्ते सवितः स्तोममानशे ॥५॥

utá yāsi savitas tríṇi rocanótá sū́ryasya raṣmíbhiḥ sám ucyasi | utá rátrīm ubhayátaḥ pá-rīyasa utá mitró bhavasi deva dhármabhiḥ || 4 || utéṣishe prasavásya tvám éka íd utá pūshá bhavasi deva yáma-bhiḥ | utédáṃ víṣvam bhúvanaṃ ví rājasi ṣyāvā́ṣvas te sa-vita stómam ānaṣe || 5 ||

81

The wise yogins concentrate their minds; and concentrate their thoughts as well in the Supreme Reality, which is omnipresent, great and omniscient. He alone, knowing their functions, assigns to the sense organs their respective tasks. Verily, great is the glory of the divine creator. 1

The wise creator, the Supreme Enlightenment, arrays himself in all forms. He brings forth what is good for biped and quadruped. The adorable creator illumines the heaven's high vault and continues to shine even after the departure of the Dawn (the first flashes of the inner conscience). 2

He is divine and resplendent; from Him alone the other gods, the sense organs, proceed to receive their majesty with power. He verily by His greatness has measured out the terrestrial regions. 3

You either traverse, O creator, the three regions (mental, vital and physical), or combine in one the entire radiations from the Sun of the innermost realms; and you pass between the night on either side. O divine creator, you are the Supreme measure of all through your benevolent actions. 4

You alone rule over the actions of living beings; you are nourisher. O divine creator on your own accord, you are sovereign over the whole world. The most intellectual and active devotee offers you praise, O creator. 5

(८२) द्व्यशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेयः श्यावाश्व ऋषिः । सविता देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चोऽनुष्टुप्, (२-९) द्वितीयाद्यष्टानाञ्च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥२५॥ तत्सवितुर्वृणीमहे वयं देवस्य भोजनम् । श्रेष्ठं सर्वधातमं तुरं भगस्य धीमहि ॥१॥
अस्य हि स्वयशस्तरं सवितुः कच्चन प्रियम् । न मिनन्ति स्वराज्यम् ॥२॥
स हि रत्नानि दाशुषे सुवाति सविता भगः । तं भागं चित्रमीमहे ॥३॥
अद्या नो देव सवितः प्रजावत्सावीः सौभगम् । परा दुःष्वप्न्यं सुव ॥४॥
विश्वानि देव सवितर्दुरितानि परा सुव । यद्भद्रं तन्न आ सुव ॥५॥

82.

Tát savitúr vriṇīmahe vayáṃ devásya bhójanam | sré-shṭhaṃ sarvadhấtamaṃ túram bhágasya dhīmahi || 1 || ásya hí sváyaṣastaraṃ savitúḥ kác caná priyám | ná minánti svarájyam || 2 || sá hí rátnāni dāṣúshe suvấti savitấ bhágaḥ | tám bhāgáṃ citrám īmahe || 3 || adyấ no deva savitaḥ pra-jấvat sāvīḥ saúbhagam | párā dushvápnyaṃ suva || 4 || víṣ-vāni deva savitar duritấni párā suva | yád bhadráṃ tán na ấ suva || 5 ||

॥२६॥ अनागसो अदितये देवस्य सवितुः सवे । विश्वा वामानि धीमहि ॥६॥
आ विश्वदेवं सत्पतिं सूक्तैरद्या वृणीमहे । सत्यसवं सवितारम् ॥७॥
य इमे उभे अहनी पुर एत्यप्रयुच्छन् । स्वाधीर्देवः सविता ॥८॥
य इमा विश्वा जातान्याश्रावयति श्लोकेन । प्र च सुवाति सविता ॥९॥

ánāgaso áditaye devásya savitúḥ savé | víṣvā vāmấni dhīmahi || 6 || ấ viṣvádevaṃ sátpatiṃ sūktaír adyấ vriṇī-mahe | satyásavaṃ savitấram || 7 || yá imé ubhé áhanī purá éty áprayuchan | svādhír deváḥ savitấ || 8 || yá imấ víṣvā jātány āṣrāváyati ṣlókena | prá ca suvấti savitấ || 9 ||

82

We adore the excellent glory of the divine creator. May we receive from the gracious Lord that glory which is excellent, all-sustaining and victorious over adversities. 1

No one can impair the supremacy of this creator, who is most glorious and loved by all. 2

That creator Lord, who is gracious too, shall bestow precious treasure on the dedicated devotee. We implore to obtain our due portion from Him. 3

Grant us today, O divine creator, affluence and progeny, and drive away the painful dreams. 4

Remove from us, O divine creator all the ills and evils and bestow upon us that, what is good and beneficial. 5

Let us be free from sin towards that Mother of Infinity in the realm of the divine creator; may we obtain all lovely riches from Him. 6

We glorify today with hymns the illuminator of all, the protector of the good, the embodiment of eternal truth, and the supreme creator. 7

We glorify the divine object of meditation, the creator, who is ever vigilant, and precedes both the night of dissolution and the day of creation. 8

The one who reveals His knowledge through the sacred hymns to all the living beings, and inspires them with life in this Creator. 9

(८३) त्र्यशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । पर्जन्यो देवता । (१, ५-८, १०) प्रथमर्चः पञ्चम्यादिचतसृणां दशम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (२-४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य जगती, (९) नवम्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२७॥ अच्छा वद तवसं गीर्भिराभिः स्तुहि पर्जन्यं नमसा विवास ।
कनिक्रदद्वृषभो जीरदानू रेतो दधात्योषधीषु गर्भम् ॥१॥
वि वृक्षान्हन्त्युत हन्ति रक्षसो विश्वं बिभाय भुवनं महावधात् ।
उतानागा ईषते वृष्ण्यावतो यत्पर्जन्यः स्तनयन्हन्ति दुष्कृतः ॥२॥
रथीव कशयाश्वाँ अभिक्षिपन्नाविर्दूतान्कृणुते वर्ष्याँ३ अह ।
दूरात्सिंहस्य स्तनथा उदीरते यत्पर्जन्यः कृणुते वर्ष्यं१ नभः ॥३॥

83.

Ácha vada tavásam gīrbhír ābhí stuhí parjányam námasá vivāsa | kánikradad vrishabhó jīrádānū réto dadhāty óshadhīshu gárbham || 1 || ví vrikshān hanty utá hanti rakshíso víśvam bibhāya bhúvanam maháavadhāt | utánāgā īshate vríshnyāvato yát parjánya stanáyan hánti dushkrítah || 2 || rathíva káśayáśvāṅ abhikshipánn āvír dūtán krinute varshyāṅ áha | dūrát siṅhásya stanáthā úd īrate yát parjányah krinuté varshyàm nábhah || 3 ||

प्र वाता वान्ति पतयन्ति विद्युत उदोषधीर्जिहते पिन्वते स्वः ।
इरा विश्वस्मै भुवनाय जायते यत्पर्जन्यः पृथिवीं रेतसावति ॥४॥
यस्य व्रते पृथिवी नंनमीति यस्य व्रते शफवज्जर्भुरीति ।
यस्य व्रत ओषधीर्विश्वरूपाः स नः पर्जन्य महि शर्म यच्छ ॥५॥

prá vắtā vắnti patáyanti vidyúta úd óshadhīr jíhate pínvate svàh | írā víśvasmai bhúvanāya jāyate yát parjányah prithivím rétasávati || 4 || yásya vraté prithiví nánnamīti yásya vraté śaphávaj járbhurīti | yásya vratá óshadhīr viśvárūpāh sá nah parjanya máhi śárma yacha || 5 ||

83

I address the mighty cloud, with these invocations; I praise him with adoration. I worship him with reverence, who is the thunderer, the showerer, the bountiful, and who lays, in the plants, the seed for germination. 1

He strikes down the trees, he destroys the wickeds, he terrifies the whole world, by his mighty weapon. Even the tender-hearted innocent shudders at the appearance of the thundering cloud, smiting the wicked. 2

As a charioteer, urges the horses with his whip, so the cloud speedens the rain, and the entire sky is covered with water, and all the space resounds with the roar of a lion. 3

The winds burst forth, the lightnings flash, the plants shoot up, and the firmament is covered to the full. The food springs in abundance for all creatures when the cloud fertilizes the soil with showers. 4

O cloud, under your supremacy the earth grows fertile; under your regime, all creatures thrive; and at your behest, plants assume all colours; may you grant happiness and prosperity. 5

॥२८॥

दिवो नो वृष्टिं मरुतो ररीध्वं प्र पिन्वत वृष्णो अश्वस्य धाराः ।
अर्वाङेतेन स्तनयित्नुनेह्यपो निषिञ्चन्नसुरः पिता नः ॥६॥
अभि क्रन्द स्तनय गर्भमा धा उदन्वता परि दीया रथेन ।
दृतिं सु कर्ष विषितं न्यञ्चं समा भवन्तूद्वतो निपादाः ॥७॥
महान्तं कोशमुदचा नि षिञ्च स्यन्दन्तां कुल्या विषिताः पुरस्तात् ।
घृतेन द्यावापृथिवी व्युन्धि सुप्रपाणं भवत्वघ्न्याभ्यः ॥८॥
यत्पर्जन्य कनिक्रदत्स्तनयन् हंसि दुष्कृतः ।
प्रतीदं विश्वं मोदते यत्किं च पृथिव्यामधि ॥९॥
अवर्षीर्वर्षमुदु षू गृभायाकर्धन्वान्यत्येतवा उ ।
अजीजन ओषधीर्भोजनाय कमुत प्रजाभ्योऽविदो मनीषाम् ॥१०॥

divó no vrishtím maruto rarīdhvam prá pinvata vríshṇo áṣvasya dhā́rāḥ | arvā́ñ eténa stanayitnúnéhy apó nishiñcánn ásuraḥ pitā́ naḥ || 6 || abhí kranda stanáya gárbham ā́ dhā udanvátā pári dīyā ráthena | drítiṃ sú karsha víshitaṃ nyàñcaṃ samā́ bhavantūdváto nipādā́ḥ || 7 || mahā́ntaṃ kóṣaṃ úd acā ní shiñca syándantāṃ kulyā́ víshitāḥ purástāt | ghriténa dyā́vāprithivī́ vy ùndhi suprapāṇám bhavatv aghnyā́bhyaḥ || 8 || yát parjanya kánikradat stanáyan háṅsi dushkrítaḥ | prátīdáṃ víṣvam modate yát kíṃ ca prithivyā́m ádhi || 9 || ávarshīr varshám úd u shū́ gribhā́vākar dhánvāny átyetavā́ u | ájījana óshadhīr bhójanāya kám utá prajā́bhyo 'vido manīshā́m || 10 ||

(८४) चतुरशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिऋषिः । पृथिवी देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२९॥

बळित्था पर्वतानां खिद्रं बिभर्षि पृथिवि ।
प्र या भूमिं प्रवत्वति मह्ना जिनोषि महिनि ॥१॥

84.

Báḷ itthā́ párvatānāṃ khidrám bibharshi prithivi | prá yá bhū́mim pravatvati mahnā́ jinóshi mahini || 1 ||

Send down for us, O divine winds, the rain from heaven. Let the showers of fertility descend in torrents from the speedy clouds. Come down with thunder, O cloud, sprinkling water; you verily are our protector. 6

May you cry aloud and impregnate the plants. May you traverse the sky with your water-laden chariot and draw open the tight-fastened, downward turned water-bags, and may the high and low places be made level. 7

May you lift up the mighty treasury, pour down its contents, let the rivers flow unimpeded forward. May you saturate with water both heaven and earth, and let there be abundant bererage for the cattle. 8

When, O clouds, sounding loud and thundering, you destroy the wicked, this universe and all that is upon the earth regoices. 9

You have poured down sufficiently; now withhold the rain. You have made the deserts very much fed for utilization. You have given birth to plants for man's nourishment. Verily you have obtained laudation from all living creatures. 10

84

O firmament verily you sustain the rending tools of the clouds and give delight to the earth, with your might and greatness. 1

स्तोमा॑सस्त्वा विचारिणि॒ प्रति॑ ष्टोभन्त्य॒क्तुभिः॑ ।
प्र या वाजं॒ न हेष॑न्तं पे॒रुमस्य॑स्यर्जुनि ॥२॥
दृ॒ळ्हा चि॒द्या वन॒स्पती॑न्क्ष्म॒या दर्ध॑र्ष्योज॑सा ।
यत्ते॑ अ॒भ्रस्य॑ वि॒द्युतो॑ दि॒वो वर्ष॑न्ति वृ॒ष्टयः॑ ॥३॥

stómāsas tvā vicāriṇi práti shṭobhanty aktúbhiḥ | prá yā́ vā́jaṃ ná héshantam perúm ásyasy arjuni || 2 || drilhā́ cid yā́ vánaspátīn kshmayā́ dárdharshy ójasā | yát te abhrásya vidyúto divó várshanti vrishṭáyaḥ || 3 ||

(८५) पञ्चाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । वरुणो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३०॥ प्र स॒म्राजे॑ बृ॒हद॑र्चा गभी॒रं ब्रह्म॑ प्रि॒यं वरु॑णाय श्रु॒ताय॑ ।
वि यो ज॒घान॑ शमि॒तेव॒ चर्मो॑प॒स्तिरे॑ पृथि॒वीं सूर्या॑य ॥१॥
वने॑षु॒ व्य१॒॑न्तरि॑क्षं ततान॒ वाज॒मर्व॑त्सु॒ पय॑ उ॒स्रिया॑सु ।
हृ॒त्सु क्रतुं॒ वरु॑णो अ॒प्स्व१॒॑ग्निं दि॒वि सूर्य॑मदधा॒त्सोम॒मद्रौ॑ ॥२॥
नी॒चीन॑बारं॒ वरु॑णः॒ कव॑न्धं॒ प्र स॑सर्ज॒ रोद॑सी अ॒न्तरि॑क्षम् ।
तेन॒ विश्व॑स्य॒ भुव॑नस्य॒ राजा॒ यवं॒ न वृ॒ष्टिर्व्यु॑नत्ति॒ भूम॑ ॥३॥

85.

Prá samráje brihád arcā gabhīrám bráhma priyáṃ váruṇāya ṣrutā́ya | ví yó jaghā́na ṣamitéva cármopastíre prithivī́ṃ sū́ryāya || 1 || váneshu vy àntárikshaṃ tatāna vā́jam árvatsu páya usríyāsu | hritsú krátuṃ váruṇo apsv àgníṃ diví sū́ryam adadhāt sómam ádrau || 2 || nīcī́nabāraṃ váruṇaḥ kávandham prá sasarja ródasī antáriksham | téna víṣvasya bhúvanasya rā́jā yávaṃ ná vrishṭír vy ùnatti bhū́ma || 3 ||

O wanderer in various ways, your worshippers praise you with sacred songs; O bright-hued, you drive the swollen cloud like a neighing horse. 2

When showers pour down from the clouds in the shining sky, you sustain the forest-trees with your solid rocks and mighty strength. 3

85

May you offer a sublime, solemn and loving prayer to the great and imperial sovereign Virtuous Lord, who spreads the firmament as a bed for the sun, like a hunter spreading out the skin of the dead. 1

He extends the firmament over the tree-tops, puts vigour in horses, milk in kine, devotion in hearts, fire in the waters, the sun in heaven and herbs on mountains. 2

The Virtuous Lord open the clouds and set free the water to flow downward, for the sake of heaven, the earth and the mid-region. Thence He becomes the supreme monarch of all the world, watering the soil as the rain bedews the barley. 3

उनत्ति भूमिं पृथिवीमुत द्यां यदा दुग्धं वरुणो वष्ट्यादित् ।
समभ्रेण वसत पर्वतासस्तविषीयन्तः श्रथयन्त वीराः ॥४॥
इमामू ष्वासुरस्य श्रुतस्य महीं मायां वरुणस्य प्र वोचम् ।
मानेनेव तस्थिवाँ अन्तरिक्षे वि यो ममे पृथिवीं सूर्येण ॥५॥

unátti bhúmim prithivím utá dyám yadá dugdhám váruṇo váshṭy ád ít | sám abhréṇa vasata párvatāsas tavishīyántaḥ ṣrathayanta vīraḥ || 4 || imám ū shv āsurásya ṣrutásya mahím māyám váruṇasya prá vocam | máneneva tasthiváñ antárikshe ví yó mamé prithivím sū́ryeṇa || 5 ||

इमामू नु कवितमस्य मायां महीं देवस्य नकिरा दधर्ष ।
एकं यदुद्ना न पृणन्त्येनीरासिञ्चन्तीरवनयः समुद्रम् ॥६॥
अर्यम्यं वरुण मित्र्यं वा सखायं वा सदमिद्भ्रातरं वा ।
वेशं वा नित्यं वरुणारणं वा यत्सीमागश्चकृमा शिश्रथस्तत् ॥७॥
कितवासो यद्रिरिपुर्न दीवि यद्वा घा सत्यमुत यन्न विद्म ।
सर्वा ता वि ष्य शिथिरेव देवाधा ते स्याम वरुण प्रियासः ॥८॥

imám ū nú kavítamasya māyám mahím devásya nákir á dadharsha | ékam yád udná ná priṇánty énīr āsiñcántīr avánayaḥ samudrám || 6 || aryamyàm varuṇa mitryàm vā sákhāyam vā sádam íd bhrátaram vā | veṣám vā nítyam varuṇáraṇam vā yát sīm ágaṣ cakrimá ṣiṣráthas tát || 7 || kitavā́so yád riripúr ná dīví yád vā ghā satyám utá yán ná vidmá | sárvā tá ví shya ṣithiréva devádhā te syāma varuṇa priyásaḥ || 8 ||

When the most virtuous Lord is pleased to grant milk, He moistens the sky, the land and earth. Thereupon the mountains clothe their summits with the rain clouds and the vital winds, exulting in their strength, compel the clouds to release water. 4

I declare this great marvelous accomplishment of the renowned and virtuous Lord, who abiding in the mid-space has meted the firmament by the sun as if by a measure. 5

No one can counteract the device of the most sagacious divine Lord, whereby with all their floods, the lucid rivers would never be able to fill even one sea, wherein they have been pouring their waters so long. 6

O most Virtuous Lord, if we have even sinned against a benefactor, or a friend, a comrade, a host, a brother, or neighbour or a stranger, may you remove that stigma from us. 7

If like gamesters, who cheat at play, we have done a wrong, knowingly or without knowledge, then may you, O Virtuous Lord, cast all these sins away like loosened fetters so that we become dear to you. 8

(८६) षडशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भौमोऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । इन्द्राग्नी देवते । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चामनुष्टुप् (६) षष्ठ्याश्च विराट्पूर्वा छन्दसी ॥

॥३३॥

इन्द्राग्नी यमवथ उभा वाजेषु मर्त्यम् ।
दृळ्हा चित्स प्र भेदति द्युम्ना वाणीरिव त्रितः ॥१॥
या पृतनासु दुष्टरा या वाजेषु श्रवाय्या ।
या पञ्च चर्षणीरभीन्द्राग्नी ता हवामहे ॥२॥
तयोरिदमवच्छवस्तिग्मा दिद्युन्मघोनोः ।
प्रति द्रुणा गभस्त्योर्गवां वृत्रघ्न एषते ॥३॥

86.

Indrāgnī yám ávatha ubhá vájeshu mártyam | drilhá cit sá prá bhedati dyumná vánīr iva tritáḥ || 1 || yá prítanāsu dushṭárā yá vájeshu ṣraváyya | yá páñca carshaṇír abhìndragní tá havamahe || 2 || táyor íd ámavac chávas tigmá didyún maghónoḥ | práti drúṇā gábhastyor gávām vṛitraghná éshate || 3 ||

ता वामेषे रथानामिन्द्राग्नी हवामहे ।
पती तुरस्य राधसो विद्वांसा गिर्वणस्तमा ॥४॥
ता वृधन्तावनु द्यून्मर्ताय देवावदभा ।
अर्हन्ता चित्पुरो दधेंऽशेव देवावर्वते ॥५॥
एवेन्द्राग्निभ्यामहावि हव्यं शूष्यं घृतं न पूतमद्रिभिः ।
ता सूरिषु श्रवो बृहद्रयिं गृणत्सु दिधृतमिषं गृणत्सु दिधृतम् ॥६॥

tá vām éshe ráthānām indrāgní havāmahe | pátī turasya rádhaso vidváṅsā gírvaṇastamā || 4 || tá vṛidhántāv ánu dyún mártaya deváv adábhā | árhantā cit puró dadhé 'ṅṣeva deváv árvate || 5 || evéndrāgníbhyām áhāvi havyáṃ ṣūshyàṃ ghṛitáṃ ná pūtám ádribhiḥ | tá sūríshu ṣrávo bṛihád rayím gṛiṇátsu didhṛitam ísham gṛiṇátsu didhṛitam || 6 ||

86

The mortal man, whom you O twin-Lord of celestial and Terrestrial fires, help in the conflict of life, breaks through even the strongly guarded treasures of adversaries as the speech of the sage of three-fold virtues. 1

We invoke the Twin-lord of celestial and Terrestrial fires, who is irrestible at the time of strife of life and worthy to be renowned in frays and protects the five classes of people. 2

Overpowering is His strength; and bright and sharp is the weapon in the hands of that bounteous Lord. He goes with speed as if on a chariot for the destruction of evil and recovery of the lost wisdom. 3

We invoke you to the battle of life, O twin-Lord of celestial and terrestrial fires, the all-knowing, the one most deserving of adorations and master of quick-coming wealth. 4

O invincible, spotless Twin-lord of celestial and Terrestrial fires, who inspires mortal men to grow every day, I pay tribute to you O the shining ones for the sake of obtaining vigour. 5

The invigorating homage of devotional love, sweet as the elixir extracted by the grinding stones, and pure as butter, has been offered to the twin-Lord of celestial and Terrestrial fires. May He grant fame and ample wealth to the enlightened and dedicated devotees and food to those who sing His praise. 6

(८७) सप्ताशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यात्रेय एवयामरुदृषिः । मरुतो देवताः । अतिजगती छन्दः ॥

प्र वो महे मतयो यन्तु विष्णवे मरुत्वते गिरिजा एवयामरुत् ।
प्र शर्धाय प्रयज्यवे सुखादये तवसे भन्ददिष्टये धुनिव्रताय शवसे ॥१॥
प्र ये जाता महिना ये च नु स्वयं प्र विद्मना ब्रुवत एवयामरुत् ।
क्रत्वा तद्वो मरुतो नाधृषे शवो दाना मह्ना तदेषामधृष्टासो नाद्रयः ॥२॥
प्र ये दिवो बृहतः शृण्विरे गिरा सुशुक्वानः सुभ्व एवयामरुत् ।
न येषामिरी सधस्थ ईष्ट आँ अग्नयो न स्वविद्युतः प्र स्पन्द्रासो धुनीनाम् ॥३॥

87.

Prá vo mahé matáyo yantu víshṇave marútvate girijā́ evayā́marut | prá śárdhāya práyajyave sukhādáye taváse bhandádishṭaye dhúnivratāya śávase || 1 || prá yé jātā́ mahinā́ yé ca nú svayám prá vidmánā bruváta evayā́marut | krátvā tád vo maruto nā́dhṛíshe śávo dānā́ mahnā́ tád eshām ádhṛishṭāso nā́drayaḥ || 2 || prá yé divó bṛihatáḥ śṛiṇviré girā́ suśúkvanaḥ subhvà evayā́marut | ná yéshām írī sadhástha íshṭa ā́ñ agnáyo ná svávidyutaḥ prá syandráso dhúnīnām || 3 ||

स चक्रमे महतो निरुरुक्रमः समानस्मात्सदस एवयामरुत् ।
यदायुक्त त्मना स्वादधि ष्णुभिर्विष्पर्धसो विमहसो जिगाति शेवृधो नृभिः ॥४॥
स्वनो न वोऽमवान्रेजयद्वृषा त्वेषो ययिस्तविष एवयामरुत् ।
येना सहन्त ऋञ्जत स्वरोचिषः स्थारश्मानो हिरण्ययाः स्वायुधास इष्मिणः ॥५॥

sá cakrame maható nír urukramáḥ samānásmāt sádasa evayā́marut | yadā́yukta tmánā svā́d ádhi shṇúbhir víshpardhaso vímahaso jígāti śévṛidho nṛíbhiḥ || 4 || svanó ná vó 'mavān rejayad vṛíshā tveshó yayís tavishá evayā́marut | yéna sáhanta ṛiñjáta svárocisha sthā́raśmāno hiraṇyáyāḥ svāyudhā́sa ishmíṇaḥ || 5 ||

87

May the praises recited by the dexterous mortal reach to the all-pervading Lord, associated with vital principles. He is strong, adorable, brilliantly-adorned, vigorous, praise-loving, who rushes on with joy to scatter dark evil forces. 1

The dexterous mortal glorifies those vital forces which are manifested with greatness and appear speedily and spontaneously with the knowledge. O vital principles, your infinite liberality is beyond comprehension. You look unmoveable and stable like mountains. 2

The dexterous mortal glorifies those clouds with praise, who, while descending from vast midspace look brilliant and happy; and who hear our invocation. No one can yoke them and disturb in their commonhome. They, like self-radiant fires, are impellers of rivers. 3

When the dexterous mortal of vital energy harnesses his own chariot with rapid horses at his residence, the rain-shedding clouds, emulous, vigorous and conferers of happiness, sally forth from their spacious common dwelling space. 4

Let not the tremendous roar of your approach, which is mighty, the announcer of rain, the shedder of light diffusive and loud, shudder the dexterous mortal of vital energy. O clouds, you are victorious, self-luminous, decked with gold, well-equipped with weapons and provider of food, and such as you are, you always successfully accomplish your functions. 5

३४॥ अपारो वो महिमा वृद्धशवसस्त्वेषं शवोऽवत्वेवयामरुत् ।
स्थातारो हि प्रसितौ संदृशि स्थन ते न उरुष्यता निदः शुशुक्वांसो नाग्नयः ॥६॥
ते रुद्रासः सुमखा अग्नयो यथा तुविद्युम्ना अवन्त्वेवयामरुत् ।
दीर्घं पृथु पप्रथे सद्म पार्थिवं येषामज्मेष्वा महः शर्धांस्यद्भुतैनसाम् ॥७॥
अद्वेषो नो मरुतो गातुमेतन श्रोता हवं जरितुरेवयामरुत् ।
विष्णोर्महः समन्यवो युयोतन स्मद्रथ्यो न दंसनाप द्वेषांसि सनुतः ॥८॥
गन्ता नो यज्ञं यज्ञियाः सुशमि श्रोता हवमरक्ष एवयामरुत् ।
ज्येष्ठासो न पर्वतासो व्योमनि यूयं तस्य प्रचेतसः स्यात दुर्धर्तवो निदः ॥९॥

apāró vo mahimá vriddhaṣavasas tveshám ṣávo 'vatv evayámarut | sthátāro hí prásitau saṃdríṣi sthána té na urushyata nidáḥ ṣuṣukváṅso nágnáyaḥ || 6 || té rudrásaḥ súmakha agnáyo yathā tuvidyumná avantv evayámarut | dīrghám prithú paprathe sádma párthivaṃ yéshām ájmeshv á maháḥ ṣárdhāṅsy ádbhutainasām || 7 || adveshó no maruto gātúm étana ṣrótā hávaṃ jaritúr evayámarut | víshṇor maháḥ samanyavo yuyotana smád rathyò ná daṅsánápa dvéshāṅsi sanutáḥ || 8 || gántā no yajñáṃ yajñiyāḥ suṣámi ṣrótā hávam arakshá evayámarut | jyéshṭhāso ná párvatāso vyòmani yūyáṃ tásya pracetasaḥ syáta durdhártavo nidáḥ || 9 ||

O possessor of vast strength, may your unbounded greatness, and brilliant vigour protect the dexterous mortal, for obviously you help in the time of trouble and save us from shame and insult. You are in your glory like the glowing fire. 6

May these cosmic vital principles, worthy of worship, and resplendent like fire, protect the dexterous mortal. It is through them that this etheral dwelling has been extended and made spacious and luminous. They are free from faults and manifest mighty energies when they proceed at the time of confrontations. 7

O vital principles, free of enmity, come to our place of chanting hymns and hear the prayers of the devout dexterous mortal. O brave divines, may you who are the associates and devotees of all-pervading Lord, drive away like warriors seated on chariots, our hidden foes with your valour. 8

O adorable vital principles, come to our sacred worship with grace and hear the invocation of unprotected dexterous mortal. You as formidable as lofty mountains for defence. O profoundly wise ones, may you strike the wicked impulses without compassions. 9

NOTES

Book IV : Hymns 1—58

Book V : Hymns 1—87

चतुर्थं मण्डलम् : सूक्तानि १—५८

पञ्चम मण्डलम् : सूक्तानि १—८७

NOTES ON BOOK IV

Hymn-1

1. Samanyavah devasah —learned people, accompanying temper (मन्युना क्रोधेन सह वर्त्तमानः विद्वास —Daya.); emulous gods, gods vieing with (स्पर्धमानाः इन्द्रादयो देवाः —Sayana: समन्यव.—मन्यु स्पर्धा, तया सह वर्त्तमाना); Nature's bounties. vieing with each other.

Compare the morphic nature of the first three verses of this hymn with the hymn I. 127 to I. 138: their metres are long as asti, atijagati, dhrti, atisakvari, atidhrti, or atyasti. at the end of the last line in each verse, there is a repetition of three or four words. It is difficult to say whether there is a deliberate, pure or even a partially modified sense in these repetitions.

4. The verse occurs as Yv. XXI. 3.

5. See also Yv. XXI. 4; av vaksua, come to (संगच्छस्व —Daya.); destroy (अवयज, विनाशयेत्यर्थः—Sayana).

Varunam—Varuna-krtam (वरुणकृत) – a disease inflicted by Varuna (जलोदरादिरोगं or dropsy)—Sayana. Dayananda translates varunam as, to a venerable teacher or preceptor (श्रेष्ठमध्यापकमुपदेशक वा).

7. Janimani, जनिमानि = जन्मानि ; three births of agni, as fire on the earth, vayu or lightning in the midspace, and surya in heaven. See Ṛv I, 95. 3; X. 45.1

8. Hiranya-rathah, one with shining or attractive form, one whose chariot or character is similar to that of the sun (तेजोमय रमणीय स्वरूपम्सूर्य इव रथो व्यवहारो यस्य स.—Daya.); one with golden chariot—Sayana.

Ramsu-jihvah, one with beautiful flame (Sayana) or one with charming speech (Daya.).

Rohidasvah, one with red horses or red fast moving vehicles (रोहिता रक्तादि गुणविशिष्टा अग्न्यादयोऽश्वा आशुगामिनो यस्य स.—Daya.).

10. अच्छा=अच्छ (a Vedic usage); आभिमुख्येन—Sayana.

11. Budhne=in the midspace (Daya.), rajasah, of the group of worlds (लोकसमूहस्य—Daya.; but of the midspace—अन्तरिक्षस्य—Sayana). Sayana translates budhne as in the root, or on the earth (बुध्ने मूले पृथिव्यां).

Nilhe, नीले=नीडे, गृहे=in the house, in the nest; in the sky (नीले निलये नभसि; also नीले कुलायभूतेऽन्तरिक्षे वैद्युताग्नि रूपेण वर्तमानं त्वा—in verse 12.—Sayana

Vrsabhasya, of the sun; of the showerer (Daya.); of the clouds (Sayana).

13. Asmakam pitarah, of our forefathers; of our protectors or guardians. According to Sayana, here is a reference to angirasah, the first discoverers of fire by attrition, or the fire-technicians in general.

16. Te manvata prathamam nama dhenoh—they first comprehended the name of dhenu, speech (धेनो: वाण्या.—Daya.; वाच: सम्बन्धि —Sayana), name or नाम is स्तुतिसाधक शब्दमात्र mere sound as the means of praise. The passage is also supposed to refer to the ancient nomenclature of cattle as uttered by Angirasas: तेऽङ्गिरस प्रथम पुरातन नाम एहि सुरभि गुग्गुलगन्धिनीति धेनोर्नामधेयं मन्यत उच्चारयामासु: ।

Trih-sapta, $3 \times 7 = 21$; 21 Vedic metres extending from the Gayatri of 24 syllables to one of 104 syllables, (21 jewels stolen by Panis, मातृभूम्या स्वभूतानि पणिभिरपहृतानि त्रि सप्त रत्नानि विन्दन्—Sayana).

20. See Yv. XXXIII. 16; Aditi, continuous interspace अखण्डमन्तरिक्षम् —Daya.; the earth, the support of all — विश्वेषां देवानामदितिर्भूम्यानीय, आधारभूत इति यावत्—Sayana.

Hymn-2

1. Martyesu, among the mortal (मर्त्येषु मरणधर्मेषु—Daya.); or among mortal sense-organs (वागादीन्द्रियेषु निहित—Sayana); agni in man becomes the speech; —अग्निर्वाग्भूत्वा मुखं प्राविशत्—Ait. Up. II. 4.

3. Antariyase yusmansca devan visa a ca marttan, thou goest between you, the gods and men; this probably refers to Agni; he goes to men to receive the oblations and then to gods (Nature's bounties), of whom he is one, to bear it to them.

4. Aryamanam, to a judge, न्यायाधीशं; varunam, to a venerable, श्रेष्ठगुणं; mitram, to a friend, सखायम्; Indra—Visnu, lightning and sutratman, सूत्रात्मन्, marutah, to wind or air, Asvinaw, pair of sun and moon (Daya.).

6. Tatapate, ततपते, O, the protector of the extensive, ततानां विस्तृतानां पालक (Daya.); burns or heats with a load of wood-fuel, ततपते काष्ठभारेण तापयति (Sayana).

Hemyavan, one who relates to hemya; hema=water (Nigh. I. 12) —हेम्न्युदके भवारात्रिविद्यते यस्य (Daya.); स्वर्णनिर्मित कक्षावान्, having a girth made of gold (Sayana).

Dosa—in the night.

11. Cittim acittim cinavat, may the sage (Agni) distinguish that which is to be known; चित्ति=ज्ञातव्यं पुण्यं, the virtue worth knowing;—कृतचयानां क्रियां; or चित्ति=ज्ञानं knowledge; अचित्ति अज्ञानं or nescience=अकृतचयनां क्रियां (Daya.).

15. Divasputra angiraso bhavema, may we, O Angirasa, be the sons of heaven or may we, the sons of heaven, be Angirasas.

Angirasas bhavema, possessed of a superior power.

(Angirasas are known as the sons of Aditya;—that which was his seed was first manifested as Aditya, thence in succession, those which were the cinders became the angirasas: अङ्गिरसामादित्यपुत्रत्वमेवमाम्नायते—"तस्य यद्रेतसः प्रथममुददीप्यत तदसावादित्योऽभवत्" इत्युपक्रम्य—'येऽङ्गारा आसस्तेऽङ्गिरसोऽभवन्—Ait. Br. III. 34).

According to Dayananda, sons of enlightenment or light, like vital breaths (प्रकाशस्य तनयः प्राणा इव).

Adrim rujema dhaninam, this according to the tradition alludes to the rock in which the cows were hidden. Adri is also cloud (Nigh.I.10) or a cloud-like adversary (मेघमिव शत्रुम् —Daya.).

16. See Yv. XIX. 69; अधा=अध (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः)

Ksama, the earth (Nigh. I.1)

17. जनिमा=जनिम=जन्म, janma, of the birth.

Gavyam, with go or with speech (गोमयं वाङ्मयम्).

18. Ayutheva ksumati pasvah akhyat devanam yaj-janima anti, lit. like a herd in food—possessing animals, he has said to the gods that which birth is nigh (Wilson); or herd of cattle in a well-stored stall, (To Sayana, janima is go—Sangham, or herd of cattle); Yutha, army (सैन्यानीव—Daya.)

Urvasih, of widely pervading ones (बहुव्यापिकाः—Daya.); progeny (प्रजाः—Sayana).

Sayana refers to Nir. V.13. Urvasi is a naiad (so called because she pervades wide regions (उरु+√अश्; to pervade), or she pervades by means of thighs (उरु+√अश् to pervade); or her desire is great (उरु+√वश् to desire).

Akṛpran, were made able (कल्पन्ते—Daya.; ताभिरानीताभिर्गोभिः क्लृप्ताः समर्था अभवन्—Sayana).

(The urvasi has nothing to do with the current pauranik legend of the birth of an apsara of the name from the thigh of Narayana.)

Hymn-3

1. Pura tanayitnoh acittat; lit. before the unconsciousness of the thunderbolt; implying a state of unconsciousness, or death as sudden as if the work of the thunderbolt (tanayitnoh—विद्युतः—Daya.; अशनिः ह्रास्मिकः—Sayana; acittat—अविद्यमानं चित्तं यत्र तस्मात्—Daya.; नि विद्यते चित्तं यस्मिन् तदचित्तम् । चित्तोपलक्षित सर्वेन्द्रियोपसंहारो मरणमिति यावत् । तस्मान्मरणात्—Sayana.)

2. Jayeva patya usati suvasah—See Ṛv. I. 124.7; IV. 3.2; X. 71, 4; 91.13; Nir. I.19; III.5); cf जायापतिमिव वाससा, Av. XVIII. 2.51—as a wife attached to her husband puts on elegant garments (हृद्या स्त्रीव स्वामिने कामयमाना शोभनवस्त्रालकृता—Daya.).

The beautiful usage of this analogy is in reference to speech, X. 71.4; 5, as given in Nir. I.19. चकृमा = चकृम a Vedic license (संहितायामिति दीर्घः).

5. Agah, fault (अपराधम्—Daya.; तत् पापम्—Sayana).

6. Nṛghne rudraya, to the man-destroying Rudra, to the destroyer of the sin—committing men, i.e. of wicked ones; नृणां पापकृतां हन्त्रे —Sayana.

7. Sarave—to the one, destroyer of the wicked (दुष्टानां हिंसकाय—Daya.; शरवे, शृणाति पक्वा ओषधीरति शरुः शरत् संवत्सरः, यद्वा, हिंसिका निर्ऋतिः—Sayana). Saru (शरु) means Nirṛti the female personification of evil.

The word Nirṛti is also used in masculine (Taittiriya Yajus, I. 2.11), meaning an evil spirit disturbing sacrifice.

10. Pṛsni, the sun (Sayana); midspace (Daya.); sky (Nigh. I. 4)

11. Svar abhavat jate agnau, the sun was manifest as agni was engendered.

16. Nivacana kavyani, ever to-be-recited poems (नितरामुच्यन्तेऽर्था यैस्तानि कविभिर्निमितानि, the poems with extensive or deep meanings—Daya.).

Hymn-4

For verses 1, 14, and 15 see Nir. VI. 12; V. 15 and III. 21 respectively.

1. Raja-iva ama-van ibhena—in this phrase ibhena (इभेन)=by fearless (host), गतभयेन or=by an elephant (हस्तिना); ama van (अमऽवान्)= strong one (बलवान्); also a minister (अमात्य) or an associate; or sickness, inflicting it on the foe.

May thy powerful throng extensive. Powerful throng (पाजः) is so called from being maintained (√पाल्).

Prasitih (प्रसितिः) is so called from being fastened (प्र—√सि); noose or net. Go like a king who is accompanied by his ministers, or who is the terror of his enemies, or who is followed by his own attendants, i.e. retinue, well-nourished with food, or (riding) a fearless elephant. Hastening after the net with speed: the word (तृष्वी) is a synonym of quick; it is derived from √तृ (to pass over), or from √त्वर् to hurry.

Thou shootest, transfix the fiends with darts that burn, or enflame or crush down most fiercely. (Nir. VI.12).

Tṛsvim, towards one who is thirsty (पिपासिताम्—Daya.), the one who is speedy or in hurry (तृषु=क्षिप्र=quick; Nigh. II.15; it is derived from √तृ, to pass over, or from √ त्वर, to hurry; तरतेर्वा त्वरतेर्वा—Nir. VI. 12).

Prasitim, bondage (बन्धनम्—Daya.); net-thread (प्रसितिः प्रसहनात्तन्तुर्वा जालं वा); a trained or well-equipped army (प्रकृष्टां सेनाम्—Sayana).

2. See Yv. XIII.10.

3. See Yv. XIII.11.

Spasah, touching (rays); prati-spasah, opposing rays (परबाधकान् रश्मीन् चारान्—Sayana; visṛja, to direct against.

Spasah etc. may also mean caran, चारान् or spies, sent to discriminate between true and false (सत्यानृत विवेकार्थं—Sayana).

4. Aratim, to the enemy (शत्रुं—Daya.); one who annuls or prevents our donation (अरातिमदानं वा कुरुते—Sayana); one who makes a gift no gift.

5. Jamim-ajamim, whether kindred or allied, (बन्धुमबन्धुम्—Sayana; whether enjoying or non-enjoying भोगमभोगम्—Daya.); or repeated or not repeated (पुनरुक्तमपुनरुक्तम्—Mahidhara); or repeatedly chastized or not chastized (पुनस्पुनस्ताडितमताडितं वा—Mahidhara). See Yv. XIII.13.

6. Ivate brahmane—for the one who knows the Veda, and is well-versed in knowledge (विद्याभ्याप्ताय वेदविदे—Daya.); a Brahman coming quickly—Wilson. (cf. ईवते गमनवते कल्याणहेतुभूतागमनाय; ब्रह्मणे परिवृढाय—Sayana).

Aryah vi durah abhi dyaut, shines upon his door or dwelling; also the worshipper specially shines over his house (अर्यः कर्मणामनुष्ठाता सः यजमानो दुरो गृहानभिविद्यौत् विशेषेण द्योतते—Sayana).

8. Su-asvah tva su-rathah, good horses and good chariots. Sayana regards the phrase as metaphorical for, may we, being with sons and grandsons, and the like worship thee (उपलक्षणमेतत् । पुत्रपौत्रादिभिः सहिताः सन्तः त्वाम्, मर्जयेम् मलंकुर्याम्—Sayana).

9. Kridantah, practising for efficiency in defence sciences and war technique (धनुर्वेद विद्याशिक्षणाय युद्धाय शस्त्राभ्यासं कुर्वन्तः—Daya.); playing and enjoying the company of children and grand-children in family (स्वे स्वे गृहे पुत्रपौत्रादिभिः सह सक्रीडमानाः—Sayana). Compare with क्रीळन्तौ पुत्रैर्नप्तृभिर्मोदमानौ स्व गृहे, X.85.42.

11. Gotamat, from gauh (गौरिति स्तोतृनाम—Nigh. III.16), i.e. from the one who praises the superb knowledge (अतिशयेन गौः सकलविद्यास्तोता तस्मात् —Daya.).

13. Payavah, the protectors (रक्षकाः—Daya. and Sayana).

Mamateyam, one with egoism, attachment and the like (ममभावो ममता तस्या इदम्—Daya.; one born of Mamata (ममता). For Mamateya, see I.147.3; 158.6; and IV.4.13. Sayana refers to an allusion to the well-known filthy legend of the birth of Dirghatamas, who in this verse is said to have recovered his sight by worshipping Agni.

14. Anusthuya Krnuhi ahrayana,—ahrayana (अह्रयाण) means one whose car does not bring shame to him. "Make it presently O (Agni) whose car does not bring shame (Nir.V.15). We have a similar word hara-yana (हर-याण), meaning, one whose car is moving constantly (VIII.25.22).

15. Aya to agne samidha vidhema, aya (अया) and ena (एना, with this) are synonyms of reference, "With this faggot, we worship thee, O Agni. Here it (अया) is in the feminine gender. Ena (एना, with this) is in neuter gender as in एना वो अग्नि (with this, to us, O Agni—VII.16.1). See Nir. III.21.

Hymn-5

For verse 7, see Nir. VI.18.

2. Svadhavan, an affluent person with plenty of food etc. (बह्वन्नाद्यैश्वर्यः—Daya.; स्वधावान् अस्मद् दत्तेन हविर्लक्षणेनान्नेन तद्वान् सन्—Sayana.).

3. Dvi-barhah, filling both; the elderly one, with learning and humility both (द्वाभ्यां विद्याविनयाभ्यां वृद्धः—Daya.); one who fills both the positions, middle and the best (द्विबर्हाः द्वयोर्मध्यमोत्तमयोः स्थानयोः परिवृढः—Sayana).

Apagulham, secret or mysterious (गुप्तम् — Daya.; अत्यन्तरहस्यम्—Sayana).

Manisam = ज्ञातव्यम्, what is to be known (Sayana, who connects it with साम, Sama); = intellect (प्रज्ञाम्—Daya.).

5. Anṛtah, अनृताः, मानससत्यरहिताः false in thought—Sayana); false in speech.

Asatyah, असत्याः (false in speech, वाचिक सत्यरहितामनसा वाचाग्निमभजमानाः —Sayana; false in behaviour, असत्याचरणाः—Daya.).

Idam padam ajanata gabhiram, creates the deep abyss (Daya.); gabhiram padam is अगाधं नरक स्थानम्—a deep abyss of hell (Sayana).

6. Sapta dhatu, the seven elements, the seven sorts of animals ग्राम्यारण्य भेदेन सप्तप्रकारम्/सप्तग्राम्याः पशवः सप्तारण्याः—TS. VII.2.2.1). Dayananda interprets as the seven metals, gold etc., the Yajurveda (XVIII.13) enumerates six metals: हिरण्यं, अय, श्यामं, लोहं, सीसं and त्रपु, to which silver may also be added to make seven; the Veda also refers to five tame animals: cow, horse, goat, sheep and man.

7. Sasasya caṛman adhin pṛsneh, above the immovable heaven or midspace (pṛsni = midspace—Daya). Sasasya is the sleeping one स्वपत.—Daya.).

Agre rupa arupitam jabaru, here jabaru (जबारु) means one who grows with speed, or who grows causing others to decay, or who grows swallowing (darkness or juice), i.e., the Sun—जबारु जवमानरोहि, जरमाणरोहि वा; जरमाणरोहीति वा, जवमानरोहीति वा—Nir.VI.17.

The Sun was placed on high in the beginning of creation (जबारु जवमानमारुढम्, i.e. the sun.—Daya.).

Sayana interprets तमित् as तमेव वैश्वानरं द्युस्थानम्, i.e. the Vaisvanara, which is fire, lightning, and the sun, all the three in three regions—अग्निविद्युदादित्यास्त्रयोऽपि मतभेदेन वैश्वानर शब्दाभिधेयाः।

The Nirukta (VII.23) regards the Vaisvanara as the sun: वैश्वानरो यतते सूर्येण (Ṛv.I.98.1).

9. Maham anikam, lit. assemblage of the great maham (महाम्=महताम्; here त has been dropped as the Vedic licence—Daya.).

This refers to the solar orb; अनीकं समूहरूपं सूर्यमण्डलं वैश्वानर एवेति शेषः—Sayana). अनीकं सैन्यमिव, an assemblage like an army (Daya.).

10. Prayatasya, assiduous (perhaps the assiduous performer, or the Vaisvanara active in the form of the ahavaniya fire and the rest (Sayana).

15. Ksitir na raya puruvaro adyaut, shines like a man with opulence (राया अश्वादिधनेन, क्षितिर्न राजादिरिव—raya=raja (king); or=wealth of cattle and treasure—Sayana.

Hymn-6

1. ऊँ षु णो=ऊँ इति—सु+नः (उ वितर्के, सु शोभने, नः अस्माकम्)।

Vishvam abhi asi manma, prevalent over all that is desirable (Wilson).

Manma, spiritual knowledge (विज्ञानम्—Daya.); desirable wealth of foes (मन्म मननीयं शत्रूणां धनम्—Sayana).

Abhi asi, thou conquerest (अभि भवसि—Sayana).

3. Ghṛtaci, night (Nigh. I.7).

4. Trivistyaeti goes in the sky (आकाशे—Daya., thrice circumambulates, त्रिरावृत्य—Sayana); cf. विष्टप् (नभ इति) Nigh. I.4.

(त्रिविष्टि—त्रिरावृत्य, परि—एति, त्रिर्हि पर्यग्निः क्रियते — Agni goes round, having thrice returned; or Agni is thrice made around, implying that the fire is thrice circumambulated—Sayana).

7. Na matara-pitara nu cid istau, whose parents need not urge (Wilson) अधा=अध=अथ, after this (Daya.).

8. Svasarah dvih yam panca, ten (2×5) sisters or fingers. (द्विवारं पंचाङ्गुलयः—Daya.); the fingers employed in producing fire by attrition.

Usarbudham (उषर्बुधम्). to the one who is cognizant in the dawn (य उषसि बुध्यते तम्—Daya.; females awaking him at dawn (उषसि बुध्यमानम्—Sayana).

10. Syenasah, horses moving with the speed of hawk (श्येनः पक्षीव सद्यो गन्तारोऽश्वाः—Daya.; अश्वा इव—Sayana).

Duvasanasah, attendants (परिचारका.—Daya.; परिचरणीयाः—Sayana).

11. Akari brahma, the prayer has been composed (ब्रह्म=स्तोत्रम्; अकारि=स्माभिः कृतम्—Sayana); अकारि=क्रियते; ब्रह्म=महद्धनम्, collected a large sum—Daya.).

Hymn-7

For verses 3 and 8, see Nir. III.20 and VI.17 respectively.

1. See Yv. III.15 (according to the ritualists, agni here intended is the Ahavaniya which is kindled before the Daksina.

Apnavanah, one having children and grand-children (पुत्रपौत्रादियुक्ताः—Daya.); name of a ṛsi or seer of the family of Bhṛgu (Sayana); also putravantah, or having children, an epithet of Bhṛgus (Mahidhara).

3. Pasyanto dyamiva stṛbhih, looking at the sky with stars, as it were. In this phrase, stars are known to be stṛbhih (स्तृभिः) since they are scattered in the sky (तीर्णानीव); ṛksa (ऋक्षाः) are also stars as in "they are placed on high" (Ṛv. I.24.10), since they appear to be raised up (उदीर्णानीव). See Nir. III.20.

4. Dutam vivasvatah, messenger from the sun (विवस्वान्=the sun, —Daya.); messenger of the man, or worshipper, or yajamana (विवस्वन्त इति मनुष्यनाम Nigh. II.8); विवस्वतः मनुष्यस्य यजमानस्य—Sayana.

5. Sapta dhamabhih,=सप्तभिः धामभिः; Saptabhih, by seven vital breaths—Daya.; सप्तभिः तेजोभिः युक्तम् accompanied by seven bright ones —Sayana.

6. Vitam asritam, loved yet unapproached (Wilson); वीतं व्याप्तम्; अश्रितं=असेवितम्—Daya.

Kucid-arthinam, seeking oblations from any quarters; क्वचित् बहवोऽर्था विद्यन्ते यस्मिंस्तम्, pertaining to one, possessing great affluency —Daya.

Hymn-8

8. Ati ksipreva vidhyati, entirely obviate the removable ills (क्षिप्रेव क्षेप्याण्येव विनाशयितुमर्हाणि, दुरितानीति शेषः । अतिविध्यति=अतिविध्यतु अतिशयेन नाशयतु —Sayana).

Duta iyase pradiva uranah—uranah (उराणः) means making abundant,—"from days of yore, thou art employed as a messenger, making (the small) abundant. (Nir. VI.17.)

Hymn-9

3. Hota and pota, two of the sixteen priests (hotṛ and potṛ); also होता=दाता donor; पोता=पवित्रकर्ता, the purifier. (Daya.)

4. Uta gnah agnir adhvaryu,—here gna, is devapatni, the wife of deva, as if (agni worships the wives of the gods at the sacrifice, gna is going; it may designate the adhvaryu,

> ग्नाः देवपत्नीर्यजति, यष्टा भवतीत्यर्थः । ग्ना
> गच्छन् अध्वर्युर्भवति । उतो अपि च सोऽग्निः —Sayana.

5. Upavakta, preceptor of preceptors (Daya.); the director of the ritual, i.e. the priest who pronounces the formulae of sacrifice; he is often the Brahma (ब्रह्मा) or the sadasya (सदस्य), directing what is to be done (Wilson).

8. See Yv. III.36.

दूलभः=दुःऽदभः=one which is damaged with difficulty (Daya.).

Hymn-10

1. See Yv. XV.44.

Agne tam adva asvam, perhaps, Agni is the bearer of oblations as a horse is of burthens (वोढारमश्वमिव तथा हविषो वाहकम्—Sayana). The text is elliptical (Wilson).

2,3. See Yv. XV. 45-46.

3. भवा=भव (अत्र द्वयचोतस्तिङ इति दीर्घः)

8. No nabhih sadane, नाभिः is the centre of gravity of body (मध्याङ्गम्—Daya.); नाभि.=बन्धनम्, binding or fastening; सदने=देवानां स्थाने, in the place of gods; सस्मिन्नूधन् (sasmin udhan)=सर्वस्मिन् यज्ञे in every sacrifice (Sayana), udhan=आढ्ये, धनाढ्ये, the treasury. (Daya.)

Hymn-11

1. Suryasya upake, in the proximity of the Sun (i.e. by day).

Naktaya cit, by night.

2. Vepasa, by deeds of dedication, as administration etc. (Nigh. II.1; वेपस इति कर्म नामानि)।

3. Kavya,=काव्यानि; this refers (according to Sayana), to the details of the fire ritual such as bringing the deities, conveying the oblations and the like. Dayananda interprets it as the compositions of poets and learned (कविभिर्विद्वद्भिर्निर्मितानि). In the far-fetched sense, kavya refers to the offerings to the Pitṛs or manes (the degraded pauranic sense).

4. Devajutah, known or introduced by learned ones (देवैर्विदितश्चलितः —Daya.).

5. Mandrajihvam, the one with a sweet tongue (मन्द्रा आनन्दजनिका जिह्वा वाणी यस्य—Daya.); this refers to Agni, whose tongue exhilarates the devout mortals.

Damunasam, those who restrain their desires (दमनशीलम् —Daya.); the humiliator of the demons (दमूनसं रक्षसां दमनकरेण मनसोपेतम्—Sayana). For the etymology of this term, see Nir. IV.4. (दमूना दममना वा। दानमना वा। दान्तमना वा। अपि वा दम इति गृह नाम। तन्मना स्यात्। मनो मनोतेः, i.e. one who is inclined towards kindness, or one who is inclined to charity, or one who is inclined to self control; or else the word dama is a synonym of home, therefore this term may mean, one who is devoted to home. Manas is derived from √मन्, to think).

Hymn-12

2. Pusyan rayim sacate ghnan amitran, prosperous and destroying his enemies, acquires riches (Daya. and Wilson) (प्रजाभिः पशुभिश्च पुष्टः सन् स यजमानः शत्रून् हिंसन् धनं सेवते । सर्वदा पश्वादिधनसमृद्धो भवतीत्यर्थः—Sayana).

3. Bṛhatah Ksattriyasya, the possessor of great strength (महतः बलस्य—Sayana; महतः क्षात्रधर्मयुक्तस्य—Daya.).

4. Aditeh anagan, free from the defects of earth (अदितेः=भूमेः= of the earth—Sayana;=पृथिव्याः—Daya.; अनागान्=अनागसः पापरहितान्, free from sins—Sayana; अनपराधान्, free from guilt—Daya.

5. Sam yoh, शंयो, happiness produced by what is done well (सुखं सुकृताज्जनितम्—Daya.; शं पापरूपोद्रवाणां शान्तिं योः सुकृतोत्पादितं सुखम्—Sayana).

6. षिताममुञ्चता=सितां+अमुञ्चत; मुञ्चता=मुञ्चत । Gauryam=गौरी वाचम्= Speech (Nigh. I.11).

Hymn-13

1. The verse, according to Sayana, is a paraphrastic announcement, that the dawn having appeared, the morning fire is to be lighted. (Wilson)

Asvina, a pair of wind and lightning. (Daya.)

2. Yat suryam divyarohayanti, when the rays of light cause the ascent of the sun—Sayana; यं सूर्यं सवितृलोकं दिवि आरोहयन्ति—Daya.

Bhanum, ray (किरणम्).

Mitra, according to Sayana, is the deity presiding over the day, whilst Varuna presides over the night.

Varuna=water; Mitra=air or wind (Daya.).

3. Sapta yahvih, the seven great ones (सप्त महत्यः—Daya.); haritah=horses or rays (हरितः दिश इव व्याप्ताः किरणा., the rays pervading like directions—हरितः directions (दिङ्नाम—Nigh. I.6).

4. Tantum viharan, spreading thy web of rays (Sayana).

Asitam avavyayan vasma, cutting down the black abode (of night); or removing the darkness.

5. The verse is also repeated in the next hymn. (IV.14.5).

Hymn-15

1. Pari niyate, is obtained or procured; is brought. The word "परिणीयते" has a technical meaning also in fire rituals; it stands for bringing the fire taken from the household fire, wherewith to light the sacrificial fire.

Vaji, a strong horse (बलवानश्व इव—Daya.)—they load, as a horse bringing a load (Wilson).

3. See Yv. XI.25.

Pari-akramit,=परिक्राम्यति=परित. क्रामति, व्याप्नोति, taking the offerings for conveyance to gods (Wilson).

4. Sṛjaye, the battle in which the rival enemies are defeated (यः प्राप्ताञ्छत्रून् जयति तस्मिन्—Daya.); Sayana ascribes the term to a somayaji (सृञ्जयो नाम कश्चित्सोमयाजी । सञ्जयस्य यष्टृत्व तैत्तिरीया आमनन्ति—'वसिष्ठो ह सात्यहव्यो देवभागं पप्रच्छ यत्सृञ्जयान् बहुयाजिनोऽयीयजः', Vasistha Satyahavya asked Devabhaga : when thou didst cause to sacrifice the Sṛnjayas, with many sacrificers (Tait.S.VI.6, 2.2).

For Sṛnjaya, see Ṛv. VI.27.7 (स सृञ्जयाय तुर्वशं परादात्).

The Aitareya Brahmana (VII.34.9) refers to Sahadeva Saranjaya (सहदेव सारञ्जय). In later history Sṛnjaya (सृञ्जय) is the name of people, a clan, of which Daivavata was also a distinguished prince. Of course, these names are borrowed from the words originally occuring in the Vedic Texts. (For Sṛnjaya, see the Vedic Index by Macdonell and Keith).

8. Sahadevyat, one in company with learned people (Daya.); from the prince, the son of Sahadeva (Wilson).

9. Somakah, one with cool and fine temper resembling Soma or moon (Daya.); Son of Sahadeva of this name (सहदेवस्य पुत्र: कुमार: सोमक: सोमकाभिधान: —Sayana).

10. Kumaram Sahadevyam, according to Sayana, again a reference to Somaka. A pupil in company of a learned teacher, ब्रह्मचारिणं विद्वत्सहचरम्—(Daya.).

Hymn-16

For verse 11, see Nir. V.15.

1. Ṛjisi, straight forward policy (ऋजुनीति:)—Daya.; the Soma of which the essence is gone (ऋजीष शब्देन निष्पिष्टो विगतसार: सोमोऽभिधीयते—Sayana).

3. Jijanat-sapta-karun ahna cit cakruh vayuna gṛnantah etc.—this generates the seven efficient rays from heaven, which being glorified, have made manifest the objects of human perception by day (Wilson).

4. Applicable to the resplendent Lord, Indra, and the sun both.

Arkaih, by ideas or thoughts (मन्त्रैर्विचारै: —Daya.); by rays (रश्मिभि: —Sayana).

Vastoh, the day (दिनम्—Nigh.1.9) for stay or halt (निवासार्थम्—Sayana).

Dudhita=दुधितानि=दुहितानि=नाशितानि, removed, scattered.

5. Ṛjisi, =ऋजु:, made straight (Daya.); the stale Soma, निष्पिष्ट: विगतसार: सोमोऽभिधीयते—Sayana.

Also see III.46.3; IV.16.1; V.40.4; VI.17.2; 18.2; 24.1; VIII.90.5; X.89.5.

6. Sakrah, शक्र:, powerful or potent (शक्तिमान्—Daya.); potent Indra (समर्थ इन्द्र: —Sayana).

The earlier references are I.10.5; 62.4; 104.8; 177.4; III.35.10; 37.11.

Gotra—गोत्राणि=the components of cloud (मेघस्याऽवयवान्—Daya.; Nigh. I.10); गोत्राणि=अभ्राणि (clouds —Sayana).

9. Kavim, to a seer, to a wise man (विद्वांसम् —Daya ; मेधाविनम्—Sayana; Sayana refers this epithet to Kutsa, a seer. (IV.16.10).

10. Kutsa, a despised person (निन्दितः—Daya.); mythologically, the son of Ruru (रुरु), a royal saint; Kutsa is a Rajarsi. For Kutsah, see also I.106.6; X.40.6 and for Kutsa-putram X.105.11. Kutsa has also been the name of several ṛsis of the Vedic hymns, one of them is the son of Angiras, whilst we have another one, of this name as the son of Arjuna.

Sarupa vi vam cikitsat rta-cit ha nari, the truthful woman got perplexed, having seen that they were both exactly alike. The traditional mythology sees in this verse a reference to a story thus: After the destruction of the enemies of Kutsa, Indra conveyed him to his palace where Saci (शची), the wife of Indra, could not tell which was her husband, as they were both exactly alike,—of course, an absurd story.

11. Rca vajam na gadhyam yuyusan, the word gadhyam is derived from √ग्रह्, to seize. "Like food which is to be seized, they desire to unite themselves with the straight-forward." (Nir.V.15).

12. Susnam, शुष्णम्, the earlier references are : I.11.7; 33.12; 56.3; 63.3; 101.2; 103.8; 121.9; II.14.5; 19.6; and III.31.8. (शुष्कं नीरसम्—Daya.).

Kuyavam, see I.103.8; 104.3; II.19.6; IV.16.12; VI.31.3 and VII.19.2 (कुत्सिता यवा यस्य तम्—Daya.).

13. Mṛgayam, the one in search of a deer or animal (मृगयाचक्षाणम् —Daya.); name of an Asura (Sayana).

Piprum, pervading (व्यापकम्—Daya.); also see I.51.1; 101.2; 103.8; II.14.5; IV.16.13; V.29.11; VI.18.8; 20.7; VIII.32.2; X.99.11; 138.3.

Pancasat kṛsna ni vapah sahasra atkam, fifty thousand kṛsnas, or fifty thousand soldiers of dark race; atkam is pervading air.

Purah, city; city of Sambara (शम्बर—Sayana).

14. Mrgo na hasti, like the cervine elephant, also a sort of elephant like a deer, quoer, if the Sivatherium existed in the time of this hymn—Wilson.

Ayudhani, war weapons like guns and swords. (असि-भुशुण्डी-शतघ्न्यादीनि —Daya.). Perhaps here is a reference to war-weapons, quick in darting as a deer; strong as an elephant, and fierce as a lion (Daya.).

15. Svar-milhe, स्वर्मीळ्हे, here मीळ्हे=battle (=संग्राम—Nigh.II.17); a battle for peace purposes.

Ranva sudṛsi-iva pustih, good-looking (goddess) of nutrition (रमणीया सुष्ठु द्रष्टुं योग्येव पुष्टिः—Daya.). Sayana refers to the goddess Laksmi.

18. Vamadevasya, of the good looking or charming learned person (सुरूपयुक्तस्य विदुषः—Daya.).

Vajasatau, in the battle (Nigh. II.17).

19. Ajau, in the battle (Nigh. II.17).

20. Bhṛgu, the celebrated, or brilliant architects of chariots or cars (देदीप्यमानाः शिल्पिनः—Daya.).

21. नू=नु immediate, (ऋचि तुनुघेति दीर्घः—Daya.).

Akari te brahma, a new hymn (brahma) has been composed for thee (Wilson); new treasures have been procured for thee.

Hymn-17

1. Ksah, क्षाः earths (भूमयः—Daya.; Nigh. I.1; क्षा=पृथिवी).

4. Dyauh te janita manyat, heaven, thy progenitor, conceived (dyauh, like lightning—Daya.;=dyotaman, bright; janita = Prajapati —Sayana).

12. Janituh, of the progenitor, जनकस्य—Daya.; Prajapati, —Sayana.

Stanayat-bhih abhrih, thundering clouds, शब्दायमानैः घनैः सह—Daya.; वातो न जूतः etc., as the wind is driven by the thundering clouds: as the wind is impelled by thundering clouds: so Indra is influenced by the hymns of the worshippers. (Sayana)

14. Etasam=अश्वम्=horse. (Daya.; Nigh. I.14).

Also see, I.54.6; 61.15; 121.13; 168.5, II.19.5.

15. Asiknyam, at night : the entire verse consists of a small phrase; such verses are known as yajusi-pankti (याजुषी पंक्ति) or ekapada viraj (एकपद विराज), a line with ten syllables.

For other single line verses, see V.41.20; 42 17; 43.16; VI.63.11 (एकपदा त्रिष्टुप्); X.20.1.

Such one-line verses usually refer to the contents of the preceding verse, or are the untraceable remnants in the Samhitikarana (editing and compiling processes) of the Vedic texts.

16. Avate, in the well (कूपे—Daya.; Also Sayana; Nigh. III.23).

21. See the last verse of Hymn 16. नू=नु (ऋचि तुनुघेति दीर्घः—Panini, VI.3.132).

Hymn-18

The hymn represents a dialogue between Indra and Vamadeva, the higher self and the bound lower self, the jiva. Sayana converts this metaphysical dialogue to a mythological one. He refers to a legend: Vamadeva a Vedic Ṛsi, whilst yet in the womb, was reluctant to be born in the usual manner, and resolved to come into the world through his mother's side: aware of his purpose, the mother prayed to Aditi, who thereupon came, with her son Indra, to expostulate with the Ṛsi; the present hymn gives, as if, an account of this dialogue. Regarding this absurd story, Wilson says : "The interesting part of the absurd story is its accordance with the birth of Sakya (शाक्यमुनि), according to the Buddhists, who may possibly have borrowed the notion from the Veda."

3. Tvastur gṛhe apibat somam indrah—Indra drank the costly Soma at the residence of Tvastṛ (त्वष्टा). Sayana completes the story by saying that Vamadeva vindicates his own wilfulness by the example of Indra, who came to Tvastṛ's house uninvited, and by force, drank the Soma prepared for other gods.

4. Nahi nu asya pratimanam asti, there is no analogy etc. Wilson cites the legend further thus : Aditi defends her son upon the plea that, as his period of gestation was marvellous, his actions are not to be compared with those of any others.

Sahasram masah jabhara saradah ca purvih—(सहस्र =असंख्यम्=numerous; मास. = चैत्रादि, months, like caitra; शरद. = शरदाद्यृतून्, seasons like autumn; पूर्वी:=सनातनी, older ones; नही—नहि).

5. Guha akah, does in secret cavity; also guha=intellect (बुद्धीकरोति—Daya.; गुहा गुहायां गह्वररूपे सूतिका गृहे जात, अक —अकरोत्—Sayana); in the privacy of the lying-in chamber, unworthy of so great a divinity. —Wilson.

6. Eta vi pṛccha kim idam bhananti—Ask them what is this they say. That is, they are proclaiming the greatness of Indra, by which, and not by their own efforts, they have been extricated from the cloud.

7. Nividah, the speeches or words, expressing mysterious and spirituai knowledge (नितरा विदन्ति याभिस्ता वाच.—Daya.); sacred strains (Wilson). [मरुत्वती शस्त्रे प्रयुज्यमानानि 'मरुत्स्तोत्रो मरुद्गणः' इत्यादीनीन्द्रस्तुति प्रतिपादकानि कानिचित् पदानि निविच्छब्देनोच्यन्ते —i.e. the special prayers in the praise of Indra and Maruts, repeated at some sacrifices—Sayana]. Here again, Vṛtra, being a Brahmana, the crime committed by his killing is transferred to the waters in the shape of foam. Wilson further remarks thus: these explanations are rather, perhaps derived from the pauranik developments of the original legends, imperfectly handed down.

8. This and the following verses are in the praise of Indra.

Yuvatih, the fully-matured lady of 24 years (Daya.).

Kusava; कुषवा, of bad intentions (कुत्सितः मवः प्रेरणा यस्या सा). In the pauranic mythology, Kusava (कुषवा) is the name of a Raksasi (lady-demon), whom Indra, although at first swallowed by her, drove out of the lying-in chamber (Wilson).

Jagara, swallows (निगलति—Daya.; गिरतिस्म—Sayana).

Mamat cana (ममच्चन), exulting (माद्यन्त्येव—Sayana; प्रमादयन्ती —Daya.).

9. Vyamsa, one possessing considerable strength (विप्रकृष्टा अंसा बलादयो यस्य सः—Daya.). In mythology, Vyamsa is the name of a Raksasa, who also attempted to destroy the infant Indra.

12. Kah te mataram vidhavam acakrat, who hast made thy mother a widow (विधवां विगतो धवः पतिर्यस्यास्ताम्—Daya.). The Prakṛti is mother ; God, the Supreme Self, is father ; Prakṛti never gets widowed, since God never dies.

Yat praksinah pitaram padagṛhya—Since thou hast slain, having seized him by the foot; Dayananda translates padagṛhya, as one worthy of respect, to whose feet, one might surrender. (पादान् गृहीतु योग्यः—Daya.; पादेषु गृहीत्वा—Sayana); pra-aksinah, प्रकर्षेणावधीः—Sayana; अक्षिणाः क्षयति हन्ति —Daya.) destroys, kills, slays. (See also Tait. S. VI.1.3.6 to which Sayana refers: The sacrifice (yajna) reflected on the gift. He had intercourse with her. Indra perceived this and reflected. 'He who will be born from this union will be this world.' He entered her; from her verily Indra was born; he reflected, 'He who hence other than I will be born will be this world'. Stroking her womb, he split it, she became barren after birth, and that is the origin of the cow(who is barren after birth).

13. Manu, refers to a legend; Vamadeva, when oppressed with hunger, took for his meals the flesh of dogs, but who was not thus rendered impure; this he did for the preservation of his life. (Manu X.106).

Hymn-19

1. एवा=एव (निपातस्यचेति दीर्घः)।

Umah, ऊमा., those who give protection and shelter; the protecting ones (ऊमाः रक्षकाः—Sayana ; रक्षणादि कर्त्तारः—Daya).

2 Parisayanam, slumbering: one who sleeps in the interspace from all sides (योऽन्तरिक्षे सर्वतः शेते तम्—Daya.; परितः समन्तात् शयनं कुर्वन्तम् —Sayana).

Visvadhenah, one comprising all speeches (धेना=वाक्—Nigh.I.11); all delighting (विश्वस्य प्राणयित्रीः—Sayana).

Arnah, water (उदक, Nigh. I.12); water channels.

3. Aparvan, at the time without parva; on the day of full moon (अपर्वन् अपर्वणि पौर्णमास्याम—Sayana).

Sapta, seven (Daya.); of gliding nature (सर्पणस्वभावाः—Sayana).

4. Parvatanam, of clouds (Daya.; Nigh. I 10); of hills (Sayana).

6. Turviti, see I.36.18; 54.6; 61.11; 112.23; II.13.12, IV.19.6.

Vayya, see I 54.6; 112.6; II 3.6; 13.12; IV.19.6; IX.68 8.

7. Adhok staryo dansupatnih, he has milked the barren cows (Wilson); अधोक् अधुक्षत्; स्तर्यः स्तरीर्निवृत्त प्रसवा गाः; दसुपत्नीः दमनपरा असुराः सुष्टुपतयो यासां ताः—Sayana); he has removed the barrenness occasioned by the grief of their separation by rescuing the cattle carried off by the Pani—Wilson). (दंसुपत्नीः—workers' wives, दंसूना कर्मकर्त्तृणा पत्न्यः, स्तर्यः the coverer, आच्छादिकाः; अधोक् to complete, प्रयात—Daya.).

9. Vamribhih, (वम्रीभिः and upajihvikah, उपजिह्विका.) are synonyms of emmet. Vamryah (emmets) are so called from vomiting (वमनात्); here in this verse, we have "unmarried maidens have taken the undivided son from emmets (वम्रीभिः पुत्रमग्रुवो अदानम्)—Nir. III.20. To Sayana, Vamri is white ant, which throws up a hillock known as Valmika (निवेशनात् वल्मीकाख्यात्—Sayana).

Agruvah.—rivers (नद्यः—Daya.; Nigh. I.13). Son of Agru, some one unknown (अग्रूनाम काचित् । तस्याः पुत्रम्—Sayana).

Ahim, serpent, (the presence of a snake in an ant-hill is a popular notion—Wilson).

Nirbhut, coming out of the ant-hill (निर्भूत् वल्मीकान् निर्गतः अभूत—Sayana; निः भूत् भवति—Daya.).

Ukhacchit, corroded by white ants (उखच्छित् वल्मीकाख्याया उखायाञ्छेदकानि —Sayana; one who damages or corrodes the path way, य उखङ्ग मनञ्छिनत्ति सः—Daya).

11. Same as IV.17 21.

Hymn-20

Compare the verses 1 and 2 with Yv.XX.48 and 49.

1. Ojisthebhih, with an army or team consisting of strong and sturdy people (अतिशयेन बलादिगुणयुक्तैर्नरोत्तम सैन्यैः—Daya.); with the gallant Maruts—ओजिष्ठेभिः अतिशयेन तेजस्विभिः मरुद्भिर्युक्तः—Sayana.

2. Vajasatau, in the battle (संग्रामे—Daya.).

4. Prsthyena, with the pleasure derived subsequently (पश्चाद्भवेन सुखेन—Daya.; with the noon-day hymn (पृष्ठ शब्देन माध्यदिन सवने उद्गातृभिरुद्गीयमानं स्तोत्रमुच्यते, तत्सम्बधिना—Sayana).

Andhasa, with food etc. (अन्नाद्येन —Daya.; पीतेन सोमेन—Sayana).

5. अच्छा = अच्छ ।

9. Vrajam, to a group (समूहम्—Sayana); arms and weapons (शस्त्राऽस्त्रम्—Daya.).

11. Same as IV.7.21.

Hymn-21

1. The verse occurs as Yv.XX.47. Dyauh, the Sun.

Tavisih, energies, energetic armies (बलयुक्ताः सेनाः—Daya.).

Sadhamat astu, be exhilarated along with us (अस्माभिः सह माद्यन् भवतु—Sayana; समानस्थानात् यस्सह माद्यति अस्तु—Daya.).

2. Krstih, people of the enemies (शत्रु सम्बन्धिनी प्रजाः—Sayana; people in general, मनुष्याः—Daya.).

Vṛsnyani, nṛn, वृष्ण्यानि नॄन् powerful leaders (बलेषु साधूनि नायकान्—Daya.); might refer to Maruts also.

3. Purisat, from waters (पुरीष=उदक, Nigh.I.12).

Samudrat, from the mid-space (समुद्र=अन्तरिक्ष—Nigh. I.3).

5. Vacam janayan yajadhyai, utters a voice enjoining me to sacrifice or for unifying functions (सुशिक्षिता वाणी प्रकटयन् यष्टुं सङ्गन्तुम्—Daya); (The speech of Indra is the thunder, the effect of which is to induce the parens deorum cultor et infrequens, whether Roman or Hindu, retrorsum vela dare—Wilson).

6. Ausijasya, of the worshippers; one who employs priests (कामयमाना ऋत्विजाः—Sayana); sons of the aspiring ones (कामयमानाऽपत्यस्य —Daya.).

Gohe, in the dwelling (संवरणीये गृहे—Daya.).

Adrim, like a cloud (Daya.); one who tears foes, from $\sqrt{dṛ}$, to divide, to tear, and thus it is a name of Indra also (अद्रिम—आदृणाति शत्रून् इत्याद्रिरिन्द्रः—Sayana).

7. Bharvarasaya, भार्वरस्य, of the king who serves the people (प्रजाः भर्तृराज्ञः—Daya.); भर्वर, Prajapati, who is the sustainer of the world, भर्वरो जगद्भर्ता प्रजापतिः, तस्य पुत्रो भार्वरः—Sayana).

Guha pra (गुहा प्र), guha, in intellect (बुद्धौ—Daya.); in the secret thoughts (गुहाया गुहारूपे हृदये—Sayana).

The purport of the verse is that Indra, the resplendent Lord, always protects his worshippers (इन्द्रस्य बलं यजमानं सर्वदा पालयतीत्यर्थः—Sayana).

8. Vidad gaurasya gavayasya gohe, he finds it in the haunt of Gaura and Gavaya, the two species of deer or any wild animal (Sayana); they may be two different wild animals; -gavaya is Bos gavaeus or Gavaeus frontalis, and gaura is Bibos gaurus, or B. cavifrons (Wilson).

10. Varivah purve kah ; here puravah=man (Nigh.II.3). (पूरवे—धार्मिकाय मनुष्याय, वरिवः—सेवनम्; कः—कुर्य्याः—Daya.); bestows riches on men (पूरवे मनुष्याय यजमानाय, वरिवः धनं कः करोति—Sayana).

11. Same as IV.16.21; 17.21; 19.11; 20.11; 21.11; 22.11; 23.11; and 24.11.

Hymn-22

1. This verse gives rise to the four-fold forms of offering worship, since in it occurs the four words brahma (ब्रह्म), stomam (स्तोमं), somam (सोमं) and uktha (उक्था). In the first form of ritual, the offerings are of cakes steeped in butter and the like (ब्रह्मचित् हविर्लक्षण पुरोडाशादिकमन्नं च); in the second form, it is the praise that is recited aloud (स्तोमं स्तोत्र समूहं); in the third, the libations are of the Soma juice (सोमम्, अभिषुतं सोमं च); and in the fourth, the praise or prayer is repeated silently in a lower tone (उक्था, उक्थानि शस्त्राणि च) —Sayana.

Dayananda translates the terms as ब्रह्म, महद् धनमन्नं वा, wealth consisting of foodgrains in plenty, etc.; स्तोमं प्रशंसनीयं or worthy of praise; सोमं, ओषध्यादि गणैश्वर्यं, medicinal herbs and other prosperity; and उक्थाः, प्रशंसनीयानि वस्तूनि, rich and adorable products.

2. Urnam parusnim, the investing parusni (ऊर्णां, आच्छादिकां; परुष्णीं पर्ववतीं नदीं—Sayana; परुष्णीं विभागवतीं—Daya.). The verse devotes to a river and a troop of a battles too. The river having joints or bands covering.

Yasyah parvani sakhyaya vivye—lit., whose joints through friendship he has approached; according to Sayana, the separate districts of which river he has, for the sake of friendly acts, covered or concealed, यस्याः नद्याः पर्वाणि भिन्नान् देशान् सख्याय सखि कर्मणे विव्ये संवृत्तवान्—Sayana.

According to Dayananda, (पर्वाणि पूर्णानि पालनानि सख्याय मित्रस्य भावाय कर्म्मणे वा विश्वे कामयते ।)

4. Matara bharati goh, मातरा=parents; गोः=earth (Daya.); parents of the moving Sun (Sayana translates goh as गन्तुः सूर्यस्य i.e. of the moving Sun).

Paaijman, one pervading all along in the mid-space, or the extensive earth (since ज्मा = earth, Nigh.I.1) (सर्वतो व्याप्तेऽन्तरिक्षे विस्तृतायां भूमौ वा—Daya.).

6. नू = नु, again.

7. Svasarah, fingers, अंगुल्य इव मैत्रीं भगिनित्वमाचरन्त्यः—Daya. For Svasarah, the earlier references are I.62.10; 71.1; 164.3; 191.14; II.5.5; III.29.13; and IV.6.8.

8. Yamyah, the nights (Nigh.I.7).

Goh, for the one who praises (स्तावकस्य Nigh. III.16). Sami (शमी), a superb action (उत्तमं कर्म—Daya.); (शशमानस्य शमीशक्ति—स्तुवन शमनं स्तुतिकर्म —Sayana).

10. Godah, one who gives cows (यो गां धेनुं ददाति सः—Daya.).

Hymn-23

For verse 8, see Nir. X.41.

1. Andhah, foodgrains or food (अन्नम्—Daya.; Nigh.II.7).

2. Sasamanasya, one who glorifies (प्रशंसितस्य—Daya.).

3. Papurim, to the one who protects and sustains (पालकम् —Daya.).

4. Nasadah, one who does not know (यो न वेत्ति सः—Daya.).

Appreciator, one who profusely knows (अतिशयेन ज्ञाता —Sayana).

6. Goh, of the moving Indra (गन्तुरिन्द्रस्य—Sayana); of earth etc. (पृथिव्यादेः—Daya.).

7. Tetikta, sharpened (भृशं तीक्ष्णं करोति—Daya.).

Tigma, already sharp (पूर्वमेव तीक्ष्णानि—Sayana).

Anika=अनीकानि = weapons (आयुधानि—Sayana); invincible armies (शत्रुभिः प्राप्तुमनर्हाणि सैन्यानि—Daya.).

Druham jighansan dhvarasam anindram, Resolving to kill the oppressing malevolent (wickeds), not acknowledging Indra (Wilson). (द्रुहं—द्रोग्धारं ; जिघांसन्—हन्तुमिच्छन् ; ध्वरसं—हिंसकं ; अनिन्द्रां—अनीश्वरी गति, ungodly ways—Daya.). Sayana supplies the word raksatim (राक्षसीं). This may well refer to death, the debt of nature, the payment of what Indra's favour delays by prolonging life; (a conjecture proposed by Wilson).

8. Ṛta, truth, eternal truth (different from satya), sacrifice, and also water (Nigh. I.12); in this verse, according to Sayana, it may refer to Indra or Aditya, in addition to the former three, personified as divinities (अत्र ऋत शब्देनेन्द्रो वादित्यो वा सत्यं वा यज्ञो वोच्यते; ऋतस्य ऋतदेवस्य सम्बन्धिन्यः; ऋतस्य धीतिः—ऋतदेवस्य सम्बन्धिनी प्रज्ञा, तद्विषया स्तुतिर्वा—Sayana).

According to Dayananda, ऋतस्य of truth, of what is real and exact, सत्यस्य यथार्थस्य, धीतिः धारणावती प्रज्ञा ।

"Of Ṛta, indeed, are the earlier invigorating draughts. Contemplation of Ṛta kills vices. The call of Ṛta awakening and illuminating, pierced even the deaf ears of the living being.—Of Ṛta, indeed, are the earlier invigorating draughts, consciousness of Ṛta kills all that should be avoided. The call of Ṛta pierces the ears of even the deaf. Deaf whose ears are closed. Causing to wake and making bright the ears of the living being, of the moving being, of man of light, or of water."—Nir.X.41.

Hymn-24

1. सुष्टुतिः=सुऽस्तुतिः ; निष्षिधां=निःऽसिधाम् ।

2. Satyaradhah, wealth earned through honesty and earnestness (न्यायोपार्जित सत्यधनः—Daya.); the gift given by the yajamana (यजमानेभ्यो दातुं सत्यधनो भवति–Sayana).

3. Ririkvansah tanvah krnvata tram, by purging, cleansing the body (रिरिक्वांसः—रेचनङ्कारयन्तः, तन्वः कृण्वतः, शरीरस्य कुरुत रक्षकं—Daya.); inflictors of austerity upon their persons (तन्वः स्वकीयानि शरीराणि रिरिक्वांसः तपसा रेचयन्तो यजमानास्तमेवेन्द्रं त्रां त्रातारं—Sayana); worshippers emaciating their own bodies by penance.

Samike, in a battle; in a group (Nigh.II.17).

8. Dirgham yat ajim abhi-akhyat aryah, when the Lord is engaged in the long battle.

Aryam, king, lord, God, (for Indra—Sayana).

Samaryam, in a battle (सहमर्तव्यं शत्रु—Sayana; ajim, a battle in which weapons are thrown, अजन्ति प्रक्षिपन्ति शस्त्राण्यस्मिंस्तम्—Daya.).

Ṛghava, the killer of enemies, i.e. Indra (शत्रूणां हन्ता—Daya.; शत्रूणां हिंसक इन्द्रः—Sayana).

Durone, in the house; the place of sacrifice (यज्ञगृहे—Sayana).

9. Bhuyasa vasnam acarat kaniyah, by much a man acquires little, wealth or value (सः विक्रेता पुनर्मूल्यं भूयसां न प्रपूरयेत् । सः विक्रेता भूयसा धनेन कनीयः अल्पतरं मूल्यं नारिरेचीत् क्रेतुः सकाशान्न रिक्तीकरोति—Sayana). Sayana, here in this context, gives the details of a bargain between the vendor or seller and customer or buyer. The verse IV is also interpreted on the same lines.

Hymn-25

3. Jyotir, light; also water (ज्योतिः प्रकाशं—Daya.; ज्योतिः उदकं च —Sayana).

4. Jyok pasyat suryam ut-carantam, and long behold the rising Sun.

Jyok, for a long or continuous tune (ज्योक् निरन्तरं—Daya.).

Sarma, शर्म, pleasure as that of home (शर्म=गृह, Nigh.II.4).

6. Prasusat, प्राशुषाट्, the prompt comfiter of foes (शत्रूणां प्रकर्षेण शीघ्रमभि भविता—Sayana; यः प्राशून् वेगवतश्शत्रून् सहते—Daya.

Supravyah, one who is to be approached with homage etc. (सुष्ठु उपगच्छतो हविर्भिः सुष्ठु प्रतर्पयितुर्वा—Sayana); one who is protected with care (सुष्ठु रक्षितुं योग्यः—Daya.).

Duspravyah, one approached with difficulty (दुष्प्राव्यः दुःखेन प्रावितुं योग्यः —Daya.; दुरुपगमनस्य—Sayana)

7. Nagnam, worthless, shameless (निरर्थकं —Sayana; निर्लज्जं —Daya.).

Hymn-26

For verse 7, see Nir. XI.2.

1. Manuh, a thoughtful learned man, मननशीलो विद्वानिव सर्वविद्या विज्ञापकः—Daya.; मनुरभवं सर्वस्य मन्ता प्रजापतिरस्मि—Sayana.

Suryah, enlightened like the sun, सूर्य इव सर्वप्रकाशकः—Daya.; सर्वस्य प्रेरकः सविता—Sayana.

Viprah, wise, मेधावी—Sayana; मेधावीव सर्ववेत्ता—Daya.

Kaksivan ṛsih, one in which the orbits of entire creation exist, सर्वसृष्टिकक्षा विद्यन्ते यस्मिन्त्सः—Daya.; son of Dirghatamas, दीर्घतमसः पुत्रं—Sayana.

Kutsam, adamantine or vajra-like, वज्रं—Daya., Nigh.II.20; a Ṛsi of this name—Sayana.

Arjuneyam, created or invented by a learned, अर्जुनेनार्जुना विदुषा निष्पादितमिव—Daya ; son of Arjuni, i.e. Kutsa, अर्जुन्याः पुत्रम्—Sayana.

Ushana, loved by all, serviceable to all, सर्वहितं कामयमानः—Daya., a Ṛsi of this name—Sayana.

Kavih, the farseeing, कान्तदर्शी—Sayana; expert in all disciplines of knowledge, सर्वशास्त्रविद् विद्वान्—Daya.

3. Sambara, शम्बरः, see references, I.51.6; 54.4; 59.6; 101.2; 103.8; 112.14; 130.7; II.12.11; 14.6; 19.6; 24.2; IV. 26.3; 30.4; VI.18.8; 26.5; 31.4; 43.1; 47.2; 47.21; VII.18.20; 99.5; IX.61.2.

Divodasa, see references, I.112.14; 116.18; 119.4; 130.7; 130.10; II.19 6; IV.26.3; 30.2; VI.16.5; 16.19; 26.5; 31.4; 43.1; 47.22; 23; 61.1; VII.18 25; IX.61.2.

Atithigva, one who receives and honours guests (अतिथिग्वम्, योऽतिथीन् गच्छति गमयति वा तम्—Daya.; अतिथीनामभिगन्तारं—Sayana).

4. Acakraya yat svadhaya, with a wheelless car.

Suparnah havyam—according to Sayana, this is a metonymy for the Soma, which is said to have been brought from heaven by the Gayatri in the form of a hawk (Suparna); again the hawk is the Supreme Spirit or para-brahma (the conjecture of a later period).

Hymn-27

1. The verse refers to the cycles of births and deaths of the lower self, the soul in bondage. The udana vital breath takes out the soul from one body with an infinite speed and carries it to another body, where the soul is reborn. Every individual amongst us is the vamadeva, who enters into the womb and comes forth in the form of a hawk. A hundred bodies of metal (iron or gold, सुवर्णमयीर्लोहमयीर्वा—Daya.) provide us the bondage in the life cycle. It is through the acquirement of divine knowledge, through a series of repeated births, one gets the final release or emancipation, the Mukti or the Moksa.

2. घा=घ (ऋचि तुनुघेति दीर्घः—Panini VI.3.132, स घा=he alone.

Irma, ईर्मा = impeller (प्रेरकः—Daya.); the Paramatman or the Supreme Self.

Purandhih, the sustainer of all (पुरां धारकः—Sayana, बहुधरः—Daya., i.e. the Paramatman).

Vatan atarat, goes beyond the winds, beyond the vital breaths. The vital airs are the cause of pain and worldly existence (वातान् गर्भक्लेशकरान् वायून् प्रतरत् प्रतारीत्—Sayana).

3. Adha yat Syenah dyauh ava asvanit, just as or when the hawk screams on his descent from heaven. Sayana refers to a parable narrated in the Aitareya Brahmana (III.26); Gods requested the Gayatri to fetch the Soma, the elixir of life; she flew to heaven in the form of a hawk. She in this form, having flown and having terrified the guardians of the Soma (सोमपालाः), grasped with foot and mouth Soma the king, and also grasped the syllables which the other two metres had dropped. Havihg shot at her, Kṛsanu (कृशानु), a Soma guardian, cut off the nail of her left foot; that became a porcupine, which is nail-like. The fat that flowed became the barren cow; the socket and the point became a serpent; from the swiftness came the viper; the feathers became flying foxes; the sinews earth-worms; the shaft the blind snake. It is not possible here to expound the beautiful parable. (See also the verse 4, patat patatri asya parnam.)

Veh, (वेः), birds (पक्षिणः—Daya.).

4. Bhujyumna, like the one enjoying (भोक्तारं—Daya.) as the asvins carried off Bhujyu, a king of this name, from the region of Indra. The earlier references to Bhujyu are: I.112.6; 20; 116.3-5; 117.14; 119.4; and also VI.62.6; VII.68.7; 69.7; VIII.22.2; 46.20; X.40.7; 65.12; 95.8; 106.4; 143.5.

5. Sukram, water (Nigh. I.12).

Hymn-28

2. Visva-ayu apa dhayi, the everywhere going wheel has been taken away (सर्वतो गन्तृचक्रमिन्द्रेणापाहारि—Sayana; अप सर्वमायुः ध्रियते—Daya.).

Mahahdruhah, of the great oppressor, enemy or tyrant, the evilmonger (महत् द्वेष्टुः—Daya.; प्रभूतस्य द्रोग्धुः सूर्यस्य सम्बन्धि—Sayana).

3. Dasyun, them, who are of great treachery (महासाहसिकान्, दुष्टान् —Daya.).

Durge=दुःगे, in a place difficult of access.

Durge durone, in a place which is dangerous and difficult of access.

For Dasyun, see also I.63.4; 78.4; 100.18; 101.5; II.11.19; 13.9; 20.8; III.29.9; 34.6; 9; IV.16.12; 28.3; 4.

4. Visah dasih akrnoh a prasastah, you have made the servile races abject (Wilson).

Dasih, the liberal givers (दानशीला:—Daya.); having no special or religiously instituted rites or functions (i.e. may be slave or servile) (कर्मंहीना:—Sayana); visah, people (प्रजा:—Daya., मानुषी प्रजा:—Sayana); aprasastah, debarred from respectable position (प्रशस्त सुखरहिता:—Daya., गर्हिता, reviled, vile—Sayana).

Hymn-29

1. Haribhih, by excellent brave people (उत्तमैर्वीरपुरुषै:—Daya.; by horses, अश्वै:—Sayana).

Tirascit, come, attained (तिर: मत इति प्राप्तस्य—Nir.III.20; तिरश्चि दर्यंया परि० V.75.7).—Tiras and satas are synonyms of attained. Tiras, i.e. it has crossed over (√तॄ); satas, it is moved together (√सॄ).

2. ष्मा = स्म

3. Sutirtha, the holy places (शोभनानि तीर्थानि; दु:खतारकाण्याचार्यं ब्रह्मचर्यं सत्यभाषणादीनि येषास्तान्—Daya.;—any thing even a person, or a way of life that takes us away from pains, miseries or sins is a tirtha.

5. Bhajanasah bṛhad-divasya rayah a-kayyasya davane puruksoh— According to Sayana, may we be enjoying thee for the same of the gift of wealth of much food, every way commendable and very brilliant (वयं महद्दीप्ते आकाय्यस्य आसमन्तात् स्तुत्यस्य पुरुक्षो: बह्वन्नस्य बहुकीर्तेर्वा ते त्वदीयस्य दावने दाने निमित्ते सति भेजानास: त्वां भजमाना: स्याम भवेम—Sayana).

Hymn-30

For verses 10, 11 and 24, see Nir. XI.47, XI.48 and VI.31 respectively.

Indra in these verses is resplendent Lord or the Sun also, and vṛtra, is the cloud, or wicked nescience in man. Dayananda refers this hymn to an ideal head of a State, i.e. a king.

1. एवा = एव (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घ:) ।

6. Sacibhih, by intelligence; by actions (प्रज्ञाभि: कर्मभिर्वा—Daya.); by war-actions (युद्धकर्म्मभि:—Sayana).

Etasam, एतशं, a learned man, a man strong as a horse, name of a ṛsi (Sayana).

8. Duhitaram divah, the daughter of the sun, i e. the dawn (दुहितरमिव वर्तमानामुषसम्—Daya.; द्युलोक सकाशादुत्पन्नां स्त्रियं उषसम्—Sayana). The dawn is extinguished by the ascendency of Indra (i.e. the sun) through the day.

10. "Being afraid, usas has fled from the shattered car, because the strong bull (वृषा) has struck it down."—Being afraid, usas has fled from the shattered car, i.e. the cloud. (Anas (अनस्) means wind, derived from the verb √अन्, to breathe). Or else, it may be for the sake of comparison, i.e., as if from the car. Anas means a car, because rags are tied to (आ-न:) it, or it may be derived from the verb √अन्, meaning to live; it is a means of livelihood for people.

Cloud is called anas from the same verb also. Because the strong bull, the rainer, the showerer, i.e. the atmospheric god, has struck it down. (Nir. XI.47).

11. In continuation of the verse we have this verse :

"Here lies her car, shattered and all broken in pieces. She has fled afar."—Here lies her car, shattered in such a manner as if it were a different car altogether. Broken into pieces, i.e. without a single connected piece. Dawn has fled afar, being pushed out, or being pursued (Nir.XI.48).

12. Sindhum vibalyam vitasthanam adhi ksami, the swollen Sindhu when arrested, you have spread on earth. (क्षमि=on the earth, Nigh.I.1). Sindhu is a river in general, (विबाल्यम्—विगतबाल्यावस्थां i.e. whose youth was passed, संपूर्ण जलां, i.e. who was full of water—Sayana; वितस्थानां-वितिष्टमानां, i.e. stopping or being stopped.

16. Ukthesu abhajat, उक्तेषु स्तोत्रेषु, ग्राभजत् भागिनं कृतवान्, participant in sacred hymns, see IV.19.9—वग्रीभिः पुत्रमग्रुवः ।

Satakratuh, Indra, the one whose actions are cent per cent for the sake of others, or the one of hundred actions (शतकर्मा—Sayana); the one of innumerable intellects (असंख्य प्रज्ञः—Daya.).

Paravṛktam, indefatigable valour (अच्छिन्नवीर्यम्—Daya.; but a person of this name—Sayana).

Agruvah putram, son of Agru (Sayana); persons who are in front rank (अग्रसराः—Sayana). See also IV.19.9.

For Agruvah, also see I.140.8; 191.14; III.29.13; IV.19.7; 9; 30.16; VII.2.5; IX.1.8; 66.9. For Agruh V.44.7.

17. Turvasayadu, तुर्वशस् and यदु, तुर्वशा=man (Nigh. II.3), one who easily brings into control; यदु=active, and ever diligent (तुर्वशायदू—शीघ्रं वशंकरी यत्नवांश्च तौ मनुष्यौ—Daya.).

For Turvasah, see earlier references I.36 18; 47.7; 54.6; 108.8; 174.9; and for Yadu, I.36.18; 54.6; 108.8; 174.9 and also VI.20.12; 45.1; VIII.4.7; 7.18; IX.61.2; X.49.8; 62.10.

Asnatara, अस्नातारा, those who are not particular about daily baths and the like (स्नानादिकर्मरहितौ—Daya.; but those who were under the spell of the curse of Yayati, according to mythology (ययातिशापादनभिषिक्तौ—Sayana).

He made them worthy to be inaugurated, or crowned, which they were not at first (this refers, according to Sayana, to a myth, alluding to their exclusion from the succession in favour of the youngest son, Puru, by their father Yayati).

20. Asman-mayinam puram, of the cities built up of stones, resembling cluster of clouds (मेघप्रचुरारागमिव पाषाण-निर्मितानां नगराणां—Daya.). Sayana refers to the cities of Sambara, पुरां शम्बरस्य सम्बन्धिनां नगराणाम् ।

Divodasaya, one who serves light, or who favours enlightenment (प्रकाशस्य सेवकाय—Daya.). In later mythology, the name of a king. See earlier references, I.116.18; 119.4; 130.7; II.19 6; etc.

21. Sahasra and trimsatam, thousands and thirty.
Mayaya, by wisdom (प्रज्ञया—Daya.): by ones own strength (स्वकीयया शक्तया—Sayana).

24. "May god Aryaman (Lord of Justice) give you all fair and beautiful things. O destroyer (of enemies), may Pusa-Bhaga and the god having gaps in his teeth give you all fair and beautiful things."

Fair (वामं वमनीयं) is so called because it is to be won. Destroyer (आदुरि) is so called from destroying (आदरणात्). But who is the god who has gaps in his teeth ? According to some, it is an epithet of Bhaga who comes before it. According to others, this god is Pusan because he has no teeth. Pusa is without teeth, and an eater of gruel, says a Brahmana passage (अदन्तक: पूषा Kausitaki Brahmana, VI.13; also SBr. I.VII.4.6). See Nir. VI.31.

Hymn-31

1. Sacisthaya, by the excellent thoughts, words or deeds (अतिशयेन श्रेष्ठया वाचा प्रज्ञया कर्मणा वा—Daya.; प्रज्ञावत्तमया प्रज्ञासहितमनुष्ठीयमानेन—Sayana).

Uti, ऊती, pertaining to care and protection (रक्षणादिक्रिया सह—Daya., तर्पणेन—Sayana).

See also Yv. XXVII.39; Av. XX.124.1;

2 and 3. See Yv. XXVII, 40; 41; Av. XX.124.2; 3.

4. अभी = अभि (संहितायामिति दीर्घः)

Carsaninam, of men; of people.

9. ष्मा = स्म (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः)

11. इहा = इह (संहितायामिति दीर्घः)

13. अपा = अप (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः)

14. Asvayuh, with the strength of several horses (बह्वश्व बलयुक्तः —Daya.).

15. Varsistham, वर्षिष्ठं, of very old age (अतिशयेन वृद्धं—Daya.).

The verses of this hymn are relevant in relation to mighty Sun, who is also known as Maghavan, Surya and Indra, and also equally relevant in relation to our resplendent Lord.

Hymn-32

For verse 23, see Nir. IV.15.

1. Asmakam ardham, near us (समीपं—Sayana) for our growth (वर्धनं—Daya.); ardham (अर्द्धं) may also mean dwelling place (निवासदेशं) or half of worship (देवयज्ञदेशं—Mahidhara). See Yv. XXXIII.65. 9 and 12. Gotamah, [go=speech (Nigh. I.11)], the supermasters of speech (प्रशस्तागोर्वाग्विद्यते येषान्ते—Daya.). A seer of this name—Sayana.

15. Hari, हरी—two horses or the pair of fire and water (अग्निजले अश्वौ वा—Daya.).

16. Purodasam, a special food preparation (पुरोडाशं सुसंस्कृतान्न विशेषं —Daya.). For this, see I.162.3; III.28.1; 3-6, 41.3; 52.2-6; 8; IV.24.5; 32:16; VI.23.7; VIII.2.11; 31.2; 78.1.

23. "Like two small dolls (कनीनकेव) on their newly-wrought, perforated, wooden seats the bay steeds shine on their courses."—Two dolls, two young maidens : कनीनके कन्ये । कन्या कमनीया भवति क्वेयं नेतव्येति वा (कमनेनानीयत इति वा) कनतेर्वा स्यात् कान्तिकर्मणः, Kanya (maiden) is so called because she is an object of love (कमनीया) or because it is said to whom should her hand be given, or because she is brought by the lover, or it may be derived from the root √कन्, to shine. "The words relating to the seats of the maidens are in the locative singular (सप्तमी एकवचन)," says Sakapuni, i.e. on the ornamental wooden seats.

Daru (दारु, wood) is derived from √दृ, dṛ (to split), or from दॄ, to injure.

Dru (wood) is derived from the same root also.

Nave (नवे) newly made; arbhake, small, not large. As they shine on their sheets, so the bay steeds shine on their courses. This is a joint panegyric of two bay steeds

(This probably refers to a stage on which puppets are exhibited —Wilson).

Hymn-33

Ṛbhus are the devatas of hymns 33 to 37 Vaja (वाज), ṛbhu (ऋभु) and vibhu (विभु) are the three classes of divine architects, pertaining to regions of land, space and water. They design and supervise the means of transports of these three regions in human social organization. They are thus the technicians. For this, see IV.33 9: वरुणस्य विभ्वा (i.e. vibhvan of Varuna, i.e. the architect pertaining to the water region); इन्द्रस्य ऋभुक्षा (i.e. ribhuksin of Indra, i e. the architect pertaining to the space) and thirdly, वाजो देवानां (i.e. vaja, the artificer of the rest of gods, particularly on land, or the architect pertaining to land). Ṛbhu in the Nighantu means the man of wisdom (III.15).

1. Pari dyam sadyah apasah babhuvuh—were born quickly across the firmament. This might refer to the sun's rays also.

Evaih (एवैः) by the fast moving horses (गमनशीलैरश्वैः—Sayana); fast moving projectiles or weapons (वायुप्रेरितास्त्र सरेण्वादि पदार्थाः—Daya.); fast moving vehicles.

3. Vajah vibhva ṛbhuh, the three categories of architects, of the land (वाजः), of the waters or river-ways (विभुः) and of the space (ऋभुः). Literally, vajah is learned (ज्ञानवान्), vibhva, means by the one who is pervading (विभुना ज्ञानेन जगदीश्वरेण—Daya., and ṛbhuh means enlightened (विद्वान्). According to Sayana, the three sons of Sudhanvana Angirasa were Vaja, Vibhavan and Ṛbhu (ते वाजो विभ्वा ऋभु च एतन्नामकास्त्रयः सुधन्वन आङ्गिरसस्य पुत्राऋभवः). All the three were known Ṛbhus in general.

5. The eldest (Ṛbhu) wanted to make two ladles whilst the younger (Vibhvan) three, and the youngest (Vajah) wanted to have four. See also I.161.2 for एकचमसं चतुरः कृणोतन । The whole hymn I.161 is devoted to Ṛbhus. The present hymn should also be read and interpreted on the same lines. See also the next verse (IV.33.6).

Tvastṛ is head technician who has applauded the proposal of the Ṛbhus for the construction of four ladles.

6. Tvastṛ, beholding the four ladles, brilliant as day, was content.

11. Na ṛte srantasya sakhyaya devah, gods are not pleased through friendship alone, unless one is wearied by penance.

Hymn-34

For verse 3, see Nir. VI.16.

The hymn again begins with Ṛbhu, Vibhvan and Vaja along with Indra. On the spiritual plane, Ṛbhu dominates on the mental realm (मनोमय कोश), the technicians of space; Vibhvan on the emotional plane (or प्राणमय कोश, the vital realm) and Vaja on the physical (अन्नमय कोश). Indra is the lower self, the soul. The final enjoyment lies in the attainment of spiritual happiness or the divine ecstasy. All the eleven verses should be read in this light. The enjoyment is in the company of our entire human complex of which Maruts (verse 7), Adityas, Parvatas, and the divine Savitri are the components, and Nature's divine bounties (verse 8), as well as Ṛbhus are evoked, not to go away, not to leave us. They have to be with us, and have to be satisfied along with Indra and Maruts (verse 11).

3. Pra vah accha jujusanasah asthuh abhuta visve agriya uta vajah, "enjoying, they have stood forth to you, all of you have become the chiefs, O Ṛbhus". Enjoying, they have stood forth to you (प्र+अस्थुः=प्रस्थितानि—Durga of the Nirukta). All of you have become the chiefs by going in front (or by swallowing first of all), or by accomplishing first of all. Or else, the word अग्रिया (agriya) is अग्र (agram) itself with meaningless case-termination (अनर्थकमुपबन्धम्). (Nir. VI.16.)

7. Gnaspatnibhih, by the ladies of the husbands (या ग्ना: पतीनां स्त्रियस्ताभि:—Daya.); wives of the gods; also the female protectors of women (Wilson).

8. Parvatebhih, by a sort of Nature's bounties, particularly clouds (मेघै: सह—Daya.) which, according to Sayana, are to be worshipped at the Parvas, certain periods of the month, as the new and full moon etc. (पर्वतेभि. पर्वद्भि: पर्वण्यर्च्यमानैर्देवविशेषै: — Sayana); Similarly, Sindhubhih, refers to rivers or flowing streams (स्यन्दनस्वभावैर्नद्यभिमानि देवैश्च —Sayana).

9. Svapatyani cakruh, bringing up children with care and good instructions (सुष्ठु शिक्षयोत्तमानि चापत्यानि च तानि कुर्य्यु:—Daya.); accomplishing acts productive of good results (स्वपत्यानि स्वपतनसाधनानि वा कर्माणि चक्रु: —Sayana), i.e. acts, the means of accomplishing their good offspring or consequences.

Hymn-35

1. Indram anu gamantu, may follow the one with resplendent qualities; may they come after Indra (इन्द्रमनुसृत्य, अनुगमन्तु—Sayana); or may they come after you tc Indra (Wilson).

Saudhanvanah, pertaining to sudhanvan, the possessors of good bows, or pertaining to the brilliant rain-bow in the sky (शोभनानि धन्वान्तरिक्षस्थानि येषान्तेषामिमे—Daya.).

Napatah (न+पात) without fall (अविद्यमान ह्रासा:—Daya.); also sons of strength or one without protection, (नपात: बलस्य पुत्रास्तस्य न पातयितारो वा —Sayana).

2. Camasam, cloud (Nigh. I.10).

Caturdha, the four categories of motions—downwards, upwards, transverse, and straight (अध ऊर्ध्वं तिर्यक्समगति युक्तं—Daya.).

For camason caturdha (ladle made fourfold, or the cloud of four types, stratus, cumulus, cirrus and nimbus), see also verses 3 and 4 of this hymn. For camas, see I.20.6; 54.9; 110.3; 161.1; 2; 4; 5; 9; IV.33.5; 6; 35.2; 3; 4; 5; 36.4; VIII.82.7; X.16.8; 25.4; 68.8; 96.9; 101.8.

Hymn-36

The three-wheeled car (रथस्त्रिचक्र:) without the horses (अनश्व:) and without reins (अनभीशु:) traverses the inter-space. This refers to the movement of the Sun. Ṛbhus are the divine architects in the cosmic creation. Just as in cosmos we have the physical sun, similarly in our own inner complex, we have the divine source of enlightenment, which wise sages create by mental meditation (रथं ये चक्रुः सुवृतं सुचेतस: अविह्वरन्तं मनसस्परि ध्यया—verse 2).

In the verses 3, 5 and 6, we have again a reference to Vaja, Ṛbhu and Vibhvan, and in the verse 4, again a reference to a single camas (ladle or cloud, made four-fold, and to a cow's new hide (चर्मण: गां). The cow may be earth in the cosmic creation, and wisdom on the spiritual plane.

9. Sravo-virvat, here Sravah, is food or also hearing or reputation (अन्नं श्रवणं वा—Daya.; वीरवत्=प्रशस्तवीरकारं—Daya.); food comprehending offspring, or endowed with dependents.

According to Sayana, praja, (प्रजा) is progeny (पुत्रपौत्रादिरूपां), Sravah (श्रव:) is reputation (यश:), and viravat (वीरवत्) is (वीरैर्भृत्यादिभिरूपेतं तक्षत् —Sayana) i.e. adherents.

Hymn-37

1. Ṛbhuksah, ऋभुक्षा:, great ones (महान्त: —Daya.).

Rbhuksin (ऋभुक्षिन्) is the name of Indra, but Sayana in this verse, identifies it with Ṛbhavah, i.e. Ṛbhus (Pl. nom. of Ṛbhu). In verse 3, we have another term Ṛbhuksanah (ऋभुक्षण:), also translated as great ones, by Dayananda. For this term also see verses 5, 7 and 8.

4. Ayah-siprah, those in possession of horses with nose or chin so hard as of iron (अय इव शिप्रे हनूनासिके येषामश्वानां तद्वन्त:—Daya.; "शिप्रे हनूनासिके वा" अयोवत्सारभूतशिप्रा:—Sayana).

Vajinah, speedy (वेगवन्त:—Daya.), one of the Ṛbhus (ऋभव: —Sayana).

Suniskah, one with beautiful gold coins known as Niska, or gold ornaments. (शोभनानि निष्कानि सुवर्णमयान्याभूषणानि येषान्ने—Daya).

8. In this verse, we have Nasatyas also in addition to Vajas, Ṛbhuksans and Indra. For Nasatya, see earlier references : I.3.3; 34.7; 9-11; 46; 5; 47.7; 9; 116.2; 4; 9-11; 13; 14; 16; 17; 19; 20; 22; 23 etc.; not untruthful, i.e. truthful (अविद्यमानासत्याचारौ सभान्यायेशी—Daya).

Hymn-38

For verses 5 and 10, see Nir. IV.24 and X.31 respectively.

1. Vam (a dual pron.). of you two, implies, the pair heaven and earth. Dayananda refers to the pair of the king and his army chief.

Ksetrasam, क्षेत्रासां=क्षेत्रज्सा, he who divides the fields (यः क्षेत्राणि सनति विभजति तं—Daya.); a horse (क्षेत्राणि सर्वभूमीः सनोतीति क्षेत्रसाः अश्वः—Sayana).

Urvarasam, the son (उर्वरा सर्वसम्याढ्याभूः. fertile, तां सनोतीत्युर्वरासाः पुत्रः —Sayana).

Thus क्षेत्रसां ददथुः उर्वरासां means, you have given a horse a son (Sayana). Sayana's derivations are not clear, i.e. how could ksetrasam mean a horse, and urvaresam a son.

To Dayananda, urvara means a fertile land, yielding valuable products (उर्वरासां=बहुश्रेष्ठाः पदार्थाः सन्ति यस्यान्तां भूमिं सनति तम्—Daya.).

Trasadasyu, the one who is a terror to wicked persons (त्रस्यन्ति दस्यवो यस्मात्सः—Daya).

See I.112.4; IV.38.1; 42.8; 9; V.27.3; VII;19.3; VIII.8.21; 19.36; 36 7; 37.7; 49.10; X.150 5

2. Dadhikram = Dadhikravan = a horse (Nigh. I.14, दधिक्रा and दधिक्रावा, synonym of asva or horse.)

Dadhi is one who bears or carries his rider; kram; to go.

According to Ait. Br. III.15.5, it means Agni, who in the form of a horse destroyed the asuras as desired by Bharadvaja (दधिक्राम् । दध्रदन्यं धारयन् क्रामतीति दधिक्राः । तमेतन्नामकं देवम्—Sayana; यो दधिना धारकेणाऽधिकेन सह तम् —Daya).

4. Vidatha ni-cikyat tirah aratim pari apah, puts to shame the adversary of the pious man (Wilson). (विदथा, विदथानि ज्ञातव्यानि; निचिक्यत्, पश्यन्निकमेतत्; जानन्; अरतिम्, अरमणं दुःखमभिगन्तारम्, अरि वा; परि—सर्वतः; तिरः, चरति तिरस्करोति । कस्यारतिमिति; आपः व्याप्तस्य, स्तोतुः—Sayana., i e. knowing things cognizable, who disgraces the opponent or the foe of the man, the praiser.

5. "People shout after him in battles, as they do after a clothes-stealing thief, or a falcon let loose and swooping downwards, and a glorious herd of cattle."—People shout after him as they do after a clothes-stealing thief, i.e. one who steals clothes. Vastram is derived from √ वस्, to wear. The word tayu (तायु) is synonymous of thief (स्तेन): "He is a store-house (संस्त्यानं) of sin", say the etymologists, or it may be derived from √तस्, to perish.

People shout after him in battles. The word bhara (भर) is a synonym of battle; it is derived from the root √भृ, to bear; or √हृ, to carry away. Swooping downwards (नीचायमानं), pouncing downwards. Downwards is going down; upwards is going up. Like a falcon let loose. Falcon (श्येनं) is so called because it swoops in an admirable manner (शंसनीयं गच्छति). And a glorious herd of cattle, i.e. a famous herd of cattle; glory and the herd, or wealth and the herd. Yutham (यूथ) or herd is derived from √ यु, to connect; it is compact.

Srava, श्रव, food; also praise (प्रशंसा)

10. "Dadhikra spread out the five tribes with might as the sun, the waters with his light. Thousand gaining, hundred gaining is the swift courser. May he commingle these speeches with honey". See Nir.; here madhu (honey) means water; madhu (मधु) is derived from the verb धम्, to blow by reversing the letters धम्—मधु (Nir.X.31).

Hymn-39

1. Dadhikram, दधिक्रां, sustainer of one worth sustaining (धर्त्तव्यं धरं —Daya.; दधदन्यं धारयन् क्रामतीति दधिक्राः ; also the name of a Deva, तमेतन्नामकं देवम्—Sayana).

See Nir. II.27 and 28; Dadhikra is a synonym of horse (Nigh. I.14), because it runs while bearing a rider on its back, or it neighs while bearing a rider on its back, or it looks beautiful while bearing a rider on its back. There are Vedic passages where the word is used for horse as well as a deity.

(तत्र दधिक्रा इत्येतद् दधत् क्रामतीति वा। दधत् क्रन्दतीति वा। दधदाकारी भवतीति वा। तस्याश्ववद् देवतावच्च निगमा भवन्ति—Nir.II.27. See also IV.40.4.

2. Dadhikravnah, दधिक्राव्णः, of the one who pleases the custodians of knowledge (विद्याधरान् कामयते तस्य—Daya.); praise (स्तुति) of Dadhikra (Sayana).

3. Aditih, parents (मातापिता वा—Daya.); the indivisible, (or infrangible).

Dadhikra, (अखण्डनीयो दधिक्राः—Sayana).

Dadhikravnah, worship of the steed; praise of the horse.

4. Marutam, मरुतां, of the praisers (स्तोतॄणां स्वभूतं—Sayana).

5. Surabhi no mukha karat, may he make our mouths fragrant. (The mouth is defiled by the use of inelegant language, Yv. XXIII.32; Av. XX.127.3.) This verse used to be recited at the time of the Asvamedha, when the priests used to bring queen away from the horse (Mahidhara).

6. Dadhikravnah, praise of dadhikra; the ordainer of dharma or sacred duties (धर्मधरस्य क्रमयितुर्वा—Daya.).

Hymn-40

For verse 4, see Nir. II.28.

1. Dadhikravnah, the praise of dadhikra, the one who impels wind etc. (वाय्वादि कारणं क्रामयितुः—Daya.).

Angirasasya, of the one born in the vital breaths (अङ्गिरस्सु प्राणेषु भवस्य—Daya.).

Bṛhaspateh, of the great master or saviour (बृहतां पालकस्य—Daya.).

Jisnoh, जिष्णोः, of jisnu; of the one victorious (जयशीलस्य—Daya.); name of a deity—Sayana.

3 Taritratah, by the side of the transporter. (अध्वनस्तरिता—Daya.); along the one who conveys across the other side.

Syenasya-iva dhrajatah etc. as swift as a hawk; as of a hawk, quick-going with respect to the insertion of the foot or to the breast (literal trans.).

(अंकसं पादाधारम्, उरः प्रदेशं वा—Sayana). See Yv. IX.15.

4. "That courser hastens with speed, although it is bound by neck, flank and mouth. Putting forth its best power, dadhikra sprang along the bonds of roads".

—That courser, i.e. the swift runner, trots on the road with speed, i.e. quickly, although it is bound by the neck.

Griva (ग्रीवा) is derived from √गृ, to swallow or from √गृ, to call out, or from √ग्रह्, to seize. Bound by flank and mouth has been earlier explained in the Nirukta. Putting forth its best power, i.e. action or intelligence. Anu santavitvat (अनु सम्ऽतवीत्वत्) is a word derived from the simple original form of tan (तन्) to spread. Bends of roads (पथां अंकांसि).

Panthah (पन्थाः, path) is derived from √पत्, to fall, or from √पद्, to go, or from √पन्थ्, to move.

Ankah, (अंकः, curve) is derived from √अञ्च्, to bend. A-paniphanat (आपनीफणत्) is a reduplicated form (intensive) of √फण्, to bound.

5. This verse is also known as the Hansavati Ṛc; also see Yv. X 24 and XII.14; Ait.Br. IV.20.1.

Aditya has been regarded as the Sun in the type dadhikra with para-brahma, or the supreme deity.

Hansa (हंस)—derived from √हन्, to go, he who goes eternally to destroy, who destroys individually, or it is resolvable into अहं+सः (I+he), i.e. I am that, the Supreme. Also one who destroys sins (यो हन्ति पापानि सः—Daya.).

Vasu, the appointer of the stations of all creatures or all men, or that which abides (वसति) at all times (सर्वदा). Also one who stays in bodies etc. (यः शरीरादिषु वसति—Daya.).

Hota, the sacrificer (here agni); the donor and receiver (दाता आदाता वा—Daya.).

Atithi, or guest, meaning agni or fire; first as the sacrificial, and secondly as culinary fire (अतिथिवत् सदा पूज्योऽग्निः—Sayana); an unexpected guest (अनियततिथिः—Daya.).

Nṛsad (नृऽसत्), one present among men (यो नरेषु सीदति—Daya.); the dweller among men; one who dwells in men as consciousness and vitality (नृषु मनुष्येषु चैतन्यरूपेण सीदतीति नृषत्—Sayana).

Ṛta sat (ऋतऽसत्) is he who is present in truth, or in water or in sacrifice (ऋतं सत्य ब्रह्मयज्ञो वा तत्र सीदतीति ऋतसत् अग्निः—Sayana).

Vyomsat (व्योमऽसत्), the dweller in the sky; it may be wind (वायुः—Sayana; यो व्योम्नि सीदति—Daya.).

Abjah (अप्ऽजाः), born of water or in the midst of water; (उदकेषु जातः। उदकमध्ये खल्वयं जायते—Sayana). This refers to the rising of the sun from the ocean and again setting in the same.

Gojah (गोऽजाः), born amidst rays (गो=रश्मि, ray); or born out of the earth (यो गोषु पृथिव्यादिषु जातः—Daya).

Ṛtajah (ऋतऽजाः), born of truth (यः सत्याज्जातः—Daya.); (born from the mantras of the Vedas—Sayana.); also born of truth, from being visible by all, not invisible like Indra and the rest (ऋतं सत्यम् । सर्वैर्दृश्यत्वेन सत्यजातः । न ह्यसाविन्द्रादिवत् परोक्षोभवति—Sayana); or born in water like electricity or lightning, or sea-fire (यद्वा, उदकेषु वैद्युतरूपेण वाडवरूपेण वा जातः—Sayana).

Adrijah (अद्रिजाः), cloud-born (योऽद्रेर्मेघाज्जातः—Daya.; अद्रि=cloud, Nigh I.10); mountain-born (अद्रावुदयाचले जातः—the sun born in the eastern Udayacala mountain—Sayana).

On the spiritual side, the text refers to the lower self and the Supreme Self; see Ait.Br. हंसः शुचिषदित्येषवै हंसः शुचिषत् (IV.20). Aditya is the Sun; more so, it represents Brahman, ऋतं सत्यमबाध्य सर्वाधिष्ठानं ब्रह्मतत्वम्, the indefeasible, all regulating principle, the supreme universal spirit, the parabrahma, सत्य ज्ञानमनन्त ब्रह्म, truth, wisdom, and infinitude (ऋतं बृहत्).

Hymn-41

In this verse, though the names are two Indra (the resplendent) and Varuna, the venerable; both these terms refer to one and the same Supreme Reality, who alone is invoked; these invocations and praises, yielding multifarious benefits, as a cow that has gone forth to pasture furnishes milk through thousands of channels (verse 5)—सहस्रधारा पयसा मही गौः ।

6. Paritakmyayam, be around us (Wilson); परितक्म्यायाम् = परितस्तक्मानश्वो यस्यां तस्याम्—Daya. See Nir. XI.25 for परितक्म्या where it means night (किं परितकनम् । परितक्म्या रात्रिः । परित एना तक्म । तक्मेत्युष्णनाम । तकति इति सतः) —What was the errand with regard to us ? What night ?

Paritakmya means night, because takma surrounds it on both sides. Takma is a synonym of heat, because it goes away (√तक् to go away). See X.108.1.

Surah, of the Sun (प्रेरकस्य सूर्यस्य—Sayana).

Dṛsike (दृशीके), for the visibility of the sun for a long time, i.e. for a long life (चिरकाल दर्शनाय चिरजीवनाय—Sayana).

8. Yavayuh (युवय्यूः), longing for you (युवां कामयमानाः—Sayana, Daya.).

9. Jostarah-iva, जोष्टारःऽइव, as servants (सेवमाना इव—Daya.), i.e. as servants on a rich master. Also a flatterer, from √जुष्, to please.

Hymn-42

1. Mama dvita rastram Ksattriyasya visvayoh, two-fold is my empire, of the defence people of long and full lives (visvayoh, विश्वायोः विश्वं पूर्णमायुर्यस्य, तस्य—Daya ; विश्वायोः कृत्स्नमनुष्याधीशस्य--Sayana; or visvayoh means entire or the whole, here it may mean the entire military race Sayana unnecessarily translates. Ksattriyasya, as of these born in the ksattriya clan (क्षत्रियजात्युत्पन्नस्य). Tvita is two-fold : (according to Sayana one pertaining to earth and the second to heaven, द्विता क्षितिस्वर्गभेदेन द्वित्वापन्नं—Sayana) Perhaps, the better would be of the ruler (राजा) and ruled (प्रजा), these two divisions.

Visve amrta yatha nah, all the immortals are ours. (Sayana presumes that Svarga is a separate world over which the Supreme Being also presides, and the Svarga is inhabited by the immortal ones (अमृताः देवाः). The Supreme Being is Varuna, perhaps, he is also identified with Trasdasyu (see verse 3)—अहं (i.e. त्रसदस्युः) इन्द्रः वरुणः (am Indra and Varuna also).

2. Krsteh, of people.

Aham, is Trasadasyu (Sayana), the Supreme Lord (जगदीश्वरः —Daya.).

Asuryani, of clouds-like, of wicked people, (असुराणां मेघादीनामिमानि चिह्नानि—Daya.) असुरः = मेघः (Nigh. I.10).

4. Sadane rtasya, ऋतं=water (Nigh.I.12); as the abode of water; or in the final world of truth (सदने सर्वस्थित्यर्थे जगति, ऋतस्य सत्यस्य प्रकृत्याख्यस्य —Daya.).

Aham (अहं)=The Supreme Lord; apah = water or midspace.

5. Tridhatu (त्रिऽधातु), three-fold elementary state or of three sorts (त्रि प्रकारं—Sayana); or the entire creation, resting on three principles of satva, rajas and tamas (त्रयः सत्वरजस्तमांसि गुणा धारका यस्मिंस्तत् सर्वं जगत—Daya.).

8. Trasadasyu, the one of whom the wicked ones are terribly afraid of (त्रस्यन्ति दस्यवो यस्मात्तम्—Daya).

Daurgahe, in the very deep (दुर्गहे—Daya.). According to Sayana, Daurgaha is the son of Durgaha (दुर्गहः), identified as Purukutsa. Sayana refers to a parable which the mythology evolved out at a later age; Purukutsa, son of Durgaha, being a prisoner; on a certain occasion, his queen (पुरुकुत्सानी) propitiated the seven Ṛsis (सप्तर्षयः) to obtain a son to succeed his father as king in due course. The seven Ṛsis advised her to worship Varuna and Indra, and in consequence, she got a son who came to be known as Trasadasyu.

9. Ardhadevam, this refers to the Sun who lights up at a time half of the universe. Sayana refers it to Indra, who is considered as one-half of all the gods taken together; and he thus alone is entitled to have the largest sharings.

Purukutsani, पुरुकुत्सानी, wife of Purukutsa (Sayana); a lady with a large mass of ills and evils (पुरूणि कुत्सानी यस्यां सा—Daya.).

10. Anapa-sphurantim, one exhibiting strong will and penetrating wisdom (दृढां निश्चलां प्रज्ञां सम्पादयन्तीम्—Daya.); free from any imperfection—Wilson (अनवह्वितताम्—Sayana).

Hymn-43

Like some of the earlier hymns, this hymn also refers to Sun, his daughter Surya (dawn), Indra, Dasras and Nasatya. For Dasras see I.3.3; 30.17; 46.2; 47.3; 6; 92.16; 112.24; 116.10; 16; 117.5; 20; 21; 139.3; 4; 18.5; 182.3; 183.5 etc.

2. Dravat-asvam, द्रवत्ऽश्रश्वम्, one equipped with fast moving horses (द्रवन्तो द्रुतं गच्छन्तोऽश्वा यस्मिंस्तम्—Daya.; आशुम्—Sayana).

Maksu, quickly, with speed (शीघ्रम्—Sayana).

3. Paritakmyayam, at the end of night (रात्रावतीतायाम्—Sayana); in the creation full of jolly persons (परितः सर्वतस्तकन्ति हसन्ति यस्यां सृष्टौ तस्याम् —Daya.).

4. Dasra, दस्रा, destroyers or dispellers of pain (दुःखोपेक्षयितारौ—Daya.; दस्रा शत्रूणामुपक्षयितारौ अश्विनौ, dispeller of enemies; Asvins—Sayana).

Madhvi, O the creator or dispenser of sweet saps (मधुर रसस्योदकस्य स्रष्टारौ—Sayana).

6. Sindhu, river, sea or water in general.

Hymn-44

1. अद्या = अद्य ।

2. Sangatim goh, bringer into union (गो गवां संगमयितारं—Sayana), or associator of Go; Go is earth (Daya.); associator of the solar ray (Wilson), since Asvins are associated with light or the sun.

3. Kakuhasah, कुकुहासः, all the directions (सर्वादिशः—Daya.); (ककुहः = ककुभ. = दिक्; Nigh.I.6); large horses (महान्तोऽश्वाः—Sayana).

6. It refers to Purumilha and Ajamilha (उभयेषु पुरुमील्हाजमीह्लेषु —Sayana); also later on the two Ṛsis of the hymn. To Dayananda, उभयेषु refers to king and his people.

Ajamilha (अजमील्ह) is one who trains goats, his children are आजमील्ह (येऽजान् विद्यया मिञ्चन्ति, तदपत्यानि—Daya.). The word exists no where else in the Ṛgveda.

For Purumilha, also see I.151.2; 183.5; V.61.9; VIII.71.14.

Hymn-45

1. Mithunahtrayah, मिथुनाः त्रयः, pairs of threes.

Trayah, wind, water and lightning (Daya.); three sorts of foods (trayah praksasah, त्रिविधा अन्नानि;—"अशन, पानं, खादश्च" इति हि श्रुतम्—Sayana. Even the term mithuna (मिथुन) or pair so often stands for a group of more than two; here mithuna represents mother, father and the son (Taittiriyas).

Dṛtih, leather vessel for holding water; (रसद्रव्याधारः पदार्थश्चर्ममयो दृतिरित्युच्यते —Sayana); and cloud (Nigh. I.10); also leather vessel-like cloud (दृतिमिव वर्त्तमानं मेघम्—Daya. in verse 3).

4. Hamsasah, हंसासः, horses (Nigh. I.14); horses moving with the speed of swans.

Maksah, king of bees or big flies.

6. Akenipasah, आकेऽनिपासः, rays which always fall very close (य आके समीपे नितरां पान्ति ते किरणाः—Daya.).

Hymn-46

2. Niyutvan, strong and mighty wind (बलवान समर्थो वायुः—Daya.; नियुद्भिस्तद्वान्—Sayana).

Indra sarathih, Indra as the assistant, or as a charioteer; Indra is lightning or vidyut (Daya.).

3. Indra-vayu, a pair of the sun and wind; or wind and lightning; or of king and his army; or of a teacher and preacher, or of king and his minister (Daya.).

Hymn-47

1. Sukrah, shining by discipline and penance (व्रतचर्यादिना दीप्तोऽहं —Sayana); purified by holy acts (Wilson), मध्वः (gen.) = मधुम् (acc.).

Hymn-48

2. Niyutvan, see IV.46 2.

1. Vipah na rayah, like a prince, the terror of foes (शत्रूणां वेपयिता राजेव—Sayana); विप.—wise man (मेधावी—Daya.), रायः = wealth (धनानि—Daya.; aryah, businessman (वैश्यः—Daya.); Candrena, by golden or bright (सुवर्णमयेन—Daya.).

2. Indra Sarathih, the one who moves Indra in orderly way. Indra is lightning, the sun or fire.

5. Harinam, हरीणां, of men (मनुष्याणां—Daya.); of horses also yoked to a chariot.

Sahasrinah, thousands or numerous.

3. Kṛsne vasudhiti—kṛsne—kṛsne (the drawn, कर्षिते); vasudhiti (the conditions governing the motion of heavenly bodies in space—वसूनां धितिर्ययोर्द्यावा पृथिव्योस्ते—Daya.); dark nurses of wealth—Wilson; कृष्णवर्णे वसूनां धात्र्यौ—Sayana.

Hymn-49

The hymn invokes Indra and Bṛhaspati, the Lord with resplendence and supremacy. The pair of Indra and Bṛhaspati has been interpreted as the pair of (i) lightning and the sun; (ii) king and his minister and (iii) teacher and preacher (Daya.).

Hymn-50

Bṛhaspati is the Sun; the glory of Lord in the sun, and finally, the Lord Supreme.

1. Trisadhasthah (त्रिसधस्थः)—Three level places, or the triad of knowledge, action and devotion (त्रिषु समानस्थानेषु कर्मोपासना ज्ञानेषु वा—Daya.).

Ravena, रवेण, by sound advice (उपदेशेन—Daya.).

Also, who abides with noise in three regions (त्रिषु स्थानेषु वर्त्तमानाः, रवेण एवं तिष्ठतेत्यनेन शब्देन—Sayana).

4. Sapta asyah, seven-mouthed, the seven sorts of rays are the mouth, of that one; sapta rasmih, the seven rays.

6. Visvadevaya, the universal deity; the Supreme Lord, an appellation of Bṛhaspati. Deva also means praise (देव शब्दः स्तुत्यर्थः—Sayana), and hence, he who has the praise of all (सर्वस्तुत्याय—Sayana); also for one who enlightens all (विश्वस्य प्रकाशकस्य—Daya.).

7—9. See Ait Brahmana VIII.5.24-26. Sayana interprets these verses as an authority for the indispensable employment by a prince of a Brahmana as a family priest (purohita) to conduct solemn rites on his behalf. By a Brahmana is meant a person who is well versed in divine knowledge and leads the life of dedication

Hymn-51

For verse I, see Nir. I.5.

I. इदम् । ऊँ इति । See Nir. I.5; the letter u (उकार) is used after in the sense of 'mutual opposition' (विनिग्रहार्थ); it is also used as expletive (पद पूरणः), as in इदमु (IV.51.1) and तदु (I.62.6).

1. Divo duhitarah, daughters of heaven, i.e. dawns.

Gatum, to the earth (पृथिवीम्—Daya.); the faculty to move or go etc. (गातु गमन गमनादि व्यापार सामर्थ्य—Sayana).

Janaya, to man, to the yajamana (यजमानानां —Sayana).

Gatum kṛnavan janaya, are giving man the faculty to act (Wilson); they give to the offerers of sacrifice the ability to perform the acts of going and the like.

3. Panayah, the accomplished women (प्रशंसनीया—Daya.); traders, non-givers, churlish traffickers (वणिज इव आदातारः—Sayana).

Maghonih, the wives of those who have love and respect for wealth (सत्कृत धनानां स्त्रियः—Daya); wealthy ones (धनवत्यः—Sayana).

Radhodeyaya, for liberally giving wealth (धनं दातुं योग्याय व्यवहाराय—Daya.).

4. Navagve, dasagve, nine day's rite and ten day's rite; for the one accompanying nine cows or ten cows (नवगावो विद्यन्ते यस्य तस्मै; दशगावो यस्य तस्मै—Daya.).

Sapta-asye, in the one who has seven vital breaths in the mouth (सप्तप्राणाश्चास्ये यस्य तस्मिन्—Daya.). Seven-mouthed Angirasas—i.e. repeating the Seven Vedic metres.

11. It has been an old practice of reciting this verse inaudibly every morning at day-break (Wilson).

Hymn-52

1. Sunari, a fine lady-leader; a woman of status (सुष्ठुनेत्री —Daya.); the conductress (of men)—Wilson. See also I.48.5; 8; 10; and VII.81.1 for सूनरी; for सूनर. VIII.29.1 and X.115.7 and सूनरम्—I.40.4; V.34.7 rays of light (i.e. dawn). (सूनरी जनानां सुष्ठु नेत्र्युषा.—Sayana, VII.81.1).

Asva (अश्वा) iva, like a mare.

Compare माता गवामृतावरी (2) with माता गवामसि (3); ऋतावरी (2) with सूनृतावरि (4), and विभावरि (6).

Ṛtavari—giver of eternal truth (बहुसत्यप्रकाशिका—Daya.; Sunṛtavari, giver of true speech (सत्यवाक्प्रकाशिका—Daya.); Vibhavari, the possessor of wide enlightenment (प्रशस्तविविध प्रकाशयुक्ता —Daya.).

4. Yavayad-dvesasam, baffler of animosities (यावयन्तं द्वेष्टारं द्वेषसं द्वेष्टारं पृथक् कारयन्तीम्—Daya.). The dawn puts to flight those enemies who had been endeavouring to destroy their adversaries during the night.

5. Gavam sarga na, like the creations of the earth etc. (गवां पृथिवीनां सर्गाः सृष्टयः न इव—Daya.); like showers of rain (गवां उदकानां सर्गा न वर्षधारा इवेयम्—Sayana).

Hymn-53

The hymn is devoted to the Sun, the centre of our planetary system. The Sun is Savitṛ. So is our Supreme Lord, the Creator of the universe. The verse 5 indicates mystically the three firmaments, three worlds, three spheres, the three heavens, the threefold earth and the three functions of Savitṛ. Just as the planetary system has a Sun to guide and hold the equilibrium, so we have the adhidaivata realm, the realm of sense organs and the mental activity. There is a third realm of spiritual existence, the adhyatmika. The verses 6 and 7 invoke the Savitṛ of this last realm.

1. Chardih, छर्दिः, dwelling (Nigh. III.4), तत् छर्दिः नः महान् उदयान् देवः अक्तुभिः—May the great Lord grant us such dwelling, such light or enlightenment every day.

2. Pisangam drapim prati muncate, leaves or casts off the armour of special form (विचित्र रूपं कवच प्रतित्यजति—Daya.); puts on his golden armour (हिरण्मयं कवचमाच्छादयति प्रत्युदयम्; every morning he puts on a golden euirass—Sayana).

3. Bahu asrak (बाहू असाक्); puts forth his arms (or his rays); brings forth his arms (i.e. his strength and valour, सृजति बलवीर्ये—Daya.).

5. Trih antariksam, (अन्तरिक्षं = अन्तरक्षयमाकाशम्—Daya).

(According to Sayana, antariksa, is divided between Vayu, Vidyut and Varuna in to three portions).

Tri rajamsi, three worlds (उत्तममध्यमनिकृष्टानि, the best, medium and the worst—Daya.; क्षित्यन्तरिक्षद्युलक्षणान् त्रिलोकान्, the earth, the midspace, and the sky—Sayana).

Trini rocana, three brilliant spheres (विद्युत् भौतिक सूर्यरूपाणि ज्योतींषि —Daya); the regions of Agni, Vayu and Surya—Sayana.

Tisrodivah, three heavens, three lights, of the Sun, of moon (and stars), and of lamps and flames (प्रकाशान्—Daya.); the lokas of Indra, Prajapati and Satya Loka (Sayana).

Tisrah prthivih, the three divisions of earth,—land, water and air (क्षित्यवान्तरभेदान् लोकान् —Sayana).

Tribhih vrataih, by three types of rules (नियमै.—Daya); i.e. distributing heat, rain and cold (उष्णवर्षहिमाख्यैः—Sayana).

Hymn-54

This hymn again invokes the Creator, the Savitr. On the physical plane, the hymn describes the characteristics of our Sun, the centre of the planetary system.

2. Suvasi, from su to bear or bring forth, thou engenderest (Sayana). From the same su, we have suvatat (सुवतात्—verse 3), suvati (सुवति — verse 4) and again suvasi (सुवसि — verse 5). Dayananda translates suvasi as thou impelest (सुवसि प्रेरयसि, सुवतात् प्रेरय).

Anucina jivita, successive existences, as father, son, grandson and so on (जीवितान्यनुक्रमयुक्तानि—Sayana; यान्यनुचरन्ति तानि जीवितानि—Daya.). See also Yv. XXXIII.54.

5. Yatha-yatha patayantah vi-yemire, in the like manner at thy command they stayed (Wilson); (पतयन्त. पतिरिवाचरन्त: ; वियेमिरे विशेषेण नियच्छन्ति —Daya.; यथायथा पतयन्त: गच्छन्त: त्वां वियेमिरे विनियम्यन्ते त्वया—Sayana).

Hymn-55

The hymn refers to Vasus, Aditi, Mitra, Varuna (1), Sindhu and svasti (3); Aryaman, Varuna, Agni, Indra, Visnu (4); Parvata, Maruts, Bhaga and Mitra (5); Dyava-pṛthivi and Ahibudhnya (6), Aditi, Mitra, Varuna and Agni (7); Usas (9); and Savitṛ, Bhaga, Varuna, Mitra, Aryaman and Indra (10). See earlier references on these terms. They have a variety of interpretations on different planes and in different contexts.

3. Svasti, abode of happiness; well-being.

Hymn-56

1. Dyava-pṛthivi, a pair of the sun and earth (Daya.).

2. Devi, shining (देदीप्यमाने); aminati (अमिनती), unharming (अहिंसके), uksamane, sprinkling with happiness (सर्वान् प्राणिन: सुखै: सिञ्चमाने); ṛtavari, possessing truth (बहुवृत सत्य विद्यते ययोस्ते—Daya.; ṛta is also water or sacrifice); adruha, not opposing or violent (अद्रोग्धव्ये); devaputre, having learned people as sons (देवा विद्वांस: पुत्रा ययोस्ते); netri, leaders or investigators (नयनकर्त्र्यौ).—Daya.

Hymn-57

For verses 1, 2 and 5, see Nir.X.15, X.16 and IX.41, respectively.

The hymn is devoted to agriculture. The Grhya Sutras recommend the verses to be recited at the time of ploughing. Ksetrapati the landlord, sunasira, the servants of the landlord, sita, furrow are typical agricultural terms.

1. Ksetram, क्षेत्रम्, abode; the word is derived from √क्षि, meaning to dwell,—the ksetra-pati is thus the protector or supporter of the dwelling place. (Nir.X.14).

"We will win with the lord of abode as with a friend; bring to us a horse or a cow, O nourisher. He shall be gracious to us for such (a gift)"—We will win with the lord of abode as with a very friendly person. Bring, O nourisher, a well-nourished cow or horse. He shall be gracious to us for such (a gift).

With strength or wealth. The verb √मृल् means to give.

2. O lord of the abode, bestow upon us the wave, rich in honey, distilling honey, and well-purified like clarified butter, as cow does its milk. May the lords of the sacred law be gracious to us

The verb √मृलय् means to protect or to worship. Some authorities think that the two words मधुमन्त (rich in honey) and मधुश्चुतं (distilling honey) have tautology (समानाभिव्यवहार) in them, just as in हिरण्यरूप: स हिरण्यसंदृग् (golden in form, he is golden in appearance (II.35.10). Another school of thought does not admit tautology, if there is some difference, even if it is very slight, as for instance in मण्डूका इवोदकान् मण्डूका उदकादिव (X 166 2), or "as from water the frogs" and "as frogs from water".

5. Sunah (शुन:) means wind, so called because it moves quickly in the atmosphere; sirah (सीर:) means the sun, from moving √सृ; O wind and the sun, enjoy this praise. Sprinkle ye both this (earth) with whatever water you make in heaven.

Dayananda refers to the pair of land-lord and his servants (शुनासीरौ क्षेत्रपति-भृत्यौ) instead of the pair of wind and the sun.

7. Sitam, furrow (भूमिकर्षिका—Daya.). See Yv. XII.69-72.

8. Sunam, happily (सुखम्—Daya.).

Phalah, फाला: ploughshares.

Kinasah, कीनाशा: ploughmen (कृषीवला:—Daya.).

For verses 7 and 8, see Av. III.17.4 and 13.

Hymn-58

For verses 1, 3 and 8, see Nir. VII.17, XIII.7 and VII.20.

For the whole hymn, see Yv. XVII.89-99.

1. Samudrat urmih madhuman ut arat, the wave rich in honey, has arisen from the ocean. According to the Nirukta, this is regarded as referring to the sun (VII.17). The sun rises, indeed, from the oceans and from the waters (समुद्राद्ध्येषोऽद्भ्य उदेति—Kausitaki Br. XXV.1) as we have this Brahmana quotation.

Dayananda, on the other hand, translates samudrat as from the interspace (अन्तरिक्षात्; Nigh. I.3).

Amsuna, by the sun; ghṛtasya, of water.

The verse refers to the mystic name of ghṛta (घृत), it is the tongue of Nature's bounties and the navel of ambrosia.

Sayana has given various shades of meaning to this verse, according to the signification one gives to samudra; (i) as that in which the worshippers delight, i.e. sacrificial fire (संमोदन्तेऽस्मिन्यजमाना: इति वा समुद्रोऽग्नि: पार्थिव:) or (ii) that from which waters rush (समुद्रद्रवन्त्यापोऽस्माद् इति व्युत्पत्त्या वैद्युतोऽग्नि:) i.e. the celestial fire or lightning.

Urmi in the first case may imply reward or consequence. (ऊर्मि:—ऊर्मिवदुपर्युपरि उद्भूत:); in the latter case, rain; and in the latter sense of urmi, samudra may have one of its more ordinary meanings, antariksa or firmament. Samudra may imply, etymologically, the udder of a cow, whence flows milk, samudravati, from which comes urmi, ghee or butter.

2. Here again a reference to ghṛta, which is the name of clarified butter also. Here in this verse, we have a reference to the four-horned Brahma (चतु:श्रृङ्ग:), which is elaborated in the verse 3. The four horns are the four Vedas (Daya.).

Gaurah, fair-complexioned; one who is fond of divine speech and good learning (यो गवि सुशिक्षितायां वाचि रमते सः—Daya.); gaura = yajna (Mahidhara).

Avamid gaura etat—The fair complexioned deity perfects this rite (Wilson). According to Sayana, the verse applies to Agni as the Sun.

3. One of the very popular verses, interpreted differently by people of different discipline:

(i) As applied to yajna (the Aditya) : the four horns—the four Vedas; the three feet—three daily sacrifices (morning, midday and evening) ; the two heads — two ceremonies—Brahmaudanam and Pravargya : according to the Nirukta—the prayaniya (प्रायणीय) and the udayaniya (उदयनीय); the seven hands—the seven metres (candas, Gayatri etc.); the three bonds—mantra, kalpa and Brahmana i.e. the prayer, the ceremonial and the rationale.

(ii) Another way, applied to yajna: the four horns—the four priests, the Hotṛ, Udgatṛ, Adhvaryu and Brahma; the three feet—the three Vedas, the Ṛk, the Saman and the Yajus; the two heads—the Havirdhana and Pravargya rites; the seven hands—the seven metres or the seven priests; the three bonds—the three daily sacrifices.

(iii) As applied to Aditya, the Sun : the four horns—the four cardinal points of the horizon : east, south, west and north; the three feet—morning, noon and evening; the two heads—day and night; the seven hands—the seven rays or the seven seasons (the six seasons and the aggregate, or the years as the seventh); the three bonds—the three regions, earth, mid-air and heaven.

(iv) As applied to grammatical speech : the four horns—nouns, verbs, prepositions and particles; the three feet—three persons or three times (past, present and future), two heads—the agent and the object; the seven hands—the seven cases; three bindings—the three numbers, singular, dual and plural.

The Nirukta (XIII.7) favours the details outlined under the head (i).

4. The Panis, or the Asuras the traders. For this, see earlier notes. The three forms or states in which the ghee (घी) was deposited in the cow are milk, curd and butter, of which Indra engendered (जजान) milk, Surya butter and the gods (देवास:) fabricated (ततक्षु:) curds from the shining (वेनत्), that is Agni.

According to Dayananda, gavi is 'in the divine speech'; ghṛta, is the divine bliss or enlightenment, Venat is from the close proximity of Lord.

5. Samudrat, from the mid-air (अन्तरिक्षात्—Daya.); Satavrajah (शतव्रजा:), innumerable movements (अपरिमित गतय:—Sayana), etah, i.e. showers of water (आपो घृतधारा वा—Sayana).

Vetasah, produced out of waters, fire or lightning (वेतस: अप्संभवोऽग्निर्वैद्युत—Sayana); lovable (कमनीय:—Daya.).

6. Sayana utilizes the verse for pouring clarified butter from the ladle on the sacrificial fire.

Dhenah, enlightened speech (विद्यायुक्ता वाच:—Daya.); words, texts flowing like rivers (धेना: प्रीणयित्र्यो नद्य इव—Sayana).

Antarhṛda manasa puyamana, freed from error by the heart and the mind; or by the mind gone within the heart (मनसा हृदयमध्यगतेन चित्तेन —Sayana.; अन्त: स्थितेनात्मना शुद्धेनान्त:करणेन पवित्रता कुर्वाण:—Daya.).

7. Kasthah bhindan urmibhih pinvamanah—काष्ठा:, limitating circles (मर्यादाभूतान् परिधीन्—Sayana); banks like the directions, or directional boundaries (दिश इव तटी:—Daya.).

Ghrta, water; sindhoh iva, like a river (sindhu may be antariksa also).

10. Ghrtasya dhara, the streams or speeches through which knowledge flows (प्रकाशितस्य बोधस्य प्रकाशिका वाच:—Daya).

Su-stutim gavyam ajim—the sacred praise, the source of herds of cattle; gavyamajim the number or collection relating to cattle, —Sayana), function in relation to well-known speech—गव्यं गवे वाचे हितं व्यवहारम्—Daya.); or abundance of water.

The entire hymn is characterized by mystic thoughts, and elegant spiritual realization.

NOTES ON BOOK No. 5

Hymn-1

For verse 2, see Nir. VI.13.

1. उषासम्=उषसम् (अन्येषामपि०—Panini VI.3.136).

See Yv. XX.24.

Prati dhenum iva ayatimusasam, as the cow is awakened in the morning by the calf and men by day-break. (Mahidhara)

Yahva iva pra vayamujjihanah, as large birds springing from the branches of the trees, or as the largest birds from their nests (Mahidhara). (यह्वा इव—महान्तो वृक्षाः, like large trees; वयां शाखां, branches; उज्जिहानाः —त्यजन्तः,springing from; leaving—Daya.; वयां वृक्षशाखां—Mahidhara).

2. Rusat, this is a synonym of colour; it is derived from the root √ रुच्, meaning to shine: the "brilliant strength of the kindled one has been seen." (Nir. VI.13) (समिद्धस्य प्रदीप्तस्य, रुशत् रूपं, अदर्शि दृश्यते, पाजः बलम् —Daya.).

3. Yad-im ganasya rasanamajigah—when he has seized the rope of the company; that is, the confining girdle of the aggregated world (or the darkness encompassing the world, like a rope or cord, obstructing all active exertion—(गणस्य समूहस्य, of a group—Daya.; संघात्मकस्य जगतः—Sayana; रशनां रज्जुमिव व्यापारप्रतिबन्धकं, तमः—Sayana; अजीगः भृशं गिरति —Daya.).

Uttanam, one proceeding in the upward direction, ऊर्ध्वंगामिनीम् —Daya.; recumbent,—Wilson; ऊर्ध्वंतानामुपरि विस्तृताम्—Sayana).

4. Virupe, antiform (विरुद्धस्वरूपे—Daya.); multiform or of various forms (नानारूपे—Sayana); being in the fem. dual it may represent the heaven and earth—द्यावापृथिव्यौ ।

6. सुरभा उ=सुरभौ—ऊँ इति ।

Surabhau, fragrant (सुगन्धिते—Daya.); in two fragrant places.

Hymn-2

For verse 9, see Nir.IV.18.

This is a mystery hymn, which according to the ritualists, is devoted to the lightning of fire, of course, in the metaphorical allusive language, obscure at places. The mother is the two pieces of touch-wood, which retain fire; this refers to the Vedic process of attrition; the fire thus generated is the child; the father is perhaps the yajamana. The mother does not spontaneously give it up to the father until forced by attrition; till then, also, the priests do not behold it, but they see it when bursting into ignition.

On the spiritual side, the fire so generated is the fire of spiritual knowledge, the Divine Enlightenment, which has to be kindled by the yogin out of his innermost subconsciousness.

Sayana quotes unnecessarily a story in this connection from the Satyayana Brahmana, referring to Raja Tryaruna, the son of Trivṛsna of the race of Iksvakus, and the Purohita vṛsa, the son of Jara. The Raja and the Purohita (the priest) were once going in one and the same chariot, and according to the custom then prevalent, the priest was driving the chariot. By an accident, a Brahmana boy, playing on the road was killed, and the dispute ensued between the king and the priest as to which was the murderer, the driver of the chariot or the owner. The dispute was referred to an assembly of Iksvakus, who decided the matter against the priest. Thereupon, Vṛsa, the priest restored the dead boy to life by reciting the prayer known henceforth as Varsa Saman (स ऋषिर्वार्शसाम्ना तं कुमारमुदजीवयत्—Sayana). The whole incident, however, annoyed the priest, Vṛsa Ṛsi, who cursed the Iksvakus for their partiality, and thereon fire henceforth ceased to perform its functions in their dwellings,—in their kitchens and sacrifices both. On this Iksvakus invoked the presence of the priest; and pleased with this, the Ṛsi with the same mantra restored the fire to them. The story is given in the Tandya Brahmana, and the Bṛhad-devata, where we read thus also : "Vṛsa being propitiated sought for the heat of the fire in the King's house, and he found a Pisaci as a wife of the king. Having seated himself with her upon the cushion on a stool, he addressed her with the verse" (kam etam tvam, V.2.2.), speaking of the heat (haras) in the form of a boy, he addressed her (thus). And when he uttered the verse (vi jyotisa. V.2.9) the fire suddenly flamed up, repelling him who approached and illuminating what was already bright; and it burned the Pisaci where she sat." (Bṛhad. V.19-22)." The entire legend is a concoction of the post-Vedic period, and refers to some controversy between princes and priests, and a temporary discontinuance of worship with fire. The entire hymn is a beautiful composition, referring to the kindling of the innermost fire for one's enlightenment.

Dayananda refers to this hymn in connection with the marriage of youthful couples.

7. Sunah-sepam, to one indulging in worldy enjoyments and sensual functions (सुखस्य प्रापकमिन्द्रियारामम्—Daya.).

Yupat, from the simple or complicated bindings (मिश्रितादमिश्रिताद् बन्धनात्—Daya.); (शुनश्चिच्छेप—शुनःशेपम् चित् ।)

Pasan, bondages (बन्धनानि—Daya.).

9. Mayah, fraudulent intellect (छलादियुक्ताः प्रज्ञाः—Daya.).

12. Tuvigrivah, a charming damsel with health and vigour, or the one with strong neck (बहुबलयुक्ताः सुन्दरी वा ग्रीवाः यस्य सः—Daya.).

In this verse, we have a repetition of बर्हिष्मते मनवे शर्म with a slight variation as हविष्मते for बर्हिष्मते ।

Hymn-3

1. Here it implies that the same one who is Agni (adorable) is also Varuna (venerable), Mitra (friendly) and Indra (resplendent). This is true of the Supreme Self, of a learned person and in certain metaphorical aspects of the sacrificial fire. The word Agni is in vocative, and the rest are adjectival nouns.

Agne—O adorable lord, fire, a learned person (कृतविद्याभ्यास—Daya.).

Varunah, venerable, one who binds the undesirable and unwanted malevolents (दुष्टानां बन्धकृच्छ्रेष्ठः—Daya.).

Mitrah, one who measures, a friend (सखा—Daya.).

Indrah, the resplendent, the giver of prosperity (ऐश्वर्यदाता—Daya.).

2. Tvamaryama bhavasi yatkaninam—You are the Lord of Justice or Aryaman in relation to maidens (Aryama—न्यायाधीशः—Daya.; Kaninam, to maidens, to the charming (कामयमानाना—Daya.); also you are the regulator of the ceremony (aryaman=nuptial fire—सर्वेषां नियमितासि —Sayana).

Dampati Samanasa Krnosi—You make husband and wife of one mind (विवाहितौ स्त्रीपुरुषौ समानमनस्कौ दृढप्रीती कृणोषि—Daya.).

Guhyam nama, mysterious name (रहस्यं नाम—Daya.); according to Sayana, the term refers to Vaisvanara, meaning the friend of all men; a name of fire; or a person belonging to the universal brotherhood.

Gobhih, with milk products (गोभिः । विकारे प्रकृतिशब्दः । गोविकारैः क्षीरादिभिः —Sayana); of sense organs (speech etc. वागादिभिः—Daya.).

3. Gonam, of the cows, of the sense organs, of the rays, of the cow products like butter and milk.

Tena pasi guhyam nama gonam—you cherish the mysterious name of the waters (तेन गोनाम् उदकाना गुह्यं नामानि पासि रक्षसि—Sayana).

7. Abhasastim, accuser or caluminator; to the one who tortures from all sides (अभितो हिंसाम्—Daya.).

जही=जहि (अत्र द्वयच्योनस्तिङ इति दीर्घः—Panini VI.3.134).

9. Ava sprdhi pitaram yodhi vidvan putrah yah te—who like a wise son offers to thee (reverence) as to a father; or, who like a father cherishes you as a son.

10. Bhuri nama vandamano dadhati, glorifying thee, he offers the copious oblation (Nama, नाम=नामक हविः also त्वदीयं नाम—Sayana; संज्ञां—Daya.), Vandamaneh=स्तुवन् (Daya.); praising your various names, he offers oblations.

12. Agah, offence (आगः अपराधः—Daya.).

Yamasah, the directed ones (यामास: गन्तार: स्तोमा:—Sayana); the encomiums; disciplines consisting of yama and niyama (यामास: यमनियमान्विता: —Daya.).

For yama (restrainsts) and niyama (observances), see Patanjala Yoga Sutras, II.29 and 32.

Hymn-4

1. Pṛtasutih marṭyanam, hosts of (hostile) men; the army of men (पृत्सुती: सेना: मर्त्यानां मरणधर्मणां शत्रूणाम्—Daya.).

3. Visam vispatim, lord of people (विशां प्रजानां विश्पतिं प्रजापालकम् —Daya.); the wise lord of human beings (Wilson). Compare with vasupatim vasunam (verse 1).

Ghṛtapṛstham, cherished with the oblations of butter, (ghṛta= butter; and also water; घृतपृष्ठं घृतमुदकाज्यं पृष्ठ स्राधारे यस्य तम् the one whose base is butter or water—Daya.).

6. Vayah Kṛnvanah tanve svayai, appropriating the sustenance to your own person; tanu in also son, or the vajamana in that relation. (वय: जीवनं कृण्वान: तन्वे शरीराय स्वायै स्वकीयाय—Daya.; वय: अन्नं, food or sustenance —Sayana).

8. Trisadhastha, the abider in three regions (of earth, midspace and heaven—(त्रिषु क्षित्यादिषु स्थानेषु स्थित हव्यम्—Sayana; pertaining to one who does impartial justice to three—his people, servants and own relations—त्रिभि: प्रजाभृत्यात्मीयैर्जनै: सह पक्षपातरहितस्तिष्ठति, तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.).

Sarmana trivaruthena pahi, cherish us with triply-protected felicity (शर्मणा); sarman also means a house, (शर्मणा गृहेण—Daya.,); and then, the phrase would mean—protect us by or in a three-rooted, or three-storied dwelling (त्रिष्छदिष्केण गृहेण न: पाहि रक्ष—Sayana).

Trivaruthena may also mean by the three-seasonal favours (prosperity through rainy, winter and summer seasons, त्रिषु वर्षाहिमन्तग्रीष्म-समयेषु वरुथेन वरेण—Daya.).

10. Amrtatvam, immortality, perhaps through the unbroken succession of descendants (संतत्यविच्छेद लक्षणम्—Sayana; अमृतत्वं मोक्षभावम् —Daya.). Sayana quotes a line from Tait.Br. प्रजामनुप्रजायसे तदु ते मर्त्यामृतम् I.5.5.6; i.e. (when progeny is born after progeny, that verily is the immortality of your mortality).

The verses 10 and 11 are cited in the Putra-Kamesthi (पुत्रकामेष्टि) sacrifice, i.e. in the one for obtaining sons (Asva. Srauta. II.10).

Hymn-5

1. Three epithets of fire—agni (adorable), susamiddha (the well-kindled, सुप्रदीप्तम्) and jatavedas (one pervading through all born-things, जातवेदसे—जातेषु विद्यमानाय—Daya.).

2. Narasamsah, the one praised by men in general (नरैः शंसनीयो-ऽयमग्निः—Sayana; यो नरैः प्रशस्यते—Daya.).

Madhuhastah, sweet-handed, or one notable amongst the sweet-handed (मधुहस्तेषु साधुः—Daya.).

3. Ilitah (ईलितः), the one praised, honoured or adored (स्तुतः सन् —Sayana; प्रशंसितः—Daya.).

4. Urnamradah, soft as wool (ऊर्णं कम्बलवत् मृदु हे बर्हिः—Sayana; refers to grass or Barhis, Poa Cynosuroides (Wilson); anointing or rubbing with the help of servants or protecting persons (य ऊर्णं रक्षकैर्मृद्नन्ति —Daya.).

7. Vatasya patman, on the path of the wind (पत्मन् पतन्ति यस्मिन्मार्गे तस्मिन्—Daya.); or with the swiftness of the wind (पत्मन् लुप्तोपमैषा । वायुगमन-सदृश गमनार्थम्—Sayana); or through the firmament, (वातस्य पतनसाधनेऽन्तरिक्षे गच्छन्तौ—Sayana).

8. Ila, Sarasvati and Mahi, see earlier notes on I.13.9; 31.11; 142.9 etc.; the three goddesses (तिस्रः देवी).

10. Vanaspate, O the protector of forests (वनस्यपालक—Daya.). Here Vanaspati might represent Agni or fire, as identified with sacrificial post or yupa or the deity presiding over it (यूपाभिमानि देव —Sayana).

Guhya namani, the secret names or secret forms, (नामानि नामकानि रूपाणि—Sayana).

11. Svaha, the truthful speech (सत्यावाक्—Daya.).

This word has several meanings (i) to give an oblation, with the final utterance of the term Svaha, स्वाहा (स्वाहा करोमि इति शेषः); to give a good offering (सु+आहुतं करोमि); a praise (स्वाहाः कृतेः स्तुतिः—Sayana). Svaha is also one of the Apris or personification of Agni. (See Nir. VIII.20.21) : Consecrations by saying Svaha (hail!). They are so called because the word Svaha (स्वाहा) is uttered in them; or speech herself said 'well ho !" (स्वा वागा हेति वा), or one addressed himself, or one offers oblation unsecrated with "Svaha" (hail); see Ṛv. X. 110.11 : Yv; XXIX.36; Av. V.12.11—अस्य होतुः प्रदिश्यृतस्य वाचि स्वाहाकृतं हविरदन्तु देवाः—May the gods eat the oblation consecrated with the utterance of "स्वाहा Swaha" (hail) in the speech (i.e. the mouth) of this sacrificer, set up in the eastern direction.

Hymn-6

1. Astam, the one who is the shelter or asylum of all (सर्वेषां गृहवद् आश्रयभूतम्—Sayana); the one utilized or evoked (अस्तं प्रक्षिप्तं प्रेरितम् —Daya.). See also Yv. XV.41.

2. See also Yv.XV.42.

6. Pro tye agnayah agnisu visvam pusyanti varyam—These fires cherish (or nourish—पुष्यन्ति) all that is precious; they give delight. The primary flames of Agni, when manifested in the household fires are the source of riches (Wilson).

Hinvire, spread widely (वर्धयन्ति); invire, pervade (व्याप्नुवन्ति—Daya.)

7. Ye patvabhih safanam vraja bhuranta gonam—They seek postures of the hoofed cattle. Patvabhih = पतनैः = by fallings (गमनैः —Daya.); vraja = वेगान्, speeds. Those rays which by fallings wish for or proceed to the herds of hoofed cattle. Perhaps meaning thereby that the spreading flames long for the burnt offerings. (Wilson and Sayana).

9. Ubhe darvi, the two ladles, perhaps juhu (जुहू) and upabhṛta (उपभृत्), used for pouring the melted butter upon the fire—see Yv. XV.43.

Hymn-7

1. Urjah, of the one with strength and bravery (बलस्य, पराक्रम—युक्तस्य—Daya.); also water (ऊर्जम्=ओजः=तेजः=उदकम् or water—Mahidhara).

Urjah-naptre, grandson of water, i.e. fire (water's son is fuel and fuel's son is fire).

3. Ṛtasya rasmima dade, assumes the radiance of Ṛta (eternal law or truth or rite. Sayana accepts the solar ray that is the apprehender or absorber (ग्राहकम्) of water, alluding to the production of rain as the result of burnt-offerings. Again, he becomes endowed with the energy generative of the reward of sacrifice (फलजनकं तेजः, स्वीकृतवान्). Lastly, he accepts the praise which is, as it were, the lustre or ray of the sacrifice (ऋतस्य यज्ञस्य रश्मिं रश्मिवत् ग्राहकं स्तवं मादत्ते स्वीकरोति —Sayana).

5. Bhuma prstha iva ruruhuh, many (भूमा) or much on the back. According to Sayana, bhuma signifies off spring or that which is many (बहुभवतीति भूमापत्यम्). According to Dayananda, the word means, "of the earth" (भूमा पृथिव्याः).

Prstheva, like the backs of the father (पृष्ठेव पितुः पृष्ठ-देशानिव, as boys mount upon the fathers side so do the flames, यथा पितुरङ्कमारोहन्ति, तद्वत् —Sayana).

7. Dhanva aksitam data na dati a—Here dhanva is a place without water (धन्व निरुदकप्रदेशम्—Sayana; midspace (धन्व अन्तरिक्षम्—Daya.; also Nigh. I.3).

ष्मा = स्म (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः)।

Aksitam, tossed over with grass, timber and the like (तृणकाष्ठादिभिराक्षिप्तम्—Sayana); one who is uninjured from all sides (समन्तादनिष्टमिव —Daya.).

Hirismasruh, one with a golden beard (हिरण्यमिव श्मश्रूणि यस्य सः —Daya.).

Sucidan, शुचिऽदन्, the one with pure teeth (शुचयः पवित्रा दन्ता यस्य सः —Daya.).

8. Sucih sma yasma atrivat pra svadhitiva riyate, Sayana translates Svadhiti as an axe (परशुरिव छिन्दन्); Dayananda as one who holds vajra, or adamantine stone (वज्रधर इव Nigh. II.20, स्वधितिः=परशुः= वज्रः). Atrivat, like an atri (or one free from triple calamities); or it may mean an eater or devourer, or an animal eating grass (अत्ति तृणमित्यत्तिः पशुः । स इव । स यथा तृणानि खादमानो गच्छति तद्वत्—Sayana). According to Wilson, atrivat applies to the yajamana and svadhiti to agni.

10. Isah, इषः, desires or aspirations (Daya.; इषः एष्टृन्—Sayana).

Nṛn, नॄन्—men adept in discipline, law and order (नीतियुक्तान् मनुष्यान् —Daya.); encountering and opposing men (विरोधिनः—Sayana).

Sasahyat, repeated two times for respect (पुनरुक्तिरादरार्था—Sayana; अन्तोभयतान्यास दीर्घः—Daya.); may Atri (the one always active, सततं पुरुषार्थी —Daya.) overcome hostile (दस्यून्) men (नॄन्).

Hymn-8

Sayana considers Isah (इषः) as the Ṛsi or seer of this hymn (an epithet of the seer Atri), in which every verse begins with Tvamagne (त्वामग्ने).

2. Jaradvisam, poison, or hostile to the old or decayed (जरद विनष्टं शत्रुरूपं विषं यस्य तम्—Daya.); the pervader or consumer of old trees; or that by which water is dried up (जरद्विषं जरतां वृक्षाणां व्यापकं जीर्णोदकं वा—Sayana).

7. Abhi jrayansi parthiva vi tisthase—Jrayansi; speedy works or actions (जयांसि वेगयुक्तानि कर्माणि—Daya.); foods (जयांसि अन्नानि—Sayana); Parthiva, born of earth, or pertaining to earth (and hence, the trees, पार्थिवा पार्थिवान् वृक्षान् or it may be an epithet of jryansi, earthly eatables—पार्थिवानि चरुपुरोडाशादिकानि—Sayana).

Hymn-9

1. Jatavedas, one who knows all that exists; he whom all know to be identical with all that exists. Also he from whom all wealth is generated—Sayana.

(1. जातमुत्पन्नं चराचरं भूतजातं वेत्तीति जातवेदा:;

2. जातानि स्थावरजंगमात्मकानि एनं विदुरिति जातवेदा:;

3. वेद इति धननाम—Nigh. II.10; जातं सर्वं वेदो धनं यस्मा सो जातवेदा:).

2. Ksayasya, of space, abode (निवासस्य—Daya.); the abode of the fruit of good works (क्षियन्ति निवसन्त्यस्मिन् स्वर्गसाधनफलानीति क्षय:—Sayana).

4. Putro na hvaryanam, like the son of the crooked-going.

According to Sayana, it refers to a young snake (ह्वार्यणां कुटिलं गच्छतां सर्पाणां; न पुत्र इव बालसर्प इव शिक्षित बालाश्व इव वा); or again, it may mean the colt of rearing and plunging horses, of those not broken in (आस्कन्दितानि गतिविशेषण वक्रगमनामश्वानां etc.); crooked-going (कुटिलानाम्—Daya.).

पुरू = पुरु (संहितायामिति दीर्घ:) ।

5. ध्मातरी = ध्मातरि ।

Yadamiha trito divi upa-dhmata iva dhamati. Here trita refers to three regions, and hence, spread in the three regions; or having gone beyond the three regions. (त्रित: संप्लावक:) or efficient conveyer.

Dhmata, blower (धमनकर्त्ता—blower or conch etc.) or one who fans or blows fire by bellows (कर्मारो यथा भस्त्रादिभिरग्निं संवर्द्धयति तद्वत् स्वात्मानं वर्धयतीति—Sayana).

As the fire blazes from the blast of the blower (शिशीते ध्मातरि) ; like the fire, which, in the proximity of one blowing with a bellows, blazes up, so Agni sharpens his flames, or of himself adds to their intensity.

Hymn-10

1. Cf Samaveda I.81 (with slight variation in the text of the second half of the stanza).

2. Krana, क्राणा = कुर्वन् (driving away the disturbers of sacred rites).

3. Gayam, गयम्, = it is a dimunitive or apatya term; (Nigh.II.2); also, wealth (Nigh. II.10); a dwelling, abode or house (Nigh.III.4).

Maghani, wealth (धनानि—Daya.); Nigh. II.10.

Hymn-11

1. Bharatebhyah, for the Bharatas; for the sustainers (धारणपोषण-कृद्भ्यो मनुष्येभ्यः—Daya.); for the priests (भरतेभ्यः ऋत्विग्भ्यस्तदर्थम्—Sayana).

For modifications of Bharata, see also

भरतः — VI.16.4; भरतम् I.96.3

भरतम् — I.109.7; भरतस्य III.53.24; VII.8.4

भरताः — III.33.11; 12; VII.33.6.

Ghṛtapratikah, like well-purified butter (Wilson); fed with pure butter (घृतप्रतीकः घृतेन प्रज्वलिताङ्गः—Sayana; घृतमाज्यमुदकं वा प्रतीतिकरं यस्य सः, the one fond of butter or water—Daya.).

Divispṛsa, one who touches sky with flames (अभ्रंलिहेन तेजसा युक्तः —Sayana; यो दिवि प्रकाशे स्पृशति तेन—Daya.).

2. Tri-Sadhasthe, in the space, abode or place associated with three (त्रिभिस्सहस्थाने—Daya.; Samidhire, have first kindled in three places, that is, as in the three fires : Ahavaniya, Garhapatya and Daksina. (आहवनीयादि लक्षणेन त्रिप्रकारेणानेन सह तिष्ठतीति त्रिषधस्थः—Sayana).

3. Jayase matroh, born of two mothers, i.e. of two sticks of attrition (मात्रो अरण्योः, जायसे प्रादुर्भूतो भवसि—Sayana); having been instructed by respectable like mothers, teachers and preceptor (मात्रोः मातृवन्मान्यकारकयोर्विद्याचार्ययोः—Daya.).

Udatistha vivasvatah, thou hast sprung from the devotion of the householder. Vivasvatah=yajamana from vi, abiding vasata, the chamber where the agnihotra and other fire rituals are celebrated (विवस्वतः अग्निहोत्राद्यर्थं गृहे विशेषेण वसतः यजमानात् उदतिष्ठः उदितोऽभव—Sayana).

Dayananda translates Vivasvatah as from the Sun.

6. See Yv. XV.28 also.

Angirasah, in the disciplines of knowledge (प्राणा इव विद्यासु—Daya.); guha, in the super-cavity of intellect (बुद्धौ—Daya.).

Hymn-12

1. Praticim, the former, the usual (पश्चिमां क्रियाम्—Daya.; अभिमुखी—Sayana).

2. Ṛta and Rtasya dhara—here ṛta stands for truth, praise, and water, all the three, (ऋतं स्तोत्रं, ऋतस्य उदकस्य; द्वयेन च, सत्यानृताभ्यां यत् किंचिद् वैदिकं कृत्यम्—Sayana).

To Dayananda, ऋतं सत्यकारणं, ऋत सत्यं ब्रह्म; ऋतस्य सत्यस्य विज्ञापिकाः, द्वयेन कार्यकारणात्मकेन, ऋत उदकम् ।

Dvayena, with both (truth and untruth—Sayana; cause and effect—Daya.).

4. Wilson gives an alternative interpretation : Who are they that confine their foes ? Who are they that preserve me from uttering untruth ? Who are they that vindicate people from calumny ?—they are, Agni, the worshippers.

To Dayananda, Agni here is the head of a state.

Hymn-13

For verse 4, see Nir. VI.7.

4. Sapratha, means broad, all round (सप्रथा: सर्वतः पृथुः—Nir. VI.7) —O Agni, thou art broad all-round.

Hymn-15

2. Ṛtena, by truth, by God (सत्येन परमात्मना वा—Daya.); by praises (स्तोत्रेण—Sayana).

Ṛtam, truth, the eternal cause or law; truth embodied fire (सत्यरूपमग्निम्—Sayana).

Dharayanta, hold (धारयन्ति), also withhold or detain (Wilson).

Parame vyoman, in the best place; also thus the fire altar; also best pervading one (प्रकृष्टे व्यापके—Daya.).

Nanaksuh, attain or obtain (प्राप्नुवन्ति—Daya.; अभिप्राप्नुवन्ति—Sayana). Cf Nigh. II.14.

Jataih ajatan, the unborn with the born; according to Sayana, the unborn are gods (अजातान् देवान्) and the born are men or priests (जातैः मनुष्यैर्ऋत्विग्भिः) ।

3. Amhoyuvah tanvah tanvate vi, enjoy forms exempt from defect; they who remove the sins (येंऽहोपराधं युवन्ति पृथक् कुर्वन्ति ते); effect the extension of their own persons or bodies (तन्वः शरीरस्य मध्ये तन्वते विस्तृणन्ति —Daya.; तन्वः स्वास्तनूः अंहोयुवः अंहसा वियोजिकाः वितन्वते विस्तारयन्ति—Sayana).

Vayah, life (वयः जीवनम्—Daya.; the sacrificers who offer food etc. as oblations (वयः हवीरूपमन्नं प्रयच्छन्ति ते यजमानाः—Sayana).

4. Vayo-vayo, every life (कमनीयं जीवनं जीवनम्—Daya.); every kind of food (वायोवः सर्वमन्नम्—Sayana).

5. Tayuh, a thief (तायुः तस्करः ; चोरः).

Atrim, to the protector (अत्रिं पालकम्—Daya.).

Aspah, be propitious (अस्पः प्रीणाय).

Mahah raye citayan, considering (the means of acquiring) great riches.

Guha, secret place; in the intellect (बुद्धौ—Daya.).

Padam, foot-prints (पदचिह्नम्—Daya.;) (stolen) articles (पदं द्रव्यं —Sayana).

(तायुः न तस्करो यथा गुहायां द्रव्यं धारयन् रक्षति तद्वत् महते धनलाभार्थं सन्मार्गं प्रकाशयन् —Sayana).

Secure receptacle is guha, the inner cavity in conscience of the ṛsi, in which the wealth of knowledge is kept safe, as the thief keeps his stolen articles safe.

Hymn-16

1. Prasastibhih, by praises (प्रशस्तिभिः प्रशंसाभिः—Daya.); cf. Samaveda, I.88; prasastaye, for the praises).

2. Bhagah, the sun (भगः सूर्य्यः—Daya.).

4. Yahvam na, like the great sun (यह्वं महान्तं सूर्यं, न इव—Daya.).

Hymn-17

1. Puruh, the rational man (पूरुः मननशीलो मनुष्याः—Daya.); the man, the worshipper (पूरुः मनुष्यः स्तोता—Sayana).

2. Vidharman, O, the one assigned with specific duties, O, the performer of various functions, (विधर्मन्, विशिष्टो धर्मो यस्यासौ विधर्मास्तोता, तस्य संबोधनम्—Sayana; विशेष धर्मानुचारिन्—Daya.).

3. Asya vasa u arcisa, by his lustre, verily the sun is luminous (अस्य वै असौ उं इति the pada patha; meaning, by the light of him, he verily). By the light of Agni, the sun becomes luminous (अग्नेः प्रभया आदित्यः अर्चिष्मान् भवति—Sayana).

5. Sagdhi Svastaye, be alert or competent or prepared for our prosperity (समर्थोभव सुखाय—Daya.). For prosperity means the wealth consisting of Ksema, cattle etc. (स्वस्तये क्षेमाय पश्वादि लक्षणस्य धनस्य क्षेमार्थं शग्धि त्वां वाचे—Sayana).

Hymn-18

1. Cf. Samaveda I.85, with a difference in reading.

Rk, reading विश्वानि यो अमर्त्यो हव्या मर्तेषु रण्यति; (he who, immortal, desires the oblations of mortals).

Sama reading विश्वे यस्मिन्नमर्त्ये हव्यं मर्तासा इन्धति (in or upon all that which is immortal, mortals offer oblations—Wilson).

2. Dvitaya, to the one who has been receiving knowledge since two births (द्विताय द्वाभ्यां जन्मभ्यां विद्याय प्राप्ताय—Daya.); the son of Dvita (द्वितेपुत्राय —Sayana).

Mrktavahase, मृक्तवाहसे, for the conveyer of pure oblations to gods, (मृक्तं शुद्धं हविर्देवेभ्यो वहति प्रापयतीति मृक्तवाहाः—Sayana); for the one who receives true spiritual knowledge (मृक्तवाहसे शुद्धविज्ञानप्रापकाय—Daya.).

4. Svarnare, in the man who is blessed with happiness (स्वर्णरे स्वः सुखेन युक्ते नरे—Daya.); in the sacrifice which leads man or the yajamana to heaven (स्वः स्वर्गं नरं यजमानं नयतीति स्वर्णरो यज्ञः, तस्मिन्—Sayana).

5. Asvanam, of the horses, of all the things which move with speed (वेगवतामग्न्यादि पदार्थानाम्—Daya.).

Hymn-19

4. Jamyoh, with his two relations; the earth and the light, the two givers or producers of food (जाम्योः अत्तव्यान्नप्रदयोर्द्यावापृथिव्योः—Daya.); the heaven and the earth (द्यावापृथिव्योः—Sayana).

Gharmo na vaja-jatharah, he who like the mixed oblation, is filled with food; he in whose belly is food like the gharmah; like the pravargya, the gharma, sprinkled with the oblation butter and milk (घर्मो न प्रवर्ग्य इव वाजजठरः वाजोऽन्नं जठरे यस्य सः। घर्मो यथा हव्येनाज्येन पयसासिक्तो वाजजठरस्तद्वत्। हविर्जठर इत्यर्थः—Sayana).

Gharma, a vessel, a pitcher; also warm, hot, that of day (Yaska; घर्मः प्रतापः—Daya.).

Vaja-jatharah, one which incites hunger in the stomach (वाजो क्षुद्वेगो जठरे यस्मात्सः—Daya.).

Hymn-20

1. See also Yv. XIX.64 (for वाजसातम, read कव्यवाहन).

Vajasatama, O bounteous giver of food (अत्यन्तमन्नद—Sayana); O distributor of knowledge and other articles of sustenance (अतिशयेन वाजानां विज्ञानादिपदार्थानां विभाजक—Daya.).

3. Prayasvantah, those having food, we the possessors of food (प्रयस्वन्तः अन्नवन्तः एतन्नामका वयम्—Sayana); the men of activity and efforts (प्रयस्वन्तः प्रयत्नमानाः—Daya.).

Hymn-21

1. Manusvat, like the man (मनुष्वत् मनुष्येण तुल्यम्—Daya.); like manu, मनुरिव —Sayana.

Hymn-22

1. Visvasaman, the one adept in the entire knowledge of Saman, the Vedic chants (विश्वानि सामानि यस्य तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.); a way of addressing the ṛsi (ऋषेः सम्बोधनमेतत्—Sayana).

Atrivat, like Atri, the one possessing a general universal knowledge (अत्रिवत् व्यापक विद्यवत्—Daya.).

4. Atrayah, sons of Atri (अत्रिपुत्राः—Sayana); the one free from three blemishes of passion, anger and greed (त्रिभिः कामक्रोधलोभदोषैरहिताः —Daya.).

Hymn-23

1. Rayim, riches (धनम्—Daya.); metaphorically, a son (पुत्रम् —Sayana).

Hymn-24

For verse 3, see Nir. V.23.

1, 2. The verses 1 and 2 occur in the Samaveda;see I.448, II.457; II.458; II.459 and Yv. III.25; 15.48.

Varuthyah, born in superb houses or families (वरुथ्य: वरूथेपूत्तमेषु गृहेषु भव:—Daya.); that which is to be chosen, to be enjoyed or to be worshipped (वरणीय:, संभजनीय:—Sayana); auspicious or favourable to the house or family (वरुथ=पुत्रसमूह or गृह —Mahidhara); also endowed or enclosed with circumferences or defences (वरूथै: परिधिभिर्वृत:—Sayana); Vasusravah, dispenser of food (व्याप्तान्नस्त्वम् —Sayana); one rich in wealth and prosperity. (धनधान्ययुक्त:—Daya.); renowned for wealth (Mahidhara).

3. Urusya no aghavatah samasmat, उरुष्य न: अघय्यत:, protecting from all attacks; in the quotation, it occurs in the oblative case. The verb urusyati means to protect. It occurs in the nominative plural also. (Nir. V.23).

Hymn-25

1. Ṛsunamputrah, the son of the Ṛsis; according to Sayana, this refers to Agni, since as one generated by the ṛsis by their rubbing the sticks together which produce fire (ऋषूणाम् ऋषीणां पुत्र: । ऋषिभिर्मन्थनेन जनितत्वात् पुत्र इत्युपचर्यंते—Sayana); ऋषूणां=ऋषीणां (अत्र वर्णव्यत्येन इकारस्य स्थान उत्वम् —Daya.).

2. Satyah, true (सत्सु साधु:—Daya.; refers to Agni. since he never fails to bestow upon his worshippers the recompense of their devotion, सत्य: भवति, सत्य प्रतिश्रवो भवति—Sayana).

Mandra-jihvam, to the one with sweet or praiseworthy tongue (मन्द्रा प्रशंसनीया जिह्वायस्य तम्—Daya.); the sweet-tongued (whose speech is delightful), or whose tongue is fascinating (मन्द्रजिह्वं मन्दनजिह्व । मोदन जिह्वमिति वा—Nir. VI.26, cf. I.190.1).

5. Tuvisravastam, rich in food and rich in fame (अतिशयेन बह्वन्न-श्रवणयुक्तम्—Daya.).

Tuvibrahmanan, one who has in his association learned persons, well-versed in the Vedic lore (तुविब्रह्माणं बह्वो ब्रह्माणश्चतुर्वेदविदो विद्वांसो यस्य —Daya.); abounding in devotion (बहुस्तोत्रम्—Sayana).

5, 6. These verses have been traditionally recited at the ritual pertaining to obtain male offspring, the putrakamesti.

7. See Yv. XXVI.12, and Samaveda I.86.

8. Grava iva, like a cloud (मेघ इव—Daya.; Nigh I.10) like a stone (अभिषव ग्रावेव—Sayana).

9. Vasuyavah, we, who desire wealth (वसूयवः वसुकामा वयं—Sayana; आत्मनो वस्विच्छवः—Daya.).

Hymn-26

1. See Yv. XVII.8; Samaveda II.871.
3. Samaveda II.872; 873.

Hymn-27

In this hymn, we have three Ṛsis, who are said to be three kings : (i) Tryaruna, the son of Trivṛsna; (ii) Trasdasyu, the son of Purukutsa and (iii) Asvamedha, the son of Bharata. Alternatively, Atri alone may be the Ṛsi. All the three names have been taken from the Text.

Tryaruna : त्रिऽअरुणः—V.27.1; 3; त्रिऽअरुणाय V.27.2.
Trasdasyu त्रसदस्यवि —VIII.49.10; त्रसदस्युः IV.38.1; V.27.3; VIII.19.36; त्रसदस्युम्—I.112.14; IV.42.8; 9; VII.19.3; VIII.8.21; 36.7; 37.7; X.150.5; त्रसदस्योः V.33.8.

Asvamedha : अश्वमेधस्य V.27.5; अश्वऽमेधाय V.27.4; अश्वमेधे V.27.6.

In the entire Ṛgveda, the word asvamedha occurs only at these three places; i.e. in the present hymn.

1. Traivṛsna, one who showers in the three (regions) (त्रैवृष्णः यस्त्रिषु वर्षति स एव—Daya,).

Tryeruna, the one who possesses three qualities or attributes (त्रयोऽरुणा गुणा यस्य सः—Daya.).

Asurah, ravelling with pranas (breaths) (असुषु प्राणेषु रममाणः—Daya.); strong (असुरः बलवान्—Sayana).

2. Hari, हरी, two horses (अश्वौ—Sayana).

3. Trasdasyu, one terror to thieves (त्रस्यन्ति दस्यवो यस्मात्सः—Daya.).

Tuvijatasya, outcome of many, born of many (बहु व पत्यस्य —Sayana).

4. Asvamedhaya, for national service, (अश्व=राष्ट्र) also, for the one readily purified, (अश्वमेधाय, आशुपवित्राय—Daya.).

5. Asvamedhasya, pertaining to crafts of administration of an empire (चक्रवर्तिराज्यपालनस्य विद्यायाः—Daya.).

6. Asvamedhe, in the administration of a State (अश्वमेधे राज्य-पालनाख्ये व्यवहारे—Daya.).

Hymn-28

The Rsi of this hymn is Visvavara, a woman, belonging to the family of Atri; her name is also derived from the word which appears in the verse.

1. Visvavara, one who repels all sins (सर्वमपि पापरूपं शत्रु वारयित्री एतन्नामिका—Sayana); one who brings the entire creation into appearance (या विश्वं वृणोति सा—Daya.).

Ghrtaci, night (Nigh.I.7); the one with ladle (घृताची घृताच्या स्रुचा सहिता—Sayana; हविषा घृताची, bearing the ladle with oblation (पुरोडाशादि लक्षणेन युक्तया घृताच्या स्रुचा सहिता—Sayana).

In respect to this, Wilson rightly remarks : "The whole passage is remarkable, whether this explanation is admitted or not, as it leaves no doubt that a female is described as discharging the offices of a priest. Worshipping the gods at dawn with hymns and oblations : besides visvavara (विश्ववारा) being feminine the epithets praci (प्राची), Ilana (ईलाना) and ghṛtaci (घृताची), are of the same gender.

The word visvavara is not a proper noun as is seen from its several modifications in the Ṛgvedic passages :

विश्वऽवार —I.30.10; VII.5.8; 16.5; 92.1; VIII.46.9; IX.91.5.

विश्वऽवारः —III.17.1; VII.97.4; IX.88.3; X.149.4.

विश्वऽवारम् —I.48.13; V.4.7; VI.37.1; 49.4; VII.7.5; 10.4; 84.4; VIII.71.3; X.150.3.

विश्वऽवारस्य —III.36.10; V.44.11; VI.23.10.

विश्वऽवाराय —III.43.3; V.25.1; 80.3.

विश्वऽवारा (all anudatta accents)—VII.70.1.

विश्वऽवाराः —I.123.12; VII.91.6; IX.97.26.

विश्वऽवाराणि —VI.5.1.

विश्वऽवाराभिः —VI.22.11.

विश्वऽवारे (all anudatta accents) —I.113.19; III.61.1;) VII.77.5.

विश्वऽवारे इति विश्वऽवारे—VII.7.3.

विश्वऽवार्यः —VIII.19.11.

विश्वऽवार्यम् —VIII.22.12.

3. Sam jaspatyam su-yamam a kṛnuṣva, preserve in concord the relation of man and wife; make perfect the well-connected duty of wife and husband; an appropriate prayer for a female Yv.XXX.12 (Wilson).

6. Adhvare, in the sacrifice; in the factory or industry (अध्वरे शिल्पादिव्यवहारे—Daya.).

Vṛnidhvam havyavahanam, select the bearer of oblation to the gods. According to ritualists, there are three kinds of sacrificial fires : havyavahanah (हव्यवाहनः) which receives the oblation intended for gods or Nature's bounties; the Kavyavahanah (कव्यवाहनः), that intended for the pitṛs, and the Saharaksas (सहरक्षस्) that intended for the Asuras. It is expected that the worshipper would be selecting the first one (त्रयो वा अग्नयो हव्यवाहनो देवानां कव्यवाहनः पितॄणां सहरक्षा असुराणाम् । एतह्याशिंसन्ते मां वरिष्यते मामिति वृणीध्वं हव्यवाहनमित्याह य एव देवानां तं वृणीते—Taitt. Samhita II.5.8.6).

Hymn-29

1. Tri-aryama, the convener or the planner of three (त्रीणि व्यवस्थापकः—Daya.); three effulgences (त्रीणि अर्यमा अर्यमाणि यानि तेजांसि सन्ति —Sayana).

Tri-rocana, the three enlightening ones (त्रीणि प्रकाशकानि—Daya.); three luminaries, the sun, wind and fire (त्रीणि रोचनारोचमानानि वाय्वग्निसूर्यात्मकानि —Sayana).

3. Manuse gah avindat, obtains cattles for the offerer; here gah (गाः) may also mean rain (गाः धेनुवृष्टिलक्षणान्युदकानि वा—Sayana), or even speech (गौः=गाः=धेनुः=speech, Nigh. I.11).

Ahim, cloud, or serpent of nescience.

4. Danavam, the evil-doer, a mischievous person (दुष्टप्रकृतिम् —Daya.); Vṛtra, the son of Danu (Sayana).

5. Etase, एतशे, for Etasa; like a rider on the horse (एतशे अश्वेऽश्विक इव). See also I.54.6; 61.5; 121.13; 168.5; II.19.5; IV.17.14; 30.6.

6. Nava-navatim, ninety-nine; see also I.32.14; 53.9; 54.6; II.14.4; 19.6; reference to the destroying of ninety-nine cities of Sambara, the Asura.

Traistubhena, by the Tristup metre of 44 syllables. This verse 6, is nicṛt-tristup, with 43 syllables; also by the praise of three varieties (त्रैष्टुभेन त्रिधास्तुतेन—Daya.).

7. Mahisa tri satani, protects three hundred buffaloes or big animals [महिषा महिषाणां महतां पशुनां त्री शतानि (रक्षेत्)—Daya.].

Dayananda paraphrases the verse thus :

यथाग्निरिन्द्र स्तूयमस्य (जगतो मध्ये) त्री (भुवनानि प्रकाशयन्) सरांसि पिबद् वृत्रहत्याय सुतं सोममपचत् (तथा) सखा भूत्वा सख्ये साकं मनुषो महिषा त्री शतानि (रक्षेत्) ।

Just as Agni (fire) and Indra (the sun) very readily in the midst of these three worlds give light and drink up the water of all the ponds and for the destruction of Vṛtra (the clouds) quaff or ripen the extracted Soma, in the same way, you, the friend, in lieu of friendship offer protection to the three hundred big animals.

8. Here again, we have a similar reference.

Mah, मा:, make or create (रचये:—Daya.).

Mahisanam aghah mah, महिषाणां अघ: मा:, make the animals who are not to be killed (महिषाणां महतां पदार्थानां अघ: अहन्तव्य: मा: रचये:—Daya.).

Sayana interprets quite contrary to the above; you had eaten the flesh of the three hundred buffaloes (महिषाणां पशूनां मा: मांसानि, अघ: भक्षितवानसि) ।

Ahim, = vṛtram = clouds; also nescience.

9. For usanas, उशनस्, and Kutsa, कुत्स; see earlier references.

Usana, the one desirous of something (उशना कामयमान:—Daya.; उशना काव्यश्च—Sayana).

Kutsena, by determined and firm actions, like an adamantine stone (कुत्सेन वज्रेणेव दृढेन कर्मणा—Daya.).

10. Anasah dasyun amṛnah, confounded the mouthless (i.e. dumb or voiceless) mischievous persons.

Anasah, (अनास: आस्यरहिताम् । आस्यशब्देन शब्दो लक्ष्यते । अशब्दान् मूकान्—Sayana). Dasyus are perhaps those who are unable to pronounce words properly (cf. mlecha).

11. Gauriviteh, गौरिव्यीते, of the preceptor (यो गौरीं वाचं व्येति सः; गौरीति वाङ्नाम्, Nigh. I.11—Daya.).

Piprum, egoistic tendency; the pervading (पिप्रुं व्यापकम्—Daya.).

Vaidathinaya, for the intellectual snob, for the enemies pertaining to a battle (वैदथिनाय विदिथिना संग्रामकर्त्ता निर्मिताय—Daya.).

Ṛjisva, ऋजिश्वा, for the straightforward one; one resembling a dog (ऋजिः सरलश्चासौ श्वा च—Daya.).

Hymn-30

1. Haribhyam, by speed and attraction (वेगाकर्षणाभ्याम्—Daya.); by ones own car, by two horses; (हरिभ्यां स्व वाहनाभ्यां, अश्वाभ्याम्—Sayana).

Sukharatham, an easy chariot, a chariot for composts (सुखाय रथस्सुखरथस्तम्—Daya.); a car with pleasant eye-door (सुखरथं शोभनाक्षद्वारः रथो यस्य स सुखरथः—Sayana). Sayana gives an etymology of sukha (सुख) and thence of Sukharatha; the one which in a beautiful way digs, carves or draws lines on ground—a chariot of this type (सुष्ठु खनति लिखति भूमिमिति वा सुखम् । तादृग् रथम्) see Nir. III.13 (सुहितं खेभ्यः खः पुनः खनतेः). From what root is sukham (happiness) derived? It is so called, because it is useful for the senses (खं, kham, senses). Kham (sense) again is derived from the root khan, to dig).

6. Maruts, cloud-bearing winds; breaths; mortals; and also praises (मरुतः महद् खन्ति वन्दतीति स्तोतारः—Sayana.).

7. Namuci ever-clinging evils.

Gatum, happiness (गातुं सुखम्—Sayana); earth and speech (गातुं भूमि वाणी वा—Daya.).

Manave, for a righteous man (मननशीलाय धार्मिकाय मनुष्याय—Daya.).

Sayana identifies Manu with the Ṛsi of the Hymn, मनवे नमुचिनापहृत गोधनाय मह्यम्—to me whose wealth of cattle has been carried of by Namuci.

For Namuci, see I.53.7; II.14.5; V.30.7; 8; VI.20.6; VII.19.5; VIII.14.13 and X.131.4.

8. Rodesi, from earth to heaven; from body to mind.

10. Gavah, rays (गावः किरणाः—Daya.).

Vatsaih, the separated ones (वत्सैः वियुक्ताः—Daya.; वियुवाः—Sayana).

Indrah—the sun (Daya.).

11. Babhrudhutah, effused by Babhru (बभ्रुणाभिषुताः—Sayana); cleansed by the enlightened ones or by learned persons (बभ्रुभिर्धृतविद्यैर्धूताः पवित्रीकृताः—Daya.).

12. Rusama, रुशमा, brilliant sages; the one who turns out the tormentors (ये रुशान् हिंसकान् मिन्वति—Daya.).

According to Sayana, the Rusamas are the people of the same name, the principality of Ṛnancaya (ऋणञ्चय).

15. Gharmascit, like the hot one, like the Mahavira pitcher or ewer.

Ayasmayah, golden; shining like gold (हिरण्यमिव तेजोमयः—Daya.). Ayas is usually iron, but here it means gold.

Hymn-31

For verse 2, see Nir. III.21.

2. Amenan cit, those who are without women; mena (मेना)= woman (मेना शब्दः स्त्रीवाची, अपगतस्त्री कांश्चित्—Sayana); those who are without alluring women (अविद्यमाना मेना प्रक्षेपकर्त्र्यः स्त्रियो येषां तान्—Daya.).

Janivatah, one with wife (जनिवतः जायावतः—Sayana); progenitor (जन्मवतः—Daya.).

Menah (मेनाः) and gnah (ग्नाः) are synonyms of women.

Striyah (स्त्रियः) is derived from √स्त्यै, meaning to be bashful (स्त्रियः स्त्यायतेरपत्रपणकर्मणा.)।

Menah (मेनाः) are so called because men honour them (मेना मानयन्त्येनाः).

Gnah (ग्नाः) are so called because men go to them (ग्ना गच्छन्त्येनाः) —Nir. III.21.

4. For Ṛbhus and Tvastṛ see earlier notes.

5. For marut and dasyu, see earlier notes.

7. For susna (शुष्ण), see I.11.7; 33.12; 51.6; 56.3; 63.3; 101.2; 103.8; 121.9; 10. II.14.5; 19.6; III.31.8; IV.16.12; 30,13; V.29.9; V.31.7; 32.4; petty tendency; also the name of an Asura—Sayana.

Susnasya, of strength; (बलस्य—Daya.).

8. Yadu, a hard working man (यदवे मनुष्याय—Daya.); a king of the name Yadu—Sayana.

Turvasu; strong man (सद्योवशकरण समर्थाय, one who can easily take possession—Daya.).

Susna, शुष्ण, petty tendency.

Kutsam, intellectual; also the spoiled one (कुत्सितम्—Daya.).

Indra, resplendent.

Usanas, men of a genius (उशना कामयमानाः, the one with aspirations —Daya.).

9. Karne vehantu, here Sayana interprets karna (कर्ण) as praiser or yajamana (स्तोत्राणि कृणोति करोतीति कर्णः—Sayana); in that by which one does (कुर्वन्ति येन तस्मिन्—Daya.).

10. Avasyuh, one desirous of protecting himself (आत्मनोऽवो रक्षणमिच्छुः—Daya.).

Tavisim, army (तविषी सेनाम्—Daya.) ; strength or force (तविषी बलम् —Sayana).

11. Etasah, एतशः, see earlier notes (अश्वोऽश्विकमिव, as horse to the horse rider—Daya.).

Uparam, like a cloud (उपर मेघमिव—Daya.; Nigh. I.10; a synonym for cloud).

Jujuvansam, going rapidly or with great speed (जुजुवांसं वेगेन गच्छन्तं, Sayana; अतिशयेन वेगवन्तम्—Daya.).

Paritakamyayam; in the battle (परितोगच्छन्त्यस्यां भटाः इति परितक्म्या संग्रामः —Sayana); in the night,—pleasing from all the sides (परितः सर्वतस्तक्मानि भवन्ति यस्यां तस्यां रात्रौ—Daya.).

Bharat cakram etasah, Etasa has borne away the wheel (etasah, एतशः, is used for etasaya, एतशाय: he or Indra has taken wheel for Etasa —Sayana).

Hymn-32

For verses 1 and 6, see Nir. X.9 and VI.3 respectively.

1. Danavana, wicked persons (दुष्टजनम्—Daya.).

Khani, खानि, the holes or interstices of the clouds (मेघस्थोदक निर्गमनद्वाराणि—Sayana; sense-organs (इन्द्रियाणि—Daya.).

3. Sayana refers to an allegory; from the body of Vṛtra sprang the more powerful asura, named Susna (शुष्णः); allegorically, it means that the exhaustion of clouds was followed by a severe draught, which Indra, or the atmosphere had then to remedy.

4. Danavasya bhamam, from the wrath fire of the wicked (दुष्टजनस्य क्रोधम्—Daya.). To Sayana, here the danava is Vṛtra, and bhamam, his wrath (क्रोधवाचि भामशब्देन क्रोधादुत्पन्नः शुष्णासुरो लक्ष्यते), from which arose another demon named as Susna; who was also subsequently killed by Indra.

Miho napatam, mihah is by the rain; or showering; napatam, the one who cannot fall (अपतनशीलम्—Daya.) or the protector of showering cloud. (मेघस्य नपातं पातारं रक्षितारम् । अत्र नपाच्छब्दः पातरि वर्त्तते;—see "प्राणो वै तनूनपात्स हि तन्वः पाति"—Ait. Br. II.4; the vital air is called the body—preserver, for it preserves the limbs—Sayana).

8. Apadam, footless, atram, measureless, mrdhravacam, speechless or with offensive or evil speech (अत्रम् योऽतति सर्वत्र व्याप्नोति तम् । मृध्रवाचं हिंसितवाचम्;—Daya.; हिंसितवागिन्द्रियम्, जृम्भाभिभूतम्—Sayana.).

Hymn-33

1. Samaryyah, associated with the Maruts; the one fond of wars (सङ्ग्राममिच्छुः—Daya.); an epithet of Indra.

Sayana gives three interpretations : (i) together with mortals, i.e. with the worshippers (मर्त्यैः स्तोतृभिः सहितः); (ii) with the Maruts and other combatants (सह्म्रियमाणैर्युध्यमानैः मरुदाद्भिः), and (iii) fit for or suited to war (समरार्हः).

3. See also Yv. X.22, with certain variations chiefly in the first hemistich.

5. Ahisusma, the sun or sun-like; who dries up the cloud (योऽहिं मेघं शोषयति स सूर्यस्तद्वद् वर्त्तमानः—Daya.); the one of all pervading strength ; all powerful Indra (अहिरयनात् । सर्वतो व्याप्त बलेन्द्र, त्वदनुग्रहात् —Sayana).

Prabhrthah is highly acceptable (प्रकर्षेण धर्त्तव्य —Daya.); or war or sacrifice (संग्रामः, यज्ञः); bhagah, one with fortunes (ऐश्वर्य योगः—Daya.).

May a faithful follower or ally (सत्त्वाभृत्यादिः) come like Bhaga, as an associate (चारुः सगन्ता) to be commanded (हव्यः) in sacrifices or deified (प्रतिभटैराह्वातव्यः) in battles: as the divine Bhaga comes as our ally, so may followers and others come (Wilson).

6. Nrtamanah, dancing (नृत्यन्—Daya.), or exulting (Wilson).

Enim rayim, white riches, or riches worth having; brilliant wealth (एनीम् एतवर्णा श्वेतवर्णाम्—Sayana; प्राप्तु योग्याम्—Daya.; रयि धनम्).

9. Vidathasya, of the one worth having (लब्धुं योग्यस्य—Daya.); a king of this name—Sayana).

See V.29.11, a verse in the earlier hymn, vidathin, as the son of Marutasva and father of Ṛjisvan (वैदथिनाय)—Wilson. But no king of the name of Vidatha is anywhere mentioned even in the subsequent mythological literature.

Cyavatanah, in the state of being obtained; bestowing upon (च्यावयन् सन्); Dadanah, giving to me.

10. Dhvanyasya, one expert in sounds (ध्वनिषु कुशलस्य—Daya.).

Lasmanyasya, one born with noble indications (सुलक्षणेषु भवस्य —Daya.).

Sayana regards Dhvanya as the son of Laksmana,—unknown figures.

Hymn-34

For verse 3, see Nir. VI.19.

2. Sahasra-bhṛstim, the one causing thousands of destructions (भृष्टयः भञ्जनानि दहनानि यस्मात्तम्—Daya.); thousand-edged (Wilson); or of unbounded lustre (अपरिमित तेजाः—Sayana).

3. Tatanustim, one who desires an extended race (विस्तारं—extension—Daya.; ततं धर्मसंततिं नुदति वष्टि कामयते कामानिति ततनुष्टिः, he who desires an extended race or santati सन्तति—Sayana).

Tanu-subhram, one whose body is clean (शुभ्राशुद्धा तनूर्यस्य तम्—Daya.; or is decorated with ornaments etc. शोभनीया अलंकारादिभिः—Sayana).

Both the above terms relate to a self-cherisher not offering sacrifice (तादृशं स्वपोषक अयज्वानम्—Sayana).

4. Na atah isate (न अतः ईषते), does not turn away; does not destroy (न निषेधे अतः ईषते हिनस्ति—Daya.; does not fear, or does not go from hence—न बिभेति न गच्छति वा—Sayana).

Sayana discusses in the light of this verse the consequences of a man who has committed such crimes as of killing father, mother or brother. Indra does not forsake such a sinner, for verily he desires his offerings. The doctrine encuciated here is that devotional merit compensates for want of moral merit; the converse is also implied by a passage quoted by Sayana where it is mentioned that sanctity (or high moral values) does not compensate for want of devotion. Indra says that he gave to the wolves the Paulomas in the firmament, and the yatis, the kalakanjyas and arunamukhas upon this earth, since these yatis did not worship him or praise him (इन्द्रो यतीन् सालावृकेभ्यः प्रायच्छत् अन्तरिक्षे पौलोमान् पृथिव्या कालकञ्ज्यानरुन्मुखान्यतीन् सालावृकेभ्यः प्रायच्छम्)।

9. Satrim, शत्रिम्, dispeller of distress (दुःखविच्छेदकम्—Daya.).

Agnivesim, अग्निवेशिम्, the dynamic one, energetic one, who enters into the fire (योऽग्निं प्रवेशयति तम्—Daya.).

Hymn-35

2. Catasrah, the four behaviours, physical, vital, mental and spiritual realms; on sociopolitical plane, the four policies of the state, sama (साम)—reconciliation, dama (दाम)—allurement of riches and posts, danda (दण्ड), force, terror and brain-washing; and bhada (भेद), i.e. division or divide and rule (Daya.); or four classes of people, the Brahmana, Ksattriya, Vaisya and Sudra.

Tisrah, the behaviours pertaining to three realms physical, vital and mental; three classes in state—assemblies (councils), people and army (सभा, प्रजा, सेना—Daya.); or three classes of people, the dvijas,—the Brahmana, Kasttriya and Vaisya; or three worlds.

Panca, the domain of five organs of sesnses; the five elements—earth, water, fire, air and ether, or the five classes of men—the Panca janyas or Panca-Ksitinam (the four varnas and the out-caste or un-classified; or Deva, Pitr, Manusya, Gandharva and Raksas).

5. Adrivah, like a cloud; like the sun (मेघयुक्त सूर्यवद् राजमान —Daya.; bolt-like Indra वज्रवदिन्द्र—Sayana).

Satakrato sarvaratha, सर्वरथा, by the chariot which goes every-where, (सर्वत्रव्याप्तेन रथेन—Sayana); the one to whom all the chariots belong, such a Satakratu, Indra or one with supreme wisdom (सर्वरथा सर्वरथा यानानि यस्य सः, शतक्रतो अमितप्रज्ञ—Daya.).

7. Ava ratham;—here अवा = अव, to protect (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः); protect the chariot (Daya.); here ratham may mean a son also (रथं रंहणस्वभावं वा पुत्रम्—Sayana).

Hymn-36

2. Hanu, हनू, lips, mouth, or jaws; or mouth and nose (मुखनासिके —Daya.).

Sipre, this also means a pair of jaws; since hanu and sipra mean the same, the latter may be taken as qualifying the former and hence Sipre is beautiful (शिप्रे सुशोभिते—Daya.); or hanu means the one assisting in destroying or means of destruction (हनन साधनम्—Sayana).

3. Amateh it; devoid of intelligence (अमतेः निर्बुद्धेः इत् एव—Daya.); also through dread of poverty (दारिद्र्यादस्तोतुर्वा; अमति=अस्तोतृ, the one who does not praise or worship, also अमति दारिद्र्यम्=poverty).

Hymn-37

For verse 1, see Nir. V.7.

1. Svancah, स्वञ्चाः, having a good gait, i.e. one whose manner of walking is good. Sacrificed to from all sides, the butter-backed (घृतपृष्ठः) having a good gait (स्वञ्चाः)—Nir. V.7; fire (स्वञ्चाः स्वञ्चनोऽग्निः—Sayana).

Ghṛtapṛsthah, butter-backed, or water-backed; glistening with oblations, (घृतपृष्ठः प्रदीप्तज्वालो घृतयुक्तपृष्ठप्रदेशो वा—Sayana).

Hymn-39

For verses 1 and 2, see Nir. IV.4 and IV.18 respectively.

1. Mehanasti (मेहना + अस्ति; also मे + इह + नास्ति); mehana is rain (वृष्टिः—Daya.); mehana is also praiseworthy (मंहनीयम्—Sayana); tvadatam, to be given to you, radhah, wealth (धनम्).

"O Indra, wielder of the thunderbolt, give us whatever excellent treasure there is, with both hands bring that wealth to us, O treasure-knower."—Whatever (excellent), glorious and abundant wealth (चायनीयं मंहनीयं धनमस्ति) there is, O Indra, or that which I do not possess here (यन्म इह नास्तीति वा), as consisting of three words (मे + इह + ना), that wealth should be given to us, O wielder of thunderbolt.

Adrih (thunderbolt) is so called because it splits mountains or it may be derived from √अद्, to eat (Nir. IV.4).

2. Akuparasya davane (अकूपारस्य दावने) in the sence of unlimited food (अकूपारस्य अकुत्सितः पारो यस्य तस्य, दावने दाने—Daya.; दावने दाने—Sayana).

"May we obtain (lit. know) that unlimited gift of thine."—The Sun is called akupara also, i.e. unlimited, because it is immeasurable; the ocean too is called akupara, i.e. unlimited, because it is boundless. A tortoise is also called akupara (अकूप + अर), because it does not move in a well.—Nir. IV.18.

3. Ditsu, the one anxious to give (दातुमिच्छु—Daya.; दानेच्छु —Sayana); bountiful.

5. Atrayah, free from threefold pains or from evils arising out of the three qualities (satva, rajas and tamas). To Sayana, the sons of Atri.

Hymn-40

For verse 4, see Nir. V.12.

2. Vṛsa, (वृषा) the showerer, either of happiness or of Soma juices.

Grava, pressing stones, or clouds (Nigh. I.10).

4. Ṛjisin from ṛju, straight; straightforward or simple (सरलादि युक्त—Daya.); acceptor of spiritless libation (सवनद्वयेऽभिषुतस्य गतसारस्य सोमस्य, तृतीय सवने आप्यायाभिषुतः योऽस्ति स ऋजीषः सोमः । सोऽस्यास्तीत्यृजीषी—Sayana; i.e. that which has been offered at the morning and midday ceremonies, and of which the residue is now presented at the evening sacrifice—Wilson).

The foaming Soma (ऋजीषी सोमः) : that which remains as residue after Soma is strained is called ṛjisam, ऋजीषम्, i.e. something, which is thrown away, hence Soma is called ṛjisi, ऋजीषी, i.e. containing the residue. This is also used as an epithet of Indra (अथाप्यैन्द्रो निगमो भवति): ṛjisi, the wielder of thunderbolt (ऋजीषी वज्री)—Nir. V.12 (see also Av. XX.12.7).

5. Aksetravit, the one who does not know the place where he is actually standing: one not familiar with geometry (यः क्षेत्रं रेखागणितं न वेत्ति—Daya.).

Svarbhanauh, one which gets light from the sun; of the form of lightning (यः स्वरादित्यं भाति स विद्युद्रूपः—Daya.).

6. Svarbhanoh, of the nescience: of the light of the sun (आदित्य प्रकाशस्य—Daya.). In latter literature, it is the name of Rahu also (the shadow), the personified ascending node and the causer of an eclipse.

The word Svarbhanuh occurs only in the four verses of the Ṛgveda V.40.5; 6; 8; 9).

Turiyena, the fourth innate instinct (चिद्शक्ति) beyond physical, mental and intellectual; also by his fourth sacred prayer, i.e. by the four verses of this hymn (5 to 8).

Hymn-41

1. De (दे), = Deva (with an omission of a syllable va, permissible in the Vedic texts—अत्र छान्दसो वर्णलोपो वेति व लोपः, सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेर्लुक्—(Panini VII.1.39).

2. According to Sayana, the divinities worthy of praise are of two groups: Stotrabhajah (स्तोत्रभाजः) who share praises, and havirbhajah (हविर्भाजः), who share oblations. In this verse, we have the divinities of the first category.

3. Divah Asuraya, of the aspirants for clouds (कामयमानस्य मेघाय—Daya,); for the celestial destroyer of life, i.e. Rudra (दिवः द्योतमानाय, असुराय प्राणापहर्त्रे रुद्राय—Sayana): or for the celestial asura, or for the life giver, the sun or air (द्युलोकसम्बन्धिनेऽसुराय प्राणदात्रे सूर्याय वायवे वा—Sayana).

4. Trita, triple bounty (fire on the earth, wind in midspace, and the sun in heaven); or the one present on the earth, in the water, and the midspace (त्रिषु क्षित्युदकान्तरिक्षेषु वर्त्तमानः—Daya.); also an epithet of vayu pervading in three regions.

9. Parvatah, clouds.

Tuje nah tane, in liberal donations (तुजे दाने अस्मभ्यं तने विस्तीर्णे—Daya.; तने विस्तृते तुजे दाने—Sayana; also tuje may also mean son, and tane grandson—तनेति पुत्रनाम (षष्ठ्यर्थे चतुर्थी) पुत्रस्य दान इत्यर्थः i.e. donation of a son; नः तुजे पुत्रे तने तत्पुत्रे—Sayana).

Vasavo na virah, the world-like heroes (वसवः जगतो वासयितारः वीराः न वीरा इव—Sayana; वीराः प्रज्ञाशरीरबलयुक्ताः, one accomplished physically and intellectually—Daya.).

10. Bhumyasya, either of earth; or of midspace, and then vṛsnah bhumyasya garbham, the embryc of the firmamental rain (otherwise earth fertilizing rain).

12. Puru na subhrah, bright as cities (नगराणि इव श्वेताः—Daya.).

14. Girah, praises (स्तुतयः—Sayana); cultured speech (सुशिक्षिता वाचः—Daya.).

Dyavah, द्यावः, noble aspirations (सत्याः कामाः—Daya.); द्योतमानाः स्वप्रतिपाद्यार्थं प्रकाशिन्यः ।

Candra-agrah, चन्द्रऽअग्राः, the joy-bestowing, or gold-bestowing (चन्द्र सुवर्णमानन्दो वाऽग्रे यासां ताः—Daya.; आह्लादनं हिरण्यं वाऽग्रे यासां ताः—Sayana, i.e. candra also means gold, besides joy).

15. Varutri, वरूत्री, protectress (अस्मदुपद्रव वारयित्री भवति, i.e. what or who keeps off oppression upon us—Sayana; वरसुखप्रदा—Daya.).

16. Ahirbudhnyah, clouds born in firmament (अहिः मेघः, बुध्न्यः अन्तरिक्षेभव—Nigh. I.3.).

17. Nirṛti, see earlier notes, the earth (Nigh. I.1); mother earth.

19. Ila, mother-earth; adorable speech; urvasi, charming as lightning; or divine speech (उरवो बहवो वशे भवन्ति यया सा वाणी। उर्वशीति पदनाम —Nigh. IV.2).

Nadibhih, नदीभिः, by channels, nerves and veins, or rivers.

20. A verse of 10 syllables, known as yajusi-pankti (याजुषी पंक्तिः); also known as viraja of one hemistich.

Hymn-42

3. Kavitamam kavinam, most wise amongst the wise.

Kavi is Kranta-darshin (क्रान्तदर्शिन्); a seer (or shewer) of the secret realms (Wilson translates the word as prophet, as if he can forecast the future too).

4. See Yv. II.15 with slight variations.

5. Ṛbhuksah, the same as Ṛbhus, here, though the term usually stands for Indra; enlightened sages (ऋभुक्षाः महान्—Daya.).

Purandhih, the same as vibhu, which completes the triad in this verse (Ṛbhu, vibhu and vaja) along with vaja (पुरन्धिः पूर्वी बह्वी धीर्यस्य सः, the one with immense wisdom—Daya.).

6. Marutvatah, lord of vital principles (the one in the company of the distinguished wise persons, प्रशंसित विद्वद्युक्तस्य—Daya.).

9. Suryat yavayasva, put apart from the sun (सूर्यात् सवितुः यावयस्व पमिश्रितान् कुरु—Daya.); i.e. condemn them to darkness.

Brahma-dvisah, the adversaries of prayers, mantras, of the Veda, of the supreme God, or of the Brahmanas (the intellectual class).

15. Marutasya, (मारुतस्य), of cloud-bearing rain.

Rudrasya, Cosmic vitality (प्राणादि रूपस्य वायोः, the vital breathings —Daya.).

17. A fragmentary verse, याजुषी पंक्तिश्छन्दः; the same repeated in Hymn 43.16; a verse of 10 syllables.

Hymn-43

1. Sapte, sapta means seven from its sarpana (सप्त सर्पणस्वभावाः सप्तसृप्ता संख्या—Nir. IV.26).

Sapta viprah—Divine speech in seven metres (Gayatri usnik etc.); wise in seven disciplines (the Veda and its six upangas (सप्तविधः मेधावी —Daya.; seven rivers इमं मे गंगे, X.75.5—Sayana).

2. Dhenavah, the milch kine, or rivers (Sayana); speeches like kine (गाव इव वाचः—Daya.).

4. Duduhe sukram amsuh, Soma yields its pure juice (Wilson); the Soma has milked the pure juice (शुक्रं निर्मलं रसं दुदुह्रे दुग्धे—Sayana; दुदुहे-दोग्धि, milched, शुक्रं—उदकम् water, अंशुः—किरणः (ray)—Daya.).

6. Gnam, ग्नाम्, a synonym of stri, woman; to Sayana, the proper name of a Devata; queen of knowledge (गच्छन्ति ज्ञानं यया the one through which knowledge is attained—Daya.); menah (मेनाः) and gnah (ग्नाः) are synonym of women; striyah (स्त्रियः), women, is derived from root styai, स्त्यै, meaning to be bashful; menah (मेनाः) are so called because men honour them (मानयन्ति, manayanti).

Gnah (ग्नाः) are so called because men go to them. (Nir.III.21); Sayana's derivation is "ग्नां देवीं सर्वैर्गन्तव्यामेतन्नामिकां देवताम्"।

7. Gharma, see also V.30.15; ewer; sacrifice or austerity (यज्ञस्तापो वा—Daya.); gharmah, cauldron known as Mahavira (घर्मः महावीरः) in sacrifices. Sayana interprets the verse in the light of animal sacrifice: "The vessel which the priests celebrating, supply with butter, as if roasting a marrow-yielding animal with fire."—(Wilson).

Vapavantam, encouraging the seed of knowledge to grow (विद्या बीजं विस्तरन्तम्—Daya.).

Agnina, by fire; by austerity and celibacy (पावकेनेव ब्रह्मचर्येण —Daya.).

Tapantah, roasting or heating; enduring or penancing for forebearance (सन्तापदुःखं सहमानाः—Daya.).

8. Dhuram, the axle (नाभिं; धुरं यानाधारकाष्ठम्—Daya.); anih, pin, bolt (आणिः कीलकम्—Daya.); nabhim, axle of the wheel. As the cart cannot move if the axle of the wheel is not fixed by the pin or bolt, so the offering of the Soma is without efficacy unless the Asvins be present (Wilson).

9. Pusna, the nourishing bounty; (पुष्टिकरस्य—Daya.).

Vayoh, of the wind divine.

12. Nila-prstham, the one whose back is darkblue. (नीलसंवृतं पृष्ठं यस्य तम्—Daya.); Agni is Brhaspati and Brhaspati is Agni;—so infers Sayana from such epithets.

13. Tridhatu Sringah, the horns of three colours or three elements, white, red and smoky or black (शुक्लरक्तकृष्णगुणाः शृंगवत्यस्य सः —Daya.).

Gna, speech (Nigh. I.11).

14. Raspirasah, one equipped with all accessories of the fire-ritual, (रास्पिरासः ये रा धनानि स्पृणन्ति ते, they who liberally give and distribute gifts and alms—Daya.).

15. Mithunasah, with wife (पत्नीभिः सहिता); secante (सेचन्ते सेवते —Sayana); vayah, food (sacrificial); one should jointly (i.e. husband and wife) offer sacrificial food, i.e. wife should participate with husband in sacred rituals (जायापती अग्निमादधीयाताम्—and similarly in the Purva Mimamsa (V. I.26) (अधिकाराध्याये षष्ठे स्त्रिया अप्यधिकारः स च पत्या सह, इति हि प्रतिपादितम्—Sayana). From देवोदेवः to दुर्मतीधात् the same as the latter half of verse 16 of Hymn 42.

16. The same as the verse 17 of the Hymn 42.

Hymn-44

For verses 1 and 8, see Nir. III.16 and VI.15 respectively.

The hymn refers to the glory of the sun, known as Indra, Surya, Agni, Aditya and various names. He is accompanied by his bride, the dawn (जनिवान् वै); the verses 10-13 refer to the allusive terms as क्षत्र, मनस, श्रवद, यजत, सध्रि, श्रवत्सार, विश्ववार, मायिन्, सदापृण, बाहुवृक्त, श्रुतवित्, तुर्य and सुतम्भर which need elucidations. According to Sayana, most of them are the names of the Ṛsis. They are the humanly attributes of a man.

Ksatra, voluntary assistance (royal family or a State, राजकुलस्य राष्ट्रस्य वा—Daya.).

Manasa, goodwill (यन्मन्यते तस्य—Daya.).

Evavada, pleasing nature. Dayananda explains eva-vadasya (एवऽवदस्य) as by which the attained qualities are told (एवान् प्राप्तान् गुणान् वदन्ति येन तस्य)। (Evah, aspiring—कामयमानाः—Daya., गन्तव्यैः कामैर्गमनसाधनैरश्वैर्वा, by the means of transport, horses etc. V.41.5; एवाः गन्तारो युष्मान् भजमानाः —V.41.13—Sayana).

Yajata, reverence (यजतस्य यजन्ति संगच्छन्ते ये तस्य from √यज्, to unite. to go together—Daya.).

Sadhri, the spirit of coexistence (सध्रेः सहस्थानस्य—Daya.).

Avatsara, safety and protection (श्रवत्सारस्य योऽवतो रक्षकान् सरति प्राप्नोति तस्य—Daya).

Viśvavara, acceptable in totality (विश्ववारस्य समग्रस्वीकरणीयस्य—Daya.); see I.30.10; 48.13; 123.12; V.4.7; 28.1; 44.11; 80.3; and other references also for various other shades of meanings, विश्ववारं आविवरपदार्थयुक्तां—V.4.7; विश्ववारा या विश्वं वृणोति सा—V.28.1—Daya.).

Sadapṛna, ever rich in wealth, ever satisfying (सदाऽपृणः यः सदा पृणाति तर्पयति सः—Daya.).

Bahuvṛkta, destroyer of the crooked by both hands (यो बाहुभ्यां दुष्टान् वृङ्क्ते छिनत्ति—Daya.).

Srutavit, fully learned (श्रुतऽवित्—यः श्रुतं वेत्ति, one who knows all that has been heard—Daya.).

Taryyah, skilful (यस्तीर्यते तरितुं योग्यः—one, worth going across, or worth crossing—Daya.).

Sutambhara, the sustainer of the created world (य उत्पन्नं जगद् बिभर्ति—Daya.).

1. See Yv. VII.12.

Tam pratna-tha purva-tha visva-tha ima-tha, प्रत्नऽथा पूर्वऽथा विश्वऽथा इमऽथा, Him (thou milkest, like the ancient, like the farmer, like all; like the present (sacrificers), i.e. just as the ancient, as the former, as all, as these (sacrificers) milk. This, it is nearer then that. That, it is farther than this (Nir. III.16 on the Chapter of Similies, their various ways of expressing).

5. Wilson gives the literal translation thus : It is seizing with the trees the seized in the effused, the produce of the branching, in the embroyos of the mind, well-moving (or) well-praised, among the speechholders, straight-sung, thou shinest; augment the protectresses, the life in the sacrifice. Wilson regards this verse as an obscure one, and Sayana's interpretation is also not intelligible.

8. Yadṛsmin dhayi tam apasyaya vidat,

By his skill, he won everything or all that on which the stake was laid, Nir. VI.15; यादृशे व्यवहारे ध्रियते तमपस्यया आत्मनः कर्मेच्छया लभते—Daya. He obtains that blessing by his devotion, on whatsoever his desire has been fixed—यादृश्मिन् यादृशे कामे धायि धत्ते सामर्थ्यान् मनो गम्यते तम् । यथा निर्देशे प्रतिनिर्देष्टव्यत्वात् तादृशमित्यर्थो ज्ञातव्यः । तादृशं कार्यम् अपस्यया कर्मणा हविः स्तुत्यादिलक्षणेन विदत् विन्दते —Sayana).

Hymn-45

3. Parvatasya, of the cloud (मेघस्य—Sayana, Daya.).

Mahinam janse purvyaya, for the lives taken before the creation of earths (महीनां) and cloud (पर्वतस्य)—Daya.; to an ancient author of sacred songs (महीनां महतीनां स्तुतीनां जनुषे उत्पादयित्रे पूर्व्याय प्रत्नाय, to an ancient begetter or producer of praise, Sayana).

6. Visi-sipram, to the one attractive in appearance, to the one having attractive nose and chin (विशी शिप्रे शोभने हनुनासिके तम्—Daya.); to an enemy without a chin (विगत हनु शत्रुम्—Sayana) : Manu conquered the enemy without action, or as sipra (शिप्र) means also a nose, it might mean noseless; Manu is Indra and visisipra is Vṛtra (Sayana).

For Vanik vankuh apa purisam, see also I.112.11—याभिः सुदानू औशिजाय वणिजे दीर्घश्रवसे मधुकोशः ; a merchant always desires to exploit maximum in exchange of a little investment; according to Sayana, this refers to Kaksivan, who was such an aspirant.

7. Dasa maso navagvah, for priests adept in a nine-month sacrifice continuing for ten months (नवग्वाः नवमासपर्यन्तं गवार्थमनुतिष्ठन्तोऽङ्गिरसो नवग्वाः; it might refer to an occasion when priests of both nine and ten months rites offer worship. (cf. नवग्वासः सुतसोमास इन्द्र दशग्वासो, V.29.12).

Sarama, flowing, eulogisic or sacred speech (सरणशीला स्तुतिरूपा वाङ्गिरसां गवार्थमिन्द्रेण प्रहिता देवशुनी वा; may also refer to the bitch of Indra —Sayana; the responsive enjoyer, स-रमा, समानरमणा—Daya.).

10. Suryah arhat sukram arnah, the sun has mounted the bright waters, i.e. he has become visible everywhere (सर्वतः प्रादुर्भवति —Sayana); or it alludes to the sun's rising apparently out of the waters.

11. Dasa maso navagvah, see verse 7.

Hymn-46

For verse 8 see Nir. XII.46.

The verses 2 and 3 also occur in Yv. XXXIII. 48; 49.

3. Svar, one of the names of Aditya (स्वः आदित्यं—Daya.); स्वरादित्य उच्यते स्वरणात्—Sayana).

The fourteen names invoked here are Indragni, Mitra-varuna, Aditi, Svah, Pṛthivi, Dyau, Marut, Parvata, Apah, Visnu, Pusan, Brahmanaspati, Bhaga, and Savitṛ.

4. Ṛbhavah, the spiritual preceptors (मेधाविनः—Daya.).

Asvina, the pair of surgeons and physicians.

Tvasta, architects.

Vibhva, by capability (विभुना—Daya.); or one of the Ṛbhus (ऋभूणामन्यतमो देवः—Sayana).

8. May the divine women (देवपत्न्यः), wives of gods, Indrani, Agnayi, Asvini, Rat enjoy themselves. May Rodasi and Varunani hear us. May the goddesses enjoy that which is the proper season of consorts.

Indrani is Indra's wife (इन्द्राणीन्द्रस्यपत्नी); Agnayi is the wife of Agni (अग्नायी, अग्नेः पत्नी); Asvini, wife of the Asvins (अश्विनी, अश्विनोः पत्नी); Rat (राट्), she who shines (राड् राजते); Rodasi, wife of Rudra (रोदसी, रुद्रस्य पत्नी); Varunani, wife of Varuna (वरुणानी, वरुणस्य पत्नी). May the goddesses enjoy, i.e. long for that, the proper season of consorts (ऋतुकालो जायानाम्)—Nir. XII.46.

Dayananda's interpretation of these terms is : Rat Indrani, wife of a resplended and reputed person (परमैश्वर्ययुक्तस्य पत्नी या राजते); Agnayi, wife of a person, vigorous as fire (पावकवद् वर्त्तमानस्य पत्नी); Asvini, wife of a person, moving with speed (प्राशुगामिनः स्त्री); Rodasi varunani, wife of a venerable person generous like earth and heaven (द्यावापृथिव्याविव वरस्य भार्य्या).

In the cosmic creation, each and every Nature's bounty is considered as a pair, and for the fruitfulness, the consort is expected to wait for the proper season of mating, the Ṛtukala (ऋतुकाल), the universal function in the organic and inorganic worlds both.

Hymn-47

1. Divah, from heaven; from light (प्रकाशात्—Daya.).

Mahi or the adorable (पूजनीया—Daya.; महती—Sayana) is used for dawn (Wilson).

Mata, the adorable mother (मान्यकारिणी जननी—Daya.; the creator of light or deities (प्रकाशस्य देवानां वा निर्मात्री—Sayana).

Duhitur bodhayanti, making the awaking of the daughter i.e. of the earth. Usa or dawn is the daughter of heaven, the bride of the earth (व्युच्छा दुहितुर्दिवः—I.48.1; दिवो दुहिता भुवनस्य पत्नी VII.75.4; प्रजापतिर्वै स्वां दुहितरमभ्यध्यायद्दिवमित्यन्य प्राहुरुषसमित्यन्ये Ait. Br. III.33). The relations between the heaven, the dawn and the earth have been elucidated by Dayananda in respect to the relations between a daughter, her parents and teacher and the husband, to whom she is married.

3. Prsnih asma vi cakrame rajasah pati antao—(See also Yv. XVII.10). Asma (अश्मा), cloud (मेघः—Nigh. I.10); all-pervading (सर्वत्र व्याप्तः) or like a stone (Sayana).

Prsnih, sky or midspace (नभः—Nigh. I.4); the sun (प्राश्नुत एनं वर्ण इति पृश्न्यादित्यः—Sayana); rajasah (रजसः) of midspace (Sayana); of the one born in the Loka (लोकजातस्य—Daya.).

4. Catvarah, the four (the four priests, चत्वारः ऋत्विजः—Sayana); the four elements—earth, water, fire and air (Daya.).

Tridhatavah, the possessor of three characteristics (त्रयः सत्वरजस्तमांसि धातवो धारका येषान्ते); or three weathersseasons -cold, hot and rainy (त्रिधातवः त्रिप्रकाराः शीतोष्णवर्षभेदेन त्रिविधाः—Sayana).

5. Iha-iha jate yamya sambandhu, here yamya is the pair of night and day (यम्या रात्रिदिने—Daya.); The firmament is supported or maintained in its place by the various changes of times and seasons which it may be considered to generate (Sayana and Wilson).

Yat im vibhrtam (यत्+ईम्+विभृतः), associated and equally allied (this refers to vapuh, the form or body, or firmament, मण्डलम्). Also im (ईम्) means water (ईम् उदकम्—Daya.: Nigh. I.12).

Hymn-48

For verse 1, see Nir. V.5.

1. अभ्र आँ अपः = अभ्रे आ अपः = अभ्रा आ अपोऽभ्रेष्वय इति—Waters in the cloud, i.e. waters on the clouds [waters in the cloud, i.e. waters resting on the cloud, अपोऽभ्रेऽधीति]—Nir. V.5.

Mayini, cosmic intelligence (माया प्रज्ञा विद्यते यस्यां सा—Daya.); delusive (energy of Agni or lightning)—Wilson; also Sayana; the same as Maya or divine wisdom (मायेति प्रज्ञानाम् । प्रज्ञावती सती—यत् यस्य सम्बन्धिनी माध्यमिकी वागिति वा योज्यम्) ।

2. Apacih apara apejate, here apacih, अपाचीः, one with the downward flow (या अधोऽञ्चन्ति—Daya.); dawns which have turned back (अपाचीः अपाञ्चनाः प्रतिनिवृत्तमुखीः, अपराः अन्या आगामिनीः उषसः—Sayana).

Apejate, causes to go away (अपचालयति—Sayana); causes to shake (अपकम्पते—Daya.).

Devayur janah, the devout person (देवान् विदुषः कामयमानः जनः —Daya.).

4. Parasoh iva, परशोः इव, like a parasu; parasu, a deputy (परशोरिव प्रतिपरशोः प्रतिनिधिमिव पश्यामि । परशुर्यथा स्वस्वामिनोऽभिमतं साधयति तद्वदित्यर्थः —Sayana).

Tam asya ritim parasoh iva, the text has no verb; Sayana supplies the verb pasyami, and interprets parasu by pratinidhi, a deputy, a substitute : in like manner as a deputy fulfils the will of his master, so the functions of Agni make him the deputy, or representative of yajamana; or parasu may imply an axe, as usual, which accomplishes the object of the wood-cutter as Agni does that of a sacrificer. (Wilson)

Hymn-49

1. Bhagam Vibhajantam, similar to bhagah vibhakta (V.46.6); Bhaga is the distributor of wealth (धनं विभागकर्त्ता—Sayana; भगं ऐश्वर्यं च रत्नं रमणीयं धन विभजन्तं विभागं कुर्वन्तम्—Daya.); see also IV.17.11 (रायो विभक्ता संभरश्च वस्वः) ।

3. Adatraya dayate varyani, i.e. the fire consumes excellent consumable timbers (अदत्रया वरणीयानि काष्ठानि दहते); or as epithet to Agni, the nourishing, the desirable, the uninjurable Agni (अदत्रया अत्तुं योग्यान्यन्नादीनि दयते ददाति वार्य्याणि वरितुमर्हाणिपूषा पुष्टिकर्त्ता भजः भजनीयः—gives nourishing and desirable food—Daya.).

5. Pra ye vasubhyah ivat-a namah, presented to the rich people (the Vasus) the moving and sustaining food; by moving food (गमनवदन्नम् —Sayana), the dairy products, as milk, butter and honey and others are intended, obtained from cattle or other creatures;—Sayana unnecessarily interprets it as animal flesh (नमः अन्नं पश्वात्मकम्) used as food.

Hymn-50

1. See Yv. IV.8.

2. Te hi raya te hi a—prce sacemahi sacathyaih—Here raya (राया), by wealth; a-pṛce (आऽपृचे), for the relation on all sides, sacathyaih, in the company of all close relations (सचथेषु समवायेषु भवैः—Daya.). We seek to unite with our desires (Wilson); ते उभये राया धनेन सचेमहि, संगच्छेमहि, आऽपृचे आपर्चनीयाः, सचथ्यैः सर्वैः कामैः—Sayana; also ये च राया सर्वान् रक्षन्ति, ते प्रीतिमन्तो जायन्ते ये हि आपृचे समन्तात् सम्पर्काय सचेमहि सयुञ्जमहि सचथ्यैः सचथेषु समवायेषु भवैः i.e. those who serve others with wealth, they are blessed with happiness. We should unite with them, who care to maintain good relations with all (Daya.).

3. Nrn Atithin, the righteous guests who lead on good paths (अधर्माद्वियोज्य धर्मपथं गमयितॄन अतिथीन्—Daya.). An invocation for male descendents, guests and wives (नॄन् अतिथीन्, पत्नीः)—Wilson.

4. Yatra vahnih abhi-hitah, where the fire is placed or established. Sayana misinterprets the words as sacrificial post and victim, on the basis of the word dronyah pasuh (द्रोण्यः पशुः—द्रोणेषु शीघ्रगामिषु भवः, पशुः यो दृश्यते—यत्र द्रोण्यः पशुरिवाऽभिहितो वह्निर्द्रवत्—Daya.). Here pasuh stands for cow, from which flows milk collected in a pot of wood (द्रोण्यः).

Hymn-51

1. Umebhih, with all protecting Nature's forces (रक्षणादिकर्तृभिस्सह —Daya.; रक्षकैः—Sayana). For ऊमा: see III.6.8; IV.19.1; V.52.12; VII.39.4; X.6.7; 31.3; 77.8; 120.1; 3; ऊमासः I.66.3; ऊमेभिः V.51.1; ऊमेभ्यः X.32.5 and ऊमै I.169.7. Being protectors, they are identified as Pitṛs also.

5. Piba sutasya andhasah abhi prayah, enjoy the extracts of food and herbal drinks (सुतस्य निष्पन्नस्य अन्धसः अन्नस्य रसात् अभि प्रयः कमनीयं जलम् —Daya.; प्रयः अन्नं सोमाख्यं; सुतस्यान्धसः अभिषुतमन्धोऽन्नं सोमलक्षणं पिब—Sayana).

6. Arepasau, benevolent (दयालु—Daya.).

8. Atri-vat, like atri; atri, one free from threefold pains or vices, physical, mental and spiritual; also like the one pervading (व्यापकवत्—Daya.).

11. Aditih, the mother Infinity; the indivisible one (अखण्डिता —Daya.).

Anarvanah, unyoked (अप्रत्युतः—Sayana; अनश्वस्य—Daya.); one whom none resists.

Pusa, the giver of strength, the nourishing (पुष्टिकरः दुग्धादि —Daya.).

Asurah, cloud (मेघः).

12. Adityasah, suns and other luminary bodies; a brahmacarin of the first grade; months of a year (Daya.).

13. अद्या = अद्य (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः) ।

Ṛbhavah, men of wisdom; the architects.

Rudrah, Lord of terror.

Hymn-52

For verses 6 and 9, see Nir. VI.16 and V.5 respectively.

The hymn is devoted to The Maruts. On the physical plane, The maruts are the cloud-bearing winds, with occasional lightning resembling highly polished javelins of soldiers. On the social plane, The Maruts are the dedicated leaders of a well-developed society, deserving our admiration and appreciation. Dayananda interprets the hymn in this light. On the metaphysical plane, The Maruts are those human impulses, which help us in dispelling darkness, and ultimately bring forth the divine bliss. All invocations, offerings, libations and drinks are to feed these impulses.

6. Marutah jajjhatih iva, The Maruts like the waters, winds accompanying roaring clouds. Jajjhatih means waters so called because they produce a sound (Nir. VI.16).

9. Parusnyam urna etc. the cumulus (or woollen) clouds along the sustaining river (परुष्ण्या पालनकर्त्र्याम्—Daya.).

For Parusni, see IV.22.2. V.52.9; VII.18.8; 9; VIII.74.15; 93.13; X.75.5.

Uta pavya rathanam adrim bhindanti ojasa

Lo, with the rim of their chariots, they rend the mountains with their might. Here pavi means the rim of a wheel because it brushes away the earth. (पवी रथनेमिर्भवति; यद् विपुनाति भूमिम्—Nir. V 5.

10. On the basis of this verse, The maruts have been postulated to be classified under four heads :

(i) apathayah (आपथय:), those following the path forwards or onwards (those impulses which lead a person onwards to a better spiritual life; or the clouds moving upwards):—समन्तादभिमुख पन्था येषान्ते;

(ii) vipathayah (विपथय:); those following an opposite or contrary path (impulses which lead to a lower trend of life; clouds moving in a downward direction);- -विविधा विरूद्धा वा पन्थानो येषान्ते;

(iii) antah patha (अन्तःपथा); those following the paths leading into the hollowness (impulses leading to the disclosure of inner mysteries of consciousness; the clouds sinking into the hollowness of mountains);—अन्तराभ्यन्तरे पन्था येषान्ते; and

(iv) anupathah (अनुपथाः), those following the path of smoothness; only treading on the paths shown by others; clouds which spread smoothly—अनुकूलः पन्था येषान्ते—(Daya.).

17. Sakinah, potent persons (शक्तिमन्तः—Daya.).

Sapta me sapta, seven and seven or seven into seven i.e. 49 (seven vital elements, five breaths, mind and the soul; seven classes of men; the five of the Pancajanyah, the Sanyasins of the universal brotherhood, and the criminals the seventh; The Maruts are of seven groups (सप्तगणा वै मरुतः—Tai.S. II.2.11.1—अदितिगर्भं वर्त्तमानं वायुमिन्द्रः प्रविश्य सप्तधाविदार्य पुनरेकैकं सप्तधा व्यदारयत् ते एकोनपञ्चाशत्मरुद्गणा अभवन्निति पुराणेषु प्रसिद्धम् —Sayana. This is how, in mythology, from one became seven and the each one again split up into seven and thus 49 classes of The Maruts —Sayana).

Yamunayam, in the actions associated with the pair of Yama and Niyama (see the Yogasutras)—यमनियमान्वितायां क्रियायाम्—Daya.; for the word yamuna, see V.52.17; VII.18.19 and X.75.5. The Nadyah hymn of the Rgveda (X.75) quotes a series of terms, which have been explained by the Nirukta (IX.26) Ganga, Yamuna, Sarasvati, Sutudri Parusni, Marudvṛdha, Asikni, Arjikiya, Vitasta and Susoma. The Ganga is so called from going (√ गम्). The Yamuna, she flows, joining herself, or she flows gently. Every confluent river is thus the Yamuna; every confluent channel or nerve in our human system is the Yamuna. On the Adhyatma plane, every confluent impulse is the Yamuna. In an army, the array of marching troops is a river (nadi).

Hymn-53

In this hymn also, The Maruts have been invoked. The Marut is a mortal man (मरुत् = मर्त्य) in human society; some of the Maruts are leaders, the devoted workers in the society.

According to Dayananda, such persons have been invoked in this hymn. The bands of Maruts, with weapons, bows, helmets, and breastplates, represent the troops of soldiers. On the adhidaivata plane, the Maruts are the rain-bearing clouds, with occasional lightning and thunder, marching with speed, as if in chariots yoked with spotted deers, horses or mares; they are the nimbus, cumulus, cirrus and stratus, and rising high in the heaven, silent and thundering, occasionally pour down on our dry lands, and thus contribute to the land fertility and harvest. The entire poetry with sublimity and fervour is depicted in the present and the following hymns. Such cloud-bearing winds are also present in our conscious, sub-conscious and supraconscious realms, with impulses dark, deceptive and even disheartening; in the midst of such frustrations, we have occasional flashes of divine enlightenment, and finally a shower of bliss, knowledge and supreme beatitude.

3. Arepasah, free from sins and blemishes (दोषलेपरहिताः—Daya.); also formless; intangible. (See I.64.2; 124.26; 181.4; V.51.6; 53.3; 57.4; 61.14; 63.6; 73.4; 6; IX.70.8; 101.10; X.78.1; 91.4). (अरेपसः = अलेपसः = अलिप्ताः; अलेपास्ते—non-entangled—Sayana).

4. Khadisu, खादिषु; in anklets or bracelets; rings (kataka) for hands and feet; khadi is a hasta-tranaka (हस्त-त्राणक), that is, a guard for the hand, or arm. For words, connected with khadi, see खादयः—I.166.9; V.54.11; VII.56.13; खादि: I.168.3; खादिनः II.34.2; खादिनम् VI.16.40; खादिषु V.53.4; X.38.1; and खादिहस्तम् V.58.2.

According to Sayana, खादिनः शत्रूणां खादका मरुतः स्वकीयैराभरणैर्भ्रयन्ते, यद्वा खादः कटकम्। II.34.2; खादिषु हस्तपादस्थित कटकेषु; हस्तेषु खादिश्च कृतिश्च I.168.3; पत्सु खादयः (V.54.11).

Dayananda translates खादिषु as in foods etc. (भक्षणादिषु); खादयः as the consumers (भोक्तारः, V. 54.11.)

9. Rasa, anitabha and kubha (रसा, अनितभा, कुभा); the nuclei of dust (रसा—पृथिवी—Daya.); indefinite or variable light or heat, causing fluctuations of pressure or absence of light; अनितभा—अप्राप्तदीप्तिः—Daya.); and the rotatory motion of the earth (कु=earth), or the undesirable or unfavourable light (कुत्सित प्रकाशः—Daya.)—these are the causes for the flow and precipitation of cloud-bearing winds. Sayana regards these three terms as denoting three Indian rivers of these names, not identified.

(Rasa, रसा, means river also,—रसा नदी भवति, Nir. XI.25; रसनवती शब्दवती).

Anitabha, that which is not itabha, इतभा, इता प्राप्ता भा यस्या सा इतभा —Sayana). According to some authorities, the Rasa is a river, whilst anitabha and kubha are the adjectival nouns to qualify the Rasa.

Kramuh sindhuh, the wide-roaring ocean or river (क्रमिता नदी समुद्रो वा—Daya.), or the everywhere-going ocean (सर्वत्र-क्रमण: समुद्र.—Sayana).

Purisini, = Pura-isini (पुर इषिणी), the one desirous of the possession of cities—Daya. ; the one full of water (पुरीषमुदकम्, तद्वती—Sayana; Nigh. I.12).

Sarayuh, a river in general (य: सरति—Daya.); later on, a river of this name in the Uttar Pradesh.

13. Dhanyam bijam aksitam, imperishable grain-seed, the grain or seed of rice etc. (तण्डुलादिक वपनार्हम्, the grain which can be used for sowing;—Daya.); or in a copulative sense, grain and seed; of course, the grain is seed.

Hymn-54

For the verse 6, see Nir. VI.4.

2. Tritah, the combination of three : here wind, cloud and lightning (त्रिभ्य:—Daya.); triple-stationed company (त्रित: त्रिषु स्थानेषु तायमानो मेघो मरुद्गणो वा—Sayana.

9. Pravadvati prthivi, the wide-extended earth, प्र — वत् + वत्, having extent or extension + again possessing i.e. extensive (प्रवन्त: प्रकर्षवन्तो विस्तीर्णा: प्रदेशा यस्या सा प्रवत्वती । तादृशी भवति । कृत्स्नापि भूमि: मरुत्परा भवतीत्यर्थ: another meaning is given to it, tat-para, being subject to it, as the earth is subject to the Maruts, or they pervade the whole earth, ता सर्वामपि व्याप्नुवन्ति—Sayana); the inclined, or slopy land (प्रवत्वती निम्न देशयुक्ता or प्रवणवती or निम्नगामिनी; similarly, प्रवत्वन्त: प्रवतशीला: --Daya.).

10. Svarnarah, leaders of all (सर्वस्य नेतार:—Sayana) or स्व:नर:, those who bring happiness (ये स्व: सुख नयन्ति ते—Daya.).

Divonarah, leaders of heaven; or those who lead to the desired goal of righteousness (कामयमाना: सत्ये धर्मे नेतार:—Daya.).

11. Siprah, शिप्रा:, the head-dresses, turbans or tiaras (उष्णिश: —Daya.).

12. Rusat pippalam, water of bright colour (pippalam=water Nigh. I.12; शुभ्रवर्णमुदकम्—Sayana); good-looking enjoyable fruit, सुस्वरूपं फलभोगम्—Daya.); or firmament.

13. Tisya, the sun or the eighth lunar mansion, the Pusya (आदित्य: पुष्य नक्षत्रं वा—Daya.).

14. Sama-vipram, the authorities on the Saman chants (सामसु मेधाविनम्—Daya.; साम्नां विविधं प्रेरयितार यद् वा सामसहिता विप्रा यस्य तादृशम्—Sayana).

Hymn-55

2. Tavisim, well-equipped strong army (बलेनयुक्तां सेनाम्—Daya.).

4. Abhusenyam, adorned, rather adored, or to be glorified.

5. Samudratah, from midspace or firmament (अन्तरिक्षात्—Daya.);

Purisinah, charged with waters (पुरीषं जलम्—Nigh. I.12); charged with numerous types of sustenance (पुरीषं बहुविधपोषणं विद्यते येषु ते—Daya.).

6. Asvan dhursu, horses to the poles of chariots; asvan, fire etc. (अग्न्यादीनि; dhuh-su, in the cells of aeroplanes and other vehicles, धूर्षुविमानादियानावयव कोष्ठेषु—Daya.).

10. अच्छा = अच्छ ।

Hymn-56

For the verse 8, see Nir. XI.50.

3. Milhusmati-iva, like the one possessing powerful or virile husband (मीढ् हुष्मतीव मीढु: सेक्तावीर्यप्रद: प्रशस्त: पतिर्विद्यते यस्यास्तत्—Daya.); here in the context of our earth (पृथिवी), one possessing a powerful master or ruler, particularly when oppressed by others (पराहृत:). Earth (पृथिवी) may, in fact, represent the inhabitants, or praja, the subjects of the State. (Sayana).

4. Gavah, cattle, cows, but here horses also (Sayana).

5. Gavam sargam iva, like a herd of cattle; but sargam also means water (सर्गः उदकनाम—Nigh. I.12; सर्गमिव उदकमिव—Daya.; like a heap of waters (Wilson); gavam also means of waters (सर्गं संघम्, गवां उदकानां प्रसिद्धानां गवां वा सर्गं संघम्—Sayana).

8. Rodasi, heaven and earth; the sun and earth (भूमिसूर्यौ—Daya.); the wife of Rudra, and the mother of The Maruts in mythology (रोदसी रुद्रस्य पत्नी मरुतां माता, यद्वा रुद्रो वायुः, तत्पत्नी माध्यमिका देवी—Sayana).

We invoke the swift famous chariot of The Maruts i.e. the cloud, wherein has stood, Rodasi, bearing delightful waters in the company of i.e. together with The Maruts (Nir. XI.50).

9. Milhusi, मील्हुषी, the virile woman (सेचनकर्त्री—Daya.); in mythology another name for Rodasi, the wife of Midhvat (मील्हुवत), which is an appellation of Rudra. Phrases like Milhustama sivatama (मील्हुष्टम शिवतम) show that Midhvan (मीढ्वान्) is Rudra; also the same in the Apastambe Sutras (उत्तरया दक्षिणस्यामीशानमावाहयति लौकिक्या वाचोत्तरस्यां मील्हुषी मध्ये जयन्तम्—Ap. Gr. XX.1.3).

Hymn-57

For verse 1, see Nir. XI.15.

1. Iyam vah asmat prati etc., this our praise is addressed to you as to the thirsty; from heaven, rushing waters to the water-wishing. Sayana alludes these lines to the legend of the well brought by The Maruts to the thirsty Gotama (उदन्यवे उदकेच्छवे तृष्णजे गोतमाय—Sayana; see also I.85.11).

Come, O Rudras, with Indra, accordant for the action of bringing prosperity. This thought from us yearns strongly for you, as the thirsty for the divine springs of water.

Tṛṣṇaj is derived from √तृष्, to be thirsty.

Udanyuh (one who seeks water) is derived from the verb उदन्य, to moisten (Nir. XI.15).

8. Bṛhad uksamanah, with profuse services (महत् सेवमानाः—Daya.); with copious oblations; or may also mean sprinkling much water (उदकं वा सिञ्चते यूयं भृवत—Sayana).

The same verse is repeated as the last verse of the succeeding hymn (V.58.8).

Hymn-58

4. Vibhvatastam, modelled by vibhvan, a particular class of architects, who have specialized in transport vehicles (Ṛbhu, vibhvan and Vajins); fabricated by vibhvan, very perfect and handsome (तेन निर्मितं अत्यन्त रूपवन्तम्—Sayana); one particularly intelligent among wise persons (विभूनां मेधाविनां मध्ये तष्टं—तीव्रप्रज्ञम्—Daya.).

जनयथा = जनयथ (permissible in the Vedic Texts).

6. Ava usriyah vṛsabhah krandatu dyauh, may emit a downward sound; again here dyauh means pleasing (कामयमानः—Daya.); or dyauh vṛsabhah may mean the shining showerer, i.e. Parjanya or Indra; usra means the ray of the sun.

Hymn-59

1. Spat, स्पट्, one who touches, the priest (स्प्रष्टा—Daya.; स्प्रष्टा होता, i.e. the priest or hota who touches the fire or oblation—Sayana).

For Spat, see also VIII.61.15; and X.35.8.

अर्चा = अर्च, to honour, to respect; अर्चा सत्कुरु । अत्र द्वयचोऽतस्तिङ इति दीर्घ.—Daya.; Panini VI.3.134.

2. Emabhih, by attainable qualities (प्रापकैः गुणैः—Daya.).

3. चेतथा = चेतथ ।

4. Kavya, the contributions of wise people (कवीनां मेधाविनां कर्माणि —Daya.).

6. Udbhidah, those who sprout forth out of ground (ये पृथिवीं भित्वा प्ररोहन्ति—Daya.).

Prsnimatarah, those whose mother is the mid-space or heaven; clouds (पृश्निरन्तरिक्षं माता येषान्ते—Daya. ; पृश्निः नभः, heaven Nigh. I.4).

7. Ubhaye yatha viduh, as both know; here both stands for gods and mortals; both according to Sayana, mortals or men, of course, know by perception the setting in of the rains; the gods know it by the agrayana (आग्रयण) and other sacrifices which are offered at that season—देवाश्च वृष्टौ सत्यामाग्रयणादौ हविष्प्रदानेन जानन्ति—Sayana. Dayananda relates ubhaye with asvasah, i.e., two types of moving bodies or transports.

Hymn-60

For verse 8, see Nir. VIII.2.

1. Pradaksinit, one who carries the pradaksina (यः प्रदक्षिणो नयति —Daya.); the divinely blessed; circumbulating (प्रादक्षिण्येन गच्छन्—Sayana).

4. Raivatasah, rich in animals (रेवतीषु पशुषु भवाः—Daya.); persons rich in wealth (धनवन्तः—Sayana).

8. Vaishvanara, the leader of common folk; the universal leader (विश्वेषु सर्वेषु नायक—Daya.).

Somam piba mandasano ganasribhih, accompanied by associating troops, and rejoicing, drink Soma. This in the Nirukta (VIII.2) is referred to in connection with similar functions or assignments to Indra, Agni, Vayu and others. It is not only Indra that accepts Soma, Agni and others are also equally entitled. Agni, Indra, Vayu etc. are the names of one and the same Supreme Lord.

Hymn-61

Sayana narrates a queer mythological story along with this hymn, which is neither appropriate nor necessary. It merely speaks of the ingenuity of the mythological period of the Vedic history. The story runs thus : A priest of the family of Atri, named Arcananas (अर्चनानाः), having been employed as hotṛ by the Raja Rathaviti (रथवीति), the son of Darbhya (i.e. a दार्भ्य), saw at the ceremonial the daughter of the Raja, and being pleased by her appearance, asked her as a wife for his son Syavasva (श्यावाश्व); Rathaviti was disposed to assent, but he thought it proper to consult his queen, who objected to the match that Syavasva was not a Ṛsi, no maiden of their house having ever been given in marriage to a less saintly personage: to qualify himself, therefore, as a Ṛsi, Syavasva engaged in a course of rigorous austerity, and wandered about soliciting alms; among others, he begged alms of Sasiyasi (शशीयसी), the queen of Taranta (तरन्त) Raja, who conducting him to her husband, said, a Ṛsi has arrived: the Raja replied, treat him with reverence; and Sasiyasi, with her husband's permission, gave him a herd of cattle and costly ornaments : the Raja also bestowed upon him whatever he asked for, and then sent him onwards to his younger brother, Purumilha (पुरुमीळ्ह) : on his way, Syavasva met the Maruts, whom he hymned, and was by them acknowledged to be a Ṛsi; he was also made the Seer (द्रष्टा) of the hymns of the Veda : Rathaviti then, with concurrence of his wife, gave him his daughter : this hymn (61) was, as if, composed, in honour of the benefactors of Ṛsi.

Thus according to Sayana, the word सा (5) or she refers to Sasiyasi, Viraya (वीराय) or hero to Taranta (5). The same verse has the word Syavasva (श्यावाश्व); the word Sasiyasi occurs in verse 6. Syavaya in verse 9 is the same as Syavasva according to Sayana; this verse has the word Purumilha (पुरुमीळ्ह) also; in verse 10, we have the word Vaidadasvi (the son of Vidadasva, विददश्व) which stands for Purumilha; and we have the term Taranta (तरन्त) also, and a reference to the gift of wealth and hundred cattle.

5. Sa, सा, a wise and learned lady (विदुषी स्त्री—Daya.).

Syavasva, श्यावाश्व, brown speedy horses; Syavasvastutaya, by one equipped or accomplished with brown speedy horses or vehicles.

Doh, arms (भुजस्य बलम्—Daya.).

Viraya, by brave youths (शूराय—Daya.).

6. Sasiyasi, a lady, the accomplisher of praiseworthy deeds; (अतिशयेन दुःखं प्लावयन्ती, the helper at the time of excessive troubles and miseries—Daya.).

9. Syavaya, श्यावाय, the possessor of brown speedy horses (श्याववर्णयुक्तायाऽश्वाय—Daya.).

Purumilhaya, (पुरूऽमीळ्हाय), for a person widely reputed for virility (बहुवीर्यसेक्त्रे—Daya.).

10. Vaidat-asvih (वैदत्ऽअश्विः), the knower of cosmic mystery (योऽश्वान् विन्दति स विददश्वस्तस्यापत्यं वैददश्वि, an expert in the knowledge of horses is vidadasva, and his son would be vaidadasvi—Daya.).

Tarantah-iva, तरन्तःऽइव, like a swimmer (Daya.).

17. Urmye (ऊर्म्ये), On night (रात्रीव वर्त्तमाने—Daya.). Sayana refers to the mythology here; upon concluding the praises of the Maruts, and thus having attained the rank of a Ṛsi, Syavasva summons the night (ऊर्म्या), to convey the intelligence to Rathaviti, who gives him his daughter along with many valuable presents, but at the end of the ceremony, the Ṛsi departed for the woods to resume his austerities. It is, however, not said if he took his wife with him.

19. Gomatih, a flooded river, rich in radiations (गवां किरणा विद्यन्ते यासु गतिषु ताः—Daya.). According to Sayana, gomatih means, having water; rivers being in the plural (गोमतीरनु उदकवतीर्नदीरनु अनुसृत्य नदीनां तीरे —Sayana).

Hymn-62

For verse 8, see Nir. III.5.

Mitra-Varuna are usually associated with the sun:—one represents the sun as the giver of energy (light and heat), whilst the other provides plasma, matter or dravya to the solar system. For the relation of Mitra-Varuna with the sun, see चित्रं देवानामुदगादनीकं चक्षुर्मित्रस्यवरुणस्याग्नेः, I.115.1; उद्वां चक्षुर्वरुण सुप्रतीकं देवयोः VII.61.1, and चक्षुर्मित्रस्य वरुणस्य, VII.63.1.

The Supreme Lord is also Mitra, since He is of supreme friendly nature, or since He is the giver of enlightenment. He is side by side Varunu also, since He is venerable, and the giver of bliss. When both the aspects (enlightenment and bliss) of Lord are expressed simultaneously, He is also known as Mitra-Varuna (मित्रावरुण), or a twin-Lord, and then He is invoked in dual number (द्विवचन). This type of twinning of varied functions is also found in several other combinations as Indra-agni (इन्द्राग्नी, I.121.1-4), Indra-pusana (इन्द्रापूषण, I.162.2); Indra-Brhaspati (इन्द्राबृहस्पती IV.49.1-6); Indra-Brahmanaspati (इन्द्रा ब्रह्मणस्पती II.24.12); Indra-Varuna (इन्द्रावरुणा I.17.7-9); Indra-Visnu (इन्द्राविष्णू, IV.2.4), and Indra-soma (इन्द्रासोम; इन्द्रासोमा II.30.6). In the Vedic verses, these terms, used in the sense of the twin-Lord, take the dual number, though representing one and the same Lord. For these pairings, see Nir. VII.10. For triple-Lord, Mitra-Varuna and Aryaman—see V.67.3.

1. Devanam srestham vapusam, most excellent of the forms of gods; the divine bodies; the embodied forms of Nature's bounties; the best of the embodied or light-possessing deities.

Ṛtena, by cosmic vapours; ṛtam, eternal orb.

2. Mitra, cosmic energy; Varuna; cosmic plasma.

Pavih, the felly of the chariot wheel (पवी रथनेमिर्भवति—Sayana); righteous behaviour (पविः पवित्रोव्यवहारः—Daya.); also circumference of a wheel, put by metonymy for the chariot.

Vam ekah pavih a vavarta, the one chariot of you two goes round. See also V.73.3. The two wheels of the Sun's chariot has to play two different roles. One causes the radiations to emit, it causes days and nights; the other wheel apparently moves the sun round an orbit to cause the seasons and year, the TIME CYCLE, Kala-cakra. It must be remembered that in the Vedic poetry, while we speak of the rise of the sun and the sunset, or the sun causing the seasons, we refer to the apparent movements of the sun in relation to our earth. It is, in fact, the earth and other planets, which revolve round the sun.

5. Gartte mitra asatha etc., here gartha means the seat on the chariot, the car itself. See also the verse 8 (गर्ते गृहे—Daya.; अधिरथे—Sayana).

8. Garttam, the chariot or car. Chariot is called gartta, being derived from √गृ, meaning to praise; it is the most praised vehicle; "ascend the chariot. O Mitra and Varuna", (Nir.III.5, गृणाते: स्तुतिकर्मण:; स्तुतितमं यानम्) ।

Aditim, the indivisible earth (अखण्डनीया भूमि, दितिं खण्डितां प्रजादिकाम् —Sayana; ditim refers to people etc. who are divisible). To Dayananda, aditim is everlasting causal state (अविनाशि कारणम्), whilst ditim is ending effect (नाशवत्कार्यम्).

Compare the verse with Yv. X.16. To Mahidhara ditim is an infidel (दीनं, नास्तिकवृत्तिम्), whilst aditim is one who follows what is prescribed and performs religious rites (अदितिमदीनं विहितानुष्ठातारं दितिं दीनं नास्तिक वृत्तिम्—Mahidhara).

Hymn-63

For verse 5, see Nir. IV.19.

2. Dyava-prthivi vi caranti tanyavah—Your bodies or forms traverse earth and heaven; this refers to expanding rays. The lightnings (तन्यव:) traverse earth and the celestial region (प्रकाशभूमी विविधे गच्छन्ति विद्युत: —Daya.).

3. Asurasya mayaya, by the power of parjanya, the caster forth of water (असुरस्य उदकनिरसितु; पर्जन्यस्य मायया प्रज्ञया सामर्थ्येन—Sayana). Here asura is cloud, and maya, the skill or potentiality (मेघस्य मायया आच्छादनादिना प्रज्ञया वा—Daya.).

5. Rajansi citra vi caranti tanyavah, here rajas (रजस्) is derived from √रञ्ज्, to glow. The two lights are called rajas; water is called rajas, worlds are called rajas; blood and day are called rajas. —Variegated and thundering worlds move in different directions. —Nir. IV.19.

Hymn-64

3. Mitrasya yayam patha, may I proceed by the path of Mitra; see also I.90.1 (मित्रस्य मित्रभूतस्य पथा मार्गेण मित्रप्रापकेण मार्गेण यायां गच्छेयम्; मित्रस्येष्टदेश गमयितृत्वं प्रसिद्धम्—"मित्रो नयतु विद्वान्"—Sayana).

Sharmani, in the happiness, in the house, in the place (सुखे गृहे स्थाने वा—Sayana; गृहे, in the house—Daya.).

7. Hastibhih a pat-bhih (pat-bhih, पटऽभि: = पद्भि:), with hands, with feet; i.e. with those having four feet, i.e. horses; also with elephants (इभै: —Daya.) and with feet; also with speedy (हस्तिभि:) legs.

Deva-ksetre, place of divine worship.

Sutam somam na, where devotional love is being expressed.

Arcananasam, the one with an adorable or fine nose (अर्चिना श्रेष्ठा नासिका यस्य तम्—Daya.); name of a Ṛsi (Sayana), Arcanana being the seer of this hymn (V.64). This word does not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda.

Hymn-65

5. Varuna-sesasah, वरूणऽशेषस:, the children of Varuna (शेष इत्यपत्यनाम, वारका: पुत्रा येषां ते—Sayana); children of venerable persons (वरूण उत्तमोजन: शेषो येषान्ते—Daya.)—शेष:,—अपत्यनाम, Nigh. II.2.

Hymn-66

1. Ṛta-pesase, of whom the form is verily water. Pesah, पेश: = रूपनाम = form (Nigh. III.7); ṛta = water, Nigh. I.12; also whose the form is truth (सत्यस्वरूप नाम—Daya.).

Hymn-67

4. Amhoh-cit; even of the sinner (पापिनोऽपि—Sayana; here cit means also, or even of.

Hymn-68

4. Ṛtam ṛtena sapanta, rewarding with rain the holy rite (ऋतेन उदकेन निमित्तेन ऋतं यज्ञं सपन्ता स्पृशन्तौ—Sayana); invoking truth with truth (सत्यं सत्येनाक्रोशन्तौ—Daya.).

Hymn-69

1. Vavrdhanau amatim ksatriyasya, augmenting the force of the vigorous (अमति = रूपनामैतत्—Nigh.; क्षत्रियस्य = क्षत्रं बलं, तद्वत् इन्द्रस्य; vigorous, i.e. here it refers to Indra—Sayana; the son of a king क्षत्रापत्यस्य राज्ञ: i.e. a king himself—Daya.

2. Trayah tasthuh vṛsabhasah tisrnam dhisananam, the three radiant receptacles and showers of rain stand severally in their three spheres (Wilson). The three here are Agni, Vayu and Aditya, i.e. fire on this earth, wind in the midspace, and the sun in heaven.

Iravati, full of milk (इरावती:, इरा क्षीरलक्षणा, तद्वत्यो भवन्ति—Sayana); full of food and requisites (बह्वन्नादि सामग्रीस्ता: —Daya.).

3. Sam yoh (शं योः); here शं (Sam) is the prevention of calamity and misfortune (अरिष्टशमनाय), and यो: (yoh) for the association of happiness (सुखस्य मिश्रणाय; also शं यो: = सुखं संयुक्तम्—Daya.).

Hymn-73

1. Paravati, परावति, in distant lands; arvavati; अर्वावति, in near places (दूरदेशे, निकटदेशे—Daya.).

3. Irma anyat vapuse vapuh cakram rathasya yemathuh—see I.30.19 also, (न्यघ्न्यस्य मूर्धनि चक्रं रथस्य येमथु:), you have arrested one wheel of car for illumining the form of the sun (Wilson); the verse refers to different functions of the two wheels of the sun-chariot; one is for the illumination purposes (nights and days) and the other is for apparent revolution of the Sun round the orbit, to furnish the Year-Cycle (कालचक्र). See also V.62.2.

Nahusa yuga, the ages of mankind (Wilson); the human yuga, the human time-cycle, for the division of time in general, as morning, noon, night, season, and year.

5. Arusah vayah, the red birds (रक्त भास्वर गुणा: पक्षिण:—Daya.); bright horses (अरुषा: आरोचमाना: वय: अश्वा:—Sayana).

Ghrna, घृणा, bright, scorchers (दीप्ति:—Daya.; दीप्ता:—Sayana).

Atapah, of enemies, of the teasing ones (समन्तात्प्रतापक:—Daya.; आतापना: शत्रूणां—Sayana).

6. See also I.116.8 and X.39.9.

8. Madhuyuva, the mixers of Soma juices etc. (मधुरस्य सोमादि-मिश्रयितारौ—Sayana; यो मधूनि यावय यत तस्तौ—Daya.).

Hymn-74

1. Kusthah, कुष्ठ:, the one, resting on the earth (य: कौ पृथिव्यां तिष्ठति—Daya.; derived from ku, the earth); the singular used for the plural; or ku may be the same as kva, क्व, meaning where; where are you two abiding?

2. Nadinam, of rivers; of the supplicants, of the praises (क: स्तोता वां युवयो: नदीनां स्तुतीनाम्—Sayana).

4. Pauram, citizen (पुरिभव मनुष्यं—Daya.); cloud (पौरेण वृष्टयर्थं प्रार्थ्यमानत्वेन सम्बन्धात् मेघोऽपि पौर: from its being solicited by the Ṛsi for the fall of rain—Sayana).

Paura, a vocative, O Asvins, O twin-divines (हे पौर ! इदमश्विनो: सम्बोधनम् । पौरेण स्तुत्यत्वेन सम्बन्धात् अश्विनावपि पौरो ।—Asvins are also called Pauras, because they are in relation with Paura (which is also the name of a Ṛsi—Sayana) as the author of the hymn.

Pauraya, to me the Ṛsi of this name (पौराय ऋषये मह्यम्); the city-seers.

Ud-prutam, fully loaded with water (उदकयुक्तम्—Daya.).

Simham iva druhaspade, as heroes hurl down a lion by their strength out of a place of difficult access (i.e. out of a thicket, द्रुह: द्रोहस्य पदे स्थानेऽरण्यदेशे सिंहमिव गर्जन्तं प्रबलं सिंहं यथा बलात्—Sayana; सिंहवत् द्रुह: शत्रो पदे प्राप्तव्ये—Daya.).

5. Cyavanat, च्यवानात्, from being worn out, from a change (गमनात्—Daya.).

Jujurusah, decripit, worn out by age.

9. Vibhih, with the help of birds (पक्षिभि: सह —Daya.); by speedy horses (गन्तृभिरश्वै:—Sayana).

Hymn-75

For verse 7, see Nir. III.20.

1. Madhvi mama srutam havam, O lovers of sweetness, hear my invocation; masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation (Wilson); मधुविद्यावेदितारौ ममाह्वानं शृणुतम्—Sayana). This is the burthen of the verses of this entire hymn.

2. Dasras, the destroyer of enemies; the dispeller of pain (दु:खनिवारकौ—Daya.).

Hiranya-varttani, possessors of gold or golden chariots; shining like gold (यौ हिरण्यं ज्योति: सुवर्णं वा वर्त्तयस्तौ—Daya.).

4. Kakuhah, great, distinguished (महान्—Daya. and Sayana).

Mṛgah, the purifier (यो मार्ष्टि स:—Daya.) ; searcher (मृगयिता —Sayana); devoted (Wilson).

Vapusah (वापुष:), embodied (वपुषि भव:—Daya.; वपुष्मान् यजमान: —Sayana.; perhaps, the sacrificer).

Pṛksah, food (Nigh. II.7; अन्नं हवि:—Sayana).

5. Cyavanam, च्यवानम्, to the inquiring one; to the inquisitive (sage) (पृच्छन्तम्—Daya.; name of a worn out sage—Sayana).

For Cyavana, च्यवन, see II.12.4; 21.3; VI.18.2; VIII.33.6; 96.4; X.69.5; 6.

For च्यवान, see I.116.10 ; 117.13 ; 118.6 ; V.74.5 ; 75.5 ; VI.62.7; VII.71.5; 68.6; 71.5; X.39.4; 59.1; 61.2; 115.6.

Cyavana (च्यवन) word means a seer, a ṛsi, since he is the collector of hymns (च्यवन ऋषिर्भवति । च्यावयिता स्तोमानाम्). In several Vedic passages it occurs as च्यवान (च्यवानमित्यपस्य निगमा भवन्ति, Nir. IV.19 ; X.39.4).

7. Tirah cit arya-ya pari vartih yatam adabhya. This has been quoted by the Nirukta (III.20).

Tiras (तिरस्) and satas (सतस्) are synonyms of attained (प्राप्तस्य). Tiras, i.e. it has crossed over, from √तॄ. Sadas, it is moved together; from √सृ—O undeceived ones, come round quickly across the turn. For Satas, see VII.104.21.

8. Avasyu, the person who longs for protection (आत्मनोऽवं रक्षणमिच्छुं कामयमानं वा—Daya.).

The earlier references for this word are I.14.5; 25.19; 101.1; 114.11; 131.3; II.6.6; 11.12; 13; 19.8; 21.5; III.33.5; 42.9; IV.16.11; 50.9; V.31.10.

9. Rusat-pasuh, the one who takes good care of an animal (पालित: पशुर्येन स:—Daya. Rusat, रुशत्=animal, Nigh. IV.3); blazing animal; also blazing oblation—दीप्तपशुमान् प्रकाशित हवि:—Sayana).

To Sayana, pasu is ray (पशव: किरणा:), and rusat is a beam of light (रूशद् रश्मि:).

Hymn-76

1. Agnih, fire or the sun; it lights up the face of dawns (आभाति अग्नि: उषसं अनीकम्; anikam may be face, (मुखम् or army सैन्यम्—Daya.; the phrase may also mean—Agni, the face or beginning of the dawns, shines—Wilson).

Pipivansam, पीपिवांसम्, growing or evolving in the most proper way (सम्यग्वर्धमानम्—Daya.); one developed with all its members—पीपिवांसं स्वाङ्गै: परिवृढं or nourished with soma juice or with clarified butter—आप्यायितं वसती वरीभि. क्षरद्रूपं सोमरसम् । अथवा घृतादिना पीपिवासम्—Sayana).

Gharma, the duties of a household life, which by themselves constitute the sacrifice (धर्मं गृहस्थाश्रमकृत्याख्यं यज्ञम्—Daya.). The word in the ritualistic period meant the vessel so called, or the Pravargya ceremony, at which it was used, being fed or nourished (पीपिवांस) with butter and curds it contains.

3. The entire day is divided into several parts 1, 2, 3, 5 or 15. In this verse, the five divisions are enumerated (i) pratah (morning), (ii) madhyandina (midday), (iii) udita suryasya (afternoon, अपराह्न, the high sun), (iv) diva (day) and (v) naktam (night).

Hymn-77

For verse 2, see Nir. XII.5.

1. Kavayah purva bhajah, the ancient seers or sages of yore; one learned in the Vedic lore is Kavi (पूर्वभाज: पूर्वकालीना:; कवय: अनूचाना ऋषय:; cf Ait. Br. II.38—ये वा अनूचानास्ते कवय:).

2. Pratah yajadhvam, na sayam asti devaya ajustam, worship at early dawn,—the evening is not for the gods. There is a text : "पूर्वाह्णो वै देवानाम्", the forenoon verily is for the gods.

See Nir, XII.5. Offer sacrifice and impel the Asvins early morning; there is not an oblation offered to the gods in the evening; that is not enjoyed, another than us should sacrifice and give satisfaction. The earlier one sacrifices, the more he wins; i.e. he is the best winner. Their time is upto the rising of the sun; during the period, other deities are invoked.

The Nirukta gives the derivation of the word usas (उषस्) from √ वश्, meaning to desire. There is another derivation from √ वस् to shine; the usas belongs to the middle region (I.92.13).

Hymn-78

(For verse 8, see Nir. III.15).

1. Nasatya, another name or epithet of Asvins. See earlier references.

2. Harinau, two deers; gaurau, two wild animals (Bos Goraeus); hansau, two swans.

5. Vanaspati, Lord of forests.

Susyantya-iva, सुषन्त्याःऽइव, of a parturient female (प्रसवन्त्याः स्त्रिया इव —Daya. lady expecting to give birth to a child).

Sapta vadhrim, sinful impulses of seven organs (five sense organs, mind and intellect) (हत सप्तेन्द्रियम्—Daya.; the one whose seven organs have been polluted). See also V.78.6; VIII.73.9 and X.39.9.

There is a fantastic story concocted in this connection and narrated by Sayana : The sons of the brothers of Saptavadhri being determined to prevent his having intercourse with his wife, shut him up every night in a cage or large basket, which they locked and sealed, letting him out in the morning : in this dilemma, the Ṛsi prayed to the Asvins, who came to his succour and enabled him to get out of his cage during the night, he returning to it at day-break. (In this verse, he addresses to Vanaspati, because the cage is of forest-wood, —the basket). Of course, this is an absurd story.

8. A line of this verse is quoted in Nir. III.15 (यथा वातो यथा वनं यथा समुद्र एजति), in connection of यथा, yatha, as a particle, denoting similies (यथेति कर्मोपमा). This verse is recited at the time of delivery: O child, ten months old, दशमास्य, just as the wind, the forest and the ocean move freely without any difficulty, so come forth from the womb of the mother without injuring her. (Durga on the Nirukta).

See Yv. VIII.28 also.

Hymn-79

1. Sujate asva-sunrte (सुजाते अश्वसूनृते) is the burthen of all the verses of this hymn, meaning "nobly-born, and sincerely praised for the gift of vigour (bright-born, and praised sincerely for the gift of horses —Wilson).

Satya sravasi, in the seeker of truth (in hearer of truths, सत्यानां श्रवणे, सत्येऽन्ने वा = anna, food, Nigh. II.7; in the food, in the truth,—Daya.); the son of Vayya of this name (Sayana).

The term also occurs in the next two verses and nowhere else in the Ṛgveda. For Satyasrutah, सत्यश्रुतः, see V.57.8; 58.8; VI.49.6.

Vayya, वाय्य, the son of Vayya, the weaver of knowledge. See also verses 2 and 3 of this hymn; the word occurs nowhere else in the Ṛgveda.

For वय्य, see I.54.6; 112.6; II.3.6; II.13.12; IV.19.6; and IX.68.8. (तन्तु सदृशे सन्ताननीये विस्तारणीये सन्ततिरूपे, extension or weaving like thread, propagation etc.—Daya.).

Asva-sunrte, sincerely praised for the gift of vigour (or horses) (अश्वार्थं प्रिय सत्यात्मिका स्तुतिवाक् यस्याः सा, vocative;—Sayana); asva is a synonym of big, excessive, or large, महत्—Nigh. VI.I, and therefore, a lady whose speech is very much or excessively sweet, अश्वा महती सूनृता प्रिया वाग्यस्यास्तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.

8. Gomatih, the possessor of cows (गोभिः उपेतानि—Sayana; गावो विद्यन्ते यासु ताः—Daya.).

Hymn-80

1. Dyutat-yamanam, illumination of parameters (ayama) of space and time; illuminator of prahara, the unit of time—Daya.).

Aruna-psum, red-tinted in appearance (अरुण रूपां; प्सु, psu = form रूप—Nigh. III.7.

Hymn-81

For verse 2, See Nir. XII.13.

1. Viprah, the wise; here the yogins (the one engaged in the practice of Yoga, the science of communion with the Supreme).

Viprasya, of the omnipresent Lord (वि=विशेषण, प्र=प्राप्ति व्याप्नोति तस्य—Daya.).

Bṛhatah, of the great.

Vipascitah, of the omniscient Lord (अनन्तविद्यस्य—Daya.; स्तुत्यस्य ज्ञानवतो वा सवितुः अनुज्ञयेति—Sayana).

See also Yv. V.14.

2. Visva rupani prati muncate, comprehends all forms (all the luminary bodies—सूर्यादीनि) in himself. he binds or holds in himself (विश्वा सर्वाणि रूपाणि आत्मनि प्रतिमुञ्चते बध्नाति धारयति—Sayana). See also Yv. XII.3.

"The wise one puts on all forms, He has generated bliss for the biped and quadruped. Noble Savitṛ has looked on heaven. He shines bright after the departure of dawn".—The discreet one (the prudent) puts on all the brilliant lights. Wise (कवि, kavi) is so called because his presence is desired (derived from √ कम्) or the word is derived from √ कव्, to praise. He generates bliss for bipeds and quadrupeds (कवि: मेधावी; कवि: क्रान्तदर्शनो भवति, कवतेर्वा—Nir. XII.13).

3. See Yv. XI.6.

Parthivani, the scenes in the midspace (पृथिवी = midspace or antariksa, Nigh. I.3.

Etasah, एतश:, widely present (सर्वत्रव्याप्त—Daya.).

Rajansi, रजांसि, worlds; regions. He by his greatness has measured out the midspace or heavenly regions (विममे measures; also specially creates, विशेषेण मिमीते विधत्ते—Daya.).

4. Sayana distinguishes between the words Savitṛ and Surya; Savitṛ is specially the Sun before rising; Surya is the Sun in general (also सवित: सकलजगदुत्पादक:, the creator of the world, and hence Savitṛ —Daya).

In fact, Mitra, Surya, Savitṛ and Pusan are all one—the names of the Supreme Creator, and of the sun too, representing different functions or attributes.

Hymn-82

1. This is known as the anustup Savitri, as sacred as the well-reputed Gayatri (तत्सवितुर्वरेण्यं० III.62.10), the Savitri in the Gayatri metre; see Bṛhad. up. V.14.5.

Bhojanam, normally food, but here anything enjoyable, (पालनं भोक्तव्यं वा—Daya.; भोग्यं धनं—Sayana).

Turam, all that is destructive of evils, or evil foes (तुरं अविद्यादि दोषनाशकं सामर्थ्यम्—Daya.).

3. Savita bhagah, that Savita is Bhaga, or bhage is bhajaniye, भजनीय, to be worshipped (सविता प्रसवकर्त्ता, भग: ऐश्वर्यवान्—, the creator and the possessor of fame and glory—Daya.).

4. Duh-Svapnyam, the evil dreams, or the pain caused by the evil dreams, or evils arising out of dreams (दुष्टेषु स्वप्नेषु भवं दुःखम्—Daya.).

5. Bhadram, all that is good and conducive, as opposed to durita, the pain, vice, or evil. Bhadram also includes progeny, cattle, dwelling etc. (प्रजा वै भद्रं, पशवो भद्रं, गृहं भद्रमिति—Wilson, Sayana).

7. Visvadevam, all the gods, representative of all the noble qualities, attributes and actions (see I.164.46, इन्द्रं मित्रं वरुणमग्निमाहु). Compare the verse with the lines of the Asvalayana Srauta Sutra—आ विश्वदेवं सत्पतिं वाममद्य सवित: (II.16); आ विश्वदेवं सत्पतिं य इमा विश्वानि जातानि (IV.3); and आ विश्वदेवं सत्पतिं न प्रमिये सवितुर्दैव्यस्य तत् (IV.11).

Hymn-83

For verse 2, see Nir. X.II.

The deity of this hymn is Parjanya; in normal usage, parjanya means cloud; in glossary given by the Nirukta (I.10), it is not included amongst the 30 synonyms of cloud or megha.

Parjanya causes the clouds to rain; it is thus the functional deity, as if, behind the clouds; the non-bursting cloud in an asura, or vrtra, since it covers the sun, it causes darkness; it is Nescience. But Parjanya causes the clouds to discharge their rain; in Parjanya is another name of Indra too. For the etymology of the word, see Nir. X.10. (Our note on verse 2).

2. Parjanyah, the discharging force behind the clouds, is derived from the verb trp (√ तृप्) to be satisfied; by reversing the first and the last letters: one who gives satisfaction and is favourable to men (trp+janyah = prt + janyah, तृप् + जन्य: = पृत् + जन्य: = parj + janyah = par + janyah; = पर्ज + जन्य: = पर् + जन्य:) ; or he is so called because he is the best conquerer (पर: + जिन्); or he is the best progenitor (पर: + जन्) or he is the bestower of juices; (प्र + √ ऋच्) —Nir. X.10.

He strikes down the trees and he strikes down the demons (wicked). All beings are afraid of this great slaughter. Great indeed is his slaughter. Even the innocent, being afraid, run away from him whose function is to rain, when Parjanya thundering strikes the evil-doers i.e. men who commit sinful acts. (Nir. X.11).

3. Dutan, दूतान्, messenger; also warriors (भटान्—Sayana).

6. Vṛsno asvasya, of the rainy charger (horse); or of the pervading rain (अश्वस्य = व्यापकस्य, of the pervader); and asva is also a synonym of great (Nigh. III.3); of the large raining cloud (वर्षकस्य महत: —Daya.).

9. Hansi duskṛtah, destroys the wicked; here wicked stands for the clouds not yielding their water.

Hymn-84

Pṛthivi is the subject of this hymn. Normally, the word means the earth, but so often, it has the double meaning, when it includes the midspace or antariksa also (पृथिवी = अन्तरिक्ष—Nigh. I.3).

1. Parvatanam, of clouds (पर्वतानां मेघानाम्—Daya.).

Bat, बत्, synonym of truth (Nigh. III.10).

Khidram, rending tool.

Khidram bibharsi, you sustain the fracture or opening of the clouds (Wilson).

Pṛthivi, in the midspace.

Bhumim, earth.

3. Dṛlha, दृलहा, solid, rigid.

Ksmaya, by earth, by rock, rocky.

Hymn-85

For verses 3 and 6, see Nir. X.4 and VI.13 respectively.

2. Apsu agnim, has placed fire in waters (water is supposed to be the source of Agni, apam napat is Agni, the grand child of water—water helps in the growth of plant, and plant or wood, by attrition furnishes fire, or it may mean lightning in rains or submarine fire. (cf. Yv. IV.31, viksu agnim he placed in people or human beings, the digestive fire); also fire in the firmament (अप्सु आकाशप्रदेशेषु अग्निं पावकम्—Daya.).

Somam adrau, Soma plant in the mountains; the sap in clouds (सोमं रसं अद्रौ मेघे—Daya.).

3. Kabandham, cloud (मेघम्—Daya.); water (Nigh. I.12).

Antariksam, water (जलम्—Daya.).

Varuna sent forth the cloud, whose door opens downwards (नीचीन वारम्). A cloud, कबन्धं, (Kabandham) is so called because Kavanam, which means water, is deposited into it. Water is called Kabandham also—the verb √ बन्ध् is used to denote an unfixed state—it is comfortable and unrestrained. He creates heaven, earth and the intermediate space (प्र ससर्ज रोदसी अन्तरिक्षम्); with that greatness, the king of the entire universe moistens earth as rain does barley (तेन सर्वस्य भुवनस्य राजा यवं न वृष्टिर्व्युनत्ति भूमिम्)—Nir. X.4.

4. Abhrena, by cloud (अभ्रम् = cloud, Nigh. I.10).

Parvatasah, clouds (Nigh. I.10).

5. Mahi, reverential speech (पूज्यां वाणीम्—Daya.; मही = वाङ् Nigh. I.11).

Mame, ममे, metes, measures; also creates (सृजति—Daya.).

Mayam, skill, accomplishment (प्रज्ञाम्, Nigh. III.9).

See Nir. VI.13.—in connection with the word पुरन्धिम् (VII.39.4), meaning very wise, used for Varuna, who is praised with regard to his intelligence (तं प्रज्ञया स्तौति): the word mayam is used for this intelligence in इमाम् नु कवितमस्य मायाम् ।

Pṛthivim, midspace.

Manena, by a measure (by honour, सत्कारेण—Daya.).

6. Avanayah, rivers (Nigh. 1.13).

Enih, एनीः, running like she-deers (एन्यः मृगस्त्रिय एव धावन्त्यः—Daya.); lucid, watershedding (एन्यः शुभ्राः गमनशीला वा—Sayana).

7. Aryamyam, benefactor, one amongst the people of justice (अर्यमसु न्यायाधीशेषु भवम्—Daya.); to Sayana Aryamyam and Mitryam are the same as Aryaman and Mitra with the final ya (यत्) being pleonastic; aryamayam meaning giver (दातृ) or spiritual preceptor (गुरू).

(अर्यम्यम्—अर्यमैवार्यम्यः । स्वार्थिको यत् । अर्तेरिद रूपम् । प्रदातामित्यर्थः । अथवा ईरणात् मननात् च शास्तीस्त्यर्यमा गुरुः । तम्—Sayana).

Mitryam, the attacked (अनुरक्तम्): the word Mitra is derived thus : ञिमिदा स्नेहने—इत्यस्मात् मित्रम् । स्वार्थिको यत्—Sayana.

The word Mitra is also so called because he preserves (त्रायते) from destruction (प्र-मी-ति), or because he runs (द्रवति), measuring things together (√ मि), or the word is derived from the causal of √ मिद्, to be fat (Nir. X.21).

Varunaranam, वरुणारणम् = वरुण + अरणम्; aranam means one not having a sound or speech (अरण वा अशब्दमित्यर्थः, or one not giving i.e. niggardly—अथवा अरणमादातार वा नित्यं निरन्तरम्—Sayana); a dumb man —Wilson. Dayananda translates अरण as water (उदकम्, the same perhaps as अर्णः Nigh. I.12).

Hymn-86

Indragni = Indra (Lord of celestial fire i.e. lightning) + Agni (Lord of terrestrial fire) = The twin-Lord of celestial and terrestrial fires.

1. Trita, the sage or seer of threefold excellences (in attributes, गुण, in accomplishments, कर्म and in temperament, (स्वभाव). Trita is also fire in the three regions. In mythology, the name of a Ṛsi who refutes controversial arguments.

Drlha, strongly guarded.

Dyumna, treasures (द्युम्नं धन—Nigh. II.10).

2. Panca carsanih, पञ्च चर्षणीः, five classes of people (the same as pancajanyah, पाञ्चजन्यः; see I.100.12; 117.3; III.53.16; V.32.11; VIII.63.7; IX.66.20); or five vital breaths (चर्षणीः प्राणान् मनुष्यान् वा—Daya.).

5. Ansa-iva, अंशाऽइव, like the shining ones (like the parts, भागमिव —Daya.); Ansa is also the name of one of the twelve Adityas; here the word is put in dual, and therefore, may mean any two of these Adityas.

6. Aha-vi, or Ahavi (अहा। वि or अहावि). Dayananda prefers the pada-patha (पद-पाठ), as अहा + वि where अहा, aha means days (अहानि): Sayana considers ahavi as one term meaning, has been offered; (हव्यं हविः अहावि परित्यक्तमासीत्).

In this verse, we have the repetition in गृणत्सु दिधृतम् for the sake of respect पुनरुक्ति आदरार्था—Sayana.

Hymn-87

In this hymn, the word Evayamarut (एवयामरुत) remains unaltered in its case termination. This word occurs only in this hymn and nowhere else in the Ṛgveda. The word marut means a mortal, the dexterous mortal is the evayamarut, a person which is skilful, active, efficient and experienced (Sturmvoll Marut, Benfey), Sayana regards Evayamarut as a Ṛsi or seer, or muni of the race of Atri.

1. Visnave, for the one pervading (व्याप्ताय—Sayana; व्यापकाय —Daya.); to Visnu.

Marutvat is usually the designation of Indra; for the Indra, for the group in which a man (a mortal) is honoured and respected (प्रशंसिता मनुष्या यस्मिंस्तस्मै).

9. Araksa, unprotected (not worthy of protection, अरक्षणीयं —Daya.; undeterred by Raksasas (Wilson).

Nidah, the reviler; wicked impulse.

Durdharttarah, cruel, fierce, or those who strike down without compassion; the intolerant (दुःखेन धर्त्तारः—Daya.; दुर्धराः—Sayana).

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

with

English Translation

by

Svami Satya Prakash Sarasvati

and

Satyakam Vidyalankar

Volume VII

Book VI, Hymns [1—75]

सप्तमो भागः

षष्ठं मण्डलम्, सूक्तानि [१—७५]

Veda Pratishthana

New Delhi

ṚGVEDA, Vol. VII

Published by the Veda Pratishthana, New Delhi
on behalf of the Narendra Mohan Foundation,
Pusa Road, New Delhi (India)

Transliteration based on the text of Theodor Aufrecht.

SOLE SELLING AGENTS

S. Chand & Company Ltd.

Head Office : Ram Nagar, New Delhi-110055
Show Room : 4/16-B, Asaf Ali Road, New Delhi-110002

Branches :

Mai Hiran Gate, Jullundur-144008
Aminabad Park, Lucknow-226001
Blackie House, 103/5, Walchand Hirachand Marg, Opp. GPO. Bombay-400001
Khazanchi Road, Patna-800004
Sultan Bazar, Hyderabad-500001
152, Anna Salai, Madras-600002
285/J, Bipin Behari Ganguli Street, Calcutta-700012
3, Gandhi Sagar East, Nagpur-440002
KPCC Bldg., Race Course Road, Bangalore-560009
8-1, Banerjee Road, Eranakulam North, Cochin-682018

Printed at :
Shiksha Bharati Press, G. T. Road, Shahdara, Delhi

CONTENTS

IN MEMORY OF

VED RATAN MOHAN

Col. Ved Ratan Mohan, M.P. was born at Rawalpindi on July 30, 1920. He graduated from the Punjab University and later took his Master of Commerce Degree from Delhi University.

Shri Ved Ratan Mohan's father Shri N.N. Mohan was a prominent industrialist and a generous philanthropist. Shri Ved Ratan Mohan made his own memorable contribution to the success of the enterprises in which his family was interested. He also took active interest in public life and supported many worthwhile causes.

In 1961, the honorary rank of Captain was conferred on Shri Ved Ratan Mohan; in 1966, he became a Lieutenant Colonel in the Territorial Army; in 1972, the honorary rank of Colonel in the Territorial Army was conferred on him.

He was elected as Deputy Mayor of the Municipal Corporation, in Lucknow. Later he was elected to the office of the Mayor. In 1964, he was nominated as a Member of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council. In 1967, he was awarded Padama Shri. In 1971, he became the recipient of the Padma Bhushan Award. In 1972, he was elected to Rajya Sabha, the Upper House of Indian Parliament, from Uttar Pradesh.

He died on July 28, 1973, deeply mourned and widely lamented.

He had travelled extensively and had a wide range of interests and accomplishments. Photography, painting, music and poetry had a claim on him. Equally, he gave generously of himself to the solution of public problems and to personal hardships of individuals in distress. He was deeply interested in Indian culture and in educational institutions as vehicles of India's cultural renaissance and socio-economic reconstruction. The Vedas and their message energised his inspiration and impelled him to consecrated action for human welfare.

Ved Ratan Mohan

Foreword

by

Dr. L.M. Singhvi
Executive Chairman, Veda Pratisthana:

The Vedas enshrine the cosmic vision and vitality of our ancestors and epitomise a living legacy of divine inspiration, intuition and insight.

The glory of the Vedas is their universal and timeless quality.

The subtle and symbolic invocations of the Sruti and the mystic and melodic music of the celestial hymns have hallowed human consciousness through trackless centuries with a sublime glow.

The Vedas exemplify a carefully nurtured and elaborately systematized oral tradition which is unrivalled in the annals of civilization.

The evocative poetry of joyous and spontaneous affirmation of life and nature, the unravelling explorations of the seers into the terrestrial and transcendental destiny of mankind, the pervasive immanence and the pristine omnipresence of primeval reality and primordial matter, and the wisdom and philosophy of Moral and Social Order in an harmonious equilibrium unfold the luminous realm of the spirit of the Vedas.

The Vedas are unique in their perspective of time and space.

Early in the history of human civilization, the Vedas proclaimed the essential unity of mankind, untrammelled by geographical barriers and tribal parochialism.

The Vedas declared the enduring filial allegiance of Man to Mother Earth: माता भूमिः पुत्रोऽहं पृथिव्याः......अथर्व. 12.1.12.

The Vedas articulated the essential equality and intrinsically equal dignity of men and nations and the need for cooperative effort for common benefit: अज्येष्ठासो अकनिष्ठास एते, संभ्रातरो वावृधुः सौभगाय । ऋक्. 5.60.5.

The Vedas cautioned against recrimination, jealousy and ill-will among the human kindred: मा भ्राता भ्रातरं द्विक्षन् मा स्वसारमुत स्वसा......अथर्व. 3.30.3.

The Vedas aimed and aspired for an ambiance of unfailing and ubiquitous friendship:

मित्रस्याहं चक्षुषा सर्वाणि भूतानि समीक्षे ।
मित्रस्य चक्षुषा समीक्षामहे । यजु. 36.18.

The Vedas celebrate the vac whose array of thousand syllables and thousand postures of consciousness manifested in a thousand ways appear as flame-songs of the earth and the empyrean. In their innermost recesses are embedded the eternal and cosmic powers of illumination. The Vedic words rising from the oceanic depths of creative consciousness provide a panoramic vision and a thousand vignettes of that real inner illumination, svar, reached by dhi, the two facets of which are karma (action) and prajna (knowledge). In that realm of invocation and sacrifice, faith (sraddha) converges with reason (tarka); intuition assimilates perception; light combines with vigour; wisdom coalesces with valour; speech and action become one. The science of Vedas seeks that true synthesis of faith and reason, and in that pursuit, its prayer is that we may be blessed with "faith" that has not degenerated into the somnolence of the spirit and that we may be endowed with "reason" that has not, in the words of Gurudeva Tagore, lost "its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit" and which has its habitation in the meandering maze of pointless prolixity:

त्रातारो देवा अधिवोचता नो मा नो निद्रा ईशत मोत जल्पि: ।
वयं सोमस्य विश्वह प्रियास: सुवीरासो विदथमावदेम ॥ ऋक्. 8.48.14.

The true Vedic faith does not countenance dogma; the Vedic reason is not a euphemism for sophistry; the Vedic word is not a victim of verbiage. The essential perception of the Vedas is not a prisoner of perversions. The humanism of Vedas is not a hypocrisy and the Vedic teaching of tolerance is not a transient contrivance. The core commitment of Vedas is to truth and dharma, to harmony and happiness, to freedom and justice. The soulful Vedic voyage in ceaseless quest of the experience of inner illumination and with its rich symbolism and manifold meanings is perhaps the oldest and the most magnificent and many-splendoured pilgrimage of the human spirit.

The Vedas gave the Magna Carta of Human Brotherhood and Universal Goodwill and proclaimed a noble prayerful Preamble to the humanitarian Constitution of One World based on friendship, fellow-feeling, freedom and fearlessness in words which are immortal and ever inspiring and which are central to the basic teleology and technology of building impregnable defences of peace in the minds of men. The Vedic seers who viewed the world of perception and the world of thought as a continuum prayed for the composite benediction of hearing noble thoughts and seeing noble deeds: भद्रं कर्णेभि: श्रृणुयाम देवा भद्रं पश्येमाक्षिभिर्यजत्रा: । यजु. 25.21

In that endeavour of building a universe of noble thoughts and noble deeds, the Vedic seers convened a cosmic convocation based on the fundamental human quest for truth and the acceptance of its many facets (एकं सद् विप्राः वहुधा वदन्ति):

> आ नो भद्राः क्रतवो यन्तु विश्वतोऽदब्धासो अपरीतास उद्भिदः ।
> देवा नो यथा सदमिद् वृधे असन्नप्रायुवो रक्षितारो दिवे दिवे ।। ऋक्. 1.89.1.

In the Vedic vision of human society, man in his relation to man was not predatory, aggressive and oppressive as in the Hobbesian nightmare which conjured up homo homini lupus. The Vedic ideal was that Man was under an obligation to protect and preserve and to aid and comfort mankind everywhere: पुमान् पुमांसं परिपातु विश्वतः । ऋक्. 6.75.14.

The Vedic philosophy of freedom and fearlessness reached a credal and climactic crescendo in the earthy yet ethereal invocations:

> अभयं मित्रादभयमित्रादभयं ज्ञातादभयं परोक्षात् ।
> अभयं नक्तमभयं दिवा नः सर्वा आशा मम मित्रं भवन्तु ।। अथर्व. 19.15.7

Equally, the Vedic hymn of togetherness remains a refreshing reminder and a beacon light to the fractured and fragmented world out of whose womb the new world order is struggling to be born:

> सङ्गच्छध्वं संवदध्वं सं वो मनांसि जानताम् ।
> देवा भागं यथा पूर्वे सञ्जानाना उपासते ।। ऋक्. 10.191.2.

These noble thoughts made the culture of the Vedas the first and foremost foundation of the edifice of universal values: सा प्रथमा संस्कृतिर्विश्ववारा: । यजु. 7.14.

These enduring verities of the Vedas are not a relic of the past, nor are they the exclusive preserve or the sole inheritance of Indians and Indo-Aryans. They belong to the common heritage of humanity and are relevant in our contemporary world and in our age. We owe it to ourselves and to the peoples and the nations of the world to share this precious heritage and to disseminate its message and meaning.

It is the proud privilege of Veda Pratisthana to be the chosen instrument of the monumental project for preparing and presenting a readable and systematic modern translation of all the four Vedas. The Veda Pratisthana has had the credentials and the capacity to attempt this ambitious task because it was founded on the deep understanding and encyclopaedic erudition of Swami Satya Prakashji, an eminent scientist and a distinguished professor before he became a parivrajaka, the firm financial support and the bounteous benefaction of Narendra Mohan Foundation, an eloquent and tangible testament of the Mohan family's liberal and public-spirited disposition, and of the intrepid faith, fortitude, vision and dedication of the late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri.

The munificence of Major Kapil Mohan and his family and their deep devotion to the cause of Vedic learning enabled the Veda Pratisthana to embark on this noble enterprise. It was Major Kapil Mohan's resolve to raise a truly meaningful memorial in the form of a new edition of the Vedas in remembrance of his elder brother, the late Col. Ved Ratan Mohan that led the Narendra Mohan Foundation to offer its generous and unsparing financial assistance for this project. We acknowledge our debt of gratitude to Major Kapil Mohan and to Narendra Mohan Foundation. We also take this opportunity to pay our tribute to the memory of Col. Ved Ratan Mohan whose life was a superb saga of service and an inexhaustible treasury of goodwill.

The late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri was the main architect of Veda Pratisthana. It was to him that we owed the initial organization, the basic conception and the purposeful momentum of the project. Indeed, we are only trying to translate his dream into a reality. An eminent and gifted parliamentarian, whose cascading eloquence, sparkling wit, mature wisdom and intrinsic goodness had a singular charm, Parkash Vir Shastri was an articulate exponent and a selfless missionary of the fundamental values of India's creative and spiritual culture. Spun and woven with the warp and woof of Indian sensitivity and perception, the tapestry of his life and work was as authentic as it was inspiring. He shunned the pettiness and parochialism of politics and strove to reinforce our national life with the tensile strength of our quintessential heritage. He lived and worked for national goals. In national politics he was the ambassador of the larger cultural claims on life. In his tragic and untimely death, Mother India lost an illustrious son who distinguished himself not by the office he held, nor by his wealth or material acquisitions, but by his dedicated and singleminded service to the cause of the nation. In his death, Veda Pratisthana lost its moving spirit, regained mainly because his memory is a motive force. We savour the exhilarating fragrance and see the inspiring and exhorting presence of his personality, pervasive, permeating and perdurable, in the fruition of this project and pay our affectionate homage to his everlasting memory.

Deepavali, 1978.

Preface

The Vedas are the Word of God. At the very beginning of the Creation, man received knowledge of the Vedas. The Ṛgveda is the most ancient of all the holy scriptures in the world.

Knowledge of the Vedas is not intended for a particular race or country. God revealed this knowledge for the greatest good of mankind. This noble objective is reflected in the following words of the Vedic sages :

May all be happy and rid of diseases,
May all have a happy and harmonious life,
May nobody ever be afflicted with suffering.

The Vedas have been translated into several languages. Scholars like Griffith, Wilson and Max Müller have written commentaries on the Vedas in English. But the need for bringing out an unconventional and standard translation of the Vedas has been felt for quite sometime. The task, however, involved dedication, hard work and considerable financial resources.

Col. Ved Ratna Mohan, ex-M.P., was a promising youngman, the scion of a family which had implicit faith in the Vedas. His brilliant career was cut short by untimely death in 1973. His father, late Shri Narendra Mohan, was a leading industrialist of India. Devoted to social service, he took keen interest in the dissemination and distribution of religious literature. He had unshakable faith in God. Daily he would perform yajna and once in a year he would perform this on a big scale when all the mantras of one of the four Vedas would be recited. He had named his eldest son Ved Ratna (Jewel of the Vedas). He had desired the late Ved Ratna to do some service to the Vedas. But fate had willed otherwise. Col. Ved Ratna died before he could fulfil his father's wish.

His younger brother Major Kapil Mohan, who has great reverence for the Vedas like his father, made the noble resolve to get all the four Vedas translated into English and publish them on behalf of the Narendra Mohan Foundation in the sacred memory of his elder brother. This Foundation was endowed by the sons of the late Shri Narendra Mohan, the founder of the Mohan Industries, in accordance with the wishes of their father. A hospital, a college, and several other charitable institutions devoted to public service are being run by the Foundation.

The task of rendering the four Vedas into English was entrusted to the Veda Pratishthana by the Foundation. Dr. Govardhan Lal Dutta, a famous educationist and Head of the Pratishthana, requested the Vedic scholar Svami Satya Prakash Sarasvati to undertake the highly onerous responsibility. Indeed one could think of no other scholar better qualified than Svami Satya Prakashji to accomplish this task. I am happy that Svamiji was kind enough to accede to the request. He is devoting most of his time to the translation work though he is a parivrajaka, a peripatetic monk. In this task, he is collaborating with Pandit Satyakam Vidyalankar.

Thanks are particularly due to Shri Vishwanath for his unstinted cooperation in the excellent printing of this work. No words would be adequate to express my warm appreciation and grateful thanks to Major Kapil Mohan, Svami Satya Prakashji and other colleagues and co-workers of the Veda Pratisthana who have generally helped in the accomplishment of this sacred task.

Our labours would be fully rewarded if through this English translation of the four Vedas, attempted for the first time in India, the divine message enshrined in the Vedas impregnates human consciousness everywhere.

Shravani Poornima,
Vikramiya Samvat 2034,
August 28, 1977.

Prakash Vir Shastri
Secretary, Veda Pratishthana
New Delhi

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

ऋग्वेद संहिता

षष्ठं मण्डलम्

---

(१) प्रथमं सूक्तम्

(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३५॥

त्वं ह्यग्ने प्रथमो मनोतास्या धियो अभवो दस्म होता ।
त्वं सीं वृषन्नकृणोर्दुष्टरीतु सहो विश्वस्मै सहसे सहध्यै ॥१॥
अधा होता न्यसीदो यजीयानिळस्पद इषयन्नीड्यः सन् ।
तं त्वा नरः प्रथमं देवयन्तो महो राये चितयन्तो अनु ग्मन् ॥२॥

1.

Tvám̩ hy àgne prathamó manótāsyá dhiyó ábhavo dasma hótā | tvám̩ sīm̩ vrishann akrinor dushtárītu sáho víṣvasmai sáhase sáhadhyai || 1 || ádhā hótā ny àsīdo yájīyān iḷás padá isháyann ī́ḍyaḥ sán | tám̩ tvā nárah prathamám̩ devayánto mahó rāyé citáyanto ánu gman || 2 ||

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

BOOK SIX

1

O adorable, magnificent Lord of universe, verily, you are the foremost, swift as mind and invoker of the cosmic forces. You are the sole inspirer of the consequent actions, and bestower of wisdom. You give us strength, which none may resist and wherewith we overcome all evil forces. 1

Being invoker and inspirer of universal sacrifice, you are glorified by us, and accepting our offerings you are established at the loftiest seat of divine wisdom. So, the meditating aspirants from the very beginning turn their mind towards you for obtaining great wealth and wisdom. 2

वृतेव यन्तं बहुभिर्वसव्यै३स्त्वे रयिं जागृवांसो अनु ग्मन् ।
रुशन्तमग्निं दर्शतं बृहन्तं वपावन्तं विश्वहा दीदिवांसम् ॥३॥
पदं देवस्य नमसा व्यन्तः श्रवस्यवः श्रव आपन्नमृक्तम् ।
नामानि चिद्दधिरे यज्ञियानि भद्रायां ते रणयन्त संदृष्टौ ॥४॥

vritéva yántam bahúbhir vasavyaìs tvé rayím jāgrivánso ánu gman | rúṣantam agním darṣatám brihántam vapávantam viṣváhā dīdivánsam || 3 || padám devásya námasā vyántaḥ ṣravasyávaḥ ṣráva āpann ámriktam | námāni cid dadhire yajñíyāni bhadráyām te raṇayanta sámdrishṭau || 4 ||

त्वां वर्धन्ति क्षितयः पृथिव्यां त्वां राय उभयासो जनानाम् ।
त्वं त्राता तरणे चेत्यो भूः पिता माता सदमिन्मानुषाणाम् ॥५॥

tvám vardhanti kshitáyaḥ prithivyám tvám ráya ubháyāso jánā-nām | tvám trātá taraṇe cétyo bhūḥ pitá mātá sádam ín mánushāṇām || 5 || 35 ||

॥३६॥ सपर्येण्यः स प्रियो विक्ष्व१ग्निर्होता मन्द्रो नि षसादा यजीयान् ।
तं त्वा वयं दम आ दीदिवांसमुप ज्ञुबाधो नमसा सदेम ॥६॥
तं त्वा वयं सुध्यो३ नव्यमग्ने सुम्नायव ईमहे देवयन्तः ।
त्वं विशो अनयो दीद्यानो दिवो अग्ने बृहता रोचनेन ॥७॥

saparyéṇyaḥ sá priyó vikshv àgnír hótā mandró ní sha-sādā yájīyān | tám tvā vayám dáma á dīdivánsam úpa jñu-bádho námasā sadema || 6 || tám tvā vayám sudhyò návyam agne-sumnāyáva īmahe devayántaḥ | tvám víṣo anayo dí-dyāno divó agne brihatá rocanéna || 7 ||

Those persons follow you with rich offerings, O adorable Lord, to obtain wealth and wisdom who are spiritually awakened. O adorable, you are brilliant, evermore charming, assiduously active and glorified with mature dedications. 3

Men, aspiring for divine glory, obtain abundant untinted fame when they offer you reverential homage. They, verily, gain titles of reputations, and find delight in your auspicious presence. 4

Men exalt you greatly upon this earth when you bestow on them celestial and terrestrial riches of all kinds. You extricate us from evil, and as such, you are known as preserver and unfailing father and mother of mankind for all times. 5

Lord, who is adorable, affectionate, giver of gifts, bestower of bliss—is always with the mankind. So let us approach him and kindle his glory in our hearts and offer him praises with humility and respect. 6

O adorable Lord, we, the intelligent devotees, desirous of happiness, and aspiring for divinity, glorify you with respects. O Lord, may you with your exceeding lustre lead men to the heaven's exalted splendour. 7

विशां कविं विश्पतिं शश्वतीनां नितोशनं वृषभं चर्षणीनाम् ।
प्रेतीषणिमिषयन्तं पावकं राजन्तमग्निं यजतं रयीणाम् ॥८॥
सो अग्न ईजे शशमे च मर्तो यस्त आनट् समिधा हव्यदातिम् ।
य आहुतिं परि वेदा नमोभिर्विश्वेत्स वामा दधते त्वोतः ॥९॥

viṣā́ṃ kavíṃ viṣpátiṃ ṣáṣvatīnāṃ nitóṣanaṃ vṛishabháṃ carshaṇīnā́m | prétīshaṇim isháyantam pāvakáṃ rā́jantam agníṃ yajatáṃ rayīṇā́m || 8 || só agna ījc ṣaṣamé ca márto yás ta ā́naṭ samídhā havyádātim | yá ā́hutim pári védā námobhir víṣvét sá vāmā́ dadhate tvótaḥ || 9 ||

अस्मा उ ते महि महे विधेम नमोभिरग्ने समिधोत हव्यैः ।
वेदी सूनो सहसो गीर्भिरुक्थैरा ते भद्रायां सुमतौ यतेम ॥१०॥

asmā́ u te máhi mahé vidhema námobhir agne samídhotá havyaíḥ | védī sūno sahaso gīrbhír ukthaír ā́ te bhadrā́yāṃ sumataú yatema || 10 ||

आ यस्ततन्थ रोदसी वि भासा श्रवोभिश्च श्रवस्यस्तरुत्रः ।
बृहद्भिर्वाजैः स्थविरेभिरस्मे रेवद्भिरग्ने वितरं वि भाहि ॥११॥
नृवद्वसो सदमिद्धेह्यस्मे भूरि तोकाय तनयाय पश्वः ।
पूर्वीरिषो बृहतीरारेअघा अस्मे भद्रा सौश्रवसानि सन्तु ॥१२॥
पुरूण्यग्ने पुरुधा त्वाया वसूनि राजन्वसुता ते अश्याम् ।
पुरूणि हि त्वे पुरुवार सन्त्यग्ने वसु विधते राजनि त्वे ॥१३॥

ā́ yás tatántha ródasī ví bhāsā́ ṣrávobhiṣ ca ṣravasyàs tárutraḥ | bṛihádbhir vā́jai sthávirebhir asmé revádbhir agne vitaráṃ ví bhāhi || 11 || nṛivád vaso sádam íd dhehy asmé bhū́ri tokā́ya tánayāya paṣváḥ | pūrvī́r ísho bṛihatī́r āré-aghā asmé bhadrā́ sauṣravasā́ni santu || 12 || purū́ṇy agne purudhā́ tvāyā́ vásūni rājan vasútā te aṣyām | purū́ṇi hí tvé puruvāra sánty ágne vásu vidhaté rā́jani tvé || 13 || 36 ||

We glorify the Lord, the wisest amongst His ever-existing people, the destroyer of adversities, the bestower of all benefits on mankind, the moving inspirer, the provider of food, the resplendent, the purifier, and the one who is worshipped for riches. 8

O adorable Lord, the man who worships, praises, and offers homage to you with loving devotion as if with kindled fuel, and who commits himself with humility unto your favours, verily, is blessed with your protection and abundant wealth. 9

O adorable Lord, the source of strength, we offer our devotion to you with complete surrender, with reverence, hymns and oblations on the sacred place of worship. May we succeed in gaining your auspicious favours. 10

O refulgent, you have covered heaven and earth with splendour and glory. You are saviour of men, hence adored by devotional praises. May your everlasting glory shine on us with abundance of food, wealth and wisdom. 11

O Lord of affluence, bestow upon us, at all times, opulence conjoined with descendants, and (grant) abundance of cattle to our sons and grandsons. May we obtain needful and abundant nourishment, along with noble, untinted, and auspicious fame. 12

Mav I for my enrichment obtain many and various treasures through your love and grace, O effulgent Lord. O widely loved and worshipped Lord, infinite are the boons, aggregated in you, to be delivered to him who serves you. 13

(२) द्वितीयं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चामनुष्टुप्, (११) एकादश्याश्च शक्वरी छन्दसी ॥

॥१॥ त्वं हि क्षैतवद्यशोऽग्ने मित्रो न पत्यसे ।
त्वं विचर्षणे श्रवो वसो पुष्टिं न पुष्यसि ॥१॥

2.

Tváṃ hí kshaítavad yáṣó 'gne mitró ná pátyase | tváṃ vicarshaṇe ṣrávo váso pushṭíṃ ná pushyasi || 1 ||

त्वां हि ष्मा चर्षणयो यज्ञेभिर्गीर्भिरीळते ।
त्वां वाजी यात्यवृको रजस्तूर्विश्वचर्षणिः ॥२॥

सजोषस्त्वा दिवो नरो यज्ञस्य केतुमिन्धते ।
यद्ध स्य मानुषो जनः सुम्नायुर्जुह्वे अध्वरे ॥३॥

ऋधद्यस्ते सुदानवे धिया मर्तः शशमते ।
ऊती ष बृहतो दिवो द्विषो अंहो न तरति ॥४॥

समिधा यस्त आहुतिं निशितिं मर्त्यो नशत् ।
वयावन्तं स पुष्यति क्षयमग्ने शतायुषम् ॥५॥

tvā́ṃ hí shma carshaṇáyo yajñébhir gīrbhír ī́ḷate | tvā́ṃ vājī́ yāty avṛikó rajastū́r viṣvácarshaṇiḥ || 2 || sajóshas tvā divó náro yajñásya ketúm indhate | yád dha syá mā́nusho jánaḥ sumnāyúr juhvé adhvaré || 3 || ṛídhad yás te sudā́nave dhiyā́ mártaḥ ṣaṣámate | ūtī́ shá bṛiható divó dvishó áṅho ná tarati || 4 || samídhā yás ta ā́hutiṃ níṣitim mártyo náṣat | vayā́vantaṃ sá pushyati ksháyam agne ṣatā́yusham || 5 || 1 ||

2

O adorable Lord, your princely glory sustains us like the sun. O Lord of treasures, beholder of all, you cherish us with food and nourishment. 1

Men verily adore you with selfless acts and praises, the friendly sun, the sender of rain and the beholder of universe moves to your proximity. 2

Verily, men of one accord, serve you with noble deeds and with praises. As you are the emblem of all sacred works, the benevolent, enlightened devotee kindles your glory. All rational beings aspiring for bliss invoke you in their benign selfless works. 3

May the mortal who propitiates the benefactor and the bountiful Lord with intelligent actions, with the assistance of divine resplendent powers come safe through the straits of enmity and sin. 4

The mortal, who approaches you with his intensive, enflamed dedication, enjoys the comforts of descendents from all sides and a prosperous life of a hundred years. 5

॥२॥

त्वेषस्ते धूम ऋण्वति दिवि षञ्छुक्र आततः ।
सूरो न हि द्युता त्वं कृपा पावक रोचसे ॥६॥
अधा हि विक्ष्वीड्योऽसि प्रियो नो अतिथिः ।
रण्वः पुरीव जूर्यः सूनुर्न त्रययाय्यः ॥७॥

tveshás te dhūmá ṛiṇvati diví sháñ chukrá ā́tataḥ | sū́ro ná hí dyutā́ tvám̐ kṛipā́ pāvaka rócase || 6 || ádhā hí vikshv íḍyó 'si priyó no átithiḥ | raṇváḥ purī̀va jū́ryaḥ sūnúr ná trayayā́yyaḥ || 7 ||

क्रत्वा हि द्रोणे अज्यसेऽग्ने वाजी न कृत्व्यः ।
परिज्मेव स्वधा गयोऽत्यो न ह्वार्यः शिशुः ॥८॥
त्वं त्या चिदच्युताग्ने पशुर्न यवसे ।
धामा ह यत्ते अजर वना वृश्चन्ति शिक्वसः ॥९॥

वेषि ह्यध्वरीयतामग्ने होता दमे विशां ।
समृधो विश्पते कृणु जुषस्व हव्यमङ्गिरः ॥१०॥
अच्छा नो मित्रमहो देव देवानग्ने वोचः सुमतिं रोदस्योः ।
वीहि स्वस्तिं सुक्षितिं दिवो नॄन्द्विषो अंहांसि दुरिता तरेम ता तरेम तवावसा तरेम ॥११॥

krátvā hí dróṇe ajyásé 'gne vājī́ ná kṛ́tvyaḥ | párijmeva svadhā́ gáyó 'tyo ná hvāryáḥ śíśuḥ || 8 || tvám̐ tyā́ cid ácyutā́gne paśúr ná yávase | dhā́mā ha yát te ajara vánā vṛiścánti śíkvasaḥ || 9 || véshi hy àdhvarīyatā́m ágne hótā dáme viśā́m | samṛ́dho viśpate kṛiṇu jushásva havyám aṅgiraḥ || 10 || áchā no mitramaho deva devā́n ágne vócaḥ sumatím ródasyoḥ | vīhí svastím̐ sukshitím̐ divó nṛ́n dvishó áṅhāṅsi duritā́ tarema tā́ tarema távā́vasā tarema || 11 || 2 ||

O Lord of divine radiance, your pure bright glory like the bright smoke, lifts itself aloft, and shines far-extended in heaven. You shine with radiance like the sun when propitiated by sacred hymns. 6

You must be glorified as a well-loved guest amongst the people. You are like an elder in a venerated city and to be cherished, for protection like a son. 7

O adorable Lord, you just like fire by attrition of wood. You are manifested in the physical world by your creation. You are vigorous as a horse and circumbiant like wind. You are dear like food and home and eager like a young courser that runs astray. 8

O supreme Lord, you, as fire from fuel, or like a grazing ox consume the apparently imperishable. And O eternal one, your mighty flames swallow the whole forest of universe. 9

O refulgent, the benefactor, the adorable Lord of the people, you enter as the ministrant priest into the home of those men who wish to perform noble deeds. You render them prosperous;—may you accept their homage. 10

O divine mighty adorable Lord, may you call hither the favour of Nature's bounties, extending from earth to heaven. May you bring wealth from heaven, so that men may dwell securely. May we overcome the malign oppressions of enemies, our iniquities and our difficulties. May we overcome them the sins of the past; may we overcome all of them through your help. 11

(३) तृतीय सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ अग्ने स क्षेषदृतपा ऋतेजा उरु ज्योतिर्नशते देवयुष्टे ।
यं त्वं मित्रेण वरुणः सजोषा देव पासि त्यजसा मर्तमंहः ॥१॥
ईजे यज्ञेभिः शशमे शमीभिरृधद्वारायाग्नये ददाश ।
एवा चन तं यशसामजुष्टिर्नांहो मर्तं नशते न प्रदृप्तिः ॥२॥
सूरो न यस्य दृशतिररेपा भीमा यदेति शुचतस्त आ धीः ।
हेषस्वतः शुरुधो नायमक्तोः कुत्रा चिद्रण्वो वसतिर्वनेजाः ॥३॥

3.

Ágne sá k'sheshad ṛitapā́ ṛitejā́ urú jyótir naṣate devayúsh ṭe | yáṃ tvám mitréṇa váruṇaḥ sajóshā déva pā́si tyájasā mártam áṅhaḥ || 1 || ījé yajñébhiḥ ṣaṣamé ṣámībhir ṛidhádvārāyāgnáye dadāṣa | evā́ caná táṃ yaṣásām ájushṭir nā́ṅho mártaṃ naṣate ná prádṛiptiḥ || 2 || sū́ro ná yásya dṛiṣatír arepā́ bhīmā́ yád éti ṣucatás ta ā́ dhī́ḥ | héshasvataḥ ṣurúdho nā́yám aktóḥ kútrā cid raṇvó vasatír vanejā́ḥ || 3 ||

तिग्मं चिदेम महि वर्पो अस्य भसदश्वो न यमसान आसा ।
विजेहमानः परशुर्न जिह्वां द्रविर्न द्रावयति दारु धक्षत् ॥४॥
स इदस्तेव प्रति धादसिष्यञ्छिशीत तेजोऽयसो न धाराम् ।
चित्रध्रजतिररतिर्यो अक्तोर्वेर्न द्रुषद्वा रघुपत्मजंहाः ॥५॥

tigmáṃ cid éma máhi várpo asya bhásad áṣvo ná yamasānā́ āsā́ | vijéhamānaḥ paraṣúr ná jihvā́ṃ dravír ná drāvayati dā́ru dhákshat || 4 || sá íd ásteva práti dhād asishyáñ chíṣīta téjó 'yaso ná dhā́rām | citrádhrajatir aratír yó aktór vér ná drushádvā raghupátmajaṅhāḥ || 5 || ३ ||

3

O adorable Lord, your devotee , the offerer of sacrifice, born of eternal truth, attains wide radiance from you and against all iniquities gets protection from you, strengthened by your divine light and spiritual bliss. 1

The one, who serves adorable Lord by performing beneficial acts with dedication, and offers homage, and completely surrenders his ego to the bounteous supreme Lord, such a mortal is never afflicted with the want of glory, nor do sin and false pride overwhelm his personality. 2

The fire-divine is spreading on all sides with awe-inspiring flames and characteristic sounds; her appearance is as faultless as that of the sun. The fire, the child of wood, the asylum of all, looks charmingly resplendent everywhere. 3

Sharp is his (fire-divine's) path, and his vast form shines like a horse champing fodder with his mouth, darting forth his tongue as it were a hatchet. He burns physical waste to ashes, like a smelter, who fuses metal. 4

He casts afar his flames as an archer and sharpens when about to dart his radiance; as a warrior he whets the edge of his iron weapons. He keeps moving along brilliant pathways, through the night, like a roosting bird of rapid pinion. 5

॥४॥ स ईं रेभो न प्रति वस्त उस्राः शोचिषा रारपीति मित्रमहाः ।
नक्तं य ईमरुषो यो दिवा नॄनमर्त्यो अरुषो यो दिवा नॄन् ॥६॥
दिवो न यस्य विधतो नवीनोद्वृषा रुक्ष ओषधीषु नूनोत् ।
घृणा न यो ध्रजसा पत्मना यन्ना रोदसी वसुना दं सुपत्नी ॥७॥
धायोभिर्वा यो युज्येभिरर्कैर्विद्युन्न दविद्योत्स्वेभिः शुष्मैः ।
शर्धो वा यो मरुतां ततक्ष ऋभुर्न त्वेषो रभसानो अद्यौत् ॥८॥

sá īm rebhó ná práti vasta usráḥ ṣocíshā rārapīti mitrámahāḥ | náktam yá īm arushó yó dívā nṛ́̄n ámartyo arushó yó dívā nṛ́̄n || 6 || divó ná yásya vidható návīnod vṛ́shā rukshá óshadhīshu nūnot | ghṛ́ṇā ná yó dhrájasā pátmanā yánn ā́ ródasī vásunā dáṃ supátnī || 7 || dhā́yobhir vā yó yújyebhir arkaír vidyún ná davidyot svébhiḥ ṣúshmaiḥ | ṣárdho vā yó marútāṃ tatáksha ṛibhúr ná tveshó rabhasānó adyaut || 8 || 4 ||

(४) चतुर्थं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ यथा होतर्मनुषो देवताता यज्ञेभिः सूनो सहसो यजासि ।
एवा नो अद्य समना समानानुशन्नग्न उशतो यक्षि देवान् ॥१॥
स नो विभावा चक्षणिर्न वस्तोरग्निर्वन्दारु वेद्यश्चनो धात् ।
विश्वायुर्यो अमृतो मर्त्येषूषर्भुद्भूदतिथिर्जातवेदाः ॥२॥

4.

Yáthā hotar mánusho devátātā yajñébhiḥ sūno sahaso yájāsi | evá no adyá samaná samānā́n uṣánn agna uṣató yakshi devā́n || 1 || sá no vibhā́vā cakshánir ná vástor agnír vandā́ru védyaṣ cáno dhāt | viṣvā́yur yó amṛ́to mártyeshūsharbhúd bhū́d átithir jātávedāḥ || 2 ||

Like the adorable sun, he clothes himself with beams of morning, diffusing friendly light, and resounding along with his radiance. He is the one who is luminous by night, and who inspires men to their work by day. He is immortal and radiant, and as such, verily, inspires men by day. 6

Of whom, the mysterious voice in cosmos, as if of the sun, is heard when he scatters his glow amongst the plants. He is brilliant showerer of blessings, who, among manifested creation, moving with his glow, rushes forth to fill both the worlds—well-wedded earth and heaven—with divine treasure. 7

He goes with sacred rays, as if with self-harnessed, well-governed steeds, and shines like lightning with his own scorching flames. He, associated with cosmic vital principles, glows radiant and moves rapid as the wide-sunshine. 8

4

O adorable Lord, you are source of strength, and invoker of cosmic forces, in the same manner as a man offering homage by means of selfless deeds. May you willingly invoke for us the assenting Nature's bounties, regarding them as your equal. 1

May that adorable Lord, who, like the illuminator of the day, is resplendent and cognizable by all, grant us commendable food. He is dear as a guest, is the life of all and immortal among mortals. He is always awake at dawn and knows all that exists. 2

द्यावो न यस्य पनयन्त्यभ्वं भासांसि वस्ते सूर्यो न शुक्रः ।
वि य इनोत्यजरः पावकोऽश्नस्य चिच्छिश्नथत्पूर्व्याणि ॥३॥
वद्मा हि सूनो अस्यद्मसद्वा चक्रे अग्निर्जनुषाज्मान्नम् ।
स त्वं न ऊर्जसन ऊर्जं धा राजेव जेरवृके क्षेष्यन्तः ॥४॥
नितिक्ति यो वारणमन्नमत्ति वायुर्न राष्ट्र्यत्येत्यक्तून् ।
तुर्याम यस्त आदिशामरातीरत्यो न ह्रुतः पततः परिह्रुत् ॥५॥

dyávo ná yásya panáyanty ábhvam bhásāṅsi vaste sū́ryo ná ṣukráḥ | ví yá inóty ajáraḥ pāvakó 'ṣnasya cic chiṣnathat pūrvyā́ṇi || 3 || vadmā́ hí sūno ásy admasádvā cakré agnír janúshā́jmā́nnam | sá tvám̐ na ūrjasana ū́rjam dhā rā́jeva jer avriké ksheshy antáḥ || 4 || nítikti yó vāraṇám ánnam átti vāyúr ná rā́shṭry áty ety aktū́n | turyā́ma yás ta ādíṣām árātīr átyo ná hrútaḥ pátataḥ parihrút || 5 || 5 ||

॥६॥ आ सूर्यो न भानुमद्भिरर्कैरग्ने ततन्थ रोदसी वि भासा ।
चित्रो नयत्परि तमांस्यक्तः शोचिषा पत्मन्नौशिजो न दीयन् ॥६॥
त्वां हि मन्द्रतममर्कशोकैर्ववृमहे महि नः श्रोष्यग्ने ।
इन्द्रं न त्वा शवसा देवता वायुं पृणन्ति राधसा नृतमाः ॥७॥

ā́ sū́ryo ná bhānumádbhir arkaír ágne tatántha ródasī ví bhāsā́ | citró nayat pári támāṅsy aktáḥ ṣocíshā pátmann auṣijó ná díyan || 6 || tvám̐ hí mandrátamam arkaṣokaír vavrimáhe máhi naḥ ṣróshy agne | índram ná tvā ṣávasā devátā vāyúm priṇanti rā́dhasā nrítamāḥ || 7 ||

His worshippers celebrate His great deeds and appreciate them with wonder. Radiant as the sun, He clothes himself with lustre. He is exempt from decay and is purifier. He illumines all things and destroys the unsatiated desires. 3

Adorable Lord, the source of strength is to be praised when His glory is established in the sacred works. Since His manifestation, He grants habitation and food. He is giver of strength—a source vitality to us, He triumphs like a prince, so that foes may not trouble us in our unassailed dwellings. 4

He is the one, who whets his gloom-dispersing radiance, and accepts reverential homage, and as a Lord of vitality, He overcomes dark forces. May He prevail on them who resist His command, and may you, O Lord, with the swiftness of a horse, be the destroyer of the assailing adversaries. 5

O adorable Lord, you overspread our inner realms with enlightenment and refulgent radiance, like the sun with his lustrous rays on the heaven and earth. The wonderful Lord disperses the glooms of conscience like the adorned sun moving on his path, imbued with light. 6

We celebrate your glory which is most adorable, and deserves to be glorified by sacred praises; the leaders earnestly honour you with offerings. Your divine resplendence is manifest in lightning and your strength in wind. 7

नू नो अग्नेऽवृकेभिः स्वस्ति वेषि रायः पथिभिः पर्ष्यंहः ।
ता सूरिभ्यो गृणते रासि सुम्नं मदेम शतहिमाः सुवीराः ॥८॥

nū́ no agne 'vṛikébhiḥ svastí véshi rāyáḥ pathíbhiḥ párshy áṅhaḥ | tā́ sūríbhyo gṛiṇaté rāsi sumnám mádema ṣatáhimāḥ suvī́rāḥ || 8 || 6 ||

(५) पञ्चमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥ ७॥ हुवे वः सूनुं सहसो युवानमद्रोघवाचं मतिभिर्यविष्ठम् ।
य इन्वति द्रविणानि प्रचेता विश्ववाराणि पुरुवारो अध्रुक् ॥१॥
त्वे वसूनि पुर्वणीक होतर्दोषा वस्तोरेरिरे यज्ञियासः ।
क्षामेव विश्वा भुवनानि यस्मिन्त्सं सौभगानि दधिरे पावके ॥२॥

5.

Huvé vaḥ sūnúṃ sáhaso yúvānam ádroghavācam matíbhir yávishṭham | yá ínvati dráviṇāni prácetā viṣvávārāṇi puruvā́ro adhrúk || 1 || tvé vásūni purvaṇīka hotar doshā́ vástor érire yajñíyāsaḥ | kshā́meva víṣvā bhúvanāni yásmin sáṃ saúbhagāni dadhiré pāvaké || 2 ||

त्वं विक्षु प्रदिवः सीद आसु क्रत्वा रथीरभवो वार्याणाम् ।
अत इनोषि विधते चिकित्वो व्यानुषग्जातवेदो वसूनि ॥३॥
यो नः सनुत्यो अभिदासदग्ने यो अन्तरो मित्रमहो वनुष्यात् ।
तमजरेभिर्वृषभिस्तव स्वैस्तपा तपिष्ठ तपसा तपस्वान् ॥४॥

tváṃ vikshú pradívaḥ sīda āsú krátvā rathī́r abhavo vā́ryāṇām | áta inoshi vidhaté cikitvo vy ā̀nushág jātavedo vásūni || 3 || yó naḥ sánutyo abhidā́sad agne yó ántaro mitramaho vanushyā́t | tám ajárebhir vṛ́shabhis táva svaís tápā tapishṭha tápasā tápasvān || 4 ||

May you quickly conduct us, O Lord, by unmolested paths, to riches and prosperity. Convey us beyond sin. Those delights which you give to your adorers, may you extend them to him, who glorifies you; and may we, living for a hundred winters, and blessed with excellent posterity, be happy. 8

5

I invoke you with hymns, O prime source of strength. You are youthful, ever-young, irreproachable God, full of wisdom, praised by all, merciful and devoid of malice, and the one who bestows prosperity to all. 1

O fire-divine of multi-blazing flames, the invoker, you are the one on whom all the performers of sacred acts repose their confidence night and day. These performers offer all good things to the sacrificial fire as Nature's bounties establish all living beings firmly on this earth. 2

O fire-divine, the cognizant of all that is born, you have been abiding since eternity among living people of the creation. You have ever been bestowing to them, by your design, all divine blessings, and have been continually granting treasures to those who have been constantly serving you. 3

O supreme resplendent Lord, mighty saviour of loyal devotees, may you, blazing with your radiance, consume him with your own imperishable flames, who, living in neighbourhood or secretly, desings to harm and assail us. 4

यस्ते यज्ञेन समिधा य उक्थैरर्केभिः सूनो सहसो ददाशत् ।
स मर्त्येष्वमृत प्रचेता राया द्युम्नेन श्रवसा वि भाति ॥५॥
स तत्कृधीषितस्तूयमग्ने स्पृधो बाधस्व सहसा सहस्वान् ।
यच्छस्यसे द्युभिरक्तो वचोभिस्तज्जुषस्व जरितुर्घोषि मन्म ॥६॥
अश्याम तं काममग्ने तवोती अश्याम रयिं रयिवः सुवीरम् ।
अश्याम वाजमभि वाजयन्तोऽश्याम द्युम्नमजराजरं ते ॥७॥

yás te yajñéna samídhā yá ukthaír arkébhiḥ sūno sahaso dádāṣat | sá mártyeshv amṛita prácetā rāyā́ dyumnéna ṣrávasā ví bhāti || 5 || sá tát kṛidhīshitás tū́yam agne spṛídho bādhasva sáhasā sáhasvān | yác chasyáse dyúbhir aktó vácobhis táj jushasva jaritúr ghóshi mánma || 6 || aṣyā́ma táṃ kā́mam agne távotī́ aṣyā́ma rayíṃ rayivaḥ suvī́ram | aṣyā́ma vā́jam abhí vājáyanto 'ṣyā́ma dyumnám ajarājáraṃ te || 7 || 7 ||

(६) षष्ठं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ प्र नव्यसा सहसः सूनुमच्छा यज्ञेन गातुमव इच्छमानः ।
वृश्चद्वनं कृष्णयामं रुशन्तं वीती होतारं दिव्यं जिगाति ॥१॥
स श्वितानस्तन्यतू रोचनस्था अजरेभिर्नानदद्भिर्यविष्ठः ।
यः पावकः पुरुतमः पुरूणि पृथून्यग्निरनुयाति भर्वन् ॥२॥
वि ते विष्वग्वातजूतासो अग्ने भामासः शुचे शुचयश्चरन्ति ।
तुविम्रक्षासो दिव्या नवग्वा वना वनन्ति धृषता रुजन्तः ॥३॥

6.

Prá návyasā sáhasaḥ sūnúm áchā yajñéna gātúm áva ichámānaḥ | vṛiṣcádvanaṃ kṛishṇáyāmaṃ rúṣantaṃ vītí hótāraṃ divyáṃ jigāti || 1 || sá ṣvitānás tanyatū́ rocanasthā́ ajárebhir nā́nadadbhir yávishṭhaḥ | yáḥ pāvakáḥ purutámaḥ purū́ṇi pṛithū́ny agnír anuyā́ti bhárvan || 2 || ví te víshvag vā́tajūtāso agne bhā́māsaḥ ṣuce ṣúcayaṣ caranti | tuvimrakshā́so divyā́ návagvā vánā vananti dhṛishatā́ rujántaḥ || 3 ||

O source of strength, immortal Lord, verily, the person who serves you with selfless and dedicated actions and sings your sacred hymns, shines out, among men. He becomes eminent in wisdom, and possesses splendid opulence and food. 5

O adorable Lord, may you quickly accomplish that for which we solicit you. May you with your might subdue our adversaries. May you be pleased when you are glorified with melodious sacred verses of the devotee and shine with radiance decked with brightness. 6

O adorable Lord, may we obtain all that we aspire for through your grace. O bestower of wealth and wisdom, may we, desiring food and progeny, be provided with them and be blessed with that eternal glory, of which you are the sole possessor. 7

6

He (the devotee), who seeks furtherance and grace, proceeds to the proximity of the fire-divine, the prime source of strength, with his everfresh devotional songs, calling the divine ministrant to share the banquet of Lord of comsic sacrificial acts. The fire-divine consumes the physical desires, just as ordinary fire consumes a forest. Bright and shining it moves forward leaving black traces (of burnt plants) on the path. 1

This cosmic fire-divine is white-hued, vociferous and dwells in firmament. He is eternal, ever-young and is loud-voiced. He is purifier, and assuming many forms proceeds feeding upon numerous and substantial forests. 2

O pure cosmic fire-divine, your bright flames impelled by vital elements spread wide in every direction, consuming all physical forms i. e. forests. Your ever-riding beams of radiance play upon the woods, boldly enveloping them in lustre. 3

ये ते शुक्रासः शुचयः शुचिष्मः क्षां वपन्ति विषितासो अश्वाः ।
अध भ्रमस्त उर्विया वि भाति यातयमानो अधि सानु पृश्नेः ॥४॥
अध जिह्वा पापतीति प्र वृष्णो गोषुयुधो नाशनिः सृजाना ।
शूरस्येव प्रसितिः क्षातिरग्नेर्दुर्वर्तुर्भीमो दयते वनानि ॥५॥

yé te sukrâsah súcayah sucishmah kshâm vápanti víshitāso áṣvāḥ | ádha bhramás ta urviyâ ví bhāti yātáyamāno ádhi sânu príṣneḥ || 4 || ádha jihvâ pāpatīti prá vríshṇo goshuyúdho náṣánih srijāná | ṣûrasyeva prásitiḥ kshātír agnér durvártur bhīmó dayate vánāni || 5 ||

आ भानुना पार्थिवानि ज्रयांसि महस्तोदस्य धृषता ततन्थ ।
स बाधस्वाप भया सहोभिः स्पृधो वनुष्यन्वनुषो नि जूर्व ॥६॥
स चित्र चित्रं चितयन्तमस्मे चित्रक्षत्र चित्रतमं वयोधाम् ।
चन्द्रं रयिं पुरुवीरं बृहन्तं चन्द्र चन्द्राभिर्गृणते युवस्व ॥७॥

â bhānúnā pârthivāni jráyāṅsi mahás todásya dhrishatâ tatantha | sá bādhasvâpa bhayâ sáhobhi sprídho vanushyán vanúsho ni jūrva || 6 || sá citra citrám citáyantam asmé cítrakshatra citrátamam vayodhâm | candrám rayím puruvíram brihántam cándra candrâbhir grinaté yuvasva || 7 || 8 ||

(७) सप्तमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । वैश्वानरोऽग्निर्देवता । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (६-७) षष्ठीसप्तम्योश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥१०॥

मूर्धानं दिवो अरतिं पृथिव्या वैश्वानरमृत आ जातमग्निम् ।
कविं सम्राजमतिथिं जनानामासन्ना पात्रं जनयन्त देवाः ॥१॥

7.

Mūrdhânam divó aratím prithivyâ vaiṣvānarám ritá â jātám agním | kavím samrâjam átithim jánānām āsánn â pâtram janayanta deváḥ || 1 ||

O resplendent fire-divine, when your pure and bright speedy rays like horses are loosened from their bound, they shear the many-tinted ground beneath them. Your flames, haunting about the high lands of earth, shine out far and wide and their rapidly moving flickers, mounting over earth's high ridges, blaze fiercely. 4

The flames of this mighty cosmic fire descend like the hurled thunderbolt of the powerful Lord of heaven. Its fierce flame has the energy of destroying all material forms. He, being irresistible and fearful, consumes all superficial material forms, as fire consumes the forests. 5

You over-spread on all the accessible places of the earth with light, energetic power and impelling force. May you drive away all perils with your conquering might and fighting out against our adversaries burn up those who harm us. 6

O splendrous divine fire, possessing splendid strength, the bestower of delight, may you grant to us, your loyal devotees praising you with delightful sacred hymns, the most wonderful life-giving treasures. O vast bright cosmic divine fire, may you confer on us great glory, supply nourishment and provide heroic progeny. 7

7

Divine forces of cosmos manifest the universal leader, the protective fire-divine who is a messenger of earthly beings and symbol of heavenly luminaries. He, an offspring of eternal order, is wise, sovereign, a guest dear to men and eternally existing. 1

नाभिं यज्ञानां सदनं रयीणां महामाहावमभि सं नवन्त ।
वैश्वानरं रथ्यमध्वराणां यज्ञस्य केतुं जनयन्त देवाः ॥२॥
त्वद्विप्रो जायते वाज्यग्ने त्वद्वीरासो अभिमातिषाहः ।
वैश्वानर त्वमस्मासु धेहि वसूनि राजन्त्स्पृहयाय्याणि ॥३॥
त्वां विश्वे अमृत जायमानं शिशुं न देवा अभि सं नवन्ते ।
तव क्रतुभिरमृतत्वमायन्वैश्वानर यत्पित्रोरदीदेः ॥४॥

nā́bhim yajñā́nām sádanam rayīṇā́m mahā́m āhāvā́m abhí sám navanta | vaiṣvānarā́m rathyàm adhvarā́ṇām yajñásya ketúm janayanta devā́ḥ || 2 || tvád vípro jāyate vājy àgne tvád vīrā́so abhimātishā́haḥ | vaíṣvānara tvám asmā́su dhehi vásūni rājan spṛihayā́yyāṇi || 3 || tvā́m víṣve amṛita jā́yamānam ṣíṣum ná devā́ abhí sám navante | táva krátubhir amṛitatvám āyan vaíṣvānara yát pitrór ádīdeḥ || 4 ||

वैश्वानर तव तानि व्रतानि महान्यग्ने नकिरा दधर्ष ।
यज्जायमानः पित्रोरुपस्थेऽविन्दः केतुं वयुनेष्वह्नाम् ॥५॥
वैश्वानरस्य विमितानि चक्षसा सानूनि दिवो अमृतस्य केतुना ।
तस्येदु विश्वा भुवनाधि मूर्धनि वया इव रुरुहुः सप्त विस्रुहः ॥६॥
वि यो रजांस्यमिमीत सुक्रतुर्वैश्वानरो वि दिवो रोचना कविः ।
परि यो विश्वा भुवनानि पप्रथेऽदब्धो गोपा अमृतस्य रक्षिता ॥७॥

vaíṣvānara táva tā́ni vratā́ni mahā́ny agne nákir ā́ dadharsha | yáj jā́yamānaḥ pitrór upásthé 'vindaḥ ketúm vayúneshv áhnām || 5 || vaiṣvānarásya vímitāni cákshasā sā́nūni divó amṛítasya ketúnā | tásyéd u víṣvā bhúvanādhi mūrdhā́ni vayā́ iva ruruhuḥ saptá visrúhaḥ || 6 || ví yó rájāṅsy ámimīta sukrátur vaiṣvānaró ví divó rocanā́ kavíḥ | pári yó víṣvā bhúvanāni paprathé 'dabdho gopā́ amṛítasya rakshitā́ || 7 || ७ ||

Cosmic forces manifest and praise him, who is navel of all noble deeds, sustainer of all sacred offerings, base of all treasures, conveyer of oblations, the universal leader, and an ensign of all selfless benevolent actions. 2

From your blessings, O fire-divine, the universal leader, the wise devotee derives strength and wisdom and blessed by you, the heroes subdue evil tendencies. O sovereign ruler, bestow on us excellent treasures, worthy to be longed for. 3

O immortal universel leader, when manifested as if born infant, all cosmic forces glorify you. When you shine in the parental mid-space, these forces, the offsprings of cosmos gain immortality. 4

O universal leader, the fire-divine, when you spring forth in the bosom of parental cosmos and establish the banner of days on the paths of cosmic world, no one can ever resist your mighty ordinances. 5

The summits of the firmament are measured by the immortal radiance of universal leader, the fire-divine. The base of all regions is stationed upon his brow. The seven gliding streams spring forth from there like branches of a tree. 6

The all-wise, performer of sacred deeds, universal leader the fire-divine, is the prime cause of all luminaries of cosmos and of the inter-space in the mid-region. He spreads them throughout the universe. He is the irresistible guardian of all immortal elements. 7

(८) अष्टमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । वैश्वानरोऽग्निर्देवता । (१–६) प्रथमादितृचद्वयस्य जगती, (७) सप्तम्या ऋचश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

पृक्षस्य वृष्णो अरुषस्य नू सहः प्र नु वोचं विदथा जातवेदसः ।
वैश्वानराय मतिर्नव्यसी शुचिः सोम इव पवते चारुरग्नये ॥१॥
स जायमानः परमे व्योमनि व्रतान्यग्निर्व्रतपा अरक्षत ।
व्यन्तरिक्षममिमीत सुक्रतुर्वैश्वानरो महिना नाकमस्पृशत् ॥२॥

8.

Prikshásya vríshṇo arushásya nū́ sáhaḥ prá nú vocaṃ vidáthā jātávedasaḥ | vaiṣvānarā́ya matír návyasī ṣúciḥ sóma iva pavate cā́rur agnáye || 1 || sá jā́yamānaḥ paramé vyòmani vratā́ny agnír vratapā́ arakshata | vy àntáriksham amimīta sukrátur vaiṣvānaró mahinā́ nā́kam asprisat || 2 ||

व्यस्तभ्नाद्रोदसी मित्रो अद्भुतोऽन्तर्वावदकृणोज्ज्योतिषा तमः ।
वि चर्मणीव धिषणे अवर्तयद्वैश्वानरो विश्वमधत्त वृष्ण्यम् ॥३॥
अपामुपस्थे महिषा अगृभ्णत विशो राजानमुप तस्थुरृग्मियम् ।
आ दूतो अग्निमभरद्विवस्वतो वैश्वानरं मातरिश्वा परावतः ॥४॥
युगेयुगे विदथ्यं गृणद्भ्योऽग्ने रयिं यशसं धेहि नव्यसीम् ।
पव्येव राजन्नघशंसमजर नीचा नि वृश्च वनिनं न तेजसा ॥५॥

vy àstabhnād ródasī mitró ádbhuto 'ntarvā́vad akriṇoj jyótishā támaḥ | ví cármaṇīva dhishánc avartayad vaiṣvānaró víṣvam adhatta vríshṇyam || 3 || apā́m upásthe mahishā́ agribhṇata víṣo rā́jānam úpa tasthur rigmíyam | ā́ dūtó agním abharad vivásvato vaiṣvānarám mātaríṣvā parāvátaḥ || 4 || yugé-yuge vidathyàṃ griṇádbhyó 'gne rayíṃ yaṣásaṃ dhehi návyasīm | pavyéva rājann aghásaṅsam ajara nīcā́ ní vriṣca vanínaṃ ná téjasā || 5 ||

8

I commemorate promptly at the holy congregation the might of the all-pervading cosmic fire, all-knowing, the showerer, and the radiant; ever-fresh, pure, and graceful hymns flow from me for this universal leader, in the same way, as the herbal juice flows from the filter. 1

That cosmic fire, who, as soon as manifest in the loftiest heaven, becomes the protector of our sacred rites. He protects the pious acts of men, and measures out the manifold firmament. On account of his grandeur and wonderful deeds, he, the universal leader, attains the highest glory in the cosmos. 2

This shining, wonderful, cosmic fire, the universal leader, upholds heaven and earth, also covers and conceals the darkness within his light. He spreads out the two bowls of universe like two skins. He comprehends all his creative energy in his task. 3

The mighty vital principles join him on the lap of vaporous firmament. Men acknowledge him as their adorable sovereign. The divine wind, the messenger of the cosmic forces brings divine fire the universal leader, from the distant sphere of the sun. 4

O glorious immortal, worthy of reverence, may you bestow riches and illustrious children upon such devotees, as continue singing your praises from age to age. May you strike the sinner with your sharp punitive justice, as lightning strikes down a tree. 5

अस्माकमग्ने मघवत्सु धारयानामि क्षत्रमजरं सुवीर्यम् ।
वयं जयेम शतिनं सहस्रिणं वैश्वानर वाजमग्ने तवोतिभिः ॥६॥
अदब्धेभिस्तव गोपाभिरिष्टेऽस्माकं पाहि त्रिषधस्थ सूरीन् ।
रक्षा च नो ददुषां शर्धो अग्ने वैश्वानर प्र च तारीः स्तवानः ॥७॥

asmákam agne maghávatsu dhārayā́nāmi kshatrám ajáram suvī́ryam | vayáṃ jayema ṣatínaṃ sahasríṇaṃ vaíṣvānara vā́jam agne távotíbhiḥ || 6 || ádabdhebhis táva gopā́bhir ishṭe 'smā́kam pāhi trishadhastha sūrī́n | rákshā ca no dadúshāṃ ṣárdho agne vaíṣvānara prá ca tārī stávānaḥ || 7 || 10 ||

(९) नवमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः ।
वैश्वानरोऽग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ अहश्च कृष्णमहरर्जुनं च वि वर्तेते रजसी वेद्याभिः ।
वैश्वानरो जायमानो न राजावातिरज्ज्योतिषाग्निस्तमांसि ॥१॥
नाहं तन्तुं न वि जानाम्योतुं न यं वयन्ति समरेऽतमानाः ।
कस्य स्वित्पुत्र इह वक्त्वानि परो वदात्यवरेण पित्रा ॥२॥
स इत्तन्तुं स वि जानात्योतुं स वक्त्वान्यृतुथा वदाति ।
य ईं चिकेतदमृतस्य गोपा अवश्चरन्परो अन्येन पश्यन् ॥३॥

9.

Áhaṣ ca krishṇám áhar árjunaṃ ca ví vartete rájasī vedyábhiḥ | vaiṣvānaró jā́yamāno ná rā́jā́vātiraj jyótishāgnís támāṅsi || 1 || nā́háṃ tántuṃ ná ví jānāmy ótuṃ ná yáṃ

váyanti samaré 'tamānāḥ | kásya svit putrá ihá váktvāni paró vadāty ávareṇa pitrā́ || 2 || sá ít tántuṃ sá ví jānāty ótuṃ sá váktvāny ṛituthá vadāti | yá īṃ cíketad amṛ́tasya gopā́ avás cáran paró anyéna páṣyan || 3 ||

O the universal leader, the fire-divine, may you grant to our benevolent offerers, wealth and strength which is exempt from decay and which cannot be taken away. May we win for our strength, O fire divine, hundredfold and thousandfold ways through your grace. 6

O adorable divine Lord, present in all the three worlds, keep your grace effective with your irresistible guards. May you preserve the strength of us who offer homage. May you, when glorified by us, take us across evils and miseries. 7

9

The dark night and the bright day revolve alternate, affecting the world by their appreciable qualities. Universal leader, the cosmic fire, manifested like a prince, dispels darkness by His lustre. 1

I neither understand the threads of the warp, nor the threads of the woof, nor that cloth which, those, who are assiduous in united exertion, weave. No one knows of the source of the words that have been spoken by a father hither and are to be used by the son thither. 2

He verily understands both, the warp and woof, and in due time. He shall tell what should be told. He very much knows all about this. He is the protector of all that is eternal and immortal, and freely moves through hither and thither, above or below, with a constant eye on both of them. 3

अयं होता प्रथमः पश्यतेममिदं ज्योतिरमृतं मर्त्येषु ।
अयं स जज्ञे ध्रुव आ निषत्तोऽमर्त्यस्तन्वा३ वर्धमानः ॥४॥
ध्रुवं ज्योतिर्निहितं दृशये कं मनो जविष्ठं पतयत्स्वन्तः ।
विश्वे देवाः समनसः सकेता एकं क्रतुमभि वि यन्ति साधु ॥५॥
वि मे कर्णा पतयतो वि चक्षुर्वी३दं ज्योतिर्हृदय आहितं यत् ।
वि मे मनश्चरति दूरआधीः किं स्विद्वक्ष्यामि किमु नू मनिष्ये ॥६॥
विश्वे देवा अनमस्यन्भियानास्त्वामग्ने तमसि तस्थिवांसम् ।
वैश्वानरोऽवतूतये नोऽमर्त्योऽवतूतये नः ॥७॥

ayáṃ hótā prathamáḥ páśyatemám idáṃ jyótir amŕ̥tam mártyeshu | ayáṃ sá jajñe dhruvá ā́ níshattó 'martyas tanvā̀ várdhamānaḥ || 4 || dhruváṃ jyótir níhitaṃ dr̥śáye kám máno jávishṭhaṃ patáyatsv antáḥ | víśve devā́ḥ sámanasaḥ sáketā ékaṃ krátum abhí ví yanti sādhú || 5 || ví me kárṇā patayato ví cákshur vìdáṃ jyótir hŕ̥daya ā́hitaṃ yát | ví me mánaś carati dūráādhīḥ kíṃ svid vakshyā́mi kím u nū́ manishye || 6 || víśve devā́ anamasyan bhiyānā́s tvā́m agne támasi tasthivā́ṅsam | vaiśvānarò 'vatū́táye nó 'martyo 'vatū́táye naḥ || 7 || 11 ||

(१०) दशमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-६) प्रथमादिऋच-द्वयस्य त्रिष्टुप्, (७) सप्तम्या ऋचश्च द्विपदा विराट् छन्दसी ॥

॥१२॥ पुरो वो मन्द्रं दिव्यं सुवृक्तिं प्रयति यज्ञे अग्निमध्वरे दधिध्वम् ।
पुर उक्थेभिः स हि नो विभावा स्वध्वरा करति जातवेदाः ॥१॥

10.

Puró vo mandráṃ divyáṃ suvr̥ktíṃ prayatí yajñé agním adhvaré dadhidhvam | purá ukthébhiḥ sá hí no vibhā́vā svadhvarā́ karati jātávedāḥ || 1 ||

This Lord of the cosmic fire is the first offerer of cosmic offerings. Behold Him ! He is the light immortal amongst mortals; He is immovable, all-pervading, immortal and ever-waxing in His body,—the manifested creation. 4

His steady light, swifter than mind, stationed among moving world, pointedly indicates the way to happiness. All the cosmic powers of one accord and of one intention, proceed unobstructed to the single purpose. 5

My ears are turned to hear Him, and my eyes to behold Him. The divine light, that is placed in my heart, is also eager to know him. My mind, the receptacle of distant objects, hastens towards Him. What shall I speak? How shall I comprehend Him? 6

All the cosmic forces, alarmed, adore you, O Lord of the cosmic fire, abiding in mysterious darkness. May the immortal adorable divine preserve us with His protection; afford us all His protection. 7

10

May you propitiate with praises and install this adorable, divine, infallible Lord at the place of all your progressive and uninterrupted sacred deeds. For He, the resplendent omniscient Lord makes us prosperous in our sacred endeavours. 1

तमु द्युमः पुर्वणीक होतरग्ने अग्निभिर्मनुष इधानः ।
स्तोमं यमस्मै ममतेव शूषं घृतं न शुचि मतयः पवन्ते ॥२॥
पीपाय स श्रवसा मर्त्येषु यो अग्नये ददाश विप्र उक्थैः ।
चित्राभिस्तमूतिभिश्चित्रशोचिर्व्रजस्य साता गोमतो दधाति ॥३॥ tám u dyumaḥ purv-

aṇīka hotar ágne agníbhir mánusha idhānáḥ | stómam yám
asmai mamáteva ṣūshám ghritám ná ṣúci matáyaḥ pavante
|| 2 || pīpáya sá ṣrávasā mártyeshu yó agnáye dadā́ṣa vípra ukthaíḥ | citrábhis tám ūtíbhiṣ citráṣocir vrajásya sātá gó-
mato dadhāti || 3 ||

आ यः पप्रौ जायमान उर्वी दूरेदृशा भासा कृष्णाध्वा ।
अध बहु चित्तम ऊर्म्यायास्तिरः शोचिषा ददृशे पावकः ॥४॥
नू नश्चित्रं पुरुवाजाभिरूती अग्ने रयिं मघवद्भ्यश्च धेहि ।
ये राधसा श्रवसा चात्यन्यान्त्सुवीर्येभिश्चाभि सन्ति जनान् ॥५॥
इमं यज्ञं चनो धा अग्न उशन्यं त आसानो जुहुते हविष्मान् ।
भरद्वाजेषु दधिषे सुवृक्तिमवीर्वाजस्य गध्यस्य सातौ ॥६॥ á yáḥ papraú jáyamāna urví dūredríṣā bhāsá krishṇádhvā | ádha bahú cit táma ū́rmyāyās tiráḥ

ṣocísha dadriṣe pavakáḥ || 4 || nú naṣ citrám puruvā́jābhir ūtí ágne rayím maghávadbhyaṣ ca dhehi | yé rā́dhasā ṣrá-vasā cáty anyán suvíryebhiṣ cābhí sánti jánān || 5 || imám yajñám cáno dhā agna uṣán yám ta āsānó juhuté havísh-mān | bharádvājeshu dadhishe suvriktím ávīr vā́jasya gádh-
yasya sātaú || 6 ||

O adorable fire-divine with multi-blazing flames, radiant and showerer of blessings, may you, glorified at the fires enkindled, listen and bless your devotee who for self-advantage adores you with a loving heart, pure as sacred butter. 2

Amongst mortal men, only that wise devotee thrives in glory, who offers homage with hymns of praise to adorable Lord. The wonderfully radiant adorable Lord grants him marvellous protection and helps him to obtain wealth and a pasturage filled with herds of cattle. 3

At His manifestation, the cosmic fire-divine, the dark-pathed, fills up spacious heaven and earth with His widely visible splendour. And He Himself, the purifier, is now seen, dispersing the thick gloom of night with His radiance. 4

O adorable Lord, may you, with your mightiest aid, confer magnificent wealth on us and on our illustrious leaders, who stand pre-eminent, surpassing others in liberal gifts, in fame, and in virtues. 5

O adorable Lord, accept this homage with delight, which the worshipper, seated before you, is offering. May you accept melodious hymns of wise devotees; bless them so that they may obtain all sorts of nourishment. 6

वि द्वेषांसीनुहि वर्धयेळां मदेम शतहिमाः सुवीराः ॥७॥

ví dvéshāṅsīnuhí vardháyéḷām mádema ṣatáhimāḥ suvírāḥ || 7 || 12 ||

(११) एकादशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ यजस्व होतरिषितो यजीयानग्ने बाधो मरुतां न प्रयुक्ति ।
आ नो मित्रावरुणा नासत्या द्यावा होत्राय पृथिवी ववृत्याः ॥१॥
त्वं होता मन्द्रतमो नो अध्रुगन्तर्देवो विदथा मर्त्येषु ।
पावकया जुह्वा३ वह्निरासाग्ने यजस्व तन्वं१ तव स्वाम् ॥२॥
धन्या चिद्धि त्वे धिषणा वष्टि प्र देवाञ्जन्म गृणते यजध्यै ।
वेपिष्ठो अङ्गिरसां यद्ध विप्रो मधु च्छन्दो भनति रेभ इष्टौ ॥३॥
अदिद्युतत्स्वपाको विभावाग्ने यजस्व रोदसी उरूची ।
आयुं न यं नमसा रातहव्या अञ्जन्ति सुप्रयसं पञ्च जनाः ॥४॥

11.

Yájasva hotar ishitó yájīyān ágne bádho marútām ná práyukti | á no mitráváruṇā násatyā dyávā hotráya prithiví vavrityāḥ || 1 || tvám hótā mandrátamo no adhrúg antár devó vidáthā mártyeshu | pāvakáyā juhvà váhnir āságne yájasva tanvàm táva svám || 2 || dhányā cid dhí tvé dhi-sháṇā váshṭi prá deváñ jánma griṇaté yájadhyai | vépi-shṭho áñgirasām yád dha vípro mádhu chandó bhánati re-bhá ishṭaú || 3 || ádidyutat sv ápāko vibhávágne yájasva ródasī urūcí | āyúm ná yám námasā rātáhavyā añjánti su-prayásam páñca jánāḥ || 4 ||

May you scatter our adversaries, augment our abundant store of wealth and may we, blessed with brave youths of character, enjoy happiness for a hundred winters. 7

11

O adorable Lord, the invoker, the most reverential and granter of blessings, may you being revered by us invoke the foe-destroying cosmic vital principles to come in aid of our holy synods and bring the never failing cosmic light and bliss, and the forces of heaven and earth. 1

O adorable Lord, you are divine invoker of cosmic forces amid mortals, most praise-worthy, never harming and bearer of oblations. May you constantly perform cosmic sacrifice of this universe with your purifying flames born as if out of your mouth. 2

O adorable Lord, our heart-felt craving for wealth and wisdom impels us to praise you, because your manifested form inspires the worshipper to honour the cosmic powers. The pious sage, the most earnest adorer amongst the preceptors, the poet, sings the sweet melodious songs at the solemn service. 3

The brilliant, adorable Lord is mature in wisdom, and most resplendent. May you offer honour to the wide-spread heaven and earth. All the well-fed, five categories of people, bearing oblations, propitiate you with homage as if you were a mortal guest. 4

वृञ्जे ह यन्नमसा बर्हिरग्नावयामि स्रुग्घृतवती सुवृक्तिः ।
अम्यक्षि सद्म सदने पृथिव्या अश्रायि यज्ञः सूर्ये न चक्षुः ॥५॥
दशस्या नः पुर्वणीक होतर्देवेभिरग्ने अग्निभिरिधानः ।
रायः सूनो सहसो वावसाना अति स्रसेम वृजनं नांहः ॥६॥

vriñjé ha yán námasā barhír agnáv áyāmi srúg ghritávatī suvriktíḥ | ámyakshi sádma sádane prithivyá́ áṣrāyi yajñáḥ sū́rye ná cákshuḥ || 5 || daṣasyá́ naḥ purvaṇīka hotar devébhir agne agníbhir idhānáḥ | rāyáḥ sūno sahaso vāvasāná́ áti srasema vrijánam ná́ṅhaḥ || 6 || 13 ||

(१२) द्वादशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ मध्ये होता दुरोणे बर्हिषो राळग्निस्तोदस्य रोदसी यजध्यै ।
अयं स सूनुः सहस ऋतावा दूरात्सूर्यो न शोचिषा ततान ॥१॥
आ यस्मिन्त्वे स्वपाके यजत्र यक्षद्राजन्सर्वतातेव नु द्यौः ।
त्रिषधस्थस्ततरुषो न जंहो हव्या मघानि मानुषा यजध्यै ॥२॥
तेजिष्ठा यस्यारतिर्वनेराट् तोदो अध्वन्न वृधसानो अद्यौत् ।
अद्रोघो न द्रविता चेतति त्मन्नमर्त्योऽवर्त्र ओषधीषु ॥३॥

12.

Mádhye hótā duroṇé barhísho rā́ḷ agnís todásya ródasī yájadhyai | ayám sá sūnúḥ sáhasa ritávā dūrā́t sū́ryo ná ṣocíshā tatāna || 1 || á́ yásmin tvé sv ápāke yajatra yákshad rājan sarvátāteva nú dyaúḥ | trishadhásthas tatarúsho ná jáṅho havyá́ maghā́ni mā́nushā yájadhyai || 2 || téjishṭhā yásyāratír vanerā́ṭ todó ádhvan ná vridhasānó adyaut | adroghó ná dravitá́ cetati tmánn ámartyo ’vartrá óshadhīshu || 3 ||

When with reverence the grass of my worldly comforts is clipped to be dedicated as an oblation to the fire-divine and left, the well-trimmed ladle (of may soul), full of butter (of benevolence) then alone, the receptacle (the cosmic fire-altar) becomes complete on the surface of earth for the cosmic sacred rites—The sacrifice, verily, is related to the earth in the same way as eye to the sun. 5

O possessor of multiblazing flames, invoker of Nature's bounties, shining with brilliant radiance, bestow upon us riches; and may we, O source of strength, having overcome our adversaries envelop you with reverential homage. 6

12

The cosmic fire, the invoker of divine powers, the Lord of cosmic sacrifice, abides in the hearts of the institutor of the sacred works, who offers homage to heaven and earth. He is the source of strength, and the observer of truth. He over-spreads the world from afar, like the sun with light. 1

O most wise, adorable and resplendent cosmic fire, the worshipper offers homage to you at every sacred ceremony. May you, being present in all the three realms, move with the speed of the traverser of the sky, the sun, to convey the valuable oblations of men to the cosmic forces. 2

His pure and spreading radiance blazes in the forest, and shines with increasing intensity, like the sun on His celestial path. His glow rushes like the innoxious wind amongst the plants. Immortal and unimpeded, He lights up all things by His own lustre. 3

सास्माकेभिरेतरी न शूषैरग्निः ष्टवे दम आ जातवेदाः ।
द्रुन्नो वन्वन् क्रत्वा नार्वोस्रः पितेव जारयायि यज्ञैः ॥४॥
अध स्मास्य पनयन्ति भासो वृथा यत्तक्षदनुयाति पृथ्वीम् ।
सद्यो यः स्पन्द्रो विषितो धवीयानृणो न तायुरति धन्वा राट् ॥५॥
स त्वं नो अर्वन्निदाया विश्वेभिरग्ने अग्निभिरिधानः ।
वेषि रायो वि यासि दुच्छुना मदेम शतहिमाः सुवीराः ॥६॥

sásmákebhir etárī ná ṣūshaír agní shṭave dáma á jātávedāḥ | drvànno vanván krátvā nárvosráḥ pitéva jārayáyi yajñaíḥ || 4 || ádha smāsya panayanti bháso vṛíthā yát tákshad anuyáti pṛithvím | sadyó yáḥ syandró víshito dhávīyān ṛiṇó ná tāyúr áti dhánvā rāṭ || 5 || sá tváṃ no arvan nídāyā víṣvebhir agne agníbhir idhānáḥ | véshi rāyó ví yāsi duchúnā mádema ṣatáhimāḥ suvírāḥ || 6 || 14 ||

(१३) त्रयोदशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ त्वद्विश्वा सुभग सौभगान्यग्ने वि यन्ति वनिनो न वयाः ।
श्रुष्टी रयिर्वाजो वृत्रतूर्ये दिवो वृष्टिरीड्यो रीतिरपाम् ॥१॥
त्वं भगो न आ हि रत्नमिषे परिज्मेव क्षयसि दस्मवर्चाः ।
अग्ने मित्रो न बृहत ऋतस्यासि क्षत्ता वामस्य देव भूरेः ॥२॥

13.

Tvád víṣvā subhaga saúbhagāny ágne ví yanti vaníno ná vayáḥ | ṣrushṭí rayír vájo vṛitratúrye divó vṛishṭír íḍyo rītír apám || 1 || tvám bhágo na á hí rátnam ishé párijmeva kshayasi dasmávarcāḥ | ágne mitró ná bṛihatá ṛitásyási kshattá vāmásya deva bhúreḥ || 2 ||

The cosmic fire, who knows all that exists, is propitiated in our dwellings by us and our friends like a steed for vigour. This fire feeds upon trees, and consumes forests, He fights with evil, like a champion. He is glorified by the praises in sacred ceremonies. 4

They glorify His glow in this world. When thinning the woods with ease, He spreads over the broad earth. He glides along unarrested, and rapid in movement, like a flying thief, He shines over the desert. 5

O quick-moving cosmic fire, kindled with all your fires, guard us from reproach. You bestow opulence and drive away adversaries. May we, along with descendents, brave and cultured, enjoy happiness through a hundred winters. 6

13

O auspicious adorable Lord, all beneficial works proceed from you like branches from the trunk of a tree. All benevolent wealth, including vigour in struggles against evils, and rain from sky, come through your blessings. Therefore, O sender of rains, you are glorified by all. 1

O divine adorable Lord, may you bestow upon us precious wealth. You are beautiful with your radiance, and swift like the circumambient wind. You, like the sun, are the upholder of eternal laws and giver of plentiful wealth. 2

स सत्पतिः शवसा हन्ति वृत्रमग्ने विप्रो वि पणेर्भर्ति वाजम् ।
यं त्वं प्रचेत ऋतजात राया सजोषा नप्त्रापां हिनोषि ॥३॥
यस्ते सूनो सहसो गीर्भिरुक्थैर्यज्ञैर्मर्तो निशितिं वेद्यानट् ।
विश्वं स देव प्रति वारमग्ने धत्ते धान्यं पत्यते वसव्यैः ॥४॥
ता नृभ्य आ सौश्रवसा सुवीराग्ने सूनो सहसः पुष्यसे धाः ।
कृणोषि यच्छवसा भूरि पश्वो वयो वृकायारये जसुरये ॥५॥

sá sátpatiḥ ṣávasā hanti vṛitrám ágne vípro ví panér bharti vā́jam | yáṃ tvám praceta ṛitajāta rāyā́ sajóshā náptrāpā́ṃ hinóshi || 3 || yás te sūno sahaso gīrbhír ukthaír yajñaír márto níṣitiṃ vedyā́naṭ | víṣvaṃ sá deva práti vā́ram agne dhatté dhānyàm pátyate vasavyaìḥ || 4 || tā́ nṛíbhya ā́ sauṣravasā́ suvīrā́gne sūno sahasaḥ pushyáse dhāḥ | kṛiṇóshi yác chávasā bhū́ri paṣvó váyo vṛíkāyāráye jásuraye || 5 ||

वद्मा सूनो सहसो नो विहाया अग्ने तोकं तनयं वाजि नो दाः ।
विश्वाभिर्गीर्भिरभि पूर्तिमश्यां मदेम शतहिमाः सुवीराः ॥६॥

vadmá sūno sahaso no víhāyā ágne tokáṃ tánayaṃ vājí no dāḥ | víṣvābhir gīrbhír abhí pūrtím aṣyām mádema ṣatáhimāḥ suvírāḥ || 6 || 15 ||

(१४) चतुर्दशं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१–५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चामनुष्टुप्, (६) षष्ठ्या ऋचश्च शक्करी छन्दसी ॥

॥१६॥ अग्ना यो मर्त्यो दुवो धियं जुजोष धीतिभिः ।
भसन्नु ष प्र पूर्व्य इषं वुरीतावसे ॥१॥

14.

Agná yó mártyo dúvo dhíyaṃ jujósha dhītíbhiḥ | bhásan nú shá prá pūrvyá íshaṃ vurītávase || 1 ||

O adorable Lord, all-wise, the source of eternal truth, that man becomes the protector of the virtuous, and destroyer of his enemy by his strength, and that person alone crushes the might of evil forces with his wisdom, whom you, the consentient with the grandson of waters, inspire to achieve prosperity. 3

O adorable Lord, the source of strength, the person, who by praises, by prayers, and by selfless deeds, attracts your radiant fervour to his altar, enjoys all glory and prosperity, and abounds in precious treasures. 4

O source of strength, may you confer those abundant viands, excellent descendants, and those means of copious sustenance to devotee which you take away from a churlish and malignant adversary. 5

O adorable Lord, source of most powerful, may you be our councillor, and give us sons and grandsons, together with food. May I, by all my praises, obtain the fulfilment of my aspirations. May we, blessed with excellent descendants, enjoy happiness for a hundred winters. 6

14

May the person, who serves adorable Lord by devotion, worship, and praises, quickly become distinguished as the first amongst men, and acquire ample food for the support of his children. 1

अ॒ग्निरिद्धि प्रचे॑ता अ॒ग्निर्वे॒धस्त॑म॒ ऋषिः॑ ।
अ॒ग्निं होता॑रमीळते य॒ज्ञेषु॒ मनु॑षो॒ विशः॑ ॥२॥
नाना॒ ह्य॑ग्नेऽव॑से॒ स्पर्ध॑न्ते॒ रायो॑ अ॒र्यः ।
तूर्व॑न्तो॒ दस्यु॑मा॒यवो॑ व्र॒तैः शीक्ष॑न्तो अव्र॒तम् ॥३॥

agnír íd dhí práecetā agnír vedhástama ríshiḥ | agním hótāram īḷate yajñéshu mánusho víśaḥ || 2 || nắnā hy àgné 'vase spárdhante ráyo aryáḥ | tűrvanto dásyum āyávo vrataíḥ śíkshanto avratám || 3 ||

अ॒ग्निर॑प्सामृ॑ती॒षहं॑ वी॒रं द॑दाति॒ सत्प॑तिम् ।
यस्य॒ त्रस॑न्ति॒ शव॑सः सं॒चक्षि॒ शत्र॑वो भि॒या ॥४॥
अ॒ग्निर्हि वि॒द्मना॑ नि॒दो दे॒वो मर्त॑मुरु॒ष्यति॑ ।
स॒हावा॒ यस्यावृ॑तो र॒यिर्वाजे॒ष्ववृ॑तः ॥५॥
अच्छा॑ नो मित्रमहो देव दे॒वानग्ने॒ वोचः॑ सुम॒तिं रोद॑स्योः ।
वी॒हि स्व॒स्तिं सु॑क्षि॒तिं दि॒वो नॄन्द्वि॒षो अंहां॑सि दुरि॒ता त॑रेम॒ ता त॑रेम॒ तवाव॑सा तरेम ॥६॥

agnír apsắm ṛitīsháham vīrám dadāti sátpatim | yásya trásanti śávasaḥ saṃcákshi śátravo bhiyā́ || 4 || agnír hí vidmánā nidó devó mártam urushyáti | sahā́vā yásyā́vrito rayír vā́jeshv ávṛitaḥ || 5 || áchā no mitramaho — || 6 || 16 ||

Adorable Lord is most wise and cherisher of sacred works and a holy sage. Thoughtful people have been glorifying Him as the invoker of the cosmic forces to bless their selfless benevolent deeds. 2

Adorable Lord takes manifold treasures of disbelievers for the preservation of the worshippers. Faithful devotees triumph over wicked and unrighteous and humble him who does not abide by the prescribed conduct of life. 3

Adorable Lord bestows upon His worshippers such a descendant, who overcomes evil forces, protects virtuous, and at whose appearance, adversaries tremble through fear of his prowess. 4

The mighty, divine, and all-wise adorable Lord protects the pious devotee from reproach, and makes his path of glory and his wealth unrivalled. 5

O divine adorable Lord, revered as a friend, who abiding in heaven and earth, communicates our praises to the divines, conduct the offerer of adoration to domestic felicity, may we overcome our adversaries, our iniquities, our difficulties; may we overcome them by your protection. 6

(१५) पञ्चदशं सूक्तम्

(१–१९) एकोनविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज आङ्गिरसो वीतहव्यो वा ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१–२, ४–५, ७–९) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थीपञ्चम्योः सप्तमीनवम्योश्च जगती. (३, १५) तृतीयापञ्चदश्योः शक्वरी. (६) षष्ठ्या अतिशक्वरी. (१०–१४, १६, १९) दशम्यादिपञ्चानां षोडश्या एकोनविंश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप्. (१७) सप्तदश्या अनुष्टुप्. (१८) अष्टादश्याश्च बृहती छन्दांसि ॥

॥१७॥ इमम् षु वो अतिथिमुषर्बुधं विश्वासां विशां पतिमृञ्जसे गिरा ।
वेतीद्दिवो जनुषा कच्चिदा शुचिर्ज्योक्चिदत्ति गर्भो यदच्युतम् ॥१॥
मित्रं न यं सुधितं भृगवो दधुर्वनस्पतावीड्यमूर्ध्वशोचिषम् ।
स त्वं सुप्रीतो वीतहव्ये अद्भुत प्रशस्तिभिर्महयसे दिवेदिवे ॥२॥
स त्वं दक्षस्यावृको वृधो भूरर्यः परस्यान्तरस्य तरुषः ।
रायः सूनो सहसो मर्त्येष्वा छर्दिर्यच्छ वीतहव्याय सप्रथो भरद्वाजाय सप्रथः ॥३॥

15.

Imám ū shú vo átithim usharbúdham víṣvāsām viṣā́m pátim riñjase girā́ | vétī́d divó janúshā kác cid ā́ ṣúcir jyók cid atti gárbho yád ácyutam || 1 || mitrám ná yám súdhitam bhrígavo dadhúr vánaspátāv ī́dyam ūrdhváṣocisham | sá tvám súprīto vītáhavye adbhuta práṣastibhir mahayase divé-dive || 2 || sá tvám dákshasyāvrikó vridhó bhū́r aryáḥ párasyántarasya tárushaḥ | rāyáḥ sūno sahaso mártyeshv ā́ chardír yacha vītáhavyāya saprátho bharádvājāya sapráthaḥ || 3 ||

द्युतानं वो अतिथिं स्वर्णरमग्निं होतारं मनुषः स्वध्वरम् ।
विप्रं न द्युक्षवचसं सुवृक्तिभिर्हव्यवाहमरतिं देवमृञ्जसे ॥४॥
पावकया यश्चितयन्त्या कृपा क्षामन्रुरुच उषसो न भानुना ।
तूर्वन्न यामन्नेतशस्य नू रण आ यो घृणे न ततृषाणो अजरः ॥५॥

dyutānám vo átithim svàrṇaram agním hótāram mánushaḥ svadhvarám | vípram ná dyukshávacasam suvriktíbhir havyavā́ham aratím devám riñjase || 4 || pāvakáyā yáṣ citáyantyā kripā́ kshā́man rurucá usháso ná bhānúnā | tū́rvan ná yā́mann étaṣasya nū́ ráṇa ā́ yó ghriṇé ná tatrishāṇó ajáraḥ || 5 || 17 ||

15

May you O devotees, propitiate by praises the Lord, who is dear as a guest and whose glory wakes at the early dawn. He is the cherisher of all people. On all occasions, He comes as if from heaven and rests as an embryo (in wood). He remains embodiment of purity from eternity and instantly accepts the offerings presented to Him with reverence. 1

Spiritually enlightened sages regard this upward-flaming, adorable-divine, deposited in wood, as a friend. May He be pleased with dedicated offerer of oblations, who glorifies Him with praises every day. 2

You are unresisted, and benefactor of him who is skilled in sacred rites, and defender against his near or distant enemies. O ever-renowned Lord, may you grant wealth and a dwelling to selfless dedicated offerer of oblations, a bearer of spiritual enlightenment. 3

Propitiate with pious praises the radiant adorable fire-divine, who is your dear guest, the guide to heaven, and the invoker of Nature's bounties for the welfare of humanity. He, the divine, is the cherisher of noble deeds, the speaker of brilliant words like a learned sage, and the bearer of oblations. 4

Propitiate Him, the adorable Lord, who shines upon the earth with purifying and enlightening lustre, as the dawns shine with light; He is like a warrior, who, discomfiting His foes, quickly blazes forth in defence of virtuous instincts. He is satiated with food, and exempt from decay. 5

॥१८॥ अग्निमग्निं वः समिधा दुवस्यत प्रियंप्रियं वो अतिथिं गृणीषणि ।
उप वो गीर्भिरमृतं विवासत देवो देवेषु वनते हि वार्यं देवो देवेषु वनते हि नो दुवः ॥६॥
समिद्धमग्निं समिधा गिरा गृणे शुचिं पावकं पुरो अध्वरे ध्रुवम् ।
विप्रं होतारं पुरुवारमद्रुहं कविं सुम्नैरीमहे जातवेदसम् ॥७॥
त्वां दूतमग्ने अमृतं युगेयुगे हव्यवाहं दधिरे पायुमीड्यम् ।
देवासश्च मर्तासश्च जागृविं विभुं विश्पतिं नमसा नि षेदिरे ॥८॥

agním-agnim vaḥ samídhā duvasyata priyám-priyam vo átithim griṇīsháṇi | úpa vo gīrbhír amṛ́tam vivāsata devó devéshu vánate hí vā́ryam devó devéshu vánate hí no dúvaḥ || 6 || sámiddham agním samídhā girā́ griṇe śúcim pāvakám puró adhvaré dhruvám | vípram hótāram puruvā́ram adrúham kavím sumnaír imahe jātávedasam || 7 || tvā́m dūtám agne amṛ́tam yugé-yuge havyavā́ham dadhire pāyúm ī́ḍyam | devā́sas ca mártāsas ca jā́grivim vibhúm viśpátim námasā ní shedire || 8 ||

विभूषन्नग्न उभयाँ अनु व्रता दूतो देवानां रजसी समीयसे ।
यत्ते धीतिं सुमतिमावृणीमहेऽध स्मा नस्त्रिवरूथः शिवो भव ॥९॥
तं सुप्रतीकं सुदृशं स्वञ्चमविद्वांसो विदुष्टरं सपेम ।
स यक्षद्विश्वा वयुनानि विद्वान्प्र हव्यमग्निरमृतेषु वोचत् ॥१०॥

vibhū́shann agna ubháyāñ ánu vratā́ dūtó devā́nām rájasī sám īyase | yát te dhītím sumatím āvriṇīmáhé 'dha smā nas trivárūthaḥ sivó bhava || 9 || tám suprátīkam sudṛ́śam svā́ñcam ávidvāṅso vidúshṭaram sapema | sá yakshad víśvā vayúnāni vidvā́n prá havyám agnír amṛ́teshu vocat || 10 || 18 ||

May you worship repeatedly the adorable Lord with dedication. He is ever your dear friend, and dear as guest. May you glorify with hymns the immortal Lord, for He is most divine among divine, and accepts our homage with love. 6

We glorify with praise the effulgent, adorable Lord, who is pure, purifying, and immortal. Let us celebrate with pleasant hymns the all-wise Lord, the invoker of Nature's bounties. He is revered by all. Verily, He is benevolent, omniscient and full of wisdom. 7

O adorable Lord, you have been in every age commanding the ways and works of the divine powers of both worlds as their envoy. You are immortal bearer of homage, beneficent, and worthy of praise. You are vigilant, pervading and the protector of mankind. Therefore all enshrine you in the chamber of their heart, as the fire is placed on a sacred altar. 8

O adorable Lord, envoy of Nature's bounties, you traverse both earth and heaven. When we lay claim to your regard, and gracious care, O guardian of the three regions, may you be auspicious to us. 9

We of little wisdom adore you, the most wise fire-divine, the well-formed, the well-looking, and the graceful-moving. May the Lord, who knows all things that are to be known, offer the cosmic sacrifice. May we announce the oblation to the immortals. 10

॥१९॥ तमग्ने पास्युत तं पिपर्षि यस्त आनट् कवये शूर धीतिम् ।
यज्ञस्य वा निशितिं वोदितिं वा तमित्पृणक्षि शवसोत राया ॥११॥
त्वमग्ने वनुष्यतो नि पाहि त्वमु नः सहसावन्नवद्यात् ।
सं त्वा ध्वस्मन्वदभ्येतु पाथः सं रयिः स्पृहयाय्यः सहस्री ॥१२॥
अग्निर्होता गृहपतिः स राजा विश्वा वेद जनिमा जातवेदाः ।
देवानामुत यो मर्त्यानां यजिष्ठः स प्र यजतामृतावा ॥१३॥

tám agne pāsy utá tám piparshi yás ta ā́naṭ kaváye ṣūra dhītím | yajñásya vā níṣitiṃ vóditiṃ vā tám ít priṇakshi ṣávasotá rāyā́ || 11 || tvám agne vanushyató ní pāhi tvám u naḥ sahasāvann avadyā́t | sáṃ tvā dhvasmanvád abhy ètu pā́thaḥ sáṃ rayí sprihayā́yyaḥ sahasrī́ || 12 || agnír hótā grihápatiḥ sá rā́jā víṣvā veda jánimā jātávedaḥ | devā́nām utá yó mártyānāṃ yájishṭhaḥ sá prá yajatām ritā́vā || 13 ||

अग्ने यदद्य विशो अध्वरस्य होतः पावकशोचे वेष्ट्वं हि यज्वा ।
ऋता यजासि महिना वि यद्भूर्हव्या वह यविष्ठ या ते अद्य ॥१४॥

ágne yád adyá viṣó adhvarasya hotaḥ pā́vakaṣoce vésh ṭvám hí yájvā | ritā́ yajāsi mahinā́ ví yád bhū́r havyā́ vaha yavishṭha yā́ te adyá || 14 ||

You cherish and protect that man who offers worship to you, O radiant and farseeing Lord. You endow him with strength and riches, who initiates and accomplishes selfless noble works. 11

O mighty Lord, may you guard us from the malignant, and preserve us from the wicked. O victorious, may our offerings reach you free from dishonour and may desirable riches reach us by thousands. 12

Our adorable Lord is the invoker of Nature's bounties, protector of homes, and a sovereign ruler. He knows all that is; He knows all that exists. He is the most assiduous performer of benevolent acts amongst mortals and divines.

May He, who is truth-incarnate, constantly perform the divine cosmic sacrifice. 13

O adorable Lord, minister of the sacrifice, bright with purifying lustre, may you approve of that worship, which is being celebrated by the institutor of the holy ceremonies. Verily, you are the doer of cosmic sacrifice. Therefore, may you inspire divine powers; and since by your greatness you are all-pervading, O ever-young, accept the offerings presented to you today. 14

अभि प्रयांसि सुधितानि हि ख्यो नि त्वा दधीत रोदसी यजध्यै ।
अवा नो मघवन्वाजसातावग्ने विश्वानि दुरिता तरेम ता तरेम तवावसा तरेम ॥१५॥

अग्ने विश्वेभिः स्वनीक देवैरूर्णावन्तं प्रथमः सीद योनिम् ।
कुलायिनं घृतवन्तं सवित्रे यज्ञं नय यजमानाय साधु ॥१६॥
इममु त्यमथर्ववदग्निं मन्थन्ति वेधसः । यमङ्कूयन्तमानयन्नमूरं श्याव्याभ्यः ॥१७॥

abhí práyāṅsi súdhitāni hí khyó ní tvā dadhīta ródasī yájadhyai | ávā no maghavan vájasātāv ágne víṣvāni duritá tarema tá tarema távávasā tarema || 15 || 19 ||

ágne víṣvebhiḥ svanīka devaír ū́rṇāvantam prathamáḥ sīda yónim | kulāyínaṃ ghṛitávantaṃ savitré yajñám naya yájamānāya sādhú || 16 || imám u tyám atharvavád agním manthanti vedhásaḥ | yám aṅkūyántam ā́nayann ámūraṃ ṣyāvyā̀bhyaḥ || 17 ||

जनिष्वा देववीतये सर्वताता स्वस्तये ।
आ देवान्वक्ष्यमृताँ ऋतावृधो यज्ञं देवेषु पिस्पृशः ॥१८॥
वयमु त्वा गृहपते जनानामग्ने अकर्म समिधा बृहन्तम् ।
अस्थूरि नो गार्हपत्यानि सन्तु तिग्मेन नस्तेजसा सं शिशाधि ॥१९॥

jánishvā devávītaye sarvátātā svastáye | á devā́n vakshy amṛítāñ ṛitāvṛídho yajñám devéshu pispṛiṣaḥ || 18 || vayám u tvā gṛihapate janānām ágne ákarma samídhā bṛihántam | asthūrí no gā́rhapatyāni santu tigména nas téjasā sáṃ ṣiṣādhi || 19 || 20 ||

O bounteous Lord, may you inspect and bless the sacrificial viands duly deposited upon the altar of our noble deeds. Heaven and earth invoke you to perform cosmic sacrifice. O opulent Lord, protect us in struggles, whereby we may pass safe over all evils; and may we pass over those of a prior existence and trouble us. May we overcome them through your protection. 15

O adorable Lord, shining with your own splendour, may you enshrine the nest—like soft heart of man, bedewed with devotion, upon the altar lined with wool, a nest of perfumes and suffused with butter, and rightly convey to Nature's bounties the devotion of the institutor of the ceremony; —of the presenter of homage. 16

The holy devotees make efforts to re-establish firmly the glory of Lord and remove the glooms of ignorance. This faith is often shaken badly, but not lost altogether. 17

O adorable Lord, may your glorious faith be enshrined at our sacred works for the welfare of devotees. May you bring hither the immortal divine powers, the augmenters of the ceremonies. May the benefits of our fire ritual reach the environmental Nature's bounties. 18

O adorable Lord, the guardian of our family, we, amongst men, promote your glory with ever-increasing dedication. May our domestic fires be supplied with all that is essential, may you enliven us with brilliant radiance. 19

(१६) षोडशं सूक्तम्

(१–४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशदृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१, ६) प्रथमाषष्ठ्योर्ऋचोर्वर्धमाना, (२–५, ७–२६, २८–४५) द्वितीयादिचतसृणां सप्तम्यादिविंशतेरष्टाविंश्याद्यष्टादशानाञ्च गायत्री, (२७, ४७–४८) सप्तविंश्याः सप्तचत्वारिंश्यष्टचत्वारिंश्योश्चानुष्टुप्, (४६) षट्चत्वारिंश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२१॥ त्वमग्ने यज्ञानां होता विश्वेषां हितः । देवेभिर्मानुषे जने ॥१॥
स नो मन्द्राभिरध्वरे जिह्वाभिर्यजा महः । आ देवान्वक्षि यक्षि च ॥२॥
वेत्था हि वेधो अध्वनः पथश्च देवाञ्जसा । अग्ने यज्ञेषु सुक्रतो ॥३॥
त्वामीळे अध द्विता भरतो वाजिभिः शुनम् । ईजे यज्ञेषु यज्ञियम् ॥४॥
त्वमिमा वार्या पुरु दिवोदासाय सुन्वते । भरद्वाजाय दाशुषे ॥५॥

16.

Tvám agne yajñā́nām̐ hótā víśveshām̐ hitáḥ | devébhir mā́nushe jáne || 1 || sá no mandrā́bhir adhvaré jihvā́bhir yajā maháḥ | ā́ devā́n vakshi yákshi ca || 2 || vétthā hí vedho ádhvanaḥ patháś ca devā́ñjasā | ágne yajñéshu sukrato || 3 || tvā́m īḷe ádha dvitā́ bharató vājíbhiḥ śunám | ījé yajñéshu yajñíyam || 4 || tvám imā́ vā́ryā purú dívodāsāya sunvaté | bharádvājāya dāśúshe || 5 || 21 ||

॥२२॥ त्वं दूतो अमर्त्य आ वहा दैव्यं जनम् । शृण्वन्विप्रस्य सुष्टुतिम् ॥६॥
त्वामग्ने स्वाध्यो३ मर्तासो देववीतये । यज्ञेषु देवमीळते ॥७॥
तव प्र यक्षि संदृशमुत क्रतुं सुदानवः । विश्वे जुषन्त कामिनः ॥८॥

tvám̐ dūtó ámartya ā́ vahā daívyam̐ jánam | śriṇván víprasya sushṭutím || 6 || tvā́m agne svādhyò mártāso devá vītaye | yajñéshu devám īḷate || 7 || táva prá yakshi saṃdṛ́śam utá krátum̐ sudā́navaḥ | víśve jushanta kāmínaḥ || 8 ||

16

O adorable Lord, the inspirer of benevolent deeds, the divine powers honour you as the benefactor of all. You are the inspirer of men and mankind. 1

So, may you illumine the great cosmic powers with your exhilarating glories, and may you bring hither the divine forces and help them in their assigned functions. 2

O adorable Lord, creator, doer of great deeds, and the performer of cosmic sacrifice, you know the paths and ways, and how to travel and function with speed. 3

The nourisher, the household head, has been joyfully praising you for your two-fold functions (creative and sustaining) and has been worshipping you, O adorable, with sacrifices. 4

As you confer many of such blessings upon the servants of people, whilst they present libations, so now may you grant them the same to the actual offerer, the sustainer of the family with food and wealth. 5

O immortal messenger, may you bring hither the enlightened people, on hearing the adoration of the wise. 6

O adorable Lord, whilst engaged in noble deeds, the mortals of pious thoughts invoke you for the satisfaction of the enlightened ones. 7

O Lord, those who are liberal givers, and well-wishers of all, enjoy your splendour and perform the selfless deeds. May you bless them. 8

त्वं होता मनुर्हितो वह्निरासा विदुष्टरः । अग्ने यक्षि दिवो विशः ॥९॥
अग्न आ याहि वीतये गृणानो हव्यदातये । नि होता सत्सि बर्हिषि ॥१०॥

tvám hótā mánurhito váhnir āsā́ vidúshṭaraḥ | ágne yákshi divó víṣaḥ || 9 || ágna ā́ yāhi vītáye griṇānó havyádātaye | ní hótā satsi barhíshi || 10 || 22 ||

॥२३॥ तं त्वा समिद्भिरङ्गिरो घृतेन वर्धयामसि । बृहच्छोचा यविष्ठ्य ॥११॥
स नः पृथु श्रवाय्यमच्छा देव विवाससि । बृहदग्ने सुवीर्यम् ॥१२॥
त्वामग्ने पुष्करादध्यथर्वा निरमन्थत । मूर्ध्नो विश्वस्य वाघतः ॥१३॥
तमु त्वा दध्यङ्ङृषिः पुत्र ईधे अथर्वणः । वृत्रहणं पुरन्दरम् ॥१४॥
तमु त्वा पाथ्यो वृषा समीधे दस्युहन्तमम् । धनंजयं रणेरणे ॥१५॥

tám tvā samídbhir aṅgiro ghriténa vardhayāmasi | briháe chocā yavishṭhya || 11 || sá naḥ prithú ṣravā́yyam áchā deva vivāsasi | brihád agne suvíryam || 12 || tvám agne púshkarad ádhy átharvā nír amanthata | mūrdhnó víṣvasya vāghátaḥ || 13 || tám u tvā dadhyáññ ríshiḥ putrá īdhe átharvaṇaḥ | vritrahánam puraṃdarám || 14 || tám u tvā pāthyó vríshā sám īdhe dasyuhántamam | dhanaṃjayáṃ ráṇe-raṇe || 15 || 23 ||

O adorable Lord, ever a help to people, the bearer of offerings to Nature's bounties, as if by your own mouth, the most wise and the liberal giver, may you cherish the godly people by your blessings. 9

Having been praised by us, come O adorable Lord, to bless the dedicated devotee with prosperity. May you be seated in our innermost heart, O liberal giver. 10

O vital Lord, we augment your glory with fuel of austerity and oil of love. May your glory blaze high, O ever-young Lord. 11

O adorable Lord, verily bestow upon us extensive, respectful and great heroic vigour. 12

O fire-divine, after deep meditation and attrition, the resolute seeker has discovered you out from the lotus-leaf-like interspace, which is the head and the support of universe. 13

The thoughtful seers, and the resolute discoverers kindle your glory, O fire-divine, the destroyer of the formidable evils. 14

The virtuous sage, the showerer, kindles you, the destroyer of evil forces on the occasion of each and every struggle to win prosperity. 15

॥२४॥ एह्यू षु ब्रवाणि तेऽग्न इत्थेतरा गिरः । एभिर्वर्धास इन्दुभिः ॥१६॥
यत्र क्व च ते मनो दक्षं दधस उत्तरम् । तत्रा सदः कृणवसे ॥१७॥
नहि ते पूर्तमक्षिपद्भुवन्नेमानां वसो । अथा दुवो वनवसे ॥१८॥
आग्निरगामि भारतो वृत्रहा पुरुचेतनः । दिवोदासस्य सत्पतिः ॥१९॥

éhy ū shú brávāṇi té 'gna itthétarā gíraḥ | ebhír vardhāsa índubhiḥ || 16 || yátra kvà ca te máno dáksham dadhasa úttaram | tátrā sádaḥ kriṇavase || 17 || nahí te pūrtám akshipád bhúvan nemānām vaso | áthā dúvo vanavase || 18 || ágnír agāmi bhárato vritrahá purucétanaḥ | dívodāsasya sátpatiḥ || 19 ||

स हि विश्वाति पार्थिवा रयिं दाशन्महित्वना । वन्वन्नवातो अस्तृतः ॥२०॥
॥२५॥ स प्रत्नवन्नवीयसाग्ने द्युम्नेन संयता । बृहत्ततन्थ भानुना ॥२१॥
प्र वः सखायो अग्नये स्तोमं यज्ञं च धृष्णुया । अर्च गाय च वेधसे ॥२२॥
स हि यो मानुषा युगा सीदद्धोता कविक्रतुः । दूतश्च हव्यवाहनः ॥२३॥
ता राजाना शुचिव्रतादित्यान्मारुतं गणम् । वसो यक्षीह रोदसी ॥२४॥

sá hí víṣvāti pắrthivā rayím dắṣan mahitvanắ | vanvánn ávāto ástritaḥ || 20 || 24 ||

sá pratnaván návīyasâgne dyumnéna saṃyátā | brihát tatantha bhānúnā || 21 || prá vaḥ sakhāyo agnáye stómam yajñám ca dhrishṇuyắ | árca gắya ca vedháse || 22 || sá hí yó mánushā yugắ sídad dhótā kavíkratuḥ | dūtáṣ ca havyavắhanaḥ || 23 || tắ rắjānā ṣúcivratâdityắn mārutam gaṇám | váso yákshīhá ródasī || 24 ||

O adorable Lord, may you be with us. We shall augment you with drops of divine love. 16

Where-so-ever and upon what-so-ever your kindness is directed, you make him eminent, and give uncommon vigour, and in his heart you make your own abode. 17

Let not the blaze of your full glory be distressing to the eye, O the giver of dwellings to your humble votaries; may you be pleased to accept our services. 18

Adorable Lord, the sustainer of all, the destroyer of the enemies of enlightened, the cognizant of all and the benign protector of people's servants, has been invoked hither by our praises. 19

Surpassing all earthly things, may He, unresisted and unassailed, destroy our enemies by His greatness, and bestow prosperity on us. 20

O adorable Lord, you have overspread this vast firmament with radiant concentrated lustre, always fresh and new. 21

May you sing praises, and offer worship, my friends, to the foe-discomfiting supreme adorable creator. 22

May the adorable Lord, the eternal invoker of Nature's bounties, the doer of wise deeds, the messenger of divine powers, and bearer of oblations, be with us as ever, whilst we perform selfless acts. 23

May you honour on this occasion the two regal divinities (the light and bliss or the sun and the ocean), the numerous suns, the company of vital winds, also heaven and earth. 24

वस्वी ते अग्ने संदृष्टिरिषयते मर्त्याय । ऊर्जो नपादमृतस्य ॥२५॥

॥२६॥ क्रत्वा दा अस्तु श्रेष्ठोऽद्य त्वा वन्वन्त्सुरेक्णाः । मर्त आनाश सुवृक्तिम् ॥२६॥

ते ते अग्ने त्वोता इषयन्तो विश्वमायुः ।
तरन्तो अर्यो अरातीर्वन्वन्तो अर्यो अरातीः ॥२७॥

अग्निस्तिग्मेन शोचिषा यासद्विश्वं न्यत्रिणम् । अग्निर्नो वनते रयिम् ॥२८॥

सुवीरं रयिमा भर जातवेदो विचर्षणे । जहि रक्षांसि सुक्रतो ॥२९॥

त्वं नः पाह्यंहसो जातवेदो अघायतः । रक्षा णो ब्रह्मणस्कवे ॥३०॥

vásvī te agne sáṃdrishṭir ishayaté mártyāya | ū́rjo napād amṛ́tasya || 25 || 25 ||

krátvā dā́ astu ṣréshṭho 'dyá tvā vanván surékṇāḥ | márta ānāṣa suvṛiktím || 26 || té te agne tvótā isháyanto víṣvam ā́yuḥ | táranto aryó árātīr vanvánto aryó árātīḥ || 27 || agnís tigména ṣocíshā yā́sad víṣvaṃ ny àtríṇam | agnír no vanate rayím || 28 || suvī́raṃ rayím ā́ bhara jā́tavedo vícarshaṇe | jahí rákshā́ṅsi sukrato || 29 || tváṃ naḥ pāhy áṅhaso jā́tavedo aghāyatáḥ | rákshā ṇo brahmaṇas kave || 30 || 26 ||

॥२७॥ यो नो अग्ने दुरेव आ मर्तो वधाय दाशति । तस्मान्नः पाह्यंहसः ॥३१॥

त्वं तं देव जिह्वया परि बाधस्व दुष्कृतम् । मर्तो यो नो जिघांसति ॥३२॥

भरद्वाजाय सप्रथः शर्म यच्छ सहन्त्य । अग्ने वरेण्यं वसु ॥३३॥

yó no agne durévа ā́ márto vadhā́ya dā́ṣati | tásmān naḥ pāhy áṅhasaḥ || 31 || tvám táṃ deva jihváyā pári bādhasva dushkṛ́tam | márto yó no jíghāṅsati || 32 || bharádvājāya sapráthaḥ ṣárma yacha sahantya | ágne vāreṇyaṃ vásu || 33 ||

O source of strength, The immortal adorable Lord, may your glorious radiance bestow food upon your mortal worshipper. 25

May the donor of the oblation, propitiating you by his acts today be exalted, and rendered very opulent: may such mortal be diligent in your praise. 26

O adorable Lord, may they who are protected by you, and who wish for themselves the whole term of life, fight down the malice of the foe and overcome the hostile assailants. 27

May the Lord, with His sharp flame, cast down each destructive devourer; may He grant us precious treasures. 28

O all-knowing, all-wise sage, bring us wealth with good posterity. O performer of benevolent deeds, destroy the demoniac forces. 29

Preserve us, O omniscient Lord, from sin; O poet of the divine verses, protect us from the malevolent. 30

O Lord, may you defend us from sin, and the malevolent mortal, who threatens us with murderous weapon. 31

O fire-divine, may you drive from us with your flame that evil doer, the mortal who seeks to kill us. 32

O subduer of adversaries, grant infinite happiness and most agreeable wealth to the person who uses his riches for the service of others. 33

अग्निर्वृत्राणि जङ्घनद्द्रविणस्युर्विपन्यया । समिद्धः शुक्र आहुतः ॥३४॥
गर्भे मातुः पितुष्पिता विदिद्युतानो अक्षरे । सीदन्नृतस्य योनिमा ॥३५॥

॥२७॥ ब्रह्म प्रजावदा भर जातवेदो विचर्षणे । अग्ने यद्दीदयद्दिवि ॥३६॥
उप त्वा रण्वसंदृशं प्रयस्वन्तः सहस्कृत । अग्ने ससृज्महे गिरः ॥३७॥
उप च्छायामिव घृणेरगन्म शर्म ते वयम् । अग्ने हिरण्यसंदृशः ॥३८॥

agnír vritrā́ṇi jaṅghanad draviṇasyúr vipanyáyā | sámiddhaḥ sukrá áhutaḥ || 34 || gárbhe mātúḥ pitúsh pitā́ vididyutānó akshárc | sídann ritásya yónim á || 35 || 27 ||

bráhma prajávad á bhara jātavedo vícarshaṇe | ágne yád dīdáyat diví || 36 || úpa tvā raṇvásaṃdrisam práyasvantaḥ sahaskrita | ágne sasrijmáhe gíraḥ || 37 || úpa chāyám iva ghríṇer áganma sárma te vayám | ágne híraṇyasaṃdrisaḥ || 38 ||

य उग्र इव शर्यहा तिग्मशृङ्गो न वंसगः । अग्ने पुरो रुरोजिथ ॥३९॥
आ यं हस्ते न खादिनं शिशुं जातं न बिभ्रति । विशामग्निं स्वध्वरं ॥४०॥

॥२८॥ प्र देवं देववीतये भरता वसुवित्तमम् । आ स्वे योनौ नि षीदतु ॥४१॥
आ जातं जातवेदसि प्रियं शिशीतातिथिम् । स्योन आ गृहपतिम् ॥४२॥

yá ugrá iva sarvahá tigmásringo ná váṃsagaḥ | ágne púro rurójitha || 39 || á yáṃ háste ná khādínaṃ síśuṃ jātáṃ ná bíbhrati | visám agníṃ svadhvarám || 40 || 28 ||

prá deváṃ devávītaye bhárata vasuvíttamam | á své yónau ní shīdatu || 41 || á jātám jātávedasi priyáṃ sisītátithim | syoná á grihápatim || 42 ||

May radiant, adorable Lord, glorified by virtuous actions of devotees, propitiated by praise, and served with dedication, destroy all adversaries. 34

He is radiant in the embryo of maternal (earth), also on the imperishable altar, and is the cherisher of the paternal heaven. He is always present with us in an inner conscience, the seat of holy law. 35

O omniscient Lord, all-beholder, bring to us food and progeny, such nourishing elements, as may shine to heaven. 36

O resplendent fire-divine, offering readily inflammable, food. We enkindle you from time to time by our prayers. 37

O resplendent Lord, glittering like gold, we come to you for shelter, as men seek shade, to avoid scorching heat. 38

O adorable Lord, you are like a fierce archer, or like a sharp-horned bull, capable of breaking the forts of evils. 39

May we worship adorable Lord, whom priests bear in their arms like an infant, newly-born babe; He is the consumer of holy offerings of men. 40

May you enshrine the divine Lord, the bestower of infinite wealth, to receive the favour of Nature's bounties. Let Him be seated in the chamber of your heart, His appropriate seat. 41

May you welcome Him like a beloved guest as soon as He is revealed and enshrine the Lord, the head of the family as if, in the soft corner of your heart. 42

अग्ने युक्ष्वा हि ये तवाश्वासो देव साधवः । अरं वहन्ति मन्यवे ॥४३॥
अच्छा नो याह्या वहाभि प्रयांसि वीतये । आ देवान्त्सोमपीतये ॥४४॥
उदग्ने भारत द्युमदजस्रेण दविद्युतत् । शोचा वि भाह्यजर ॥४५॥

ágne yukshvá hí yé távāsvaso deva sādhávaḥ | áram váhanti manyáve || 43 || ácha no yāhy á vahābhí práyāṅsi vītáye | á deván sómapītaye || 44 || úd agne bhārata dyumád ájasreṇa dávidyutat | ṣócā ví bhāhy ajara || 45 || 29 ||

॥३०॥ वीती यो देवं मर्तो दुवस्येदग्निमीळीताध्वरे हविष्मान् ।
होतारं सत्ययजं रोदस्योरुत्तानहस्तो नमसा विवासेत ॥४६॥
आ ते अग्न ऋचा हविर्हृदा तष्टं भरामसि ।
ते ते भवन्तूक्षण ऋषभासो वशा उत ॥४७॥
अग्निं देवासो अग्रियमिन्धते वृत्रहन्तमम् ।
येना वसून्याभृता तृळ्हा रक्षांसि वाजिना ॥४८॥

vītí yó devám márto duvasyéd agním īḷītādhvaré havíshmān | hótāram satyayájam ródasyor uttānáhasto námasā́ vivāset || 46 || á te agna ṛicá havír hṛidā́ tashṭám bharāmasi | té te bhavantūkshána ṛishabháso vaṣā́ utá || 47 || agním deváso agriyám indhate vṛitrahántamam | yénā vásūny ábhṛitā tṛiḷhá rákshāṅsi vājínā || 48 || 30 ||

Harness, O divine Lord, your well-trained vital forces, who bear you quickly to our benevolent desired ends. 43

Come, O Lord, towards us and bring along with you the divine powers, for participation and enjoyment. 44

Blaze up, O Lord, bearer of homage. May you shine undecaying, O radiant Lord; shine with undecaying lustre. 45

Who-so-ever offers homage to any of the powers, let him at his ceremony worship with uplifted hands the adorable Lord, the invoker of heaven and earth, the performer of the sacrifice with the oblations of truth. 46

We offer to you, O Lord, the homage issuing forth from our hearts, and transmitted in the words of the Vedic verses. May the virile bulls, bullocks and cows be dear to you as your own. 47

The enlightened devotees kindle fire-divine, the prime inspirer, the one who dispels the clouds of ignorance, reprocures for us the lost wisdom and destroys evil tendencies. 48

(१७) सप्तदशं सूक्तम्

(१–१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१–१४) प्रथमादिचतुर्दशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्च द्विपदा त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥ हरिः ॐ ॥

॥१॥ पिबा सोममभि यमुग्र तर्द ऊर्वं गव्यं महि गृणान इन्द्र ।
वि यो धृष्णो वधिषो वज्रहस्त विश्वा वृत्रममित्रिया शवोभिः ॥१॥
स ईं पाहि य ऋजीषी तरुत्रो यः शिप्रवान्वृषभो यो मतीनाम् ।
यो गोत्रभिद्वज्रभृद्यो हरिष्ठाः स इन्द्र चित्राँ अभि तृन्धि वाजान् ॥२॥
एवा पाहि प्रत्नथा मन्दतु त्वा श्रुधि ब्रह्म वावृधस्वोत गीर्भिः ।
आविः सूर्यं कृणुहि पीपिहीषो जहि शत्रूँरभि गा इन्द्र तृन्धि ॥३॥

17.

Píbā sómam abhí yám ugra tárda ūrvám gávyam máhi griṇāná indra | ví yó dhrishṇo vádhisho vajrahasta víṣvā vritrám amitríyā ṣávobhiḥ || 1 || sá īm pāhi yá rijīshí tárutro yáḥ ṣípravān vrishabhó yó matīnám | yó gotrabhíd vajrabhríd yó harishṭhāḥ sá indra citrán abhí trindhi vájān || 2 || evá pāhi pratnáthā mandatu tvā ṣrudhí bráhma vāvridhásvotá gīrbhíḥ | āvíḥ sūryam kriṇuhí pīpihísho jahí ṣátrūnr abhí gá indra trindhi || 3 ||

ते त्वा मदा बृहदिन्द्र स्वधाव इमे पीता उक्षयन्त द्युमन्तम् ।
महामनूनं तवसं विभूतिं मत्सरासो जर्हृषन्त प्रसाहम् ॥४॥
येभिः सूर्यमुषसं मन्दसानोऽवासयोऽप दृळ्हानि दर्द्रत् ।
महामद्रिं परि गा इन्द्र सन्तं नुत्था अच्युतं सदसस्परि स्वात् ॥५॥

té tvā mádā brihád indra svadhāva imé pītá ukshayanta dyumántam | mahám ánūnam tavásam víbhūtim matsaráso jarhrishanta prasáham || 4 || yébhiḥ sūryam ushásam mandasānó 'vāsayó 'pa driḷháni dárdrat | mahám ádrim pári gá indra sántam nutthá ácyutam sádasas pári svát || 5 || 1 ||

17

O powerful resplendent self, be delighted by the draught of spiritual joy, inspired by which, you restore the lost treasure of knowledge, and subdue evil tendencies. O possessor of adamantine will power, you overcome the devil of ignorance and all obstructive forces. 1

Cherish, O innerself, the preserver, the possessor of beautiful form, the showerer of blessings on those who praise you; the breaker of formidable obstructions, the user of adamantine will power and the controller of sense organs. May you relish our spiritual joy and bestow upon us all sorts of nourishment. 2

Drink it as of old, and may it exhilarate you. Hear our prayer, and be exalted by our praises; make the sun of spiritual radiance visible; provide us nourishment, and destroy our enemies, and restore the subdued wisdom. 3

Abounding in knowledge, O resplendent soul, let these exhilarating experiences inspire you exceedingly. O mighty one, let the inebriating joy delight you, who are deficient in no way and are powerful, manifold, and the overcomer of evil forces. 4

O innerself, through the exhilaration of this spiritual joy, you have given splendour to the sun and the dawn, in order to drive away the gloom of ignorance. Your light penetrates the rocks of formidable obstructions, which have concealed the true knowledge. 5

॥२॥ तव॒ क्रत्वा॒ तव॒ तद्दंसना॑भिरा॒मासु॑ प॒क्वं शच्या॒ नि दी॑धः ।
औ॑र्णो॒र्दुर॑ उ॒स्रिया॑भ्यो॒ वि दृ॒ळ्होदू॒र्वाद्गा अ॑सृजो॒ अङ्गि॑रस्वान् ॥६॥

प॒प्राथ॒ क्षां महि॒ दंसो॒ व्यु१॒॑र्वीमुप॒ द्यामृ॒ष्वो बृ॒हदि॑न्द्र स्तभायः ।
अधा॑रयो॒ रोद॑सी दे॒वपु॑त्रे प्र॒त्ने मा॒तरा॑ य॒ह्वी ऋ॒तस्य॑ ॥७॥
अध॑ त्वा॒ विश्वे॑ पु॒र इ॑न्द्र दे॒वा एकं॑ त॒वसं॑ दधिरे॒ भरा॑य ।
अदे॑वो॒ यद॒भ्यौहि॑ष्ट दे॒वान्त्स्व॑र्षाता वृणत॒ इन्द्र॒मत्र॑ ॥८॥

táva krátvā táva tád daṅsánābhir āmā́su pakvám̐ śácyā ní dīdhaḥ | aúrṇor dúra usríyābhyo ví dṛiḷhód ūrvā́d gā́ asṛijo ā́ṅgirasvān || 6 || paprā́tha kshā́m máhi dáṅso vy ùrvī́m úpa dyā́m ṛishvó bṛihád indra stabhāyaḥ | ádhārayo ródasī devápūtre pratné mātárā yahvī́ ṛitásya || 7 || ádha tvā víśve purá indra devā́ ékam̐ tavásam̐ dadhire bhárāya | ádevo yád abhy aúhishṭa devā́n svàrshātā vṛiṇata índram átra || 8 ||

अध॒ द्यौश्चि॑त्ते॒ अप॒ सा नु वज्रा॑द्द्वि॒ताऽन॑मद्भि॒यसा॒ स्वस्य॑ म॒न्योः ।
अहिं॒ यदिन्द्रो॑ अ॒भ्योह॑सा॒नं नि चि॑द्वि॒श्वायुः॑ श॒यथे॑ ज॒घान॑ ॥९॥
अध॒ त्वष्टा॑ ते म॒ह उ॑ग्र॒ वज्रं॑ स॒हस्र॑भृष्टिं ववृ॒तच्छ॒ताश्रि॑म् ।
निका॑मम॒रम॑णसं॒ येन॒ नव॑न्त॒महिं॒ सं पि॑ण॒गृजी॑षिन् ॥१०॥

ádha dyaúś cit te ápa sā́ nú vájrād dvitā́namad bhiyásā svásya manyóḥ | áhim̐ yád índro abhy óhasānam̐ ní cid viśvā́yuḥ śayáthe jaghā́na || 9 || ádha tváshṭā te mahá ugra vájram̐ sahásrabhṛishṭim̐ vavṛitac chatā́śrim | níkāmam arámaṇasam̐ yéna návantam áhim̐ sám piṇag ṛijīshin || 10 || 2 ||

By your wisdom, by your deeds, through your power, you develop the mature wisdom in the immature mind, you open the strong doors for fresh thinking. Associated with vital energies of body, you liberate thoughts from their bondage. 6

O soul, you have filled the whole body with your functions. You the superior, has given support to the activity of mind. You sustain the body and mind both, whose children are the sense organs and who are the old and mighty parents of sacrifice of our physical existence. 7

All the senses accept you, O inner-self, as their mighty chief for fighting life's battle in front. When impious vices assail the senses, the vital complex of body gives support to the inner-self in the conflict of life. 8

When the inner-self the giver of strength, strikes the assailing dragon of vices, the mind bows down in the two-fold dread of your resolute will power, and your personal wrath. 9

Mighty inner-self, the architect of universe, constructs for you the spiritual weapon, which is like a thousand edged, the hundred-angled thunderbolt, wherewith you crush the ambitious, audacious, loud-shouting dragon of ignorance. 10

॥३॥

वर्धान्यं विश्वे मरुतः सजोषाः पचच्छतं महिषाँ इन्द्र तुभ्यम् ।
पूषा विष्णुस्त्रीणि सरांसि धावन्वृत्रहणं मदिरमंशुमस्मै ॥११॥
आ क्षोदो महि वृतं नदीनां परिष्ठितमसृज ऊर्मिमपाम् ।
तासामनु प्रवत इन्द्र पन्थां प्रार्दयो नीचीरपसः समुद्रम् ॥१२॥
एवा ता विश्वा चकृवांसमिन्द्रं महामुग्रमजुर्यं सहोदाम् ।
सुवीरं त्वा स्वायुधं सुवज्रमा ब्रह्म नव्यमवसे ववृत्यात् ॥१३॥

várdhān yáṃ víṣve marútaḥ sajóshāḥ pácac chatáṃ mahishā́ñ indra túbhyam | pūshā́ víshṇus trī́ṇi sárāñsi dhāvan vṛitrahánam madirám añṣúm asmai || 11 || ā́ kshódo máhi vṛitáṃ nadī́nām párishṭhitam asṛija ūrmím apā́m | tā́sām ánu praváta indra pánthām prā́rdayo nī́cīr apásaḥ samudrám || 12 || evā́ tā́ víṣvā cakṛivā́ñsam índram mahā́m ugrám ajuryáṃ sahodā́m | suvī́raṃ tvā svāyudháṃ suvájram ā́ bráhma návyam ávase vavṛityāt || 13 ||

स नो वाजाय श्रवस इषे च राये धेहि द्युमत इन्द्र विप्रान् ।
भरद्वाजे नृवत इन्द्र सूरीन्दिवि च स्मैधि पार्ये न इन्द्र ॥१४॥
अया वाजं देवहितं सनेम मदेम शतहिमाः सुवीराः ॥१५॥

sá no vā́jāya ṣrávasa ishé ca rāyé dhehi dyumáta indra víprān | bharádvāje nṛiváta indra sūrī́n diví ca smaidhi pā́rye na indra || 14 || ayā́ vā́jaṃ deváhitaṃ sanema mádema ṣatáhimāḥ suvī́rāḥ || 15 || 3 ||

O inner-self, all the vital faculties of human body, with one accord, exalt you. Hundreds of great gifts are provided to you by the all pervading and all sustaining vital breaths. May the three joy-giving streams of nectar flow to him for exhilaration and cure. 11

You set free the rushing channels of thoughts, the arrested and flooded ones. You direct them to their downward paths; you send them rapidly down to the ocean. 12

O inner-self, you are the source of all these faculties, you are mighty, formidable, undecaying, and the giver of strength; you are brave and well-armed, the bearer of resolute will-power; may our new prayer bring you to our protection. 13

May you, O resplendent Lord, uphold us, the devout, for the sake of food, for sustenance, for nourishment, for wealth; bestow upon the wise devotees pious posterity, with numerous attendants; be with us, O inner-self, on the day of trial. 14

May we, by this prayer, obtain food by your grace; may we, blessed with excellent progeny, be happy for a hundred winters. 15

(१८) अष्टादशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ तमु ष्टुहि यो अभिभूत्योजा वन्वन्नवातः पुरुहूत इन्द्रः ।
अषाळ्हमुग्रं सहमानमाभिर्गीर्भिर्वर्ध वृषभं चर्षणीनाम् ॥१॥
स युध्मः सत्वा खजकृत्समद्वा तुविम्रक्षो नदनुमाँ ऋजीषी ।
बृहद्रेणुश्च्यवनो मानुषीणामेकः कृष्टीनामभवत्सहावा ॥२॥
त्वं ह नु त्यददमायो दस्यूँरेकः कृष्टीरवनोरार्याय ।
अस्ति स्विन्नु वीर्यं तत्त इन्द्र न स्विदस्ति तदृतुथा वि वोचः ॥३॥

18.

Tám u shṭuhi yó abhíbhūtyojā vanvánn ávātaḥ puruhūtá índraḥ | áshāḷham ugrám sáhamānam ābhír gīrbhír vardha vrishabhám carshaṇīnám || 1 || sá yudhmáḥ sátvā khajakrít samádvā tuvimrakshó nadanumā́ñ rijīshī́ | bribád-reṇuś cyávano mā́nushīṇām ékaḥ krishṭīnā́m abhavat sahā́vā || 2 || tvám ha nú tyád adamāyo dásyūñr ékaḥ krishṭír avanor ā́ryāya | ásti svin nú vīryàm tát ta indra ná svid asti tád rituthā́ ví vocaḥ || 3 ||

सदिद्धि ते तुविजातस्य मन्ये सहः सहिष्ठ तुरतस्तुरस्य ।
उग्रमुग्रस्य तवसस्तवीयोऽरध्रस्य रध्रतुरो बभूव ॥४॥
तन्नः प्रत्नं सख्यमस्तु युष्मे इत्था वदद्भिर्वलमङ्गिरोभिः ।
हन्नच्युतच्युद्दस्मेषयन्तमृणोः पुरो वि दुरो अस्य विश्वाः ॥५॥

sád íd dhí te tuvijātásya mánye sáhaḥ sahishṭha turatás turásya | ugrám ugrásya tavásas távīyó 'radhrasya radhratúro babhūva || 4 || tán naḥ pratnám sakhyám astu yushmé itthā́ vádadbhir valám áṅgirobhiḥ | hánn acyutacyud dasmesháyantam riṇóḥ púro ví dúro asya víśvāḥ || 5 || 4 ||

18

May you adore the resplendent Lord, who is invoked by many, is formidable in vigour, the destroyer of enemies and unharmed by foes and magnify His glory through these hymns. He is the one, whose laws cannot be transcended and who is strong, victorious and showerer of benefits on mankind. 1

He is ever the combatant, heroic, impartial, sympathetic, loud-voiced, benefactor of everyone, straight forward, The one who whirls up the dust high, sympathiser and the sole protector of human race. 2

O Lord, you are the one who alone dominates over the evil, subdues the vicious forces and rescues virtuous men. Is this or is it not your accomplishments O Lord? If it be not, then declare it now, without reservation. 3

O powerful, resplendent Lord, I believe that this power is always within you, which is manifest in your benevolent deeds. You are the enemy of the animosity; you are strong of the strong, most mighty of the mighty and conquerer of the apparently unassailable evil. 4

May our eternal bond of friendship with you and vital forces endowed with strength be determined. O wondrous, the caster down of firm rocks of darkness, may you destroy the fresh strongholds of evils and force open the cities and all the gates. 5

स हि धीभिर्हव्यो अस्त्युग्र ईशानकृन्महति वृत्रतूर्ये ।
स तोकसाता तनये स वज्री वितन्तसाय्यो अभवत्समत्सु ॥६॥
स मज्मना जनिम मानुषाणाममर्त्येन नाम्नाति प्र सर्स्रे ।
स द्युम्नेन स शवसोत राया स वीर्येण नृतमः समोकाः ॥७॥

sá hí dhībhír hávyo ásti ugrá īṣānakrín mahatí vritratū́rye | sá tokásātā́ tánaye sá vajrí vitantasā́yyo abhavat samátsu || 6 || sá majmánā jánima mā́nushāṇām ámartyena nā́mnáti prá sarsre | sá dyumnéna sá ṣávasotá rāyā́ sá vīryèṇa nrítamaḥ sámokāḥ || 7 ||

स यो न मुहे न मिथू जनो भूत्सुमन्तुनामा चुमुरिं धुनिं च ।
वृणक्पिप्रुं शम्बरं शुष्णमिन्द्रः पुरां च्यौत्नाय शयथाय नू चित् ॥८॥
उदावता त्वक्षसा पन्यसा च वृत्रहत्याय रथमिन्द्र तिष्ठ ।
धिष्व वज्रं हस्त आ दक्षिणत्राभि प्र मन्द पुरुदत्र मायाः ॥९॥
अग्निर्न शुष्कं वनमिन्द्र हेती रक्षो नि धक्ष्यशनिर्न भीमा ।
गम्भीरय ऋष्वया यो रुरोजाध्वानयद्दुरिता दम्भयच्च ॥१०॥

sá yó ná muhé ná míthū jáno bhū́t sumántunāmā cúmurim dhúnim ca | vriṇák píprum ṣámbaram ṣúshṇam índraḥ purā́m cyautnā́ya ṣayáthāya nū́ cit || 8 || udā́vatā tvákshasā pányasā ca vritrahátyāya rátham indra tishṭha | dhishvá vájram hásta ā́ dakshiṇatrā́bhí prá manda purudatra māyā́ḥ || 9 || agnír ná ṣúshkam vánam indra hetī́ rákshho ní dhakshy aṣánir ná bhīmā́ | gambhīráya rishváyā yó ruróјādhvānayad duritā́ dambháyac ca || 10 || 5 ||

He the supreme Lord is to be invoked through these sacred hymns, while He shows His strength in conquering evil forces. He has adamantine will power to wield, and is the one who is to be glorified in conflicts for the sake of sons and grandsons. 6

He with His immortal, foe-humiliating might promote the capacity of all human generations to multiply. He, the chief-leader, dwells in the universe with splendour, with glory, valour and riches. 7

The supreme Lord destroys those who are greedy, proud, selfish, cruel, violent and suckers. He is strong enough to crush the guile; he never goes astray, and is never false. He promptly exerts to over-throw the castles of evils. 8

O resplendent Lord, may you with your praiseworthy and laudable might, ascend your chariot to destroy the devil of ignorance. In your right hand, you hold fast the formidable punitive justice and shatter delusions around us. 9

O resplendent Lord, your fearful adamantine bolt of justice burns to ashes all ill-tendencies, in like manner as fire consumes dry trees. With your great, resistless and mighty power, you destroy all evil passions. 10

॥६॥

आ सहस्रं पथिभिरिन्द्र राया तुविद्युम्न तुविवाजेभिरर्वाक् ।
याहि सूनो सहसो यस्य नू चिददेव ईशे पुरुहूत योतोः ॥११॥
प्र तुविद्युम्नस्य स्थविरस्य घृष्वेर्दिवो ररप्शे महिमा पृथिव्याः ।
नास्य शत्रुर्न प्रतिमानमस्ति न प्रतिष्ठिः पुरुमायस्य सह्योः ॥१२॥

á sahásram pathíbhir indra rāyā́ túvidyumna tuvivā́jebhir arvā́k | yāhí sūno sahaso yásya nū́ cid ádeva ī́ṣe puruhūta yótoḥ || 11 || prá tuvidyumnásya sthávirasya ghṛ́shver divó rarapṣe mahimā́ pṛithivyā́ḥ | nā́sya ṣátrur ná pratimā́nam asti ná pratishṭhíḥ purumāyásya sáhyoḥ || 12 ||

प्र तत्ते अद्या करणं कृतं भूत्कुत्सं यदायुमतिथिग्वमस्मै ।
पुरू सहस्रा नि शिशा अभि क्षामुत्तूर्वयाणं धृषता निनेथ ॥१३॥
अनु त्वाहिघ्ने अध देव देवा मदन्विश्वे कवितमं कवीनाम् ।
करो यत्र वरिवो बाधिताय दिवे जनाय तन्वे गृणानः ॥१४॥
अनु द्यावापृथिवी तत्त ओजोऽमर्त्या जिहत इन्द्र देवाः ।
कृष्वा कृत्नो अकृतं यत्ते अस्त्युक्थं नवीयो जनयस्व यज्ञैः ॥१५॥

prá tát te adyā́ káraṇaṃ kṛitám bhūt kútsaṃ yád āyúm atithigvám asmai | purū́ sahásrā ní ṣiṣā abhí kshā́m út tū́rvayāṇaṃ dhṛishatā́ ninetha || 13 || ánu tvā́highne ádha deva devā́ mádan víṣve kavítamaṃ kavīnā́m | káro yátra várivo bādhitā́ya divé jánāya tanvè gṛiṇānáḥ || 14 || ánu dyā́vāpṛithivī́ tát ta ójó 'martyā jihata indra devā́ḥ | kṛishvā́ kṛitno ákṛitaṃ yát te ásty ukthám návīyo janayasva yajñaíḥ || 15 || 6 ||

O most opulent resplendent Lord, source of strength, invoked by all, may you come here by thousand paths, bestowing thousands of riches; no demoniac power is able to keep you at a distance. 11

The vastness of this opulent ancient, the demolisher, exceeds that of the heaven and earth. There is no opponent, no counterpart, no rival to Him, the victorious one, abounding in wisdom. 12

The blessings, you bring for the men of intuitive knowledge, men of perseverance and the renounced persons are being celebrated today and you have granted many thousands of gifts to them and you quickly elevate the most rapid and active devotee over the earth by your power. 13

O resplendent Lord, the wisest of the wise, all enlightened sages have glorified you since you destroy the devil of ignorance, deadly as serpent. When propitiated, you liberally give wealth to the distressed worshipper and happiness to his people. 14

O resplendent Lord, all immortal powers of the heaven and the earth acknowledge your might. O doer of many deeds, now may you accomplish that which is left undone so far. May you give us a new hymn to be sung at your worship. 15

(१९) एकोनविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ महाँ इन्द्रो नृवदा चर्षणिप्रा उत द्विबर्हा अमिनः सहोभिः ।
अस्मद्र्यग्वावृधे वीर्यायोरुः पृथुः सुकृतः कर्तृभिर्भूत् ॥१॥
इन्द्रमेव धिषणा सातये धाद्बृहन्तमृष्वमजरं युवानम् ।
अषाळ्हेन शवसा शूशुवांसं सद्यश्चिद्यो वावृधे असामि ॥२॥

19.

Mahán índro nriváḍ á carshaniprá utá dvibárhā amináḥ sáhobhiḥ | asmadryàg vāvridhe vīryàyorúḥ prithúḥ súkritaḥ kartríbhir bhūt || 1 || índram evá dhishánā sātáye dhād brihántam rishvám ajáram yúvānam | áshāḷhena ṣávasā ṣūṣuvánsam sadyáṣ cid yó vāvridhé ásāmi || 2 ||

पृथू करस्ना बहुला गभस्ती अस्मद्र्यक्सं मिमीहि श्रवांसि ।
यूथेव पश्वः पशुपा दमूना अस्माँ इन्द्राभ्या ववृत्स्वाजौ ॥३॥
तं व इन्द्रं चतिनमस्य शाकैरिह नूनं वाजयन्तो हुवेम ।
यथा चित्पूर्वे जरितार आसुरनेद्या अनवद्या अरिष्टाः ॥४॥
धृतव्रतो धनदाः सोमवृद्धः स हि वामस्य वसुनः पुरुक्षुः ।
सं जग्मिरे पथ्या रायो अस्मिन्त्समुद्रे न सिन्धवो यादमानाः ॥५॥

prithú karásnā bahulá gábhastī asmadryàk sám mimīhi ṣrávānsi | yūthéva paṣváḥ paṣupá dámūnā asmán indrābhy á vavritsvājaú || 3 || tám va índram catínam asya ṣākair ihá nūnám vājayánto huvema | yáthā cit púrve jaritára āsúr ánedyā anavadyá árishṭāḥ || 4 || dhritávrato dhanadáḥ sómavriddhaḥ sá hí vāmásya vásunaḥ purukshúḥ | sám jagmire pathyà ráyo asmin samudré ná síndhavo yádamānāḥ || 5 || 7

19

May the great resplendent Lord, who is divine as an emperor, come here; may He who is Lord of the two regions, uninjurable by efforts, increase for heroism in our presence. May He who is of great personality and eminent in quality be greeted by the performers of pious acts. 1

Our prayer inspires the resplendent Lord to shower on us ample gifts. Born with broad-mindedness, full of inspirations, ageless, undecaying and endowed with unsurpassable power, He reaches the apex of His glory within no time. 2

O resplendent, extend your great resolute and youthful philanthropic hands to provide us with glory and food, and guide us through the conflicts of life as a cowherd steers his cattle. 3

Now for the gain of strength, we invoke you, the renowned resplendent Lord, on this occasion, who, along with His allies, is the destroyer of enemies. May we, desirous of wealth and food, become free from all blames, irreproachable and uninjured, as those who have been singing of old His praises. 4

He is resolute in His duties, full of ecstasy and joy, giver of wealth and wisdom, possessor of boundless food to feed us. All paths, that lead to riches, unite in Him, like rivers flowing into the ocean. 5

॥८॥ शविष्ठं न आ भर शूर शव ओजिष्ठमोजो अभिभूत उग्रम् ।
विश्वा द्युम्ना वृष्ण्या मानुषाणामस्मभ्यं दा हरिवो मादयध्यै ॥६॥
यस्ते मदः पृतनाषाळमृध्र इन्द्र तं न आ भर शूशुवांसम् ।
येन तोकस्य तनयस्य सातौ मंसीमहि जिगीवांसस्त्वोताः ॥७॥
आ नो भर वृषणं शुष्ममिन्द्र धनस्पृतं शूशुवांसं सुदक्षम् ।
येन वंसाम पृतनासु शत्रून्तवोतिभिरुत जामीँरजामीन् ॥८॥

ṣávishṭhaṃ na á bhara ṣūra ṣáva ójishṭham ójo abhibhūta ugrám | víṣvā dyumná vríshṇyā mánushāṇām asmabhyaṃ dā harivo mādayádhyai || 6 || yás te mádaḥ pritanāshāḷ ámridhra índra táṃ na á bhara ṣūṣuváṅsam | yéna tokásya tánayasya sātaú maṅsīmáhi jigīváṅsas tvótāḥ || 7 || á no bhara vríshaṇaṃ ṣúshmam indra dhanaspritaṃ ṣūṣuváṅsaṃ sudáksham | yéna váṅsāma prítanāsu ṣátrūn távotíbhir utá jāmíṅr ájāmīn || 8 ||

आ ते शुष्मो वृषभ एतु पश्चादोत्तरादधरादा पुरस्तात् ।
आ विश्वतो अभि समेत्वर्वाङिन्द्र द्युम्नं स्वर्वद्धेह्यस्मे ॥९॥
नृवत्त इन्द्र नृतमाभिरूती वंसीमहि वामं श्रोमतेभिः ।
ईक्षे हि वस्व उभयस्य राजन्धा रत्नं महि स्थूरं बृहन्तम् ॥१०॥

á te ṣúshmo vrishabhá etu paṣcád óttarád adharád á purástāt | á viṣváto abhí sám etv arváṅ índra dyumnáṃ svàrvad dhehy asmé || 9 || nrivát ta indra nrítamābhir ūtí vaṅsīmáhi vāmáṃ ṣrómatebhiḥ | íkshe hí vásva ubháyasya rājan dhá rátnam máhi sthūrám brihántam || 10 ||

O brave one, Lord of vigour and strength, may you, enrich us with the mightiest might; bless us with the potent force, that would enable us to subdue sinful tendencies. Vouchsafe all splendid vigorous powers, befitting of men, to make us full of joy. 6

O resplendent, bless us with such beneficient and rapturous, indefeatable sense of joy as to enable us to conquer evils, and under your protection may we emerge triumphant. With gladdened hearts, we beg of you to endow us with children and grandchildren. 7

O resplendent, bestow on us the heroic vigour, skill and strength, that will enable us to obtain affluence, wherewith, through your assistance, we may conquer such evil persons, kins or strangers, as obstruct our ways through conflicts. 8

O illustrious one, let invigorating strength, emerging out of you, come from behind or from front, from above or from below. From every side may it come. May you shower on us light and happiness. 9

O illustrious one, you are an emperor with supreme authority, and the Lord of material and divine worlds. You are the master of vast and boundless heavenly treasures. May we, with your heroic aid and protection win splendrous fame and prosperity. 10

मुरुत्वन्तं वृषभं वावृधानमकवारिं दिव्यं शासमिन्द्रम् ।
विश्वासाहमवसे नूतनायोग्रं सहोदामिह तं हुवेम ॥११॥
जनं वज्रिन्महि चिन्मन्यमानमेभ्यो नृभ्यो रन्धया येष्वस्मि ।
अधा हि त्वा पृथिव्यां शूरसातौ हवामहे तनये गोष्वप्सु ॥१२॥
वयं त एभिः पुरुहूत सख्यैः शत्रोःशत्रोरुत्तर इत्स्याम ।
घ्नन्तो वृत्राण्युभयानि शूर राया मदेम बृहता त्वोताः ॥१३॥

marutvántaṃ vṛishabháṃ — || 11 || jánaṃ vajrin máhi cin mányamānam ebhyó nṛíbhyo randhayā yéshv ásmi | ádhā hí tvā pṛithivyā́ṃ ṣū́rasātau hávāmahe tánaye góshv apsú || 12 || vayáṃ ta ebhíḥ puruhūta sakhyaíḥ ṣátroḥ-ṣatror úttara ít syāma | ghnánto vṛitrā́ṇy ubháyāni ṣūra rāyā́ madema bṛihatā́ tvótāḥ || 13 || ४ ||

(२०) विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-६, ८-१३) प्रथमादितृचद्वयस्याष्टम्यादितृचद्वयस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, (७) सप्तम्याश्च विराट् छन्दसी ॥

॥९॥ द्यौर्न य इन्द्राभि भूमार्यस्तस्थौ रयिः शवसा पृत्सु जनान् ।
तं नः सहस्रभरमुर्वरासां दद्धि सूनो सहसो वृत्रतुरम् ॥१॥
दिवो न तुभ्यमन्विन्द्र सत्रासुर्यं देवेभिर्धायि विश्वम् ।
अहिं यद्वृत्रमपो वव्रिवांसं हन्नृजीषिन्विष्णुना सचानः ॥२॥

20.

Dyaúr ná yá indrābhí bhū́māryás tasthaú rayíḥ ṣávasā pṛitsú jánān | táṃ naḥ sahásrabharam urvarāsā́ṃ daddhí sūno sahaso vṛitratúram || 1 || divó ná túbhyam ánv indra satrā́suryàṃ devébhir dhāyi víṣvam | áhiṃ yád vṛitrám apó vavrivā́ṅsaṃ hánn ṛijīshin víshṇunā sacānáḥ || 2 ||

Associated with vital principles, He is the showerer of benefits, is one with ever-increasing strength, unreviled of foes, the celestial ruler, mighty, victory-giver and all-conquering. Today, we invoke that resplendent one, with a view of seeking His protection. 11

O the wielder of adamantine justice, humble that man who regards himself as superior to others, living in our midst. We invoke you now on the earth, in the conflict of life, to seek wisdom, vigour and children. 12

Invoked by all as you are, O illustrious one, make us triumphant under your friendship by destroying both classes of enemies (the known ones and the strangers). May we be happy, helped by you, with abundant riches. 13

20

O powerful source of strength, may you give us a son that subdues enemies, become possessor of thousands of riches and owns cultivated lands and also give us the riches, to help us in vanguishing enemies just as the sun by his light overspreads the earth. 1

O earnest and glorious soul, with the blessings of pervading Lord, you become the seeker of truth. The divine powers have blessed you with ample strength as they give light to the sun. Endowed with boundless life-force, you are able to annihilate the evil that obstructs progress. 2

तूर्वन्नोजीयान्तवसस्तवीयान्कृतब्रह्मेन्द्रो वृद्धमहाः ।
राजाभवन्मधुनः सोम्यस्य विश्वासां यत्पुरां दर्त्नुमावत् ॥३॥
शतैरपद्रन्पणय इन्द्रात्र दशोणये कवयेऽर्कसातौ ।
वधैः शुष्णस्याशुषस्य मायाः पित्वो नारिरेचीत्किं चन प्र ॥४॥
महो द्रुहो अप विश्वायु धायि वज्रस्य यत्पतने पादि शुष्णः ।
उरु ष सरथं सारथये करिन्द्रः कुत्साय सूर्यस्य सातौ ॥५॥

tū́rvann ójīyān tavásas távīyān kritábrahméndro vriddhámahāḥ | rā́jābhavan mádhunaḥ somyásya víṣvāsām yát purā́m dartnúm ā́vat || 3 || ṣataír apadran paṇáya indrā́tra dásoṇaye kaváye 'rkásātau | vadhaíḥ ṣúshṇasyāṣúshasya māyā́ḥ pitvó nā́rirecīt kím caná prá || 4 || mahó druhó ápa viṣvā́yu dhāyi vájrasya yát pátane pā́di ṣúshṇaḥ | urú shá sarátham sā́rathaye kar índraḥ kútsāya sū́ryasya sātaú || 5 || ७ ||

॥१०॥ प्र श्येनो न मदिरमंशुमस्मै शिरो दासस्य नमुचेर्मथायन् ।
प्रावन्नमीं साप्यं ससन्तं पृणग्राया समिषा सं स्वस्ति ॥६॥
वि पिप्रोरहिमायस्य दृळ्हाः पुरो वज्रिञ्छवसा न दर्दः ।
सुदामन्तद्रेक्णो अप्रमृष्यमृजिश्वने दात्रं दाशुषे दाः ॥७॥

prá ṣyenó ná madirám aṅṣúm asmai ṣíro dāsásya námucer mathāyán | prā́van námīm sāpyám sasántam priṇág rāyā́ sám ishā́ sám svastí || 6 || ví pípror áhimāyasya driḷhā́ḥ púro vajriñ chávasā ná dardaḥ | súdāman tád rékṇo apramrishyám rijíṣvane dātrám dāṣúshe dāḥ || 7 ||

When the illustrious and glorious soul, mightier than the mighty, adored by prayers, perfect in his splendour, breaks with his resoluteness the strongholds of evils, he becomes the king of the nector of spiritual joy. 3

O glorious soul, the evil powers that are full of mischief run away in fear of hundred blows, when light of intelligence appears, for the benefit of widely learned persons. The greedy magical devices of powerful wicked are also subdued by the resoluteness of soul. Not only that, but it uproots them completely, and leaves no ground for their sustenance. 4

When the adamantine austerity has been practised to destroy the wickedness of sensuality and all life support to it withdrawn, the universal strength of that oppressor, the Nescience, gets annihilated. Thereafter, the resplendent soul, accompanying the charioteer, the mind in the common car of the body, proceeds to get blessings from Lord, the source of enlightenment. 5

The soul sips the elixir of spiritual joy given to him by God and severes the head of lust, as a hawk does to his victim, and gives protection to the humble, flickering, and erring mind, and he makes it worthy of achieving food, success and riches. 6

O glorious, equipped with resolute mind, you shatter the powerful centres of illusive and proud evil tendencies with dazzling light because you know the wiles of snakes,—the treacherous. You give affluence to the righteous and liberal persons to sacrifice their lives for the sake of good. 7

स वेतसुं दशमायं दशोणिं तूतुजिमिन्द्रः स्वभिष्टिसुम्नः ।
आ तुग्रं शश्वदिभं द्योतनाय मातुर्न सीमुप सृजा इयध्यै ॥८॥
स ईं स्पृधो वनते अप्रतीतो बिभ्रद्वज्रं वृत्रहणं गभस्तौ ।
तिष्ठद्धरी अध्यस्तेव गर्ते वचोयुजा वहत इन्द्रमृष्वम् ॥९॥
सनेम तेऽवसा नव्य इन्द्र प्र पूरवः स्तवन्त एना यज्ञैः ।
सप्त यत्पुरः शर्म शारदीर्दर्द्धन्दासीः पुरुकुत्साय शिक्षन् ॥१०॥

sá vetasúṁ dáṣamāyam dáṣonim tū́tujim índraḥ svabhishṭísumnaḥ | ā́ túgram ṣáṣvad íbham dyótanāya mātúr ná sīm úpa sṛijā iyádhyai || 8 || sá īm spṛídho vanate ápratīto bíbhrad vájram vṛitrahánam gábhastau | tíshṭhad dhárī ádhy ásteva gárte vacoyújā vahata índram ṛishvám || 9 || sanéma té 'vasā návya indra prá pūráva stavanta enā́ yajñaíḥ | saptá yát púraḥ ṣárma ṣāradīr dárd dhán dā́sīḥ purukútsāya ṣíkshan || 10 ||

त्वं वृध इन्द्र पूर्व्यो भूर्वरिवस्यन्नुशने काव्याय ।
परा नववास्त्वमनुदेयं महे पित्रे ददाथ स्वं नपातम् ॥११॥
त्वं धुनिरिन्द्र धुनिमतीर्ऋणोरपः सीरा न स्रवन्तीः ।
प्र यत्समुद्रमति शूर पर्षि पारया तुर्वशं यदुं स्वस्ति ॥१२॥
तव ह त्यदिन्द्र विश्वमाजौ सस्तो धुनीचुमुरी या ह सिष्वप् ।
दीदयदित्तुभ्यं सोमेभिः सुन्वन्दभीतिरिध्मभृतिः पक्थ्य१र्कैः ॥१३॥

tvám vṛidhá indra pūrvyó bhūr varivasyánn uṣáne kāvyā́ya | párā návavāstvam anudéyam mahé pitré dadātha svám nápātam || 11 || tvám dhúnir indra — || 12 || táva ha tyád indra víṣvam ājaú sastó dhúnīcúmurī yā́ ha síshvap | dīdáyad ít túbhyam sómebhiḥ sunván dabhítir idhmábhṛitiḥ pakthy àrkaíḥ || 13 || 10 ||

The resplendent self, the granter of felicity, encourages the widely-known propensities like popularity, steadfastness firm-mindedness, vigour, virility and fearlessness to come submissively to inner-conscience, as a son comes to his mother. 8

Bearing in his hand the foe-destroying weapon of adamantine will-power, the soul, unresisted demolishes evil tendencies. He mounts his chariot harnessed with two vital faculties, as a warrior ascends his charriot. At the signal of his words, the vital senses carry the mighty soul along his journey. 9

O glorious soul, by your blessed protection we gain your fresh favours. Your devotees glorify you at our sacred worship. With your bolt, you destroy the seven centres of impediments subduing evil desires. And thus you award men of immense wisdom. 10

Desirous of opulence, O soul, ever since you have been granting favours and strength to the enlightened mind the source of inspiration. May you hand over the destitute to proper guardians. 11

O resplendent soul, you make your opponents tremble and you direct the stream of thoughts obstructed by passions to flow like rushing waters. So having reached the other shore yourself, you help the well-intentioned and hard-working persons to cross the waters safely. 12

O resplendent soul, in the strife of life the greatness of your prowess is revealed. You put to sleep even the suppressed passions and allurements of the subconscious region. Your oppressed devotee offers devotional prayers to you, enkindles your glory with fuel, hymns, and fuel of austerity, libation of dedication, oblation of devotion and offerings of affection. 13

(२१) एकविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । (१-८, १०, १२) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां दशमीद्वादश्योश्चेन्द्रः, (९, ११) नवम्येकादश्योश्च विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ इमा उ त्वा पुरुतमस्य कारोर्हव्यं वीर हव्या हवन्ते ।
धियो रथेष्ठामजरं नवीयो रयिर्विभूतिरीयते वचस्या ॥१॥

तमु स्तुष इन्द्रं यो विदानो गिर्वाहसं गीर्भिर्यज्ञवृद्धम् ।
यस्य दिवमति मह्ना पृथिव्याः पुरुमायस्य रिरिचे महित्वम् ॥२॥

21.

Imá́ u tvā purutámasya kārór hávyam̐ vīra hávyā havante | dhíyo rathesh̥ṭhā́m ajáram̐ návīyo rayír víbhūtir īyate vacasyā́ || 1 || tám u stusha índram̐ yó vídāno gírvāhasam̐ gīrbhír yajñávṛiddham | yásya dívam áti mahnā́ pṛithivyā́ḥ purumāyásya ririce mahitvám || 2 ||

स इत्तमोऽवयुनं ततन्वत्सूर्येण वयुनवच्चकार ।
कदा ते मर्ता अमृतस्य धामेयक्षन्तो न मिनन्ति स्वधावः ॥३॥
यस्ता चकार स कुह स्विदिन्द्रः कमा जनं चरति कासु विक्षु ।
कस्ते यज्ञो मनसे शं वराय को अर्क इन्द्र कतमः स होता ॥४॥
इदा हि ते वेविषतः पुराजाः प्रत्नास आसुः पुरुकृत्सखायः । ये मध्यमास उत नूतनास उतावमस्य पुरुहूत बोधि ॥५॥

sá ít támo 'vayunám̐ tatanvát sū́ryeṇa vayúnavac cakāra | kadā́ te mártā amṛítasya dhā́méyakshanto ná minanti svadhāvaḥ || 3 || yás tā́ cakā́ra sá kúha svid índraḥ kám ā́ jánam̐ carati kā́su vikshú | kás te yajñó mánase śám̐ várāya kó arká indra katamáḥ sá hótā || 4 || idā́ hí te vévishataḥ purājā́ḥ pratnā́sa āsúḥ purukṛit sákhāyaḥ | yé madhyamā́sa utá nū́tanāsa utā́vamásya puruhūta bodhi || 5 || 11 ||

21

O heroic resplendent Lord, these earnest adorations of the much-aspiring worshipper glorify you. You are ageless and young. Your presence is everywhere felt as if you move on a speedy chariot. To Him alone, reach the eloquent prayers and rich oblations. 1

I glorify that resplendent Lord, propitiated by praises, who knows all things and is exalted whilst we perform sacred deeds. The greatness of this Lord, the possessor of ample wisdom, transcends the magnitude of heaven and earth. 2

He transforms the darkness of Nesciences into light with the rising of the sun. Whenever the enlightened mortals yearn to seek the abode of yours,—the immortal, they never violate your laws. 3

What is He, and who has performed these deeds? Amongst which group of persons does He move? To what people does He belong? O Lord, what sacred action does give satisfaction to your self and what sort of worship and which of the invokers you prefer? 4

O resplendent Lord, your friends, highly active and agile, reversed and respected by all, born in former times, medieval and recent, and engaged in sacred acts, have been, as they are now, your devotee. May you please take notice of the tributes offered to you by your present devotee as well. 5

॥१२॥ तं पृच्छन्तोऽवरासः पराणि प्रत्ना त इन्द्र श्रुत्यानु येमुः ।
अर्चामसि वीर ब्रह्मवाहो यादेव विद्म तात्त्वा महान्तम् ॥६॥
अभि त्वा पाजो रक्षसो वि तस्थे महि जज्ञानमभि तत्सु तिष्ठ ।
तव प्रत्नेन युज्येन सख्या वज्रेण धृष्णो अप ता नुदस्व ॥७॥

tám prichántó 'varāsaḥ párāṇi pratná ta indra ṣrútyánu yemuḥ | árcāmasi vīra brahmavāho yád evá vidmá tát tvā mahántam || 6 || abhí tvā pájo rakshaso ví tasthe máhi jajñānám abhí tát sú tishṭha | táva pratnéna yújyena sákhyā vájreṇa dhrishṇo ápa tá nudasva || 7 ||

स तु श्रुधीन्द्र नूतनस्य ब्रह्मण्यतो वीर कारुधायः ।
त्वं ह्यापिः प्रदिवि पितॄणां शश्वद्बभूथ सुहव एष्टौ ॥८॥
प्रोतये वरुणं मित्रमिन्द्रं मरुतः कृष्वावसे नो अद्य ।
प्र पूषणं विष्णुमग्निं पुरंधिं सवितारमोषधीः पर्वतांश्च ॥९॥
इम उ त्वा पुरुशाक प्रयज्यो जरितारो अभ्यर्चन्त्यर्कैः ।
श्रुधी हवमा हुवतो हुवानो न त्वावाँ अन्यो अमृत त्वदस्ति ॥१०॥

sá tú ṣrudhīndra nū́tanasya brahmaṇyató vīra kārudhāyaḥ | tvám̱ hy āpíḥ pradívi pitṝṇám̱ ṣáṣvad babhū́tha suháva éshṭau || 8 || prótáye váruṇam mitrám índram marútaḥ krishvávase no adyá | prá pūsháṇam̱ víshṇum agním púram̱dhim̱ savitáram ósha-dhīḥ párvatāṅs ca || 9 || imá u tvā purusāka prayajyo jari-táro abhy àrcanty arkaíḥ | ṣrudhí hávam á huvató huvānó na tvávāñ anyó amrita tvád asti || 10 ||

O resplendent Lord, your humble devotees commemorate you through their prayers and follow the excellent traditions. The sacred hymns are chanted in honour of your glory. We praise your great mighty deeds for which you are so well reputed. 6

O resplendent Lord, the strength of evil forces is gathered fast against your laws; please bear up well against that might manifested effort. Destroy these evils with your adamantine resoluteness, an eternal friend and associate of yours. 7

O Lord, brave, the guardian of devotees, listen to the prayers of your persent admirers. From times immemorial, you have been fulfilling the desires of your followers. You have been hearing the invocations of our ancestors, and it is admirable that you are swift to listen to their supplication. 8

May you bring to our help and protection Nature's bounties, such as ocean, the sun, the nourishing elements, the sky, the fire of several regions, the solar system, plants and mountains. 9

O respectable, powerful and most holy God, your devotees exalt your glory with hymns and praises. O eternal Lord, please listen carefully to our prayers, when invoked. For there is no one else to match you, O immortal. 10

नू म आ वाचमुप याहि विद्वान्विश्वेभिः सूनो सहसो यजत्रैः ।
ये अग्निजिह्वा ऋतसाप आसुर्ये मनुं चक्रुरुपरं दसाय ॥११॥
स नो बोधि पुरएता सुगेषूत दुर्गेषु पथिकृद्विदानः ।
ये अश्रमास उरवो वहिष्ठास्तेभिर्न इन्द्राभि वक्षि वाजम् ॥१२॥

nū́ ma ā́ vā́cam úpa yāhi vidvā́n víṣvebhiḥ sūno sahaso yájatraiḥ | yé agnijihvā́ ṛitasā́pa āsúr yé mánuṃ cakrúr úparaṃ dásāya || 11 || sá no bodhi puraetā́ sugéshūtá durgéshu pathikṛíd vídānaḥ | yé áṣramāsa urávo váhishṭhās tébhir na indrābhí vakshi vā́jam || 12 || 12 ||

(२२) द्वाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ य एक इद्धव्यश्चर्षणीनामिन्द्रं तं गीर्भिरभ्यर्च आभिः ।
यः पत्यते वृषभो वृष्ण्यावान्त्सत्यः सत्वा पुरुमायः सहस्वान् ॥१॥
तमु नः पूर्वे पितरो नवग्वाः सप्त विप्रासो अभि वाजयन्तः ।
नक्षद्दाभं ततुरिं पर्वतेष्ठामद्रोघवाचं मतिभिः शविष्ठम् ॥२॥

तमीमह इन्द्रमस्य रायः पुरुवीरस्य नृवतः पुरुक्षोः ।
यो अस्कृधोयुरजरः स्वर्वान्तमा भर हरिवो मादयध्यै ॥३॥

22.

Yá éka íd dhávyaṣ carshaṇīnā́m índraṃ táṃ gīrbhír abhy àrca ābhíḥ | yáḥ pátyate vṛishabhó vṛíshṇyāvān satyáḥ sátvā purumāyáḥ sáhasvān || 1 || tám u naḥ pū́rve pitáro návagvāḥ saptá víprāso abhí vājáyantaḥ | nakshaddābhám táturim parvateshṭhā́m ádroghavācam matíbhiḥ ṣávishṭham || 2 || tám īmaha índram asya rāyáḥ puruvírasya nṛivátaḥ purukshóḥ | yó áskṛidhoyur ajáraḥ svàrvān tám ā́ bhara harivo mādayádhyai || 3 ||

O resplendent Lord, cognizant of all, please come and listen to my prayers. O source of strength, come with those powers, who have glorious tongue of fire, who give us the benefit of eternal law, and who make men victorious over their adversaries. 11

O resplendent Lord, may you be our leader on paths, difficult or easy. You are known to all of us as path-carver. May you unwearingly grant us instantly such large transports, as are best to bear our burthens without wear and difficulty. 12

22

I glorify that resplendent Lord through my prayers, for He is the only one, who is to be invoked by mortals. He is the showerer of blessings, invincible, truthful, all-knowing, destroyer of ominous impediments. 1

From time immemorial, our seven sense organs, (five senses, mind and intellect) while performing ever-new functions, have been manifesting the glory of our Lord. The supreme Lord is the destroyer of opponents, swift, of the highest order in rank, true to every word and is dynamic. 2

We have but this to beg of the resplendent Lord, that we desire to have his blessings that bring reward of riches, good progeny and heroic followers. Bless us, O Lord of vitality and vigour, to make us joyful with abundant and undecaying wealth and celestial happiness. 3

तन्नो वि वोचो यदि ते पुरा चिज्जरितार आनशुः सुम्नमिन्द्र ।
कस्ते भागः किं वयो दुध्र खिद्वः पुरुहूत पुरूवसोऽसुरघ्नः ॥४॥
तं पृच्छन्ती वज्रहस्तं रथेष्ठामिन्द्रं वेपी वक्वरी यस्य नू गीः ।
तुविग्राभं तुविकूर्मिं रभोदां गातुमिषे नक्षते तुम्रमच्छ ॥५॥

tán no ví voco yádi te purā́ cij jaritā́ra ānaśúḥ sumnám indra | kás te bhāgáḥ kíṃ váyo dudhra khidvaḥ púruhūta purūvaso 'suraghnáḥ || 4 || tám pṛicchántī vájrahastaṃ ratheshṭhā́m índraṃ vépī vákvarī yásya nū́ gī́ḥ | tuvigrābháṃ tuvikūrmíṃ rabhodā́ṃ gātúm ishe nákshate túmram ácha || 5 || 13 ||

॥१४॥ अया ह त्यं मायया वावृधानं मनोजुवा स्वतवः पर्वतेन ।
अच्युता चिद्वीळिता स्वोजो रुजो वि दृळ्हा धृषता विरप्शिन् ॥६॥
तं वो धिया नव्यस्या शविष्ठं प्रत्नं प्रत्नवत्परितंसयध्यै ।
स नो वक्षदनिमानः सुवह्मेन्द्रो विश्वान्यति दुर्गहाणि ॥७॥
आ जनाय द्रुह्वणे पार्थिवानि दिव्यानि दीपयोऽन्तरिक्षा ।
तपा वृषन्विश्वतः शोचिषा तान्ब्रह्मद्विषे शोचय क्षामपश्च ॥८॥

ayā́ ha tyám māyáyā vāvṛidhānám manojúvā svatavaḥ párvatena | ácyutā cid vīḷitā́ svojo rujó ví dṛiḷhā́ dhṛishatā́ virapśin || 6 || táṃ vo dhiyā́ návyasyā śávishṭham pratnám pratnavát paritaṅsayádhyai | sá no vakshad animānáḥ suváhméndro víśvāny áti durgáhāṇi || 7 || ā́ jánāya drúhvaṇe pā́rthivāni divyā́ni dīpayo 'ntárikshā | tápā vṛishan viśvátaḥ śocíshā tā́n brahmadvíshe śocaya kshā́m apáś ca || 8 ||

O Lord, you are strong, subduer of evils, destroyer of demoniac tendencies, rich and invoked by everyone. Tell us, if in ancient times, earlier devotees have been obtaining good fortune at your hand. O, the destroyer of evil forces, what is your share and position, and what is your oblation? 4

The resplendent Lord is armed with adamantine power, and has the mobility of the speediest car, is lover of hymns, wise and fluent in speech. Further, He is firmly-grasping, exceedingly functioning and strength-bestowing. The one, whose ceremonial and eulogistic hymn commemorates such a Lord, proceeds promptly to acquire happiness and with a sense of confidence he gains victory over malevolent forces. 5

With your strength, you control the illusory forces of the world with the bolt of justice, which is gigantic and swift as mind. O mighty God, you rend into pieces the firmly fixed and formidable citadels of sin and injustice with your ceaseless judiciousness. 6

Here is a new hymn similar to the old ones, extending the glory of the resplendent Lord, who is mighty and ancient. May you, O boundless and most reliable leader conduct us over all the impediments. 7

Make hot the regions of earth, of heaven, of midspace for the oppressive vicious forces. O showerer of benefits, may you consume these vices everywhere with you radiant enlightenment, and make the heaven and mid-air hot for the impious propensities. 8

भुवो जनस्य दिव्यस्य राजा पार्थिवस्य जगतस्त्वेषसंदृक् ।
धिष्व वज्रं दक्षिण इन्द्र हस्ते विश्वा अजुर्य दयसे वि मायाः ॥९॥
आ संयतमिन्द्र णः स्वस्तिं शत्रुतूर्याय बृहतीममृध्राम् ।
यया दासान्यार्याणि वृत्रा करो वज्रिन्त्सुतुका नाहुषाणि ॥१०॥
स नो नियुद्भिः पुरुहूत वेधो विश्ववाराभिरा गहि प्रयज्यो ।
न या अदेवो वरते न देव आभिर्याहि तूयमा मद्र्यद्रिक् ॥११॥

bhúvo jánasya divyásya rájā párthivasya jágatas tveshasaṃdṛik | dhishvá vájram dákshiṇa indra háste víṣvā ajurya dayase ví māyáḥ || 9 || á saṃyátam indra naḥ svastím ṣatrutúryāya bṛihatím ámṛidhrām | yáyā dásāny áryāṇi vṛitrá káro vajrin sutúkā náhushāṇi || 10 || sá no niyúdbhiḥ puruhūta vedho viṣvávārābhir á gahi prayajyo | ná yá ádevo várate ná devá ábhir yāhi túyam á madryadrík || 11 || 14 ||

(२३) त्रयोविंशं सूक्तम्

(१—१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ सुत इत्त्वं निमिश्ल इन्द्र सोमे स्तोमे ब्रह्मणि शस्यमान उक्थे ।
यद्वा युक्ताभ्यां मघवन्हरिभ्यां बिभ्रद्वज्रं बाह्वोरिन्द्र यासि ॥१॥
यद्वा दिवि पार्ये सुष्विमिन्द्र वृत्रहत्येऽवसि शूरसातौ ।
यद्वा दक्षस्य बिभ्युषो अबिभ्यदरन्धयः शर्धत इन्द्र दस्यून् ॥२॥

23.

Sutá ít tváṃ nímiṣla indra sóme stóme bráhmaṇi ṣasyámāna ukthé | yád vā yuktábhyām maghavan háribhyām bíbhrad vájram bāhvór indra yási || 1 || yád vā diví párye súshvim indra vṛitrahátyé 'vasi ṣúrasātau | yád vā dákshasya bibhyúsho ábibhyad árandhayaḥ ṣárdhata indra dásyūn || 2 ||

O bright-flaming resplendent Lord, you are the king of the people of heaven and of the moving races of earth. May you grasp in your right hand the bolt of punitive justice, and baffle all the devices of the wicked. 9

O resplendent Lord, bring to us concentrated, vast and unassailable prosperity beyond the reach of wicked, and by which, O wielder of adamantine justice, you render human enemies, whether wicked or virtuous, easy to be overcome. 10

Invoked by everyone, O revered creator, object of worship, come in our midst with your all-admired vital forces, whom neither demons nor divine powers can resist. Please do come to us soon with these forces. 11

23

O bounteous Lord, whilst the atmosphere is surcharged with devotional prayers, and when the hymns are being chanted, please be prepared to harness the horses in your chariot, or in case they have been already harnessed, please come speedily holding the adamantine of justice. 1

O resplendent Lord, at the appropriate time, you protect the devotee by helping him to destroy the devil of ignorance, or at the time of conflicts, equipped with adamantine punitive justice and undaunted, you destroy violent passion that torments your faithful devotees. 2

पाता सुतमिन्द्रो अस्तु सोमं प्रणेनीरुग्रो जरितारमूती ।
कर्ता वीराय सुष्वय उ लोकं दाता वसु स्तुवते कीरये चित् ॥३॥
गन्तेयान्ति सवना हरिभ्यां बभ्रिर्वज्रं पपिः सोमं ददिर्गाः ।
कर्ता वीरं नर्यं सर्ववीरं श्रोता हवं गृणतः स्तोमवाहाः ॥४॥

अस्मै वयं यद्वावान तद्विविष्म इन्द्राय यो नः प्रदिवो अपस्कः ।
सुते सोमे स्तुमसि शंसदुक्थेन्द्राय ब्रह्म वर्धनं यथासत् ॥५॥

pátā sutám índro astu sómam praṇenír ugró jaritáram ūtí | kártā vīráya súshvaya u lokáṃ dátā vásu stuvaté kīráye cit || 3 || gántéyānti sávanā háribhyām babhrír vájram papíḥ sómaṃ dadír gáḥ | kártā vīráṃ náryaṃ sárvavīraṃ ṣrótā hávaṃ gṛiṇatá stómavāhāḥ || 4 || ásmai vayáṃ yád vāvána tád vivishma índrāya yó naḥ pradívo ápas káḥ | suté sóme stumási ṣáṅsad ukthéndrāya bráhma várdhanaṃ yáthásat || 5 || 15 ||

॥१६॥ ब्रह्माणि हि चकृषे वर्धनानि तावत्त इन्द्र मतिभिर्विविष्मः ।
सुते सोमे सुतपाः शंतमानि रान्द्या क्रियास्म वक्षणानि यज्ञैः ॥६॥
स नो बोधि पुरोळाशं रराणः पिबा तु सोमं गोऋजीकमिन्द्र ।
एदं बर्हिर्यजमानस्य सीदोरुं कृधि त्वायत उ लोकम् ॥७॥

bráhmāṇi hí cakṛishé várdhanāni távat ta indra matíbhir vivishmaḥ | suté sóme sutapāḥ ṣáṃtamāni ráṇḍyā kriyāsma vákshaṇāni yajñaíḥ || 6 || sá no bodhi puroḷáṣaṃ ráráṇaḥ píbā tú sómaṃ góṛijīkam indra | édám barhír yájamānasya sīdorúṃ kṛidhi tvāyatá u lokám || 7 ||

May the resplendent mighty Lord sip the elixir of sweet devotion, and lead his devotees along the path of righteousness. May He, be the giver of honour to the presenter of. homage and give wealth to the man who adores Him. 3

He blesses even the humblest performer good deeds with his speedy vital powers and resoluteness. He wields the bolt of justice and enjoys drinking the nectar of devotion, and showers wealth and progeny. He makes the valiant rich and receives tributes and hears chanter's invocations. 4

We have been singing hymns from the days of old in honour of the resplendent supreme Lord, who is pleased with them. Let us adore Him while our heart is full of divine love, and repeat prayers so that our adoration may augment His glory. 5

O resplendent Lord, we sing these divine hymns to you for, you have made the prayers for your exhilaration. Therefore, we wait on you with hymns. May we, O acceptor of our devotion, offer to you our dedicated homage and acceptable eulogies with our benevolent works, to you. 6

O divine Lord, be delighted to accept the cakes of dedication and herbal juice of prayer mixed with the curds of praises. Be seated, O Lord, in the hearts of the devoted worshipper and bestow popularity on the dedicated devotee. 7

स मन्दस्वा ह्यनु जोषमुग्र प्र त्वा यज्ञास इमे अश्नुवन्तु ।
प्रेमे हवासः पुरुहूतमस्मे आ त्वेयं धीरवस इन्द्र यम्याः ॥८॥
तं वः सखायः सं यथा सुतेषु सोमेभिरीं पृणता भोजमिन्द्रम् ।
कुवित्तस्मा असति नो भराय न सुष्विमिन्द्रोऽवसे मृधाति ॥९॥
एवेदिन्द्रः सुते अस्तावि सोमे भरद्वाजेषु क्षयदिन्मघोनः ।
असद्यथा जरित्र उत सूरिरिन्द्रो रायो विश्ववारस्य दाता ॥१०॥

sá mandasvā hy ánu jósham ugra prá tvā yajñása imé aṣnuvantu | prémé hávāsaḥ puruhūtám asmé ā́ tveyáṃ dhír ávasa indra yamyāḥ || 8 || táṃ vaḥ sakhāyaḥ sáṃ yáthā sutéshu sómebhir īm pṛiṇatā bhojám índram | kuvít tásmā ásati no bhárāya ná súshvim índró 'vase mṛidhāti || 9 || evéd índraḥ suté astāvi sóme bharádvājeshu ksháyad ín maghónaḥ | ásad yáthā jaritrá utá sūrír índro rāyó viṣvávarasya datá || 10 || 16 ||

(२४) चतुर्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ वृषा मद इन्द्रे श्लोक उक्था सचा सोमेषु सुतपा ऋजीषी ।
अर्चत्र्यो मघवा नृभ्य उक्थैर्द्युक्षो राजा गिरामक्षितोतिः ॥१॥
ततुरिर्वीरो नर्यो विचेताः श्रोता हवं गृणत उर्व्यूतिः ।
वसुः शंसो नरां कारुधाया वाजी स्तुतो विदथे दाति वाजम् ॥२॥

24.

Vṛíshā máda índre ṣlóka ukthá sácā sómeshu sutapá ṛijīshí | arcatryò maghávā nṛíbhya ukthaír dyukshó rā́jā girā́m ákshitotiḥ || 1 || táturir vīró náryo vícetāḥ ṣrótā hávaṃ gṛiṇatá urvyū̀tiḥ | vásuḥ ṣáṅso narā́ṃ kārúdhāyā vājí stutó vidáthe dāti vā́jam || 2 ||

O mighty resplendent Lord, be pleased with our selfless sacrificial acts according to your discretion. May our invocations reach you, who is respected by all; we offer prayers to you for our protection. 8

Friends, whilst the elixir of devotion is being expressed, may you duly replenish the bounteous Lord with that elixir. Let there be plenty for Him, enough to provide nourishment for us. The resplendent Lord never neglects the care of him, who presents copious libation. 9

Thus, the resplendent Lord, the bounteous, has been glorified by the possessors of knowledge, while the loving devotion is expressed, so that the Lord may become the patron of His eulogist and give him all desirable riches. 10

24

At the sacred ceremonies, at which the hymns are chanted, prayers are recited and elixir of love offered, the sense of delight is produced; and thereby the resplendent Lord, becomes the showerer of blessings. The Lord, who is the acceptor of devotional love, the straightforward and the liberal giver is to be propitiated by men. He is dweller in heaven, the Lord of sacred songs, the one whose help is lasting. 1

He, the vanquisher of the evils, friend of man, all-wise, listener of devotional hymns, protector of the devotees and provider of comfort to all the ruler of men, the inspirer of all great deeds, the bestower of food, and one who is respected in holy synod, grants us sustenance. 2

अक्षो न चक्र्योः शूर बृहन्प्र ते मह्ना रिरिचे रोदस्योः ।
वृक्षस्य नु ते पुरुहूत वया व्यूतयो रुरुहुरिन्द्र पूर्वीः ॥३॥
शचीवतस्ते पुरुशाक शाका गवामिव स्रुतयः संचरणीः ।
वत्सानां न तन्तयस्त इन्द्र दामन्वन्तो अदामानः सुदामन् ॥४॥
अन्यदद्य कर्वरमन्यदु श्वोऽसच्च सन्मुहुराचक्रिरिन्द्रः ।
मित्रो नो अत्र वरुणश्च पूषार्यो वशस्य पर्येतास्ति ॥५॥

ákshо ná cakryòḥ ṣūra bri-hán prá te mahnā́ ririce ródasyoḥ | vrikshásya nú te puruhūta vayā́ vy ūtáyo ruruhur indra pūrvī́ḥ || 3 || ṣácīvatas te puruṣāka ṣā́kā gávām iva srutáyaḥ saṃcáraṇīḥ | vatsā́nāṃ ná tantáyas ta indra dā́manvanto adāmā́naḥ sudāman || 4 || anyád adyá kárvaram anyád u ṣvó 'sac ca sán múhur ācakrír índraḥ | mitró no átra várunaṣ ca pūshāryó váṣasya paryetā́sti || 5 || 17 ||

॥१८॥ वि त्वदापो न पर्वतस्य पृष्ठादुक्थेभिरिन्द्रानयन्त यज्ञैः ।
तं त्वाभिः सुष्टुतिभिर्वाजयन्त आजिं न जग्मुर्गिर्वाहो अश्वाः ॥६॥
न यं जरन्ति शरदो न मासा न द्याव इन्द्रमवकर्शयन्ति ।
वृद्धस्य चिद्वर्धतामस्य तनूः स्तोमेभिरुक्थैश्च शस्यमाना ॥७॥

ví tvád ā́po ná párvatasya prishṭhā́d ukthébhir indrā-nayanta yajñaíḥ | táṃ tvābhíḥ sushṭutíbhir vājáyanta ājíṃ ná jagmur girvāho áṣvāḥ || 6 || ná yáṃ járanti ṣarádo ná mā́sā ná dyā́va índram avakarṣáyanti | vriddhásya cid vardhatām asya tanū́ stómebhir ukthaíṣ ca ṣasyámānā || 7 ||

O resplendent Lord, mighty hero, invoked by many, your greatness transcends the boundaries of heaven and earth, like the lofty axle of the wheels. The manifold benefits of your blessings grow and grow like the branches of the tree. 3

O resplendent Lord, accomplisher of many acts, your powers, endowed with vigour, are manifold like converging tracks of cattle. They are elastic like tithers that hold a calf; but remain unfettered themselves. 4

The resplendent Lord performs one sort of action today, the creative, another sort tomorrow, the destructive. May He, the friendly, the beneficient one, the one provider of nourishments and the one virtuous, help us to overcome the domination of evils. 5

The resplendent Lord, as water descends from mountain tops, your devotees desirous of wealth, approach you with eulogies. In eagerness and vigour they are like warriors, mounted on coursers rushing to the battle-field, and bringing blessings from you, for you are accessible by praises only. 6

May the manifested person of resplendent Lord, glorified by praises and prayers, ever increase. He is the one, whom neither months nor autumns make old, nor days enfeeble. 7

न वीळवे नमते न स्थिराय न शर्धते दस्युजूताय स्तवान् ।
अज्रा इन्द्रस्य गिरयश्चिदृष्वा गम्भीरे चिद्भवति गाधमस्मै ॥८॥
गम्भीरेण न उरुणामत्रिन्प्रेषो यन्धि सुतपावन्वाजान् ।
स्था ऊ षु ऊर्ध्व ऊती अरिषण्यन्नक्तोर्व्युष्टौ परितक्म्यायाम् ॥९॥
सचस्व नायमवसे अभीक इतो वा तमिन्द्र पाहि रिषः ।
अमा चैनमरण्ये पाहि रिषो मदेम शतहिमाः सुवीराः ॥१०॥

ná vīḷáve námate ná sthiráya ná śárdhate dásyujūtāya stavấn | ájrā índrasya giráyaś cid ṛishvấ gambhīré cid bhavati gādhám asmai || 8 || gambhīréṇa na urúṇāmatrin préshó yandhi sutapāvan vấjān | sthấ ū shú ūrdhvá ūtí árishaṇyann aktór vyùshṭau páritakmyāyām || 9 || sácasva nāyám ávase abhī́ka itó vā tám indra pāhi risháḥ | amấ cainam áraṇye pāhi rishó mádema śatáhimāḥ suvī́rāḥ || 10 || 18 ||

(२५) पञ्चविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१९॥ या त ऊतिरवमा या परमा या मध्यमेन्द्र शुष्मिन्नस्ति ।
ताभिरू षु वृत्रहत्येऽवीर्न एभिश्च वाजैर्महान्न उग्र ॥१॥
आभिः स्पृधो मिथतीररिषण्यन्नमित्रस्य व्यथया मन्युमिन्द्र ।
आभिर्विश्वा अभियुजो विषूचीरार्याय विशोऽव तारीर्दासीः ॥२॥

25.

Yấ ta ūtír avamấ yấ paramấ yấ madhyaméndra śushminn ásti | tấbhir ū shú vṛitrahátye 'vīr na ebhíś ca vấjair mahấn na ugra || 1 || ā́bhi spṛ́dho mithatī́r árishaṇyann amítrasya vyathayā manyúm indra | ā́bhir víśvā abhiyújo víshūcīr ā́ryāya víśó 'va tārīr dā́sīḥ || 2 ||

Extolled by us He bends not to the robust, nor to the resolute, nor to the bold incited by wicked. High mountains are easy of access to the resplendent Lord. Even in the deep waters, He finds firm ground to rest on. 8

Admired by devotees as you are, O irresistible, actuated by a profound and comprehensive purpose, grant us food and strength. May you be ever diligent, and unreluctant to help us at the time when the gloom of night brightens to morning. 9

O resplendent Lord, steer our leader along the war-path and protect him; defend him against a near or distant calamity. Provide him with security when he is at home or in a forest. And may we, blessed with brave sons be happy through a hundred winters. 10

25

O mighty resplendent Lord, grant us protection on all the levels of the conflict of life, low, high or middling. May you support us to subdue our foes; supply us, O supreme Lord, with your strength-giving food. 1

O resplendent Lord, extolled by our hymns, while protecting our capacity to fight the evil forces, may you check the wrath of opponents. Also overthrow the attack of the servile evil races, abiding everywhere, in favour of virtuous ones. 2

इन्द्र जामय उत येऽजामयोऽर्वाचीनासो वनुषो युयुज्रे ।
त्वमेषां विथुरा शवांसि जहि वृष्ण्यानि कृणुही पराचः ॥३॥
शूरो वा शूरं वनते शरीरैस्तनूरुचा तरुषि यत्कृण्वैते ।
तोके वा गोषु तनये यदप्सु वि क्रन्दसी उर्वरासु ब्रवैते ॥४॥
नहि त्वा शूरो न तुरो न धृष्णुर्न त्वा योधो मन्यमानो युयोध ।
इन्द्र नकिष्ट्वा प्रत्यस्त्येषां विश्वा जातान्यभ्यसि तानि ॥५॥

índra jāmáya utá yé 'jāmayo 'rvācīnáso vanúsho yuyujré | tvám eshāṃ vithurá ṡávāṅsi jahí vríshṇyāni kriṇuhí párācaḥ || 3 || ṡū́ro vā ṡū́raṃ vanate ṡárīrais tanūrúcā tárushi yát kriṇvaíte | toké vā góshu tánaye yád apsú ví krándasī urvárāsu brávaite || 4 || nahí tvā ṡū́ro ná turó ná dhrishṇúr ná tvā yodhó mányamāno yuyódha | índra nákish ṭvā práty asty eshāṃ víṡvā jātány abhy àsi táni || 5 || 19 ||

॥२०॥ स पत्यत उभयोर्नृम्णमयोर्यदी वेधसः समिथे हवन्ते ।
वृत्रे वा महो नृवति क्षये वा व्यचस्वन्ता यदि वितन्तसैते ॥६॥
अध स्मा ते चर्षणयो यदेजानिन्द्र त्रातोत भवा वरूता ।
अस्माकासो ये नृतमासो अर्य इन्द्र सूरयो दधिरे पुरो नः ॥७॥

sá patyata ubháyor nrimṇám ayór yádī vedhásaḥ samithé hávante | vritré vā mahó nriváti ksháye vā vyácasvantā yádi vitantasaíte || 6 || ádha smā te carshaṇáyo yád éjān índra trātótá bhavā varūtá | asmákāso yé nrítamāso aryá índra sūráyo dadhiré puró naḥ || 7 ||

O resplendent Lord, may you subdue the strength of all evil opponents whether our kinsmen or otherwise, when they present themselves before us and fight against us. May you enfeeble their strength and drive them away from us. 3

The enlightened person, the hero, assuredly kills evil tendencies by his inner strength under your protection, O Lord and (with your blessings) he wins in this conflict of equals in bodily prowess and personal strength, whilst both of them clamourously dispute over the possession of sons, grandsons, cattle, water or land. 4

But no one dares stand against you, neither a brave, nor a coward, nor a resolute, nor a fighter trusting in his valour. None of them is a match to you. Verily, you are the most powerful of all these persons. 5

Amidst the two disputants, that one acquires wealth, whose priests invoke Lord at worship in conflicts against powerful adversaries or in contention to gain dwellings among one's own relations. 6

O resplendent Lord, may you be the protector of our leading men at the time when they tremble with fear. May you be their saviour. Let those, who are chief leaders, be enjoyers and the worshippers who install them on high position be blessed by your favours. 7

अनु ते दायि मह इन्द्रियाय सत्रा ते विश्वमनु वृत्रहत्ये ।
अनु क्षत्रमनु सहो यजत्रेन्द्र देवेभिरनु ते नृषह्ये ॥८॥
एवा नः स्पृधः समजा समत्स्विन्द्र रारन्धि मिथतीरदेवीः ।
विद्याम वस्तोरवसा गृणन्तो भरद्वाजा उत त इन्द्र नूनम् ॥९॥

ánu te dāyi mahá indriyáya satrá te víṣvam ánu vṛitrahátye | ánu kshatrám ánu sáho yajatréndra devébhir ánu te nṛisháhye || 8 || evá na spṛídhaḥ sám ajā samátsv índra rārandhí mithatír ádevīḥ | vidyáma vástor ávasā gṛiṇánto bharádvājā utá ta indra nūnám || 9 || 20 ||

(२६) षड्विंशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२१॥ श्रुधी न इन्द्र ह्वयामसि त्वा महो वाजस्य सातौ वावृषाणाः ।
सं यद्विशोऽयन्त शूरसाता उग्रं नोऽवः पार्ये अहन्दाः ॥१॥
त्वां वाजी हवते वाजिनेयो महो वाजस्य गध्यस्य सातौ ।
त्वां वृत्रेष्विन्द्र सत्पतिं तरुत्रं त्वां चष्टे मुष्टिहा गोषु युध्यन् ॥२॥
त्वं कविं चोदयोऽर्कसातौ त्वं कुत्साय शुष्णं दाशुषे वर्क् ।
त्वं शिरो अमर्मणः पराहन्नतिथिग्वाय शंस्यं करिष्यन् ॥३॥

26.

Ṣrudhí na indra hváyāmasi tvā mahó vájasya sātaú vāvṛishāṇáḥ | sáṃ yád víṣó 'yanta ṣúrasātā ugráṃ nó 'vaḥ párye áhan dāḥ || 1 || tváṃ vājí havate vājineyó mahó vájasya gádhyasya sātaú | tváṃ vṛitréshv indra sátpatiṃ tárutraṃ tváṃ cashṭe mushṭihá góshu yúdhyan || 2 || tváṃ kavíṃ codayo 'rkásātau tváṃ kútsāya ṣúshṇaṃ dāṣúshe vark | tváṃ ṣíro amarmáṇaḥ párāhann atithigváya ṣáṅsyaṃ karishyán || 3 ||

O adorable Lord, all mighty powers have been successively conceded to you by Nature's bounties for the destruction of evil forces. O revered one, verily, in you is centered appropriate vigour and strength as well. 8

O powerful resplendent Lord, grant us the courage to fight the forces of evil. Inspire us to overthrow the godless demoniac forces that fight against us. May we the bearers of the light of knowledge adore you and thereby be privileged to obtain your favour. 9

26

O resplendent Lord, we invoke you with these spontaneously flowing streams of hymns for obtaining abundant food. Hear us and give us sure help when on a future day we assemble on the battle-field of life. 1

O resplendent Lord, the descendants of learned men place all their affluence at your feet and entreat you to acquire wealth and wisdom. You are the patron of those who are good and saviour when evil forces assail them. It is with your encouragement and guidance that he continues his duel as if with fists to win land and cattle. 2

You encourage the sage for the attainment of food of knowledge. It is you again who undo the evil for the safety of your wise devotee, the offerer of homage. For the welfare of the faithful one, dear as a guest, you humble down the wicked, the one who wrongly imagines himself invulnerable. 3

त्वं रथं प्र भरो योधमृष्वमावो युध्यन्तं वृषभं दशद्युम् ।
त्वं तुग्रं वेतसवे सचाहन्त्वं तुजिं गृणन्तमिन्द्र तूतोः ॥४॥
त्वं तदुक्थमिन्द्र बर्हणा कः प्र यच्छता सहस्रा शूर दर्षि ।
अव गिरेर्दासं शम्बरं हन्प्रावो दिवोदासं चित्राभिरूती ॥५॥

tvám̐ rátham prá bharo yodhám ṛishvám ávo yúdhyantam̐ vṛishabhám̐ dáṣadyum | tvám̐ túgram̐ vetasáve sácāhan tvám̐ tújim̐ gṛiṇántam indra tūtoḥ || 4 || tvám̐ tád ukthám indra barháṇā kaḥ prá yác chatá sahásrā ṣūra dárshi | áva girér dā́sam̐ ṣámbaram̐ han prā́vo dívodāsam̐ citrā́bhir ūtī́ || 5 || 21 ||

॥२२॥ त्वं श्रद्धाभिर्मन्दसानः सोमैर्दभीतये चुमुरिमिन्द्र सिष्वप् ।
त्वं रजिं पिठीनसे दशस्यन्षष्टिं सहस्रा शच्या सचाहन् ॥६॥
अहं चन तत्सूरिभिरानश्यां तव ज्याय इन्द्र सुम्नमोजः ।
त्वया यत्स्तवन्ते सधवीर वीरास्त्रिवरूथेन नहुषा शविष्ठ ॥७॥
वयं ते अस्यामिन्द्र द्युम्नहूतौ सखायः स्याम महिन प्रेष्ठाः ।
प्रातर्दनिः क्षत्रश्रीरस्तु श्रेष्ठो घने वृत्राणां सनये धनानाम् ॥८॥

tvám̐ ṣraddhā́bhir mandasānáḥ sómair dabhī́taye cúmurim indra sishvap | tvám̐ rajím̐ píṭhīnase daṣasyán shashṭím̐ sahásrā ṣácyā sácāhan || 6 || ahám̐ caná tát sūríbhir ānaṣyām̐ táva jyā́ya indra sumnám ójaḥ | tváyā yát stávante sadhavīra vīrā́s trivárūthena náhushā ṣavishṭha || 7 || vayám̐ te asyā́m indra dyumnáhūtau sákhāyaḥ syāma mahina préshṭhāḥ | prā́tardaniḥ kshatraṣrī́r astu ṣréshṭho ghané vṛitrā́ṇām̐ sanáye dhánānām || 8 || 22 ||

O resplendent Lord, you grant to the liberal giver a great chariot to contest in the struggle of life. You protect him while he is engaged in fighting for a long period. You subdue violent elements along with arrogance and you encourage the steadfast, who adores you. 4

O brave resplendent Lord, you accomplish a great task when you destroy hundred-thousand forees of the wicked. You put an end to the immoral thoughts coming out of our brain, and you bless the faithful and loyal devotees with your marvellous protections. 5

O Lord, pleased by libation offered with faith, you destroy the clinging sinful tendencies with a view to protect the disciplined people. You equip the faithful persons with ability, annihilate with your right lot of innumerable evils (as if sixty thousand warriors). 6

O resplendent, mightiest and brave, vanquisher of the evil, O triply-strong defender, may I along with my virtuous helpers, acquire your most excellent felicity and vigour which, as men believe, have been bestowed on your faithful devotees. 7

O revered resplendent Lord, may we, your friends, become most dear to you at this place of holy worship. May our illustrious defenders and preceptors be most glorious. May they be able to overcome the demoniac forces and may you shower on us affluence and prosperity. 8

(२७) सप्तविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः। (१-७) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चामिन्द्रः,
(८) अष्टम्याश्च चायमानस्याभ्यावर्तिनो दानं देवते। त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः॥

॥२३॥ किम॑स्य॒ मदे॒ किम्व॑स्य पी॒ताविन्द्रः॒ किम॑स्य स॒ख्ये च॑कार।
रणा॑ वा॒ ये नि॒षदि॒ किं ते अ॑स्य पु॒रा वि॑विद्रे॒ किमु॒ नूत॑नासः॥१॥
सद॑स्य॒ मदे॒ सद्व॑स्य पी॒ताविन्द्रः॒ सद॑स्य स॒ख्ये च॑कार।
रणा॑ वा॒ ये नि॒षदि॒ सत्ते अ॑स्य पु॒रा वि॑विद्रे॒ सदु॒ नूत॑नासः॥२॥
न॒हि नु ते॑ महि॒मनः॑ समस्य॒ न म॑घवन्मघव॒त्त्वस्य॑ वि॒द्म।
न राध॑सोराधसो॒ नूत॑न॒स्येन्द्र॒ नकि॑र्ददृश इन्द्रि॒यं ते॑॥३॥
ए॒तत्त्यत्त॑ इन्द्रि॒यम॑चेति॒ येनाव॑धीर्व॒रशि॑खस्य॒ शेषः॑।
वज्र॑स्य॒ यत्ते॒ निह॑तस्य॒ शुष्मा॑त्स्व॒नाच्चि॑दिन्द्र पर॒मो द॒दार॑॥४॥

27.

Kím asya máde kím v asya pītáv índraḥ kím asya sakhyé cakāra | ráṇā vā yé nishádi kíṃ té asya purá vividre kím u nútanāsaḥ || 1 || sád asya máde sád v asya pītáv índraḥ sád asya sakhyé cakara | ráṇā vā yé nishádi sát té asya purá vividre sád u nútanāsaḥ || 2 || nahí nú te mahimánaḥ samasya ná maghavan maghavattvásya vidmá | ná rádhaso-radhaso nútanasyéndra nákir dadṛiṣa indriyáṃ te || 3 || etát tyát ta indriyám aceti yénávadhīr varáṣikhasya ṣéshaḥ | vájrasya yát te níhatasya ṣúshmāt svanác cid indra paramó dadára || 4 ||

व॒धीदिन्द्रो॑ व॒रशि॑खस्य॒ शेषो॑ऽभ्याव॒र्तिने॑ चायमा॒नाय॒ शिक्ष॑न्।
वृ॒चीव॑तो॒ यद्ध॑रियू॒पीया॑यां॒ हन्पूर्वे॒ अर्धे॑ भि॒यसाप॑रो॒ दर्त्॥५॥

vádhīd índro varáṣikhasya ṣésho
'bhyāvartíne cāyamānáya ṣíkshan | vṛicívato yád dhariyūpíyāyāṃ hán púrve árdhe bhiyásáparo dárt || 5 || 23 ||

27

What has resplendent Lord done in the exhilaration (of the devotional prayers from us)? What has he done on quaffing this ? What has he done in friendship for this ? What have former, what have recent adorers, obtained from you in the chamber of their hearts ? 1

Verily, in the rapturous joy of divine love, the resplendent performs noble deeds, once quaffing the elixir of praises; or in friendship for this devotion the Lord accomplishes wonderful task. Adorers of old and recent times continue to obtain many benefits out of this to gladden the chamber of their hearts. 2

O bounteous Lord, we know not the extent of your vast magnitude, also we know not the limit of your abundance; no one has yet discerned the bounds of your power which reveals fresh forms every moment. 3

O resplendent Lord, we have witnessed with our eyes the resoluteness wherewith you subdue the vices of sense organs. The boldest of them was controlled at the mere noise of your bolt of punitive justice, hurled with all your force. 4

Favouring the wise persons, vigilant from all sides, born in the families of people serving with dedication, the resplendent Lord destroys the root of deceptive ignorance, killing crookedly wicked tendencies, resting in the front part of the heart, whilst the host of evils on the other part themselves scatter through fear. 5

॥२४॥ त्रिंशच्छतं वर्मिण इन्द्र साकं यव्यावत्यां पुरुहूत श्रवस्या ।
वृचीवन्तः शरवे पत्यमानाः पात्रा भिन्दाना न्यर्थान्यायन् ॥६॥
यस्य गावावरुषा सूयवस्यू अन्तरू षु चरतो रेरिहाणा ।
स सृञ्जयाय तुर्वशं परादाद्वृचीवतो दैववाताय शिक्षन् ॥७॥
द्वयाँ अग्ने रथिनो विंशतिं गा वधूमतो मघवा मह्यं सम्राट् ।
अभ्यावर्ती चायमानो ददाति दूणाशेयं दक्षिणा पार्थवानाम् ॥८॥

triṁśácchatam varmíṇa indra sākám yavyávatyām puruhūta ṣravasyá | vṛicívantaḥ ṣárave pátyamānāḥ pátrā bhindāná nyarthány āyan || 6 || yásya gávāv arushá sūyavasyú antár ū shú cárato rérihāṇā | sá sṛíñjayāya turváṣam párādād vṛicívato daivavātáya ṣíkshan || 7 || dvayāñ agne rathíno viṁṣatím gá vadhúmato maghávā máhyam samrát | abhyavartí cāyamānó dadāti dūṇáṣeyám dákshiṇā pārthavánām || 8 || 24 ||

(२८) अष्टाविंशं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । (१, ३-७) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयादिपञ्चानाञ्च गावः, (२, ८) द्वितीयाष्टम्योरिन्द्रो गावो वा देवताः । (१, ५-७) प्रथमर्चः पञ्चम्यादितृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, (२-४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य जगती, (८) अष्टम्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२५॥ आ गावो अग्मन्नुत भद्रमक्रन्त्सीदन्तु गोष्ठे रणयन्त्वस्मे ।
प्रजावतीः पुरुरूपा इह स्युरिन्द्राय पूर्वीरुषसो दुहानाः ॥१॥
इन्द्रो यज्वने पृणते च शिक्षत्युपेद्ददाति न स्वं मुषायति ।
भूयोभूयो रयिमिदस्य वर्धयन्नभिन्ने खिल्ये नि दधाति देवयुम् ॥२॥

28.

Ā́ gávo agmann utá bhadrám akran sídantu goshṭhé raṇáyantv asmé | prajávatīḥ pururúpā ihá syur índrāya pūrvír usháso dúhānāḥ || 1 || índro yájvane pṛiṇaté ca ṣikshaty úpéd dadāti ná svám mushāyati | bhúyo-bhūyo rayím íd asya vardháyann ábhinne khilyé ní dadhāti devayúm || 2 ||

O revered resplendent Lord, invoked by all, the host of evil passions, amounting to three thousand and odd, collect together in our body to acquire glory, but you render them ineffective. Your virtues defend the attack of an arrow and proceed ahead for the destruction of evils. 6

He, whose bright prancing steers (rays), delighted with suitable sustaining elements, proceed between heaven and earth, impels the benefactors to devote to a constructive work and the vigilant reformers to remove crooked and wicked elements. 7

O Lord revered, all-pervading, the sovereign of all, on both of us, rich and poor seated in chariots may you bestow charming divine damsels, and twenty divine cows, a gift hard to assure from any other source. 8

28

May cows come and bring us good fortune; let them stay in our cowsheds and enjoy in our company. May many coloured cows bring here prolific milk for offerings to the resplendent Lord at many dawns. 1

The resplendent Lord bestows affluence on the devotee who offers worship and oblations. He takes not what belongs to the worshipper and gives him more; thereby increasing his wealth more and ever-more, he places the devotee in fortified positions, free from danger. 2

न ता नशन्ति न दभाति तस्करो नासामामित्रो व्यथिरा दधर्षति ।
देवाँश्च याभिर्यजते ददाति च ज्योगित्ताभिः सचते गोपतिः सह ॥३॥
न ता अर्वा रेणुककाटो अश्नुते न संस्कृतत्रमुप यन्ति ता अभि ।
उरुगायमभयं तस्य ता अनु गावो मर्तस्य वि चरन्ति यज्वनः ॥४॥
गावो भगो गाव इन्द्रो मे अच्छान् गावः सोमस्य प्रथमस्य भक्षः ।
इमा या गावः स जनास इन्द्र इच्छामीद्धृदा मनसा चिदिन्द्रम् ॥५॥

ná tā́ naṣanti ná dabhāti táskaro nā́sām āmitró vyáthir ā́ dadharshati | devā́ṅṣ ca yā́bhir yájate dádāti ca jyóg ít tā́bhiḥ sacate gópatiḥ sahá || 3 || ná tā́ árvā reṇú-kakāto aṣnute ná saṃskṛitatrám úpa yanti tā́ abhí | uru-gāyám ábhayaṃ tásya tā́ ánu gā́vo mártasya ví caranti yájvanaḥ || 4 || gā́vo bhágo gā́va índro me achān gā́vaḥ sómasya prathamásya bhakshā́ḥ | imā́ yā́ gā́vah sá janāsa índra ichā́mī́d dhṛidā́ mánasā cid índram || 5 ||

यूयं गावो मेदयथा कृशं चिदश्रीरं चित्कृणुथा सुप्रतीकम् ।
भद्रं गृहं कृणुथ भद्रवाचो बृहद्वो वय उच्यते सभासु ॥६॥
प्रजावतीः सूयवसं रिशन्तीः शुद्धा अपः सुप्रपाणे पिबन्तीः ।
मा वः स्तेन ईशत माघशंसः परि वो हेती रुद्रस्य वृज्याः ॥७॥
उपेदमुपपर्चनमासु गोषूप पृच्यताम् ।
उप ऋषभस्य रेतस्युपेन्द्र तव वीर्ये ॥८॥

yūyáṃ gāvo medayathā kṛiṣáṃ cid aṣrīráṃ cit kṛiṇuthā suprátīkam | bhadráṃ gṛiháṃ kṛiṇutha bhadravāco bṛihád vo váya ucyate sabhā́su || 6 || prajā́vatīḥ sūyávasaṃ riṣántīḥ ṣuddhā́ apáḥ suprapāṇé píbantīḥ | mā́ va stená īṣata mā́gháṣaṅsaḥ pári vo hetí rudrásya vṛijyaḥ || 7 || úpedám upapárcanam āsú góshū́pa pṛicyatām | úpa ṛishabhásya rétasy úpendra táva vīryè || 8 || 25 ||

Let not the cows run away from us, let no thief carry them away; let no hostile weapon fall upon them. May the master of the cattle be long possessed of them, with the milk products of which he makes offerings and with which he serves the godly men. 3

Let not the cows fall a victim to the arrogant, dust-spurning war-horse. Let them not fall in the hands of a butcher or his shop. Let the cattle of the man, the householder, move about free and graze out of fear. 4

May the cows be our affluence; may the resplendent Lord grant us cattle; may the cows yield food (milk and butter) of the first libation. These cows, O men, are sacred as the Lord resplendent Himself,—the Lord whose blessings we crave for, with head and heart. 5

O cows, you strengthen even the worn-out and fatigued and make the unlovely beautiful to look on. Your lowing is auspicious, and makes my dwelling prosperous. Great is the abundance that is attributed to you in our religious ceremony. 6

May you, O cows, have many calves grazing upon good pastures and drinking pure water at accessible ponds. May no thief be your master. May no beast of prey assail you and may the dart of vital Lord never fall on you. 7

O resplendent Lord, a showerer of virility as you are, may we have by your blessings the sturdy bulls for insemination and let us have plenty of nourishment for the cows. 8

(२९) एकोनत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ इन्द्रं वो नरः सख्याय सेपुर्महो यन्तः सुमतये चकानाः ।
महो हि दाता वज्रहस्तो अस्ति महामु रण्वमवसे यजध्वम् ॥१॥
आ यस्मिन्हस्ते नर्या मिमिक्षुरा रथे हिरण्यये रथेष्ठाः ।
आ रश्मयो गभस्त्योः स्थूरयोराध्वन्नश्वासो वृषणो युजानाः ॥२॥

29.

Índram vo náraḥ sakhyā́ya sepur mahó yántaḥ sumatáye cakānā́ḥ | mahó hí dātā́ vájrahasto ásti mahā́m u raṇvám ávase yajadhvam || 1 || ā́ yásmin háste náryā mimikshúr ā́ ráthe hiraṇyáye ratheshṭhā́ḥ | ā́ raṣmáyo gábhastyo sthūráyor ā́dhvann áṣvāso vríshaṇo yujānā́ḥ || 2 ||

श्रिये ते पादा दुव आ मिमिक्षुर्धृष्णुर्वज्री शवसा दक्षिणावान् ।
वसानो अत्कं सुरभिं दृशे कं स्व१र्ण नृतविषिरो बभूथ ॥३॥
स सोम आमिश्लतमः सुतो भूद्यस्मिन्पक्तिः पच्यते सन्ति धानाः ।
इन्द्रं नरः स्तुवन्तो ब्रह्मकारा उक्था शंसन्तो देववाततमाः ॥४॥
न ते अन्तः शवसो धाय्यस्य वि तु बाबधे रोदसी महित्वा ।
आ ता सूरिः पृणति तूतुजानो यूथेवाप्सु समीजमान ऊती ॥५॥
एवेदिन्द्रः सुहव ऋष्वो अस्तूती अनूती हिरिशिप्रः सत्वा ।
एवा हि जातो असमात्योजाः पुरू च वृत्रा हनति नि दस्यून् ॥६॥

ṣriyé te pā́dā dúva ā́ mimikshur dhṛishṇúr vajrī́ ṣávasā dákshiṇāvān | vásāno átkam surabhím dṛiṣé kám svàr ṇá nṛitav ishiró babhūtha || 3 || sá sóma ā́mislatamaḥ sutó bhūd yásmin paktíḥ pacyáte sánti dhānā́ḥ | índram nára stuvánto brahmakārā́ ukthā́ ṣáṅsanto devávātatamāḥ || 4 || ná te ántaḥ ṣávaso dhāyy asyá ví tú bābadhe ródasī mahitvā́ | ā́ tā́ sūríḥ pṛiṇati tū́tujāno yūthévāpsú samī́jamāna ūtī́ || 5 || evéd índraḥ suháva ṛishvó astūtī́ ánūtī hiriṣipráḥ sátvā | evā́ hí jātó ásamātyojāḥ purū́ ca vṛitrā́ hanati ní dásyūn || 6 || 1 ||

29

O great men, your leading priests are propitiating resplendent Lord for His friendship and loving kindness. The judicious Lord is the greatest giver of gifts; worship Him to win His protection. 1

We hail our Lord in whose hands rests the well-being of men. He mounts on a golden, firmly-stationed cosmic chariot. With His firm arms He holds the reins. His forces, as if steeds, are well-yoked, and ready for the road. 2

Your devotees offer adoration at your feet for glory. You are the conqueror of ominous elements, resolute as thunderbolt, judicious, merciful and benevolent. After traversing the universe like the sun, you appear amidst us as if robed in a heavenly beautiful garment, which displays you as a charming dancer. 3

Your favourite libation is one that is full of devotion, replete with knowledge and good deeds, as if, a fire-offering of effused herbal juices, very well mixed with baked cakes and fried barley. Equipped with their virtues, your devotees, the admirers of Nature's bounties, extol you by singing hymns and offering dedication to you. 4

Your greatness is beyond measure. Even earth and heaven know not the limit of your grandness. Your devotees, hastening for the performance of a dedicated act, endeavour to keep you pleased with devotional offerings as the cowherd keeps cows pleased by taking them to a pond of water. 5

The lofty resplendent Lord is prompt to listen, decked with blue radiance, as if on his nose and chin, giver of wealth, whether coming or not coming to worship. May He with unparalleled might destroy all opposing evil forces and violent elements as soon as manifested. 6

(३०) त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२॥ भूय इद्वावृधे वीर्यायँ एको अजुर्यो दयते वसूनि ।
प्र रिरिचे दिव इन्द्रः पृथिव्या अर्धमिदस्य प्रति रोदसी उभे ॥१॥
अधा मन्ये बृहदसुर्यमस्य यानि दाधार नकिरा मिनाति ।
दिवेदिवे सूर्यो दर्शतो भूद्वि सद्मान्युर्विया सुक्रतुर्धात् ॥२॥

30.

Bhū́ya íd vāvridhe vīryā̀yañ éko ajuryó dayate vásūni | prá ririce divá índraḥ prithivyā́ ardhám íd asya práti ró-dasī ubhé || 1 || ádhā manye brihád asuryàm asya yā́ni dā-dhā́ra nákir ā́ mināti | divé-dive sū́ryo darṣató bhūd ví sád-māny urviyā́ sukrátur dhāt || 2 ||

अद्या चिन्नू चित्तदपो नदीनां यदाभ्यो अरदो गातुमिन्द्र ।
नि पर्वता अद्मसदो न सेदुस्त्वया दृळ्हानि सुक्रतो रजांसि ॥३॥
सत्यमित्तन्न त्वावाँ अन्यो अस्तीन्द्र देवो न मर्त्यो ज्यायान् ।
अहन्नहिं परिशयानमर्णोऽवासृजो अपो अच्छा समुद्रम् ॥४॥
त्वमपो वि दुरो विषूचीरिन्द्र दृळ्हमरुजः पर्वतस्य ।
राजाभवो जगतश्चर्षणीनां साकं सूर्यं जनयन्द्यामुषासम् ॥५॥

adyā́ cin nū́ cit tád ápo nadī́nāṃ yád ābhyo árado gātúm indra | ní párvatā admasádo ná sedus tváyā drilhā́ni sukrato rájāñsi || 3 || satyám ít tán ná tvā́vāñ anyó astī́ndra devó ná mártyo jyā́yān | áhann áhim pariṣáyānam árṇó 'vāsrijo apó áchā samudrám || 4 || tvám apó ví dúro víshūcīr índra drilhám arujaḥ pár-vatasya | rā́jābhavo jágataṣ carshaṇīnā́ṃ sākáṃ sū́ryaṃ ja-náyan dyā́m ushā́sam || 5 || 2 ||

30

The eternal resplendent Lord, augments ever more His glory for heroic deeds. He is chief of all and bestows riches. Whilst the sun illuminates only half of the globe, the Lord illuminates the entire universe and transcends both, heaven and earth. 1

I glorify His vast and evil-destroying nature. No one can resist Him from acting on what He once determines. Through His order, the sun is made visible everyday; and the regions are set and spread, near or far. 2

O the performer of benevolent deeds, verily, your act of liberation of rivers, whereby you direct them on their course is effective. Like men, quiet at meals, the mountains have settled down at their own places. Through your order the regions are made steadfast. 3

This is true, no one else is like you, O resplendent Lord, no divine power, nor any mortal is superior to you. You always destroy the dragon of dark forces who obstructs flow of thoughts and let free the streams to proceed to the ocean, the destination. 4

O resplendent Lord, you have set the obstructed thoughts free to flow in all directions. You have fractured the solid barrier of the cloud of dark forces. You are Lord over the people of the world, with your glory manifest in the sun, the sky and the dawn. 5

(३१) एकत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः सुहोत्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-३, ५) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्या ऋचश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्याश्च शक्वरी छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ अभूरेको रयिपते रयीणामा हस्तयोरधिथा इन्द्र कृष्टीः ।
वि तोके अप्सु तनये च सूरेऽवोचन्त चर्षणयो विवाचः ॥१॥
त्वद्भियेन्द्र पार्थिवानि विश्वाच्युता चिच्च्यावयन्ते रजांसि ।
द्यावाक्षामा पर्वतासो वनानि विश्वं दृळ्हं भयते अज्मन्ना ते ॥२॥

31.

Ábhūr éko rayipate rayīṇā́m ā́ hástayor adhithā indra kṛishṭīḥ | ví toké apsú tánaye ca sū́ré 'vocanta carshaṇáyo vívācaḥ || 1 || tvád bhiyéndra pā́rthivāni víṣvā́cyutā cic cyāvayante rájāṅsi | dyā́vākshā́mā párvatāso vánāni víṣvaṃ dṛiḷhám bhayate ájmann ā́ te || 2 ||

त्वं कुत्सेनाभि शुष्णमिन्द्राशुषं युध्य कुयवं गविष्टौ ।
दश प्रपित्वे अध सूर्यस्य मुषायश्चक्रमविवे रपांसि ॥३॥
त्वं शतान्यव शम्बरस्य पुरो जघन्थाप्रतीनि दस्योः ।
अशिक्षो यत्र शच्या शचीवो दिवोदासाय सुन्वते सुतक्रे भरद्वाजाय गृणते वसूनि ॥४॥
स सत्यसत्वन्महते रणाय रथमा तिष्ठ तुविनृम्ण भीमम् ।
याहि प्रपथिन्नवसोप मद्रिक्प्र च श्रुत श्रावय चर्षणिभ्यः ॥५॥

tvám kútsenābhí ṣúshṇam indrāṣúshaṃ yudhya kúyavaṃ gávishṭau | dáṣa prapitvé ádha sū́ryasya mushāyáṣ cakrám ávive rápāṅsi || 3 || tváṃ ṣatány áva ṣámbarasya púro jaghanthāpratíni dásyoḥ | áṣiksho yátra ṣácyā ṣacīvo dívodāsāya sunvaté sutakre bharádvājāya gṛiṇaté vásūni || 4 || sá satyasatvan mahaté ráṇāya rátham ā́ tishṭha tuvinṛimṇa bhīmám | yāhí prapathinn ávasópa madrík prá ca ṣruta ṣrāvaya carshaṇíbhyaḥ || 5 || 3 ||

31

O Lord of riches, you are the sovereign ruler over treasures. You hold people in your hands, and these mortals glorify you with various adorations to obtain sons, valiant grandsons, and sunlight. 1

Through your fear, O resplendent Lord, all the regions of the firmament cause the unfallen rain to precipitate, the heavens, the earth, the mountains, the forests, all the vast, solid creations of the world are frightened at your approach. 2

You help wise sage to fight against the inexhaustible exploiter. You destroy malice of the mental struggle. In conflicts you hold the wheel of the chariot of the sun and drive away the malignant spirits. 3

You destroy the hundreds of impregnable centres of powerful evil. O sagacious Lord, honoured by the homage, you in your liberality bestow riches upon the faithful friends, the learned and upon the enlightened singers hymning your praise. 4

O leader of true heroes, possessor of infinite wealth, may you mount your formidable car for the arduous conflict, come to me, O Lord, the persuer of a progressive path, for my protection. O illustrious Lord, make us worthy of honour amongst our fellow men. 5

(३२) द्वात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः सुहोत्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ अपूर्व्या पुरुतमान्यस्मै महे वीराय तवसे तुराय ।
विरप्शिने वज्रिणे शंतमानि वचांस्यासा स्थविराय तक्षम् ॥१॥
स मातरा सूर्येणा कवीनामवासयद्रुजदद्रिं गृणानः ।
स्वाधीभिर्ऋक्वभिर्वावशान उदुस्रियाणामसृजन्निदानम् ॥२॥

32.

Ápūrvyā purutámāny asmai mahé vīrā́ya taváse turā́ya | virapśíne vajríṇe śáṃtamāni vácāṅsy āsā́ sthávirāya taksham || 1 || sá mātárā sū́ryeṇā kavīnā́m ávāsayad rujád ádriṃ griṇānáḥ | svādhī́bhir ṛ́kvabhir vāvaśānā́ úd usríyāṇām asrijan nidā́nam || 2 ||

स वह्निभिर्ऋक्वभिर्गोषु शश्वन्मितज्ञुभिः पुरुकृत्वा जिगाय ।
पुरः पुरोहा सखिभिः सखीयन्दृळ्हा रुरोज कविभिः कविः सन् ॥३॥
स नीव्याभिर्जरितारमच्छा महो वाजेभिर्महद्भिश्च शुष्मैः ।
पुरुवीराभिर्वृषभ क्षितीनामा गिर्वणः सुविताय प्र याहि ॥४॥
स सर्गेण शवसा तक्तो अत्यैरप इन्द्रो दक्षिणतस्तुराषाट् ।
इत्था सृजाना अनपावृदर्थं दिवेदिवे विविषुरप्रमृष्यम् ॥५॥

sá váhnibhir ṛ́kvabhir góshu śáśvan mitájñubhiḥ purukṛ́tvā jigāya | púraḥ purohā́ sákhibhiḥ sakhīyán dṛiḷhā́ ruroja kavíbhiḥ kavíḥ sán || 3 || sá nīvyā̀bhir jaritā́ram ácha mahó vā́jebhir mahádbhiś ca śúshmaiḥ | puruvī́rābhir vṛishabha kshitīnā́m ā́ girvaṇaḥ suvitā́ya prá yāhi || 4 || sá sárgeṇa śávasā taktó átyair apá índro dakshiṇatás turāshā́ṭ | itthā́ sṛijānā́ ánapāvṛid ártham divé-dive vivishur apramṛishyám || 5 || 4 ||

32

I have fashioned in my words unprecedented, comprehensive, and gratifying praises to you, O mighty, heroic, powerful, speedy, adorable, and ancient wielder of justice. 1

Amidst the sages, with the Sun, He brightens the parents (earth and heaven) and glorified by them, He shatters the mountain of darkness, and casts off the fetters of kine (free thoughts) in fulfilment of the demands of the intent worshippers, and their prayers to that end. 2

He, the accomplisher of all deeds, together with His worshipper, ever offering oblations with bended knees, becomes successful in rescuing the cows (from the caves). He is friendly with his friends and far-seeing with the far-seeing. Being the destroyer of the citadels, He demolishes the strongholds of violent evil forces. 3

O showerer of blessings, propitiated by praise, come to him, who glorifies you, to make him happy amongst men with abundant food, new harvest, and exceeding strength for the welfare of mankind. 4

Endowed with natural force, possessed of swift vital power, the resplendent Lord, the overcomer of adversaries, sets free the streams of thoughts at the right time. Thus liberated, the waters of thoughts, expand daily to the insatiable goal, whence there is no returning. 5

(३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः शुनहोत्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ य ओजिष्ठ इन्द्र तं सु नो दा मदो वृषन्त्स्वभिष्टिर्दास्वान् ।
सौवश्व्यं यो वनवत्स्वश्वो वृत्रा समत्सु सासहदमित्रान् ॥१॥
त्वां हीऽ३न्द्रावसे विवाचो हवन्ते चर्षणयः शूरसातौ ।
त्वं विप्रेभिर्वि पणीँरशायस्त्वोत इत्सनिता वाजमर्वा ॥२॥

33.

Yá ójishtha indra tám sú no dā mádo vrishan sva-bhishṭír dásvān | saúvaṣvyam yó vanávat svásvo vritrá samátsu sāsáhad amítrān || 1 || tvám hìndrávase vívāco hávante carshaṇáyaḥ ṣūrasātau | tvám víprebhir ví paṇíñr aṣāyas tvóta ít sánitā vájam árvā || 2 ||

त्वं ताँ इन्द्रोभयाँ अमित्रान्दासा वृत्राण्यार्या च शूर ।
वधीर्वनेव सुधितेभिरत्कैरा पृत्सु दर्षि नृणां नृतम ॥३॥
स त्वं न इन्द्राकवाभिरूती सखा विश्वायुरविता वृधे भूः ।
स्वर्षाता यद्ध्वयामसि त्वा युध्यन्तो नेमधिता पृत्सु शूर ॥४॥
नूनं न इन्द्रापराय च स्या भवा मृळीक उत नो अभिष्टौ ।
इत्था गृणन्तो महिनस्य शर्मन्दिवि ष्याम पार्ये गोषतमाः ॥५॥

tvám táñ indrobhá-yāñ amítrān dásā vritrány áryā ca ṣūra | vádhīr váneva súdhitebhir átkair á pritsú darshi nriṇám nritama || 3 || sá tvám na indrákavābhir ūtí sákhā viṣváyur avitá vridhé bhūḥ | svàrshātā yád dhváyāmasi tvā yúdhyanto nemádhitā pritsú ṣūra || 4 || nūnám na indrāparáya ca syā bhávā mriḷīká utá no abhíshṭau | itthá griṇánto mahínasya ṣárman diví shyāma párye goshátamāḥ || 5 || 5 ||

33

O resplendent Lord, showerer of blessings, grant us a son, rich in vigour, a source of happiness, a pious worshipper, a liberal giver, the one who would, whilst mounted on an excellent horse, overthrows the entire cavalry and conquer opposing enemies in combats. 1

Men of divers speech invoke you, O resplendent Lord, for their defence in their struggles. O Lord, may we, with the association of wise sages, and with your grace, subdue greedy tendencies. May the benevolent worshipper obtain nourishment under your protection. 2

O brave radiant Lord, may you control both classes of people, friends and foes, virtuous and vicious. O chief leader of leaders, you cut your foes in pieces in battles with well-plied weapons, as a wood-cutter pierces forests. 3

O all-pervading resplendent Lord, may you be a friend, and a protector with irreproachable protections for our prosperity; when warring in number-thinning conflicts, we invoke you for the acquirement of wealth. 4

May you, O resplendent Lord, now and at all other times, be verily ours; may you, to our wish, grant us all happiness, and in this manner, worshipping at dawn, glorifying you, may we abide in your brilliant and unbounded felicity, O mighty one. 5

(३४) चतुस्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः शुनहोत्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ सं च त्वे जग्मुर्गिर इन्द्र पूर्वीर्वि च त्वद्यन्ति विभ्वो मनीषाः ।
पुरा नूनं च स्तुतय ऋषीणां पस्पृध्र इन्द्रे अध्युक्थार्का ॥१॥
पुरुहूतो यः पुरुगूर्त ऋभ्वाँ एकः पुरुप्रशस्तो अस्ति यज्ञैः ।
रथो न महे शवसे युजानोऽस्माभिरिन्द्रो अनुमाद्यो भूत् ॥२॥

34.

Sáṃ ca tvé jagmúr gíra indra pūrvír ví ca tvád yanti vibhvò manīsháḥ | purá nūnáṃ ca stutáya ríshīṇām paspridhrá índre ádhy ukthārká || 1 || puruhūtó yáḥ purugūrtá ríbhvāṅ ékaḥ purupraṣastó ásti yajñaíḥ | rátho ná mahé ṣávase yujānò 'smábhir índro anumádyo bhūt || 2 ||

न यं हिंसन्ति धीतयो न वाणीरिन्द्रं नक्षन्तीदभि वर्धयन्तीः ।
यदि स्तोतारः शतं यत्सहस्रं गृणन्ति गिर्वणसं शं तदस्मै ॥३॥
अस्मा एतद्दिव्यर्चेव मासा मिमिक्ष इन्द्रे न्ययामि सोमः ।
जनं न धन्वन्नभि सं यदापः सत्रा वावृधुर्हवनानि यज्ञैः ॥४॥
अस्मा एतन्मह्याङ्गूषमस्मा इन्द्राय स्तोत्रं मतिभिरवाचि ।
असद्यथा महति वृत्रतूर्य इन्द्रो विश्वायुरविता वृधश्च ॥५॥

ná yáṃ híṅsanti dhītáyo ná vāṇīr índraṃ nákshantíd abhí vardhá-yantīḥ | yádi stotáraḥ ṣatáṃ yát sahásraṃ griṇánti gírva-ṇasaṃ ṣáṃ tád asmai || 3 || ásmā etád divy àrcéva māsá mimikshá índre ny àyāmi sómaḥ | jánaṃ ná dhánvann abhí sáṃ yád ápaḥ satrá vāvridhur hávanāni yajñaíḥ || 4 || ásmā etán máhy āṅgūshám asmā índrāya stotrám matíbhir avāci | ásad yáthā mahatí vritratúrya índro viṣváyur avitá vridháṣ ca || 5 || 6 ||

34

O resplendent Lord, profuse praises and commendations diversely proceed to you. These prayers and hymns, revealed to seers, have been vieing today with each other, as in the past, in glorifying the supreme Lord. 1

The Supreme Lord, ever propitiated by us, is mighty and eminent, invoked by all, is especially honoured by sacred dedications and prayers. All of us are attached to Him for the attainment of great strength, as one to a chariot. 2

All praises contributing to His exaltation proceed to resplendent Lord, whom no acts, no words can harm. Hundreds and thousands of adorers glorify Him. He alone is worthy of supreme adoration, and as such, may you honour him with affection. 3

Loving devotional prayers of mixed up feelings in various forms have been composed for the Lord to be offered on the day of worship with reverence (as herbal juices in fire sacrifices). These praises, together with dedicated acts delight Him, as water delights a man who is in a desert. 4

To this Lord has this earnest eulogy been addressed by the devout, in order that the all-pervading Lord may be our defender and exalter when we are fighting against adversaries. 5

(३५) पञ्चत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजो नर ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ कदा भुवन्रथक्षयाणि ब्रह्म कदा स्तोत्रे सहस्रपोष्यं दाः ।
कदा स्तोमं वासयोऽस्य राया कदा धियः करसि वाजरत्नाः ॥१॥
कर्हि स्वित्तदिन्द्र यन्नृभिर्नॄन्वीरैर्वीरान्नीळयासे जयाजीन् ।
त्रिधातु गा अधि जयासि गोष्विन्द्र द्युम्नं स्वर्वद्धेह्यस्मे ॥२॥

35.

Kadā bhuvan ráthakshayāṇi bráhma kadā́ stotré sahasraposhyàṃ dāḥ | kadā́ stómaṃ vāsayo 'sya rāyā́ kadā́ dhíyaḥ karasi vā́jaratnāḥ || 1 || kárhi svit tád indra yán nṛ́bhir nṝ́n vīraír vīrā́n nīḷáyāse jáyājín | tridhā́tu gā́ ádhi jayāsi góshv índra dyumnáṃ svàrvad dhehy asmé || 2 ||

कर्हि स्वित्तदिन्द्र यज्जरित्रे विश्वप्सु ब्रह्म कृणवः शविष्ठ ।
कदा धियो न नियुतो युवासे कदा गोमघा हवनानि गच्छाः ॥३॥
स गोमघा जरित्रे अश्वश्चन्द्रा वाजश्रवसो अधि धेहि पृक्षः ।
पीपिहीषः सुदुघामिन्द्र धेनुं भरद्वाजेषु सुरुचो रुरुच्याः ॥४॥
तमा नूनं वृजनमन्यथा चिच्छूरो यच्छक्र वि दुरो गृणीषे ।
मा निररं शुक्रदुघस्य धेनोराङ्गिरसान्ब्रह्मणा विप्र जिन्व ॥५॥

kárhi svit tád indra yáj jaritré viṣvápsu bráhma kṛṇávaḥ ṣavishṭha | kadā́ dhíyo ná niyúto yuvāse kadā́ gómaghā hávanāni gachāḥ || 3 || sá gómaghā jaritré áṣvaṣcandrā vā́jaṣravaso ádhi dhehi príkshaḥ | pīpihī́shaḥ sudúghām indra dhenúm bharádvājeshu surúco rurucyāḥ || 4 || tám ā́ nūnáṃ vṛjánam anyáthā cic chū́ro yác chakra ví dúro gṛṇīshé | mā́ nír araṃ ṣukradúghasya dhenór āṅgirasā́n bráhmaṇa vipra jinva || 5 || 7 ||

35

When would your chariot reach its destination? When would our prayers be heard? When will you grant your devotees the means of maintaining thousands? When will you recompense our adorations with riches? When will you render our sacred works productive of nourishment. 1

O, resplendent Lord, when will you unify leaders with leaders, heroes with heroes, and give us victory in struggles? When will you let us win threefold metal-yielding earth (copper, silver and gold mines)? And when will you reward us with celestial glory? 2

O most vigorous Lord, when will you grant your worshipper that wealth which is all-sustaining? When will you yoke your vital powers, as we yoke intellect? When will you render our homage productive of wealth? 3

O resplendent Lord, may you grant wealth to your worshipper, which may bring him cattle, splendid horses, and renowned vigour. May you multiply nourishment, and strengthen the kine bright and shining to be easily milked by the enlightened bearers of knowledge. 4

O mighty resplendent Lord, destroyer of evils, let our adversary take a different course. We glorify you as you are inspirer of brave. Never may I desist from the praise of the provider of excellent gifts. May you satisfy the sages with zeal and wealth. 5

(३६) षट्त्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजो नर ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

सत्रा मदासस्तव विश्वजन्याः सत्रा रायोऽध ये पार्थिवासः ।
सत्रा वाजानामभवो विभक्ता यद्देवेषु धारयथा असुर्यम् ॥१॥
अनु प्र येजे जन ओजो अस्य सत्रा दधिरे अनु वीर्याय ।
स्यूमगृभे दुधयेऽर्वते च क्रतुं वृञ्जन्त्यपि वृत्रहत्ये ॥२॥

36.

Satrā́ mádāsas táva viṣvájanyāḥ satrā́ rā́yó 'dha ye pā́rthivāsaḥ | satrā́ vā́jānām abhavo vibhaktā́ yád devéshu dhāráyathā asuryàm || 1 || ánu prá yeje jána ójo asya satrā́ dadhire ánu vīryā̀ya | syūmagṛíbhe dúdhayé 'rvate ca krátuṃ vṛiñjanty ápi vṛitrahátye || 2 ||

तं सध्रीचीरूतयो वृष्ण्यानि पौंस्यानि नियुतः सश्चुरिन्द्रम् ।
समुद्रं न सिन्धव उक्थशुष्मा उरुव्यचसं गिर आ विशन्ति ॥३॥
स रायस्खामुप सृजा गृणानः पुरुश्चन्द्रस्य त्वमिन्द्र वस्वः ।
पतिर्बभूथासमो जनानामेको विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजा ॥४॥
स तु श्रुधि श्रुत्या यो दुवोयुर्द्यौर्न भूमाभि रायो अर्यः ।
असो यथा नः शवसा चकानो युगेयुगे वयसा चेकितानः ॥५॥

tám sadhrícīr ūtáyo vṛíshṇyāni paúṅsyāni niyútaḥ saṣcur índram | samudrám ná síndhava ukthásushmā uruvyácasaṃ gíra ā́ viṣanti || 3 || sá rāyás khā́m úpa sṛijā gṛiṇānáḥ puruṣcandrásya tvám indra vásvaḥ | pátir babhūthā́samo jánānām éko víṣvasya bhúvanasya rā́jā || 4 || sá tú ṣrudhi ṣrútyā yó duvoyúr dyaúr ná bhū́mābhí rā́yo aryáḥ | áso yáthā naḥ ṣávasā cakānó yugé-yuge váyasā cékitānah || 5 || 8 ||

36

Truly are your exhilarations as well as your riches which exist on earth beneficial to all men. Truly are you the distributor of food, whereby you maintain vigour amongst cosmic powers. 1

The worshippers praise especially the strength of that resplendent Lord. Verily, they rely upon Him for courageous deeds. They offer worship to Him who is the seizer of adversaries, the assailant,—marching in columns of forces—, who is the subduer of foes, and who is known for the destruction of the devil of ignorance. 2

The associated vital principles, heroic spirits, virile strength and all the harnessed energies serve resplendent Lord in His cosmic deeds. Also powerful prayers flow to His glory as rivers flow into the ocean. 3

Glorified by us, O resplendent Lord may you let the stream of much-delighting, home-conferring affluence, flow freely, as you are the unequalled sovereign Lord of men, and the sole sovereign of all the world. 4

O resplendent Lord, may you listen to our laudations. Verily, you are gratified by our adoration, and, like the sun, cast away the deep shadows of dark forces, you are endowed with strength. We glorify you and present to you our off rings, and homage. May you keep yourself in close proximity with us, just as you have been always, in every era of the past. 5

(३७) सप्तत्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥९॥ अर्वाग्रथं विश्ववारं त उग्रेन्द्र युक्तासो हरयो वहन्तु ।
कीरिश्चिद्धि त्वा हवते स्वर्वानृधीमहि सधमादस्ते अद्य ॥१॥
प्रो द्रोणे हरयः कर्माग्मन्पुनानास ऋज्यन्तो अभूवन् ।
इन्द्रो नो अस्य पूर्व्यः पपीयाद्द्युक्षो मदस्य सोम्यस्य राजा ॥२॥
आसस्राणासः शवसानमच्छेन्द्रं सुचक्रे रथ्यासो अश्वाः ।
अभि श्रव ऋज्यन्तो वहेयुर्नू चिन्नु वायोरमृतं वि दस्येत् ॥३॥

37.

Arvág rátham viṣvávāram ta ugréndra yuktáso hárayo vahantu | kīríṣ cid dhí tvā hávate svàrvān ṛidhīmáhi sadhamádas te adyá || 1 || pró dróṇe hárayaḥ kármāgman punānása ṛíjyanto abhūvan | índro no asyá pūrvyáḥ papīyād dyukshó mádasya somyásya rájā || 2 || āsasrāṇásaḥ ṣavasānám áchéndram sucakré rathyàso áṣvāḥ | abhí ṣráva ṛíjyanto vaheyur nú cin nú vāyór amṛítam ví dasyet || 3 ||

वरिष्ठो अस्य दक्षिणामियर्तीन्द्रो मघोनां तुविकूर्मितमः ।
यया वज्रिवः परियास्यंहो मघा च धृष्णो दयसे वि सूरीन् ॥४॥
इन्द्रो वाजस्य स्थविरस्य दातेन्द्रो गीर्भिर्वर्धतां वृद्धमहाः ।
इन्द्रो वृत्रं हनिष्ठो अस्तु सत्वा ता सूरिः पृणति तूतुजानः ॥५॥

várishṭho asya dákshiṇām iyartíndro maghónām tuvikūr mítamaḥ | yáyā vajrivaḥ pariyásy áṅho maghá ca dhṛishṇo dáyase ví sūrín || 4 || índro vájasya sthávirasya dāténdro gīrbhír vardhatām vṛiddhámahāḥ | índro vṛitrám hánishṭho astu sátvā tá sūríḥ pṛiṇati tútujānaḥ || 5 || 9 ||

37

O vigorous resplendent Lord, let your speedy rays of radiance bring your much coveted chariot to us. Your devoted adorer, verily, invokes you. May we today share your exhilaration, and thereby increase our happiness. 1

The ever-new devotional lyrics sung continuously at our sacred worship and sanctified, proceed direct into the pitcher of cosmos. May the eternal illustrious sovereign Lord of these exhilarating praises drink this elixir of our devotional love. 2

May the everywhere-going straight-proceeding speedy aura of divine glory convey the mighty resplendent Lord in His strong-wheeled chariot to our works; and never may the ambrosial devotion waste in wind. 3

The resplendent Lord, superb in strength, the performer of many great deeds, appreciates the contributions of the liberal donor amongst the opulent for public good. Thereby He, the wielder of punitive justice, removes sin, and with resolute firmness of purpose, bestows riches upon the worshippers. 4

Resplendent Lord, the illustrous one, is the donor of substantial nourishments. We make His glory widely known through our praises. May He be the destroyer of an adversary. Verily, He is the especial slayer of the clouds of Nescience. He, the animator, the quick-mover, grants us much-desired riches. 5

(३८) अष्टात्रिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ अपादित उदु नश्चित्रतमो महीं भर्षद्द्युमतीमिन्द्रहूतिम् ।
पन्यसीं धीतिं दैव्यस्य यामञ्जनस्य रातिं वनते सुदानुः ॥१॥
दूराच्चिदा वसतो अस्य कर्णा घोषादिन्द्रस्य तन्यति ब्रुवाणः ।
एयमेनं देवहूतिर्ववृत्यान्मद्र्य१गिन्द्रमियमृच्यमाना ॥२॥

38.

Ápād itá úd u nas citrátamo mahím bharshad dyumátīm índrahūtim | pányasīm dhītím daívyasya yáman jánasya rātím vanate sudánuh || 1 || dūrác cid á vasato asya kárnā ghóshād índrasya tanyati bruvānáh | éyám enam deváhūtir vavrityān madryàg índram iyám ricyámānā || 2 ||

तं वो धिया परमया पुराजामजरमिन्द्रमभ्यनूष्यर्कैः ।
ब्रह्मा च गिरो दधिरे समस्मिन्महाँश्च स्तोमो अधि वर्धदिन्द्रे ॥३॥
वर्धाद्यं यज्ञ उत सोम इन्द्रं वर्धाद्ब्रह्म गिर उक्था च मन्म ।
वर्धाहैनमुषसो यामन्नक्तोर्वर्धान्मासाः शरदो द्याव इन्द्रम् ॥४॥
एवा जज्ञानं सहसे असामि वावृधानं राधसे च श्रुताय ।
महामुग्रमवसे विप्र नूनमा विवासेम वृत्रतूर्येषु ॥५॥

tám vo dhiyá paramáyā purājám ajáram índram abhy ànūshy arkaíh | bráhmā ca gíro dadhiré sám asmin maháns ca stómo ádhi vardhad índre || 3 || várdhād yám yajñá utá sóma índram várdhād bráhma gíra ukthá ca mánma | várdháhainam usháso yámann aktór várdhān másāh sarádo dyáva índram || 4 || evá jajñānám sáhase ásāmi vāvridhānám rádhase ca srutáya | mahám ugrám ávase vipra nūnám á vivāsema vritratúryeshu || 5 || 10 ||

38

May the most marvellous resplendent Lord drink from this loving cup of devotion. May He accept our earnest and brilliant invocations. May the munificent Lord accept the offering and the praiseworthy adoration at the place of sacred work of the devout worshipper. 1

Reciting His praise, the worshipper calls aloud, so that by the sound it may reach the ear of Lord, even if He is far off. May this invocation entreating Him to come, bring the Lord in close proximity of the devotee. 2

I glorify Him, the undecaying and ever loving resplendent Lord, with hymns and with pious worship. All our offerings and praises proceed to Him and increase in glory when so addressed. 3

He is the resplendent Lord, whom our worship and offerings exalt. He is the Lord, whom the oblations, the praises, the prayers, the adorations exalt, whom the course of day and night exalts, and whom years, months and days exalt. 4

So, O all-wise resplendent Lord, may we today propitiate you for conquering our foes. You are manifested in the creation. You are mighty and free and your glory is greatly augmenting. We invoke you for the sake of wealth, fame and protection, and for the destruction of our evil impulses, hostile to us. 5

(३९) एकोनचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ मन्द्रस्य कवेर्दिव्यस्य वह्नेर्विप्रमन्मनो वचनस्य मध्वः ।
अपा नस्तस्य सचनस्य देवेषो युवस्व गृणते गोअग्राः ॥१॥
अयमुशानः पर्यद्रिमुस्रा ऋतधीतिभिर्ऋतयुग्युजानः ।
रुजदरुग्णं वि वलस्य सानुं पणींर्वचोभिरभि योधदिन्द्रः ॥२॥

39.

Mandrásya kavér divyásya váhner vípramanmano vacanásya mádhvaḥ | ápā nas tásya sacanásya devésho yuvasva griṇaté góagraḥ || 1 || ayám uṣānáḥ páry ádrim usrá ritádhıtibhir ritayúg yujānáḥ | rujád árugṇaṃ ví valásya sánum paníṃr vácobhir abhí yodhad índraḥ || 2 ||

अयं द्योतयदद्युतो व्य१क्तून्दोषा वस्तोः शरद इन्दुरिन्द्र ।
इमं केतुमदधुर्नू चिदह्नां शुचिजन्मन उषसश्चकार ॥३॥
अयं रोचयदरुचो रुचानो३ऽयं वासयद्व्यृ१तेन पूर्वीः ।
अयमीयत ऋतयुग्भिरश्वैः स्वर्विदा नाभिना चर्षणिप्राः ॥४॥
नू गृणानो गृणते प्रत्न राजन्निषः पिन्व वसुदेयाय पूर्वीः ।
अप ओषधीरविषा वनानि गा अर्वतो नॄनृचसे रिरीहि ॥५॥

ayáṃ dyotayad adyúto vy àktū́n doshá vástoḥ ṣaráda índur indra | imáṃ ketúm adadhur nū́ cid áhnāṃ ṣúcijanmana ushásaṣ cakāra || 3 || ayáṃ rocayad arúco rucānó 'yáṃ vāsayad vy ṛiténa pūrvíḥ | ayám īyata ritayúgbhir áṣvaiḥ svarvídā nábhinā carshaṇipráḥ || 4 || nū́ griṇānó griṇaté pratna rajann íshaḥ pinva vasudéyāya pūrvíḥ | apá óshadhır avishá vánāni gá árvato nṛín ricáse rirīhi || 5 || 11 ||

39

O resplendent self, may you cherish our sweet, exhilarating, inspiring, celestial, fruit-yielding loving devotion, commended by the wise. It is worthy of praise and acceptance. May you, O divine Lord, bestow upon your worshipping devotees food and milk, the prime product of the cow. 1

Determind to recover the knowledge concealed in dark rocks of mystic heart, the soul associated with vital breaths, and animated by their veracious activity shatter the infrangible rock of the sinful mind and overwhelm the selfish greed with reproaches. 2

The moon brightens up dark nights, and the sun brightens morns, days and seasons. Ancient people establish it as the ensign of days and it has made the dawns, born in splendour. 3

This radiant sun illumines the non-radiant worlds. He pervades many dawns with true lustre. The Sun, the benefactor of men, moves in a chariot drawn by horses, harnessed by praises laden with riches. 4

O sovereign Lord of eternity, when glorified, may you bestow abundant food upon him who praises you, and to whom affluence is due. May you grant to the worshipper water, plants, innoxious woods, cattle, horses, and men. 5

(४०) चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ इन्द्र पिब तुभ्यं सुतो मदायाव स्य हरी वि मुचा सखाया ।
उत प्र गाय गण आ निषद्याथा यज्ञाय गृणते वयो धाः ॥१॥
अस्य पिब यस्य जज्ञान इन्द्र मदाय क्रत्वे अपिबो विरप्शिन् ।
तमु ते गावो नर आपो अद्रिरिन्दुं समह्यन्पीतये समस्मै ॥२॥

40.

Indra píba túbhyam sutó mádayáva sya hárī ví mucā sákhāyā | utá prá gāya gaṇá á nishádyáthā yajñáya griṇaté váyo dhāḥ || 1 || ásya piba yásya jajñāná indra mádāya krátve ápibo virapṣin | tám u te gávo nára ápo ádrir índum sám ahyan pītáye sám asmai || 2 ||

समिद्धे अग्नौ सुत इन्द्र सोम आ त्वा वहन्तु हरयो वहिष्ठाः ।
त्वायता मनसा जोहवीमीन्द्रा याहि सुविताय महे नः ॥३॥
आ याहि शश्वदुशता ययाथेन्द्र महा मनसा सोमपेयम् ।
उप ब्रह्माणि शृणव इमा नोऽथा ते यज्ञस्तन्वे३ वयो धात् ॥४॥
यदिन्द्र दिवि पार्ये यदृधग्यद्वा स्वे सदने यत्र वासि ।
अतो नो यज्ञमवसे नियुत्वान्त्सजोषाः पाहि गिर्वणो मरुद्भिः ॥५॥

sámiddhe agnaú sutá indra sóma á tvā vahantu hárayo váhishṭhāḥ | tvayatá mánasā johavīmíndrá yāhi suvitáya mahé naḥ || 3 || á yāhi ṣáṣvad uṣatá yayāthéndra mahá mánasā somapéyam | úpa bráhmāṇi sriṇava imá nó 'thā te yajñás tanvè váyo dhāt || 4 || yád indra diví párye yád ṛídhag yád vā své sádane yátra vási | áto no yajñám ávase niyútvān sajóshāḥ pāhi girvaṇo marúdbhiḥ || 5 || 12 ||

40

O resplendent self, may you partake of this joy, which is effused for your exhilaration. May you restrain your friendly senses. May you among other forces respond to our hymns. May you provide strength to him who lauds and honours you. 1

May you, O mighty soul, drink this nector, which you have tested as soon as born for the purpose of promoting great deeds. This divine elixir has been prepared for you by the joint collaboration of cows, the priests, waters and stones. 2

The sacred fire is kindled, spiritual joy is experienced; let vigorous senses bring you here. I invoke you here, O innerself, with an attitude wholly devoted to you; please come here for our pleasure and prosperity. 3

You have been associating yourself in the similar efforts. May you come now with a generous attitude to accept our loving devotion. May you hear our praises. May the worshipper offer homage to glorify your personality. 4

O resplendent self, whether you abide in the distant heaven, in any other place, or in your own abode, or wheresoever you be, from there may you being propitiated by praise, harness your energy and associated with vital principles be well pleased to protect our worship for our preservation. 5

(४१) एकचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ अहेळमान उप याहि यज्ञं तुभ्यं पवन्त इन्दवः सुतासः ।
गावो न वज्रिन्त्स्वमोको अच्छेन्द्रा गहि प्रथमो यज्ञियानाम् ॥१॥
या ते काकुत्सुकृता या वरिष्ठा यया शश्वत्पिबसि मध्व ऊर्मिम् ।
तया पाहि प्र ते अध्वर्युरस्थात्सं ते वज्रो वर्ततामिन्द्र गव्युः ॥२॥

41.

Áheḷamāna úpa yāhi yajñáṃ túbhyam pavanta índavaḥ sutā́saḥ | gā́vo ná vajrin svám óko áchéndrā́ gahi prathamó yajñíyānām || 1 || yā́ te kākút súkṛitā yā́ várishṭhā yáyā ṣáṣvat píbasi mádhva ūrmím | táyā pāhi prá te adhvaryúr asthāt sáṃ te vájro vartatām indra gavyúḥ || 2 ||

एष द्रप्सो वृषभो विश्वरूप इन्द्राय वृष्णे समकारि सोमः ।
एतं पिब हरिवः स्थातरुग्र यस्येशिषे प्रदिवि यस्ते अन्नम् ॥३॥
सुतः सोमो असुतादिन्द्र वस्यानयं श्रेयाञ्चिकितुषे रणाय ।
एतं तितिर्व उप याहि यज्ञं तेन विश्वास्तविषीरा पृणस्व ॥४॥
ह्वयामसि त्वेन्द्र याह्यर्वाङरं ते सोमस्तन्वे भवाति ।
शतक्रतो मादयस्वा सुतेषु प्रास्माँ अव पृतनासु प्र विक्षु ॥५॥

eshá drapsó vṛishabhó viṣvárūpa índrāya vṛíshṇe sám akāri sómaḥ | etám piba hariva sthātar ugra yásyéṣishe pradívi yás te ánnam || 3 || sutáḥ sómo ásutād indra vásyān ayáṃ ṣréyāñ cikitúshe ráṇāya | etáṃ titirva úpa yāhi yajñáṃ téna víṣvās távishīr ā́ pṛiṇasva || 4 || hváyāmasi tvéndra yāhy arvā́ñ áraṃ te sómas tanvè bhavāti | ṣátakrato mādáyasvā sutéshu prásmā́ñ ava pṛ́itanāsu prá vikshú || 5 || 13 ||

41

O un-irascible resplendent Lord, may you come to bless our sacred works. The sweet elixir of devotional songs has been offered to you with pure hearts. O wielder of punitive justice, the devotional elixir flows towards you, as cows assemble in their stalls. Come, O Lord, The first of those, who are worthy of respect. 1

O resplendent Lord, may you relish these devotional expressions with well-pleased and generous heart, just as one consumes sweet elixir with expanded tongue. The ministrant priest stands here before you. O resplendent Lord, let your adamantine justice be hurled against our evil tendencies, for the recovery of our shrouded conscience. 2

This dropping omniform elixir of devotional expressions, O Lord, the showerer of benefits, has been duly prepared for you, the granter of blessings, possessor of radiant rays, ruler over all and omnipotent. May you, O Lord, drink this, over which you have a natural first privilege and which is your food. 3

O resplendent Lord, the prayer coming out of a heart is more effective than that which is merely verbal, just as effused elixir is superior to the one not effused. You are the best judge, of which of the two, would give you pleasure. You are capable of subduing harmful tendencies. May you approach this worship, and thereby strengthen Nature's forces in our interest. 4

We invoke you, O resplendent Lord, come down. May our elixir of loving devotion be sufficient for your satisfaction. May you be delighted, O performer of hundreds of selfless deeds, with our reverential homage. May you defend us in our struggles against wicked people. 5

(४२) द्विचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्यानुष्टुप् , (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्च बृहती छन्दसी ॥

॥१४॥ प्रत्यस्मै पिपीषते विश्वानि विदुषे भर ।
अरंगमाय जग्मयेऽपश्चाद्दघ्वने नरे ॥१॥

42.

Práty asmai pípīshate víṣvāni vidúshe bhara | araṃga-
máya jágmayé 'paṣcāddaghvane náre || 1 ||

एमेनं प्रत्येतन सोमेभिः सोमपातमम् ।
अमत्रेभिर्ऋजीषिणमिन्द्रं सुतेभिरिन्दुभिः ॥२॥
यदी सुतेभिरिन्दुभिः सोमेभिः प्रतिभूषथ ।
वेदा विश्वस्य मेधिरो धृषत्तंतमिदेषते ॥३॥
अस्माअस्मा इदन्धसोऽध्वर्यो प्र भरा सुतम् ।
कुवित्समस्य जेन्यस्य शर्धतोऽभिशस्तेरवस्परत् ॥४॥

ém enam pra-
tyétana sómebhiḥ somapátamam | ámatrebhir ṛijīshíṇam ín-draṃ sutébhir índubhiḥ || 2 || yádī sutébhir índubhiḥ sóme-
bhiḥ pratibhúshatha | védā víṣvasya médhiro dhṛishát táṃ
-tam íd éshate || 3 || asmá-asmā íd ándhasó 'dhvaryo prá
bharā sutám | kuvít samasya jényasya ṣárdhato 'bhíṣaster
avaspárat || 4 || 14 ||

42

May you offer the homage to him who is desirous to relish it; who knows all things, whose movements are all-sufficient and who goes readily to help sacred works. He is always a true leader, never a follower. 1

Just as one proceeds with sweet drinks to a quaffer, may you with your loving devotion, proceed to the proximity of the earnest acceptor of the spiritual prayers. Go to the vigorous Lord, with the vessels of your heart filled with loving devotion. 2

May you come to the sagacious Lord with well-thought, intense and overflowing devotion. He knows your inner desires. He, the suppressor of adversities, assuredly grants your wish whatever it may be. 3

May you offer, O priest, to Him, and Him alone this homage of sacrificial food, and may He ever defend us against the malignity of every superable adversary 4

(४३) त्रिचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ यस्य त्यच्छम्बरं मदे दिवोदासाय रन्धयः । अयं स सोम इन्द्र ते सुतः पिब ॥१॥
यस्य तीव्रसुतं मदं मध्यमन्तं च रक्षसे । अयं स सोम इन्द्र ते सुतः पिब ॥२॥
यस्य गा अन्तरश्मनो मदे दृळ्हा अवासृजः । अयं स सोम इन्द्र ते सुतः पिब ॥३॥
यस्य मन्दानो अन्धसो माघोनं दधिषे शवः । अयं स सोम इन्द्र ते सुतः पिब ॥४॥

43.

Yásya tyác chámbaram máde dívodāsāya randháyaḥ | ayám sá sóma indra te sutáḥ píba || 1 || yásya tīvrasútam mádam mádhyam ántaṃ ca rákshase | ayáṃ sá — || 2 || yásya gā́ antár áṣmano máde dṛiḷhā́ avā́sṛijaḥ | ayáṃ sá — || 3 || yásya mandānó ándhaso mā́ghonaṃ dadhishé ṣá-vaḥ | ayáṃ sá — || 4 || 15 ||

(४४) चतुश्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-२४) चतुर्विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यः शंयुर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-६) प्रथमादितृचद्वयस्यानुष्टुप्, (७, ९-२४) सप्तम्या नवम्यादिषोडशानाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (८) अष्टम्याश्च विराट् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१६॥ यो रयिवो रयिन्तमो यो द्युम्नैर्द्युम्नवत्तमः ।
सोमः सुतः स इन्द्र तेऽस्ति स्वधापते मदः ॥१॥
यः शग्मस्तुविशग्म ते रायो दामा मतीनाम् ।
सोमः सुतः स इन्द्र तेऽस्ति स्वधापते मदः ॥२॥
येन वृद्धो न शवसा तुरो न स्वाभिरूतिभिः ।
सोमः सुतः स इन्द्र तेऽस्ति स्वधापते मदः ॥३॥

44.

Yó rayivo rayíṃtamo yó dyumnaír dyumnávattamaḥ | sómaḥ sutáḥ sá indra té 'sti svadhāpate mádaḥ || 1 || yáḥ ṣagmás tuviṣagma te rāyó dāmā́ matīnā́m | sómaḥ sutáḥ — || 2 || yéna vṛiddhó ná ṣávasā turó ná svā́bhir ūtíbhiḥ | só-maḥ sutáḥ — || 3 ||

43

Here is that elixir of devotion offered to you, O resplendent Lord, in the exhilaration of which you subdue dark clouds of ignorance for the sake of the servants of the divine order. This is expressed for you O resplendent, please accept and rejoice. 1

Here is this sweet elixir of devotional praises, the exhilarating words of which, when freshly composed and recited as offerings at dawn, or at noon, or at the evening worship you cherish. This is expressed for you, O resplendent, please accept and rejoice. 2

Here is this nectar, in the exhilaration of which you liberate the intellect, firmly concealed within the rocks of ignorance. This is expressed for you, O resplendent, please accept and rejoice. 3

O resplendent Lord, you become magnanimous when you are exhilarated by our offerings of devotional elixir. This is expressed for you, O resplendent, please accept and rejoice. 4

44

O opulent Lord, here is an elixir, abounding in riches and most splendrous in glory. O resplendent Lord, master of all food offerings, this elixir of loving devotion has been effused for your exhilaration. 1

O possessor of felicity, here is an elixir, which is delightful and the bestower of wealth and wisdom on your votaries. O resplendent Lord, master of all food offerings, this elixir of loving devotion has been effused for your exhilaration. 2

Here is this elixir poured out whereby you augment in strength, and, together with your defending vital forces become victorious. O resplendent Lord, master of all food offerings, this elixir of loving devotion has been effused for your exhilaration. 3

त्यमु वो अप्रहणं गृणीषे शवसस्पतिम् ।
इन्द्रं विश्वासाहं नरं मंहिष्ठं विश्वचर्षणिम् ॥४॥
यं वर्धयन्तीद्गिरः पतिं तुरस्य राधसः ।
तमिन्न्वस्य रोदसी देवी शुष्मं सपर्यतः ॥५॥
तद्व उक्थस्य बर्हणेन्द्रायोपस्तृणीषणि ।
विपो न यस्योतयो वि यद्रोहन्ति सक्षितः ॥६॥
अविदद्दक्षं मित्रो नवीयान्पपानो देवेभ्यो वस्यो अचैत् ।
ससवान्स्तौलाभिर्धौतरीभिरुरुष्या पायुरभवत्सखिभ्यः ॥७॥

tyám u vo ápraha ṇa ṃ grinīshé ṣávasas pátim | índraṃ viṣvāsāham náram máṅhishṭhaṃ viṣvácarshaṇim || 4 || yáṃ vardháyantíd gírah pátiṃ turásya rádhasaḥ | tám ín nv àsya ródasī deví ṣúshmaṃ saparyataḥ || 5 || 16 ||

tád va ukthásya barháṇéndrāyopastriṇīsháṇi | vípo ná yásyotáyo ví yád róhanti sakshítaḥ || 6 || ávidad dáksham mitró návīyān papānó devébhyo vásyo acait | sasaván staulábhir dhautárībhir urushyá pāyúr abhavat sákhibhyaḥ || 7 ||

ऋतस्य पथि वेधा अपायि श्रिये मनांसि देवासो अक्रन् ।
दधानो नाम महो वचोभिर्वपुर्दृशये वेन्यो व्यावः ॥८॥
द्युमत्तमं दक्षं धेह्यस्मे सेधा जनानां पूर्वीररातीः ।
वर्षीयो वयः कृणुहि शचीभिर्धनस्य सातावस्माँ अविड्ढि ॥९॥
इन्द्र तुभ्यमिन्मघवन्नभूम वयं दात्रे हरिवो मा वि वेनः ।
नकिरापिर्ददृशे मर्त्यत्रा किमङ्ग रध्रचोदनं त्वाहुः ॥१०॥

ritásya pathí vedhá apāyi ṣriyé mánāṅsi deváso akran | dádhāno náma mahó vácobhir vápur driṣáye venyó vy àvaḥ || 8 || dyumáttamaṃ dákshaṃ dhehy asmé sédhā jánānām pūrvír árātīḥ | várshīyo váyaḥ kriṇuhi ṣácībhir dhánasya sātáv asmáñ aviḍḍhi || 9 || índra túbhyam ín maghavann abhūma vayáṃ dātré harivo má ví venaḥ | nákir āpír dadriṣe martyatrá kím aṅgá radhracódanaṃ tvāhuḥ || 10 || 17 ||

For you I glorify that Lord, who never harms any one, who is the Lord of strength, the all-subduing, the leader of ceremonies, the most splendid and the beholder of the universe. 4

The divine heaven and earth adore that vigour of Him which our hymns glorify. He appropriates the wealth of wicked persons. 5

For your seating, resplendent Lord, I shall spread the carpet of eulogy for our protections and aids, which abide in you for all times, and which grow and extend like the songs of a wise singer. 6

Resplendent Lord appreciates him who is skilled in holy works. He is friendly to devotees and while accepting the expression of loving devotion, He bestows excellent wealth upon the devout. He relishes dedication and moving swiftly as if borne by robust impetous steeds, who protects His faithful devotees through His benevolence. 7

The All-wise abiding by His Eternal Law accepts the elixir of devotional love. The worshippers present it to the Self for His gladdening. May He, the humiliator of His opponents, possessor of a vast firmament, propitiated by our praises, make His beauteous form apparent. 8

May you bestow upon us most brilliant vigour; oppose the numerous adversaries of your worshippers; grant us, for our pious acts, abundant vital food and help us graciously in the enjoyment of wealth. 9

We turn to you, O resplendent Lord, possessor of affluence, the bountiful and Lord of vital forces. Be not unfavourable to us. No other kinsman amongst men, have we to look to; why else do they call you the bestower of wealth ? 10

॥१८॥ मा जस्वने वृषभ नो ररीथा मा ते रेवतः सख्ये रिषाम ।
पूर्वीष्ट इन्द्र निष्षिधो जनेषु जह्यसुष्वीन्प्र वृहापृणतः ॥११॥
उदभ्राणीव स्तनयन्नियर्तीन्द्रो राधांस्यश्व्यानि गव्या ।
त्वमसि प्रदिवः कारुधाया मा त्वादामान आ दभन्मघोनः ॥१२॥
अध्वर्यो वीर प्र महे सुतानामिन्द्राय भर स ह्यस्य राजा ।
यः पूर्व्याभिरुत नूतनाभिर्गीर्भिर्वावृधे गृणतामृषीणाम् ॥१३॥

má jásvane vrishabha no rarīthā má te revátaḥ sakhyé rishāma | pūrvísh ṭa indra nishshídho jáneshu jahy ásushvīn prá vrihápriṇataḥ || 11 || úd abhrāṇīva stanáyann iyartíndro rádhāṅsy áṣvyāni gávyā | tvám asi pradívaḥ kārúdhāyā má tvādāmána á dabhan maghónaḥ || 12 || ádhvaryo vīra prá mahé sutánām índrāya bhara sá hy àsya rájā | yáḥ pūrvyábhir utá nútanābhir gīrbhír vāvṛidhé grinatám ríshīṇām || 13 ||

अस्य मदे पुरु वर्पांसि विद्वानिन्द्रो वृत्राण्यप्रती जघान ।
तमु प्र होषि मधुमन्तमस्मै सोमं वीराय शिप्रिणे पिबध्यै ॥१४॥
पाता सुतमिन्द्रो अस्तु सोमं हन्ता वृत्रं वज्रेण मन्दसानः ।
गन्ता यज्ञं परावतश्चिदच्छा वसुर्धीनामविता कारुधायाः ॥१५॥

asyá máde purú várpāṅsi vidván índro vritrány aprati jaghāna | tám u prá hoshi mádhumantam asmai sómam vīráya ṣipríṇe píbadhyai || 14 || pátā sutám índro astu sómam hántā vritrám vájreṇa mandasānáḥ | gántā yajñám parāvátaṣ cid áchā vásur dhīnám avitá kārúdhāyaḥ || 15 || 18 ||

Give us not, O showerer of benefits, to the wicked. Relying upon your friendship, O Lord of riches, may we remain unharmed. Many are the boons you distribute amongst men; may you demolish those who make no libation, and root out those who present no offerings. 11

As thundering raises the clouds, in a similar way, resplendent Lord showers riches of horses and cattle on His devotees. O Lord, you are the eternal upholder of the worshippers; let not the opulent deceive you by not presenting you homage. 12

Ministrant priests offer homage to the mighty Lord, for He is their king, and has been exalted by the ancient and recent hymns and praises of adoring sages. 13

In the exhilaration of the elixir of devotional love, the all-wise irresistible Lord destroyes numerous opposing evils. May you offer the sweet-flavoured beverage of love to the brave Lord, charming as a person with handsome nose and chin. 14

May the resplendent Lord be the drinker of this effused elixir of devotional love, and exhilarated by it, become the destroyer of the devil of ignorance by the bolt of His punitive justice. May He, the patron of artists and lover of sacred lores, come even from afar, to our place of work and worship. 15

॥१९॥

इदं त्यत्पात्रमिन्द्रपानमिन्द्रस्य प्रियममृतमपायि ।
मत्सद्यथा सौमनसाय देवं व्य१स्मद्द्वेषो युयवद्व्यंहः ॥१६॥
एना मन्दानो जहि शूर शत्रूञ्जामिमजामिं मघवन्नमित्रान् ।
अभिषेणाँ अभ्या३देदिशानान्पराच इन्द्र प्र मृणा जही च ॥१७॥
आसु ष्मा णो मघवन्निन्द्र पृत्स्व१स्मभ्यं महि वरिवः सुगं कः ।
अपां तोकस्य तनयस्य जेष इन्द्र सूरीन्कृणुहि स्मा नो अर्धम् ॥१८॥

idáṃ tyát pátram indrapánam índrasya priyám amrítam apāyi | mátsad yáthā saumanasáya deváṃ vy àsmád dvésho yuyávad vy áṅhaḥ || 16 || enā́ mandānó jahí ṣūra ṣátrūñ jāmím ájāmim maghavann amítrān | abhishenā́ṅ abhy ādédiṣānān párāca indra prá mriṇā jahī́ ca || 17 || āsú shmā ṇo maghavann indra pritsv àsmábhyam máhi várivaḥ sugáṃ kaḥ | apáṃ tokásya tánayasya jeshá' índra sūrī́n kriṇuhí smā no ardhám || 18 ||

आ त्वा हरयो वृषणो युजाना वृषरथासो वृषरश्मयोऽत्याः ।
अस्मत्राञ्चो वृषणो वज्रवाहो वृष्णे मदाय सुयुजो वहन्तु ॥१९॥
आ ते वृषन्वृषणो द्रोणमस्थुर्घृतप्रुषो नोर्मयो मदन्तः ।
इन्द्र प्र तुभ्यं वृषभिः सुतानां वृष्णे भरन्ति वृषभाय सोमम् ॥२०॥

॥२०॥

वृषासि दिवो वृषभः पृथिव्या वृषा सिन्धूनां वृषभः स्तियानाम् ।
वृष्णे त इन्दुर्वृषभ पीपाय स्वादू रसो मधुपेयो वराय ॥२१॥

ā́ tvā hárayo vríshaṇo yujānā́ vrísharathāso vrísharaṣmayó 'tyāḥ | asmatrā́ñco vríshaṇo vajravā́ho vríshṇe mádāya suyújo vahantu || 19 || ā́ te vrishan vríshaṇo dróṇam asthur ghritaprúsho nórmáyo mádantaḥ | índra prá túbhyaṃ vríshabhiḥ sutā́nāṃ vríshṇe bharanti vrishabhā́ya sómam || 20 || 19 ||

vríshāsi divó vrishabháḥ prithivyā́ vríshā síndhūnāṃ vrishabhá stíyānām | vríshṇe ta índur vrishabha pīpāya svādú ráso madhupéyo várāya || 21 ||

May this celestial ambrosia, the appropriate beverage of the resplendent Lord, which He loves, be consumed by Him. So that it may inspire the divine forces with favourable feelings towards us, and that He may remove from us our adversaries, and iniquity. 16

Exhilarated by it, O valiant, bounteous Lord please eliminate our unfriendly adversaries, may they be our kinsmen or unrelated. O resplendent Lord, put these hostile forces to flight and destroy them who are menacing to us. 17

O affluent resplendent Lord, may you facilitate to us the acquirement of vast riches in our life struggles and enable us to gain victory. May you make us prosperous with rain, and with sons and grandsons. 18

Let your vigorous vital energies, harnessed of their own will, bring you here and also your chariot with strong reins. This chariot is quick-moving, hastening towards us, youthful, thunder-bearing, well-yoked and bountiful. 19

O mighty resplendent Lord, your vigorous, water-shedding beams of rays like waves of the sea, are harnessed as horses to your cosmic chariot. O showerer of blessings, ever youthful, we offer to you the homage of our loving devotion, expressed by our mental and physical endeavours, just as the herbal juice by two stones. 20

O resplendent Lord, you are the showerer of bliss, the bedewer of earth, the feeder of the rivers, the supplier of the aggregated waters. O fulfiller of all aspirations, you are the most excellent shedder of rain, the sweet elixir, verily, our loving devotion, as if honey-flavoured juice is offered for your acceptance. 21

॥१९॥ इदं त्यत्पात्रमिन्द्रपानमिन्द्रस्य प्रियममृतमपायि ।
मत्सद्यथा सौमनसाय देवं व्य१स्मद्द्वेषो युयवद्व्यंहः ॥१६॥
एना मन्दानो जहि शूर शत्रूञ्जामिमजामिं मघवन्नमित्रान् ।
अभिषेणाँ अभ्या३देदिशानान्पराच इन्द्र प्र मृणा जही च ॥१७॥
आसु ष्मा णो मघवन्निन्द्र पृत्स्व१स्मभ्यं महि वरिवः सुगं कः ।
अपां तोकस्य तनयस्य जेष इन्द्र सूरीन्कृणुहि स्मा नो अर्धम् ॥१८॥

idáṃ tyát pátram indrapánam índrasya priyám amrítam apāyi | mátsad yáthā saumanasáya devám vy àsmád dvésho yuyávad vy áñhaḥ || 16 || ená mandānó jahí ṣūra ṣátrūñ jāmím ájāmim maghavann amítrān | abhisheṇáñ abhy àdédiṣānān párāca indra prá mriṇā jahí ca || 17 || āsú shmā ṇo maghavann indra pritsv àsmábhyam máhi várivaḥ sugáṃ kaḥ | apáṃ tokásya tánayasya jeshá• índra sūrín kriṇuhí smā no ardhám || 18 ||

आ त्वा हरयो वृषणो युजाना वृषरथासो वृषरश्मयोऽत्याः ।
अस्मत्राञ्चो वृषणो वज्रवाहो वृष्णे मदाय सुयुजो वहन्तु ॥१९॥
आ ते वृषन्वृषणो द्रोणमस्थुर्घृतप्रुषो नोर्मयो मदन्तः ।
इन्द्र प्र तुभ्यं वृषभिः सुतानां वृष्णे भरन्ति वृषभाय सोमम् ॥२०॥
॥२०॥ वृषासि दिवो वृषभः पृथिव्या वृषा सिन्धूनां वृषभः स्तियानाम् ।
वृष्णे त इन्दुर्वृषभ पीपाय स्वादू रसो मधुपेयो वराय ॥२१॥

á tvā hárayo vríshaṇo yujāná vrísharathāso vrísharaṣmayó 'tyāḥ | asmatráñco vríshaṇo vajraváho vríshṇe mádāya suyújo vahantu || 19 || á te vrishan vríshaṇo dróṇam asthur ghritaprúsho nórmáyo mádantaḥ | índra prá túbhyaṃ vríshabhiḥ sutánāṃ vríshṇe bharanti vrishabháya sómam || 20 || 19 ||

vríshāsi divó vrishabháḥ prithivyá vríshā síndhūnāṃ vrishabhá stíyānām | vríshṇe ta índur vrishabha pīpāya svādú ráso madhupéyo várāya || 21 ||

May this celestial ambrosia, the appropriate beverage of the resplendent Lord, which He loves, be consumed by Him. So that it may inspire the divine forces with favourable feelings towards us, and that He may remove from us our adversaries, and iniquity. 16

Exhilarated by it, O valiant, bounteous Lord please eliminate our unfriendly adversaries, may they be our kinsmen or unrelated. O resplendent Lord, put these hostile forces to flight and destroy them who are menacing to us. 17

O affluent resplendent Lord, may you facilitate to us the acquirement of vast riches in our life struggles and enable us to gain victory. May you make us prosperous with rain, and with sons and grandsons. 18

Let your vigorous vital energies, harnessed of their own will, bring you here and also your chariot with strong reins. This chariot is quick-moving, hastening towards us, youthful, thunder-bearing, well-yoked and bountiful. 19

O mighty resplendent Lord, your vigorous, water-shedding beams of rays like waves of the sea, are harnessed as horses to your cosmic chariot. O showerer of blessings, ever youthful, we offer to you the homage of our loving devotion, expressed by our mental and physical endeavours, just as the herbal juice by two stones. 20

O resplendent Lord, you are the showerer of bliss, the bedewer of earth, the feeder of the rivers, the supplier of the aggregated waters. O fulfiller of all aspirations, you are the most excellent shedder of rain, the sweet elixir, verily, our loving devotion, as if honey-flavoured juice is offered for your acceptance. 21

अयं देवः सहसा जायमान इन्द्रेण युजा पणिमस्तभायत् ।
अयं स्वस्य पितुरायुधानीन्दुरमुष्णादशिवस्य मायाः ॥२२॥
अयमकृणोदुषसः सुपत्नीरयं सूर्ये अदधाज्ज्योतिरन्तः ।
अयं त्रिधातु दिवि रोचनेषु त्रितेषु विन्दद्मृतं निगूळ्हम् ॥२३॥
अयं द्यावापृथिवी वि ष्कभायदयं रथमयुनक्सप्तरश्मिम् ।
अयं गोषु शच्या पक्वमन्तः सोमो दाधार दशयन्त्रमुत्सम् ॥२४॥

ayáṃ deváḥ sáhasā jā́yamāna índreṇa yujā́ paṇím astabhāyat | ayáṃ svásya pitúr ā́yudhānī́ndur amushṇād áṣivasya māyā́ḥ || 22 || ayám akriṇod ushásaḥ supátnīr ayáṃ sū́rye adadhāj jyótir antáḥ | ayáṃ tridhā́tu diví rocanéshu tritéshu vindad amṛ́tam nígūḷham || 23 || ayáṃ dyā́vāpṛithiví ví shkabhāyad ayáṃ rátham ayunak saptáraṣmim | ayáṃ góshu ṣácyā pakvám antáḥ sómo dādhāra dáṣayantram útsam || 24 || 20 ||

(४५) पञ्चचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशदृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यः शंयुर्ऋषिः । (१-३०) प्रथमादित्रिंशदृचामिन्द्रः, (३१-३३) एकत्रिंश्यादितृचस्य च बृबुस्तक्षा देवते । (१-२८, ३०-३२) प्रथमाद्यष्टाविंशत्यृचां त्रिंश्यादितृचस्य च गायत्री, (२९) एकोनत्रिंश्या अतिनिचृत्, (३३) त्रयस्त्रिंश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२१॥ य आनयत्परावतः सुनीती तुर्वशं यदुम् । इन्द्रः स नो युवा सखा ॥१॥
अविप्रे चिद्वयो दधदनाशुना चिदर्वता । इन्द्रो जेता हितं धनम् ॥२॥
महीरस्य प्रणीतयः पूर्वीरुत प्रशस्तयः । नास्य क्षीयन्त ऊतयः ॥३॥
सखायो ब्रह्मवाहसेऽर्चत प्र च गायत । स हि नः प्रमतिर्मही ॥४॥
त्वमेकस्य वृत्रहन्नविता द्वयोरसि । उतेदृशे यथा वयम् ॥५॥

45.

Yá ā́nayat parāvátaḥ súnītī turváṣaṃ yádum | índraḥ sá no yúvā sákhā || 1 || aviprá cid váyo dádhad anāṣúnā cid árvatā | índro jétā hitáṃ dhánam || 2 || mahī́r asya práṇītayaḥ pūrvī́r utá práṣastayaḥ | nā́sya kshīyanta ūtáyaḥ || 3 || sákhāyo bráhmavāhasé ’rcata prá ca gāyata | sá hí naḥ prámatir mahī́ || 4 || tvám ékasya vṛitrahann avitā́ dváyor asi | utédṛíṣe yáthā vayám || 5 || 21 ||

This divine elixir, an associate of Lord resplendent, as soon as, manifested, crushes greedy exploiters. This heavenly nectar baffles the devices and the delusions of the malignant usurpers of wealth and wisdom. 22

This celestial nectar makes the dawns happily wedded to the sun. This nectar places the light within the solar orb; this nectar helps to discover threefold ambrosia hidden in heaven and the three radiant regions. 23

This heavenly ambrosia sustains heaven and earth; this harnesses the seven-rayed chariot of the sun, this nectar develops, of its own accord, the mature and cohesive secretions in the kine. 24

45

May that youthful Lord supreme be our friend, who, by good guidance, brings the spirit of wisdom and hard work together. 1

Resplendent Lord gives sustenance, even to the duel and undevout. He wins with a slow pace the wealth accummulated by dishonest and greedy. 2

Vast are His designs, manifold are His praises, and His protections are never withdrawn. 3

Offer worship and praises, friends, to Him who is worthy to be pleased by prayers; for, verily, He is our great providence. 4

He is eliminator of evil forces and protector of faithful devotees, whether they are one or more than one, common or uncommon, of such as we are. 5

॥२२॥

नयसीद्वति द्विषः कृणोष्युक्थशंसिनः । नृभिः सुवीर उच्यसे ॥६॥
ब्रह्माणं ब्रह्मवाहसं गीर्भिः सखायमृग्मियम् । गां न दोहसे हुवे ॥७॥
यस्य विश्वानि हस्तयोरूचुर्वसूनि नि द्विता । वीरस्य पृतनाषहः ॥८॥
वि दृळ्हानि चिदद्रिवो जनानां शचीपते । वृह माया अनानत ॥९॥
तमु त्वा सत्य सोमपा इन्द्र वाजानां पते । अहूमहि श्रवस्यवः ॥१०॥

náyasíd v áti dvíshaḥ krinóshy ukthaṣaṅsínaḥ | nríbhiḥ suvíra ucyase || 6 || brahmáṇam bráhmavāhasaṃ gīrbhíḥ sákhāyam ṛigmíyam | gā́ṃ ná doháse huve || 7 || yásya víṣvāni hástayor ūcúr vásūni ní dvitā́ | vīrásya pṛitanāsháhaḥ || 8 || ví driḷháni cid adrivo jánānāṃ ṣacīpate | vrihá māyā́ anānata || 9 || tám u tvā satya somapā índra vājānām pate | áhūmahi ṣravasyávaḥ || 10 || 22 ||

॥२३॥

तमु त्वा यः पुरासिथ यो वा नूनं हिते धने । हव्यः स श्रुधी हवम् ॥११॥
धीभिरर्वद्भिरर्वतो वाजाँ इन्द्र श्रवाय्यान् । त्वया जेष्म हितं धनम् ॥१२॥
अभूरु वीर गिर्वणो महाँ इन्द्र धने हिते । भरे वितन्तसाय्यः ॥१३॥

tám u tvā yáḥ purásitha yó vā nūnáṃ hité dháne | hávyaḥ sá ṣrudhī hávam || 11 || dhībhír árvadbhir árvato vā́jāṅ indra ṣraváyyān | tváyā jeshma hitáṃ dhánam || 12 || ábhūr u vīra girvaṇo mahā́ṅ indra dháne hité | bháre vitantasā́yyaḥ || 13 ||

You remove them far from here who hate us, and make them prosperous who repeat your praises. O bestower of sons, brave and excellent, you are glorified by all men. 6

With hymns I invoke resplendent Lord, our friend, who is supreme preceptor, adept in divine lore, is pleased by devotion, and is worthy of adoration, yielding rewards as a cow yields milk. 7

The sages declare, He is the heroic subduer of evil forces. And He governs all the treasures of both the worlds, spiritual or material or of heaven and earth. 8

He is the executor of punitive justice, and is the Lord of resplendence. He demolishes the formidable castles of evil genius and Himself being invincible, baffles the devices of the wicked. 9

O veracious resplendent Lord, as you are delighted by loving devotion, and provide sustenance, we desirous of nourishment, invoke such as you are. 10

We invoke you as you have been constantly invoked from eternity and even now you are being prayed for wealth and wisdom. May you respond to our invocation. 11

O resplendent Lord, with the aid of your blessings followed by our prayers, may we win over the vital powers of our foes by our vital powers, and conquer abundant food and wealth, so far held by hostile elements. 12

Brave and adorable resplendent Lord, verily, your aid is unsurpassable in life-struggles, and for us, you are the victor of the wealth, yet held by our opponents. 13

या ते ऊतिरमित्रहन्मक्षूजवस्तमासति । तया नो हिनुही रथम् ॥१४॥
स रथेन रथीतमोऽस्माकेनाभियुग्वना । जेषि जिष्णो हितं धनम् ॥१५॥
॥२३॥ य एक इत्तमु ष्टुहि कृष्टीनां विचर्षणिः । पतिर्जज्ञे वृषक्रतुः ॥१६॥
यो गृणतामिदासिथापिरूती शिवः सखा । स त्वं न इन्द्र मृळय ॥१७॥
धिष्व वज्रं गभस्त्यो रक्षोहत्याय वज्रिवः । सासहीष्ठा अभि स्पृधः ॥१८॥

yā́ ta ūtír amitrahan makshū́javastamā́sati | táyā no hinuhī rátham || 14 || sá ráthena rathítamo 'smā́kenābhiyúgvanā | jéshi jishṇo hitám dhánam || 15 || 23 ||

yá éka ít tám u shṭuhi kṛishṭīnā́m vícarshaṇiḥ | pátir jajñé vṛíshakratuḥ || 16 || yó gṛiṇatā́m íd ā́sithāpír ūtī́ ṣiváḥ sákhā | sá tvám na indra mṛiḷaya || 17 || dhishvá vájram gábhastyo rakshohátyāya vajrivaḥ | sāsahīshṭhā́ abhí spṛídhaḥ || 18 ||

प्रत्नं रयीणां युजं सखायं कीरिचोदनम् । ब्रह्मवाहस्तमं हुवे ॥१९॥
स हि विश्वानि पार्थिवाँ एको वसूनि पत्यते । गिर्वणस्तमो अध्रिगुः ॥२०॥
॥२४॥ स नो नियुद्भिरा पृण कामं वाजेभिरश्विभिः । गोमद्भिर्गोपते धृषत् ॥२१॥
तद्वो गाय सुते सचा पुरुहूताय सत्वने । शं यद्गवे न शाकिने ॥२२॥

pratnám rayīṇā́m yújam sákhāyam kīricódanam | bráhmavāhastamam huve || 19 || sá hí víṣvāni pā́rthivāñ éko vásūni pátyate | gírvaṇastamo ádhriguḥ || 20 || 24 ||

sá no niyúdbhir ā́ pṛiṇa kā́mam vā́jebhir aṣvíbhiḥ | gómadbhir gopate dhṛishát || 21 || tád vo gāya suté sáca puruhūtáya sátvane | ṣám yád gáve ná ṣākíne || 22 ||

O destroyer of evil forces, your driving force has a vigour of exceeding swiftness. May you impel our chariots to speed. 14

O victorious Lord, you are the most skilful of those who drive a chariot. May you win wealth for us, through the efforts of our progressive chariot of vital force. 15

May you glorify that resplendent Lord, who, alone and on His own, supervises, and is the Lord of each and every one—, the showerer of blessings. 16

O resplendent Lord, you have always been the friend of those who sing your glory. You have been providing security and happiness through your protection. May you provide happiness to us. 17

O wielder of the bolt of justice, take the bolt in your hands for the destruction of the cruel and faithless, and utterly overthrow those who defy you. 18

I invoke the eternal Lord, who is the giver of prosperity, friend, the invigorator of His adorers, and who is worthy to be propitiated by sacred hymns. 19

He alone rules over all terrestrial riches. He is irresistible, and is worthy of unique reverence. 20

O Lord of wealth and wisdom, may you come with your harnessed teams to fulfil our wishes and grant us food for nourishment, cows for milk and horses for speed. 21

O priests, may you sing glory of Lord, who is invoked by all and the subduer of adversaries. Do it when you are ready to recite your devotional hymns. This gives delight to Lord just as fresh pastures to cattle. 22

न घा वसुर्नि यमते दानं वाजस्य गोमतः । यत्सीमुप श्रवद्गिरः ॥२३॥
कुवित्संस्य प्र हि व्रजं गोमन्तं दस्युहा गमत् । शचीभिरप नो वरत् ॥२४॥
इमा उ त्वा शतक्रतोऽभि प्र णोनुवुर्गिरः । इन्द्र वत्सं न मातरः ॥२५॥

ná ghā vásur ní yamate dānám vā́jasya gómataḥ | yát sīm úpa ṣrávad gíraḥ || 23 || kuvítsasya prá hí vrajám gómantam dasyuhā́ gámat | ṣácībhir ápa no varat || 24 || imā́ u tvā ṣatakrato 'bhí prá ṇonuvur gíraḥ | índra vatsám ná mātáraḥ || 25 || 25 ||

॥२६॥ दूणाशं सख्यं तव गौरसि वीर गव्यते । अश्वो अश्वायते भव ॥२६॥
स मन्दस्वा ह्यन्धसो राधसे तन्वा महे । न स्तोतारं निदे करः ॥२७॥
इमा उ त्वा सुतेसुते नक्षन्ते गिर्वणो गिरः । वत्सं गावो न धेनवः ॥२८॥
पुरूतमं पुरूणां स्तोतॄणां विवाचि । वाजेभिर्वाजयताम् ॥२९॥
अस्माकमिन्द्र भूतु ते स्तोमो वाहिष्ठो अन्तमः । अस्मान्राये महे हिनु ॥३०॥
अधि बृबुः पणीनां वर्षिष्ठे मूर्धन्नस्थात् । उरुः कक्षो न गाङ्ग्यः ॥३१॥

dūṇā́ṣam sakhyám táva gaúr asi vīra gavyaté | áṣvo aṣvāyaté bhava || 26 || sá mandasvā hy ándhaso — || 27 || imā́ u tvā suté-sute nákshante girvaṇo gíraḥ | vatsám gā́vo ná dhenávaḥ || 28 || purūtámam purūṇā́m stotṝṇā́m vívāci | vā́jebhir vājayatā́m || 29 || asmā́kam indra bhūtu te stómo vā́hishṭho ántamaḥ | asmā́n rāyé mahé hinu || 30 || ádhi bribúḥ paṇīnā́m várshishṭhe mūrdhánn asthāt | urúḥ káksho ná gāñgyáḥ || 31 ||

The resplendent Lord, who is granter of dwelling, does not withhold the reward of food and cattle, or of vital strength and wisdom, when He hears our praises. 23

The Lord, the destroyer of wicked, proceeds to the cattle-crowded folds of the butchers and by His actions opens the gates, and releases the cattle for us. 24

O Lord, performer of various noble deeds, may our praises repeatedly recur to you as parents go to a young child. 25

Your friendship, O brave resplendent Lord, is not easily lost. You give wisdom to him who aspires for wisdom and vitality to him who aspires for vitality. 26

O Lord, may you be delighted with the devotional love offered by devotees for obtaining vast treasures. May you subject not your worshipper to his reviler. 27

O resplendent Lord, glorified by our devotional hymns, our laudations rapidly flow to you as the milch-kine hasten to their calves. 28

May the praises of all worshippers, offered at the place of worship, accompanied by sacred viands, invigorate you, O destroyer of all evil forces. 29

May our more elevating praises reach you, O Lord, and may you inspire us to strive for progress and prosperity. 30

The cosmic architect presides over the high places of the men of commerce and business like the elevated banks of a river, moving towards plains. 31

यस्य वायोरिव द्रवद्भद्रा रातिः सहस्रिणी । सद्यो दानाय मंहते ॥३२॥
तत्सु नो विश्वे अर्य आ सदा गृणन्ति कारवः ।
बृबुं सहस्रदातमं सूरिं सहस्रसातमम् ॥३३॥

yásya vāyór iva dravád bhadrá rātíḥ sahasríṇī | sadyó dānáya máṅhate || 32 || tát sú no víṣve aryá á sádā gṛiṇanti kārávaḥ | bribúṃ sahasradátamaṃ sūríṃ sahasrasátamam || 33 || 26 ||

(४६) षट्चत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-१४) चतुर्दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यः शंयुर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । प्रगाथः (विषमर्चा बृहती, समर्चा सतोबृहती) छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥ त्वामिद्धि हवामहे साता वाजस्य कारवः ।
त्वां वृत्रेष्विन्द्र सत्पतिं नरस्त्वां काष्ठास्वर्वतः ॥१॥
स त्वं नश्चित्र वज्रहस्त धृष्णुया महः स्तवानो अद्रिवः ।
गामश्वं रथ्यमिन्द्र सं किर सत्रा वाजं न जिग्युषे ॥२॥
यः सत्राहा विचर्षणिरिन्द्रं तं हूमहे वयम् ।
सहस्रमुष्क तुविनृम्ण सत्पते भवा समत्सु नो वृधे ॥३॥
बाधसे जनान्वृषभेव मन्युना घृषौ मीळ्ह ऋचीषम ।
अस्माकं बोध्यविता महाधने तनूष्वप्सु सूर्ये ॥४॥

46.

Tvám íd dhí hávāmahe sātá vájasya kārávaḥ | tvám vṛitréshv indra sátpatiṃ náras tvám káshṭhāsv árvataḥ || 1 || sá tvám naṣ citra vajrahasta dhṛishṇuyá mahá stavānó adrivaḥ | gám áṣvaṃ rathyàm indra sáṃ kira satrá vájaṃ ná jigyúshe || 2 || yáḥ satrāhá vícarshaṇir índraṃ táṃ hūmahe vayám | sáhasramushka túvinṛimṇa sátpate bhávā samátsu no vṛidhé || 3 || bádhase jánān vṛishabhéva manyúnā ghṛíshau mīḷhá ṛicīshama | asmákam bodhy avitá mahādhané tanúshv apsú súrye || 4 ||

He is prompt as the wind, and giver of liberal donation of thousands (of treasures or cattle). He quickly gives rewards to me soliciting a gift. 32

Therefore, we all, the pious offerers and presenters of praise, always commend that cosmic architect, and the donor of thousands of rewards, and receiver of thousands of laudations. 33

46

O resplendent Lord, we, the poet-sages invoke you to obtain strengthening food. You are the protector of good men. We invoke you from all directions to overcome impediments, in the conflicts of life. 1

O mighty resplendent Lord, wielder of punitive justice, the lord of clouds of evil forces, being glorified by us, bestow on us wisdom and vital force fit to drive your chariot as you grant to everyone aspiring to be victorious. 2

We invoke the resplendent Lord, the destroyer of mighty evil forces and the supervisor of all things. May you, equipped with a thousand powers, grant us blessings for triumph in the struggles. 3

O Lord of the vedic hymns, may you inspire men to enter the battle-field of life, like a fierce bull and protect us from the onslaught of evil forces and enable us to fight battle to win prosperity, water, and sun-light. 4

इन्द्र ज्येष्ठं न आ भरँ ओजिष्ठं पपुरि श्रवः ।
येनेमे चित्र वज्रहस्त रोदसी ओभे सुशिप्र प्राः ॥५॥

॥२८॥ त्वामुग्रमवसे चर्षणीसहं राजन्देवेषु हूमहे ।
विश्वा सु नो विथुरा पिब्दना वसोऽमित्रान्सुषहान्कृधि ॥६॥
यदिन्द्र नाहुषीष्वाँ ओजो नृम्णं च कृष्टिषु ।
यद्वा पञ्च क्षितीनां द्युम्नमा भर सत्रा विश्वानि पौंस्या ॥७॥
यद्वा तृक्षौ मघवन्द्रुह्यावा जने यत्पूरौ कच्च वृष्ण्यम् ।
अस्मभ्यं तद्रिरीहि सं नृषाह्येऽमित्रान्पृत्सु तुर्वणे ॥८॥

índra jyéshṭham na á bharañ ójishṭham pápuri srávaḥ | yénemé citra vajrahasta ródasī óbhé susipra práḥ || 5 || 27 ||

tvám ugrám ávase carshaṇīsáham rájan devéshu hūmahe | vísvā sú no vithurá pibdaná vaso 'mítrān sushá-hān kṛidhi || 6 || yád indra náhushīshv áñ ójo nṛimṇám ca kṛishṭíshu | yád vā páñca kshitīnám dyumnám á bhara satrá vísvāni paúṅsyā || 7 || yád vā tṛikshaú maghavan druhyáv á jáne yát pūraú kác ca vṛíshṇyam | asmábhyam tád rirīhi sám nṛisháhye 'mítrān pṛitsú turváṇe || 8 ||

इन्द्र त्रिधातु शरणं त्रिवरूथं स्वस्तिमत् ।
छर्दिर्यच्छ मघवद्भ्यश्च मह्यं च यावया दिद्युमेभ्यः ॥९॥
ये गव्यता मनसा शत्रुमादभुरभिप्रघ्नन्ति धृष्णुया ।
अध स्मा नो मघवन्निन्द्र गिर्वणस्तनूपा अन्तमो भव ॥१०॥

॥२९॥ अध स्मा नो वृधे भवेन्द्र नायमवा युधि ।
यदन्तरिक्षे पतयन्ति पर्णिनो दिद्यवस्तिग्ममूर्धानः ॥११॥

índra tri-dhátu saraṇám trivárūtham svastimát | chardír yacha maghávadbhyas ca máhyam ca yāváyā didyúm ebhyaḥ || 9 || yé gavyatá mánasā sátrum ādabhúr abhipraghnánti dhṛishṇuyá | ádha smā no maghavann indra girvaṇas tanūpá ántamo bhava || 10 || 28 ||

ádha smā no vṛidhé bhavéndra nāyám avā yudhí | yád antárikshe patáyanti parṇíno didyávas tigmámūrdhānaḥ || 11 ||

O resplendent Lord, possessor of charming chin, wondrous, most invigorating, all powerful and wielder of bolt of justice, nourish us with the same vital power as you do to sustain the terrestrial and celestial worlds. 5

O resplendent Lord, most mighty among Nature's forces, sovereign ruler of men, granter of dwellings, may you make us strong to subdue all our evil tendencies and make us strong to overcome all that is weak in us. 6

O resplendent Lord, provide us for ever with the strength and opulence, worthy of a human being and the splendid fame, that all the five groups of men (best, better, good, worse and worst, the most enlightened to the most wicked) enjoy. May you grant us all manly powers. 7

O bounteous Lord, bestow fully on us the blessing of that beneficient power sought by the wise seekers, brave and kind, so that we are able to destroy our adversaries in battles. 8

O resplendent Lord, may you grant to the affluent and to me a happy and prosperous home, a triple refuge, which is triply strong. Keep your dart afar from them. 9

O Lord of all riches, propitiated by our devotional songs, may you be close to us, as a guardian of our lives, and protect us from adversities and subdue our foes, who attack us with arrogance with an intention of carrying away our cattle. 10

O resplendent Lord, if the enemy hurls sharp and flying arrows at us in the midst of a battle, please come near, strengthen and help us in the fight. 11

यत्र॒ शूरा॑सस्त॒न्वो॑ वितन्व॒ते प्रि॒या शर्म॑ पि॒तॄणा॑म् ।
अध॑ स्मा यच्छ त॒न्वे॒३॒॑ तने॑ च छ॒र्दिर॒चित्तं॑ या॒वय॒ द्वेषः॑ ॥१२॥
यदि॑न्द्र॒ सर्गे॒ अर्व॑तश्चो॒दया॑से महाध॒ने ।
अ॒स॒म॒ने अध्व॑नि वृजि॒ने प॒थि श्ये॒नाँ इ॑व श्रवस्य॒तः ॥१३॥
सिन्धूँ॑रिव प्रव॒ण आ॑शु॒या य॒तो यदि॒ क्लोश॒मनु॒ ष्वणि॑ ।
आ ये वयो॒ न वर्वृ॑त॒त्यामि॑षि गृभी॒ता बा॒ह्वोर्गवि॑ ॥१४॥

yátra ṣū́rāsas tanvò vitanvaté priyā́ ṣárma pitṝṇā́m | ádha smā yacha tanvè táne ca chardír acíttam yāvácya dvéshaḥ || 12 || yád indra sárge árvataṣ codáyāse mahādhané | asamané ádhvani vṛjiné pathí ṣyenā́ñ iva ṣravasyatáḥ || 13 || síndhūñr iva pravaṇá āṣuyā́ yató yádi klóṣam ánu shváṇi | ā́ yé váyo ná várvṛtaty ā́mishi gṛbhītā́ bāhvór gávi || 14 || 29 ||

(४७) सप्तचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१-३१) एकत्रिंशदृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजो गर्ग ऋषिः । (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां सोमः, (६-१९, २१) षष्ठ्यादिचतुर्दशानामेकविंश्याश्चेन्द्रः, (२०) विंश्याः प्रथमपादस्य देवाः, द्वितीयपादस्य भूमिः, तृतीयपादस्य बृहस्पतिः, चतुर्थपादस्य चेन्द्रः, (२२-२५) द्वाविंश्यादिचतसृणां सार्ञ्जयस्य प्रस्तोकस्य दानस्तुतिः, (२६-२८) षड्विंश्यादितृचस्य रथः, (२९-३१) एकोनत्रिंश्यादितृचस्य दुन्दुभिः, (३१) एकत्रिंश्या उत्तरार्धस्य च इन्द्रो देवताः । (१-१८, २०-२५, २६, २८-३१) प्रथमाद्यष्टादशर्चां विंश्यादितृचस्य षड्विंश्या अष्टाविंश्यादिचतसृणाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (१९) एकोनविंश्या बृहती, (२३) त्रयोविंश्या अनुष्टुप्, (२४) चतुर्विंश्या गायत्री, (२५) पञ्चविंश्या द्विपदा त्रिष्टुप्, (२७) सप्तविंश्याश्च जगती छन्दांसि ॥

॥३०॥ स्वा॒दुष्किला॒यं मधु॑माँ उ॒ताय॑म् ती॒व्रः किला॒यं रस॑वाँ उ॒ताय॑म् ।
उ॒तो न्व१॒॑स्य प॑पि॒वांस॒मिन्द्रं॒ न कश्च॒न स॑हत आह॒वेषु॑ ॥१॥
अ॒यं स्वा॒दुरि॒ह मदि॑ष्ठ आस॒ यस्येन्द्रो॑ वृत्र॒हत्ये॑ म॒माद॑ ।
पु॒रूणि॒ यश्च्यौ॒त्ना शम्ब॑रस्य॒ वि न॑व॒तिं नव॑ च दे॒ह्यो॒३॒॑ हन् ॥२॥

47.

Svādúsh kílāyám mádhumāñ utāyám tīvráḥ kílāyám rásavāñ utāyám | utó nv àsyá papivā́ṅsam índram ná káṣ caná sahata āhavéshu || 1 || ayám svādúr ihá mádishṭha āsa yásyéndro vṛtrahátye mamáda | purū́ṇi yáṣ cyautná ṣámbarasya ví navatím náva ca dehyò hán || 2 ||

When brave fathers bear strain and hardships in the battle of life, may you give them the comfort they love, and then continue helping their progeny and keep them far from all sorts of hostilities. 12

When the battle reaches its high pitch, and the fighters march on uneven road and on a toilsome path, O Lord, kindly lead us to victory with a speed with which a falcon pounces on his prey through the difficult path of space. 13

O Lord, for the procurement of cows, enable us to force ahead our horses, neighing loudly with terror through the battle with the speed of rivers rushing down a steep, or that of vultures darting on their bait. 14

47

Savoury, verily, is this, sweet is it, indeed it is effective—and further, it is rich in flavour. No one is able to encounter resplendent self, in the battle when He is pleased with the elixir we offer Him. 1

This sweet and pleasant divine elixir of devotional love, sipped on this occasion has been very exhilarating. By drinking of it the resplendent Lord is highly pleased, and is able to dominate the evil of ignoranee. He destroys countless hosts and nine and ninety strongholds of the evil forces. 2

अयं मे पीत उदियर्ति वाचमयं मनीषामुशतीमजीगः ।
अयं षळुर्वीरमिमीत धीरो न याभ्यो भुवनं कच्चनारे ॥३॥
अयं स यो वरिमाणं पृथिव्या वर्ष्माणं दिवो अकृणोदयं सः ।
अयं पीयूषं तिसृषु प्रवत्सु सोमो दाधारोर्व१न्तरिक्षम् ॥४॥
अयं विदच्चित्रदृशीकमर्णः शुक्रसद्मनामुषसामनीके ।
अयं महान्महता स्कम्भनेनोद्द्यामस्तभ्नाद्वृषभो मरुत्वान् ॥५॥

ayam me pitá úd iyarti vácam ayám manīshám usatím ajīgah | ayám sháḷ urvír amimīta dhíro ná yábhyo bhúvanam kác canáré || 3 || ayám sá yó varimáṇam prithivyá varshmáṇam divó ákriṇod ayám sáh | ayám piyúsham tisríshu pravátsu sómo dādhārorv àntáriksham || 4 ayám vidac citradríṣikam árṇah sukrásadmanām ushásam ánīke | ayám mahán mahatá skámbhanenód dyấm astabhnād vrishabhó marútvān || 5 || 30 ||

॥३१॥ धृषत्पिब कलशे सोममिन्द्र वृत्रहा शूर समरे वसूनाम् ।
माध्यंन्दिने सवन आ वृषस्व रयिस्थानो रयिमस्मासु धेहि ॥६॥
इन्द्र प्र णः पुरएतेव पश्य प्र नो नय प्रतरं वस्यो अच्छ ।
भवा सुपारो अतिपारयो नो भवा सुनीतिरुत वामनीतिः ॥७॥

dhrishát piba kaláṣe sómam indra vritrahá ṣūra samaré vásūnām | mádhyamdine sávana á vrishasva rayistháno rayím asmásu dhehi || 6 || índra prá ṇah puraetéva paṣya prá no naya prataráṃ vásyo ácha | bhávā supāró atipārayó no bhávā súnītir utá vāmánītih || 7 ||

This elixir of devotional love stirs up my voices and awakens my yearning spirit from sleep. The sage measures out the six (lust, anger, greed, attachment, pride and jealousy) weaknesses from which no creature is excluded. 3

It is because of this elixir that the world could expand and the lofty heights of heavens could be sustained. This elixir deposits the ambrosia in its three principal receptacles (plants, water and cows) and sustains the wide mid-space above us. 4

This very same elixir of devotional love finds the wavy sea of brilliant colours in fore-front of the dawns, whose dwelling is in firmament. This mighty elixir sustains the heavens up with a mighty pillar, the sender of rains, the leader of the winds. 5

O resplendent Lord, destroyer of evils, in contests, drink this divine elixir poured forth from our heart and fill yourself full at the mid-day libation. O receptacle of riches, shower prosperity on us. 6

O resplendent Lord, look out for us to be our leader and bring before us infinite wealth. O excellent guardian, bear us through peril and carefully guide and lead us on to the aspired wealth. 7

उरुं नो लोकमनु नेषि विद्वान्त्स्वर्वज्ज्योतिरभयं स्वस्ति ।
ऋष्वा त इन्द्र स्थविरस्य बाहू उप स्थेयाम शरणा बृहन्ता ॥८॥
वरिष्ठे न इन्द्र वन्धुरे धा वहिष्ठयोः शतावन्नश्वयोरा ।
इषमा वक्षीषां वर्षिष्ठां मा नस्तारीन्मघवन्रायो अर्यः ॥९॥
इन्द्र मृळ मह्यं जीवातुमिच्छ चोदय धियमयसो न धाराम् ।
यत्किं चाहं त्वायुरिदं वदामि तज्जुषस्व कृधि मा देववन्तम् ॥१०॥

urúm no lokám ánu neshi vidvā́n svàrvaj jyótir ábhayam svastí | rishvā́ ta indra sthávirasya bāhū́ úpa stheyāma saraṇā́ brihántā || 8 || várishṭhe na indra vandhúre dhā váhishṭhayoḥ ṣatāvann áṣvayor ā́ | ísham ā́ vakshīshā́m várshishṭhām mā́ nas tārīn maghavan rā́yo aryáḥ || 9 || índra mṛiḷá máhyam jīvā́tum icha codáya dhíyam áyaso ná dhā́rām | yát kíṃ cāhám tvāyúr idám vádāmi táj jushasva kṛidhí mā devávantam || 10 || 31 ||

॥३२॥ त्रातारमिन्द्रमवितारमिन्द्रं हवेहवे सुहवं शूरमिन्द्रम् ।
ह्वयामि शक्रं पुरुहूतमिन्द्रं स्वस्ति नो मघवा धात्विन्द्रः ॥११॥
इन्द्रः सुत्रामा स्ववाँ अवोभिः सुमृळीको भवतु विश्ववेदाः ।
बाधतां द्वेषो अभयं कृणोतु सुवीर्यस्य पतयः स्याम ॥१२॥

trātā́ram índram avitā́ram índraṃ háve-have suhávaṃ ṣū́ram índram | hváyāmi ṣakrám puruhūtám índraṃ svastí no maghávā dhātv índraḥ || 11 || índraḥ sutrā́mā svávāñ ávobhiḥ sumṛiḷīkó bhavatu viṣvávedāḥ | bā́dhatāṃ dvésho ábhayaṃ kṛiṇotu suvī́ryasya pátayaḥ syāma || 12 ||

O all wise eternal resplendent Lord, may we recline in your gracefully protecting and mighty arms. May you lead us to your spacious abode of light, security, and bliss. 8

O bounteous Lord of hundreds of riches, give us lift in your spacious chariot drawn by two horses. Bring to us the best among all viands. Let not the wealth of any one else subdue us. 9

O resplendent Lord, make me happy, and be pleased to prolong my life. Bless me with knowledge, sharp as a steel blade. Accept my prayers in whatever words I speak. Be pleased by them and grant me your divine protection. 10

At repeated worships, I invoke the resplendent Lord, the preserver, the rescuer, the brave and the one who is easily propitiated. The Lord is invoked by all. May He, the bounteous Lord, bestow prosperity on us. 11

May the protecting opulent Lord shower eternal happiness on us. May He, the all-wise, destory the evil forces that obstruct our way and thereby give us rest ond safety. And may we be the possessors of excellent posterity. 12

तस्य वयं सुमतौ यज्ञियस्यापि भद्रे सौमनसे स्याम ।
स सुत्रामा स्ववाँ इन्द्रो अस्मे आराच्चिद्द्वेषः सनुतर्युयोतु ॥१३॥
अव त्वे इन्द्र प्रवतो नोर्मिर्गिरो ब्रह्माणि नियुतो धवन्ते ।
उरू न राधः सवना पुरूण्यपो गा वज्रिन्युवसे समिन्दून् ॥१४॥
क ईं स्तवत्कः पृणात्को यजाते यदुग्रमिन्मघवा विश्वहावेत् ।
पादाविव प्रहरन्नन्यमन्यं कृणोति पूर्वमपरं शचीभिः ॥१५॥

tásya vayám sumataú yajñíyasyápi bhadré saumanasé syama | sá sutrámā svávāñ índro asmé ārác cid dvéshaḥ sanutár yuyotu || 13 || áva tvé indra praváto nórmír gíro bráhmāṇi niyúto dhavante | urú ná rádhaḥ sávanā purúṇy apó gá vajrin yuvase sám índūn || 14 || ká īṃ stavat káḥ pṛiṇāt kó yajāte yád ugrám ín maghávā viṣváhávet | pádāv iva prahárann anyám-anyaṃ kriṇóti púrvam áparaṃ ṣácībhiḥ || 15 || 32 ||

॥३३॥ शृण्वे वीर उग्रमुग्रं दमायन्नन्यमन्यमतिनेनीयमानः ।
एधमानद्विळुभयस्य राजा चोष्कूयते विश इन्द्रो मनुष्यान् ॥१६॥
परा पूर्वेषां सख्या वृणक्ति वितर्तुराणो अपरेभिरेति ।
अनानुभूतीरवधून्वानः पूर्वीरिन्द्रः शरदस्तर्तरीति ॥१७॥
रूपंरूपं प्रतिरूपो बभूव तदस्य रूपं प्रतिचक्षणाय ।
इन्द्रो मायाभिः पुरुरूप ईयते युक्ता ह्यस्य हरयः शता दश ॥१८॥

ṣriṇvé vīrá ugrám-ugram damāyánn anyám-anyam atinenīyámānaḥ | edhamānadvíḷ ubháyasya rájā coshkūyáte víṣa índro manushyān || 16 || párā púrveshāṃ sakhyá vriṇakti vitárturāṇo áparebhir eti | ánanubhūtīr avadhūnvānáḥ pūrvír índraḥ ṣarádas tartarīti || 17 || rūpáṃ-rūpam prátirūpo babhūva tád asya rūpám praticákshaṇāya | índro māyábhiḥ pururúpa īyate yuktá hy àsya hárayaḥ ṣatá dáṣa || 18 ||

May we continue to enjoy the grace of Him and dwell in His auspicious benevolence. May that helpful and pre-server Lord drive from us, even from afar, all those who hate us. 13

O resplendent Lord, our prayers and hymns as well as our expectations haste to you with the speed of torrential waters of a stream, rushing down a slope. O wielder of bolt of justice, you treasure immense wealth, copious libations, milk and the divine elixir around you for distribution. 14

The resplendent Lord is renowned; He humiliates every haughty person and suppresses every arrogant; He is the sovereign of both worlds, and one by one, He favours all His worshippers, whom He calls again and again for encouragement. 15

The resplendent Lord is renowned to humiliate the haughty foe he attends every worshipper turn-by-turn. He is the enemy of the arrogant and is the sovereign ruler of both worlds. He protects men who are faithful to Him. 16

The resplendent Lord does not stick any more to the friendship of those who only in the past have been His devotees; He diverts His favours to the fresh inferiors. Further He shakes off those who neglect His worship, and He abides with them for long long years who serve Him. 17

In every figure of His creation, the resplendent Lord has been the model. This is the only form for us to look on. He moves multiforms by His designs since His motiva-tions, yoked to the universe, are thousands in number. 18

युजानो हरिता रथे भूरि त्वष्टेह राजति ।
को विश्वाहा द्विषतः पक्ष आसत उतासीनेषु सूरिषु ॥१९॥
अगव्यूति क्षेत्रमागन्म देवा उर्वी सती भूमिरंहूरणाभूत् ।
बृहस्पते प्र चिकित्सा गविष्टावित्था सते जरित्र इन्द्र पन्थाम् ॥२०॥

॥३४॥ दिवेदिवे सदृशीरन्यमर्धं कृष्णा असेधदप सद्मनो जाः ।
अहन्दासा वृषभो वस्नयन्तोदव्रजे वर्चिनं शम्बरं च ॥२१॥
प्रस्तोक इन्नु राधसस्त इन्द्र दश कोशयीर्दश वाजिनोऽदात् ।
दिवोदासादतिथिग्वस्य राधः शाम्बरं वसु प्रत्यग्रभीष्म ॥२२॥

yujānó háritā ráthe bhū́ri tváshṭehá rājati | kó viṣvā́hā dvishatáḥ páksha āsata utásmeshu surí̄shu || 19 || agavyūtí kshétram áganma devā urví satí bhū́mir aṅhūraṇā́bhūt | bṛ́haspate prá cikitsā gávishṭāv itthá saté jaritrá indra pánthām || 20 || 33 ||

divé-dive sadṛ́ṣīr anyám árdhaṃ kṛishṇá asedhat ápa sádmano jā́ḥ | áhan dāsá vṛishabhó vasnayántodávraje varcínaṃ ṣámbaraṃ ca || 21 || prastoká ín nú rā́dhasas ta indra dáṣa kóṣayīr dáṣa vājíno 'dāt | dívodasād atithigvásya rā́dhaḥ ṣāmbarám vásu práty agrabhīshma || 22 ||

दशाश्वान्दश कोशान्दश वस्त्राधिभोजना ।
दशो हिरण्यपिण्डान्दिवोदासादसानिषम् ॥२३॥
दश रथान्प्रष्टिमतः शतं गा अथर्वभ्यः । अश्वथः पायवेऽदात् ॥२४॥
महि राधो विश्वजन्यं दधानान्भरद्वाजान्त्सार्ञ्जयो अभ्ययष्ट ॥२५॥

dáṣāṣvān dáṣa kóṣān dáṣa vástrādhibhojanā | dáṣo hiraṇyapiṇḍā́n dívodāsād asānisham || 23 || dáṣa ráthān práshṭimataḥ ṣatáṃ gā́ átharvabhyaḥ | aṣvatháḥ pāyáve 'dāt || 24 || máhi rā́dho viṣvájanyaṃ dádhanān bharádvājān sārñjayó abhy àyashṭa || 25 || 34 ||

With motivations yoked to His chariot, the divine architect shines here in numerous ways. Who else, so governing daily amongst His worshippers, could be their protector against adversaries ? 19

We enter the life-desert, where there is not a single footprint of the missing cattle. This vast earth has become the saviour of murderers as if. May the Lord of vast knowledge direct us who have gone astray, but are in search for the lost cattle. 20

Becoming manifest in his own abode, the sun drives, day by day, the dark glooms for the purpose of clear visibility. This showerer of rain has slain the demons of lightning and clouds on the land of waters. 21

The chief of the ceremony has given to your priest, O resplendent Lord, ten purses of gold and ten transports and we have accepted this gift from the public treasury officer, taken from the spoil snatched by our caretaker from the wicked persons. 22

From the public treasury officer, we have received ten vehicles, ten purses of coins, garments, ample food, and ten lumps of gold. 23

The chief of the Trust has given to the civic guards ten vehicles with extra horses, and to the preceptors a hundred cows. 24

The learned and wise men honour the recipients of noble gifts and bounties who accept such great wealth for the good of all men. 25

॥३५॥ वनस्पते वीड्वङ्गो हि भूया अस्मत्सखा प्रतरणः सुवीरः ।
गोभिः सन्नद्धो असि वीळयस्वास्थाता ते जयतु जेत्वानि ॥२६॥
दिवस्पृथिव्याः पर्योज उद्भृतं वनस्पतिभ्यः पर्याभृतं सहः ।
अपामोज्मानं परि गोभिरावृतमिन्द्रस्य वज्रं हविषा रथं यज ॥२७॥
इन्द्रस्य वज्रो मरुतामनीकं मित्रस्य गर्भो वरुणस्य नाभिः ।
सेमां नो हव्यदातिं जुषाणो देव रथ प्रति हव्या गृभाय ॥२८॥

vánaspate vīḍvàñgo hí bhūyā́ asmátsakhā pratáraṇaḥ suvī́raḥ | góbhiḥ sámnaddho asi vīḷáyasvā́sthātā́ te jayatu jétvāni || 26 || divás prithivyā́ḥ páry ója údbhṛitam vánaspátibhyaḥ páry ā́bhṛitam sáhaḥ | apā́m ojmā́nam pári góbhir ā́vṛitam índrasya vájram havíshā rátham yaja || 27 || índrasya vájro marútām ánīkam mitrásya gárbho váruṇasya nā́bhiḥ | sémā́m no havyádātim jushāṇó déva ratha práti havyā́ gṛibhāya || 28 ||

उप श्वासय पृथिवीमुत द्यां पुरुत्रा ते मनुतां विष्ठितं जगत् ।
स दुन्दुभे सजूरिन्द्रेण देवैर्दूराद्दवीयो अप सेध शत्रून् ॥२९॥
आ क्रन्दय बलमोजो न आ धा नि ष्टनिहि दुरिता बाधमानः ।
अप प्रोथ दुन्दुभे दुच्छुना इत इन्द्रस्य मुष्टिरसि वीळयस्व ॥३०॥
आमूरज प्रत्यावर्तयेमाः केतुमद्दुन्दुभिर्वावदीति ।
समश्वपर्णाश्चरन्ति नो नरोऽस्माकमिन्द्र रथिनो जयन्तु ॥३१॥

úpa śvāsaya pṛithivī́m utá dyā́m purutrā́ te manutām víshṭhitam jágat | sá dundubhe sajū́r índreṇa devaír dūrā́d dávīyo ápa sedha śátrūn || 29 || ā́ krandaya bálam ójo na ā́ dhā ní shṭanihi duritā́ bā́dhamānaḥ | ápa protha dundubhe duchúnā itá índrasya mushṭír asi vīḷáyasva || 30 || ā́mū́r aja pratyā́vartayemā́ḥ ketumád dundubhír vāvadīti | sám áśvaparṇāś cáranti no náro 'smā́kam indra rathíno jayantu || 31 || 35 ||

May the chariot made of strong wood be wholesome; may it be our friend; our protector, and manned by brave men. May it show forth its strength, compact with the straps of leather and let its rider be victorious in the battle. 26

Show full respect to the chariot replete with synthesis of basic elements of heaven and earth—the divine extracted essence of the forest wood. It possesses the velocity of waters, and is encompassed with the cow-hide and the thunderbolt. 27

O all pervading Lord of the celestial chariot, your vehicle is as powerful as the bolt of justice of the resplendent Lord. It is the precursor of vital principles, and is as vast as our ocean. It is bright as sunrays. May you accept it offered with prayers and oblation. 28

O war drums, fill with your thumping sound the earth and heaven. Let all things, movable or stationary be aware of it. May you associated with the resplendent Lord and Nature's forces drive all malign elements far from us. 29

May (O drum) you sound loud and animate our vigour and enthusiasm. May you thunder aloud and scare away malignant powers. Please repel, O drum, those who take delight in harming us. You, being the fist of the divines, show your firmness. 30

O resplendent Lord, the drum sounds repeatedly as a signal. May you recover the lost cattle of wisdom and bring it back here. Our leaders mounted, as if, on speedy chariot assemble. Let our car-borne fighting faculties against vice and nescience be triumphant. 31

(४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशं सूक्तम्

(१–२२) द्वाविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यः शंयुर्ऋषिः । (१–१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चामग्निः. (११–१५, २०–२१) एकादश्यादिपञ्चानां विंश्येकविंश्योश्च मरुतः [(१३–१५) त्रयोदश्यादितृचस्य लिङ्गोक्ता वा]. (१६–१९) षोडश्यादिचतसृणां पूषा. (२२) द्वाविंश्याश्च द्यावाभूमी वा पृश्निर्वा देवताः । (१–१२) प्रथमादिद्वादशर्चां प्रगाथः [(१. ३. ५. ९.) प्रथमातृतीयापञ्चमीनवमीनां बृहती. (२, ४, १०. १२) द्वितीयाचतुर्थीदशमीद्वादशीनां सतोबृहती. (६. ८) षष्ठ्यष्टम्योर्महासतोबृहती, (७) सप्तम्या महाबृहती, (११) एकादश्याश्च ककुप्]. (१३. १८) त्रयोदश्यष्टादश्योः पुर उष्णिक्. (१४. १९–२०) चतुर्दश्येकोनविंशीविंशीनां बृहती. (१५) पञ्चदश्या अतिजगती. (१६) षोडश्याः ककुप्. (१७) सप्तदश्याः सतोबृहती, (२१) एकविंश्या यवमध्या महाबृहती. (२२) द्वाविंश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१॥

यज्ञायज्ञा वो अग्नये गिरागिरा च दक्षसे ।
प्रप्र वयममृतं जातवेदसं प्रियं मित्रं न शंसिषम् ॥१॥
ऊर्जो नपातं स हिनायमस्मयुर्दाशेम हव्यदातये ।
भुवद्वाजेष्ववि॒ता भुवद्वृध उत त्राता तनूनाम् ॥२॥

48.

Yajñá-yajña vo agnáye girá-gira ca dákshase | prá pra vayám amṛítam jātávedasam priyám mitrám ná ṣaṅsisham || 1 || ūrjó nápātam sá hináyám asmayúr dáṣema havyádataye | bhúvad vájeshv avitá bhúvad vṛidhá utá trātá tanúnām || 2 ||

वृषा ह्यग्ने अजरो महान्विभास्यर्चिषा ।
अजस्रेण शोचिषा शोशुचच्छुचे सुदीतिभिः सु दीदिहि ॥३॥
महो देवान्यजसि यक्ष्यानुषक्तव क्रत्वोत दंसना ।
अर्वाचः सीं कृणुह्यग्नेऽवसे रास्व वाजोत वंस्व ॥४॥
यमापो अद्रयो वना गर्भमृतस्य पिप्रति ।
सहसा यो मथितो जायते नृभिः पृथिव्या अधि सानवि ॥५॥

vṛísha hy àgne ajáro mahán vibhásy arcísha | ájasreṇa ṣocíshā ṣóṣucac chuce sudītíbhiḥ sú didihi || 3 || mahó deván yájasi yákshy ānushák táva krátvotá daṅsána arvácaḥ sīṃ kṛiṇuhy agné 'vase rásva vájotá vaṅsva || 4 || yám ápo ádrayo vánā gárbham ṛitásya píprati | sáhasā yó mathitó jáyate nṛíbhiḥ pṛithivyá ádhi sánavi || 5 || 1 ||

48

At every benevolent work glorify adorable Lord with reiterated eulogies to obtain strength. May we glorify Him, the immortal, the cognizant of all that exists, as our dear friend. 1

He is source of strength and propitious to us. Let us offer our oblations, for He is the conveyor of them. May He be our defender in our life-struggles. May He be our benefactor and the saviour of our lives. 2

O adorable Lord, you shine forth with light. You are showerer of blessings, and never changed by time. May you blazing with unfading lustre shine forth with glorious rays. 3

You, O fire-divine, honour powerful Nature's bounties. Bring them without delay by your wisdom and your wondrous power. Make them turn hither for our salvation. May you present them the sacrificial food and partake of it yourself. 4

You, O fire-divine, are the one whom the waters, the mountains, and the forests nourish, as the embryo of eternal law and whom the worshippers bring to manifest on the highest place of earth by their strength and persistent efforts, as if by churning. 5

॥२॥ आ यः पप्रौ भानुना रोदसी उभे धूमेन धावते दिवि ।
तिरस्तमो ददृश ऊर्म्यास्वा श्यावास्वरुषो वृषा श्यावा अरुषो वृषा ॥६॥
बृहद्भिरग्ने अर्चिभिः शुक्रेण देव शोचिषा ।
भरद्वाजे समिधानो यविष्ठ्य रेवन्नः शुक्र दीदिहि द्युमत्पावक दीदिहि ॥७॥
विश्वासां गृहपतिर्विशामसि त्वमग्ने मानुषीणाम् ।
शतं पूर्भिर्यविष्ठ पाह्यंहसः समेद्धारं शतं हिमाः स्तोतृभ्यो ये च ददति ॥८॥

á yáḥ papraú bhānúnā ródasī ubhé dhūména dhavate diví | tirás támo dadṛiṣa úrmyāsv ā́ ṣyāvā́sv arushó vríshā ṣyāvā́ arushó vríshā || 6 || brihádbhir agne arcíbhiḥ ṣukréṇa deva ṣocíshā | bharádvāje samidhānó yavishṭhya reván naḥ ṣukra dīdihi dyumát pāvaka dīdihi || 7 || víṣvāsāṃ grihápatir viṣā́m ási tvám agne mánushīṇām | ṣatám pūrbhír yavishṭha pāhy áṅhasaḥ sameddhā́raṃ ṣatáṃ hímā stotríbhyo yé ca dádati || 8 ||

त्वं नश्चित्र ऊत्या वसो राधांसि चोदय ।
अस्य रायस्त्वमग्ने रथीरसि विदा गाधं तुचे तु नः ॥९॥
पर्षि तोकं तनयं पर्तृभिष्ट्वमदब्धैरप्रयुत्वभिः ।
अग्ने हेळांसि दैव्या युयोधि नोऽदेवानि ह्वरांसि च ॥१०॥

tvám nas citrá ūtyā́ váso rádhāṅsi codaya | asyá rāyás tvám agne rathír asi vidā́ gādhám tucé tú naḥ || 9 || párshi tokáṃ tánayam partríbhish ṭvám ádabdhair áprayutvabhiḥ | ágne héḷāṅsi daívyā yuyodhi nó 'devāni hvárāṅsi ca || 10 || 2 ||

O fire-divine, most youthful, you are the one that fills both heaven and earth with pure brilliancy, and mounts with smoke into the sky. Your radiance is beheld in the dark nights, dispersing the gloom. With strength you shine in the darksome nights. Shine with your strength. 6

O divine, ever-young, resplendent Lord, when kindled by the bearers of wisdom, you shine with many radiant attributes and pure radiance. O resplendent purifier, conferring riches upon us, may you shine. 7

O adorable supreme, you are the Lord of our households and the Lord of entire human race. May you, when kindled, protect me, O ever-young fire-divine, with hundred defences against iniquity. May you grant a hundred winters to me as well as to those, who liberally give to the singers of your glory. 8

O wonderful Lord, giver of homes and shelter, encourage us by your protection, and by rewarding riches. You are the conveyer, O adorable Lord, of earthly wealth; may you quickly bestow safety to our children. 9

You protect our sons and grandsons with effective, never failing defences. May you remove far from us celestial wrath and malevolence of faithless men. 10

॥३॥ आ सखायः सबर्दुघां धेनुमजध्वमुप नव्यसा वचः । सृजध्वमनपस्फुराम् ॥११॥
या शर्धाय मारुताय स्वभानवे श्रवोऽमृत्यु धुक्षत ।
या मृळीके मरुतां तुराणां या सुम्नैरेवयावरी ॥१२॥
भरद्वाजायाव धुक्षत द्विता । धेनुं च विश्वदोहसमिषं च विश्वभोजसम् ॥१३॥

á sakhāyaḥ sabardúghām dhenúm ajadhvam úpa návyasā vácaḥ | srijádhvam ánapasphurām || 11 || yā́ śárdhāya márutāya svábhānave śrávó 'mṛityu dhúkshata | yā́ mṛiḷīké marútām turā́ṇām yā́ sumnaír evayā́varī || 12 || bharádvājayā́va dhukshata dvitā́ | dhenúm ca viśvádohasam ísham ca viśvábhojasam || 13 ||

तं व इन्द्रं न सुक्रतुं वरुणमिव मायिनम् ।
अर्यमणं न मन्द्रं सृप्रभोजसं विष्णुं न स्तुष आदिशे ॥१४॥
त्वेषं शर्धो न मारुतं तुविष्वण्यनर्वाणं पूषणं सं यथा शता ।
सं सहस्रा कारिषच्चर्षणिभ्य आँ आविर्गूळ्हा वसू करत्सुवेदा नो वसू करत् ॥१५॥
आ मा पूषन्नुप द्रव शंसिषं नु ते अपिकर्ण आघृणे । अघा अर्यो अरातयः ॥१६॥

táṃ va índraṃ ná sukrátuṃ váruṇam iva māyínam | aryamáṇaṃ ná mandráṃ sriprábhojasaṃ víshṇuṃ ná stūsha ādíśe || 14 || tvesháṃ śárdho ná márutaṃ tuvishváṇy anarvā́ṇam pūsháṇaṃ sáṃ yáthā śatā́ | sáṃ sahásrā kā́rishac carshaṇíbhya ā́ṅ āvír gūḷhā́ vásū karat suvédā no vásu karat || 15 || ā́ mā pūshann úpa drava śáṅsishaṃ nú te apikarṇá āghṛiṇe | aghā́ aryó árātayaḥ || 16 || 3 ||

Admire O friends, the knowledge-imparting divine speech through your newly composed songs and let the language be freely enriched. 11

You, the divine speech, are the one, that yields nourishment to the powerful self-enlightened band of men. You are the one, that is always anxious to gratify dynamic men. You are the one, that traverses the sky in splendour, shedding delight. 12

May you milk out for the man of knowledge twofold blessings; the divine speech which furnishes the milk of wisdom, to the universe, and the richness of ideas which is food for all. 13

I praise you, O vital elements, for the distribution of wealth; you are achiever of great deeds like the resplendent one, sagacious like a virtuous, adorable as a man of justice, and munificent as one all-pervading. 14

I now, glorify the brilliant vigour of the troops of cloud-bearing winds, who are loud-sounding, irresistible, cherishing, whereby hundred and thousands of treasures are bestowed collectively upon men. May that troop make hidden wealth manifest; may it render the wealth easily accessible to us. 15

Hasten to me, O provider of nourishment; O radiant divine Lord. May you repel all deadly assailing adversaries. I whisper my praises at your close proximity. 16

॥५॥ मा काकम्बीरमुद्वृहो वनस्पतिमशस्तीर्वि हि नीनशः ।
मोत सूरो अह एवा चन ग्रीवा आदधते वेः ॥१७॥
दृतेरिव तेऽवृकमस्तु सख्यम् । अच्छिद्रस्य दधन्वतः सुपूर्णस्य दधन्वतः ॥१८॥
परो हि मर्त्यैरसि समो देवैरुत श्रिया ।
अभि ख्यः पूषन्पृतनासु नस्त्वमवा नूनं यथा पुरा ॥१९॥

má kakambíram úd vriho vánaspátim áṣastīr ví hí nínaṣaḥ | mótá súro áha evá caná grīvá ādádhate véḥ || 17 || dríter iva te 'vrikám astu sakhyám | áchidrasya dadhanvátaḥ súpūrṇasya dadhanvátaḥ || 18 || paró hí mártyair ási samó devaír utá ṣriyá | abhí khyaḥ pūshan prítanāsu nas tvám ávā nūnám yáthā purá || 19 ||

वामी वामस्य धूतयः प्रणीतिरस्तु सूनृता ।
देवस्य वा मरुतो मर्त्यस्य वेजानस्य प्रयज्यवः ॥२०॥
सद्यश्चिद्यस्य चर्कृतिः परि द्यां देवो नैति सूर्यः ।
त्वेषं शवो दधिरे नाम यज्ञियं मरुतो वृत्रहं शवो ज्येष्ठं वृत्रहं शवः ॥२१॥
सकृद्ध द्यौरजायत सकृद्भूमिरजायत ।
पृश्न्या दुग्धं सकृत्पयस्तदन्यो नानु जायते ॥२२॥

vāmí vāmásya dhūtayaḥ práṇītir astu sūnṛítā | devásya vā maruto mártyasya vejānásya prayajyavaḥ || 20 || sadyáṣ cid yásya carkṛitíḥ pári dyáṃ devó naíti súryaḥ | tvesháṃ ṣávo dadhire náma yajñíyam marúto vṛitraháṃ ṣávo jyéshṭhaṃ vṛitraháṃ ṣávaḥ || 21 || sakríd dha dyaúr ajāyata sakríd bhúmir ajāyata | príṣnyā dugdháṃ sakrít páyas tád anyó nánu jāyate || 22 || 4 ||

O provider of nourishment, may you not let any one uproot the forest trees, with host of crows and other birds on them. May you utterly destroy those who are my revilers. Let not the adversary ensnare me; as a hunter sets snares for birds. 17

May your friendship be unbroken, like a flawless skin forming a surface of curds. 18

O the provider of nourishment, supreme are you above mortals. You are equal in glory to the immortal divines. Therefore O Lord, regard us favourably in battles; defend us now as you have been defending others formerly. 19

O winds divine, impetuous, performer of admirable acts, widely admired, may your excellent, pleasant and truthful sound be our guide to desirable wealth of Nature's bounties and the mortals who admire you. 20

They are the ones whose glory spreads quickly round the heavens, like the light of the divine sun. These thunder-bearing winds possess brilliance and strength that humiliates and destroys the darkness and is adorable and most excellent. 21

Once, indeed, once the heaven was generated; once only once, was the earth formed; once only were the creative elements of heaven and earth milked; no second after this is born thus (in the present creation). 22

(४९) एकोनपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाज ऋजिश्वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवता । (१-१४) प्रथमादि चतुर्दशर्चां त्रिष्टुप् (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्च शक्वरी छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥ स्तुषे जनं सुव्रतं नव्यसीभिर्गीर्भिर्मित्रावरुणा सुम्नयन्ता ।
त आ गमन्तु त इह श्रुवन्तु सुक्षत्रासो वरुणो मित्रो अग्निः ॥१॥
विशोविश ईड्यमध्वरेष्वदृप्तक्रतुमरतिं युवत्योः ।
दिवः शिशुं सहसः सूनुमग्निं यज्ञस्य केतुमरुषं यजध्यै ॥२॥
अरुषस्य दुहितरा विरूपे स्तृभिरन्या पिपिशे सूरो अन्या ।
मिथस्तुरा विचरन्ती पावके मन्म श्रुतं नक्षत ऋच्यमाने ॥३॥

49.

Stushé jánaṃ suvratáṃ návyasībhir gīrbhír mitrávárunā sumnayántā | tá ā́ gamantu tá ihá ṣruvantu sukshatráso váruṇo mitró agníḥ || 1 || viṣó-viṣa íḍyam adhvaréshv ádṛiptakratum aratíṃ yuvatyóḥ | diváḥ ṣíṣuṃ sáhasaḥ sūnúm agníṃ yajñásya ketúm arusháṃ yájadhyai || 2 || arushásya duhitárā vírūpe stṛíbhir anyā́ pipiṣé sū́ro anyā́ | mithastúrā vicárantī pāvaké mánma ṣrutáṃ nakshata ṛicyámāne || 3 ||

प्र वायुमच्छा बृहती मनीषा बृहद्रयिं विश्ववारं रथप्राम् ।
द्युतद्यामा नियुतः पत्यमानः कविः कविमियक्षसि प्रयज्यो ॥४॥
स मे वपुश्छदयदश्विनोर्यो रथो विरुक्मान्मनसा युजानः ।
येन नरा नासत्येषयध्यै वर्तिर्याथस्तनयाय त्मने च ॥५॥
॥६॥ पर्जन्यवाता वृषभा पृथिव्याः पुरीषाणि जिन्वतमप्यानि ।
सत्यश्रुतः कवयो यस्य गीर्भिर्जगतः स्थातर्जगदा कृणुध्वम् ॥६॥

prá vāyúm áchā bṛihatí manīshā́ bṛihádrayiṃ viṣvávāraṃ rathaprā́m | dyutádyamā niyútaḥ pátyamānaḥ kavíḥ kavím iyakshasi prayajyo || 4 || sá me vápuṣ chadayad aṣvínor yó rátho virúkmān mánasā yujānáḥ | yéna narā nāsatyeshayádhyai vartír yāthás tánayāya tmáne ca || 5 || 5 ||

párjanyavāta vṛishabhā pṛithivyā́ḥ púrīshāṇi jinvatam ápyāni | sátyaṣrutaḥ kavayo yásya gīrbhír jágata sthatar jágad ā́ kṛiṇudhvam || 6 ||

49

In these new hymns I express my admiration of the man who is an observant of his duty, and also all glories to the beneficient cosmic forces of light and warmth. May they, the mighty ones, the sun, the ocean and the terrestrial fire come to bless our worship, and listen to our praises. 1

I inspire the worshipper to extol the adorable fire-divine, whose every act is free from arrogance, and who is worthy of adoration on all auspicious occasions of every man. He is the son of young parents (heaven and earth), the child of heaven, the source of strength, and a brilliant red banner of universal cosmic sacrifice. 2

May the two daughters of various forms, of whom one (the moon) glitters with stars, the other is the bright sun, mutually opposed, proceeding diversely, purifying all things, and worthy of our laudation, be pleased by the praise, they hear from us. 3

May our earnest praise proceed to pay tribute to the Lord of vital wind, the possessor of vast riches, loved by all, filler of its chariot and most wealthy. May this most adorable Lord of harnessed horses, promptly show favour to his adorer. 4

May that splendid cosmic chariot of twin-divines, harnessed at mere thought, envelop my soul and body with radiance. O ever-true promotors of sacred works, you grace the home of the leading worshipper with your presence to give strengthening food to us and our children. 5

O cloud-bearing winds, showerers of rain, may you send all available waters from firmament. O sagacious vital principles, listeners of eulogies, sustainers of the world, may you multiply the moveable wealth of your praisers. 6

पावीरवी कन्या चित्रायुः सरस्वती वीरपत्नी धियं धात ।
ग्नाभिरच्छिद्रं शरणं सजोषा दुराधर्षं गृणते शर्म यंसत् ॥७॥
पथस्पथः परिपतिं वचस्या कामेन कृतो अभ्यानळर्कम् ।
स नो रासच्छुरुधश्चन्द्राग्रा धियंधियं सीषधाति प्र पूषा ॥८॥
प्रथमभाजं यशसं वयोधां सुपाणिं देवं सुगभस्तिमृभ्वम् ।
होता यक्षद्यजतं पस्त्यानामग्निस्त्वष्टारं सुहवं विभावा ॥९॥

pā́vīravī kanyā̀ citrā́yuḥ sárasvatī vīrápatnī dhíyam dhāt | gnā́bhir áchidram ṣaranám sajóshā durādhársham grinaté ṣárma yaṅsat || 7 || pathás-pathaḥ páripatim vacasyā́ kā́mena kritó abhy ā̀naḷ arkám | sá no rāsac churúdhaṣ candrā́grā dhíyam-dhiyam sīshadhāti prá pūshā́ || 8 || prathamabhā́jam yaṣásam vayodhā́m supāṇím devám sugábhastim ríbhvam | hótā yakshad yajatám pastyā̀nām agnís tváshtāram suhávam vibhā́vā || 9 ||

भुवनस्य पितरं गीर्भिराभी रुद्रं दिवा वर्धया रुद्रमक्तौ ।
बृहन्तमृष्वमजरं सुषुम्नमृधग्घुवेम कविनेषितासः ॥१०॥
॥७॥ आ युवानः कवयो यज्ञियासो मरुतो गन्त गृणतो वरस्याम् ।
अचित्रं चिद्धि जिन्वथा वृधन्त इत्था नक्षन्तो नरो अङ्गिरस्वत् ॥११॥
प्र वीराय प्र तवसे तुरायाजा यूथेव पशुरक्षिरस्तम् ।
स पिस्पृशति तन्वि श्रुतस्य स्तृभिर्न नाकं वचनस्य विपः ॥१२॥

bhúvanasya pitáram gīrbhír ābhí rudrám dívā vardháyā rudrám aktaú | brihántam rishvám ajáram sushumnám rídhag ghuvema kavíneshitásaḥ || 10 || 6 ||

á yuvānaḥ kavayo yajñiyāso máruto gantá grinató varasyám | acitrám cid dhí jínvathā vridhánta itthā́ nákshanto naro aṅgirasvát || 11 || prá vīrā́ya prá tavásc turā́yājā yūthéva paṣurákshir ástam | sá pispriṣati tanvì ṣrutásya stríbhir ná nā́kam vacanásya vípaḥ || 12 ||

May the purifying, amiable and graceful divine speech, the damsel of brave, lord of heaven, bless our pious rite; may she, together with all dearest associates of Nature's bounties ; be well-pleased, and bestow upon her devotee comfortable home, flawless and impenetrable to wind and rain, and grant him felicity. 7

May the worshipper, inspired by expectation of obtaining rewards, approach with praise the adorable provider of food, the guardian of one and every path. May He grant us weapons provided with penetrating golden arrow-heads. May the provider of nutritions make our intellects effective. 8

May the enkindled fire-divine, glorious, the invoker of Nature's bounties, bring for worship the architect of universe, the first maker of forms, the giver of life-span and liberal donor and acceptor like hands. He is worthy of adoration by householders and easy to be invoked. 9

With these hymns, we exalt the breath-divine by day, the breath-divine by night. Inspired by the poet sages, we invoke Him, the mighty, the blissful, undecaying, endowed with felicity, and the source of prosperity. 10

O ever-youthful, wise and adorable wind-divine, may you please come to your admirer and inspire the leading priests. Please spread through the firmament, like rays of light, and refresh the desert with rain. 11

I admire the valiant, powerful band of clouds, swift-moving ; swift like herdsman who drives his herd to the stall. May this band of clouds be adorned with the symphony of pious worshippers, just as the firmament is studded with the galaxy of stars. 12

यो रजांसि विममे पार्थिवानि त्रिश्चिद्विष्णुर्मनवे बाधिताय ।
तस्य ते शर्मन्नुपदद्यमाने राया मदेम तन्वा३ तना च ॥१३॥
तन्नोऽहिर्बुध्न्यो अद्भिरर्कैस्तत्पर्वतस्तत्सविता चनो धात् ।
तदोषधीभिरभि रातिषाचो भगः पुरंधिर्जिन्वतु प्र राये ॥१४॥
नू नो रयिं रथ्यं चर्षणिप्रां पुरुवीरं मह ऋतस्य गोपाम् ।
क्षयं दाताजरं येन जनान्त्स्पृधो अदेवीरभि च क्रमाम विश आदेवीरभ्य१श्नवाम ॥१५॥

yó rájāṅsi vimamé pā́rthivāni tríṣ cid víshṇur mánave badhitā́ya | tásya te ṣármann upadadyámāne rāyā́ madema tanvā̀ tánā ca || 13 || tán nó 'hir budhnyò adbhír arkaís tát párvatas tát savitā́ cáno dhāt | tád óshadhībhir abhí rātisháco bhágaḥ púraṃdhir jinvatu prá rāyé || 14 || nú no rayíṃ rathyàṃ carshaṇiprā́m puruvī́ram mahá ṛitásya gopā́m | kshárayaṃ dātājáraṃ yéna jánān spṛ́dho ádevīr abhí ca krámāma víṣa ā́devīr abhy àṣnávāma || 15 || 7 ||

(५०) पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाज ऋजिश्वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ हुवे वो देवीमदितिं नमोभिर्मृळीकाय वरुणं मित्रमग्निम् ।
अभिक्षदामर्यमणं सुशेवं त्रातॄन्देवान्त्सवितारं भगं च ॥१॥
सुज्योतिषः सूर्य दक्षपितॄननागास्त्वे सुमहो वीहि देवान् ।
द्विजन्मानो य ऋतसापः सत्याः स्वर्वन्तो यजता अग्निजिह्वाः ॥२॥

50

Huvé vo devī́m áditim námobhir mṛiḷīkā́ya váruṇam mitrám agním | abhikshadā́m aryamáṇaṃ suṣévaṃ tratṝ́n devā́n savitā́ram bhágaṃ ca || 1 || sujyótishaḥ sūrya dákshapitṝn anāgāstvé sumaho vīhi devā́n | dvijánmāno yá ṛitasā́paḥ satyā́ḥ svàrvanto yajatā́ agnijihvā́ḥ || 2 ||

O all pervading Lord, may we be happy in a home, in riches, in person, and in children, bestowed upon us by you. You measure out all the terrestrial regions in three steps, and guard mankind from the calumny of the forces of darkness. 13

Sweet be the song of mine to the cloud of the midspace, the mountains, the sun, floods, and lightning. Sweet be the plants to Nature's bounties, which accept oblations. May the all-wise, gracious Lord be propitious to us for the acquirement of riches. 14

Grant us, O universal Nature's bounties, riches consisting of vehicles, numerous help-mates, many offsprings, wealth for providing efficiency to our solemn ceremonies, and a lasting home, free from decay, wherewith we may overcome malevolent and unrighteous people and afford support to those to whom the supreme Lord is gracious. 15

50

I invoke with adoration, the Lord who is infinite, virtuous, friendly, guide, judicious, the overcomer of adversaries, worthy of praise, and source of creative genius, and the gracious. I invoke all protective powers also for felicity and happiness. 1

O radiant source of all illuminations, may you render the luminous cosmic powers of divine origin, kind and tender towards us. They are twice-born (once in the space, and secondly on the earth), desirous of worship, observants of truth, possessors of wealth and worthy of honour. Their tongue is like the flames of fire. 2

उत द्यावापृथिवी क्षत्रमुरु बृहद्रोदसी शरणं सुषुम्ने ।
महस्करथो वरिवो यथा नोऽस्मे क्षयाय धिषणे अनेहः ॥३॥
आ नो रुद्रस्य सूनवो नमन्तामद्या हूतासो वसवोऽधृष्टाः ।
यदीमर्भे महति वा हितासो बाधे मरुतो अह्वाम देवान् ॥४॥
मिम्यक्ष येषु रोदसी नु देवी सिषक्ति पूषा अभ्यर्धयज्वा ।
श्रुत्वा हवं मरुतो यद्ध याथ भूमा रेजन्ते अध्वनि प्रविक्ते ॥५॥ utá dyā-

vāpṛithivī kshatrám urú bṛihád rodasī ṣaraṇám sushumne | mahás karatho várivo yáthā no 'smé ksháyāya dhishaṇe anehāḥ || 3 || ā́ no rudrásya sūnávo namantām adyā́ hūtáso vásavó 'dhṛishṭāḥ | yád īm árbhe mahatí vā hitáso bādhé marúto áhvāma devā́n || 4 || mimyáksha yéshu rodasī nú devī́ síshakti pūshā́ abhyardhayájvā | ṣrutvā́ hávam maruto yád dha yāthá bhū́mā rejante ádhvani právikte || 5 || 8 ||

॥० ॥ अभि त्यं वीरं गिर्वणसमर्चेन्द्रं ब्रह्मणा जरितर्नवेन ।
श्रवदिद्धवमुप च स्तवानो रासद्वाजाँ उप महो गृणानः ॥६॥
ओमानमापो मानुषीरमृक्तं धात तोकाय तनयाय शं योः ।
यूयं हि ष्ठा भिषजो मातृतमा विश्वस्य स्थातुर्जगतो जनित्रीः ॥७॥

abhí tyáṃ vīráṃ gírvaṇasam arcéndram bráhmaṇā jaritar návena | ṣrávad íd dhávam úpa ca stávāno rā́sad vā́jāñ úpa mahó gṛiṇānáḥ || 6 || omā́nam āpo mānushīr ámṛiktaṃ dhāta tokā́ya tánayāya ṣáṃ yóḥ | yūyáṃ hí shṭhā́ bhishájo mātṛítamā víṣvasya sthātúr jágato jánitrīḥ || 7 ||

May you, O mighty heaven and earth, provide us strength and spacious habitation for our comfort. May you bless us so that immense wealth becomes ours. May you, O beneficent powers, keep sinful tendencies away from us. 3

May the offsprings of cosmic vitality, granters of dwellings, invincible, invoked on this occasion lovingly bend down to lift us up. Hence, we call upon the divine vital principles, so that they become our helpers in difficulty, great or small. 4

They are the ones, with whom the divine powers of heaven and earth are associated and whom the granter of nourishment, the granter of prosperity, honours. When O cloud-bearing winds, on our invocation, you come hither, then on your diverse paths, all beings tremble. 5

O worshipper, may you glorify that supreme resplendent Lord, with a new hymn, who is worthy of adoration. May He, so glorified, hear our invocation. May He, so lauded, bestow upon us abundant nourishment. 6

O waters, friendly to mankind, may you unceasingly provide life-preserving food for the perpetuation of our sons and grandsons. May you grant us security and cast off all evils from us. Verily, you are more than motherly physicians to us, you are the father of the stationary and moveable creation. 7

आ नो देवः सविता त्रायमाणो हिरण्यपाणिर्यजतो जगम्यात् ।
यो दत्रवाँ उषसो न प्रतीकं व्यूर्णुते दाशुषे वार्याणि ॥८॥
उत त्वं सूनो सहसो नो अद्या देवाँ अस्मिन्नध्वरे ववृत्याः ।
स्यामहं ते सदमिद्रातौ तव स्यामग्नेऽवसा सुवीरः ॥९॥
उत त्या मे हवमा जग्म्यातं नासत्या धीभिर्युवमङ्ग विप्रा ।
अत्रिं न महस्तमसोऽमुमुक्तं तूर्वतं नरा दुरितादभीके ॥१०॥
॥२०॥ ते नो रायो द्युमतो वाजवतो दातारो भूत नृवतः पुरुक्षोः ।
दशस्यन्तो दिव्याः पार्थिवासो गोजाता अप्या मृळता च देवाः ॥११॥

á no deváḥ savitā́ trā́yamāṇo híraṇyapāṇir yajató jagamyāt | yó dátravāñ usháso ná prátīkam vyūrṇuté dāṣúshe vā́ryāṇi || 8 || utá tvā́m sūno sahaso no adyā́ devā́ñ asmínn adhvaré vavṛityāḥ | syā́m ahám te sádam íd rātaú táva syām agné 'vasā suvī́raḥ || 9 || utá tyā́ me hávam ā́ jagmyātam nā́satyā dhībhír yuvám aṅgá viprā | átrim ná mahás támaso 'mumuktam tū́rvatam narā duritā́d abhī́ke || 10 || 9 ||

té no rāyó dyumáto vā́javato dātā́ro bhūta nṛivátaḥ purukshóḥ | daṣasyánto divyā́ḥ pā́rthivāso gójātā ápyā mṛiḷátā ca devāḥ || 11 ||

ते नो रुद्रः सरस्वती सजोषा मीळ्हुष्मन्तो विष्णुर्मृळन्तु वायुः ।
ऋभुक्षा वाजो दैव्यो विधाता पर्जन्यावाता पिप्यतामिषं नः ॥१२॥
उत स्य देवः सविता भगो नोऽपां नपादवतु दानु पप्रिः ।
त्वष्टा देवेभिर्जनिभिः सजोषा द्यौर्देवेभिः पृथिवी समुद्रैः ॥१३॥

té no rudráḥ sárasvatī sajóshā mīḷhúshmanto víshṇur mṛiḷantu vāyúḥ | ṛibhukshā́ vā́jo daívyo vidhātā́ parjányavā́tā pipyatām ísham naḥ || 12 || utá syá deváḥ savitā́ bhágo no 'pā́m nápād avatu dā́nu pápriḥ | tváshṭa devébhir jánibhiḥ sajóshā dyaúr devébhiḥ pṛithiví samudraíḥ || 13 ||

May the adorable creator, the preserver, the possessor of golden radiance, come to bless us. He, who is splendid like the first light of the dawn, disperses excellent riches to the offerer of the oblation. 8

And may you, O source of strength, bring back today the divine forces to bless our noble deeds. May I always enjoy your favours. May I, through your protection, O adorable Lord, be blessed with excellent descendants. 9

O wise, ever-true twin-divines, come quickly to my invocation, supported by dedicatory acts. May you extricate us from thick darkness, as you could extricate the three-fold free sage and protect us. May you O leaders, protect us from the danger of life-conflicts. 10

O divine powers, may you bestow on us splendid riches, and brave sons, admired by all. O celestial luminaries and terrestrial vital powers, offsprings of midspace and children of waters, please grant us our wishes and make us happy. 11

May the Lord of cosmic vitality, the vital breath, the divine speech, and the all-pervading wind send to us rains and make us happy. May the divine powers, rich in spiritual, physical, and creative energy, grant us abundant nourishment. 12

And may the divine Lord of creativity, and the Lord of lightning, whilst pouring down gifts be gracious to us ; and may the creator of the cosmic forces, along with Nature's bounties, such as the firmament, the earth, and the oceans protect us. 13

उत नोऽहिर्बुध्न्यः शृणोत्वज एकपात्पृथिवी समुद्रः ।
विश्वे देवा ऋतावृधो हुवानाः स्तुता मन्त्राः कविशस्ता अवन्तु ॥१४॥
एवा नपातो मम तस्य धीभिर्भरद्वाजा अभ्यर्चन्त्यर्कैः ।
ग्ना हुतासो वसवोऽधृष्टा विश्वे स्तुतासो भूता यजत्राः ॥१५॥

utá nó 'hir budhnyàḥ srinotv ajá ékapāt prithiví samudráḥ | víṣve devā́ ritāvrídho huvānā́ stutā́ mántrāḥ kaviṣastā́ avantu || 14 || evā́ nápāto máma tásya dhībhír bharádvājā abhy àrcanty arkaíḥ | gnā́ hutā́so vá·savó 'dhrishṭā víṣve stutā́so bhūtā yajatrāḥ || 15 || 10 ||

(५१) एकपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाज ऋजिश्वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१–१२) प्रथमादि-द्वादशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (१३–१५) त्रयोदश्यादितृचस्योष्णिक्, (१६) षोडश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥११॥ उदु त्यच्चक्षुर्महि मित्रयोराँ एति प्रियं वरुणयोरदब्धम् ।
ऋतस्य शुचि दर्शतमनीकं रुक्मो न दिव उदिता व्यद्यौत् ॥१॥
वेद यस्त्रीणि विदथान्येषां देवानां जन्म सनुतरा च विप्रः ।
ऋजु मर्तेषु वृजिना च पश्यन्नभि चष्टे सूरो अर्य एवान् ॥२॥
स्तुष उ वो मह ऋतस्य गोपानदितिं मित्रं वरुणं सुजातान् ।
अर्यमणं भगमदब्धधीतीनच्छा वोचे सधन्यः पावकान् ॥३॥

51.

Úd u tyác cákshur máhi mitráyor ā́ṅ éti priyám váruṇayor ádabdham | ritásya ṣúci darṣatám ánīkam rukmó ná divá úditā vy àdyaut || 1 || véda yás trī́ṇi vidáthāny eshām devā́nāṃ jánma sanutár ā́ ca vípraḥ | rijú mártesha vrijinā́ ca páṣyann abhí cashṭe sū́ro aryá évān || 2 || stushá u vo mahá ritásya gopā́n áditim mitrám váruṇam sujātā́n | aryamáṇam bhágam ádabdhadhītīn áchā voce sadhanyàḥ pāvakā́n || 3 ||

May the eternal and infinite Lord of universe hear us. May the earth and ocean hear us ; may the universal divine powers, who are exalted by our adoration and invoked and praised by us, protect us. Our mystical prayers are addressed to them and they have been glorified by sages of all times. 14

Thus we, the sons of the race of sagacious devotees, worship you, O Lord, along with your cosmic forces. And to that effect, we perform our sacred rites and chant holy hymns. O adorable powers, you have been showing respect and regard ; you are givers of dwellings and are invincible. May you, along with your associated energies, ever be adored. 15

51

That expansive unobstructive, and dear radiant sun, as if, an eye of the cosmic light and plasma, is moving upward. The pure and lovely face of the holy order shines like golden ornament of heaven in its rising. 1

He, the sage, the sun-divine, knows the three cognizable worlds ; and also the mysterious birth of Nature's bounties, be it near or far. He, the sun divine, is seen, as if, beholding good and evil acts of mortals ; and thenceforth manifests the merits of their intentions. 2

I glorify you, O sun-divine, O protector of mighty eternal law, you are known by your attributive names, like the mother infinite, the Lord of cosmic light and the Lord of plasma, the venerable justice personified, and supreme grace. I celebrate Nature's bounties, whose acts are unimpeded, who are bestowers of wealth, and dispensers of purity. 3

रिशादसः सत्पतीँरदब्धान्महो राज्ञः सुवसनस्य दातॄन् ।
यूनः सुक्षत्रान्क्षयतो दिवो नॄनादित्यान्याम्यदितिं दुवोयु ॥४॥
द्यौ३ष्पितः पृथिवि मातरध्रुगग्ने भ्रातर्वसवो मृळता नः ।
विश्व आदित्या अदिते सजोषा अस्मभ्यं शर्म बहुलं वि यन्त ॥५॥
॥११॥ मा नो वृकाय वृक्ये समस्मा अघायते रीरधता यजत्राः ।
यूयं हि ष्ठा रथ्यो नस्तनूनां यूयं दक्षस्य वचसो बभूव ॥६॥

rišádasaḥ sátpatīṁr ádabdhān mahó rā́jñaḥ suvasanásya datrı́n | yū́naḥ sukshatrā́n ksháyato divó nṛ́n ādityā́n yāmy áditiṃ duvoyú || 4 || dyaùsh pítaḥ pŕ̥thivi mátar ádhrug ágne bhrātar vasavo mṛiḷátā naḥ | víšva ādityā adite sajóshā asmábhyaṃ šárma bahuláṃ ví yanta || 5 || 11 ||

mā́ no vŕ̥kāya vṛikyè samasmā aghāyaté rīradhatā yajatrāḥ | yuyáṃ hí shṭhā́ rathyò nas tanū́nāṃ yūyáṃ dákshasya vácaso babhūvá || 6 ||

मा व एनो अन्यकृतं भुजेम मा तत्कर्म वसवो यच्चयध्वे ।
विश्वस्य हि क्षयथ विश्वदेवाः स्वयं रिपुस्तन्वं रीरिषीष्ट ॥७॥
नम इदुग्रं नम आ विवासे नमो दाधार पृथिवीमुत द्याम् ।
नमो देवेभ्यो नम ईश एषां कृतं चिदेनो नमसा विवासे ॥८॥
ऋतस्य वो रथ्यः पूतदक्षानृतस्य पस्त्यसदो अदब्धान् ।
ताँ आ नमोभिरुरुचक्षसो नॄन्विश्वान्व आ नमे महो यजत्राः ॥९॥

mā́ va éno anyákṛitam bhujema mā́ tát karma vasavo yác cáyadhve | víšvasya hí ksháyatha višvadevāḥ svayáṃ ripús tanvàṃ rīrishīshṭa || 7 || náma íd ugráṃ náma ā́ vivāse námo dādhāra pṛithivím utá dyā́m | námo devébhyo náma īša eshāṃ kṛitáṃ cid éno námasā́ vivāse || 8 || ṛitásya vo rathyàḥ pūtádakshān ṛitásya pastyasádo ádabdhān | tā́ñ ā́ námobhir urucákshaso nṛ́n víšvān va ā́ name mahó yajatrāḥ || 9 ||

O divinities, the suns-divine, the offsprings of mother-infinity, the scatterers of the malevolent, the defender of virtuous, the irresistible, the mighty, the donors of good dwellings, ever-young, very powerful over wide dominions, and leaders of heaven, I seek your refuge with adoration. 4

O father heaven, the infallible mother earth, the brother fire, and you, O giver of life-breath, may you all grant us happiness. O mother infinite and sons of mother infinity, may you, with one mind, bestow upon us your manifold protection. 5

Subject us not, O adorable bounties, to evil creatures, wolf-like, or like a robber, nor to any one designing us harm. Verily, you are the one who guide us aright and you are the rulers of our vigour and speech. 6

Let us not suffer for the sin of others, nor do that which, O regions-divine, you prohibit. O universal cosmic powers, controllers of the universe, may the one, who hurts us, be the victim of his own designs. 7

Reverence be to the mighty ; reverence I adopt. Reverence sustains earth and heaven; reverence to Nature's bounties; reverence overwhelms them. I offer penance in the form of reverence for sins, which may have been committed by me. 8

O adorable Nature's bounties, I venerate you with reverential salutations. You are mighty, the regulators of cosmic sacrifice, pure in your spirit, infallible, dwellers in the chamber of cosmic worship, unsubdued, far-seeing and leaders of cosmic order. 9

ते हि श्रेष्ठवर्चसस्त उं नस्तिरो विश्वानि दुरिता नयन्ति ।
सुक्षत्रासो वरुणो मित्रो अग्निर्ऋतधीतयो वक्मराजसत्याः ॥१०॥

॥१३॥ ते न इन्द्रः पृथिवी क्षाम वर्धन्पूषा भगो अदितिः पञ्च जनाः ।
सुशर्माणः स्ववसः सुनीथा भवन्तु नः सुत्रात्रासः सुगोपाः ॥११॥
नू सद्मानं दिव्यं नंशि देवा भारद्वाजः सुमतिं याति होता ।
आसानेभिर्यजमानो मियेधैर्देवानां जन्म वसूयुर्ववन्द ॥१२॥

té hí sréshtha-varcasas tá u nas tiró vísvāni duritā́ náyanti | sukshatrā́so váruṇo mitró agnír ritádhītayo vakmarā́jasatyāḥ || 10 || 12 ||

té na índraḥ prithivī́ kshā́ma vardhan pūshā́ bhágo áditiḥ páñca jánāḥ | susármāṇaḥ svávasaḥ sunīthā́ bhávantu naḥ sutrātrā́saḥ sugopā́ḥ || 11 || nū́ sadmā́naṃ divyáṃ náṅsi devā bhā́radvājaḥ sumatíṃ yāti hótā | āsānébhir yájamāno miyédhair devā́nāṃ jánma vasūyúr vavanda || 12 ||

अप त्यं वृजिनं रिपुं स्तेनमग्ने दुराध्यम् ।
दविष्ठमस्य सत्पते कृधी सुगम् ॥१३॥
ग्रावाणः सोम नो हि कं सखित्वनाय वावशुः ।
जही न्यत्रिणं पणिं वृको हि षः ॥१४॥
यूयं हि ष्ठा सुदानव इन्द्रज्येष्ठा अभिद्यवः ।
कर्ता नो अध्वन्ना सुगं गोपा अमा ॥१५॥
अपि पन्थामगन्महि स्वस्तिगामनेहसम् ।
येन विश्वाः परि द्विषो वृणक्ति विन्दते वसु ॥१६॥

ápa tyáṃ vrijinám ripúṃ stenám agne durādhyàm | davishthám asya satpate kridhí sugám || 13 || grā́vāṇaḥ soma no hí kaṃ sakhitvanā́ya vāvasúḥ | jahí ny àtríṇam paṇím vríko hí sháḥ || 14 || yūyáṃ hí shthā́ sudānava índrajyeshthā abhídyavaḥ | kártā no ádhvann ā́ sugáṃ gopā́ amā́ || 15 || ápi pánthām aganmahi svastigā́m anehásam | yéna vísvāḥ pári dvísho vriṇákti vindáte vásu || 16 || 13 ||

For, these are they who excell in splendour. They guide us safely through all our troubles. They are friendly, shining, adorable, mighty rulers, true-minded and faithful to those who are intensely dedicated to your service. 10

May they, the earth, the mother infinite, the sun, the gracious, the provider of food and the five-fold people increase our habitable land. May they, giving good help, good refuge, and good guidance, be our good deliverers and good preservers. 11

O divine powers, may the bearer of wisdom, the invoker, quickly obtain divine shelter as he solicits your goodwill. He is the promoter of sacred works, and along with his pious associates, seeks wisdom and pays tributes to Nature's bounties. 12

O fire-divine, may you drive far far away the wicked, foe and felonious, malignant enemy. O protector of virtuous, may you make our path easy. 13

O blissful Lord, our two faculties, emotional and physical, like two grinding stones, are anxious for your love. May you destroy the voracious instinct of greed, for verily, it is a wolf. 14

O Nature's bounties, resplendent Lord being your chief, you are most munificent and illustrious. May you give us good paths for travel and guard well at home. 15

We have travelled along a road that leads to peace and prosperity and is free from evil. This is the road whereon a man escapes all hurdles and attains riches. 16

(५२) द्विपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–१७) सप्तदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाज ऋजिश्वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१–६, १३, १५–१७) प्रथमादितृचद्वयस्य त्रयोदश्या ऋचः पञ्चदश्यादितृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, (७–१२) सप्तम्यादितृचद्वयस्य गायत्री, (१४) चतुर्दश्याश्च जगती छन्दांसि ॥

॥१४॥ न तद्दिवा न पृथिव्यानु मन्ये न यज्ञेन नोत शमीभिराभिः ।
उब्जन्तु तं सुभ्वः पर्वतासो नि हीयतामतियाजस्य यष्टा ॥१॥
अति वा यो मरुतो मन्यते नो ब्रह्म वा यः क्रियमाणं निनित्सात् ।
तपूंषि तस्मै वृजिनानि सन्तु ब्रह्मद्विषमभि तं शोचतु द्यौः ॥२॥

52.

Ná tád divá ná prithivyánu manye ná yajñéna nótá sámībhir ābhíḥ | ubjántu tám subhvàḥ párvatāso ní hīyatām atiyājásya yashṭā || 1 || áti vā yó maruto mányate no bráhma vā yáḥ kriyámāṇam nínitsāt | tápūṅshi tásmai vrijināni santu brahmadvísham abhí tám ṣocatu dyaúḥ || 2 ||

किमङ्ग त्वा ब्रह्मणः सोम गोपां किमङ्ग त्वाहुरभिशस्तिपां नः ।
किमङ्ग नः पश्यसि निद्यमानान्ब्रह्मद्विषे तपुषिं हेतिमस्य ॥३॥
अवन्तु मामुषसो जायमाना अवन्तु मा सिन्धवः पिन्वमानाः ।
अवन्तु मा पर्वतासो ध्रुवासोऽवन्तु मा पितरो देवहूतौ ॥४॥
विश्वदानीं सुमनसः स्याम पश्येम नु सूर्यमुच्चरन्तम् ।
तथा करद्वसुपतिर्वसूनां देवाँ ओहानोऽवसागमिष्ठः ॥५॥

kím aṅgá tvā bráhmaṇaḥ soma gopám kím aṅgá tvāhur abhiṣastipám naḥ | kím aṅgá naḥ paṣyasi nidyámānān brahmadvíshe tápushim hetím asya || 3 || ávantu mám usháso jáyamānā ávantu mā síndhavaḥ pínvamānāḥ | ávantu mā párvatāso dhruvásó 'vantu mā pitáro deváhūtau || 4 || viṣvadánīm sumánasaḥ syāma páṣyema nú sūryam uccárantam | táthā karad vásupatir vásūnām deváñ óhānó 'vaságamishṭhaḥ || 5 || 14 ||

52

I do not regard the force on the earth or the power in heaven, as comparable to the sanctity of sacrifice and sacred rites. Let, then, the mighty mountains crush him down. Let the worship of a boastful worshipper be made humble. 1

O vital principles, may the sun in heaven scorch that man and may agonies of burning be inflicted on that faithless who thinks himself superior to us, and who seeks to depreciate the worship, that we offer. 2

Why then, do they, O blissful Lord, call you the protector of god-loving people ? And our defender against calumny ? Why do you let us be humiliated ? May you cast your bolt of justice at him who denies devotion. 3

May the dawns, as they spring to life, preserve me ; and may the rivers, as they swell preserve me, may the first-set mountains preserve me ; may the progenitors, when I call on divine powers, preserve me. 4

May we, at all seasons be possessed of healthy minds; and may we behold the sun, when he arises. May the affluent Lord of riches, observant, conveyer of our oblations to Nature's bounties, make us worthy of these rewards. 5

॥१५॥ इन्द्रो नेदिष्ठमवसागमिष्ठः सरस्वती सिन्धुभिः पिन्वमाना ।
पर्जन्यो न ओषधीभिर्मयोभुरग्निः सुशंसः सुहवः पितेव ॥६॥
विश्वे देवास आ गत शृणुता म इमं हवम् । एदं बर्हिर्नि षीदत ॥७॥
यो वो देवा घृतस्नुना हव्येन प्रतिभूषति । तं विश्व उप गच्छथ ॥८॥
उप नः सूनवो गिरः शृण्वन्त्वमृतस्य ये । सुमृळीका भवन्तु नः ॥९॥
विश्वे देवा ऋतावृध ऋतुभिर्हवनश्रुतः । जुषन्तां युज्यं पयः ॥१०॥

indro nédishtham ávasā́gamishthah sárasvatī síndhubhih pínvamānā | parjányo na óshadhībhir mayobhúr agníh suśáṅsah suhávah pitéva || 6 || víśve devāsa ā́ gata śrinutā́ ma imáṃ hávam | édám barhír ní shīdata || 7 || yó vo devā ghritásnunā havyéna pratibhū́shati | táṃ víśva úpa gachatha || 8 || úpa naḥ sūnávo gírah śriṇvántv amrítasya yé | sumrilīkā́ bhavantu naḥ || 9 || víśve devā́ ritāvrídha ritúbhir havanaśrútah | jushántāṃ yújyam páyaḥ || 10 || 15 ||

॥१६॥ स्तोत्रमिन्द्रो मरुद्गणस्त्वष्टृमान्मित्रो अर्यमा । इमा हव्या जुषन्त नः ॥११॥
इमं नो अग्ने अध्वरं होतर्वयुनशो यज । चिकित्वान्दैव्यं जनम् ॥१२॥
विश्वे देवाः शृणुतेमं हवं मे ये अन्तरिक्षे य उप द्यवि ष्ठ ।
ये अग्निजिह्वा उत वा यजत्रा आसद्यास्मिन्बर्हिषि मादयध्वम् ॥१३॥
विश्वे देवा मम शृण्वन्तु यज्ञिया उभे रोदसी अपां नपाच्च मन्म ।
मा वो वचांसि परिचक्ष्याणि वोचं सुम्नेष्विद्वो अन्तमा मदेम ॥१४॥

stotrám índro marúdgaṇas tváshtrimān mitró aryamā́ | imā́ havyā́ jushanta naḥ || 11 || imáṃ no agne adhvaráṃ hótar vayunaśó yaja | cikitvā́n daívyaṃ jánam || 12 || víśve devāḥ śriṇutémáṃ hávam me yé antárikshe yá úpa dyávi shṭhá | yé agnijihvā́ utá vā yájatrā āsádyāsmín barhíshi mādayadhvam || 13 || víśve devā́ máma śriṇvantu yajñíyā ubhé ródasī apā́ṃ nápāc ca mánma | mā́ vo vácāṅsi paricákshyāṇi vocaṃ sumnéshv íd vo ántamā madema || 14 ||

May the sun be most prompt to favour us for our protection. May the river with its tributary, and may the clouds with herbs and vegetation be givers of happiness to us and may we invoke the fire-divine with earnestness to be like a father to us. 6

Come, O universal divine powers, hear my invocation ; and be seated in our hearts, as if, on sacred grass. 7

O divines, may you, one and all, come to him who approaches you with butter-dripped oblations, i.e. loving devotions. 8

May all sons of the immortal hear our words and be the source of happiness to us. 9

May all divine powers of universe, the augmenters of eternal law, listening to praises, chanted at due seasons, accept our appropriate homage, which is sacred as milk. 10

May the resplendent Lord, along with vital elements, the divine architect and provider of law and order, accept our praises and these offerings. 11

O fire-divine, the invoker, cognizant of the divine assembly, may you offer, as ordained by rules, our dedicated services. 12

O divine powers, hear my invocation, whether you inhabit the mid-region or the celestial. You receive oblations conveyed by the flame of fire-divine. May you, seated in our hearts, rejoice. 13

May all the divine powers, and both heaven and earth and the fire-divine, the grandson of water, hear our songs; may we not utter such words as you may disregard. Let us, closely allied with you, rejoice in bliss. 14

ये के च ज्मा महिनो अहिमाया दिवो जज्ञिरे अपां सधस्थे ।
ते अस्मभ्यमिषये विश्वमायुः क्षप उस्रा वरिवस्यन्तु देवाः ॥१५॥
अग्नीपर्जन्याववतं धियं मेऽस्मिन्हवे सुहवा सुष्टुतिं नः ।
इळामन्यो जनयद्गर्भमन्यः प्रजावतीरिष आ धत्तमस्मे ॥१६॥
स्तीर्णे बर्हिषि समिधाने अग्नौ सूक्तेन महा नमसा विवासे ।
अस्मिन्नो अद्य विदथे यजत्रा विश्वे देवा हविषि मादयध्वम् ॥१७॥

yé ké ca jmá mahíno áhimāyā divó jajñiré apám sadhásthe | té asmábhyam isháye víṣvam áyuḥ kshápa usrá varivasyantu deváḥ || 15 || ágnīparjanyāv ávatam dhíyam me 'smín háve suhavā sushṭutím naḥ | íḷām anyó janáyad gárbham anyáḥ prajávatīr ísha á dhattam asmé || 16 || stīrṇé barhíshi samidhāné agnaú sūkténa mahá námasá vivāse | asmín no adyá vidáthe yajatrā víṣve devā havíshi mādayadhvam || 17 || 16 ||

(५३) त्रिपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । पूषा देवता । (१-७, ९-१०) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चां नवमीदशम्योश्च गायत्री, (८) अष्टम्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१७॥ वयमु त्वा पथस्पते रथं न वाजसातये । धिये पूषन्नयुज्महि ॥१॥
अभि नो नर्यं वसु वीरं प्रयतदक्षिणम् । वामं गृहपतिं नय ॥२॥

53.

Vayám u tvā pathas pate rátham ná vájasātaye | dhiyé pūshann ayujmahi | 1 || abhí no náryam vásu vīrám práyatadakshiṇam | vāmám gṛihápatim naya | 2 ||

May those mighty, with the mystic powers, born on earth or in heaven, or in the waters of interspace, condescend to grant us life of full duration for our prosperity. May Nature's bounties kindly bless us nights and mornings. 15

May the fire-divine and clouds be swift to hear my laudations and prayers. One of you generates good, the other posterity. May you, therefore, grant us food productive of descendants. 16

When the sacred grass is strewn, the fire enkindled, with hymns and with profound veneration, then O adorable divine powers, take joy in the offerings presented to you in this ceremonial congregation. 17

53

O nourisher, Lord of the path, we engage and bind you to our hymns, like a chariot yoked for bringing food. 1

May you kindly conduct us to a gracious householder, friendly to men, liberal in wealth, and giver of profuse donations. 2

अदि॑त्सन्तं चिदाघृणे॒ पूष॒न्दाना॑य चोदय । प॒णेश्चि॒द्वि म्र॑दा॒ मनः॑ ॥३॥
वि प॒थो वाज॑सातये चिनु॒हि वि मृधो॑ जहि । साध॑न्तामुग्र नो॒ धियः॑ ॥४॥
परि॑ तृन्धि प॒णीना॒मार॑या॒ हृद॑या कवे । अथे॑म॒स्मभ्यं॑ रन्धय ॥५॥
॥१८॥ वि पू॑षन्नार॑या तुद प॒णेरि॑च्छ हृ॒दि प्रि॒यम् । अथे॑म॒स्मभ्यं॑ रन्धय ॥६॥
आ रि॑ख किकि॒रा कृ॑णु प॒णीनां॒ हृद॑या कवे । अथे॑म॒स्मभ्यं॑ रन्धय ॥७॥

áditsantaṃ cid āghriṇe pū́shan dā́nāya codaya | paṇéś cid ví mradā mánaḥ || 3 || ví pathó vā́jasātaye cinuhí ví mṛ́dho jahi | sā́dhantām ugra no dhíyaḥ || 4 || pári tṛindhi paṇīnā́m ā́rayā hṛ́dayā kave | áthem asmábhyaṃ randhaya || 5 || 17 ||

ví pūshann ā́rayā tuda paṇér iccha hṛidí priyám | áthem — || 6 || ā́ rikha kikirā́ kṛiṇu paṇīnā́ṃ hṛ́dayā kave | áthem — || 7 ||

यां पू॑षन्ब्रह्म॒चोद॑नी॒मारां॒ बिभ॑र्ष्याघृणे ।
तया॑ समस्य॒ हृद॑य॒मा रि॑ख किकि॒रा कृ॑णु ॥८॥
या ते॒ अष्ट्रा॒ गोओ॑पशा॒घृणे पशु॒साध॑नी । तस्या॑स्ते सु॒म्नमी॑महे ॥९॥
उ॒त नो॑ गो॒षणिं॒ धिय॑मश्व॒सां वा॑ज॒सामु॒त । नृ॒वत्कृ॑णुहि वी॒तये॑ ॥१०॥

yā́m pūshan brahmacódanīm ā́rām bíbharshy āghriṇe | táyā samasya hṛ́dayam ā́ rikha kikirā́ kṛiṇu || 8 || yā́ te áshṭrā góopaśāghriṇe paśusā́dhanī | tásyās te sumnám īmahe || 9 || utá no goshā́ṇiṃ dhíyam aśvasā́ṃ vājasā́m utá | nṛivát kṛiṇuhi vītáye || 10 || 18 ||

O resplendent nourisher, urge even the niggard to give us liberally, and make the heart of the miser to grow soft. 3

O powerful nourisher, make the roads comfortable for the passage of provisions; drive away all hurdles and obstructions, so that our holy works may be accomplished. 4

O wise nourisher, penetrate with an awl the hearts of the avaricious churls and so render them complacent towards us. 5

Pierce with a goad, O nourisher, the heart of the avaricious; generate generosity in his heart, and so render him complacent towards us. 6

O wise nourisher, tear up and rend in pieces the hearts of avaricious churls, and so render them complacent towards us. 7

Resplendent nourisher, with that godly-blessed ploughshare which you carry, tear up the heart of every miser and render it soft. 8

Resplendent nourisher, we ask of you the details of that goad that guides the cows and directs cattle. 9

Give us that pious wisdom which is productive of cows, of horses, of food and of dependents for our delight and use. 10

(५४) चतुष्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१–१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । पूषा देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१९॥ सं पूषन्विदुषा नय यो अञ्जसानुशासति । य एवेदमिति ब्रवत् ॥१॥
समु पूष्णा गमेमहि यो गृहाँ अभिशासति । इम एवेति च ब्रवत् ॥२॥
पूष्णश्चक्रं न रिष्यति न कोशोऽव पद्यते । नो अस्य व्यथते पविः ॥३॥

54.

Sám pūshan vidúshā naya yó áñjasānuṣā́sati | yá evédám íti brávat || 1 || sám u pushṇā́ gamemahi yó gṛihā́n abhiṣā́sati | imá evéti ca brávat || 2 || pushṇás cakrám ná rishyati ná kóṣó 'va padyate | nó asya vyathate pavíḥ || 3 ||

यो अस्मै हविषाविधन्न तं पूषापि मृष्यते । प्रथमो विन्दते वसु ॥४॥
पूषा गा अन्वेतु नः पूषा रक्षत्वर्वतः । पूषा वाजं सनोतु नः ॥५॥
॥२०॥ पूषन्ननु प्र गा इहि यजमानस्य सुन्वतः । अस्माकं स्तुवतामुत ॥६॥
माकिर्नेशन्माकीं रिषन्माकीं सं शारि केवटे । अथारिष्टाभिरा गहि ॥७॥
शृण्वन्तं पूषणं वयमिर्यमनष्टवेदसम् । ईशानं राय ईमहे ॥८॥
पूषन्तव व्रते वयं न रिष्येम कदा चन । स्तोतारस्त इह स्मसि ॥९॥
परि पूषा परस्ताद्धस्तं दधातु दक्षिणम् । पुनर्नो नष्टमाजतु ॥१०॥

yó asmai havíshávidhan ná tám pūshápi mṛishyate | prathamó vindate vásu || 4 || pūshā́ gā́ ánv etu naḥ pushā́ rakshatv árvataḥ | pūshā́ vā́jam sanotu naḥ || 5 || 19 ||

pū́shann ánu prá gā́ ihi yā́jamānasya sunvatáḥ | asmā́kam stuvatā́m utá || 6 || mā́kir neṣan mā́kīm rishan mā́kīm sáṃ ṣāri kévaṭe | áthārishṭābhir ā́ gahi || 7 || ṣriṇvántam pūshā́ṇam vayám íryam ánashṭavedasam | ī́ṣānam rāyá īmahe || 8 || pū́shan táva vraté vayáṃ ná rishyema kádā caná | stotā́ras ta ihá smasi || 9 || pári pūshā́ parástād dhástaṃ dadhātu dákshiṇam | púnar no nashtā́m ā́jatu || 10 || 20 ||

54

Bring us, O Lord, the nourisher, into communication with a wise man who may rightly direct us, who may even say, this is so. 1

May we, by the favour of the nourisher, come in communication with the man who may direct us to the houses, and may say, verily, these are they. 2

The chariot-wheel of the nourisher is never damaged, its cover never falls on ground and its edge does not harm us. 3

The nourisher inflicts not the least injury on the man who propitiates him by oblations ; he is the first who acquires wealth. 4

May the nourisher come to guard our cattle, may He keep our horses safe ; may nourisher give us food. 5

Come, O Lord, the nourisher to guard the cattle of the institutor of the sacred worship and presenter of homage and also guard our cattle, of those who sing his praises. 6

O Lord, the nourisher, let not, our cattle perish ; let them not be injured ; let them not be hurt by falling into a well ; return along with them, all safe and sound. 7

We solicit riches of the nourisher, who hears our eulogies, whose wealth is never lost, who is averter of poverty and who is the ruler over all. 8

O Lord, the nourisher, may we never suffer detriment when engaged in your worship ; we are here to sing your praise. 9

May the nourisher stretch His right hand to restrain our cattle from going astray ; may He bring again to us that, which has been lost. 10

(५५) पञ्चपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । पूषा देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२१॥ एहि वां विमुचो नपादाघृणे सं सचावहै । रथीर्ऋतस्य नो भव ॥१॥
रथीतमं कपर्दिनमीशानं राधसो महः । रायः सखायमीमहे ॥२॥
रायो धारास्याघृणे वसो राशिरजाश्व । धीवतोधीवतः सखा ॥३॥

55.

Éhi vā́ṃ vimuco napād ā́ghriṇe sā́ṃ sacāvahai | rathír ṛitásya no bhava || 1 || rathítamam kapardínam íṣānaṃ rā́dhaso maháḥ | rāyáḥ sákhāyam īmahe || 2 || rāyó dhā́rāsy ā́ghriṇe váso rāṣír ajāṣva | dhívato-dhīvataḥ sákhā || 3 ||

पूषणं न्व१जाश्वमुप स्तोषाम वाजिनम् । स्वसुर्यो जार उच्यते ॥४॥
मातुर्दिधिषुमब्रवं स्वसुर्जारः शृणोतु नः । भ्रातेन्द्रस्य सखा मम ॥५॥
आजासः पूषणं रथे निशृम्भास्ते जनश्रियम् । देवं वहन्तु बिभ्रतः ॥६॥

pū-shánaṃ nv àjáṣvam úpa stoshāma vājínam | svásur yó jārá ucyáte || 4 || mātúr didhishúm abravaṃ svásur jāráḥ ṣṛiṇotu naḥ | bhrā́téndrasya sákhā máma || 5 || ā́jā́saḥ pūsháṇaṃ ráthe niṣṛimbhā́s té janaṣríyam | deváṃ vahantu bíbhrataḥ || 6 || 21 ||

55

Come, O illustrious source of deliverence to me, your worshipper ; let both of us work in harmony and become the promoter of sacred works. 1

We solicit riches of our friend (Lord, the nourisher), the chief of charioteers, the wearer of a braid (of hair), the Lord of infinite wealth. 2

O illustrious nourisher, the sun, you are a stream of riches ; a heap of wealth ; the friend of every pious man. Goat-like is your courser (your rays lie on the low energy side), whilst your chariot moves in the firmament. 3

We glorify, O nourisher, the sun, the rider on the goat-driven chariot, the giver of food, and the one who is called the gallant of his sister, the dawn. 4

I glorify nourisher, the sun, who is called the protector of his mother, the night ; may the gallant of his sister dawn hear us ; may the brother of the sun be our friend. 5

May the harnessed ponies—the goat-size coursers, drawing the sun in their car, bring hither the nourisher, the benefactor of man. 6

(५६) षट्पञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । पूषा देवता । (१-५) प्रथमादि-
पञ्चर्चां गायत्री, (६) षष्ठ्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२२॥ य एनमादिदेशति करम्भादिति पूषणम् । न तेन देव आदिशे ॥१॥
उत घा स रथीतमः सख्या सत्पतिर्युजा । इन्द्रो वृत्राणि जिघ्नते ॥२॥

56.

Yá enam ādídeṣati karambhád íti pūsháṇam | ná téna devá ādíṣé || 1 || utá ghā sá rathítamaḥ sákhyā sátpatir yujá | índro vṛitráṇi jighnate || 2 ||

उतादः परुषे गवि सूरश्चक्रं हिरण्ययम् । न्यैरयद्रथीतमः ॥३॥
यदद्य त्वा पुरुष्टुत ब्रवाम दस्र मन्तुमः । तत्सु नो मन्म साधय ॥४॥
इमं च नो गवेषणं सातये सीषधो गणम् । आरात्पूषन्नसि श्रुतः ॥५॥
आ ते स्वस्तिमीमह आरेअघामुपावसुम् ।
अद्या च सर्वतातये श्वश्च सर्वतातये ॥६॥

utádáḥ parushé gávi sū́raṣ cakráṃ hiraṇyáyam | ny àirayad rathítamaḥ || 3 || yád adyá tvā purushṭuta brávāma dasra mantumaḥ | tát sú no mánma sādhaya || 4 || imáṃ ca no gavéshaṇaṃ sātáye sīshadho gaṇám | ārát pūshann asi ṣrutáḥ || 5 || á te svastím īmaha āréaghām úpāvasum | adyá ca sarvátātaye ṣváṣ ca sarvátātaye || 6 || 22 ||

56

Whosoever has worshipped the nourishing sun-divine of the southern solstice, with the offering of meal and butter, need not think of any other sun-divine. 1

The resplendent sun of the northern solstice is best of charioteers and the protector of the virtuous. He, allied with his friend, the nourishing sun of the southern solstice, destroys his adversaries. 2

He, the nourishing sun of the southern solstice, is the impeller, the chief of charioteers. He guides the golden wheel of the radiant sun. 3

O wise, wondrous, the nourishing sun of the southern solstice, adored by all, we celebrate your glory today. So grant us the desired wealth. 4

O the nourishing sun, you are renowned afar. May you lead our groups of people ; aspiring for the acquisition of wealth and wisdom. 5

We crave from you that prosperity, which is far from evil and near to real wealth ; and which leads to universal happiness today, and universal happiness tomorrow. 6

(५७) सप्तपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रापूषणौ देवते । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ इन्द्रा नु पूषणा वयं सख्याय स्वस्तये । हुवेम वाजसातये ॥१॥
सोममन्य उपासदत्पातवे चम्वोः सुतम् । करम्भमन्य इच्छति ॥२॥
अजा अन्यस्य वह्नयो हरी अन्यस्य संभृता । ताभ्यां वृत्राणि जिघ्नते ॥३॥

57.

Índrā nú pūsháṇā vayáṃ sakhyáya svastáye | huvéma vájasātaye || 1 || sómam anyá úpāsadat pátave camvòḥ sutám | karambhám anyá ichati || 2 || ajá anyásya váhnayo hárī anyásya sámbhṛitā | tábhyāṃ vṛitráṇi jighnate || 3 ||

यदिन्द्रो अनयद्रितो महीरपो वृषन्तमः । तत्र पूषाभवत्सचा ॥४॥
तां पूष्णः सुमतिं वयं वृक्षस्य प्र वयामिव । इन्द्रस्य चा रभामहे ॥५॥
उत्पूषणं युवामहेऽभीशूँरिव सारथिः । मह्या इन्द्रं स्वस्तये ॥६॥

yád índro ánayad ríto mahír apó vríshantamaḥ | tátra pūshábhavat sácā || 4 || tám pūshṇáḥ sumatíṃ vayáṃ vṛikshásya prá vayám iva | índrasya cá rabhāmahe || 5 || út pūsháṇaṃ yuvamahe 'bhíṣūnr iva sárathiḥ | mahyá índraṃ svastáye || 6 || 23 ||

57

O the resplendent sun of the northern solstice and the nourishing sun of the southern one, we invoke you, for obtaining your friendship, our well-being, and for obtaining food. 1

One of you, of the northern solstice, approaches to relish extracted herbal juices, poured out into ladles. The other, the southern, desires the buttered meal. 2

Goat-like are the coursers of the one, two well-fed horse-like of the other, and with them he destroys his foes. 3

When the showerer, the resplendent sun of the northern solstice, sends down the streams and mighty water-floods, the divine nourishing sun also joins with him. 4

We depend upon the goodwill of both the nourishing sun of the southern solstice and of the resplendent sun of the northern solstice as we closely cling to the extended branches of a tree. 5

We draw to us, for our great success, the nourishing sun (of the southern solstice) and the resplendent, one of the northern, as a charioteer pulls tight his reins. 6

(५८) अष्टपञ्चाशं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । पूषा देवता । (१, ३-४) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयाचतुर्थ्योश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (२) द्वितीयायाश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥२४॥ शुक्रं ते अन्यद्यजतं ते अन्यद्विषुरूपे अहनी द्यौरिवासि ।
विश्वा हि माया अवसि स्वधावो भद्रा ते पूषन्निह रातिरस्तु ॥१॥
अजाश्वः पशुपा वाजपस्त्यो धियंजिन्वो भुवने विश्वे अर्पितः ।
अष्ट्रां पूषा शिथिरामुद्वरीवृजत्संचक्षाणो भुवना देव ईयते ॥२॥

58.

Ṣukrám te anyád yajatám te anyád vísharūpe áhanī dyaúr ivasi | víṣvā hí māyā́ ávasi svadhāvo bhadrā́ te pūshann ihá rātír astu || 1 || ajā́ṣvaḥ paṣupā́ vā́japastyo dhiyaṃjinvó bhúvane víṣve árpitaḥ | áshṭrām pūshā́ ṣithirā́m udvárīvṛijat saṃcákshaṇo bhúvanā devá īyate || 2 ||

यास्ते पूषन्नावो अन्तः समुद्रे हिरण्ययीरन्तरिक्षे चरन्ति ।
ताभिर्यासि दूत्यां सूर्यस्य कामेन कृत श्रव इच्छमानः ॥३॥
पूषा सुबन्धुर्दिव आ पृथिव्या इळस्पतिर्मघवा दस्मवर्चाः ।
यं देवासो अददुः सूर्यायै कामेन कृतं तवसं स्वञ्चम् ॥४॥

yā́s te pūshan nā́vo antáḥ samudré hiraṇyáyīr antárikshe cáranti | tā́bhir yāsi dūtyā́ṃ sū́ryasya kā́mena kṛita ṣráva ichámānaḥ || 3 || pūshā́ subándhur divá ā́ pṛithivyā́ iḷás pátir maghávā dasmávarcāḥ | yáṃ deváso ádaduḥ sūryā́yai kā́mena kṛitáṃ tavásaṃ sváñcam || 4 || 24 ||

58

O the nourishing sun of the southern solstice, one of your forms is luminous, the other is venerable. And such, the day is of various complexion. Verily, you bestow all forms of intellect. May your auspicious liberality be manifested on this occasion. 1

The rider of the goat-like courser, the protector of animals, holder of abundant food, inspirer of hymns, is set over all the world. The divine nourisher, brandishing here and there his lightly-moving goad, proceeds in the sky, beholding every creature. 2

With your golden vessels, that navigate within the ocean-firmament, you discharge the function of a messenger of the sun. Desirous of glory, you are propitiated by whatever is willingly offered. 3

The nourishing sun of the southern solstice is the kind kinsman of heaven and earth ; the Lord of food, the possessor of opulence, and of wondrous lustre. He is vigorous, well-moving, and is propitiated by that which is willingly offered. He is in no way different from the sun of the northern solstice. 4

(५९) एकोनषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्राग्नी देवते । (१–६) प्रथमादितृचद्वयस्य बृहती, (७–१०) सप्तम्यादिचतुर्ऋचश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२५॥

प्र नु वोचा सुतेषु वां वीर्या३ यानि चक्रथुः ।
हतासो वां पितरो देवशत्रव इन्द्राग्नी जीवथो युवम् ॥१॥

59.

Prá nú vocā sutéshu vāṃ vīryā̀ yā́ni cakráthuḥ | hatáso vām pitáro devásatrava índrāgnī jívatho yuvám || 1 ||

बळित्था महिमा वामिन्द्राग्नी पनिष्ठ आ ।
समानो वां जनिता भ्रातरा युवं यमाविहेहमातरा ॥२॥
ओकिवांसा सुते सचाँ अश्वा सप्ती इवादने ।
इन्द्रा न्वग्नी अवसेह वज्रिणा वयं देवा हवामहे ॥३॥
य इन्द्राग्नी सुतेषु वां स्तवत्तेष्वृतावृधा ।
जोषवाकं वदतः पज्रहोषिणा न देवा भसथश्चन ॥४॥
इन्द्राग्नी को अस्य वां देवौ मर्तश्चिकेतति ।
विषूचो अश्वान्युयुजान ईयत एकः समान आ रथे ॥५॥

báḷ itthā́ mahimā́ vām índrāgnī pánishṭha ā́ | samānó vāṃ janitā́ bhrā́tarā yuvám yamā́v ihéhamātarā || 2 || okivā́ṅsā suté sácāṅ áṣvā sáptī ivā́dane | índrā nv àgnī́ ávasehá vajríṇā vayáṃ devā́ havāmahe || 3 || yá indrāgnī sutéshu vāṃ stávat téshv ṛitāvṛidhā | joshavākáṃ vádataḥ pajrahoshiṇā ná devā bhasáthaṣ caná || 4 || índrāgnī kó asyá vāṃ dévau mártaṣ ciketati | víshūco áṣvān yuyujāná īyata ékaḥ samāná ā́ ráthe || 5 || 25 ||

59

While the celestial nectar is effused, I celebrate, O cosmic divine powers of lightning and fire, your heroic noble deeds. The old-time enemies of the virtuous powers have been eliminated by you, and you survive. 1

Thus O divine powers, fire and lightning, verily, your greatness deserve loftiest praise. Sprung from one and the same progenitor, you are twin brethren ; your common mother is present here and everywhere. 2

You approach together, when the heavenly nectar is effused, like fellow horses at their forage. We invoke you today, O divine forces of lightning and fire, armed with thunderbolt, to our worship for our preservation. 3

O lightning-divine and fire-divine, augmenters of sacred works, friends of eternal law, may you not partake of the homage of him, who, when the prayer is chanted, praises you improperly, uttering unacceptable eulogies. 4

O lightning and fire-divine, how can a mortal evaluate your acts, whom even one of you proceeds in a common car, with harnessed horses capable of moving on any side. 5

॥२६॥ इन्द्रा॑ग्नी अ॒पादि॒यं पूर्वाग॑त्प॒द्वती॑भ्यः ।
हि॒त्वी शिरो॑ जि॒ह्वया॒ वाव॑द॒च्चर॑त्त्रिं॒शत्प॒दा न्य॑क्रमीत् ॥६॥
इन्द्रा॑ग्नी॒ आ हि त॑न्व॒ते नरो॒ धन्वा॑नि बा॒ह्वोः ।
मा नो॑ अ॒स्मिन्म॑हाध॒ने परा॑ वर्क्तं॒ गवि॑ष्टिषु ॥७॥
इन्द्रा॑ग्नी॒ तप॑न्ति मा॒घा अ॒र्यो अरा॑तयः ।
अप॒ द्वेषां॒स्या कृ॑तं युयु॒तं सूर्या॒दधि॑ ॥८॥

índrāgnī apā́d iyám pū́rvā́gāt padvátībhyaḥ | hitvī́ śíro jihváyā vā́vadac cárat triṁśát padā́ ny àkramīt || 6 || índrāgnī ā́ hí tanvaté náro dhánvāni bāhvóḥ | mā́ no asmín mahādhané párā varktaṃ gávishṭishu || 7 || índrāgnī tápanti māghā́ aryó árātayaḥ | ápa dvéshāṅsy ā́ kṛitaṃ yuyutáṃ sū́ryād ádhi || 8 ||

इन्द्रा॑ग्नी यु॒वोरपि॒ वसु॑ दि॒व्यानि॒ पार्थि॑वा ।
आ न॑ इ॒ह प्र य॑च्छतं र॒यिं वि॒श्वायु॑पोषसम् ॥९॥
इन्द्रा॑ग्नी उक्थवाहसा॒ स्तोमे॑भिर्हवनश्रुता ।
विश्वा॑भिर्गी॒र्भिरा ग॑तम॒स्य सोम॑स्य पी॒तये॑ ॥१०॥

índrāgnī yuvór ápi vásu divyā́ni pā́rthivā | ā́ na ihá prá yachataṃ rayíṃ viśvā́yuposhasam || 9 || índrāgnī ukthavāhasā stómebhir havanaśrutā | víśvābhir gīrbhír ā́ gatam asyá sómasya pītáye || 10 || 26 ||

This dawn, O lightning and fire-divine, though herself footless, comes before the footed sleepers, and stretching her head, she awakens people, who then utter loud sounds with their tongues, and passing onward she traverses thirty steps. 6

O Lord of cosmic lightning and fire, men, verily, stretch their bows with their arms. May you not desert us, while we are contending in the great conflict for obtaining wisdom. 7

O Lord of cosmic light and lightning, murderous aggressive enemies harass us. May you drive away our adversaries, and keep them afar from the light of the sun. 8

O Lord of cosmic fire and lightning, yours are all the treasures of heaven and earth. Bestow upon us, on this occasion, opulence that prospers every living man. 9

O Lord of cosmic lightning and fire, acceptors of hymns, may you hear our invocation, praises and all adorations. Please come hither to participate in our sparkling joy of devotion. 10

(६०) षष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्राग्नी देवते । (१–३, १३) प्रथमादितृचस्य त्रयोदश्या ऋचश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (४–१२) चतुर्थ्यादिनवानां गायत्री, (१४) चतुर्दश्या बृहती, (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२७॥ श्नथद्वृत्रमुत सनोति वाजमिन्द्रा यो अग्नी सहुरी सपर्यात् ।
इरज्यन्ता वसव्यस्य भूरेः सहस्तमा सहसा वाजयन्ता ॥१॥
ता योधिष्टमभि गा इन्द्र नूनमपः स्वरुषसो अग्न ऊळ्हाः ।
दिशः स्वरुषस इन्द्र चित्रा अपो गा अग्ने युवसे नियुत्वान् ॥२॥
आ वृत्रहणा वृत्रहभिः शुष्मैरिन्द्र यातं नमोभिरग्ने अर्वाक् ।
युवं राधोभिरकवेभिरिन्द्राग्ने अस्मे भवतमुत्तमेभिः ॥३॥

60.

Ṣnáthad vṛitrám utá sanoti vájam índrā yó agní sáhurī saparyát | irajyántā vasavyàsya bhū́reḥ sáhastamā sáhasā vājayántā || 1 || tá yodhishṭam abhí gá indra nūnám apáḥ svàr usháso agna ūḷháḥ | díṣaḥ svàr ushása indra citrá apó gá agne yuvase niyútvān || 2 || á vṛitrahaṇā vṛitrahá-bhiḥ ṣúshmair índra yātám námobhir agne arvák | yuvám rádhobhir ákavebhir indrágne asmé bhavatam uttamébhiḥ || 3 || |

ता हुवे ययोरिदं पप्ने विश्वं पुरा कृतम् । इन्द्राग्नी न मर्धतः ॥४॥
उग्रा विघनिना मृध इन्द्राग्नी हवामहे । ता नो मृळात ईदृशे ॥५॥
॥२८॥ हतो वृत्राण्यार्या हतो दासानि सत्पती । हतो विश्वा अप द्विषः ॥६॥
इन्द्राग्नी युवामिमे३ऽभि स्तोमा अनूषत । पिबतं शंभुवा सुतम् ॥७॥
या वां सन्ति पुरुस्पृहो नियुतो दाशुषे नरा । इन्द्राग्नी ताभिरा गतम् ॥८॥

tá huve yáyor idám papné víṣvam purá kṛitám | in-drāgní ná mardhataḥ || 4 || ugrá vighanínā mṛídha indrāgní havāmahe | tá no mṛiḷāta īdṛíṣe || 5 || 27 ||

ható vṛitráṇy áryā ható dásāni sátpatī | ható víṣvā ápa dvíshaḥ || 6 || índrāgnī yuvám imè 'bhí stómā anūshata | pí-batam ṣambhuvā sutám || 7 || yá vām sánti puruspṛ́ho ni-yúto dāṣúshe narā | índrāgnī tábhir á gatam || 8 ||

60

He overcomes evil, and acquires strength, who honours victorious lightning-divine and fire-divine, the lords of infinite opulence, most powerful in strength, desirous of sacrificial food. 1

O divine lightning and fire, verily you have striven for the recovery of wisdom, the water, the sun, the dawn, that had been carried away by evil forces. You reunite, O lightning-divine, the space with the quarters of the horizon, the sun, the wonderful waters, the dawns, the cattle, and so also you, O the fire-divine, who controls momentum of creation. 2

Slayers of opposing forces, O cosmic energies of lightning and fire, come down to us with your foe-subduing powers, to be invigorated by our homage. Please be manifest to us, O cosmic energies, with your supreme and unrestricted bounties. 3

I invoke these two, whose deeds have been celebrated since ancient days. Lords of cosmic forces of lightning and fire, may you never harm us. 4

We invoke the fierce forces of lightning and fire of cosmos, the destroyers of adversaries ; may they be kind to one like me. 5

May you counteract all oppressions committed by the pious; counteract all oppressions committed by the impious. O protectors of the virtuous, drive away everyone that hates us. 6

O forces of lightning and fire of cosmos, these songs of praise glorify you both ; may you accept our ecstatic offerings, O bestowers of happiness. 7

O cosmic energies of lightning and fire, leaders of sacred works, whose forces of speed are appreciated by all, come with them to the presenter of homage. 8

ताभिरा गच्छतं नरोपेदं सवनं सुतम् । इन्द्राग्नी सोमपीतये ॥९॥
तमीळिष्व यो अर्चिषा वना विश्वा परिष्वजत् । कृष्णा कृणोति जिह्वया ॥१०॥
॥२८॥ य इद्ध आविवासति सुम्नमिन्द्रस्य मर्त्यः । द्युम्नाय सुतरा अपः ॥११॥
ता नो वाजवतीरिष आशून्पिपृतमर्वतः । इन्द्रमग्निं च वोळ्हवे ॥१२॥

tábhir á gachatam narópedám sávanam sutám | índrāgnī sómapītaye || 9 || tám īḍishva yó arcíshā vánā víśvā parishvájat | krishṇá kriṇóti jihváyā || 10 || 28 ||

yá iddhá āvívāsati sumnám índrasya mártyaḥ | dyumnáya sutárā apáḥ || 11 || tá no vájavatīr ísha āśún pipṛitam árvataḥ | índram agním ca vóḷhave || 12 ||

उभा वामिन्द्राग्नी आहुवध्या उभा राधसः सह मादयध्यै ।
उभा दाताराविषां रयीणामुभा वाजस्य सातये हुवे वाम् ॥१३॥
आ नो गव्येभिरश्व्यैर्वसव्यै३रुप गच्छतम् ।
सखायौ देवौ सख्याय शंभुवेन्द्राग्नी ता हवामहे ॥१४॥
इन्द्राग्नी शृणुतं हवं यजमानस्य सुन्वतः ।
वीतं हव्यान्या गतं पिबतं सोम्यं मधु ॥१५॥

ubhá vām indrāgnī āhuvádhyā ubhá rádhasaḥ sahá mādayádhyai | ubhá dātárāv ishám rayīṇám ubhá vájasya sātáye huve vām || 13 || á no gávyebhir áśvyair vasavyaìr úpa gachatam | sákhāyau devaú sakhyáya śambhúvendrāgní tá havāmahe || 14 || índrāgnī śriṇutám hávam yájamanasya sunvatáḥ | vītám havyány á gatam píbatam somyám mádhu || 15 || 29 ||

O cosmic forces of lightning and fire, may you come to relish our noble deeds ; and come to participate in our sparkling joy of devotion. 9

Glorify that fire-divine, who envelops all the forests with flame, and who blackens them with his tongue. 10

The mortal, who, in the kindled sacred fire, presents the gratifying homage to the resplendent Lord, to him the Lord showers blessings for his sustenance. 11

May they two grant us strengthening food and speedy power to convey our offerings to the divine forces. 12

I invoke you both, O Lords of cosmic energies of lightning and fire, to be present at the worship, and both together to be exhilarated by the gifts I offer. You are givers of food and riches. So I invoke you for obtaining food and strength. 13

O Lord of cosmic forces of lightning and fire, divine friends, bestowers of bliss, come to bless us with herds of cattle, with troops of horses, with ample treasure. We invoke you as such for mutual friendship. 14

O Lord of cosmic forces of lightning and fire, hear the invocation of the institutor of the sacred works, as he offers the libation. May you enjoy offerings. May you participate in our sparkling joy of devotion. 15

(६१) एकषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१४) चतुर्दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । सरस्वती देवता । (१-३, १३) प्रथमादितृचस्य त्रयोदश्या ऋचश्च जगती, (४-१२) चतुर्थ्यादिनवानां गायत्री, (१४) चतुर्दश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥३०॥ इयमददाद्रभसमृणच्युतं दिवोदासं वध्र्यश्वाय दाशुषे ।
या शश्वन्तमाचखादावसं पणिं ता ते दात्राणि तविषा सरस्वति ॥१॥

61.

Iyáṃ adadad rabhasáṃ riṇacyútaṃ dívodāsaṃ vadhry aṣváya dāṣúshe | yā́ ṣáṣvantam ācakhádāvasáṃ paṇíṃ tá te dātráṇi 'tavishá sarasvati || 1 ||

इयं शुष्मेभिर्बिसखा इवारुजत्सानु गिरीणां तविषेभिरूर्मिभिः ।
पारावतघ्नीमवसे सुवृक्तिभिः सरस्वतीमा विवासेम धीतिभिः ॥२॥
सरस्वति देवनिदो नि बर्हय प्रजां विश्वस्य बृसयस्य मायिनः ।
उत क्षितिभ्योऽवनीरविन्दो विषमेभ्यो अस्रवो वाजिनीवति ॥३॥
प्र णो देवी सरस्वती वाजेभिर्वाजिनीवती । धीनामवित्र्यवतु ॥४॥
यस्त्वा देवि सरस्वत्युपब्रूते धने हिते । इन्द्रं न वृत्रतूर्ये ॥५॥

iyáṃ ṣúshmebhir bisakhā́ ivārujat sā́nu girīṇā́ṃ tavishébhir ūrmíbhiḥ | pārāvataghním ávase suvṛiktíbhiḥ sárasvatīm ā́ vivāsema dhītíbhiḥ || 2 || sárasvati devanído ní barhaya prajā́ṃ víṣvasya bṛísayasya māyínaḥ | utá kshitíbhyo 'vánīr avindo vishám ebhyo asravo vājinīvati || 3 || prá ṇo deví sárasvatī vā́jebhir vājínīvatī | dhīnā́m avitry àvatu || 4 || yás tvā devi sarasvaty upabrūté dháne hité | índraṃ ná vṛitratū́rye || 5 || 30 ||

61

She, the stream of spiritual awareness, gives divine perspective to the speedy mind, which is devoted to Lord and endowed with vigilance. This acquits mind of the burden of worldly commitments. She destroys the boastfulness of the churlish niggard. O swift flowing stream, these are your very effectual boons. 1

With her might, like one who digs for louts-stems, she bursts the ridges of the rocks (of ignorance) with her strong waves. With austerity and prayers, let us adore for our protection, the stream of spiritual awareness, the underminer of both the banks. 2

O stream of spiritual awareness, may you destroy the revilers of divine virtues, offsprings of the universal sins. O giver of sustenance, you acquire for men the lands, and shower water of wisdom upon them. 3

May the stream of spiritual awareness, rich in her wealth of wisdom, and protectress of her worshippers, further all our thoughts with spiritual viands. 4

O stream of spiritual awareness, may you protect him, whosoever, engaged in conflicts, invokes you for wealth of wisdom, and glorifies you, just as he adores the resplendent Lord. 5

॥३१॥ त्वं देवि सरस्वत्यवा वाजेषु वाजिनि । रदा पूषेव नः सनिम् ॥६॥
उत स्या नः सरस्वती घोरा हिरण्यवर्तनिः । वृत्रघ्नी वष्टि सुष्टुतिम् ॥७॥
यस्या अनन्तो अह्रुतस्त्वेषश्चरिष्णुरर्णवः । अमश्चरति रोरुवत् ॥८॥
सा नो विश्वा अति द्विषः स्वसॄरन्या ऋतावरी । अतन्नहेव सूर्यः ॥९॥
उत नः प्रिया प्रियासु सप्तस्वसा सुजुष्टा । सरस्वती स्तोम्या भूत् ॥१०॥

tvám devi sarasvaty ávā vā́jeshu vājini | rádā pūshéva naḥ saním || 6 || utá syá naḥ sárasvatī ghorá híraṇyavartaniḥ | vṛitraghní vashṭi sushṭutím || 7 || yásyā anantó áhrutas tveshás carishṇúr arṇaváḥ | ámas cárati róruvat || 8 || sá no víṣvā áti dvíshaḥ svásṛīr anyá ṛitávarī | átann áheva sū́ryaḥ || 9 || utá naḥ priyá priyásu saptásvasā sújushṭā | sárasvatī stómyā bhūt || 10 || 31 ||

॥३२॥ आपप्रुषी पार्थिवान्युरु रजो अन्तरिक्षम् । सरस्वती निदस्पातु ॥११॥
त्रिषधस्था सप्तधातुः पञ्च जाता वर्धयन्ती । वाजेवाजे हव्या भूत् ॥१२॥

āpaprúshī pā́rthivāny urú rájo antáriksham | sárasvatī nidás pātu || 11 || trishadhásthā saptádhātuḥ páñca jātá vardháyantī | vā́je-vāje hávyā bhūt || 12 ||

O stream of spiritual awareness, rich in wisdom protect us in our mental struggle, like divine nourisher, who gives opulence. 6

May the divine stream of spiritual awareness, destroyer of obstructions, come rushing, as if, traversing on a golden path and be pleased by our earnest eulogy. 7

May she, the stream of spiritual awareness, limitless, undeviating, shining, swift-moving, and issuing forth from the ocean of cosmic intelligence, come onward with a tempestuous roar. 8

May she overcome all our adversaries, and bring to us her other thought-laden channels, the sisters, as the ever-rolling sun spreads out the days. 9

May the speedy stream of spiritual awareness, who has seven sister-streams, who is dearest amongst those dear to us, and is fully propitiated, be ever adorable. 10

May the stream of spiritual awareness filling with radiance the vast realms of earth and expanse of heaven, guard us against hatred. 11

Abiding in the three worlds, comprising seven elements, cherishing the five races of mankind, she (the stream of spiritual awareness) is ever to be invoked in every battle of life. 12

प्र या महिम्ना महिनासु चेकिते द्युम्नेभिरन्या अपसामपस्तमा ।
रथ इव बृहती विभ्वने कृतोपस्तुत्या चिकितुषा सरस्वती ॥१३॥
सरस्वत्यभि नो नेषि वस्यो माप स्फरीः पयसा मा न आ धक् ।
जुषस्व नः सख्या वेश्या च मा त्वत्क्षेत्राण्यरणानि गन्म ॥१४॥

prá yá mahimnā́ mahínāsu cékite dyumnébhir anyá́ apásām apástamā || rátha iva brihatí vibhvánc kritópastútyā cikitúshā sárasvatī || 13 || sárasvaty abhí no neshi vásyo 'mápa spharīḥ páyasā má́ na á́ dhak | jushásva naḥ sakhyá́ veṣyá̄ ca má́ tvát kshétrāṇy áraṇāni gamma || 14 || 2 ||

(६२) द्विषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ स्तुषे नरा दिवो अस्य प्रसन्ताश्विना हुवे जरमाणो अर्कैः ।
या सद्य उस्रा व्युषि ज्मो अन्तान्युयूषतः पर्युरू वरांसि ॥१॥
ता यज्ञमा शुचिभिश्चक्रमाणा रथस्य भानुं रुरुचू रजोभिः ।
पुरू वरांस्यमिता मिमानापो धन्वान्यति याथो अज्रान् ॥२॥
ता ह त्यद्वर्तिर्यदरध्रमुग्रेत्था धिय ऊहथुः शश्वदश्वैः ।
मनोजवेभिरिषिरैः शयध्यै परि व्यथिर्दाशुषो मर्त्यस्य ॥३॥

62.

Stushé nárā divó asyá prasántāṣvínā huve járamāṇo arkaíḥ | yá́ sadyá́ usrá́ vyúshi jmó ántān yúyūshataḥ páry urú́ várāṅsi || 1 || tá́ yajñám á́ ṣúcibhiṣ cakramāṇá́ ráthasya bhānúm ruruc̄ū rájobhiḥ | purú́ várāṅsy ámitā mímānāpó dhánvāny áti yātho ájrān || 2 || tá́ ha tyád vartír yád áradhram ugretthá́ dhíya ūhathuḥ ṣáṣvad áṣvaiḥ | mánojavebhir ishiraíḥ ṣayádhyai pári vyáthir dāṣúsho mártyasya || 3 ||

She, who is distinguished amongst them as eminent in greatness and in her glories; she, who is swifter of all other rapid streams; she, who has been created vast in capacity as a chariot; she, the stream of spiritual divine awareness, is to be glorified by every seeker. 13

May you guide us, O stream of spiritual awareness, to precious wealth; reduce us not to insignificance; overwhelm us not with excess of water; may you be pleased by our friendly services for an access to our habitations, and let us not drift to undesirable places. 14

62

I praise the two leaders of heaven, the sovereigns over this world. I invoke the pair of twin-divines, intuition and intellect, glorifying them with sacred hymns. They are ever the discomfiters of darkness and at the breaking of dawn, scatter the investing glooms to the ends of the earth. 1

Coming to bless our sacred works, they, with their bright splendours, light up the lustre of their cosmic chariot, emitting vast and infinite radiance. They traverse many wide unmeasured spaces, over the deserts, refreshing them with waters. 2

O powerful twin-divines, intuition and intellect, with your desirable beams and waves, which are swift as mind and full of vigour, you bear the pious worshipper to the bounteous path of heaven. Let the inflictor of pain to the virtuous man be eliminated and be put to sleep in his final repose. 3

ता नव्यसो जरमाणस्य मन्मोप भूषतो युयुजानसप्ती ।
शुभं पृक्षमिषमूर्जं वहन्ता होता यक्षत्प्रत्नो अध्रुग्युवाना ॥४॥
ता वल्गू दस्रा पुरुशाकतमा प्रत्ना नव्यसा वचसा विवासे ।
या शंसते स्तुवते शंभविष्ठा बभूवतुर्गृणते चित्रराती ॥५॥

tá návyaso járamāṇasya mánmópa bhūshato yuyujānásaptī | ṣúbham príksham ísham úrjaṃ váhantā hótā yakshat pratnó adhrúg yúvānā || 4 || tá valgú dasrá puruṣákatamā pratná návyasā vácasá vivāse | yá ṣáṅsate stuvaté ṣámbhavishṭhā babhūvátur griṇaté citrárātī || 5 || 1 ||

॥२॥ ता भुज्युं विभिरद्भ्यः समुद्रात्तुग्रस्य सूनुमूहथू रजोभिः ।
अरेणुभिर्योजनेभिर्भुजन्ता पतत्रिभिरर्णसो निरुपस्थात् ॥६॥
वि जयुषा रथ्या यातमद्रिं श्रुतं हवं वृषणा वध्रिमत्याः ।
दशस्यन्ता शयवे पिप्यथुर्गामिति च्यवाना सुमतिं भुरण्यू ॥७॥
यद्रोदसी प्रदिवो अस्ति भूमा हेळो देवानामुत मर्त्यत्रा ।
तदादित्या वसवो रुद्रियासो रक्षोयुजे तपुरघं दधात ॥८॥

tá bhujyúṃ víbhir adbhyáḥ samudrát túgrasya sūnúm ūhathū rájobhiḥ | areṇúbhir yójanebhir bhujántā patatríbhir árṇaso nír upásthāt || 6 || ví jayúshā rathyā yātam ádriṃ ṣrutáṃ hávaṃ vrishaṇā vadhrimatyáḥ | daṣasyántā ṣayáve pipyathur gám íti cyavānā sumatím bhuraṇyū || 7 || yád rodasī pradívo ásti bhúmā héḷo devánām utá martyatrá | tád ādityā vasavo rudriyāso rakshoyúje tápur aghám dadhāta || 8 ||

Harnessing their horses, like speedy waves, bringing excellent nourishment and strength, they approach to receive the adoration of their worshipper. May the benevolent ancient invoker of Nature's bounties honour these ever-youthful divines. 4

I worship with a new hymn those two quick-moving, splendid eternal pair of twin-divines (intuition and intellect), the accomplishers of all noble deeds. They are the bringers of bliss to him who lauds, and praises them. They bestow wondrous gifts on their devotees. 5

You, as if, with the aid of the winged horses attached to your chariot, passing by roads, which are unsoiled by dust, take the helpless man, however strong he may look, out of the bosom of the flood worldly troubles. 6

Riding in your cosmic chariot, you penetrate the mountains. O showerer of blessings, you hear the invocation of aspiring mothers. You nourish bountiful givers. You make the cow yield milk of wisdom for the quiet devotee, and in this manner, displaying benevolence, you are everywhere present. 7

O heaven and earth, O cosmic powers of light, life and vitality, take away from us, the mortals, the dread anger of the divine forces, being exercised towards us since a long past, and turn it to him, who is associated with violence, and cruelty for his destruction and death. 8

य ईं राजानावृतुथा विदधद्रजसो मित्रो वरुणश्चिकेतत् ।
गम्भीराय रक्षसे हेतिमस्य द्रोघाय चिद्वचस आनवाय ॥९॥
अन्तरैश्चक्रैस्तनयाय वर्तिर्द्युमता यातं नृवता रथेन ।
सनुत्येन त्यजसा मर्त्यस्य वनुष्यतामपि शीर्षा ववृक्तम् ॥१०॥
आ परमाभिरुत मध्यमाभिर्नियुद्भिर्यातमवमाभिरर्वाक् ।
दृळ्हस्य चिद्गोमतो वि व्रजस्य दुरो वर्तं गृणते चित्रराती ॥११॥

yá īṃ rājānāv ṛituthá vidádhad rájaso mitró váruṇaş cíketat | gambhīráya rákshase hetím asya dróghāya cid vácasa ánavāya || 9 || ántarais cakraís tánayāya vartír dyumátā yātam nṛivátā ráthena | sánutyena tyájasā mártyasya vanushyatám ápi ṣīrshá vavṛiktam || 10 || á paramá-bhir utá madhyamábhir niyúdbhir yātam avamábhir arvák | dṛiḷhásya cid gómato ví vrajásya dúro vartam gṛiṇaté citrarātı || 11 || 2 ||

(६३) त्रिषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । (१-१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चां त्रिष्टुप् (११) एकादश्याश्चैकपदा त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ क्व त्या वल्गू पुरुहूताद्य दूतो न स्तोमोऽविदन्नमस्वान् ।
आ यो अर्वाङ्नासत्या ववर्त प्रेष्ठा ह्यसथो अस्य मन्मन् ॥१॥
अरं मे गन्तं हवनायास्मै गृणाना यथा पिबाथो अन्धः ।
परि ह त्यद्वर्तिर्याथो रिषो न यत्परो नान्तरस्तुतुर्यात् ॥२॥

63.

Kvà tyá valgú puruhūtádyá dūtó ná stómo 'vidan námasvān | á yó arvāñ násatyā vavárta préshṭha hy ásatho asya mánman || 1 || áram me gantam hávanayāsmaí gṛiṇāná yáthā píbātho ándhaḥ | pári ha tyád vartír yātho rishó ná yát páro nántaras tuturyát || 2 ||

O Lords of cosmic light and bliss, recognize him, who of all the world, worships the royal pair of twin-divines in due season. He hurls his weapon against the strong violent people, against the malignant lies of man. 9

Come with your shining and well-guided chariot, fitted with excellent wheels, to our dwelling (to bestow upon us) offsprings. Strike off with secret indignation the heads of our assailants, who attack us with treacherous approach. 10

Come hitherwards to us, whether with the most excellent. or middling, or inferior steeds. May you throw open the doors of the firm-closed stall of the cattle and be bountiful to him who praises you. 11

63

May our praise and oblations secure for us the services of the splendid twin-divines (intuition and intellect) as divine messengers. May our praise and devotion secure for us the services of the splendid twin-divines, who are invoked by all ; our hymns bring these two ever-true powers hither. May they be propitiated by this adoration. 1

While praised, may you come promptly upon my invocation and partake in the enjoyment of divine glory and may you keep guard around the dwelling against all adversaries, so that none may harm us whether abiding near or at a distance. 2

अका॑रि वा॒मन्ध॑सो॒ वरी॑म॒न्नस्ता॑रि ब॒र्हिः सु॑प्राय॒णत॑मम् ।
उ॒त्ता॒नह॑स्तो युव॒युर्व॑व॒न्दा वां॒ नक्ष॑न्तो॒ अद्र॑य आञ्जन् ॥३॥
ऊ॒र्ध्वो वा॑म॒ग्निर॑ध्व॒रेष्व॑स्था॒त्प्र रा॒तिरे॑ति जू॒र्णिनी॑ घृ॒ताची॑ ।
प्र होता॑ गू॒र्तम॑ना उरा॒णोऽयु॑क्त॒ यो नास॑त्या॒ हवी॑मन् ॥४॥
अधि॑ श्रि॒ये दु॑हि॒ता सूर्य॑स्य॒ रथं॑ तस्थौ पुरुभुजा श॒तोति॑म् ।
प्र मा॒याभि॑र्मायिना भूत॒मत्र॒ नरा॑ नृतू॒ जनि॑मन्य॒ज्ञिया॑नाम् ॥५॥

ákāri vām ándhaso várīmann ástāri barhíḥ suprāyaṇátamam | uttānáhasto yuvayúr vavandá vām nákshanto ádraya āñjan || 3 || ūrdhvó vām agnír adhvaréshv asthāt prá rātír eti jūrṇínī ghṛitácī | prá hótā gūrtámanā urāṇó 'yukta yó nấsatyā hávīman || 4 || ádhi ṣriyé duhitā́ sū́ryasya rátham tasthau purubhujā ṣatótim | prá māyā́bhir māyinā bhūtam átra nárā nṛitū jániman yajñíyānām || 5 || 3 ||

॥४॥ यु॒वं श्री॒भिर्द॑र्श॒ताभि॑रा॒भिः शु॑भे पु॒ष्टिमू॑हथुः सू॒र्याया॑ः ।
प्र वां॒ वयो॒ वपु॒षेऽनु॑ पप्त॒न्नक्ष॒द्वाणी॒ सुष्टु॑ता धिष्ण्या वाम् ॥६॥
आ वां॒ वयोऽश्वा॑सो॒ वहि॑ष्ठा अ॒भि प्रयो॑ नासत्या वहन्तु ।
प्र वां॒ रथो॒ मनो॑जवा असर्जी॒षः पृ॒क्ष इ॑षि॒धो अनु॑ पू॒र्वीः ॥७॥
पु॒रु हि वां॑ पुरुभुजा दे॒ष्णं धे॒नुं न॒ इषं॑ पिन्वत॒मस॑क्राम् ।
स्तुत॑श्च वां माध्वी सुष्टु॒तिश्च॒ रसा॑श्च॒ ये वा॒मनु॑ रा॒तिमग्म॑न् ॥८॥

yuvám ṣrībhír darṣatā́bhir ābhíḥ ṣubhé pushṭím ūhathuḥ sūryā́yāḥ | prá vām váyo vápushé 'nu paptan nákshad vā́ṇī súshṭutā dhishṇyā vām || 6 || ā́ vām váyó 'ṣvāso váhishṭhā abhí práyo nāsatyā vahantu | prá vām rátho mánojavā asarjīsháḥ priksliá ishídho ánu pūrvíḥ || 7 || purú hí vām purubhujā deshṇám dhenúm na ísham pinvatam ásakrām | stútaṣ ca vām mādhvī sushṭutíṣ ca rásāṣ ca yé vām ánu rātím ágman || 8 ||

Many fresh melodious devotional songs have been composed and soft grass of loving emotions is strewn to greet you. The priest with uplifted hands, desirous of your presence, praises you ; the two stones of mental and vital complexes are yearning to express prayers for you. 3

The fire-ritual uplifts its flames in your honour. Forth goes the oblation, fragrant with the butter-essence. O ever-true divine powers (the twin-divines, intuition and intellect), the diligent and zealous ministrant priest is privileged to invoke you. 4

O (twin-divines), the protectors of many, the daughter of the sun, the first flare of divine light, ascend your chariot, which brings hundreds of protective elements. O twins, the sagacious leaders and guides, you have excelled by your charming swift movements everyone else participating in this cosmic creativity. 5

With these beautiful splendours, you provide rich gifts for the enjoyment of dawn, the first flare of enlightenment. The horses of your chariot, like herds, descend for our felicity ; may our well-sung words of praise reach you. 6

May your rapid burthen-bearing steeds bring you, O ever-true twin-divines, to our devotional nourishment. May your chariot, swift as thought, dispense substantial, desirable, and abundant food. 7

O protectors of manifold wealth, your bounty is to be distributed by you ; may you give us nutritious and substantial food. O givers of delight, these praises, and libations are for you and these adorers seek your favour. 8

उत म ऋज्रे पुरयस्य रघ्वी सुमीळ्हे शतं पेरुके च पक्वा ।
शाण्डो दाद्धिरणिनः स्मद्दिष्टीन्दश वशासो अभिष्टाच ऋष्वान् ॥९॥
सं वां शता नासत्या सहस्राश्वानां पुरुपन्था गिरे दात् ।
भरद्वाजाय वीर नू गिरे दाद्धता रक्षांसि पुरुदंससा स्युः ॥१०॥
आ वां सुम्ने वरिमन्त्सूरिभिः ष्याम् ॥११॥

utá ma ṛijré púrayasya raghví sumīḷhé ṣatám peruké ca pakvá | ṣāṇḍó dād dhiraṇínaḥ smáddishṭīn dáṣa vaṣáso abhisháca ṛishván || 9 || sáṃ vāṃ ṣatá nāsatyā sahásrāṣvānām purupánthā giré dāt | bharádvajāya vīra nú giré dād dhatá rákshāṅsi purudaṅsasā syuḥ || 10 || á vāṃ sumné váriman sūríbhiḥ shyām || 11 || 4 ||

(६४) चतुःषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । उषा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ उदु श्रिय उषसो रोचमाना अस्थुरपां नोर्मयो रुशन्तः ।
कृणोति विश्वा सुपथा सुगान्यभूदु वस्वी दक्षिणा मघोनी ॥१॥
भद्रा ददृक्ष उर्विया वि भास्युत्ते शोचिर्भानवो द्यामपप्तन् ।
आविर्वक्षः कृणुषे शुम्भमानोषो देवि रोचमाना महोभिः ॥२॥
वहन्ति सीमरुणासो रुशन्तो गावः सुभगामुर्विया प्रथानाम् ।
अपेजते शूरो अस्तेव शत्रून्बाधते तमो अजिरो न वोळ्हा ॥३॥

64.

Úd u ṣriyá usháso rócamānā ásthur apáṃ nórmáyo rúṣantaḥ | kriṇóti víṣvā supáthā sugány ábhūd u vásvī dákshiṇā maghónī || 1 || bhadrá dadṛiksha urviyá ví bhāsy út te ṣocír bhānávo dyám apaptan | āvír vákshaḥ kriṇushe sumbhámānósho devi rócamāna máhobhiḥ || 2 || váhanti sīm aruṇáso rúṣanto gávaḥ subhágām urviyá prathānám | ápejate ṣúro ástevа ṣátrūn bádhate támo ajiró ná vóḷhā || 3 ||

May the two aspects of truths, the eternal and ethical, belonging to the intuitive instinct be mine; may the hundreds of divine directives belonging to the inner conscience be mine; may the dressed delicious viands, prepared by the instinct of divine resistance, be for me; may the discriminating instinct bestow upon me tens of golden (attractive) chariots and obedient, valiant and well-favoured (helpmates). 9

May ever-true divines, the versatile masters, grant hundreds and thousands of energies to Lord's devotee. May they give these gifts to the sage profound in sacred knowledge. O divines, achievers of great deeds, may the demons be ever-whelmed. 10

May I be associated with the learned in the abundant felicity bestowed by you. 11

64

The white and radiant tints of the dawn (the first flare of inner light) have risen up in their splendour like the waves of the waters for beautification; she renders all virtuous paths easy, fair to travel. She displays her glory, which is benign and friendly. 1

O divine dawn, you are seen auspicious, your lustre shines afar. Your splendours have flown up to the sky. Lovely and radiant, you display your majestic form. 2

Ruddy and luminous are the rays that bear the auspicious, expanding and illustrious dawn. Like a valiant archer, and like a swift warrior, scattering enemies, she drives away the glooms. 3

सुगोत ते सुपथा पर्वतेष्ववाते अपस्तरसि स्वभानो ।
सा न आ वह पृथुयामन्नृष्वे रयिं दिवो दुहितरिषयध्यै ॥४॥
सा वह योक्षभिरवातोषो वरं वहसि जोषमनु ।
त्वं दिवो दुहितर्या ह देवी पूर्वहूतौ मंहना दर्शता भूः ॥५॥
उत्ते वयश्चिद्वसतेरपप्तन्नरश्च ये पितुभाजो व्युष्टौ ।
अमा सते वहसि भूरि वाममुषो देवि दाशुषे मर्त्याय ॥६॥

sugótá te supáthā párvateshv avāté apás tarasi svabhāno | sá na á vaha prithuyāmann rishve rayím divo duhitar ishayádhyai || 4 || sá vaha yókshábhir ávātósho váram vá-hasi jósham ánu | tvám divo duhitar yá ha deví pūrváhū-tau maṅhánā darṣatá bhūḥ || 5 || út te váyaṣ — || 6 || 5 ||

(६५) पञ्चषष्टितमं सूक्तम्
(१-६) षड्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । उषा देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ एषा स्या नो दुहिता दिवोजाः क्षितीरुच्छन्ती मानुषीरजीगः ।
या भानुना रुशता राम्यास्वज्ञायि तिरस्तमसश्चिदक्तून् ॥१॥
वि तद्ययुररुणयुग्भिरश्वैश्चित्रं भान्त्युषसश्चन्द्ररथाः ।
अग्रं यज्ञस्य बृहतो नयन्तीर्वि ता बाधन्ते तम ऊर्म्यायाः ॥२॥

65.

Eshá syá no duhitá divojáḥ kshitír ucchántī mánushīr ajīgaḥ | yá bhānúnā rúṣatā rāmyásv ájñāyi tirás támasaṣ cid aktún || 1 || ví tád yayur aruṇayúgbhir áṣvaiṣ citrám bhānty ushásaṣ candrárathāḥ | ágram yajñásya briható ná-yantīr ví tá bādhante táma úrmyāyāḥ || 2 ||

Yours are good roads, easy to be traversed in mountains and inaccessible places. You pass self-luminous over the waters. May you bring to us desirable riches, O daughter of heaven, in your spacious and beautiful chariot. 4

May you, O dawn, bring me opulence. Unopposed you carry riches, as if on your oxen, at your will and pleasure for worshippers. O daughter of heaven, you are divine and lovely, and you are to be worshipped at early hours, when we call you in our ceremony. 5

O divine dawn, when the birds fly forth from their nests, men have to rise to work and earn their sustenance ; O divine dawn, bring ample wealth to the mortal who is near you, the offerer of the oblation. 6

65

This heaven-born daughter of the sky, driving away the darkness for us, wakes up the human beings from their slumber ; she, with her bright lustre, is perceived dissipating the glooms, even through the shades of darkness. 1

The dawns, in beautiful chariots drawn by red rays, shine gloriously as they proceed. On the commencement of the great morning worship, they drive far away the night's surrounding shadows. 2

श्रवो॒ वाज॒मिष॒मूर्जं॒ वह॑न्ती॒र्नि दा॒शुष॑ उषसो॒ मर्त्या॑य ।
म॒घोनी॑र्वी॒रव॒त्पत्य॑माना॒ अवो॑ धात विध॒ते रत्न॑म॒द्य ॥३॥
इ॒दा हि वो॑ विध॒ते रत्न॒मस्ती॒दा वी॒राय॑ दा॒शुष॑ उषासः ।
इ॒दा विप्रा॑य॒ जर॑ते॒ यदु॒क्था नि ष्म॒ माव॑ते वहथा पु॒रा चि॑त् ॥४॥
इ॒दा हि त॑ उषो अद्रिसानो गो॒त्रा गवा॒मङ्गि॑रसो गृ॒णन्ति॑ ।
व्य१॒॑र्केण॑ बिभिदु॒र्ब्रह्म॑णा च स॒त्या नृ॒णाम॑भवद्दे॒वहू॑तिः ॥५॥
उ॒च्छा दि॒वो दु॑हितः प्रत्न॒वन्नो॑ भरद्वाज॒वद्वि॑ध॒ते म॑घोनि ।
सु॒वीरं॑ र॒यिं गृ॑ण॒ते रि॑रीह्युरुगा॒यमधि॑ धेहि॒ श्रवो॑ नः ॥६॥

srávo vā́jam ísham ū́rjaṃ váhantīr ní dāṣúsha ushaso mártyāya | maghónīr vīrávat pátyamānā ávo dhāta vidhaté rátnam adyá || 3 || idā́ hí vo vidhaté rátnam ástīdā́ vīrā́ya dāṣúsha ushasaḥ | idā́ víprāya járate yád ukthā́ ní shma mā́vate vahatha purā́ cit || 4 || idā́ hí ta usho adrisāno gotrā́ gávām áṅgiraso griṇánti | vy àrkéṇa bibhidur bráhmaṇā ca satyā́ nriṇā́m abhavad deváhūtiḥ || 5 || uchā́ divo duhitaḥ pratnavā́n no bharadvājavád vidhaté maghoni | suvī́raṃ rayíṃ griṇaté rirīhy urugāyám ádhi dhehi srávo naḥ || 6 || 6 ||

(६६) षट्षष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । मरुतो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

वपु॒र्नु तच्चि॑कि॒तुषे॑ चिदस्तु समा॒नं नाम॑ धे॒नु पत्य॑मानम् ।
मर्ते॑ष्व॒न्यद्दो॒हसे॑ पी॒पाय॑ स॒कृच्छु॒क्रं दु॑दुहे॒ पृश्नि॒रूधः॑ ॥१॥
ये अ॒ग्नयो॒ न शोशु॑च॒न्निधा॒ना द्विर्यत्त्रिर्म॒रुतो॑ वावृ॒धन्त॑ ।
अ॒रे॒णवो॑ हिर॒ण्यया॑स एषां सा॒कं नृ॒म्णैः पौंस्ये॑भिश्च भूवन् ॥२॥

66.

Vápur nú tác cikitúshe cid astu samānáṃ nā́ma dhenú pátyamānam | márteshv anyád doháse pīpā́ya sakríc chukráṃ duduhe pṛ́śnir ū́dhaḥ || 1 || yé agnáyo ná sóṣucann idhānā́ dvír yát trír marúto vāvridhánta | areṇávo hiraṇyáyāsa eshāṃ sākáṃ nriṃṇaíḥ paúṃsyebhis ca bhūvan || 2 ||

Dawns bring fame, food, sustenance, and strength to the mortal, who is a liberal worshipper. May the dawn abounding in wealth, and proceeding with imperial sway bestow this day upon the worshipper nourishment, wealth, and progeny. 3

Verily, O dawns, there is at present wealth to give to your worshipper, the offerer of homage, and to the sage, who recites your praise. If the praise is accepted, then bring to him who is like me such wealth as has been formerly and ever bestowed upon myself. 4

Verily, O dawns, the preceptors through your favour recover the lost wisdom on the summit of the lofty knowledge. With hymn and prayer, they burst open the obstructions of delusions. The sincere invocations of the divines are ever fruitful. 5

O daughter of heaven, possessor of riches, may you shine upon the worshipper, as you have been doing of old on the wise sages. Grant wealth and noble descendants to him, who becomes your devotee, and bestow upon us the wide-spreading glory. 6

66

The cloud-bearing sky and the cow both of them have the same wonderful form and the common name, the milching one. The latter one has swelled among mankind for milking, and the other, the interspace, gives milk from her bright udder once only (i. e. in the rainy season). 1

Unsoiled by dust, the golden cosmic chariots of those vital principles are shining like kindled flames, enlarging themselves twofold and threefold at will. They are invested with their great strength and virile energies. 2

रुद्रस्य ये मीळ्हुषः सन्ति पुत्रा यांश्चो नु दाधृविर्भरध्यै ।
विदे हि माता महो मही षा सेत्पृश्निः सुभ्वे३ गर्भमाधात् ॥३॥
न य ईषन्ते जनुषोऽया न्व१न्तः सन्तोऽवद्यानि पुनानाः ।
निर्यद्दुह्रे शुचयोऽनु जोषमनु श्रिया तन्वमुक्षमाणाः ॥४॥
मक्षू न येषु दोहसे चिदया आ नाम धृष्णु मारुतं दधानाः ।
न ये स्तौना अयासो मह्ना नू चित्सुदानुरव यासदुग्रान् ॥५॥

rudrásya yé mīḷhúshaḥ sánti putrá yáṅś co nú dádhrivir bháradhyai | vidé hí mātá mahó mahí shá sét príśniḥ subhvè gárbham ádhāt || 3 || ná yá íshante janúshó 'yā nv àntáḥ sánto 'vadyáni punānáḥ | nír yád duhré śúcayó 'nu jósham ánu śriyá tanvàm ukshámāṇaḥ || 4 || makshú ná yéshu doháse cid ayá á náma dhrishṇú márutaṃ dádhanaḥ | ná yé staunáḥ ayáso mahná nú cit sudánur áva yasad ugrán || 5 || 7 ||

॥८॥

त इदुग्राः शवसा धृष्णुषेणा उभे युजन्त रोदसी सुमेके ।
अध स्मैषु रोदसी स्वशोचिरामवत्सु तस्थौ न रोकः ॥६॥
अनेनो वो मरुतो यामो अस्त्वनश्वश्चिद्यमजत्यरथीः ।
अनवसो अनभीशू रजस्तूर्वि रोदसी पथ्या याति साधन् ॥७॥

tá íd ugráḥ śávasā dhrishṇúsheṇā ubhé yujanta ródasī suméke | ádha smaishu rodasí sváśocir ámavatsu tasthau ná rókaḥ || 6 || anenó vo maruto yámo astv anaśváś cid yám ájaty árathīḥ | anavasó anabhīśú rajastúr ví ródasī pathyà yāti sádhan || 7 ||

They are the offshoots of showerers, cosmic vital powers, whom the nursing firmament is able to foster. They are mighty, and it is known that the great interspace has received the life-germ for the benefit of man. 3

They do not approach men by any conveyance ; they already exist in their hearts, purging away their defects. When these brilliant ones supply their rain water for the gratification of their worshippers, they with their own splendour bedew their bodies. 4

Approaching quite close to them, and repeating the mighty name of the cloud-bearing winds, the worshipper is able to obtain quickly his wishes. The liberal donor pacifies the angry clouds, who otherwise, by nature, are devastating in their might. 5

Those fierce and powerfully arrayed cloud-bearing winds unite by their strength the two beautiful regions of heaven and earth. The self-radiant pair of heaven and earth stands majestically amongst the furious ones like splendour shining with her nature of brightness. 6

May your chariot, O vital principles, be devoid of wickedness. May this chariot, which is without a driver, without horses, without a provender, and without traces, which scatters water and which accomplishes desires, traverses heaven and earth, and paths of the interspace. 7

नास्य वर्ता न तरुता न्वस्ति मरुतो यमवथ वाजसातौ ।
तोके वा गोषु तनये यमप्सु स व्रजं दर्ता पार्ये अध द्योः ॥८॥
प्र चित्रमर्कं गृणते तुराय मारुताय स्वतवसे भरध्वम् ।
ये सहांसि सहसा सहन्ते रेजते अग्ने पृथिवी मखेभ्यः ॥९॥
त्विषीमन्तो अध्वरस्येव दिद्युत्तृषुच्यवसो जुह्वो नाग्नेः ।
अर्चत्रयो धुनयो न वीरा भ्राजज्जन्मानो मरुतो अधृष्टाः ॥१०॥
तं वृधन्तं मारुतं भ्राजदृष्टिं रुद्रस्य सूनुं हवसा विवासे ।
दिवः शर्धाय शुचयो मनीषा गिरयो नाप उग्रा अस्पृध्रन् ॥११॥

násya vartá ná tarutá nv àsti máruto yám ávatha vájasatau | toké vā góshu tánaye yám apsú sá vrajáṃ dártā párye ádha dyóḥ || 8 || prá citrám arkáṃ gṛiṇaté turáya mārutāya svátavase bharadhvam | yé sáhāṅsi sáhasā sáhante réjate agne pṛithiví makhébhyaḥ || 9 || tvíshīmanto adhvarásyeva didyút tṛishucyávaso juhvò nágnéḥ | arcátrayo dhúnayo ná vīrá bhrájajjanmāno marúto ádhṛishṭāḥ || 10 || táṃ vṛidhántam márutam bhrájadṛishṭiṃ rudrásya sūnúṃ havásā vivāse | diváḥ śárdhāya śúcayo manīshá giráyo nápa ugrá aspṛidhran || 11 || 8 ||

(६७) सप्तषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । मित्रावरुणौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥०॥ विश्वेषां वः सतां ज्येष्ठतमा गीर्भिर्मित्रावरुणा वावृधध्यै ।
सं या रश्मेव यमतुर्यमिष्ठा द्वा जनाँ असमा बाहुभिः स्वैः ॥१॥

67.

Víśveshāṃ vaḥ satáṃ jyéshṭhatamā gīrbhír mitrávaruṇā vavṛidhádhyai | sáṃ yá raśméva yamátur yámishṭhā dvá jánāṅ ásamā bāhúbhiḥ svaíḥ || 1 ||

There is no propeller, no obstructer, of him, whom, O cloud-bearing winds, you protect in battle. He whom you protect, and bless with sons, grandsons, cattle and water, is in war the victor against the herds of his ardent foes. 8

Offer excellent nourishing food to the loud-sounding, quick-moving, self-invigorating company of the cloud-bearing winds. These are the ones who overcome strength by strength. The earth trembles, whilst, O fire-divine, the adorable cloudy-winds terrifically move. 9

The cloudy winds are resplendent, as if illuminators of the sacrifice, bright as the flames of fire. Entitled are they to adoration, and like heroes, they make adversaries tremble. Brilliant and invincible are they from birth. 10

I pay tribute and offer oblations to that exalted company of the cloudy winds, armed with shining lances, the progeny of the supreme divine vital power. The pure and earnest praises of the devout adorer are emulous in their effort of invigorating clouds like waves of floods. 11

67

I proceed by my praises to exalt you, O light-divine and plasma-divine, the noblest of all that has existence. You two, though apparently not the same in name, are really the firmest controller with your arms, and hold men back from evil as riders check horses with reins. 1

इयं मद्वां प्र स्तृणीते मनीषोप प्रिया नमसा बर्हिरच्छ ।
यन्तं नो मित्रावरुणावधृष्टं छर्दिर्यद्वां वरूथ्यं सुदानू ॥२॥
आ यातं मित्रावरुणा सुशस्त्युप प्रिया नमसा हूयमाना ।
सं यावप्नस्थो अपसेव जनाञ्छ्रुधीयतश्चिद्यतथो महित्वा ॥३॥
अश्वा न या वाजिना पूतबन्धू ऋता यद्गर्भमदितिर्भरध्यै ।
प्र या महि महान्ता जायमाना घोरा मर्ताय रिपवे नि दीधः ॥४॥
विश्वे यद्वां मंहना मन्दमानाः क्षत्रं देवासो अदधुः सजोषाः ।
परि यद्भूथो रोदसी चिदुर्वी सन्ति स्पशो अदब्धासो अमूराः ॥५॥

iyám mád vām prá stṛiṇīte manīshópa priyā́ námasā barhír ácha | yantám no mitrāvaruṇāv ádhṛishṭaṃ chardír yád vāṃ varūthyàṃ sudānū || 2 || ā́ yātam mitrāvaruṇā susasty úpa priyā́ námasā hūyámānā | sáṃ yā́v apnasthó apáseva jánāñ chrudhīyatáṣ cid yatatho mahitvā́ || 3 || ásvā ná yā́ vājínā pūtábandhū ṛitā́ yád gárbham áditir bháradhyai | prá yā́ máhi mahā́ntā jā́yamānā ghorā́ mártāya ripáve ní dīdhaḥ || 4 || vísve yád vāṃ maṅhánā mándamānāḥ kshatráṃ deváso ádadhuḥ sajóshāḥ | pári yád bhūthó ródasī cid urví sánti spáṣo ádabdhāso ámūrāḥ || · || 9 ||

॥१०॥

ता हि क्षत्रं धारयेथे अनु द्यून्दृंहेथे सानुमुपमादिव द्योः ।
दृळ्हो नक्षत्र उत विश्वदेवो भूमिमातान्द्यां धासिनायोः ॥६॥
ता विग्रं धैथे जठरं पृणध्या आ यत्सद्म सभृतयः पृणन्ति ।
न मृष्यन्ते युवतयोऽवाता वि यत्पयो विश्वजिन्वा भरन्ते ॥७॥

tā́ hí kshatráṃ dhāráyethe ánu dyū́n dṛiṅhéthe sā́num upamā́d iva dyóḥ | dṛiḷhó nákshatra utá visvádevo bhū́mim ā́tān dyā́ṃ dhāsínāyóḥ || 6 || tā́ vigráṃ dhaithe jaṭháram pṛiṇadhyā́ ā́ yát sádma sábhṛitayaḥ pṛiṇánti | ná mṛishyante yuvatáyó 'vātā ví yát páyo visvajinvā bhárante || 7 ||

O light-divine and plasma-divine, this prayer of mine has been extended to both of you. Both of you, O dear, are requested to come hither with viands, and move towards the sacrificial place. O munificent divines, may you grant us a safe dwelling, protected from heat, chill, and blast of air. 2

O beloved cosmic light and plasma, invoked with reverence, come to bless the propitious noble works. Through, your bounty, you support men, striving for sustenance as a workman maintains himself by labour. 3

You are the one, who are strong as horses, accepters of pious praise, and embodiment of truth. Powerful mother infinite conceives both of you, who are the mightiest among the mighty since your very birth and terror to the evil forces of mankind. 4

All the divine powers rejoice in your greatness ; with one accord, they accept your supremacy; and since you are pre-eminent over the wide and spacious heaven and earth, your courses are ever true and unimpeded. 5

You manifest princely vigour day after day ; you strengthen the summit of the sky, as it were from the loftiest heaven. Both of you have ordained firm in position the clouds, the mid-space, the sun, the earth, the heaven, and the food fit for man. 6

Both of you encourage the wise, when he quenches his appetite with devotional love and his associates occupy their positions in the chamber of worship, and when the rain, the sustainer of all, is sent down by you, and the young rivers, the maidens, undried, diffuse fertility around without obstruction. 7

ता जिह्वया सदमेदं सुमेधा आ यद्वां सत्यो अरतिर्ऋते भूत् ।
तद्वां महित्वं घृतान्नावस्तु युवं दाशुषे वि चयिष्टमंहः ॥८॥
प्र यद्वां मित्रावरुणा स्पूर्धन्प्रिया धाम युवधिता मिनन्ति ।
न ये देवास ओहसा न मर्ता अयज्ञसाचो अप्यो न पुत्राः ॥९॥
वि यद्वाचं कीस्तासो भरन्ते शंसन्ति के चिन्निविदो मनानाः ।
आद्वां ब्रवाम सत्यान्युक्था नकिर्देवेभिर्यतथो महित्वा ॥१०॥
अवोरित्था वां छर्दिषो अभिष्टौ युवोर्मित्रावरुणावस्कृधोयु ।
अनु यद्गावः स्फुरानृजिप्यं धृष्णुं यद्रणे वृषणं युनजन् ॥११॥

tá jihváyā sádam édáṃ sumedhā́ ā́ yád vāṃ satyó aratír ṛité bhū́t | tád vāṃ mahitváṃ ghṛitānnāv astu yuváṃ dāṣúshe ví cayishṭam áṅhaḥ || 8 || prá yád vāṃ mitrāvaruṇā spūrdhán priyā́ dhā́ma yuvádhitā minánti | ná yé devā́sa óhasā ná márta áyajñasāco ápyo ná putrā́ḥ || 9 || ví yád vā́caṃ kīstáso bhárante ṣáṅsanti ké cin nivído manānā́ḥ | ā́d vāṃ bravāma satyā́ny ukthā́ nákir devébhir yatatho mahitvā́ || 10 || avór itthā́ vāṃ chardísho abhíshṭau yuvór mitrāvaruṇav áskṛidhoyu | ánu yád gā́va sphurā́n ṛijipyáṃ dhṛishṇúṃ yád ráṇe vṛíshaṇaṃ yunájan || 11 || 10 ||

(६८) अष्टषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रावरुणौ देवते । (१-८, ११) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चामेकादश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (९-१०) नवमीदशम्योश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

श्रुष्टी वां यज्ञ उद्यतः सजोषा मनुष्वद्वृक्तबर्हिषो यजध्यै ।
आ य इन्द्रावरुणाविषे अद्य महे सुम्नाय मह आववर्तत् ॥१॥

68.

Srushṭí vāṃ yajñá údyataḥ sajóshā manushvád vṛiktábarhisho yájadhyai | ā́ yá índrāváruṇav ishé adyá mahé sumnā́ya mahá āvavártat || 1 ||

The faithful and most wise devotee solicits you with his prayers for supply of water. May you nourished by loving homage, become magnanimous and exterminate the sins of a devotee. 8

O light-divine and plasma-divine may you exterminate those who strive against you and break the laws that are agreeable and beneficial and also those divinities, and mortals, who are not dilligent in adoration, and those who work without faith and those who performing works do not worship and those who do not propitiate you. 9

When the clever priests lift up their voices, then several of them, glorifying other divines, recite flattering hymns, pertaining to selfish ends. Such being the case, we with sincerity request you, that in your magnanimous liberality, please do not associate with these pseudo-divines. 10

On your approach, cosmic light and plasma, protectors of the dwellings, may your great munificence come to us, whilst your praises are uttered, and the devotees offer devotional love, that inspires straight forwardness, resolution and strength. 11

68

O mighty resplendence-divine and plasma-divine, the young disciple has just now returned, engaged conscientiously with others in offering worship to you to obtain food for him, who, like his ancestor, has made all preparations of performing worship. He has invited both of you to gain glory and happiness. 1

ता हि श्रेष्ठा देवताता तुजा शूराणां शविष्ठा ता हि भूतम् ।
मघोनां मंहिष्ठा तुविशुष्म ऋतेन वृत्रतुरा सर्वसेना ॥२॥
ता गृणीहि नमस्येभिः शूषैः सुम्नेभिरिन्द्रावरुणा चकाना ।
वज्रेणान्यः शवसा हन्ति वृत्रं सिषक्त्यन्यो वृजनेषु विप्रः ॥३॥

tá hí sréshṭhā devátātā tujá śúrāṇāṃ śávishṭhā tá hí bhūtám | maghónām máṅhishṭhā tuviśúshma riténa vritratúrā sárvasenā || 2 || tá griṇīhi namasyèbhiḥ śūshaíḥ sumnébhir índrāvárunā cakāná | vájreṇānyáḥ śávasā hánti vritráṃ síshakty anyó vrijáneshu vípraḥ || 3 ||

ग्नाश्च यन्नरश्च वावृधन्त विश्वे देवासो नरां स्वगूर्ताः ।
प्रैभ्य इन्द्रावरुणा महित्वा द्यौश्च पृथिवि भूतमुर्वी ॥४॥
स इत्सुदानुः स्ववाँ ऋतावेन्द्रा यो वां वरुण दाशति त्मन् ।
इषा स द्विषस्तरेद्दास्वान्वंसद्रयिं रयिवतश्च जनान् ॥५॥

॥१२॥ यं युवं दाश्वध्वराय देवा रयिं धत्थो वसुमन्तं पुरुक्षुम् ।
अस्मे स इन्द्रावरुणावपि ष्यात्प्र यो भनक्ति वनुषामशस्तीः ॥६॥

gnáś ca yán náraś ca vāvridhánta víśve devá̄so narā́ṃ svágūrtāḥ | praíbhya indrāvaruṇā mahitvá̄ dyaúś ca prithivi bhūtam urví || 4 || sá ít sudánuḥ svávāñ ritávéndrā yó vāṃ varuṇa dá̄śati tmán | ishá̄ sá dvishás tared dá̄svān váṅsad rayíṃ rayivátaś ca jánān || 5 || 11 ||

yáṃ yuváṃ dāśvàdhvarāya devā rayíṃ dhatthó vásumantam purukshúm | asmé sá indrāvaruṇāv ápi shyāt prá yó bhanákti vanúsham áśastīḥ || 6 ||

You two are the principal ones amongst Nature's forces, deserving worship,— the distributors of wealth, the most vigorous of heroes, the most liberal among the opulent, possessors of vast strength, and destroyers of the entire hosts of adversaries by eternal law. 2

Praise lords of cosmic resplendence and plasma, renowned for all glorious energies and enjoyments ; one of whom slays evil with his punitive justice, the other, intelligent by his might, comes to the aid of the pious when he is in difficulties. 3

When amongst mankind, both males and females, and when all Nature's bounties, spontaneously striving, glorify you, O lords of cosmic resplendence and plasma, you surpass them in greatness and thus, O heaven and earth, you spread wide. 4

He, who spontaneously presents homage to you, O lords of cosmic resplendence and plasma, is liberal, wealthy and upright ; with all his resources he shall conquer his adversary, and win opulence and rich descendants. 5

May that opulence, comprising treasure and abundant food, be ours, which you, O lords of cosmic resplendence and plasma, bestow upon the donor of the oblation, and which baffles the calumnies of the malevolent. 6

उत नः सुत्रात्रो देवगोपाः सूरिभ्य इन्द्रावरुणा रयिः ष्यात् ।
येषां शुष्मः पृतनासु साह्वान्प्र सद्यो द्युम्ना तिरते ततुरिः ॥७॥
नू न इन्द्रावरुणा गृणाना पृङ्क्तं रयिं सौश्रवसाय देवा ।
इत्था गृणन्तो महिनस्य शर्धोऽपो न नावा दुरिता तरेम ॥८॥

utá naḥ sutrātró devá-gopāḥ sūríbhya indrāvaruṇā rayíḥ shyāt | yéshāṃ śúshmaḥ prítanāsu sāhván prá sadyó dyumná tiráte táturiḥ || 7 || nú na indrāvaruṇā griṇāná priñktám rayím sauśravasáya deva | itthá griṇánto mahínasya śárdho 'pó ná nāvá duritá tarema || 8 ||

प्र सम्राजे बृहते मन्म नु प्रियमर्च देवाय वरुणाय सप्रथः ।
अयं य उर्वी महिना महिव्रतः क्रत्वा विभात्यजरो न शोचिषा ॥९॥
इन्द्रावरुणा सुतपाविमं सुतं सोमं पिबतं मद्यं धृतव्रता ।
युवो रथो अध्वरं देववीतये प्रति स्वसरमुप याति पीतये ॥१०॥
इन्द्रावरुणा मधुमत्तमस्य वृष्णः सोमस्य वृषणा वृषेथाम् ।
इदं वामन्धः परिषिक्तमस्मे आसद्यास्मिन्बर्हिषि मादयेथाम् ॥११॥

prá samráje brihaté mánma nú priyám árca deváya váruṇāya sapráthaḥ | ayáṃ yá urví mahiná máhivrataḥ krátvā vibháty ajáro ná śocíshā || 9 || índrāvaruṇā sutapāv imáṃ sutáṃ sómam pibatam mádyaṃ dhṛitavrata | yuvó rátho adhvaráṃ devávītaye práti svásaram úpa yāti pītáye || 10 || índrāvaruṇa mádhumattamasya vríshṇaḥ sómasya vrishaṇá vrishethām | idáṃ vām ándhaḥ párishiktam asmé āsádyasmín barhíshi mādayethām || 11 || 12 ||

O lords of cosmic resplendence and plasma, may our noble men have opulence, of which the divine powers be the guardians. May your great might give victory in battles, and their triumphant glory spread with swiftness. 7

O divine and glorious lords of cosmic resplendence and plasma, may you quickly bestow upon us wealth for our felicity ; and thus eulogising the strength of you two, mighty divines, may we pass over all difficulties as with boats we cross the waters. 8

Now repeat a sweet and all-comprehensive praise to the imperial mighty divine Lord of plasma, who, endowed with greatness, illumines the spacious heaven and earth with majesty and power. 9

O Lord of resplendence and Lord of plasma, observant of sacred duty, drinkers of the celestial nectar, may you accept these exhilarating tributes of admiration. Your chariot approaches along the road to the place of sacrifice for your acceptance and participation in the offered homage of divine powers. 10

Drink, O resplendence-divine and plasma-divine, showerers of gifts of the sweetest celestial nectar, the shedder of blessings. This beverage of devotion is poured forth by us. May you occupy your respective positions in space and rejoice. 11

(६९) एकोनसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्राविष्णू देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ सं वां कर्मणा समिषा हिनोमीन्द्राविष्णू अपसस्पारे अस्य ।
जुषेथां यज्ञं द्रविणं च धत्तमरिष्टैर्नः पथिभिः पारयन्ता ॥१॥
या विश्वासां जनितारा मतीनामिन्द्राविष्णू कलशा सोमधाना ।
प्र वां गिरः शस्यमाना अवन्तु प्र स्तोमासो गीयमानासो अर्कैः ॥२॥

69.

Sám vāṃ kármaṇā sám ishá hinomíndrāvishṇu ápasas paré asyá | jushéthaṃ yajñáṃ dráviṇaṃ ca dhattam árishṭair naḥ pathíbhiḥ pāráyanta || 1 || yá víṣvāsaṃ janitára matīnám índravíshṇu kaláṣa somadhánā | prá vāṃ gíraḥ ṣasyámānā avantu prá stómāso gīyámānāso arkaíḥ || 2 ||

इन्द्राविष्णू मदपती मदानामा सोमं यातं द्रविणो दधाना ।
सं वामञ्जन्त्वक्तुभिर्मतीनां सं स्तोमासः शस्यमानास उक्थैः ॥३॥
आ वामश्वासो अभिमातिषाह इन्द्राविष्णू सधमादो वहन्तु ।
जुषेथां विश्वा हवना मतीनामुप ब्रह्माणि शृणुतं गिरो मे ॥४॥
इन्द्राविष्णू तत्पनयाय्यं वां सोमस्य मद उरु चक्रमाथे ।
अकृणुतमन्तरिक्षं वरीयोऽप्रथतं जीवसे नो रजांसि ॥५॥

índravishṇu madapatī madānām á sómaṃ yataṃ dráviṇo dádhanā | sáṃ vām añjantv aktúbhir matīnáṃ sáṃ stómāsaḥ ṣasyámānasa ukthaíḥ || 3 || á vām áṣvāso abhimatisháha índrāvishṇu sadhamádo vahantu | jushéthaṃ víṣvā hávanā matīnám úpa bráhmāṇi sriṇutaṃ gíro me || 4 || índrāvishṇu tát panayáyyaṃ vāṃ sómasya máda urú cakramathe | ákriṇutam antárikshaṃ várīyó 'prathataṃ jīváse no rájaṅsi || 5 ||

69

I earnestly propitiate you, by worship and homage, O Lord resplendence-divine and sun-divine, upon the completion of the ceremony. May you accept the offerings, and grant us wealth, and lead us across the conflicts by the unobstructed pathways. 1

May the prayers that are recited reach you, O resplendence-divine and the sun-divine. May the hymns of praises that are chanted reach you. You are the inspirer of all praises and like reservoirs, you store the elixir of divine love. 2

O Lord, resplendence-divine and the sun-like, the Lord of exhilaration, Lord of the joy-giving elixir of devotion, come to accept our love ; bring your wealth of devotion to us. May the hymns chanted by the devotees anoint you completely with brilliance. 3

O Lord of resplendence and the sun-like, let your evil-dispelling steeds bear you here ; may you be pleased with all the invocations of your worshippers, and hear my prayers and praises. 4

O Lord of resplendence and the sun-like, verily, that deed of yours must be glorified, by which, in the exhilaration of ecstasy, you stride over the wide space ; you traverse the wide firmament and make the regions worthy of our existence. 5

इन्द्राविष्णू हविषा वावृधानाग्राद्वाना नमसा रातहव्या ।
घृतासुती द्रविणं धत्तमस्मे समुद्रः स्थः कलशः सोमधानः ॥६॥
इन्द्राविष्णू पिबतं मध्वो अस्य सोमस्य दस्रा जठरं पृणेथाम् ।
आ वामन्धांसि मदिराण्यग्मन्नुप ब्रह्माणि शृणुतं हवं मे ॥७॥
उभा जिग्यथुर्न परा जयेथे न परा जिग्ये कतरश्चनैनोः ।
इन्द्रश्च विष्णो यदपस्पृधेथां त्रेधा सहस्रं वि तदैरयेथाम् ॥८॥

índrāvishṇū havíshā vāvṛidhānágrādvānā námasā rātahavyā | ghṛítāsutī dráviṇaṃ dhattam asmé samudrá sthaḥ kaláṣaḥ somadhánaḥ || 6 || índrāvishṇū píbatam mádhvo asyá sómasya dasrā jaṭháraṃ pṛiṇethām | ā́ vām ándhāṅsi madiráṇy agmann úpa bráhmāṇi ṣṛiṇutaṃ hávam me || 7 || ubhá jigyathur ná párā jayethe ná párā jigye kataráṣ canáinoḥ | índraṣ ca vishṇo yád ápaspṛidhethāṃ tredhá sahásraṃ ví tád airayethām || 8 || 13 ||

(७०) सप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । द्यावापृथिव्यौ देवते । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ घृतवती भुवनानामभिश्रियोर्वी पृथ्वी मधुदुघे सुपेशसा ।
द्यावापृथिवी वरुणस्य धर्मणा विष्कभिते अजरे भूरिरेतसा ॥१॥
असश्चन्ती भूरिधारे पयस्वती घृतं दुहाते सुकृते शुचिव्रते ।
राजन्ती अस्य भुवनस्य रोदसी अस्मे रेतः सिञ्चतं यन्मनुर्हितम् ॥२॥
यो वामृजवे क्रमणाय रोदसी मर्तो ददाश धिषणे स साधति ।
प्र प्रजाभिर्जायते धर्मणस्परि युवोः सिक्ता विषुरूपाणि सव्रता ॥३॥

70.

Ghṛitávatī bhúvanānām abhiṣríyorví pṛithví madhudúghe supéṣasā | dyávāpṛithiví váruṇasya dhármaṇā víshkabhite ajáre bhúriretasā || 1 || ásaṣcantī bhū́ridhāre páyasvatī ghṛitáṃ duhāte sukṛíte ṣúcivrate | rájantī asyá bhúvanasya rodasī asmé rétaḥ siñcataṃ yán mánurhitam || 2 || yó vām ṛijáve krámaṇāya rodasī márto dadáṣa dhishaṇe sá sādhati | prá prajábhir jāyate dhármaṇas pári yuvóḥ siktā́ víshurūpāṇi sávratā || 3 ||

O Lord of resplendence and sun-personified, foremost relisher of divine love, strengthened with sacred offerings, may you, thriving upon oblations, and accepting them offered with reverence, bestow upon us wealth ; for you are an ocean, a pitcher, and a receptacle that holds the elixir of divine love. 6

O Lord of resplendence and sun-divine, full of splendour, drink this sweet celestial nectar to your full satisfaction. May this inebriating drink reach you. May you hear my prayers, and give ear to my callings. 7

You both have ever been victorious ; never have been conquered ; neither of you two has been vanquished. With whom-so-ever you fight, you completely take away from him his entire dominion in the first step, his entire understanding or knowledge in the second step and his entire speech in the third step. 8

70

O radiant heaven and earth, the asylum of created beings, you are spacious, manifold, water-yielding and lovely. By the decree of the venerable Lord, both of you stand parted, each from each. You are undecaying and rich in creative elements. 1

You are ever-lasting pair, with full streams, water-retaining, yielding moisture, well-designed, and benignly purposeful. May you two, heaven and earth, rulers over created beings, pour into us the virile sap, genitive of mankind. 2

O firm-set heaven and earth, who-so-ever mortal being pours offerings to you for your straight-forward course, succeeds in his aspirations. He prospers with progeny. Invigorated by your set laws, are engendered species diverse in forms, but with similar functions. 3

घृतेन द्यावापृथिवी अभीवृते घृतश्रिया घृतपृचा घृतावृधा ।
उर्वी पृथ्वी होतृवूर्ये पुरोहिते ते इद्विप्रा ईळते सुम्नमिष्टये ॥४॥
मधु नो द्यावापृथिवी मिमिक्षतां मधुश्चुता मधुदुघे मधुव्रते ।
दधाने यज्ञं द्रविणं च देवता महि श्रवो वाजमस्मे सुवीर्यम् ॥५॥
ऊर्जं नो द्यौश्च पृथिवी च पिन्वतां पिता माता विश्वविदा सुदंससा ।
संरराणे रोदसी विश्वशम्भुवा सनिं वाजं रयिमस्मे समिन्वताम् ॥६॥

ghriténa dyávāprithiví abhívrite ghritasríyā ghritapríeā ghritāvrídhā | urví prithví hotrivū́rye puróhite té íd víprā īḷate sumnám ishṭáye || 4 || mádhu no dyávāprithiví mimikshatām madhuseútā madhudúghe mádhuvrate | dádhāne yajñáṃ dráviṇaṃ ca devátā máhi srávo vájam asmé suvī́ryam || 5 || ū́rjaṃ no dyaúṣ ca prithiví ca pinvatām pitā́ mātā́ viṣvavídā sudáṅsasā | saṃrarāṇé ródasī viṣváṣambhuva sanίṃ vájaṃ rayím asmé sám invatam || 6 || 14 ||

(७१) एकसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । सविता देवता । (१–३) प्रथमतृचस्य जगती, (४–६) द्वितीयतृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१५॥ उदु देवः सविता हिरण्यया बाहू अयंस्त सवनाय सुक्रतुः ।
घृतेन पाणी अभि प्रुष्णुते मखो युवा सुदक्षो रजसो विधर्मणि ॥१॥
देवस्य वयं सवितुः सवीमनि श्रेष्ठे स्याम वसुनश्च दावने ।
यो विश्वस्य द्विपदो यश्चतुष्पदो निवेशने प्रसवे चासि भूमनः ॥२॥
अदब्धेभिः सवितः पायुभिष्ट्वं शिवेभिरद्य परि पाहि नो गयम् ।
हिरण्यजिह्वः सुविताय नव्यसे रक्षा माकिर्नो अघशंस ईशत ॥३॥

71.

Úd u shyá deváḥ savitā́ hiraṇyáyā bāhū́ ayaṅsta sávanāya sukrátuḥ | ghriténa pāṇí abhí prushṇute makhó yúvā sudáksho rájaso vídharmaṇi || 1 || devásya vayáṃ savitúḥ sávimani sréshṭhe syāma vásunaṣ ca dāváne | yó víṣvasya dvipádo yáṣ cátushpado nivéṣane prasavé cāsi bhū́manaḥ || 2 || ádabdhebhiḥ savitaḥ pāyúbhish ṭváṃ ṣivébhir adyá pári pāhi no gáyam | híraṇyajihvaḥ suvitāya návyase rákshā mā́kir no aghásaṅsa īṣata || 3 ||

You are surrounded, O heaven and earth, by water. You are the asylum of water. Imbued with water you are the augmenter of water. You are vast and manifold ; you are first propitiated in the cosmic sacrifice. The pious devotees pray to you for happiness, so that the sacred work may be further promoted. 4

May the divine heaven and earth, the effusers of water, the milkers of water, dischargers of the functions of water, the promoters of cosmic sacrifice and the bestowers of wealth, renown, food, and male posterity, join together (in fulfilling the functions of creation). 5

May father-like heaven and mother-like earth, who are all-knowing, and wondrous in their works, grant us vigour. May heaven and earth, mutually co-operating and prompting the happiness of all, bestow upon us posterity, food and riches. 6

71

The divine and benevolent Lord of illumination stretches his golden arms for life and prosperity. Adorable, youthful and sagacious as He is, in the regions, He stretches out both of his hands filled with water to enliven the world. 1

May we enjoy the noblest vivifying force of the Lord of creation, that He may give us excellent riches ; O Lord, you are absolute in the procreation and perpetuation of living beings, bipeds or quadrupeds. 2

May you, O Lord of illumination, provide our dwellings with uninjurable protections, and confer happiness. May you, O golden-tongued, be vigilant for our fresh prosperity ; protect us ; dare not any caluminator harm us. 3

उदु ष्य देवः सविता दमूना हिरण्यपाणिः प्रतिदोषमस्थात् ।
अयोहनुर्यजतो मन्द्रजिह्व आ दाशुषे सुवति भूरि वामम् ॥४॥
उदू अयाँ उपवक्तेव बाहू हिरण्यया सविता सुप्रतीका ।
दिवो रोहांस्यरुहत्पृथिव्या अरीरमत्पतयत्कच्चिदभ्वम् ॥५॥
वाममद्य सवितर्वाममु श्वो दिवेदिवे वाममस्मभ्यं सावीः ।
वामस्य हि क्षयस्य देव भूरेरया धिया वामभाजः स्याम ॥६॥

úd u shyá deváḥ savitā́ dámūnā híraṇyapāṇiḥ pratidoshám asthāt | áyohanur yajató mandrájihva ā́ dāṣúshe suvati bhū́ri vāmám || 4 || úd ū ayāñ upavaktéva bāhū́ hiraṇyáyā savitā́ suprátīkā | divó róhāṅsy aruhat prithivyā́ árīramat patáyat kác cid ábhvam || 5 || vāmám adyá savitar vāmám u ṣvó divé-dive vāmám asmábhyaṃ sāvīḥ | vāmásya hí ksháyasya deva bhū́rer ayā́ dhiyā́ vāmabhā́jaḥ syāma || 6 || 15 ||

(७२) द्विसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । इन्द्रासोमौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१६॥ इन्द्रासोमा महि तद्वां महित्वं युवं महानि प्रथमानि चक्रथुः ।
युवं सूर्यं विविदथुर्युवं स्वर्विश्वा तमांस्यहतं निदश्च ॥१॥
इन्द्रासोमा वासयथ उषासमुत्सूर्यं नयथो ज्योतिषा सह ।
उप द्यां स्कम्भथुः स्कम्भनेनाप्रथतं पृथिवीं मातरं वि ॥२॥

72.

Índrāsomā máhi tád vām mahitvám yuvám mahā́ni prathamā́ni cakrathuḥ | yuváṃ sū́ryaṃ vividáthur yuváṃ svàr víṣvā támāṅsy ahataṃ nidáṣ ca || 1 || índrāsomā vāsáyatha ushā́sam út sū́ryaṃ nayatho jyótishā sahá | úpa dyā́ṃ skambháthu skámbhanenā́prathatam prithivī́m mātáraṃ ví || 2 ||

May the divine, munificent, golden-rayed, golden-jawed, adorable, sweet-spoken sun-divine rise regularly at the close of night. May he bestow abundant and desirable food upon the donor of the oblation. 4

May the Lord of illumination, the sun-divine, stretch forth his golden well-built arms like an orator, he rises from the ends of the earth, ascends to the summit of the sky, and, moving along, delights everything that exists. 5

May he get for us, O Lord, the grace of happiness today, grace tomorrow, grace day by day. You are the giver of ample grace, and of graceful living. May we, by this prayer, become partakers of your divine grace. 6

72

O resplendence-divine, great is your grandeur. You have created achievement, and the first great elements of Nature. You have made known to man the sun and the element of happiness ; you dissipate the glooms and destroy the revilers. 1

O lords of resplendence and bliss, you bestow light to the dawns ; you upraise the sun with his splendour ; you prop up the sky with the supporting pillar of the firmament; you spread out the earth, the mother of all. 2

इन्द्रासोमावहिमपः परिष्ठां हथो वृत्रमनु वां द्यौरमन्यत ।
प्रार्णांस्यैरयतं नदीनामा समुद्राणि पप्रथुः पुरूणि ॥३॥
इन्द्रासोमा पक्वमामास्वन्तर्नि गवामिद्दधथुर्वक्षणासु ।
जगृभथुरनपिनद्धमासु रुशच्चित्रासु जगतीष्वन्तः ॥४॥
इन्द्रासोमा युवमङ्ग तरुत्रमपत्यसाचं श्रुत्यं रराथे ।
युवं शुष्मं नर्यं चर्षणिभ्यः सं विव्यथुः पृतनाषाहमुग्रा ॥५॥

índrāsomāv áhim apáḥ parishṭhā́m hathó vṛitrám ánu vām dyaúr amanyata | prā́rṇāṅsy airayatam nadī́nām ā́ samudrā́ṇi paprathuḥ purū́ṇi || 3 || índrāsomā pakvám āmā́sv antár ní gávām íd dadhathur vakshánāsu | jagṛibháthur ánapinaddham āsu rúṣac citrā́su jágatīshv antáḥ || 4 || índrāsomā yuvám aṅgá tárutram apatyasā́cam ṣrútyam rarāthe | yuvám ṣúshmam náryam carshaṇíbhyaḥ sám vivyathuḥ pṛitanāsháham ugrā || 5 || 16 ||

(७३) त्रिसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । बृहस्पतिर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ यो अद्रिभित्प्रथमजा ऋतावा बृहस्पतिराङ्गिरसो हविष्मान् ।
द्विबर्हज्मा प्राघर्मसत्पिता न आ रोदसी वृषभो रोरवीति ॥१॥
जनाय चिद्य ईवत उ लोकं बृहस्पतिर्देवहूतौ चकार ।
घ्नन्वृत्राणि वि पुरो दर्दरीति जयञ्छत्रूँरमित्रान्पृत्सु साहन् ॥२॥
बृहस्पतिः समजयद्वसूनि महो व्रजान्गोमतो देव एषः ।
अपः सिषासन्त्स्वरप्रतीतो बृहस्पतिर्हन्त्यमित्रमर्कैः ॥३॥

73.

Yó adribhít prathamajá ṛitávā bṛíhaspátir āṅgirasó havíshmān | dvibárhajmā prāgharmasát pitá na ā́ ródasī vṛishabhó roravīti || 1 || jánāya cid yá ívata u lokám bṛíhaspátir deváhūtau cakā́ra | ghnán vṛitrā́ṇi ví púro dardarīti jáyañ chátrūn̐r amítrān pṛitsú sā́han || 2 || bṛíhaspátiḥ sám ajayad vásūni mahó vrajā́n gómato devá esháḥ | apáḥ síshāsan svàr ápratīto bṛíhaspátir hánty amítram arkaíḥ || 3 || 17 ||

O lords of resplendence and bliss, you put an end to the dragon of darkness and evil forces, the obstructers of water, for which the heaven venerates you both ; you urge on the streams of the rivers until they have replenished numerous oceans. 3

O lords of resplendence and bliss, you deposit the mature milk in the unripe udders of cows ; you retain the white secretion within these variously coloured cattle. 4

O lords of resplendence and bliss, verily, you bestow upon us renowned rich blessings, eradicators of pain and poverty, and also offsprings ; O divine powers, you invest men with strength, that makes them victorious over all adversaries. 5

73

The Lord preceptor of universe is the breaker of the impediments of knowledge, the first born, sovereign Lord of creation, the observer of truth, the vital essence personified, the partaker of the homage, the traverser of two worlds. He abides in the region of enlightenment to us a father ; and showerer of blessings. His divine voice thunders in heaven and on the earth. 1

The Lord preceptor of universe, appoints a region for the man to perform divine worship diligently. He destroys impediments of knowledge, conquers adversaries, overcomes evils, and demolishes numerous citadels of evil forces. 2

The Lord, perceptor of universe, conquers the treasures (of vicious people) and wins over pastures and cattle with a purpose to appropriate waters. He destroys the adversary of firmament (i. e. the cloud). 3

(७४) चतुःसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाज ऋषिः । सोमारुद्रौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१८॥ सोमारुद्रा धारयेथामसुर्यं प्र वामिष्टयोऽरमश्नुवन्तु ।
दमेदमे सप्त रत्ना दधाना शं नो भूतं द्विपदे शं चतुष्पदे ॥१॥
सोमारुद्रा वि वृहतं विषूचीममीवा या नो गयमाविवेश ।
आरे बाधेथां निर्ऋतिं पराचैरस्मे भद्रा सौश्रवसानि सन्तु ॥२॥

74.

Sómārudrā dhāráyethām asuryàm prá vām ishṭáyó 'ram aṣnuvantu | dáme-dame saptá rátnā dádhānā ṣáṃ no bhūtaṃ dvipáde ṣáṃ cátushpade || 1 || sómārudrā ví vṛihataṃ víshūcīm ámīvā yā́ no gáyam āvivéṣa | āré bādhethāṃ nírṛitim parācaír asmé bhadrā́ sauṣravasā́ni santu || 2 ||

सोमारुद्रा युवमेतान्यस्मे विश्वा तनूषु भेषजानि धत्तम् ।
अव स्यतं मुञ्चतं यन्नो अस्ति तनूषु बद्धं कृतमेनो अस्मत् ॥३॥
तिग्मायुधौ तिग्महेती सुशेवौ सोमारुद्राविह सु मृळतं नः ।
प्र नो मुञ्चतं वरुणस्य पाशाद्गोपायतं नः सुमनस्यमाना ॥४॥

sómārudrā yuvám etā́ny asmé víṣvā tanū́shu bheshajā́ni dhattam | áva syatam muñcátaṃ yán no ásti tanū́shu baddhám kritám éno asmát || 3 || tigmā́yudhau tigmáhetī suṣévau sómārudrāv ihá sú mṛiḷataṃ naḥ | prá no muñcatam váruṇasya pā́ṣād gopāyátaṃ naḥ sumanasyámānā || 4 || 18 ||

74

O lords of bliss and vitality, may you hold fast your divine sway. May our prayers, recited in every dwelling, adequately reach you. May you, possessor of the seven precious things, bestow happiness upon us; happiness upon our bipeds and quadrupeds. 1

O lords of bliss and vitality, expel the wide-spread sickness, that has entered into our dwellings ; keep off poverty, so that she stays far away, and may prosperous means of sustenance be ours. 2

O lords of bliss and vitality, may you grant all these medicaments for the ailments of our bodies ; set free and draw away the committed sins, that cling to our persons. 3

O sharp-weaponed, sharp-arrowed, profoundly-honoured, lords of bliss and vitality, grant us happiness in this world; propitiated by our praise, preserve us ; liberate us from the noose of supreme ordainer. 4

(७५) पञ्चसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१९) एकोनविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः पायुर्ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो वर्म, (२) द्वितीयाया धनुः, (३) तृतीयाया ज्या, (४) चतुर्थ्या आर्त्नी, (५) पञ्चम्या इषुधिः, (६) षष्ठ्याः पूर्वार्धस्य सारथिरुत्तरार्धस्य च रश्मयः, (७) सप्तम्या अश्वाः, (८) अष्टम्या रथः, (९) नवम्या रथगोपाः, (१०) दशम्या ब्राह्मणपितृसोमद्यावापृथिवीपूषणः, (११–१२, १५–१६) एकादशीद्वादशीपञ्चदशीषोडशीनामिषवः, (१३) त्रयोदश्याः प्रतोदः, (१४) चतुर्दश्या हस्तघ्नः, (१७) सप्तदश्या युद्धभूमिकवचब्रह्मणस्पत्यादयः, (१८) अष्टादश्या वर्मसोमवरुणाः, (१९) एकोनविंश्याश्च देवा ब्रह्म च देवताः । (१–५, ७–९, ११, १४, १८) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां सप्तम्यादितृचस्यैकादशीचतुर्दश्यष्टादशीनाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (६, १०) षष्ठीदशम्योर्जगती, (१२–१३, १५–१६, १९) द्वादशीत्रयोदशीपञ्चदशीषोडश्येकोनविंशीनामनुष्टुप्, (१७) सप्तदश्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दांसि ॥

॥१९॥ जीमूतस्येव भवति प्रतीकं यद्वर्मी याति समदामुपस्थे ।
अनाविद्धया तन्वा जय त्वं स त्वा वर्मणो महिमा पिपर्तु ॥१॥
धन्वना गा धन्वनाजिं जयेम धन्वना तीव्राः समदो जयेम ।
धनुः शत्रोरपकामं कृणोति धन्वना सर्वाः प्रदिशो जयेम ॥२॥
वक्ष्यन्तीवेदा गनीगन्ति कर्णं प्रियं सखायं परिषस्वजाना ।
योषेव शिङ्क्ते वितताधि धन्वञ्ज्या इयं समने पारयन्ती ॥३॥

75.

Jīmūtasyeva bhavati prátīkaṃ yád varmí yāti samádām upásthe | ánāviddhayā tanvā̀ jaya tváṃ sá tvā vármaṇo mahimá pipartu || 1 || dhánvanā gā́ dhánvanājíṃ jayema dhánvanā tīvrā́ḥ samádo jayema | dhánuḥ śátror apakāmáṃ kriṇoti dhánvanā sárvāḥ pradíśo jayema || 2 || vakshyántīvéd ā́ ganīganti kárṇaṃ priyáṃ sákhāyam parishasvajānā́ | yósheva śiṅkte vítatādhi dhánvañ jyā́ iyáṃ sámane pārá-yantī || 3 ||

ते आचरन्ती समनेव योषा मातेव पुत्रं बिभृतामुपस्थे ।
अप शत्रून्विध्यतां संविदाने आर्त्नी इमे विष्फुरन्ती अमित्रान् ॥४॥
बह्वीनां पिता बहुरस्य पुत्रश्चिश्चा कृणोति समनावगत्य ।
इषुधिः सङ्काः पृतनाश्च सर्वाः पृष्ठे निनद्धो जयति प्रसूतः ॥५॥

té ācárantī sámaneva yóshā mātéva putrám bibhritām upásthe | ápa śátrūn vidhyatāṃ saṃvidāné ártnī imé vishphurántī amítrān || 4 || bahvīnā́m pitā́ bahúr asya putráś ciścā́ kriṇoti sámanāvagátya | ishudhíḥ sáṅkāḥ prítanāś ca sárvāḥ prishṭhé nínaddho jayati prásūtaḥ || 5 || 19 ||

When a warrior equipped with an armour advances in the front line of battles, his form is like that of a thunderous rain cloud. May you be conquerer with your body unwounded. May the strength of your armour protect you. 1

May we win the cattle of the enemies with the bow. With the bow may we be victorious in battle. May we be winners in our hot encounters. May the bow bring grief and sorrow to our adversaries. Armed with the bow may we subdue all hostile countries. 2

This bow-string, drawn tight upon the bow and making way in battle, repeatedly approaches the ear as if embracing its friend (the arrow) and proposing to say something sweet and loving, as a woman whispers. 3

May the two extremities of the bow act consentaneously, like a wife and sympathizing (with her husband) uphold (the warrior) as a mother nurses her child upon her lap. And may they moving concurrently, and harrasing the foe scatter his enemies. 4

The quiver, slung on the back, pouring its shafts vanquishes all opposing and shouting armies. It is like a father of many daughters and sons, who clang and cry as father goes to battle. 5

॥२०॥ रथे तिष्ठन्नयति वाजिनः पुरो यत्रयत्र कामयते सुषारथिः ।
अभीशूनां महिमानं पनायत मनः पश्चादनु यच्छन्ति रश्मयः ॥६॥
तीव्रान्घोषान्कृण्वते वृषपाणयोऽश्वा रथेभिः सह वाजयन्तः ।
अवक्रामन्तः प्रपदैरमित्रान् क्षिणन्ति शत्रूँरनपव्ययन्तः ॥७॥

ráthe tíshṭhan nayati vājínaḥ puró yátra-yatra kāmáyate susháratliíḥ | abhíṣūnām mahimánam panāyata mánaḥ paṣcád ánu yachanti raṣmáyaḥ || 6 || tīvrán ghóshān kriṇvate vríshapāṇayó 'ṣvā ráthebhiḥ sahá vājáyantaḥ | avakrámantaḥ prápadair amítrān kshiṇánti ṣátrūn̐r ánapavyayantaḥ || 7 ||

रथवाहनं हविरस्य नाम यत्रायुधं निहितमस्य वर्म ।
तत्रा रथमुप शग्मं सदेम विश्वाहा वयं सुमनस्यमानाः ॥८॥
स्वादुषंसदः पितरो वयोधाः कृच्छ्रेश्रितः शक्तीवन्तो गभीराः ।
चित्रसेना इषुबला अमृध्राः सतोवीरा उरवो व्रातसाहाः ॥९॥
ब्राह्मणासः पितरः सोम्यासः शिवे नो द्यावापृथिवी अनेहसा ।
पूषा नः पातु दुरितादृतावृधो रक्षा माकिर्नो अघशंस ईशत ॥१०॥

rathaváhanam havír asya náma yátráyudham níhitam asya várma | tátrā rátham úpa ṣagmáṃ sadema viṣváhā vayáṃ sumanasyámānāḥ || 8 || svādushaṃsádaḥ pitáro vayodháḥ krichreṣrítaḥ ṣáktīvanto gabhīráḥ | citrásenā íshubalā ámridhrāḥ satóvīrā urávo vrātasāháḥ || 9 || bráhmaṇāsaḥ pítaraḥ sómyāsaḥ ṣivé no dyávāprithiví anehásā | pūshá naḥ pātu duritád ritávridho rákshā mákir no aghá-saṁsa īṣata || 10 || 20 ||

The skilful charioteer guides his strong horses wither-so-ever he wishes. See and praise the efficacy of the reins, which from behind declare the driving excellence of the person. 6

The horses raising the dust with their hoofs rush on with the chariot, and utter loud neighings. They do not retreat, but trample with their forefeet upon the enemies and destroy them. 7

The spoil borne off on his car, in which his weapons and armoury are deposited, is the appropriate oblation of the warrior. So let us here, daily pay tributes to the helpful joy-bestowing car. 8

The guards of the chariot, revelling in the savoury spoil, are distributors of food, protectors in calamity, armed with spears, resolute, beautifully arrayed, strong in arrows, invincible, of heroic valour, robust and conquerers of numerous hosts. 9

May the learned intellectuals, the progenitors, presenters of the herbal offerings, the observers of truth, protect us: may the faultless heaven and earth be propitious to us: may the nourisher Lord preserve us from misfortune ; let no caluminator prevail over us. 10

॥२१॥

सुपर्णं वस्ते मृगो अस्या दन्तो गोभिः संनद्धा पतति प्रसूता ।
यत्रा नरः सं च वि च द्रवन्ति तत्रास्मभ्यमिषवः शर्म यंसन् ॥११॥
ऋजीते परि वृङ्धि नोऽश्मा भवतु नस्तनूः ।
सोमो अधि ब्रवीतु नोऽदितिः शर्म यच्छतु ॥१२॥

suparṇám vaste mrigó asyā dánto góbhiḥ sáṃnaddhā patati prásūtā | yátrā náraḥ sáṃ ca ví ca drávanti tátrāsmábhyam íshavaḥ ṣárma yaṅsan || 11 || ríjīte pári vrindhi nó 'ṣmā bhavatu nas tanúḥ | sómo ádhi bravītu nó 'ditiḥ ṣárma yachatu || 12 ||

आ जङ्घन्ति सान्वेषां जघनाँ उप जिघ्नते ।
अश्वाजनि प्रचेतसोऽश्वान्त्समत्सु चोदय ॥१३॥
अहिरिव भोगैः पर्येति बाहुं ज्याया हेतिं परिबाधमानः ।
हस्तघ्नो विश्वा वयुनानि विद्वान्पुमान्पुमांसं परि पातु विश्वतः ॥१४॥
आलाक्ता या रुरुशीर्ष्ण्यथो यस्या अयो मुखम् ।
इदं पर्जन्यरेतस इष्वै देव्यै बृहन्नमः ॥१५॥

á jaṅghanti sánv eshāṃ jaghánāñ úpa jighnate | áṣvājani prácetasó 'ṣvān samátsu codaya || 13 || áhir iva bhogaíḥ páry eti bāhúṃ jyáyā hetím paribádhamānaḥ | hastaghnó víṣvā vayúnāni vidván púmān púmaṅsam pári pātu viṣvátaḥ || 14 || áläktā yá rúruṣīrshṇy átho yásyā áyo múkham | idám parjányaretasa íshvai devyai brihán námaḥ || 15 || 21 ||

The arrow puts on a (feathery) wing : the (horn of the) deer is its point : it is bound with the sinews of the cow : it alights where directed : wherever men assemble or they disperse, there may the shafts provide security. 11

O straight-flying (arrow), defend us ; may our bodies be strong as stone : may the blissful Lord speak to us encouragement and may the mother infinity grant us success. 12

It is the whip, with which the skilful charioteers lash the thighs and scourge the flanks of the steeds, may it urge the horses in battles to march on. 13

The hand-gloves, imparting protection from the abrasion of the bow-string, surrounds the forearm like a snake with its convolutions : may the brave man, experienced in the arts of war, defend a combatant on every side. 14

This praise (be offered) to the cosmic celestial arrow, a seed in the precipitation of cloud-divine, whose point is anointed with venom, and whose blade is of iron. 15

॥२२॥

अवसृष्टा परा पत शरव्ये ब्रह्मसंशिते ।
गच्छामित्रान्प्र पद्यस्व मामीषां कं चनोच्छिषः ॥१६॥
यत्र बाणाः संपतन्ति कुमारा विशिखा इव ।
तत्रा नो ब्रह्मणस्पतिरदितिः शर्म यच्छतु विश्वाहा शर्म यच्छतु ॥१७॥

ávasrishṭā párā pata śáravye bráhmasaṃśite | gáchāmítrān prá padyasva mámíshāṃ káṃ canóc chishaḥ || 16 || yátra bāṇáḥ sampátanti kumārá viśikhá iva | tátrā no bráhmaṇas pátir áditiḥ śárma yachatu viśváhā śárma yachatu || 17 ||

मर्माणि ते वर्मणा छादयामि सोमस्त्वा राजामृतेनानु वस्ताम ।
उरोर्वरीयो वरुणस्ते कृणोतु जयन्तं त्वानु देवा मदन्तु ॥१८॥
यो नः स्वो अरणो यश्च निष्ट्यो जिघांसति ।
देवास्तं सर्वे धूर्वन्तु ब्रह्म वर्म ममान्तरम ॥१९॥

mármāṇi te vármaṇā chādayāmi sómas tvā rájāmṛ́tenánu vastām | urór várīyo váruṇas te kṛiṇotu jáyantaṃ tvánu devá madantu || 18 || yó naḥ svó áraṇo yáś ca níshṭyo jíghāṃsati | devás táṃ sárve dhūrvantu bráhma várma mámántaram || 19 || 22 ||

O arrow, whetted by prayers, fly when discharged, go forcefully, come down on the adversaries, strike them home, and spare not one of the enemy. 16

Where arrows alight like boys with shaven-heads: may the Lord of Treasury, BRAHMANASPATI, may the mother infinity grant us happiness ; grant us happiness every day. 17

I cover your vital parts with armour; may the royal Lord of bliss invest you with ambrosia: may the venerable Lord give you what is more than ample: may the divinities rejoice in your victory. 18

Whoever, whether an unfriendly relative or a stranger, desires to kill us, may all the divinities destroy him : prayer is my best armour. 19

NOTES

Book 6

Hymns 1-75

षष्ठं मंडलम्

सूक्तानि १–७५

NOTES OF BOOK No. 6

Hymn-1

1. Tvam hi agne prathamah manota asyah dhiyaha abhavah—(i) O Agni, on whom the mind of gods is attached, (हे अग्ने, देवानां मनो यत्रोतं सम्बद्धं भवति, तादृशो भवसि—Sayana); (ii) the divinity on whom the minds of the gods are fastened; i.e., firmly concentrated; he is called manota (Ait. Br. II.10.1).

Manota, the one who goes with the speed of mind. (मनोता मनोवद् गन्ता—Daya.).

Prathamah, the first one (प्रथमः आदिमः—Daya ; the foremost, the supermost (प्रथमः प्रतमः प्रकृष्टतमः पूर्वभावी वा—Sayana.)

Dasma, the learned, who overcomes pains (दस्मः दुःखोपक्षयितः)—Daya.; pleasing one (दर्शनीय)—Sayana.

2. Ilah, इलः, of the speech; of the earth (Daya.); of the fire.

Ilah pade, on the footmark of Ila or earth, i.e. the fire-altar (इलः भूम्याः वेदिलक्षणायाः पदे स्थाने--Sayana).

3. Visvaha, all days (विश्वहा सर्वाणि दिनानि—Daya.); at all times (सर्वेषु कालेषु—Sayana).

4. Namesa, नमसा, by food etc.; by the piercing qualities of the thunderbolt, since नमस् is a synonym of food, and vajra both (Nigh. II.7; II.20).—Daya.; by the offerings or by the prayers (नमसा हविषा स्तोत्रेण वा—Sayana).

Namani cit dadhire yajniyani etc. they repeat those thy names, jatavedas, vaisvanara etc. which are to be uttered at sacrifices. (यज्ञियानि यज्ञयोग्यानि नामानि नमनीयानि वैश्वानरो जातवेदा इत्यादीनि दधिरे धारयन्ति अथवा नामसाधनानि स्तोत्राणि दधिरे—Sayana). However, Dayananda understands by namani water and other names (नामानि जलानि संज्ञा वा नाम = उदक, Nigh. I.12). According to Sayana, namani may also mean hymns, or means of adoration.

5. Jananam, जनानां, for men, for the gift of men, particularly of sons, or male posterity—जनानां पुत्रादीनाम्—Sayana.

Pita, पिता, the one who protects like the father, पिता पितेव पालकः ।

Mata, माता, the one who gives respect like the mother, or one worthy of respect, माता मातेव मान्यप्रदः—Daya.

Manusanam, मानुषाणां, of people, of those who recite hymns (मानुषाणां मनुष्याणां स्तोतॄणां—Sayana).

6. Saparyenyah, worthy of praise or adoration (सपर्येण्यः पूज्यः—Sayana); worthy of devotion (सेवितुमर्हः—Daya.).

7. Rocanena, रोचनेन, by light (रोचनेन प्रकाशेन—Daya.); by the path of the sun (रोचनेनादित्येन दिवमगमय इति वा सम्बन्धः ; आदित्यमार्गेणेत्यर्थः—Sayana).

Anayah didyanah divah agne brhata rocanena, O adorable Lord or fire-divine, do thou, shining with exceeding lustre, lead men to heaven. (Wilson).

8. Nitosanam, निस्तोशनम् the destroyer (of substances) पदार्थानां हिंसकं—Daya.; the destroyer of foes (शत्रूणां हिंसकं—Sayana).

Vispatim, विश्पतिं, lord of men (प्रजापालकं—Daya.); Sayana explains the epithet as constant, characterising priests and their employers, implying, perhaps, their regular and perpetual observance of religious institutes (नित्यानां ऋत्विग् यजमान-लक्षणानां विश्पतिं स्वामिनं—Sayana).

9. Sasame, शशमे, our praising (शशमे प्रशंसामि । शशमान इति अर्चित कर्म्मा—Nigh. III.14.).

Hymn-2

2. स्मा = स्म, Sma = verily.

2. Carsanayah, men, people.

Yajnebhih, with public works like teaching and studying etc. (यज्ञेभिः अध्ययनाध्यापनादिभिः—Daya.); with sacrifice.

Girbhih, with speech; with recitations; with praises (गीर्भिः वाग्भिः —Daya.;स्तुतिभिः—Sayana).

Vaji, the virile ; the strong ; one with speed (वाजी वेगवान्—Daya.; वाजो गमनं—Sayana). And therefore, may also be the sun (तद्वान् सूर्यः —Sayana).

Avṛkah Vaji tvam yati, the inoffensive sun proceeds to thee (Wilson). According to the Taittiriya Brahmana, (II.1.29), the sun at the evening enters into fire, whence it is that the latter is visible throughout the night (अग्निं वावादित्यः सायं प्रविशति तस्मादग्निर्दूरान्नक्तं ददृशे). According to another passage of the same Brahmana, the three vajins are fire, wind and the sun ((अग्निर्वायुः सूर्यस्ते वै वाजिनः T.Br. I.6.3.9; also वायुः सप्तिरादित्यो वाजी, T. Br. I.7.8).

5. Nasat, pervades (नशत् व्याप्नोति। नशदिति व्याप्तिकर्म्मा, Nigh. II.18 —Daya.; नशत् व्याप्नुयात्, नशति र्व्याप्तिकर्मा—Sayana).

Vayavantam, along with descendents (वयावन्तं—वयाः शाखाः पुत्रपौत्रादि लक्षणाः—Sayana); rich with affluence (बहुपदार्थ युक्तं—Daya.).

Ksayam, a house, a dwelling (क्षयं गृहं—Daya,).

6. Kṛpa, with favour or kindness (कृपा कृपया—Daya.); by praise; by that which is able to compel the presence of a deity. (कृपा अभिमुखी-करणसमर्थया स्तुत्या स्तूयमानः—Sayana). The word may mean also by lustre; by blaze.

See also देवो देवाञ्या कृपा (Ṛv. I.127.1); In the Nirukta VI.8, we have: The god with favour turned towards the gods, देवो देवान् प्रत्यक्तया कृपा—कृप् कृपतेर्वा। कल्पतेर्वा ; also कृपा कृप्नुतेर्वा, कल्पतेर्वा (Kṛp is derived from the root Kṛp—to pity; or from klp, to manage; to be able or capable).

See Yv.XVII.10 also ; कृपा सामर्थ्येन दीप्त्या वा (कृपू सामर्थ्ये कल्पनं कृप् क्विप्, तया कल्पनया सामर्थ्येन दीप्त्या वा।—Mahidhara).

7. Ranvah puri-iva juryyah—To be had recourse to, as to an old Raja giving good counsel in a city (पुरीव नगर्यां जूर्यः जीर्णो वृद्धो हितोपदेष्ठा राजेव रण्वः रमणीयो गन्तव्यो वा भवसि—Sayana ; like a beautiful city, पुरीव यथा रमणीया नगरी, जूर्यः जीर्णः रण्वः रममाणः—Daya.).

8. Svadha gayah, स्वधा गयः, food and house (स्वधाग्रन्नं, गयः गृहं —Daya.).

11. Ta tarema, perhaps, may we cross over those sins which have been existing from previous life (ता तानि व्यवहितानि जन्मान्तरकृतानि च पापादीनि तरेम—Sayana).

Hymn-3

1. Tyajasa, by giving away ; by abandonment (त्यजसा त्यागेन—Daya.); by a shield (by a weapon instrumental in causing abandonment or escape—त्याजनसाधनेनायुधेन—Sayana).

3. Surudhah, the dispellers of darkness, and possessors of light, and hence the sun (शुरुधः यः शुरुमन्धकारहिंसकं तेजो दधाति स सूर्य्यः—Daya.); the dispellers or obstructers of sorrows, and hence cows (शुरुधः न शुचः शोकस्यरोधयित्रीर्गाश्च—Sayana).

Vanejah, born in a forest (वनेजाः अरण्ये जायमानः—Sayana); born in the beam of rays (किरणसमुदाये जायते सः—Daya.).

Aktoh, of the night (अक्तोः रात्रेः—Daya., अक्तुरिति रात्रिनाम—Nigh.I.7).

Ayam, अयं अग्निः, it stands for fire, which is beautiful and charming —ranvah रण्वः रमणीयः, and has been born in the midst of woods, वनेजाः।

4. Dravih na dravayati daru dhaksat, as a goldsmith fuses a metal, the same way the fire burns timber (द्रविर्न। द्रविर्द्रावयिता स्वर्णकारः। स यथा स्वर्णादिकं द्रावयति तथा सर्वं वनं द्रावयति। मूर्तभूतं सर्वं भस्मसात्करोत्यर्थः—Sayana).

Jihvam, flame (जिह्वां ज्वालां — Sayana); words or speech (वाणीं—Daya.).

Dravih, one who fuses, like a goldsmith—Sayana ; the mode by which speech easily flows out (द्रवीभूत्योच्चारणक्रिया—Daya.).

In this verse, we have been told that as a goldsmith fuses gold and the rest, so Agni reduces the wood to ashes. On this Wilson remarks : Perhaps something more than simple fusion of metals is implied: the alchemical calcining or permutation of them, would be more analogous to the burning of timber or its reduction to ashes.

5. Ayasah na dharam, the edge of iron or a metal. The word dhara, धारा, is also a synonym of speech (वाङ्नाम)—Nigh. I.11; also Daya.

Ayas, has here the force of the Latin ferrum (Wilson); it stands for gold or metal in general (Daya.); an article like an axe made of iron also (यथा, अयोमयस्य परश्वादेर्धारां प्रक्षेप्तु कामस्तीक्ष्णीकरोति तद्वत्—Sayana).

7. Supatni, the two who have a brilliant husband, this may be Agni or Indra (Wilson), (सुपत्नी शोभन पतिके—Sayana ; शोभनः पतिर्ययोस्ते—Daya.).

A rodasi vasuna dam, having subjugated the foes, fills up earth and heaven with wealth (रोदसी द्यावापृथिवी वसुना धनेन दम् अस्मञ्छत्रून् दमयन् आ पूरयति—Sayana ; धनेन यो दमयति तम्—Daya.

8. Dhayobhih, by those who can hold or can provide support (धायोभिः धारकैर्गुणैर्वा—Daya.); a support and hence a horse (धारकैरश्वैरिव —Sayana).

Ṛbhurna, like the sun; like the man of wisdom. (ऋभुर्न उरु भासमानः सूर्य इव—Sayana; मेधावी—Daya.).

Hymn-4

For verse 7, see Nir. I.17.

1. Samana, battle (समनमिति संग्रामनाम—Nigh. II.17); समनं = समना (विभक्तेराकारादेशः—Daya.); with speed or with willing mind ; also yajna (समानं मन्यन्ते अस्मिन् देवानिति समनो यज्ञः—Sayana).

2. Canah, food (चनः अन्नं—Sayana; अन्नादिकं—Daya.).

Visvayuh, full life; food, the life-sustenance of all (विश्वायुः पूर्णायुः —Daya.; सर्वान्नः सर्वेषां जीवनहेतुर्वा—Sayana; आयुः, अन्ननाम, food, Nigh.II.7).

3. Inoti, pervades all with light, illuminates (इन्वति व्याप्तिकर्मा—Nigh. II.18; इनोति भासा सर्वं व्याप्नोति सोऽयम्—Sayana; इनोति प्राप्नोति—Daya.).

Na, like; directly (इव, अस्त्युपमार्थस्य सम्प्रत्यर्थे प्रयोगः—Nir. VII.31—the particle of comparison is here used in the sense of 'directly', as 'place it directly here', cf. Ṛv.I.88.19—यावन्मात्रमुषसो न प्रतीकम्—as long as the birds of beautiful wings wear directly).

Panayanti, celebrate (पनयन्ति स्तावयन्ति—Daya.).

Asnasya cit, अश्नस्य चित्, of the dispersed evil beings (व्यापकस्य चित्—Daya.; व्यापनशीलस्यापि राक्षसादेः, the pervader, of raksas and the like—Sayana; may be a proper name—Wilson).

5. Rastri, the master; the lord (राष्ट्री ईश्वरः, राष्ट्रीतीश्वरनाम—Nigh. II.22, like aryah, niyutvan and ina ; राष्ट्रं राज्यं, तद्वान् ; राष्ट्री ईश्वरनामैतत्—Sayana).

6. Arkaih, by the piercer like a bolt (अर्कैः वज्रवच्छेदकैः अर्क इति वज्रनाम, thunderbolt—Nigh. II.20); by the sunrays (अर्चनीयैः किरणैः—Sayana).

7. Indram na tva savasa devata vayum prnanti—This line is quoted by the Nirukta, I.17, in refuting the idea of those who think that one should not study etymology, since in the verse itself we have the characteristic marks—like Indra, like Vayu, the gods fill thee with strength.

Arkasokaih, by the clarification of cereals etc. (अर्कशोकैः अन्नादीनां शोधनैः—Daya.); with sacred praises (अर्चनीयैः पूजनीयैः शोकै दीप्तिभिर्युक्तं; अर्कशोकैरर्चनीयैः प्रशस्यै दीप्तिकरणैः स्तोत्रैः साधनभूतैस्त्वां संभजामहे, with excellent illuminating praises; it may also be an epithet of agni with yukta understood, endowed with or possessed of excellent radiance,—Sayana).

Hymn-5

1. Visvavarani puruvarah, sought of many, acceptable of all (विश्ववाराणि विश्वैः सर्वैर्वरणीयानि पुरुवारः बहुभिर्वृतः स्वीकृतः—Daya.).

2. Puru-anika, पुरुअनीक, with multiflames (पुर्वणीक, बहुज्वाल—Sayana); with many armed forces (पुरूण्यनेकानि सैन्यानि यस्य तत्सम्बुद्धौ—Daya.).

Yajniyesah, capable of undertaking the duties of sacrifice (यज्ञियासः यज्ञानुष्ठानं कर्तुं योग्याः—Daya.); the adorable deities (Wilson); the householders who perform the sacrifice (यज्ञार्हा यजमानाः—Sayana). According to Wilson, the sense implied by Sayana is obviously incompatible with what follows.

4. Sanutyah, residing in a secret place ; abiding in secret (सनुत्यः । सनुतरित्यन्तर्हितनाम । अन्तर्हिते देशे वर्त्तमानः सन्—Sayana); one having the intermediate secrets of knowledge, or a person of excellent nature

(सनुत्यः निर्णितान्तर्हितेषु मिद्धान्तेषु भवः साधुर्वा—Daya.). Sanutah is a synonym of nirnitantarhita, Nigh.III.29, सनुतरिति निर्णितान्तर्हितनाम ।

Tapistha tapasa tapasvan tapa—Most resplendent, blazing with radiance, with your own imperishable flames consume him who injures us. Dayananda refers these words to a man of austerity, who leads a life of dedication and sacrifice, and eliminates everything which is vicious. (तपा तापय तपस्वीभव वा, तपिष्ठ अतिशयेन तप्तः, तपसा ब्रह्मचर्य्यप्राणायामादिकर्म्मणा—Daya.).

6. Tuyam, speedily; with quickness, तूयमितिक्षिप्रनाम—Nigh.II.15

Hymn-6

1. अच्छा=अच्छ For verse 5, see Nir. IV. 17

Kṛsnayamam, the dark-pathed (कृष्णयामं कृष्णवर्त्मानं—Sayana); the one by whom the path has been made attractive (कृष्णा कर्षिता यामा येन तम्—Daya.).

Rusantam, white-coloured (रुशन्तं श्वेतवर्णं—Sayana); inflicting injury (हिंसन्तं—Daya.); brightshining.

Viti, by shine; by sacrifice (वीती वीत्या कान्तेन यज्ञेन—Sayana); by pervasiveness (वीत्या व्याप्त्या—Daya.).

Vatajutesah. speedy like wind (वातजूतासः वायुरिववेगवन्तः—Daya.); fanned or impelled by wind (वातेन प्रेरिताः—Sayana).

Navagvah, the rays, newly radiated out, fresh rising (नवग्वाः नूतनगमनास्ते रश्मयः—Sayana; नवीन गतयः—Daya.).

4. Ksam vapanti, क्षां वपन्ति, shear the earth, burns up the plants on the earth, (क्षां पृथिवीं भूमिं वपन्ति मुण्डयन्ति—Sayana); literally shave the earth, since plants are like the hairs of the earth; put seeds into the earth (Daya.).

Yatayamanah adhi sanu prsneh, displaying its own point or flame upon the summit of the mountains upon the earth (पृश्नेः नानारूपाया भूमेः । अधि उपरि सानु समुच्छ्रितं देशं पर्वताग्रादिकं प्रति यातयमानः स्वकीयमग्रं व्यापारयन्—Sayana); Wilson sees in these lines an allusion to the eruption of volcanoes.

5. Dayate vanani, consumes the forests (The Nirukta quotes this passage to show that the word dayatih (दयतिः) has several meanings: (i) to protect as in Kathaka Sam. XIX.3—नवेन पूर्वं दयमानाः स्याम (let us protect the old with new); also Yv. XXVIII.16; (ii) to give or to divide (Ṛv. I.84.7—य एक इद् विदयते वसु, who alone here distributes wealth); (iii) to burn as in Ṛv. VI. 6.5—दुर्वं तु र्भीमो दयते वनानि (Irresistible, dreadful, he burns the forests) ; (iv) to slay, as in Ṛv. III.34.1—विदद्वसुर्दयमानो वि शत्रून् (the treasurer-knower slaying his foes).

7. One can appreciate the repetition of citra (चित्र) in the first half of the verse and candra (चन्द्र) in the second half.

Hymn-7

For verse 6, see Nir. VI.3.

1. A janayanta Devah, gods, Nature's bounties, who generates agni; the word may also mean priests who generates fire by attrition (देवाः स्तोतार ऋत्विजो देवा एव वा; आ जनयन्त यज्ञाभिमुख्येन अजीजनन्, अरण्योः सकाशादुदपादयन् —Sayana; विद्वांसः जनयन्ति—Daya.).

2. Nabhim yajnanam, the bond of sacrifices; the link of rituals, the centre of all dedicated virtuous actions (यज्ञानां ज्योतिष्टोमादियागानां नाभि नहनं बन्धकं तथा—Sayana, सत्यक्रियामयानाम् मध्यभागं—Daya.).

5. Yat jayamanah pitroh upasthe, when born on the lap of fathers (यत् यदा त्वं पित्रोः द्यावापृथिव्योः उपस्थे उपस्थानेऽन्तरिक्षे—Sayana): i.e. born in the midspace, the antariksa; to Dayananda, the parents are the learning, the Vidya and the preceptor, acarya पित्रोः जनकयोरिव विद्याऽऽचार्य्ययोः उपस्थे समीपे).

Vayunesu, on the paths (वयुनेषु गन्तव्येषु मार्गेषु—Sayana); all disciplines of knowledge from that of the earth to that of the supreme Lord (पृथिवीमारभ्य परमेश्वरपर्य्यन्तानां विज्ञानेषु—Daya.).

6. Vayah-iva ruruhuh sapta visruhah, here according to Nir. VI.3, visruhah means waters or streams (विस्रुह आपो भवन्ति, विस्रवणात्), from flowing, (vi+sru). The seven streams grew like branches (वयाः शाखाः इव सप्त सर्पणशीलाः सप्तसंख्याः वा, विस्रुहः नद्यश्च गंगाद्याः, रुरुहुः रोहन्ति—vayah = branches, sapta = flowing or seven in numbers, visruhah—rivers (like the Ganga etc.—Sayana). Again vayah=birds (वया इव पक्षिण इव—Daya.).

This refers to the cosmic sacrifice in which the sun (the celestial fire) causes vapours to rise from the oceans (just as smoke rises from the fire-ritual); and finally they condense in the form of rain, which floods the flowing channels of rivers. This again gives rise to the mis-concept that the smoke that rises from sacrificial fires becomes clouds in the atmosphere, where rain falls and rivers are filled (see Wilson).

Hymn-8

For verse 4, see Nir. VII.26.

1. Jatavedasah, vaisvanaryaya agnaye, the three stand for fire or agni; jatavedah = one who knows all that is born (जातवेदसः जातानां वेदितुर्वैश्वनराग्नेः—Sayana) ; the one existing amongst the born (जातेषु विद्यमानस्य —Daya.) ; one who knows all that is in the creation (see our notes on I.44.4). The Unadi Kosa refers to jatavedah, sarva-vedah, and visva-vedah in a group (unadi, IV.228).

The Nirukta (VII.19) has the following passage of significance : From what root is Jatavedah derived ?—He knows all created beings (जातानि वेद ; also भूतानि वेद—Bṛhaddevata, II.30; प्राणो वै जातवेदाः, स हि जातान् वेद Ait. Br. II.39); or he is known to all created beings (जातानि वैनं विदुः); or else he pervades every created being (जाते जाते विद्यत इति वा); or he has all created beings as his property or wealth (जातवित्तो वा, जातधनः); or he has all created beings as his knowledge i.e. discernment (जातविद्यो वा जातप्रज्ञानः) । The Nirukta here refers to an untraced Brahmana passage : that because as soon as he was born, he found the cattle, that is the characteristic of the Jatavedas ; and also, therefore in all seasons, the cattle move towards Agni—यत् तज्जातः पशून्विन्दत, तज्जातवेदसो जातवेदस्त्वम् । तस्मात् सर्वान् ऋतून् पशवोऽग्निमभिसर्पन्ति—(Mait.Sam. I.8.2). For Jatavedas, see Ṛv. I.99.1. May we press Soma (i.e. dedicate our entire devotion) for the Jatavedas (to the all knowing God). He takes us across troubles like a river by means of a boat (जातवेदसे सुनवाम सोमम्) ।

There is another Vedic verse (X.188.1): प्रनूनं जातवेदसमश्वं हिनोत वाजिनम् । इदं नो बर्हिरासदे ॥ May you impel Jatavedas, the strong horse, to sit on this our barhih. With your actions, you impel Jatavedas, who pervades everywhere, or else, it may be a simile, i.e. Jatavedas, who is like a horse, may he sit on this barhi (grass) In the ten books of the Ṛgveda, there is but a single hymn, containing three stanzas in the Gayatri metre, addressed to Jatavedas. But, the Nirukta further says, whatever is addressed to Agni, is also addressed to Jatavedas ; not only the terrestrial Agni but also the upper two lights (the lightning and the Sun) are also called Jatavedas (तदे तदेकमेव जातवेदस्यं गायत्रं तृचं दशत-यीषु विद्यते, यत्तु किञ्चिदाग्नेयं तज्जातवेदसानां स्थाने युज्यते । स न मन्येतायमेवाग्निरित्यप्येते उत्तरे ज्योतिषी जातवेदसी उच्येते ततो नु मध्यम:—See उदु त्यं जातवेदसं—here the sun is Jatavedas (I.50.1)—Nir. VII.19-20.

The Nirukta discusses the term vaisvanara in details (VII.21): From what root is vaisvanara derived ? For, he leads all men : विश्वान्नरान् नयति ; or all men lead him (विश्व एनं नरा नयन्तीति वा) ; or else, vaisvanara may be a modified form of visvan-ara (विश्वान्+अर), i.e. who pervades all created beings. Who have in Ṛv.I.98.1 (वैश्वानरस्य सुमतौ स्याम); may we continue to be the grace of vaisvanara, for he is the august sovereign of all beings. Since the very inception, he is taking excellent care of the entire universe. Vaisvanara accompanies (or stretches) with the rising sun (इतो जातो विश्वमिदं वि चष्टे वैश्वानरो यतते सूर्येण)—born from this world, he surveys the entire universe.

The authorities also say, that the vaisvanara is the atmospheric fire (तत्को वैश्वानर: । मध्यम इत्याचार्या: । वर्षकर्मणा ह्येनं स्तौति—Nir. VII.22), and therefore, seers praise him with regard to the phenomenon of rain; for we have that the Vaisvanara. Agni killed the demon (vṛtra), shook the waters, and shattered sambara (वैश्वानरो दस्युमग्निर्जघन्वां अधूनोत्काष्ठा अव शम्बरं भेत्—Rv.I.59.6) ; i.e. he releases waters from the clouds and sends it down.

The vaisvanara is not only the fire of the midspace, it is of the celestial region. In this connection, the Nirukta quotes a passage from the Aitaraya Brahmana (VIII.9) also, the Kausitaki Brahmana (IV.3), meaning, that the oblation assigned to vaisvanara is distributed in twelve potsherds, for his function is twelvefold (अथापि वैश्वानरीयो द्वादशकपालो भवति । एतस्य हि द्वादशविधं कर्म, and there is another untraced passage : that Aditye verily is Agni vaisvanara, (असौ वा आदित्योऽग्निर्वैश्वानर:). We have further a liturgy (निविद), addressed to vaisvanara, the sun : आ यो द्यां भात्या पृथिवीम् (untraced quotation in the Nirukta). Further we have a Chandomika Sukta (छान्दोमिकं सूक्त), addressed to vaisvanara, as the sun; he shone present in heaven (दिवि पृष्ठो अरोचत). There is another Havispantiya Sukta, (हविष्पान्तीयं सूक्तं, the libation to be drunk) addressed to vaisvanara, the sun (X.88).

The terrestrial fire is verily regarded as vaisvanara, so says, Sakapuni. These two upper lights are called vaisvanara also. The terrestrial fire is called vaisvanara, because it is engendered from them (i.e. from the upper lights). But how ?—where the lightning fire strikes a place of shelter, it retains the characteristics of the atmospheric fire, i.e., flashing in waters and becoming extinguished in solid bodies, as long as that object is not seized upon. But as soon as it is seized upon this very terrestrial fire is produced, and becomes extinguished in water, and blazes in solid bodies.

The Nirukta then argues, how the terrestrial fire could be related to the celestial fire, i.e. the sun. We have. The sun having first revolved towards the northern hemisphere, a person holds a polished white copper or crystal, focusing the sun-rays in a place where there is some dry cow-dung, without touching it : it blazes forth, and this very terrestrial fire is produced. (अथादित्यात् । उदीचि प्रथमसमावृत्त आदित्ये कंसं वा मणि वा परिमृज्य प्रतिस्वरे यत्र शुष्कगोमयम संस्पर्शयन् धारयति तत्प्रदीप्यते । सोऽयमेव सम्पद्यते । Also see. Ṛv. I.98.1 (वैश्वानरो यतते सूर्येण—i.e. vaisvanara stretches with the sun. But the sun cannot stretch together with his own self. A particular thing stretches together with something different only. One kindles this fire from this world, the rays of that one becomes manifest from the other world. Having seen the conjunction of their light with the flames of this terrestrial fire, we had the above remarks (that the vaisvanara stretches with the sun).—Nir.VII.23.

Dayananda derives the word in several ways: the sun is so called because it is the illuminator of the entire world (वैश्वानराय सर्वस्य विश्वस्य प्रकाशकाय); the one who leads the entire world is also vaisvanara (यो विश्वान् सर्वान् पदार्थान् नयति); a world citizen (विश्वेषु नरेषु विराजमानः); one glorified everywhere (विश्वस्मिन् प्रकाशमानः); and the world-leader (विश्वस्य नायकः) ।

4. "The mighty seized him at the lap of the waters; the tribes, attended on the king worthy of honour. The messenger brought agni from the sun, matarisvan brought vaisvanara from afar." According to Nir. VII.26, seated in the lap (उपस्थे), means in the bosom of waters, i.e. in the mighty world of the atmosphere (महत्यन्तरिक्षलोके), the groups of mighty atmospheric bounties seized him like tribes who wait upon the king. Worthy of honours, having panegyrics addressed to him, or worthy of respect (or worthy of adorations), whom the messenger of gods brought from the shining one, the sun, who drives away darkness, who impels all things and who is very far. (Alternatively) the seer called matarisvan, the bringer of this vaisvanara fire. The matarisvan is air; it breathes in the atmosphere, or moves quickly in the atmosphere. (Nir. VII.26).

Hymn-9

For verse 1, see Nir.II.21.

The entire hymn is devoted to the mysteries of creation, and the divine light of the Supreme.

1. "The black day and the white day, the two regions roll on with (activities) worthy of knowledge. As soon as born, the vaisvanara agni, like a king, has overcome darkness with high light."

Kṛsnam ahah, arjunam ahah, कृष्णं अह:, अर्जुनं अह:—black and bright days. Here the black day is night; the white day is bright day.

Vedyabhih—worthy of knowledge, i.e. which should be known (Nir.I.21).

2. Na aham tantum na vi janami otum na yam vayanti sam-are atamanah. Sayana refers to two interpretations of this line, the first one by traditionalists (sampradayavidah), and the second one by metaphysicists (atmavidah or the vedantins). In this line we have a figurative allusion to the mysteries of sacrifice (yajna), or of creation as such. According to the traditionalists, the threads (tantu), of the warp are the metres of the Vedas, and those of the woof (otu) are the liturgic prayers, and ceremonial, the combination of which two is the cloth or sacrifice.

According to the other interpretation, alluding to creation, the subtile elements are the threads of the warp and the gross ones are those of the woof, and their combination is the universe.

Now who is putrah (पुत्र:) here i.e. the son belonging to the upper region, and who is pitra (पित्रा), the father belonging to the lower region i.e. born after the creation. Metaphysically, in creation, the lower self (the souls) are the children, and our Lord, the creator is the father. This may be referring to the mystery of the first son born without parents.

Putrah, the son, the man (पुत्र: मनुष्य:—Sayana); the virtuous, the giver of happiness (पुत्र: पवित्र: सुखप्रदो वा—Daya.).

Avarena, the terrestrial fire (of the lower region) fire (अवरेण अवस्तात् अस्मिन्लोके वर्तमानेन वैश्वनराग्निना नुशिष्ट: सन्—Sayana).

Parah, of the upper region, the sun (पर: परस्तादमुष्मिन् लोके वर्तमानो य: सूर्यस्तस्य—Sayana).

No man, however, taught by a father born after creation can rightly know anything previous to his birth, either in this world or in the other.

3. Anyena pasyan, contemplating the world under a different manifestation ; or as the sun whilst upon earth Agni (vaisvanara) is manifest as fire.

The supreme creator alone knows the threads of warp and woof. He is the protector of ambrosial water, the seed of life, whilst one moves in the cycle of life, both above and below; from lower species to higher and vice versa.

5. Dhruvam jyotih, the steady light; the light is that of the Supreme Lord, with whose light, the entire creation throbs with life (तमेव भान्तमनुभाति सर्वं तस्य भासा सर्वमिदं विभाति—Svet. Up. VI. 14); the light of knowledge, that emanates from within, from the Lord seated in the innermost cevity of our hearts.

Mano javistham, with speed greater than that of mind (see अनेजदेकं मनसो जवीयो—Isa. Up. 4).

Jyotir nihitam, see यो वेद निहितं गुहायां परमे व्योमन् Taitt. Ar. VIII. 1; also तद्देवा ज्योतिषां ज्योतिरायुर्होपासतेऽमृतम्—Br. Up. IV. 4.16.

Hymn-10

2. Mamata, see earlier references; attachment, self-possession (I. 152.6—mamateyam); mother of Dirghatomas, highly spiritual (ममता नाम ब्रह्मवादिनी दीर्घतमसो माता—Sayana).

5. Puruvajabhih, with abundant viands; with abundant understanding and human efforts (पुरुवाजाभिः बहुज्ञानपुरुषार्थ युक्ताभिः—Daya.; बहुवन्नैः—Sayana).

6. Bharadvajesu, in offerings of nutritious viands. See I.59.7; Nir.III.17, Bharadvaja is called from being brought up (भरणाद् भारद्वाजः) from the root √भृ; also the persons who bring up by supplying food etc. (भरद्वाजेषु ये वाजानन्नादीनि भरन्तितेषु—Daya.).

The seer of the hymn is Bharadvaja, of the family of Bṛahaspati. Satau, in battles; in life struggles (सातौ संग्रामे—Daya.); Nigh.II.17 शूर सातौ=वाजसातौ=सङ्ग्राम=battle)

7. Satahimah, शतहिमाः=शतं वर्षाणि=शरदः शतं; full hundred years (lit. one hundred winters; one hundred rainy seasons; one hundred autumns). (शतहिमाः शतं हेमन्तान् संवत्सरान्—Sayana). For Satahimah, see I.73.9; II.1.11; VI.4.8; 10.7; 12.6; 17.15; 24.10; ix.74.8.

Inuhi, may go away (the evils or evil persons go away) (वि इनुहि विविधं इनुहिव्याप्नुहि—Daya.; गमय—Sayana), and ila (इलां) or speech or food may increase. (इलां वाचमन्नं वा—Daya.; (इलां=वाङ्नाम, Nigh I.11;= अन्ननाम, II.7)

Hymn-11

1. Agni, mitra, varuna, maruts, nasatyas—See earlier references. For Agni, (I.1.1); Mitra (I.2.7), Varuna (1.2.7) and also our Introduction, (Vol.I. p. 147-156); for Maruts (Vol.I.p.187); for Agni see Nir.VII. 14-17, for Varuna, Nir.X.3-4; for Mitra, Nir.X 21-22)

Agnih, अग्नि:—Its sphere is the earth (Nir.VII.5); he is the foremost leader (अग्नि: कस्मात्, अग्रणीर्भवति); he is led foremost in the sacrifices (अग्रं यज्ञेषु प्रणीयते); he makes everything to which it inclines, a part of himself (अग्रं नयति सन्नममान:); he is a drying agent (अक्नोपनो भवतीति स्थौलाष्ठीवि, Sthaulasthivi); it does not make wet; it does not moisten (न क्नोपयति न स्नेहयति). Again, it is derived from three verbs (Sakapuni): from going, from shining or burning and from leading (त्रिभ्य आख्यातेभ्यो जायत इति शाकपूणि: । इतात्, from going; अक्ताद् दग्धाद् वा, from shining or burning; नीतात् from leading); he indeed takes the letter a (अ) from the root i (इ) to go, and the letter g (ग्) from the root anj (अञ्ज्), to shine or dah, to burn; with root ni (नी), to lead as the last member. (Nir.VII.14).

Mitra, मित्र—Mitra is so called because he preserves from destruction (मित्र: प्रमीते । त्रायते); or because he runs measuring things together (√मी) (संमिन्वानो द्रवतीति वा); or the word is derived from the causal of the verb mid (√मिद), to be fat (मेदयतेर्वा). See—मित्रो जनान् यातयति—(Ṛv.III.59.1; Nir.X. 21.22).

Varuna, वरुण—Varuna is so called because he covers (√वृ)—(वरुणो वृणोतीति सत:—see नीचीनवारं वरुण:—Ṛv. v.85.3)—Nir.X.3-4).

For the dyad Mitra-Varuna, see our Introduction, Vol.I.p.155, Nir. VII.10.

Nasatya, absence of untruth or vice or of vicious actions (नासत्यौ अविद्यमानासत्याचरणौ—Daya.); the leaders of truth or the two having truth as their nature; or born of nose; another name of twin—asvins (नासत्यासत्यस्य नेतारौ सत्यस्वभावावेव वा नासिका प्रभवौ वाश्विनौ—Sayana).

4. Panca janah, five persons, one the yajamana and four priests (जना:=मनुष्या:, ऋत्विग् यजमान लक्षणा:, yajamana and the four priests—Brahma, udgata, hota and adhvaryu—Sayana); the five vital pranas (पञ्च प्राणा:—Daya).

5. Surye na caksuh, just as the eye in the sun; just as the light of the sun makes the eyes to function ((यथा सूर्ये सर्वस्य प्रेरक आदित्ये प्रकाशकं तेज: समवैति तद्वत्—Sayana).

Hymn-12

For verse 4, see Nir.VI.15.

1. Todasya, of the pain or trouble of the one distressed or tormented (तोदस्य व्यथाया:—Daya.) todah is yajamana or the institutor of sacrifice who undergoes the pain of austerity (तुद्यते तपसा पीड्यत इति तोदो यजमान:, तस्य—Sayana).

3. Todah adhvan na, like the sun on his path.

Todah is distress or torment (तोद: व्यथनं—Daya.); also the sun, the giver of light (तोद: सर्वस्य प्रेरक: सूर्य:, स इवाध्वनि स्वमार्गेऽन्तरिक्षे प्रद्योत द्योतते प्रकाशते—Sayana).

Adroghah na, like the one, not liable to be distressed or harmed (अद्रोघो न अद्रोग्धव्य:—Sayana); or it may imply the vital air, the non-injurer or the sustainer or all, i.e. the wind (प्राणरूपेण सर्वेषामद्रोग्धा वायुरिव तादृश:—Sayana); or free from avarice or malignancy, (अद्रोघ: द्रोहरहित: न इव —Daya.).

4. Etari na, like worth having (एतरी प्राप्तव्य इव Daya.); etari is goer (एतरि गन्तरि—Sayana); like praises which being present in a man soliciting, going, or applying to another, are the yielders of great pleasure (याचमाने पुरुषे विद्यमानानि स्तोत्राणि यथात्यन्तं सुखकराणि—Sayana).

Susaih, by the pleasure giving prayers (शूषै: सुखकरै: स्तोत्रै:—Sayana); by strength etc. (बलादिभि:—Daya.).

Usrah pita-iva jarayayi yajnaih, like a procreating bull, (Agni) has been generated with sacrifices. Here usri means father or cow-father, i.e. the bull उस्र इव गोपिताजायि यज्ञै:—Nir. VI.15); just as the father pro-creates or takes care of the child, or like a bull (पिता पालयिता वत्सानां जनको वोल्हो वृषभ इव—Sayana); impetuous in act as the bull (the progenitor of calves).

Hymn-13

2. Tvam bhagah nah, you with the enjoyable splendour or you who art adorable (भग: भजनीय: त्वं न: अस्मभ्यं—Sayana; भग: भजनीयैश्वर्य: न: अस्माकं—Daya.).

3. Sajosa naptra apam,—you associated with the grandson of the waters; it refers to fire or to the lightning, born of clouds or waters (नप्त्रा न पातयित्रा पुत्रेण मध्यमस्थानेन वैद्युताग्निना सजोष: संगत:—Sayana); consentient with the grandson of the waters (Wilson).

6. Vihayah, the great ones (विहाय=महत्—Nigh. III.3)

Hymn-14

6. The repetition of the verse VI.2 11

Hymn-15

2. Bhṛgvah, enlightened sages (भृगव: विद्वांसो मनुष्या:—Daya.).

Vitahavye, in the offerer of oblations (name of a maharsi, —Sayana). If applied to Bharadvaja (meaning a spiritually enlightened person), this will be an appellative, he by whom oblations are offered. See the next verse.

3. Vitahavyaya Bharadvajaya—one of the two can be taken as the appelation of the other: Then, bharat=bearer: vaja=oblation or food or strength. Vita=offered, havya=oblation (to Bharadvaja, by whom is offered oblation; or to vitahavya, the bearer of the oblation (or of food or of strength). For one who has obtained the obtainable (वीतहव्याय प्राप्त प्राप्तव्याय—Daya.); for the one who has attained enlightenment (भरद्वाजाय धृतविज्ञाय—Daya.)

5. Etasasya, of the horse (Nir. I.114; Mahidhara, Yv. XVII.10; एतशस्य अश्वस्य—Daya.); of Etasa (a ṛsi of this name, Sayana).

A horse or a brahmana (derived from eti one who goes or reaches (एति प्राप्नोतीति एतश:=एतश:, एतशौ or एतशा:, एतशसो एकोऽदन्तोऽपर: सान्त:—Unadi III.149). See also the following references:

एतश:, etasah, I. 121.13; 168.5; II. 19.5; V. 31.11; 81.3; VII. 63.2; 66.14; IX. 16.1; 64.19; 108.2; X. 53.9.

एतशम्, etasam, I. 54.6; 61.15; IV. 17.14; 30.6; VIII. 1.11; 6.38; 50.9; IX. 63.8.

एतशस्य, etasasya, VI. 15.5

एतशा, etasa VIII. 70.7

एतशे, etase, V. 29.5

एतशेभि:, etasebhih, VII. 62.2; X. 37.3; 49.7

11. Yajnasya va ni-sitim va ut-itim va

Nisitim=continuously being sharpened (नितरां तीक्ष्णतां—Daya.); perfection, accomplishment (निशिति:—संस्कार:—Sayana); uditim—rising, coming up (उदिंति उदयं—Daya.); going up or over (उद्गमनं—Sayana).

15. Compare it with VI. 2.6. (repetition of दुरिता तरेम ता तरेम तवावसा तरेम).

16. Urnavantam etc. The Aitaraya Brahmana (I. 28) has the following : कुलायमिव ह्येतद् यज्ञे क्रियते यत्पैतुदारवा: परिधयो गुग्गुलूर्णास्तुका: सुगन्धि तेजनानि; with this as an authority, Sayana amplifies thus : the altar is built up like the nest of a bird, kulaya, with circles, paridhayayah, of the wood of the khayar or devadaru in which avisambandhah romavisesah, sheep's wool (avilomani) and fragrant resins, the materials of incense (guggula-dhupa-sandhanam) are placed (etc. uttaravedyam sthapitah samhharah) these appurtenances are placed in the northern corner.

(ऊर्णावन्तम् ऊर्णास्तुकावन्तं, योनिम् उत्तरवेदिलक्षणं स्थानं, कीदृशं योनिम्—कुलायिनम् । कुलायो नीडम्, तत्सदृशं गुग्गुल्वादि संभारेणोपेतम् । घृतवन्तं व्याघरणाज्ययुक्तम्—Sayana).

17. Ankuyantam amuram, wandering deviously, but not bewildered, Sayana refers to the legend of Agni's attempting at first to run away from the gods (देवेभ्य: पलायतम्). (अंकूयन्तं कुत्सिमञ्जनं गमनं अंकु:

1—Sayana); one with characteristic marks, (अंकूयन्तं यस्मिन्नङ्कूनि प्रसिद्धानि चिह्नानि प्राप्नुम्वन्ति—Daya.). (अङ्कुयन्तं=अङ्कुयन्तं—संहितायामिति दीर्घः).

19. Asthuri no garhapatyani-Asthura is unstable cart (अस्थूरि अस्थिरं यानं—Daya.). Sayana regards sthuri as one-horse cart or waggon which brings either the soma plant or fuel; and hence asthuri would mean a non-one-horse cart, that is a cart with a full team, and metonymically its .contents, or a full supply of what is wanted for a perfect sacrifice, such as children, cattle, riches (अस्थूरीति पुत्रपशुधनादिभिः सम्पूर्णानि).

Hymn-16

1. This becomes the second verse of the Samaveda (I.2) and also II.824. O adorable Lord, you are the invoker of comic sacrifices, the well wisher of everyone of us, and hence, may you, along with all Nature's bounties (or along with enlightened people) bless the menfolk in general. (Daya.)

2. Jihvabhih, with words full of wisdom and humility (जिह्वाभिः विद्याविनययुक्ताभिर्वाग्भिः—Jihva=vak Nigh I.11)

3. Adhvanah, roads, highways; pathah, lanes (small paths) (अध्वनः महामार्गान्; पथश्च क्षुद्रमार्गांश्च—Sayana). The highways and also the narrow paths of life. May the Lord put us on right paths when we travel in life ; the confused traveller, or the yajamana, may be directed to the right path (यज्ञमार्गात् भ्रष्टं यजमानं पुनस्तं मार्गं प्रापयेत्—Sayana)

4. Bharata, the sustainer (not the son of Dusyoma, named as Bharata ; bharatah vajibhih (cf. bharadvaja).

Dvita, in the twofold capacity, i.e. bestowing what is wished for and is undesired and vicious (अनिष्ट and दुरित ; द्विताद्विविधमिष्ट प्राप्त्यनिष्टपरिहाररूपेण द्विधाभिन्नं—Sayana).

5. Divodasaya, for the fulfiller of the cherished desires (दिवोदासाय कमनीयस्य पदार्थस्यदात्रे—Daya.)

Bharadvajaya, for the enlightened and spiritual person (भरद्वाजाय धृतविज्ञानाय—Daya.) ; Bharadvaja (भारद्वाज) is so called from being brought up (from√भृ; भरणाद् भारद्वाजः Nir.III.17).

7. Svadhyah marttasah, the devoted mortals, pious men (स्वाध्यः= सुऽआध्यः; ये सुष्ठु समन्ताद् ध्यायन्ति:—Daya.).

9. Manurhitah, the benefactor of men (मनुर्हितः मनुष्याणां हितकारी—Daya.); appointed by Manu (मनुनाहितोऽसि—Sayana).

Vahnih vidustarah, the most wise bearer of oblations (वह्निः हविषां वोढा विदुष्टरः अतिशयेन विद्वान्—Sayana).

Asa, by mouth, by flame (आसामुखेव—Daya.; आस्येनास्य भूतया ज्वालया—Sayana).

10. The first verse of the Samaveda (I.1), and also II.10.

11. Samaveda II.11; Yv. III.3 ; one amongst the three verses, used in putting three fuel sticks to fire in the ritual.

Angirah, the performers of fire-ritual ; the enlightened ones (अङ्गिरः विद्युदिव वर्त्तमानः—Daya.); also O adorable, the one like fire (अङ्गिरः अङ्गानादि गुणयुक्त अङ्गाररूप वाङ्गिरसः पुत्रवाग्ने—Sayana).

Angiras was born in live coals (अङ्गारेष्वङ्गिराः); live coals are so called because they leave a mark, or they are bright (अङ्गारा अङ्कनाः अञ्चनाः) Nir.III.17

13. For the verse, see also Sv.I.9; Yv. XI. 32.

Atharvan, the name of the Sage (Sayana) ; the non-injurer (अथर्वा अहिंसकः—Daya.); also prana or vital breath (Mahidhara).

Puskarat-adhi, from the midspace (पुष्करात् अन्तरिक्षात्—Daya. ; Nigh. 1.3); from the lotus-leaf (पुष्करादधि पुष्करपर्णे). Agni is generated by the attrition process, using two dry wood-sticks (निरमन्थत).

Prajapati made manifest the earth on the puskaraparna or the lotus-leaf (पुष्करपर्णे हि प्रजापतिर्भूमिमप्रथयत्; तत्पुष्करपर्णे प्रथयत्—Taitt. Br. I. 1.3.6). Since the lotus-leaf supported the earth, it may be termed the head (मूर्धं) or the bearer (वाघतः वाहकान्) of all things.

Puskara may be water also (Mahidhara): vital air (atharvan) extracted fire or animal heat from the water (प्राण उदकसकाशादग्निं निशेषेण मथितवान्—Mahidhara).

All the priests (वाघत:) churn thee out of the head or top (मूर्ध्नो) of the wood of attrition (Mahidhara).

See also Taitt. Samhita (V.1.4.4)—त्वामग्ने पुष्करादधीत्याह पुष्करपर्णे ह्येनमुपश्रितमविन्दत ।

Inspired by this verse, the seer Atharvan for the first time in human history produced fire by attrition process ; and thereafter, the clan of fire-technicians came to be known as the angirasas (अङ्गिरसा:).

16. Itarah, by others, the modern one (इतरा: अर्वाचीना:—Daya.) ; the prayers by asuras or demons (इतरा: असुरै: कृता: स्तुती:—Sayana ; cf. अग्न इत्येतरा गिर इत्यसुर्या ह वा इतरा गिर:—Ait.Br.III.49. The word itarah refers to the speech of the opponents of gods.

Indubhih, by the rays of the moon or by the Soma-creeper (इन्दुभि: सोमलताभिश्चन्द्रकिरणैर्वा—Daya.).

18. Aksipat, the destroyer or distresser of the eye (अक्षिपत्= अक्षिऽपत्=अक्षि+पत् ; अक्ष्णो: पातकं विनाशकं—Sayana) ; but Dayananda derives the word as अ+क्षिपत्, throws out (अक्षिपत् क्षिपति).

Nemanam, of food materials; of cereals (Nema=anna, Nigh. II.7—Daya.) ; to Sayana, nema denotes a small quantity (अल्पवाची); nemanam vaso, O giver of dwellings to humble votary.

Vanavase, please accept (वनवसे सम्भज—Daya.).

19. Divodasasya, of the giver of light ; of the enlightened one (दिवोदासस्य प्रकाशदातु:—Daya.).

25. Napat, one who dose not fall (नपात् या न पतति—Daya.); the son of Bala (बलस्यपुत्र:—Sayana).

27. Aratih, the non-liberal giver; the miser (अराती: न विद्यते रातिर्दानं येषु तान् कृपाणान् विरोधिन:—Daya.) ; assailants (अराती: काश्चित् शत्रुसेना:—Sayana).

Aryah, Lord (अर्य: स्वामी—Daya.) ; but according to Sayana, those who go along with the hostile group (अर्य: अरीनभिगन्त्री): aryah aratih, hostile assailants.

30. Brahmanaskave, the preceptor of the Veda (ब्रह्मणः कवे वेदस्य वक्तः—Daya.) ; articulator of prayer (स्तुतिरूपस्य मन्त्रस्य कवे कावयितः शब्दयितः —Sayana). Agni (fire) is said to articulate sounds: mind excites the fire of body, that in turn excites the vital airs together, and they, passing into the breast engender articulate sounds. (मनः कायाग्निमाहन्ति स प्रेरयति मारुतम् । मारुतस्तूरसि चरन् मन्द्रं जनयति स्वरम्—Panini Siksa 6-7); or perhaps from some Smṛti).

35. Matuh-pituh, mother and father, i.e. earth and heaven (cf. द्यौर्वः पिता पृथिवी माता—I.191.6).

Agni is said to be the father or fosterer of his parent heaven, by transmitting to it the flame and smoke of the burnt offerings.

39. Purah, in front; in advance (पुरः पुरस्तात्—Daya.) ; the three cities of demons (आसुरी तिस्रः पुरीः). Sayana regards Agni and Ṛudra, as the destroyer of the three cities (Tripura) on the basis of such texts as रुद्रो वा एषदग्निः (Taitt. Br. II. 1.3.1); देवासुरा वा एषुलोकेषु समयन्तत (Ait. Br. I. 23).

42. This verse and the preceding (41) are recited when the fire, that has been produced by attrition is applied to kindle the ahavaniya (Ait.Br. I.16).

43. Manyave, for anger (मन्यवे क्रोधाय—Daya.) ; to the manyu ; to the sacrifice (मन्यवे मन्यते यष्टव्यत्वेन देवानवेतिमन्युर्यागः । तदर्थं तानश्वान् रथे युङ्क्ष्वेति —Sayaua) ; manyuh is synonymous with yagah (but not in Nighantu). See also Yv. XIII. 36. मन्यतेऽसौ मन्युः, शोकः क्रोधो वा—Unadi III. 20.

47. Uksanah, vigorous or virile (उक्षाणः सेचनसमर्थाः—Sayana; सेचकाः—Daya.).

Ṛsabhasah, the best, the excellent (ऋषभासः उत्तमाः—Daya.); bulls (Sayana).

Vasah, the cherished ones (वशाः कामयमानाः—Daya.); cows (Sayana).

May your (te te) relations be virile, excellent and cherishing (uksanah rsabhasah vasati)—Daya.

Hymn-17

3. एवा = एव (निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः) ।

Pratnatha, like the old, as of old (प्रत्नथा प्राचीन इव—Daya.; drink it, the Soma, as if old (प्रत्नथा प्रत्नान् पुराणान् सोमान् यथा पिब—Sayana).

Brahma pahi, may you protect the Veda (ब्रह्म वेदं—Daya.; listen to our praises and prayers (ब्रह्म अस्माभिः कृतं स्तोत्रं श्रुधि शृणु—Sayana).

6. Angirasvan, the possessor of vital breaths (अङ्गिरस्वान् अंङ्गिरसो बहुविधाः प्राणा विद्यन्ते यस्मिन्—Daya.).

Usriyabhyah, from the rays (उस्रियाभ्यः किरणेभ्यः—Daya.); for the cows for their liberation (उस्रियाभ्यः गोभ्यः । गा निर्गमयितुमित्यर्थः—Sayana) ; you have liberated the cows from the fold.

Aurnoh, have opened (drdha) strong (durah) doors (urvat) from the fold, (gah utsrja) have liberated cows—Sayana.

7. Pratne matara yahvi ṛtasya—the old and mighty parents of Ṛta or eternal truth (प्रत्ने पुरातन्यौ मातरा मातृवन्मान्यं कर्त्र्यौ, यह्वी महत्यौ ऋतस्य सत्यस्य कारणस्य सकाशात्—Daya.); (यह्वी यह्व्यौ महत्यौ; the ancient parents, the offspring of Brahma, i.e. ṛtasya=brahmanah, यहुः = अपत्य, son or offspring, Nigh. II.2). So we may have the following interpretations : (i) the old and mighty parents of sacrifice (Wilson), (ii) the ancient parents, the offspring of Brahma—Sayana.

